"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves.

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark. Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,

111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y. "Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

AN AGREEMENT REACHED.

The joint scale committee appointed by the coal miners and operators, reached an agreement, on Monday, at Columbus, Ohio. The agreement was ratified, and is final, although President A. A. Adams of the Ohio miners, who is a member of the scale committee, refused to sign the agreement. The following is the scale agreed upon : Pittsburg, thin vein, 69 cents a ton; thick vein, 56 cents; Hocking Valley, 60 cents; Indiana bituminous, 60 cents; Indiana block, 70 cents; Illinois-Streator, 621 cents for summer and 70 cents for winter; Bloomington, 771 cents for summer and 85 cents for winter; La Salle and Spring Valley, 721 cents for summer and 80 cents for winter. Other sections in Northern Illinois fields at prices relative to the Pittsburg district going east to the tidewater shall pay the same mining price as that paid by the Pennsylvania Gas and Westmoreland coal companies.

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment wher rightly used. The many, who live bet ter than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in th remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleas ant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect lax ative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medica profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weak ening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is man ufactured by the California Fig Syrun Co. only, whose name is printed on ever package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

10 minutes Tom reissued from the cookhouse alone, and with an ominous frown upon his brow approached his command. At the same time the two fugitives were seen far down the road, makfing their way rapidly toward the town, having left the cookhouse by some way of which Tom knew not.

The almost simultaneous appearance of the defeated orderly and the victorions skulkers was greeted by the boys of the company with first a shout of jeering laughter and then a ringing cheer.

'Attention, company!' shouted the orderly sergeant. But the only attention paid him was another shout of laughter that deepened his frown.

"Stop that laughing in the ranks!"

again commanded the orderly. "Halt!" cried the sentinel, bringing his piece to a charge and confronting Orderly Tom, who had now reached the guard line. "You can't pass here,"

IS IT TO LOVE OR TO BE LOVED?

Who cares for love if one may love? In that the rapture les.

What recks a heart that it be won
If it may win the prize?

There is no heart which stays at Lome, Contented to be sought, But, ever restless, seeks to win The heart where love is fought. Yet hearts are not all conquerors.

Sometimes a doubting one Is overcome, and as a slave Its aftercourse is run. The heart thus conquered may submit And seldom will rebel,
But dreams of triumph come to it
Contentment to dispel.

How oft in story and in song We read of those who die For those they love! They take no thought Of other reason why. But is there in the crown of love Great sacrifice, this gem Of martyrdom—that any die For those who most love them?

-Detroit Free Press. A Pass From Almost a Stranger. The man about town who is always nodding to people and making himself agreeable even to comparative strangers had a little experience the other day which goes to prove that politeness and civility sometimes pay in a financial as well as a social sense. He was standing in the railroad station in Baltimore, waiting for the train to New York, when he noticed a man who kept glaneing at him. Every time he looked in the direction of the stranger he noticed that his eyes were turned toward him. Strolling over that way, he bowed to the stranger.

"I beg your pardon," he said, "but I thought you recognized me." "I beg yours," said the stranger. "I thought I recognized you, but I am not sure now."

IMMENSITY OF THE HEAVENS. A Peep Into Space That Fairly Dazzles the

Imagination. If our sun were removed to the pleiades, it would hardly be visible in an opera glass, with which nearly 100 stars can be seen in the cluster. Sixty or 70 pleiades surpass our sun in brilliancy, Alcyone being 1,000 times more brilliant, Electra nearly 500 times and Maia nearly 400. "Sirius itself takes a subordinate rank when compared with the five most brilliant members of a group, the real magnificence of which we can thus in some degree apprehend." If we seek to know the dimensions, not of the individual stars, but of the cluster itself, we are met with many difficulties, but on the assumption that it is approximately spherical in shape we can calculate its diameter to be over 40,000,000,000 miles, so that light would take seven years to pass from one extreme to the other. If we think of the dimensions of our solar system by themselves or in relation to terrestrial matters, they appear stupendously enormous.

Neptune, the most distant known member, has an orbit over 5,000,000,000 miles across-a distance that a ray of light would travel in 71/2 hours-but the solar system is to the pleiades but as a Lillipution to a Brobdingnagian—is but as a microbe to a mountain, for a sphere the size of the solar system would, if it were spherical and its diameter that of the orbit of Neptune, be relatively so minute that it could be contained more than 400,000,000,000 times in a sphere the limits of the pleiades could contain 150 solar systems as many times over as there are miles between Neptune and the sun.

It must not be forgotten that, although there are 2,300 stars in the cluster, yet with such dimensions for the 2.300 spheres, each with a diameter of 3,000,000,000 miles, could be contained in the limits assigned to the group, and, assuming equal distribution of the stars in the group each would be at the center of a sphere 3,000,000,000 miles 187 days from its nearest neighbor. -Longman's Magazine.

THE FIRST IDEALIST.

A jellyfish swam in a tropical sea,
And he said: "This world it consists of me.
That a jellyfish ever can possibly know
(Since we've got no sight or hearing or smell)
Beyond what our single sense can tell.
Now, all that I learn from the sense of touch
In the fact of my feelings viewed as such. Is the fact of my feelings viewed as such. But to think they have any external cause Is an inference clean against logical laws. Again to suppose, as I've hitherto done, There are other jellyfish under the sun Is a pure assumption that can't be backed By a jot of proof or a single fact. In short, like Hume, I very much doubt If there's anything else at all without. So I come at last to the plain conclusion, When the subject is fairly set free from con-

HOW GREEK LADIES DRESSED.

It Is Surprising to Learn That They Laced

and Wore Flounced Skirts. Women in Homer embroider garments, and many of these are brought from Sidon. They wear veils, but on the whole their dress, long smock and girdle, was apparently much like that of later Greece. This is odd, for on a gold ring from Mycenæ, very old, we see women with exuberant busts, tight waists and petticoats heavily beflounced. The same costume appears on a Mycenæan ring picked up by Furtwangler in a curiosity shop. Two ladies are carousing out of champagne glasses. They are very tightly laced. A lady on a Mycenæan gem from Vapheio is laced to extinction and has seven flounces. The British museum owns a lentoid gem, where Leto wears only a crinoline, with no petticoat over it. Dipylon vases display both men and women with tiny waists. Men, in Mycenæan art, wear little but very short drawers and shields. In Homer the chiefs, summoned on a night alarm, come out in dressing gowns, some of them in skins.

The historical dress for ladies was a large piece of cloth a foot longer than the wearer was tall and as wide as her arms could stretch. When put on by a serious of them in skins.
