

Ex-Senator Perkins Dead.

Hon. Bishop W. Perkins, ex-United States senator and for years a representative from Kansas, died suddenly at his home in Washington city Wednesday afternoon. His death was due to cholera morbus, contracted in Indian Territory a few days ago. He leaves a wife, two daughters and a son, all of whom were present at the death. Mr. Perkins left Washington to attend the political convention which commenced its sessions at Topeka on the 6th instant. After finishing his duties at Topeka he took a short pleasure trip to Indian Territory. While there he suffered a sudden attack of illness, caused, he thought, by drinking a glass of cold water when he was overheated. He treated his light attack, however, as too trivial to need attention, and refused to submit to treatment. A week ago he returned to Washington, and since then had been suffering, but until Tuesday night steadfastly refused to call a physician.

Will Case Compromised.

The Beall-Connolly will case removed to Washington county from Montgomery was compromised Wednesday in court. The case was titled Susan A. Beall against Edward P. Welsh and Mary J. Welsh, his wife, and Sarah A. Connolly. Miss Catherine Ann Whalen, of Washington, D. C., made a will in 1845 leaving property in Washington city and Montgomery county, now valued at $100,000, to her cousin, Thos. Connolly, with whom she lived. She died two years ago, but Thomas Connolly died long ago. Connolly's widow, niece and her husband claimed the property made under the will. Mrs. Susan Beall, another cousin of Miss Whalen, entered proceedings to contest the will on the ground of mental incompetency on the part of the maker. By the compromise Susan A. Beall is to have $50,000 and the defendants $50,000 and Mrs. Beall is to be administratrix. Each party is to pay their own costs.

A Prisoner Fought the Keeper.

A daring attempt was made to escape from Rockville jail last Friday by Aaron Shelley, a negro confined there for horse stealing. According to the custom at the jail the prisoners are liberated from their cells at meal times. When Jailer Burris unlocked the cell Friday morning in which Shelley was confined the prisoner drew a large butcher knife and demanded that he be liberated. The jailer drew his revolver and soon quitted the prisoner. At noon, anticipating no more trouble from Shelley, as he was unarmed, Jailer Burris unlocked the door of Shelley's cell. As he turned to pass on to the next cell Shelley jumped on his back exclaiming: "Now I've got you; if you don't let me out, I'll kill you." Mr. Burris was thrown to the floor, but quickly regained his feet. He drew his revolver and fired over the desperate negro's head. Shelley rushed at the jailer, but was knocked senseless with an iron rod, which the jailer had picked up from the floor. Shelley was picked up by some of the other prisoners and placed in his cell. —Sun.

In the Maryland coal region the number of miners at work is steadily increasing five hundred and thirteen men at work Wednesday. There was no disturbance at Frostburg on Monday. Dispatches from Elk Garden say that 275 men were at work in those mines. One of the miners, of the United Mine Workers, is expected at Frostburg Saturday.

A Good Word for the Newspaper.

At a recent business convention, Governor Francis, of Missouri, who is in a position to know whereof he speaks, paid tribute to the local newspaper as follows: "Each year the local paper gives from $500 to $5,000 in free lines to the community in which it is located. No other agency can or will do this."

The editor, in proportion to his means, does more for his town than any other 10 men, and in all fairness with men he ought to be supported not because you like him or admire his writings, but because the local paper is the best investment a community can make. It may not be brilliantly edited or crowned with thoughts, but financially it is of more benefit to the community than the teacher or preacher. Understand me, I do not mean mentally or morally, but financially and yet on the moral question you will find most of the local papers on the right side. Today the editors of the home papers do the most for the least money of any people on the face of the earth. —Ee.

Beiton!

You may puzzle a long time over that word before you tell how to pronounce it. Take the last end first and read backwards, and you have the familiar word "notice." Thus it might puzzle you to learn that "Yreocid Lacidem Nedlog" cures incipient consumption and all scrofulous impurities of the blood, and is a sure remedy for piles, skin affections and all complaints due to deranged liver. Take the right hand end of your title and read backwards and you have the "Golden Medical Discovery," the famous preparation of Dr. Pierce's, of Buffalo. Get hold of disease by the right end. Don't wait till the undertaker is the only man that can do anything. "G. M. D." cures consumption, lung scrofula, when taken in the early stages of the disease.

The Cost Was $10,000.

The cost to the State of keeping troops in the field at Eagle Station and Benwood W. Va., during the miners' strike is $10,000, and there is no money to pay the bill. The Legislature at its last session appropriated $15,000 for the guard, but it is found that the appropriation is for encampment alone and cannot be used to defray expenses of active service. Governor MacCorkle gave his personal note for $2,500 to pay the troops that were ordered out to Eagle Station and if he does not do likewise for those ordered to Benwood they will have to wait until after the next meeting of the Legislature in January for their money.

Dwelling Destroyed.

The dwelling house owned and occupied by Wm. Harris, at Christie Rock, three miles from Cambridge, was destroyed by fire last Thursday night. The family were all asleep at the time the fire broke out, and but for the timely assistance of S. Q. Sanks, one of the neighbors, who first discovered the fire and gave the alarm, the family would have been burned. Octavia Kiah, a colored girl, about eleven years old, who was sleeping in the house, was unable to make her escape from the burning building and perished in the flames.

The Baltimore and Lehigh Railroad from its terminus at North Delta, a distance of 43 3-10 miles, together with all its franchises and equipment, the latter comprising, in part, eleven locomotives, sixteen passenger coaches and about one hundred freight cars, station property, machine shops, telegraph line, etc., was sold last Friday, under a decree of the United States Circuit Court, for $250,000. The sale was made under foreclosure of the first mortgage, amounting to $850,000, and the property was bid in by Alexander Brown & Sons, bankers, for the first mortgage bondholders.

A Farmer's Awful Death.

Eli Kellenberger, near Irish-town, Adams county, Pa., met with a horrible accident, which resulted in his death. He went to a field to cut grass with a mower. While he was leading his horses they became unmanageable and ran away. Mr. Kellenberger was caught on the guards of the cutter bar, which broke the long bones of the right leg into a number of small pieces, and cut a long gash half around the leg. The horses started around the field on a run, and were just on the point of running over the injured man lying helpless on the ground when they were stopped.

William Walter Phelps.

Ex-Minister William Walter Phelps died shortly before 2 o'clock Sunday morning at his home, at Tea Neck, N. J. He had been ill for a long time past, and quite recently went South in the hope that his condition would be improved. He derived but little benefit from his Southern trip, however, and but a short time ago was so prostrated that his physicians ordered absolute quiet and rest. He died calmly surrounded by his wife and daughter and his two sons, John J. and Sheffield. Mrs. Phelps is prostrated with long watching at the bedside.

The exact nature of Mr. Phelps' ailment was never definitely stated, but his illness was primarily from typhoid fever, which was followed by meningitis and other complications. He was not naturally of a robust constitution and he inherited pulmonary troubles.

A Cure for Mosquitoes.

Mr. Francis McCabe, who comes from Sergit, N. J. where the mosquitoes are so thick and savage that they have been known to eat a blanket off a horse, says that several years ago he read in a newspaper that the people in the jungles of India protected themselves from the pest by planting castor beans around their houses. He tried the experiment and found it a great success. "Now," he says, "although the mosquitoes may be so thick one hundred yards away that you cannot see the stars, they never come near my house. I have several of the plants set out in my garden, while on the rear and side porches they grow in tubs. I have heard that a poisonous substance on the under side of the leaf of the palmaria christi, which is the technical name, kills the long imps of voracity. The prevention is not only absolute, but the plants adds greatly to the attractiveness of the house, and cost very little." —Washington Star.

Remarkable Adiposity.

Squire J. Irvin Bitner, of Hagerstown, received information of the death of his cousin, J. B. Leathers, a prominent citizen of Mount Eagle, Pa. The deceased, besides being prominent as a citizen, was noted for his great adiposity. His weight, over 300 pounds, did not disable him from duties incident to a busy man's life. His obesity was doubtless inherited, as his mother weighed 550 pounds and his father over 300 pounds. His mother's coffin was so large that it could not be gotten into the house, and when the body was deposited in the grave the sides caved in from the great weight. Both traveled in a carriage specially constructed for them and they were compelled to ride tandem. —News.

For the relief and cure of a cold in the head there is more potency in Ely's Cream Balm than in anything else it is possible to prescribe. This preparation has for years past been making a brilliant success as a remedy for cold in the head, catarrh and hay fever. Used in the initial stages of these complaints Cream Balm prevents any serious development of the symptoms, while almost numberless cases are on record of radical cures of chronic catarrh and hay fever after all other treatments have proved of no avail.

A Cloudburst

Hancock and its immediate vicinity was visited by a cloudburst Saturday afternoon. The rain fell in sheets, dashing over the roofs of houses like a cataract and flooding the streets and sidewalks. Trees were uprooted, and all through the streets shattered boughs were strewn. The large iron smokestack at the Hancock foundry was blown down and broken in pieces. The fury of the storm was restricted to this immediate vicinity. At Cherry Run there was no rainfall of any consequence.

A Narrow Escape.

Messrs. Thomas H. Brandenburg, William Brandenburg, John Ambrose, Nelson Baker and Pony Lovejoy, of Frederick, while overheated Monday, went in bathing in the Monocacy. Brandenburg and Ambrose were almost instantly taken with cramps. Ambrose sank to the bottom, and it was as much as the rest of the party could do to rescue them from drowning.

In New York on last Friday the jury in the case of Erasmus Wiman, charged with forgery, returned with a verdict of guilty and a recommendation to mercy.

Wicomico farmers are entering into the growing of scarlet clover. It is inexpensive to cultivate, gives the land permanent improvement, and is very profitable. Mr. Hugh J. Phillips threshed his scarlet clover seed last week. He had a field of twenty acres, from which he threshed 195 bushels of seed. These seed will bring about five dollars per bushel, and the cost of threshing is only seventy-five cents per bushel. Mr. Parker, his neighbor, had a yield of ninety bushels from a much less acreage than Mr. Phillips.

Nervous and weakly travelers by land often suffer from something akin to this, and find in the Bitters its surest remedy. No disorder of the stomach, liver or bowels is so obstinate that it may not be overcome by the prompt and thorough remedy. Equally efficacious for cholera and fever, dizziness and Rheumatic trouble and nervousness. Emigrants to the frontier should provide themselves with this medicinal safeguard against the effects of vicissitudes of climate, hardship, exposure and fatigue.

Two Policemen Killed.

On Wednesday night two policemen, Michael Neary and James T. Dunn, were instantly killed by a locomotive of the Northern Central Railway at the bridge between Chase and Eager Streets, Baltimore. Policeman Neary's head was severed from his body, and the two parts were picked up separately. Policeman Dunn was hit on the right side of the head. His skull was fractured in several places and his body was knocked from the railroad bridge into Jones' falls. The two bodies were recovered immediately after the accident by Capt. Frank Toner, and were taken to the City Hospital. The accident occurred while the policemen were attempting to arrest a number of boys who were bathing in Jones' falls. About an hour and a half before the accident happened Policeman Dunn had arrested one boy and sent him to the station-house. Returning to his beat he saw other boys in the water and set about capturing them. Policeman Neary was off duty at the time at his home in Guilford avenue in citizen's dress. Appreciating the difficulty that Dunn would have in arresting the boys or restraining them if caught, he put on his coat and went to Dunn's assistance.

A Narrow Escape.

Mr. John S. Agnew made a narrow escape on Monday from being seriously injured. He went to the stable of Patterson Bros., butchers of this place, to let the steers out for water, and as soon as he had loosened the chain on one of the steers it struck him a severe blow with its horns and head, causing Mr. Agnew to fall to the ground in the rear of the stable, but before landing on the ground the steer kicked him on the back causing him to fall with much force. It then turned and jumped on his legs with its front feet. Mr. Agnew managed to get on his feet again and when in the act of crawling over the manger the steer struck him on the back with its horns, tearing his coat and other clothing, and painfully bruising the flesh. Mr. Agnew suffered much pain, but was not badly injured, although he has not yet fully recovered.

Second Growth.

Mr. Isaac C. Forrest, a prominent farmer, residing near Stone Chapel, Carroll county, whose wheat was cut down nearly to the ground by the great hailstorm of May 6th, says it has sprouted and thrown up new stalks from the root, which are beginning to stand. It stands very thick on the ground, but is a third shorter in length than ordinary wheat. It is two or three weeks later than wheat that matures without accident, and Mr. Forrest expresses doubts as to whether it will fill and ripen. Should it do so, it will largely discount the damage wrought by the hail, which it was supposed was total. In any case it will not be ready to harvest before the middle of July.
