THE LONE GRAVE AT GETTYSBURG.

In the heart of Reynolds' copse on the field of Gettysburg is a lone grave, where repose the bones of a soldier recently unearthed on the battlefield. The other day I stood where waved the green and stately pines. Where long ago Mars marshalled all His eager battle lines; A lonely grave was at my feet Beneath the skies of May; Perhaps the sleeper wore the blue, Perchance he wore the gray.

A bird was sweetly singing where The silken leaves were red, And flowers in their beauty grew Above the hero's head; No one was near to tell the tale, And none was there to say Whether the sleeper wore the blue, Or whether he fought in gray.

Perchance the cause he served was lost, Perhaps his cause was won, But 'neath the gentle grass he slept, Some mother's missing son; I wondered if some sweetheart waits In patience far away, For one who nobly fell in blue, For one who died in gray.

The zephyrs softly stirred the pines, The creek flowed gently on, A sunbeam like a blessing lay That lonely grave upon; The coming days will not know Until the Judgment Day If once the soldier wore the blue, Or if he fell in gray.

For him no more the war drums beat, For him no bugles blow, No longer in the copse he waits The onset of the foe; Above him 'mong the silken vines Both light and shadow play, Crowning perhaps a boy in blue, Or maybe a boy in gray.

Ave, let him in the forest nave Forever sweetly rest, The skies of summer overhead, The sod upon his breast; I left him in that quiet spot Beneath the sky of May, A hero if he wore the blue, Brave if he died in gray.

TO ANNEX HAWAII

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.
 Mr. McKinley Says Annexation is Fitting and Necessary Outcome of Past Events.

The following is the full text of the message sent to the United States Senate on Wednesday, June 16, by President McKinley to accompany the Hawaiian treaty:

"I transmit herewith to the Senate, in order that, after due consideration, the constitutional function of advice and consent may be exercised by that body, a treaty for the annexation of the republic of Hawaii to the United States, signed in this capital by the plenipotentiaries of the parties on the 16th of June instant. For the better understanding of the subject, I transmit in addition a report of the Secretary of State, briefly reviewing the negotiations which have led to this important result.

"The incorporation of the Hawaiian Islands into the body politic of the United States is the necessary and fitting sequel to the chain of events which, from a very early period of our history, has controlled the intercourse and prescribed the association of the United States and the Hawaiian Islands. The predominance of American interests in that neighboring territory was first asserted in 1820 by sending to the islands a representative agent of the United States. It found further expression by the signature of a treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation with the King in 1826—the first international compact negotiated by Hawaii. It was signally announced in 1843, when the intervention of the United States caused the British government to disavow the seizure of the Sandwich Islands by a British naval commander, and to recognize them, by treaty, as an independent state, renouncing forever any purpose of annexing the islands or exerting a protectorate over them. Offered to the United States in 1851.

"In 1851 the cession of the Hawaiian Kingdom to the United States was formally offered, and, although then not accepted, this government proclaimed its duty to preserve alike the honor and dignity of the United States and the safety of the government of the Hawaiian Islands. From this time until the outbreak of the war in 1861 the policy of the United States was to maintain the Hawaiian sovereignty toward the United States was exemplified by continued negotiations for annexation or for a reserved-commercial union. The latter alternative was at length accomplished by the reciprocity treaty of 1875, the provisions of which were renewed and expanded by the convention of 1884, embracing the perpetual cession to the United States and the harbor of Pearl river, in the island of Oahu.

"In 1888 a proposal for the joint guaranty of the neutrality of the Hawaiian Islands by the United States, Germany and Great Britain was declined on the ground that the relation of the United States to the island was sufficient for the end in view. In brief, from 1820 to 1893 the course of the United States toward the Hawaiian Islands has consistently favored their autonomous welfare, with the exclusion of all foreign influence save our own, to the extent of upholding eventual annexation as the necessary outcome of that policy.

Not a New Scheme.

"Not only is the union of the Hawaiian territory to the United States no new scheme, but it is the inevitable consequence of the relations recently maintained with that mid-Pacific domain for three-quarters of a century. Its accomplishment, despite successive denials and postponements, has been merely a question of time. While its failure in 1893 may not be a cause of congratulation, it is certainly a proof of the disinterestedness of the United States, the delay of four years having abundantly sufficed to establish the right and stability of the republic of Hawaii to enter, as a sovereignty contract, upon a conventional union with the United States, thus realizing a purpose held by the Hawaiian people and proclaimed by successive Hawaiian governments through some seventy years of their virtual dependence upon the benevolent protection of the United States. Under such circumstances, annexation is not a change; it is a consummation.

"The report of the Secretary of State exhibits the character and course of the recent negotiation and the features of the treaty itself. The organic and administrative details of incorporation are necessarily left to the wisdom of Congress, and I cannot doubt, when the functions of the constitutional treaty-making power have been accomplished, the duty of the National Legislature in the case will be performed with the largest regard for the interests of this rich insular domain and for the welfare of the inhabitants thereof.

"WILLIAM MCKINLEY."
 "Executive Mansion, Washington, June 16, 1897."

Modern Trials of the Eyes.

There has been an astonishing increase of blindness in the world, and especially in civilized countries. The latest reports show that there are 22,000 blind persons in England, or 870 for each million inhabitants. There are in each million of less than 5 years 166 who are blind; in each million between 5 and 15, 288; in each million between 20 and 25, 422; in each million between 45 and 60, 1,625, and in each million above 65 years, 7,000.

Of the estimated 1,000,000 blind people in the world, Russia and Egypt are the countries where the blind constitute the largest proportionate number of the total population; in Russia on account of the lack of experienced medical attention, and in Egypt because of ophthalmia due to irritation caused by movement of the sand by the wind. There are nearly 200,000 blind people in Russia. This is more than half the total blind population of Europe. If there is such an astonishing percentage of blind people in the world, what must be the vast number of imperfect and defective eyes? It is said that the number of people who are obliged to use glasses has increased twenty-five per cent. within the last half century in great cities.

The existing civilization is far better lighted than have been former ones, but the more intense illumination is seriously at the expense of the human eye. Our ancestors were obliged to give the eyes far more rest than we. If our "blinding illumination" of today dwarfs the humble candles of our forefathers, our optics pay heavily for the luxury. But the science of illumination is only in its infancy, with all its great achievements, and more light on the science of light will doubtless yet rescue the human eye from its existing trials.

JEFFERSON'S INAUGURATION

The Story That He Rode on Horseback Unattended Was a Fable.

No inauguration myth has been more tenacious of life than that which pictured Jefferson, attired as a plain citizen, riding on horseback to the capitol, hitching his horse to the palings and walking unattended into the senate chamber to stop his downward course.

The horseback story, or "fable," as it would be denominated in modern journalism, was the invention of an Englishman named John Davis, who put it in a book of American travels which he published in London two years later. In order to give it an air of truthfulness, Davis declared that he was present at the inauguration, which was not true. A veracious account of the ceremonies was sent to England by Edward Thornton, who was then in charge of the British legation at Washington, and in this Jefferson was described as having walked to the capitol. These facts, together with a great mass of interesting matter about Jefferson's inauguration, are set forth in detail by Henry Adams in his "History of the United States" and leave no doubt that the Davis version was a pure fabrication.—Joseph B. Bishop in Century.

THE TREATY.

Full Text of the Document Sent to the Senate by President McKinley.

The following is the full text of the Hawaiian treaty sent to the Senate on Wednesday of last week:

The United States of America and the republic of Hawaii, in view of the natural dependence of the Hawaiian Islands upon the United States, of their geographical proximity thereto, of the preponderant share acquired by the United States and its citizens in the industries and trade of said islands, and of the expressed desire of the governments of the republic of Hawaii that those islands should be incorporated into the United States as an integral part thereof and under its sovereignty, have determined to accomplish by treaty an object so important to their mutual and permanent welfare.

To this end the high contracting parties have conferred full powers and authority upon their respective plenipotentiaries, to wit: The President of the United States; John Sherman, Secretary of State of the United States; The President of the republic of Hawaii Francis March Hatch, Lorain A. Thurston and William A. Kinney.

The republic of Hawaii hereby cedes absolutely and without reserve to the United States of America all rights of sovereignty of whatsoever kind in and over the Hawaiian Islands and their dependencies; and it is agreed that all the territory of and appertaining to the republic of Hawaii is hereby annexed to the United States of America under the name of the Territory of Hawaii.

Article II.

The republic of Hawaii also cedes and hereby transfers to the United States the absolute fee and ownership of all public, government or crown lands, public buildings or edifices, ports, harbors, military equipments and all other public property of every kind and description belonging to the government of the Hawaiian Islands, together with every right and appurtenance thereto appertaining.

The existing laws of the United States relative to public lands shall not apply to such lands in the Hawaiian Islands, but the Congress of the United States shall enact special laws for their management and disposition: Provided, that all revenue from the proceeds of the same, except as regards such part thereof as may be used or occupied for the civil, military or naval purposes of the United States, or may be assigned for the use of the local government, shall be used solely for the benefit of the inhabitants of the Hawaiian Islands for educational and other public purposes.

Article III.

Until Congress shall provide for the government of such islands all the civil, judicial and military powers exercised by the officers of the existing government in said islands shall be vested in such person or persons and shall be exercised in such manner as the President of the United States shall direct, and the President shall have power to remove said officers and fill the vacancies so occasioned.

The existing treaties of the Hawaiian Islands with foreign nations shall forthwith cease and determine, being replaced by such treaties as may exist or as may be hereafter concluded between the United States and such foreign nations.

The municipal legislation of the Hawaiian Islands, not enacted for the fulfillment of the treaties so extinguished, and not inconsistent with this treaty nor contrary to the constitution of the United States, nor to any existing treaty of the United States, shall remain in force until the Congress of the United States shall otherwise determine.

"Until legislation shall be enacted extending the United States customs laws and regulation to the Hawaiian Islands the existing customs relations of the Hawaiian Islands with the United States and other countries shall remain unchanged.

Article IV.

The public debt of the republic of Hawaii lawfully existing at the date of the exchange of the ratifications of this treaty, including the amounts due to depositors in the Hawaiian Postal Savings Bank, is hereby assumed by the government of the United States, but the liability of the United States in this regard shall in no case exceed $4,000,000. So long, however, as the existing government and the present commercial relations of the Hawaiian Islands are continued, as hereinbefore provided, said government shall continue to pay the interest on said debt.

Article V.

There shall be no further immigration of Chinese into the Hawaiian Islands, except upon such conditions as are now or may hereafter be allowed by the laws of the United States, and no Chinese, by reason of anything herein contained, shall be allowed to enter the United States from the Hawaiian Islands.

Article VI.

The President shall appoint five commissioners, at least two of whom shall be residents of the Hawaiian Islands, who shall, as soon as reasonably practicable, recommend to Congress such legislation concerning the territory of Hawaii as they shall deem necessary or proper.

Article VII.

This treaty shall be ratified by the President of the United States, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, on the one part, and by the President of the republic of Hawaii, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, in accordance with the constitution of the said republic, on the other, and the ratifications hereof shall be exchanged at Washington, as soon as possible.

In witness whereof the respective plenipotentiaries have signed the above articles and have hereunto affixed their seals.

Done in duplicate at the city of Washington this sixteenth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven.

CHARLEY ROSS' FATHER DEAD.

Christian K. Ross, who has for years held the office of Master Warden of the Board of Port Wardens of Philadelphia, Pa., and who was known all over the world as the father of Charley Ross, the 4-year-old boy, whose mysterious abduction from his father's residence July 1, 1874, caused such a profound sensation, died Sunday morning at his home, on Washington lane, near Chew street, Germantown, Pa.

Mr. Ross had a valvular trouble of the heart for about six months past, and since June 3 had been unable to be at his office, in the Bourse. Nevertheless, he was not thought to be dangerously ill, and his death was a severe shock to his family and friends.

Mr. Ross was born November 6, 1823, in Middletown, Pa. His father, Joseph Ross, kept a small grocery store there. His mother who was a Miss Katharine Kunkle, of Harrisburg, died in Germantown only a few months ago at the age of 96 years. Christian was 14 years old when he left the parental roof and went to Philadelphia to strike out for himself. He was employed in a small capacity by the firm of Jackson & Co., who were at that time engaged in the dry goods commission business. His earnest application and marked ability secured him steady promotion, and before he became of age he was taken into the firm.

Shortly after this Mr. Jackson died and Mr. Ross succeeded him, the firm reorganizing under the name of Ross, Schott & Co. The quarters of the new company were at 304 Market street. Mr. Ross amassed a considerable fortune, almost all of which he lost during the panic of 1875 and in the vain search for his stolen boy. On July 24, 1892, he married Sarah Ann Lewis, of Brookfield, Mass. Six children were born to them—three girls and three boys. He was appointed Master Warden by Governor Hartranft in June of 1878, and has been reappointed by all the succeeding Governors. His reappointment from Governor Hastings was received only last week. He was the first master warden that ever held office under both Republican and Democratic administrations. He was the sole proprietor of the Pennsylvania Crucible Works, at Sixth and Master streets. During his many years of service in the Board of Port Wardens his strict integrity, his genial disposition and his Christian character, saddened but beautified by the weight of his great sorrow, endeared him to the hearts of all his associates, and the news of his death was received with genuine sorrow and regret.

MILLIONS OF POSTAGE STAMPS.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Assistant Secretary Vanderlip today advised the director of the bureau of engaging and printing of the postage requirements of the Postoffice Department for stamps during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1898. These estimates, based upon the number used in previous years, are as follows: Ordinary stamps, 3,444,167,000; newspaper and periodical stamps, 6,462,000; postage due stamps, 21,168,000. Of the ordinary stamps two and a half billions are of the two cent denomination and five millions are of the ten-cent special delivery series. As compared with the requirements for the present year, these estimates are an increase of about 295,000,000 in the number of ordinary stamps, an increase of 770,000 in the special delivery, an increase of 963,000 in the newspaper and periodicals and a decrease of 832,000 in the postage due series.

AN AERONAUT KILLED.

Walter Steele, a well-known balloonist, was killed at Lynchburg, Va., Tuesday afternoon while making an ascent at Rivermont Park in the presence of a large crowd. The balloon had been inflated in a small circular opening in quite a large body of woods. The day was clear and beautiful, but occasionally a brisk breeze would sweep across the tree tops. When the aeronaut had completed his preparations the ropes were loosened and the balloon started straight towards the open skies. Just as the main body of the balloon passed the trees it was caught by a gust of wind and carried with great force toward the north. A cry of horror went up from the crowd, for it was seen that Steele could not miss striking one of the lofty trees. As the big sphere of gas swung away, it left him suspended for a moment in the centre of an opening, and in plain view. The next moment he was hurled with awful velocity into a tree which stood on the edge of a ravine of some depth, and from the very top of the tree into the bottom of this depression the aeronaut plunged. There was a sickening thud, and a doctor, who reached him in a few seconds, stated after a brief examination that death had been instantaneous.

CHINESE COINS FOR THE SMITHSONIAN.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The Smithsonian Institution has received by bequest from the late G. B. Glover, of New York, formerly of the Chinese imperial maritime customs, a collection of Chinese and other East Asiatic coins consisting of 2,025 pieces and representing the coinage of China from 770 B. C. down to the present day. This collection is probably the most complete in existence, surpassing those at London and Paris. It embraces many specimens of those peculiar pieces of currency used both as coins and religious medals, moulds of various shapes, notes, both governmental and private, and coins of foreign countries, struck from time to time for commercial use in China, and also the coinage of the Anamese, Japanese, Koreans and the Mohammedan cities of China. The collection is being prepared for installation in the museum by Numismatist Beckwith.

INSURANCE CASE DECISION.

The decision of the Court of Appeals in the case of the Caledonia Fire Insurance Company of Scotland vs. Julius Traub and others, was rendered by Chief Judge McSherry this week. For the third time this case has been before the Court of Appeals, and each time by the appellant company and each time by a different jury. The difference was that the company and the insured disagreed as to the amount of goods destroyed, and the arbitrator of the company, and the umpire undertaking to fix the amount of loss before the two arbitrators had gotten so far apart that they could not agree. The Court of Appeals finds no error in the rulings of the Court below and again affirms the judgment below in favor of Traub & Bro. The amount of the award was $1,043.

Queen Victoria's Jubilee.

The Queen's Jubilee procession in London was a magnificent success. The weather was perfect. The Queen rode over the entire route and showed no fatigue. There were no accidents. At the close of the services in St. Paul's Cathedral the Archbishop of Canterbury called for three times three cheers for Queen Victoria and they were heartily given. At night the city of London was illuminated on a grand scale. There were also celebrations by British subjects in many parts of the world.

JUDGES of the Delaware bench decided that it will not be necessary for Governor Tammell to call a special session of the Legislature to provide for the assembling of State Supreme Court.

ANOTHER BRIGADIER TO BE APPOINTED.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Already President McKinley has appointed more major-generals, brigadiers and colonels than fall to an executive ordinarily in a full term and the list is not yet completed. The major-generals have all been allotted, but there is yet another brigadier to appoint, to be followed by an immediate retirement in order to make room for still another office of deserving promotion. Colonel Mills, whose nomination for brigadier has been confirmed, has applied to be retired under the service clause and will have his request granted. Secretary Alger said today that Col. Caleb H. Carleton, of the eighth cavalry, would succeed to the vacancy, although Col. Henry C. Merriam, of the seventh cavalry, was generally believed to be slated for the next star. General Carleton, however, will gracefully retire when confirmed, and then Colonel Merriam will be advanced.

FALLING OFF IN IMMIGRATION.

Reports received by Commissioner-General Stump, of the immigration bureau, show the number of immigrants that arrived in this country during the eleven months ended May 31, 1897, was 210,271. This is a decrease as compared with the same period last year of 105,038. The commissioner-general said that, in his opinion, the reduction during the whole fiscal year will reach 120,000.

Why

Do people buy Hood's Sarsaparilla in preference to any other, — in fact almost to the exclusion of all others?

Because

They know from actual use that Hood's is the best, i. e., it cures when others fail. Hood's Sarsaparilla is still made under the personal supervision of the educated pharmacist who originated it. The question of best is just as positively decided in favor of Hood's as the question of comparative sales.

Another thing: Every advertisement of Hood's Sarsaparilla is true, is honest.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

It is the One True Blood Purifier. All Druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Olynervous" is a sure indication that the blood is not pure. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood and cures nervousness.

Tossed on the foaming billows. You may never have been, but if you cross the Atlantic, no matter how smooth the water appears, without sea sickness you are well, a lucky voyager, that is all. Old tars who have spent their lives on the ocean waves, who were almost born, so to speak, with their sea legs on, suffer now and then from sea sickness in very unexpected ways. Sea sickness, though a common ailment, is not a disease, but is a condition of the system, which is caused by the stomach's failure to digest food properly. This popular medicine also remedies rheumatic kidney and nervous disorders, and the infirmities incident to increasing years.

We have received an invitation to attend the closing exercises of the Samuel Ready School, Baltimore, on June 25. Miss Helen J. Rowe, of this place, is the accomplished superintendent of this institution.

Elevating music will intersperse the speaking.

To Kill Flies. Here is said to be a valuable remedy for flies: "Take a tablespoonful of ground black pepper and mix it with two teaspoonfuls of brown sugar; moisten the compound with milk and place where there are rays of light. The flies will generally be quickly attracted to it and eat greedily. If they do it will be their last meal, for the least of it is poison to a fly."

Charged with Arson. Sheriff McBride and Deputy Crum arrested Thos. O'Connor, of Thurmont, Frederick county, Saturday last, at the instance of State Fire Marshall Edwin J. Mr. Rahter was the proprietor of the City Hatch in Westminster for a number of years. He was in the sixty-third year of his age, and leaves five or six children, two of whom reside in Westminster, viz., Mrs. Dr. Hartstone and Mrs. Charles Turffe. Mr. and Mrs. Rahter were buried together Tuesday at Littleton, Pa.

Honors to Prof. Ernest Lagarde. A special dispatch to the Baltimore Sun says: The faculty of St. Francis Xavier's College, New York city, at their commencement on the 21st inst. conferred the degree of Doctor of Laws, on Prof. Ernest Lagarde, Mount St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Md. Professor Lagarde was born in New Orleans, La., in 1835. He received his primary education in his native city, and at an early age was sent to College Hill, Miss., to complete his studies. After spending some time in college he returned to New Orleans and began to study law. Finding this study not congenial, he abandoned his law books and took up journalism. He was connected with several prominent papers in the South before the war, and during the presidential campaign of 1860 edited a paper of his own, the Sentinel.

When Louisiana seceded he became a soldier of the Crescent regiment and afterward a clerk in the ordnance bureau at the Confederate capital. Here he published a monthly magazine called the Age.

After the war Mr. Lagarde began his career as a college professor, teaching for some time at the Randolph-Macon College, Virginia. In 1869 he was appointed professor of English literature and modern languages at Mt. St. Mary's College, Maryland, which chair he now holds.

During his connection with the Mountain he has published his "French Verb Book" and a translation of Quinoton's "Noblemen of '89," a romance of the days of the French revolution. He has published, also, "Lectures on Shakespeare," and is working presently on a complete set of reading books, fulfilling an engagement made with an extensive Western publishing firm. He is a man of liberal principles and of decided literary taste. He is very popular with the students and among the alumni. His many friends will be glad to hear of his well-merited honors.

Fatal Accident. Mrs. Sarah H. Thomas, an aged and highly respected lady of Boonsboro', met her death Wednesday morning by falling in a well at her residence in Boonsboro'. Mrs. Thomas resided with Miss Bettie Ringer, on Potomac street, and was in the habit of keeping milk and meat in buckets suspended in the well, and while endeavoring to draw out a bucket of meat she met her death. She had opened the trap door, and was drawing up the bucket, when it is supposed she was seized with an attack of vertigo and fell headlong into the well a distance of twenty feet. Miss Ringer saw the accident and summoned help, but before assistance arrived the lady was dead. Her body was brought to the surface by means of a rope fastened around her. A large wound on the back of her head showed the skull to have been fractured, causing her death. Mrs. Thomas was seventy-nine years of age. She was the widow of Jacob A. Thomas, who died about 15 years ago. She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Otto B. Smith of Boonsboro', and one son, Otto J. Thomas, of Vanwert, Ohio.

All Over The Globe.—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are known. They are far more effective in arousing the liver to action than the old-fashioned cathartic pills, calomel or "blue pills," and are purely vegetable and perfectly harmless in any condition of the system. No care is required while using them. They cure biliousness, sick headache, costiveness, sour stomach, windy belchings, "heart-burn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements.

Don't neglect a cough because the weather is pleasant; before the next storm rolls around it may develop into a serious difficulty beyond repair. One Minute Cough Cure is easy to take and will do what its name implies. Geo. W. Ogle & Son.

What Talmage Says. Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage sagely observes that "A newspaper whose columns overflow with advertisements of business men has more influence in attracting attention to and building up a city or town than any other agency that can be employed. People go where there is business. Capital and labor will locate where there is an enterprising community. No power on earth is so strong to build up a town as a newspaper well patronized, and its power should be appreciated."

Nor only piles of the very worst kind can be cured by DeWitt's Which Hazel Salve, but eczema, scalds, burns, bruises, boils, ulcers and all other skin troubles can be instantly relieved by the same remedy. Geo. W. Ogle & Son.

JOHN CYRUS, twenty years old, son of Joseph Cyrus, of Ijamsville, Frederick county, was found dead a short distance from his home. He is supposed to have fallen in a spasm, to which he was subject.

SHOT HER BABY BROTHER. A Thirteen Year Old Girl Accidentally Shoots Her Six Months Old Brother—Bad Dog Scare Over—Other Items of News.

FAIRFIELD, June 22.—On last Thursday Mrs. Frank Stom, of Fountaindale, went out to a field for some purpose, leaving her six months old child in the cradle, in care of her thirteen year old daughter, who went to the bureau, opened a drawer to get her doll to amuse the baby, and seeing a revolver there, she picked it up. She does not know whether the hammer was back or not, or whether she pulled the trigger. However, when she gave the doll to the baby, who was sitting up in the cradle, the revolver went off, the ball striking the child in the corner of its eye, coming out at the back of its head. The child died soon afterward. The girl carried the baby out on the porch and gave an alarm by sending a younger sister for her mother. When the mother arrived the child was dead. Mrs. Stom reports having frequently seen the revolver lying around cocked, ready to shoot. The child was buried on Saturday. This is another warning to parents to keep such deadly weapons out of the reach of children.

Miss Lillie B. Shulley, of this place, is spending a few days at Highfield, Md.

Mr. J. C. Shertzer, of Fairfield, gave our correspondent some of the finest strawberries that he ever grew. Some of which measured 6 1/2 inches around. Who can beat that?

Mrs. Albion Myers, of this place, is visiting in Hanover.

Miss Mary Arent, of Spring Grove, is a visitor to this place.

The Teachers' Examination, which took place last Wednesday, brought a great many strangers to town.

Mr. George Singley, of this place, pulled a stalk of rye out of his field that measured 8 feet 4 inches. Pretty good length for rye.

Lieut. C. J. Sefton, of Fairfield, has a cherry tree containing large cherries. Mr. Sefton watches the birds, and they watch him. Who gets the most cherries we are not able to say.

Miss Lizzie McGinley, of Fairfield, has one of the nicest rose yards in town. She has 37 different varieties of roses.

The funeral of Dr. A. P. Beaver on last Thursday was largely attended. The Order of Masons, of which he was a member, had charge of the funeral, and the ritual of the order was read at the grave. The I. O. O. F., turned out in a body. The doctor practiced medicine in Fairfield for the past 20 years. He leaves a wife and one son. He was 45 years old.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. Samuel Elison, who was taken to the Hospital to have an operation performed for a tumor, is improving rapidly.

Miss Kate Kugler is very ill at this time.

Mrs. Jacob Musselman of Hanover, is visiting her sister at this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes, of Mercersburg, are visiting their friends at this place.

Mr. Bert Hinkle, of Mifflin, Pa., is visiting his old hometown. This is his first visit since he left eighteen years ago. He is looking well. He is a son of Capt. Charley Hinkle, who formerly lived and carried on shoemaking in Fairfield.

Several dogs in this neighborhood have gone mad and bit several cows and horses and a little son of Mr. John Peters, who lives at Iron Springs. The boy is under medical treatment. The dogs have been killed.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stoner, of Harney, are visiting in this place.

The officers of Fairfield borough are not afraid to enforce the laws. Several young men have been arrested for fast driving and fined $1.00.

The laying of pavements is progressing. At the east end of town the pavements have nearly all been laid. Fairfield is well shaded and a first class town. What is needed in our town is another railroad or electric railway, and some machine shops.

GREEN MOUNT HAPPENINGS. Owing to the great "rush" in business our blacksmith, Mr. John Eiker, has employed the help of Joseph Orndorff, of near the Tract.

Mr. Ira Harman bought a horse recently of Milton Spangler.

Mr. John Fleagle, our wide awake miller, is doing a rushing business, and his work meets with great success.

Messrs. John W. Hess and Chas. Currens, of Philadelphia are visiting at Mr. John Fleagle's.

Water is getting very low in the creeks. A good rain is needed.

We noticed our old friend, Mr. Ulrich, of Emmitsburg, was fishing this week.

The festival which was held at McCurdy's recently, was a grand success, and a very large crowd was present.

One of our friends received a basket of fruit from a friend, and in the way of thanks said, "you have my sincere thanks for the fruit, which is of fine culture."

Mr. Jacob Hoke will move on John Black's farm, in the spring.

Mr. John Hoffman, of this place, received a visitor recently, whose name we have not learned, but hope to make his acquaintance, as we hear his visit is to be a prolonged one.

ALWAYS DO THE RIGHT THING. Communicated. Henry Clay, said he would rather be right than be president.

How many of us can utter such sentiments, and prove our sincerity by our every day life?

The attractions toward wrong doing and evil paths, are as great as the magnet that attracts the vibrating needle. Mankind is as uncertain as this quivering piece of steel, until it is overpowered by the great loadstone. Too many never change their position, or an emolument is named. Strong influences are hard to resist, although it is in the power for all to resist. Too many do not desire to do right, believing the greatest thing in this world is place and power. (The foolish position, unless all things for the past is not worthy of credence. Few men who have achieved the greatest honors, were happy. Solomon, who had all that the heart of man could desire, said it all was vanity and vexation of spirit.)

How many men at the close of life can look back and justify their course? The intrigues and two faced parts are so many, that thorns in their pillows, would be as dangerous as their heads were, instead. Would these ghosts of the past haunt us if we had done right?

Are we doing right when we stand idly by and see the avaricious man taking advantage of the ignorant and not expose him?

Do we do right when our fellow man is slandered and not defend him? Or, when infamous reports are circulated about him and not apprise him of them; or, when we can do good, as opportunities are many and not give relief?

Are we doing right when we avoid our fellow men when they are in trouble? When trouble stops at our door, we will think it strange if our friends and neighbors do not call.

Sometimes we must eat a loaf of bread, if so, take it with us, or a word of consolation and encouragement—don't withhold that or the loss of a night's rest to save some worn out wretcher, do that willingly, some one may have to watch your bedside.

The active and healthy force that sickness and old age are coming on step by step, quietly, but surely, when the busy workers will want others to support and watch over them. Now they have no time to offer sympathy or loose in acts of kindness to those in need. We all know half the road belongs to the footman, as well as the horseman, then why do we compel the footman to give us all the road? Perhaps outside the beaten tracks, the road may be rough or muddy.

Always give to others as much as you claim for yourself, and you will be doing right.

When the car is too warm for you be considerate, do not open the window and expose others to colds and discomfort. Their tickets are like yours, (unless you are traveling on a pass) if you feel like others feel toward you, when you open the window, you would instead, go out on the platform for fresh air.

I am coming home now. Some men permit their wives to do all the work, even saw the wood, whilst they stand around regulating the finances and defining the war position of the country, always sure to get home about mealtime, and expect a good meal without having done anything toward providing for it.

Is that right? Be on such husbands. There is a right side to every transaction, every question, every duty. Why do so many always get on the wrong side? Be sure when praising your wares, that you tell no more than the truth, and have the measure full size and length, and never say your article is better than our competitor when it is the same, after all is said.

The sale of shoddy articles will continue so long as the people demand cheap stuff. Blame yourself for the inferior grades you get, unless you pay enough to justify the manufacturer to put good material in and make it well. They are doing right while the consumer is doing wrong in demanding such goods and expecting more for their money than they pay. The dealer that represents these low grades as good; is doing right, it rebounds on him very soon. If he mistakes and does not favor be punctual in correcting them, whether for or against let your actions be the same. All is vanity that is not honest. Some will truckle to a lie, and sell honesty for self interest. Do you? There are men who have no regrets? Do any live here?

How apt we are to repeat what is said about others, without knowing how true it is, and thereby circulate injurious stories, associating the names of reputable persons with no nothing derogative to their characters can be
