

PEACE-PROSPERITY.

The war is ended and all uncertainty in business channels must speedily perish. There is now no danger of international complications and the people of this country are about to enter upon a season of industrial and commercial prosperity that has not been surpassed in the history of the present generation.

It will not be a season of feverish inflation. There will be no tidal wave of stimulated values to bring the inevitable sequel of depression and disaster. The business improvement that must now be felt in every channel of industry and trade has a more substantial basis than has ever been presented in any of the prosperous seasons of the past.

The quickening of business must now be speedy and universal. We have every element necessary to give us a high measure of national prosperity on the soundest basis. Our national credit stands second to none in the world at home or abroad, and private credit as a rule merits the confidence of business circles.

The war has opened up new and important lines of consumption, all of which will be supplied by our own people. Hundreds of millions of money are ready to seek investment in legitimate enterprise and in satisfactory securities. Our importations have been the largest in the history of the government, and must now rapidly increase; and the most bountiful harvests have just been gathered by our husbandmen.

The wise business man will set his house in order at once to reap the largest benefits from the now inevitable tide of prosperity that must follow peace. He who sits down in idleness and waits for prosperity to stumble over him will find himself behind in the race, and those who most intelligently and energetically improve the opportunity will surely have fortune as their reward.

General prosperity must speedily come, whether it shall be aided or hindered by those who are to profit most by it, but prompt and united action in business and industrial channels to welcome business improvement would quicken activities at once on every side.

There is no place now for those who halt and creak and grumble as the world moves on. There are those who cannot understand or appreciate national prosperity, even when its beneficent blessings are diffused on every hand, but they have no place in the duties and prospects of the present, while the strong men who have faith in country, in industry, in progress and in home will now come to the front to aid and enlarge the most substantial and apparently enduring season of prosperity ever enjoyed by the American people.—Phila. Times.

PAID $200,000 FOR A BRITISH INVENTION.

An important contract with a foreign firm, involving an outlay of $200,000, was executed by the Navy Department through which the government comes into possession of valuable inventions for improving the breech mechanism of ordnance. The purchase of the right to use these inventions was made of a well known British firm, and includes all proprietary plans and specifications for what is known as the Welin screw and breech block, which can be applied to all rapid-fire guns from three to eight-inch caliber.

CATARH CAN BE CURED

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials, free.

WAR REVENUES A SURPRISE.

It is generally conceded in Washington that the act known as the War Revenue bill will not be repealed when the war is over. Efforts will be made when Congress meets for the short session to strike the law off the books, but all such efforts will fail. Some portions of the law will, doubtless, be repealed, but as a general proposition the principle of internal taxation as exemplified in the War Revenue bill will never disappear.

The law has been an agreeable surprise to the Treasury Department. The revenues derived under its provisions have been more than twice as great as was calculated. So vast have been the sums that rolled into the Treasury that the Department can announce that there will be no more bonds issued. The bill authorizes the Secretary to issue four hundred millions of bonds. Two hundred millions have been issued. The remainder will not be printed.

It is probable that some modifications of the law will be made at the next session. One of the provisions of the law that will certainly be repealed is the onerous and unnecessary tax on collateral for notes. The tax on a note, and the additional tax on all collateral for the note above one thousand dollars, together with the tax for the accompanying power of attorney is entirely too heavy. This is, perhaps, the feature of the law that causes the most adverse comment.

But the tax on checks, the tax on proprietary medicines, the tax on beer and wines will become permanent sources of revenue. As a matter of fact, the time has come when increased revenues from internal taxation are indispensable. No customs law can be framed whose revenue will ever suffice to pay the current expenditures of this government. The McKinley law failed, in this regard; the Wilson law failed, and the Dingley law will fail to raise sufficient money. It is the logical result of a protective tariff to reduce the revenues from imports. As it fosters and builds up home industries, it must in consequence reduce the amount of goods imported and, therefore, decrease the customs collected on these imports.

The receipts Monday from internal revenue were over $861,000, as compared with $150,000 from customs; for the current month the receipts from internal revenue were $11,885,000, as against $7,300,000 from customs, and for the current fiscal year (beginning July 1) the receipts from internal taxation were $38,000,000, as against $22,500,000 from customs.

BOUGHT TO AVERAGE BAGLEY.

KEY WEST, FLA., Aug. 15.—To the torpedo boat Cushing, commanded by Lieut. Albert Gleaves, will go the distinction of having had one of the last naval engagements of the Spanish-American war. Had the peace negotiations been protracted a little longer the Cushing would have ended the conflict by avenging its beginning, when Ensign Bagley and his four comrades of the Winslow were killed at Cardenas.

At the very moment the orders for raising the blockade reached the Cushing, she was making for three Spanish gunboats, which had wrecked her sister boat, intent on sinking them or herself going down in the effort. They were the Ligero, Alerto and Antonio Lopez.

A few days before the Cushing destroyed six small sloops and a two-masked schooner, the Triumfo, of 25 tons. She also chased and held up the hospital ship Solace, the American schooner Delie, which, with the consent of the authorities, was carrying a Cuban expedition, the Mangrove and the schooner Anna E. Krause, from Baltimore for Galveston, all or any of which it was hoped might be a ship of the enemy and offer fight.

HELP is wanted when the nerves become weak and appetite fails. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives help by making the blood rich and pure.

PEACE AGREEMENT SIGNED.

The war between Spain and the United States, which began April 21, was stopped by the signing of a peace protocol at the White House in Washington at 4.23 P. M., last Friday.

The protocol was signed by Wm. Day, Secretary of State, representing the United States, and Jules Cambon, French ambassador, representing Spain.

As soon as the agreement had received the official signatures orders were sent, under President McKinley's direction, to the American military and naval commanders directing a suspension of hostilities. The President also issued a proclamation giving notice of the signing of the protocol.

The terms of the protocol are practically the same as those proposed by the United States soon after the negotiations began. Porto Rico, the other Spanish islands in the West Indies, except Cuba, and an island in the Ladrones to be selected by the United States are to be ceded to this country. Spain will relinquish all sovereignty over Cuba. The United States will hold the city, bay and harbor of Manila pending the conclusion by the peace commission of a treaty establishing the future of the Philippines.

All the Spanish islands in the West Indies are to be "immediately evacuated," and commissioners are to meet at Havana and San Juan to arrange the details of the evacuation.

ARMY WILL BE REDUCED.

At midnight Wednesday the President announced his decision to muster out of the service from 75,000 to 100,000 of the volunteers. Those to be discharged will include three branches of the service, infantry, artillery and cavalry.

The question of the mustering out of volunteers has been under consideration for several days. It was quite evident to begin with, that a considerable force necessarily would have to be retained. With only a part of the volunteer force to be mustered out, it became a delicate question to designate the organizations which should go.

From a prominent official of the administration, it is understood to be the desire of the President to ascertain the wishes of the volunteer troops themselves as to remaining in the service. One or two organizations have already indicated a desire to leave the service as soon as the government can reasonably do without them. They are composed largely of business and working men, whose private interests are suffering by reason of their absence from home.

DEWEY ANNOUNCES ANOTHER VICTORY.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Admiral Dewey's official announcement of the bombardment and surrender of Manila has been received as follows:

Manila, August 13. Secretary of the Navy, Washington: Manila surrendered today to the American land and naval forces, after a combined attack. A division of the squadron shelled the forts and entrenchments at Malate, on the south side of the city, driving back the enemy, our army advancing from that side at the same time. The city surrendered at about 5 o'clock, the American flag being hoisted by Lieutenant Brumby. About 7,000 prisoners were taken. The squadron had no casualties; none of the vessels were injured.

On August 7th General Merritt and I formally demanded the surrender of the city, which the Spanish Governor General refused. [Signed.] DEWEY. Lieutenant Brumby is Admiral Dewey's flag Lieutenant.

THE Rev. W. B. Costley, of Stockbridge, Ga., while attending to his pastoral duties at Ellenwood, that state, was attacked by cholera morbus. He says: "By chance I happened to get hold of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and I think it was the means of saving my life. It relieved me at once." For sale by C. D. ZEIGLER NOMINATED AT YORK.

York, Pa., August 15.—E. D. Zeigler, an attorney of this city, was this afternoon nominated as the Democratic candidate for Congress from the Nineteenth district, comprising the counties of York, Adams and Cumberland. Adams county refused to participate in the conference on account of the apportionment muddle. George J. Benner, Democrat, is the present congressman from this district.

Tutt's Liver Pills

Constipation, indigestion, bilious attacks, sick or bilious headaches, and all derangements of liver, stomach, and bowels, are permanently cured.

THIRTEEN MEMBERS OF A FAMILY DROWNED.

KNOXVILLE, TENN., Aug. 15.—Additional details relative to the cloudburst in Hawkins county last Friday were received in this city tonight. It was previously reported that twenty lives were lost in the flood, but it is now estimated that perhaps thirty-two persons became victims. The latest report states that the families of Wm. Fagan, Wm. Tunnell Patience and Yance Morler, John Arnold and his mother and Mrs. Samuel Henry. The Fagan family numbered thirteen lost. The report further states that the cloudburst visited Green county, five miles from the Beach creek section, and killed from fifteen to twenty persons in that community.

Heart Trouble

Could Not Do any Work and Was Constantly Crowing Worse—What Hood's Sarsaparilla Did.

"I have suffered with heart disease and trouble with my back for twenty years. I became so I could not do any work, and I could not be left alone. It was thought I could live but a short time. I spent many dollars for medicines but instead of improving I grew worse, until one day I was reading in the newspaper about Hood's Sarsaparilla and I determined to try it. I procured a bottle and began taking it and very soon felt a change. I took four bottles and it did me so much good that I still continued its use and do not now suffer with any heart trouble. I am glad to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all afflicted with this disease." REBECCA C. TRUITT, Carmichael, Maryland.

NO LIMIT TO SIZES.

You can now be your own Gas Co.

We have now perfected Machine for making illuminating gas from Calcium Carbide, and claim it is the only machine made on the correct principle for the purpose generating gas from carbide and delivering to burners. For compactness, durability, neatness and effective working there is nothing equal to it. We have spent time and money to perfect machine that will be reliable and perfectly safe in the hands of the most inexperienced. We have made provision for all parts that may be neglected. No explosion could occur from any neglect which we have fully tested. All the working parts liable to corrosion are made of copper and brass, and no complicated parts to get out of order. It is so simple that it can be understood by such as have no knowledge of mechanism. As to the light produced, it should be seen to give an idea of its brilliancy, being in many respects superior to electric light and costing less than any light ever produced, and the Machine so low in price that the most humble can have gas light. We will be prepared to furnish any size machine wanted and give estimate of machine installed complete, if so desired. We ask an examination of our machine. Our long experimenting with machine and carbide has given us many useful points, which we will give by circular on application, also price, &c. We will also furnish carbide at market price. ### BIG PRICE FOR A BROKEN HEART.

Not long since a Danville, Ill., jury ordered the male defendant in a breach of promise case to pay the competent sum of $54,333.33 to the afflicted fair one. Though it is a pretty high estimate of blighted affection, there is another estimate which, if not in dollars and cents exactly as high, yet in general consideration of excellence reaches as lofty an altitude. This is the estimate of the people as to the efficacy of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a remedy for constipation. The action of this gentle but effective laxative is never accompanied by the gripping so marked in the operation of most cathartics. It is an incomparable for and preventive of malarial, rheumatic and kidney complaints, and a promoter of appetite and sleep.

The services in the Lutheran church death is momentarily expected. He is about seventy-five years old.

TO CLEANSE THE SYSTEM.

Effectively yet gently, when constive or bilious, to permanently overcome habit-ual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds, or fevers, use Syrup of Figs, made by the California Fig Syrup Co.

A GREAT GAME.

A great game of base ball was played at this place on last Monday. The contesting teams were both of this place, being the Emmitsburg Athletic Association and John Jackson's star players.
Unfortunately Jackson did not have his team in very good trim, and the athletic boys piled score upon score until they became tired and weary running the bases. The score was thirty to twelve in favor of the Athletic boys.

A COLLISION.

On last Sunday evening whilst Mr.
William Gillelan was driving up town with two ladies in his buggy, and Mr.
John Glacken, with a lady in his stick wagon, was driving down street, the two teams collided. The young lady was thrown out of Mr. Glacken's stick wagon, the shafts were broken and one spindle was bent. The lady was somewhat bruised by the fall. The other parties in the accident were not hurt. Mr. Gillelan's team was not injured.

SET ON FIRE BY ELECTRICITY.

Saturday morning a live electric wire in the new electric light plant of Cumberland became crossed with a gas pipe in the engine room and burning through to the centre of the pipe, the electric current set fire to the gas and a flame shot up to the ceiling, setting fire to the woodwork. The men employed in the new plant, and the waterworks extinguished the flames. The new plant was not in operation, except for the purpose of testing the machinery, and for a little while it seemed that both plants would be burned.

KILLED ON A RAILROAD.

Mrs. Eliza Nailor, of Sabillville, this county, met her horrible death on the Western Maryland Railroad, near her home, on Saturday last.

Mrs. Nailor was crossing the track on the long curve known as horseshoe bend, when a passenger train swept round the curve and struck her. Her head was severed from her body, which was thrown a distance of twenty feet and badly mangled.

It is claimed that the curve prevented the engineer of the train from seeing the unfortunate woman in time to stop his train, which was on a down grade at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Nailor was a widow and ninety-four years old. Her body was taken in charge by her son, who is an undertaker.

DEATH OF MR. JOHN W. PAYNE.

Mr. John W. Payne, an aged and respected citizen, died at his home in Thurmont, on Tuesday, after a lingering illness of about two years, aged 70 years.

Mr. Payne was well and favorably known in this place. He was a farmer by occupation, but for the past twelve years had lived a retired life, during which time he resided in Thurmont.

The decease, whose wife died several years ago, is survived by the following children: Mrs. Ida Grumbine, of Frederick; Mr. J. E. Payne, of Emmitsburg; Mr. Wm. Payne, of Thurmont; Mrs. Annie Rollins, of Arlington, Md.; and Miss Jennie Payne, of Thurmont.
The funeral services were held in the Catholic Church in Frederick city on Thursday morning, and the interment was made in the Catholic cemetery in that city.

TELEPHONE EXTENSION.

The Maryland Telephone and Telegraph Company has been incorporated in Frederick by David C. Winbrenner, Judge John C. Motter, Wilbur H.
Duvall, Hammond Urner and Edgar L. Miller. The capital stock is $30,000, and will operate in Carroll, Howard, Washington, Montgomery, Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland, and also in Franklin and Adams counties, Pennsylvania, and Loudon county, Virginia.

Mr. Miller, who is organizing the new company says it is their intention to purchase the present plant of the Interstate Telephone and Telegraph Company, of Frederick county, and that negotiations are now pending for local companies in the various counties named. The present system of the Interstate company connects with nearly every town in Frederick county, and has nearly four hundred subscribers.

SHARKS AFTER ROCK FISH.

Local fishermen report that the large sharks which have infested Chester river this season have played havoc with the striped bass rock fishing at Kent Island Narrows. When these pirates make a raid on the schools of striped bass it is said the swirling waters of the narrow channel are fairly alive with frightened fish. In some cases the fugitives are reported to have dashed upon shore to escape the pursuing sharks. A fisherman at the narrows about ten days ago hooked a fine rock fish and as he drew it to the boat a shark followed and when near the surface snapped it in two, leaving the expectant fisherman only the big head of the rock fish as a reward for his half hour "playing" the fish. Five large sharks have been caught well up in Chester river and have done much to demoralize hook-and-line sport.

DEATH OF SIMON J. CODORI, SR.

After an illness of some months, Simon J. Codori, Sr., one of the most prominent of our citizens, passed away on Saturday evening, about 4 o'clock, at his residence in Gettysburg, in the fifty-fourth year of his age. For some months he had suffered from a stroke of paralysis, and lately another precipitated his end.

He is survived by a widow, a daughter of the late John Norbeck, four sons, Rev. John N. Codori, of Lewistown, Wm. F., who succeeds his father in the meat business, Simon J. Jr., druggist, of this place, Leo J., a student at Mt.
St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, and four daughters. Mr. Codori was one of our most successful business men. His funeral took place Tuesday morning at St. Francis Xavier's church. A solemn Requiem High Mass was sung by his son, Rev. John N. Codori, the Deacon being Rev. August Rosdiker, and the Sub-Deacons Rev. Peter A. Coad and Henry S. Christ, the latter delivering the sermon, speaking in the highest terms of the deceased. The funeral was one of the largest ever seen in Gettysburg. Among those present were Very Rev. Crotty, of Littlestown, and Revs. Coad, of Mt. St. Mary's, Hemler, of New Oxford, and Martin, of Bonneauville.—Gettysburg Compiler.

NOMINATIONS AT GETTYSBURG.

The Republican county convention held in Gettysburg Monday was a harmonious gathering. Geo. W. Hartzell, of York Springs, presided, and ex-Commissioners George D. Basehoar and J.
H. Joyce, were vice presidents. Harry F. Buehler, of Gettysburg, was named as Adams county's choice for Congress, and empowered to select his own conferees. He is the son of the late Colonel C. H. Buehler, and raised Company M, of the Fifth Pennsylvania Regiment. John Reed Scott, of Gettysburg, was chosen as the county's candidate for state senator, with the power to name his conferees. The county ticket as nominated is: Assembly, John B. McPherson, of Gettysburg, and Solomon D. Mehring, of Littlestown; probationary, Robert M. Majors, of Straban Springs; director of the poor, Joseph W. Bream, of Huntingtown; county surveyor, Oscar D.
McMillan, of Gettysburg; coroner, Dr.
George P. Weaver, of Aрендsville.

ROMANCE OF A GIPSY CAMP.

Last Saturday afternoon as two gipsy girls and two young fellows, who have been travelling with the same band, were walking about the Baltimore and Ohio depot, in Cumberland, one of the young men, who had been seen several times in close conversation with the prettier girl, left the others and got aboard the Pittsburg train. Just as the train pulled out of the station the gipsy maiden jumped aboard and the two stood on the platform and smiled back at the other couple. The mother of the girl was notified of the runaway and she had a warrant sworn out for the maiden's arrest, an officer going to Hoydman, where the couple had been stopped to bring her back. This band of gipsies is one of the largest that has ever visited that section and they seem well supplied with money and everything needed to make them happy.
The young girl, who is very pretty, has been a drawing card of the camp, and has succeeded in luring many dollars from the young people for telling their fortunes.

THE BEST REMEDY FOR FLUX.

Mr. John Mathias, a well known stock dealer of Pulaski, Ky., says:
"After suffering for over a week with flux, and my physician having failed to relieve me, I was advised to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and have the pleasure of stating that the half of one bottle cured me." For sale by Dr. C. D. Eichelberger.

FIREMEN'S PICNIC.

The firemen's parade and picnic at Taneytown Wednesday was a successful and gratifying event to the firemen and citizens of that place. George A.
Brutz was chief marshal and Charles Elliot and Franklin Bowersox assistants. The burgess and commissioners of the town and the reception committee were in carriages at the head of the line. Then came the Carroll County Band and the Westminster Fire Department, with reel; the Little-town Fire Department, with apparatus, bringing up the rear. The procession moved through the principal streets of the town, and thence to the grove of Attorney General Clabaugh, a short distance from the corporate limits, where the picnic was held. Dr.
Clothworth Birnie was introduced by Dr. George T. Motter, and he made the address of welcome.

Mrs. SUSAN BROWN, aged seventy-five years, of Philadelphia, fell while walking in the yard of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph R. Smith, in Hagerstown, and broke one of her legs in two places.

AN ENGINEER KILLED.

A fatal collision between an eastbound freight train, and the westbound accommodation, which leaves Emory Grove at 5.05 P. M., occurred on Sunday afternoon at St. Paul, on the Baltimore and Harrisburg division of the Western Maryland Railroad, six miles above Emory Grove.

Engineer John Reed, of the freight train, who remained at his post, was caught between the engine and tender, when the crash occurred, and had his left leg crushed, at the hip. The limb was amputated, but Reed died at five o'clock Tuesday morning from shock and the effects of the operation.

The crews of both trains jumped to the track in time to save themselves from injury. The passengers on the accommodation train were badly shaken up, but none were injured. The collision occurred at a curve, and the trains were within one hundred yards of each other, before the engineers discovered the danger. Both made every effort to check speed, and the passenger train had come nearly to a standstill, when the freight train, which was on down grade, crashed into it head on with tremendous force.

The engine of the passenger train was running backwards, and its tender received the force of the collision. This was completely demolished, while the boiler of the wrecked passenger engine was forced on top of the other, damaging both almost beyond repair. Two freight cars, laden with coal, were smashed, and their contents scattered about the scene of the wreck, and by a strange providence the passenger coaches, well filled with Sunday travelers, escaped with but slight damage, and their occupants received only slight bruises.

About one month ago my child, which is fifteen months old, had an attack of diarrhoea accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief, we sent for a physician and it was under his care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days and was having about twenty-five operations of the bowels every twelve hours, and we were convinced that unless it soon obtained relief it would not live. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended, and I decided to try it.
I soon noticed a change for the better, by its continued use a complete cure was brought about and it is now perfectly healthy.—C. L. Boggs, Stumpdown, Gilmer Co., W. Va. For sale by Dr.
C. D. Eichelberger.

REMARKABLE SPEED OF A PIGEON.

Bird No. W. 197, the property of William C. Wertz, of Annapolis, Md., completed a remarkable fly. Tuesday morning it arrived in Annapolis between 9 and 10 o'clock, bearing this message: "Tampa, Fla., Aug. 14.—To Mr. W. C. Wertz, Annapolis, Md.: Your pigeon was liberated at 5 A. M. today. No wind, but little cloudy.
Yours respectfully, Captain Berthoult, U. S. V." The captain is a member of the Fifth Regiment, and the bird traveled 845 miles in about 28 hours.
The bird was taken to Tampa with the regiment, nearly three months ago.

CHILDREN who are puny, pale, weak, or scrofulous, ought to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That builds up both their flesh and their strength.
For this, and for purifying the blood there's nothing in all medicine that can equal the "Discovery."

In recovering from or in convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, or other wasting diseases, it speedily and surely invigorates and builds up the whole system. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it sets at work all the processes of digestion and nutrition, rouses every organ into natural action, and brings back health and strength.

LOOKING FOR "THE VEILED WOMAN."

The scare occasioned by the recent appearance of the veiled woman in Williamsport, Md., increases as the days, or rather the nights, go on. The colored portion of the population is intensely excited over the matter, and when any of them go out at night it is in companies of three or four or more. Very few venture off the front street alone, for fear of coming in contact with the mysterious creature. The favorite haunt of the creature is on the east end of Potomac street, where the gloom is intense, and only relieved here and there by the lights from the windows of houses, or passing electric cars. Some strange stories are told by persons who claim to have seen the black-robed fright, and what they tell is eagerly devoured, adding to the fear of listeners. Charles Copes, a carpenter, who lives on Potomac street, says he observed a tall figure, fully six feet high, standing under a tree in front of the Catholic church, while going home late a few nights ago. Copes only has one good eye, but it serves him well, and he avows that he approached and touched the figure, and it disappeared.
He says its left foot was missing. Isaac Schnebley was returning to his home from a party, and received such a scare from the sudden appearance of the creature that he almost dropped. He started to run, and was chased almost to the door by his swift-footed pursuer.
Weber Morrison also saw the "thing," as it is generally designated, and it moved off at his approach. Tuesday night a party of young men scouted that part of Potomac street which the veiled figure frequents, and watched at different points in the vicinity, for the purpose of capturing it, but their time was wasted. The creature evidently got wind of their plans, and did not appear. The prevailing opinion that it is a man parading in woman's clothing is well established from certain things that have been observed. The watching party Tuesday night was armed with clubs and stout paddles, and their purpose was to administer a severe drubbing to the creature, if caught.—American.

FREDERICK REPUBLICANS.

The Frederick correspondent to the Baltimore Sun thus sums up the republican situation in this county:

"The republican managers are endeavoring to extricate themselves from complications in Frederick growing out of the failure of Capt. John McDonald to carry Montgomery county. It is said the instructions from Frederick to Mc-Donald managers in Montgomery were to create confusion and a bolt from the county convention and thus lay the ground for a contesting delegation to the congressional nominating convention. It is said General Rutherford had charge of this matter, but he sat on the platform and let the Gould people have things all their own way.

"The managers are confident of carrying Frederick county Saturday next at the primaries, but it is very doubtful, indeed, if they will be carried in the interest of Captain McDonald, who lost the past ten days seems to have lost much strength here. A strong and active fight is now being made in the interest of Hon. Milton G. Urner.
There are many, too, who favor Col.
George A. Pearre, of Allegany, or Judge Edward Stake, of Hagerstown. The managers say there is a scheme against them to capture the county convention by having a number of congressional candidates in the primaries of the different districts, with pledged delegates who at the last moment would settle on a candidate antagonistic to the managers. This plan, it is said, explains why so many Frederick candidates for Congress are looming up, but the managers think they will checkmate the move."

RAZORS AND PISTOLS FLOURISHED.

Two thousands colored people from Washington made an excursion to Round Bay Monday. "They brought their own whiskey with them," explained Benjamin Thomas, now in the Annapolis jail, "and several confusions occurred." From eleven in the morning until nearly seven in the evening, when the last train left, the place was a scene of constant disorder and vulgarity. Razors and pistols were flourished in tremendous numbers, and an assault was made on Officer Robey that threatened his life. He fired his pistol in the air, and the crowd fled. Officers James W. Watkins and George Parkinson, of Bay Ridge, rendered assistance, and eight arrests were made. Seven were released as the train pulled out, and Benjamin Thomas, after receiving a severe clubbing from the officers for attacking them, was taken to Annapolis on the charge of assaulting a woman.
Another woman was taken back to Washington in a serious condition from a wound on her head.

A WOMAN cannot be entirely womanly —she cannot be a perfect woman—if she is not in perfect health. In just as much as her sickness affects the organs that make her a woman, in just as much she loses attractiveness. This is the vital part of her health. If anything is wrong there, it may result in all manner of ills all over the body. Carelessness of body, physicians frequently treat the symptoms of this kind of disorder as separate and distinct ailments. The symptoms are many and varied, so much so that when a woman is sick in any way, the first thought should be given to the organs distinctly feminine.
About 9 times in 10 the cause of the trouble will be found there. Dr.
Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures all disorders of this kind. There is no guess-work about it. There is no chance about it. It is a fact that has been demonstrated in 30 solid years of extensive practice. Thousands of women have written grateful letters, who have wished the whole world of women to know the wonderful things the "Prescription" has done for them.

MET OLD PUPILS AND FRIENDS.

Dr. McSweeney Among the Soldiers at Chickamauga Camp.—Visited the Sick and Helped to Bury the Dead.

CHICKAMAUGA CAMP, Aug. 14, 1898.
DEAR CHRONICLE:—I met some Emmitsburgers South, and it struck me that the neighbors might like to hear something of things hereafter. After Mass at Huntsville, Alabama, I was called on by John Little and Martha Peddicord his wife. They said they were very glad to see one of the College priests, and I am sure it gave them great pleasure. But I was very glad myself, too. It is only when you get so far from home, that you feel how near and dear are friends and neighbors. They told me they had met Bishop Allen some time before. They were most particular in asking about the new church on the combe, about its pastor, etc. They asked about all their relations and acquaintances, the Corrys, Elines, the Taylors, Littles, Peddicords, Sobolds, Rosensteels and so on. They invited me to see them at their place out in the country. I called on the O'Shaughnessy family in the same town, but they were all away. The eldest son, Conrad, who graduated in '92, (I think) met with a tragic death last May, being killed by a passing train. Everybody knew him as the handsome, most dignified and courteous young man in the district.

WHAT TO WEAR AND HOW TO MAKE IT.

May Manton's Hints Regarding Seasonal Toilets.

The box plaited shirt waist retains its popularity and is found among the most stylish of this season's waists. As here represented in pale blue pique with bow tie and belt of black satin, it is at once attractive and becoming, the combination being one of the very newest. Three box plaits of equal width are formed in front and back, the closing in front being concealed under the centre plait. A pretty pointed yoke fits smoothly across the shoulders and unites the front and back portions, under-arm gorges completing the perfect adjustment. The turn down collar finished softly is preferred by many but it can be made removable or omitted altogether, the regulation white linen standing collar taking its place, in which case the neck is finished with a band. The shirt sleeves are of fashionable width, openings being made at the back of wrists that are finished with pointed over-laps. Gatherers adjust the scant fullest top and bottom, the straight cuffs being made to close with link buttons.

The lower edge can be tucked under the dress skirt, although there is a fancy for wearing this style of waist as here shown over the skirt.

The mode may be developed in all styles of cotton shirtings, percales, madras, cheviot, duck, dimity or gingham. Fine wool serge or flannel in plain, striped or plaid designs are considered very smart for cycling, yachting, shopping or general outdoor wear.

To cut this waist for a lady in the medium size 3 1/2 yards of material 38 inches wide will be required.

No wardrobe is quite complete without a cape that can be slipped on and off as occasion demands. The model shown is adapted alike to cloth and silk, the ruffles being all lined with light-weight taffeta or India silk, but as illustrated the material is black French poplin, with jabot of white satin, yoke of black lace over white, and bands of passementerie.

The foundation is in two pieces and seamed at the centre back, where there is a slight point, and upon this are arranged the circular ruffles which show little fullness, yet fall in graceful folds. The double jabot at the front is formed by two pieces, one attached to each side, each of which is finished with a double frill of mousseline and a band of white silk passementerie. At the neck is a high flaring collar, within which is arranged a full ruche of black mousseline, but which may be omitted if desired, as the frill alone makes an ample finish. The entire garment is lined with satin in softest shade.

To cut this cape for a lady of medium size seven yards of material twenty-two inches wide will be required.

Soothing Lotions for Sunburn.
Two very good lotions for sunburn are composed thus: One pint of milk, one ounce each of carbonate of soda and glycerine; and half an ounce of powdered borax. Use twice daily. The second one consists of milk and oatmeal water, half-pint each, and carbonate of soda one ounce.

No Help Needed.
"If any man wanted to kiss me I should scream for help."
"Oh, if he really wanted to kiss you, you wouldn't need any one to make him do it!"

The Kind You Have Always Bought

LEE SHEPHERD, CO. F.

"Lee Shepherd, sir. Company F."
"I'm. I thought it was something else. Lee Shepherd, Lieutenant-Colonel Bascom, is that right?"
"What made you do that, papa?" Nelly asked as soon as they were out of hearing.
"What? Ask that youngster his name? I don't know, my child, exactly. I had some sort of notion that I had seen his face before. But—Lee Shepherd—I never knew anybody of the name of Shepherd—Shepherd. His face and his whole look are certainly familiar to me. But I am getting old, daughter. That's the whole of it."

The girl's trim blue serge was seen to move leisurely down the line of tents and disappear around the corner. Nelly Bascom had taken an idea into her head, and the idea was taking her for a walk. She took the turning which she thought would lead her to the quarters of Company F, and she was very nearly right in her guess. She was looking for Lee Shepherd and was soon face to face with him.

Lee smiled at the girl with an expression of perfect understanding. She was a little surprised that he showed no surprise at her visit.

"You want to know if I know why the Lieutenant-Colonel called me back just now. He doesn't know any one of the name of Shepherd, does he?"
"No, he doesn't. Why did he call you back? Why did he ask your name?"

"Well, Miss Bascom, if you ask me, and if you promise not to spoil my plan—"

"What plan?"
"My plan is to see whether your father's memory will go on troubling him about me until he finds out. Will you promise me not to tell him until I give you leave?"

"I promise," said Nelly, delighted at being able to solve the mystery so soon.

"Well, then, here's the whole thing in a nutshell. I'm very like my grandfather. Everybody tells me that. Then, you see, this hat, I suppose, brings out the likeness. They used to wear hats like these, you know."

"Who used to?" said Nelly. "Who was your grandfather?"
"Why, my grandfather was a Johnny Reb. Both my grandfathers were. But your father is thinking about my mother's father, old General Goodlow."

"Oh, that's it, is it? I remember now."

"Ever hear the Lieutenant-Colonel speak of the time he was a prisoner of war on parole in North Carolina?"
"Of course, I have. And Colonel Goodlow had him there at the old place."

"That's right. And my mother used to play bridge with him when he couldn't walk on account of his sprained knee. Did he ever tell you that?"

Nelly shook her head, smiling. "But is your mother still living?" she asked.

"I should so much like to meet her." "Yes," said Lee, "she would like to meet you."

"How do you know?"
"Well, to be quite candid about it, I've been disobeying orders from home. I came North three years ago to go into the cotton-spinning business. Then I joined the regiment, Company F. But I never wrote your father's name home until we were called out for this war. As soon as I told mother—she still lives on the old place—who the Lieutenant-Colonel was, she wrote back. Here, I've got her letter in my pocket. She says, 'You are going to serve under a Yankee who was your grandfather's prisoner of war in '63. Thank God that it can be so.' Then she tells me a perfect little romance and wants me to go and introduce myself."

"Why didn't you?"
"It isn't good discipline for an enlisted man, you know."

"I think it's lovely. Come to tea tomorrow afternoon, will you?"
"How about military discipline, Miss Bascom?"

"Obey my orders," said Nelly severely. And with that she marched away.

Next afternoon the Lieutenant-Colonel's daughter remarked to her father: "Dad, I've invited only one man to tea this afternoon—an enlisted man."

"The deuce you have!"
"Just so. Private Lee Shepherd, Company F."

"That lad I spoke to yesterday?"
"The same."

And just at that moment the orderly reported Private Shepherd, Company F.

A SERVICEABLE METHOD.

For the Shipment of Fruit and Vegetables to Market.

In the accompanying illustration is shown one of the most serviceable and deservingly popular packages in the market for the shipment of fruits and vegetables. So much depends upon the condition of fruits and vegetables when exposed for sale that much thought has been devoted to constructing a carrier which should not only protect its contents from injury in transit, but should be in a form to facilitate their handling by the retailer. This carrier seems to have solved the problem admirably.

It is simply a light, open case, made of thin stuff, but tolerably strong, and holding six small baskets a little larger than the common five-pound grape baskets. Occasionally some are seen holding eight tins or baskets, and sometimes one holding four, but the popular size holds six in two tiers. The one shown is filled with tomatoes, the end baskets showing them as they come wrapped in papers, the one in the center having the papers removed to show the fruit. A larger part of the Southern tomatoes come in these carriers, as well as the peaches, plums and grapes, and they are largely used for shipping Northern grapes, and for many other products. The construction affords good ventilation, the baskets serve to carry the contents in good shape, and are of a size that pleases retailers. The cost ought not to be great, either.

Potatoes in a Dry Climate.
A great many failures are made in farming from not understanding how to meet the peculiar conditions existing. We have here in Oklahoma the richest soil that I have ever been acquainted with, and a favorable climate, except in the one particular of lack of rainfall at some season of the year.

Many fail in raising a full supply of potatoes, or if they raise a good supply, then in keeping them during the long warm autumn until they can go into winter storage.

This section has been settled six years, and though formerly accustomed to a wet Northern climate, I have raised five fair crops of potatoes out of the six planted, and have not lost any more by rotting than in former locations. In four out of the six years nothing was better than potatoes raised in the other two equally as good.

Last year I had them grown under four methods. The best and earliest were from volunteer stock coming up from those left in the soil at digging-time. They had been grown under mulch, and the mulch was removed from freezing during the winter, and as the ground was not plowed at digging-time all that was done to them for the next crop was to apply more mulch just as the young shoots were coming through the ground. But I would not recommend the cultivation of this practice, as plowing is certainly needed, especially where perennial weeds infest the ground.

As I understand it now I would recommend very early and deep planting, say any time during February, and at least six inches deep, of such varieties as Early Ohio and Bliss or Red Triumph, which have proved to be well adapted to a dry climate, and then mulch just as they are coming through the ground. No cultivation is given, and except that it should be a wet autumn, to start with, the potatoes should be allowed to remain in the ground and used as needed. Ours were not all dug until February and they were in fine condition for eating.

Late Potatoes for Seed.
I believe that a late crop of potatoes makes better seed than an early one. Many growers do all their planting in April and May, having found comparatively early planting the safest; but such growers should try the plan of raising a late patch for the next year's seed. The second-crop seed of the South keeps well and makes heavy sprouts in the spring, because it is not fully mature when dug late in the fall. A late Northern crop is also slow in sprouting, going through the winter in better shape than one ripened the last of August. Even where June planting is not very successful in making good yields, it should be given a trial to an extent sufficient to furnish seed one year, and a test of this seed with that from an earlier crop will probably convince the grower that the late has the most vitality. In the late part of June try a late patch for this purpose. Plant in a deep trench, and cover lightly, continuing to fill the trench during the cultivation, and leaving the surface level when all cultivation ceases. This counteracts effects of drought.

Weeds.
In fighting weeds a stroke in time saves ninety-nine. Destroy them while in the seed-leaf, if possible. In the field a harrow covering sixteen feet at a sweep will do it. In the garden a twenty-inch rake or a light wheel-cultivator will do the business rapidly and easily. When a weed gets two or three inches high it must be cut out or pulled out, and its roots left bare to kill it. While in the seed-leaf a touch almost destroys it. Kill it then or before it shows itself.

CAROLINE ISLANDS.

POSSESSIONS OF SPAIN WHERE PERPETUAL SUMMER REIGNS.

They Stretch About 2,000 Miles From East to West—Thermometer Rarely Goes Above 90 Degrees—The Natives Are Semi-Savages and Warlike.

If the United States should obtain control of the Philippine Islands, it would then be only a question of a short while until the Caroline Islands pass into American rule. The Caroline Islands over which Spain now holds sovereignty, stretch about 2,000 miles from east to west, and though near to the equator, and in a climate of perpetual summer, the thermometer ranges from 74 degrees to 87 degrees through the year. Within the group there are five islands, of basaltic formation, some of them having high mountains from 2,000 to 3,000 feet high. These are Kusaie, Pohnpe, Ruk Yap, and Pelew. Kusaie and Pohnpe have been called the "Gems of the Pacific." For over thirty years the micronesian mission has flourished in the islands, island after island having been visited by Christian teachers, and no one ever visiting there, ever saw any sign or ever had the remotest thought that any European nation claimed sovereignty there. There were no Spaniards on the islands, no Spanish vessels in the waters. The natives were absolutely independent and their chiefs were not asked to recognize any authority outside of their islands. The Caroline Islanders are elaborately tattooed, but their clothing is of the slightest. The characteristics vary somewhat on the various islands but most of the people are savage and warlike. While not noted for cannibalism, it is said that on some of the islands there is not an adult who has not tasted human flesh. In 1888 more than thirty different islands were occupied by native Christian teachers trained under American missionaries; the people were Christianized; liquor and tobacco were banished from the islands and "The Ten Commandments" became a code of law. There were established forty-seven churches, with 4,600 members and fifteen native pastors. Such was the condition of the islands in 1888 until a question of territorial rights was disputed by the European powers because of Spain's enforcement of her claim of sovereignty. The matter in dispute was referred to the pope for arbitration who in his discussion gave the Marshall Islands to Germany, the Caroline Islands to Spain, and the Gilbert Group to England. After that a Spanish governor, six Roman Catholic priests and fifty Spanish soldiers were sent to Pohnpe. Since then no American missionary has been allowed to remain at Pohnpe. The micronesian missionary boat has been forbidden to touch at any point of the islands except at the Spanish harbor. Recently, after years of delay, the Spanish government has paid $17,500 for the American mission property destroyed. Spanish vessels seldom appear in the Ruk archipelago, and at Kusaie and they have no difficulty on these islands.

Other Lands Than Ours.
Russia is busy at the west as well as at the east. She is improving her harbor at Vladivostok and taking possession of Port Arthur and Tientsin-Wan and completing her great railroad thither. At the same time she is pushing toward the Atlantic ocean, too, and preparing to establish a great ice-free port in the Arctic.

We have hitherto told of the romance of Archangel and the opening of a railroad connecting that ancient city directly with Moscow and all Russia. That is an important step. But it is not enough. For Archangel is near the inner end of the White sea, and that sea opens into the Arctic ocean. What is wanted is a port on the Atlantic, or at least on the Arctic, near the Atlantic, and that is exactly what Russia is now endeavoring to secure. The first step is the opening, or re-opening, of the old port of Kola. That is on the Murmanian coast, well up toward the Norwegian frontier. At that point the Arctic ocean is practically always navigable, instead of being for months choked up with ice, as is the White sea at Archangel. And it is 500 miles nearer the Atlantic than is Archangel. It has the disadvantage of being much further away from Moscow and St. Petersburg, and not connected with them by river or railroad. But the enterprise that runs a railroad across Siberia can be trusted to build one across Finland and Lapland. Large appropriations have been made from the imperial treasury for the improvement of the port of Kola, or rather of Ekaterina, a little lower down on the river, and that place will doubtless soon become a considerable center of commerce.

An Appeal.
Blanco called that he was running short of food and asked that supplies be sent at once.

Come send me a sandwich that is made out of meat;

I am tired of living on hay;

I have not had the pleasure to shake hands or greet,

A square meal for many a day.

I have killed all the mules that I've found about here,

And I've had them all cooked into stew;

But alas this is gone and I'm seized with a fear

For I really don't know what to do,

My men they are frying the soles of their shoes;

Their suspenders were gone long ago;

But the thought of this diet gives each one the blues,

And causes their tearlets to flow.

So send us a sandwich, and send it blamed quick—(Starving to death is no fun)—

Or when the Yanks come we will all be so sick

That none will be able to run.

DISGUSTED FISHERMEN.

It Made the Sportsmen Ill to Watch an Old Timer Catch Trout.

One day this week a Boston party, on a fishing trip to Moosehead, came across one of the old-school fishermen. He was up off the mouth of Tomhegan stream and was fishing out of a lumberman's batteau. It developed later that he was the cook for a crew of river drivers. On the bank near at hand stood the cookhouse, or his helper, the cook had thrown about a peck of table refuse into the lake in order to "tole" the fish, and over that lure he was having great luck. His pole was of the jib-hood variety, and when a fish bit he would derrick it over his head into the bushes where the cookhouse was stationed.

The Boston men from their canoes watched operations with all the disgust of the true sportsmen.

"Got enough for supper yet?" shouted the fisherman over his shoulder as he sent another great trout flapping into the bushes.

"No; better catch six or eight more," shrilled back the cookhouse.

"Say, how many fish do you two fellows usually eat for supper?" shouted a Boston man, who didn't understand the situation.

"When you've cooked for twenty-two river-drivers as long as I have," yelled the cook, derricking another fish, "you'll know more about empty nall kegs."

Hardly was this enigmatical utterance out when there came a tug at his line that was nothing short of tremendous. He twitched. The fish didn't come. He braced; set his jaws and pried. His line only saved the hissing water.

"Play him! Play him!" screamed the excited sportsmen from the city.

"Play your grandmother," bellowed back the cook. "I ain't here to play. I'm here to fish." And as he spoke he boosted over his head a fifteen-pound laker. Any man in the Boston crowd would have given $10 to have played him an hour at the end of an eight-ounce rod. 'Twas too much for their nerves. They came away.

Human Nature.
"There's a good deal of human nature in a puppy," remarked the philosopher, calmly watching Fido tearing his best hat to pieces. "Almost as destructive as one of my little nephews."

Mrs. Bouncer—"Why, professor, don't you see he's got your hat!"

The Professor—"Thunder! so he has. I thought it was one of the boarders' hats. Take that, you whelp!"
