NIL NISI PECCATUM TIMEO.

BY M. F. W.

My good blade carves the casques of men, My tough lance thrusteth sure, My strength is as the strength of ten Because my heart is pure.

No diadem doth beauty need To deck her free born brow, 'Tis not the name, 'tis but the deed That makes her courtiers bow.

We laugh to scorn the pride of birth, We banish heraldry; 'Tis well we rest upon our worth In this land o' the tree.

'Tis well, I say, and yet, Meliss, Uncrowned queen o' the west. 'Tis not a pictured fable this I see beneath thy crest.

From some obscurity rescued, A curio on thy shelf; A talisman with strength imbued To move thy better self.

To move thy blood to deeds of worth As once it helped thy sires To rise from dingy things of earth To the celestial fires.

'Tis not the palm, the cross, the crest, Nor all that once hath been; It is the motto I count best "Nothing I fear save sin."

So keep or lose the symbol bright, It flows within thy blood, And only he can match thy might Who equals all thy good.

SAVAGE AND FEROCIOUS. POPULAR NAMES OF WARS. The Devil Dancers of Ceylon and Their Mysterious Ways.

The real Singhalese devil dancers in Ceylon are ferocious and savage fellows. Their dances are revolting and horrible. But their profession is popular and affords a royal living for the men who go into it. There is a superstition among the Singhalese that when a man falls sick he is supposed to be afflicted by a devil. In order to rld him of the disease the devil dancers are called in to propitiate the demon. Two or more of them go by night to the sick man's house, in front of which a small, square inclosure about six feet high, has been made of grasses and palm leaves. This answers the purpose of the green room at a theatre. The men appear at first without masks and with long yellow grass streamers hanging from their head and waists. The only light cast on the scene is by torches, made of sticks, round which pieces of cloth are feated, and our own "Spanish-Amerwrapped, dipped in oil. To the music of a tam-tam, kept up on one note ,the dirge, in which the spectators often air.

The dancers begin by slowly moving soon firmly fixed in the crevice of the about, stretching the right foot and rock. bringing the left up to it, and appear as if they were searching for something, during which the singing sounds four different sorts of devils, and after the first part, the dancers are con- the edge of the precipice. stantly changing their clothes to represent the entire species; some wear masks, some don jaws and terrible crew up the slack and pulled with all teeth reaching to their ears. The jaws might, Inch by inch he drew the open and close in a very realistic man-

A dance lasts over two nights, as the whole twenty-four devils have all to be personated before the particular demon who is afflicting the man is pitched on. When he gives signs of his presence the dancers go into a sort of frenzy, which increases as he takes possession of them; the tam-tam peats faster and faster, the chanting grows into yells, the men whirl and stamp and the bells on their ankles jingle and clash.

At this stage the dancers appear to be looking for some object to give the devil in sacrifice, and into which he may pass. A chicken is usually offered by the friend of the sick man, and the unfortunate bird is seized upon, twisted and tormented and bitten between the false teeth, until the dancers, worn out, move slower and slower, and the chicken sinks into a sort of trance, which is a sign that the devil ing to pass from the man into the bird.

Speed of an Earthquake.

The course which an earthquake runs is usually very rapid. From the instant when the first shock was felt at Lisbon to the period when all was over, and many thousands of people killed, not more than two minutes had elapsed. Usually from ten to thirty this lightning speed earthquake's mode of traveling. While Caracas, 'in Venezuela, was almost totally destroyed and 12,000 people were killed in less than twenty seconds by the great shock there many years back, there are cases in which constantly recurring shocks have lasted for weeks. No matter how brief the span, the most frightful havoe can be wrought and the wave of destruction propagated from the most distant regions. The rumbling earth-sound travels at the rate of about 10,000 to 11.000 feet per second, and the earth wave, on an average, about 1,200 feet in the same space of time.

Very few persons would suspect how small the salaries of presidents of republics are, when the enormous sums crowned heads receive are taken into consideration. The foreigner often thinks the $50,000 salary of the President of the United States is merely a joke, and that he receives ten times as much in reality, but the same foreigner may not know that the French President, in a country where the wealthiest monachs once reigned, receives only $120,000 a year. The President of the little Andorra Republic contents himself with a salary of $15 a year, and the President of the Swiss Republic must be satisfied with $3,000

Demagnetizing a Watch. A simple method of curing a magnetized watch consists in hanging it from a string, which latter is twisted as tightly as possible, and then holding the string and watch near a dynamo or strong magnet. The watch is then released, and, of course, begins to spin, and while doing so is gradually carried away, from the dynamo and out of the magnetic field. The demagneti- de France between Paris and Amienszation is due to the rapid alternations of the poles of the magnetized parts in intensity.

Dutch fishermen make astonishing catches by means of the following very simple plan: They put a number of live worms and insects in a bottle partially filled with water, and then cork it securely. The bottle is dropped into the water, the fishermen sinking his line alongside. It appears that the sight of the wriggling contents of the bottle so excites the appetite of the

COURAGE OF A COWBOY.

He Swung Himself and His Horse Over & Yawning Chasm With a Rope.

Speaking of the dare-devil characteristics of western cowboys," said an old plainsman, "I recall an adventure that might have proved fatal to myself and a man named Henry but for the great presence of mind displayed in an emergency by my cool-headed companion. The incident happened in Montana some years ago. We were traveling along a parrow trail on the border of the Grande Ronde river when we suddenly came to a landslide that was about twenty-five feet across and left no trail in the smooth, precipitous rock. The tran was so narrow that our horses could not turn back and, realizing that it would be folly to expect the animals to jump the chasm, it looked as though we were trapped. But directly above the twenty-fivefoot break in the trail there was a huge rock which was split in the centre. Henry saw the crack in the rock and having a strong riata seventy feet long on his saudle, swung the rope over his dancers sing a peculiar, wild funeral head and men hurled it high in the Being an expert in the use of the riata, it went true to the mark and was

"While I was wondering what he was going to do with the rope he took in the slack and wound it around the like crying. They are then asking the horn of his saddle, which was very devil to appear. There are twenty- strong and supplied with double cinches. Then he urged his horse to

"The faithful beast stood firm. He would not step over, but Henry again straining horse forward till his feet slipped and he swung over the yawning chasm. For a moment I held my breath and shut my eyes, expecting to hear the slender rope snap and its burden disappear into the raging river

"When I did open my eyes he had swung across the gap and, dismounting, he backed up the trail and tugged at the reins to aid the horse in gaining his feet. He pulled hard and the animal lunged up into the trail, with the chasm far behind.

"Safe on the other side, Henry urged me to make the perilous trip in the same way as he had done. For some time I couldn't muster up the necessary courage, but at last, when I realized that there was no other way of continuing the journey, I consented to swing myself across the chasm. After landing on the other side Henry returned for my horse and having swung the beast safety across the gap, we rode away and left the rope dangling for the use of the next wayfarer who chanced to come that way.

No Prisons Needed.

In Iceland there are no prisoners, and the inhabitants are so honest in their habits that such material defenses to property as locks, bolts and bars are not required. Yet its history for the past thousand years records no more than two thefts. Of these two cases one was that of seconds elapsed between the first and last shocks of severe earthquake. But a native who was detected after stealso to supply his family, who were suf-fering for want of food, when he had broken his arm, provisions were furnished to them and work was found for him when he was able to do it, and meanwhile he was placed under medical care; but the stigma attached to his crime was considered sufficient

ODDITIES OF POISONING. Some People May Safely Eat Certain Food

Which Would Be Poison to Others. The constitutional differences and peculiarities which exist among individuals should always be carefully watched and considered. One person can handle poison ivy with impunity while another is poisoned if only in the vicinity of the vine and without contact. Some members of a family residing in a malarial district will suffer regularly with chills and fever, while other members will not be at

Food that is actually poisonous to some persons, will not so act on oth ers. One person may eat all kinds of green fruit and vegetables with inpunity, while another person con. I do so only at the risk of life. Certain kinds of fish are actually poisonous to some people and perfectly wholesome to others. It is this peculiar condition of the system which constitutes the danger point in the individual case and should be prudently observed by each one for himself. Intestinal derangements frequently arise from and are aggravated by certain kinds of food. Thus a person affected with kidney or liver trouble should not eat very white bread since the extreme white ness is often produced by the use of alum with an inferior article of flour, and as alum is known to be poisonous in its effects on a sound constitution, this is why alum baking powder is never used by people of judgment and discretion. More of earthly, happiness depends upon what we eat than many people realize and it is for this reason that the different states are one by one passing pure-food laws.

Journalism by Weight.

There are more funny things going on in this big world than ever its people dreamed of. But somehow they never get into books. Now, for instance, in Australia, a country that follows American customs very closely, the people have a great desire for American newspapers. Every steamer that arrives from this country brings its full quota of American journals, which are immediately put on sale. One day I was in Adelaide, South Australia, and I went into a store to buy the Sunday edition of a New York paper. The dealer took one, placed it on the scales, which he scanned very carefully and then said 18 pence (36 cents). "That costs about one-eighth asmuch in New York," I said.

"Cawn't 'elp that," answered the dealer. "These 'ere papers is massive. They contain lots of good paper, and we got to sell 'em by weight."
"Have you any cheaper?" I asked.
"Yes." he said again. "I've got some cheaper; this one is only 10d; it weighs much less; it has no pictures, you see, and he picked up a Chicago journal of a mid-week date. "But I want a New York Sunday newspaper," I persisted. "Well, those will cost you from 18d to 20d (36 to 40 cents) each, according to weight, but I can sell you a Kansas City Sunday paper for 6d (12 cents) if you must have a cheap Sunday edition.'

Then I found that the dealer would sell separate sections of edition if the customer didn't want the whole, and while I was in the store three men came in and bought different parts of a journal, paying as much as four cents a section. Of course, when the "want ad." part was put on the scales and sold to the fourth customer he didn't know how interesting New York news was until he got home.

Tobacco Flant as a Floral Emblem. "There is one flower," says a writer in a London paper, "which has apparently been overlooked by Americans in their search for a suitable floral emblem, which I think is worthy of their attention. I refer to that of the tobacco plant (nicotiana) in its many varieties. It is handsome; the plant is, I believe, indigenous to America, and its importance as the solace Coal vs. Man. An interesting calculation has been made, which shows that a pound of good coal equals the work of one man for one day. One square mile of a seam of coal only 4 feet deep would exceed the work of 1,000,000 men for 20 years.

The Conquered Nation Almost Invariably Comes First--Many Cases.

The conflict between the United States and Spain has passed into history as the "Spanish-American" war. At first glance there is nothing strange is this fact. Nobody has ever found out the real source of the names of the millions of objects and events Ordinarily it might almost seem the names were given by accident or chance. The matter of naming wars, however, seems to follow a set rule. Examination revea's the fact that in almost every case the designation of a war by a certain popularly accepted name shows at orce the victor and the vanquished, and that in such cases the first name, if two be given, or the one name, if there be only one, is the name of the conquered nation. The two that will at once occur to anyone's memory are the "Franco-Prussian" war, in which the French were de-

In the two Punic wars (Punicas: Phoenician; Carthaginian, because Carthage was a Phoenician colony) the Carthaginians were defeated and Carthage was seized by the Romans. In modern times the "Napoleonic" wars, so called, ended in the destruction of the armies of Napoleon and the capture and imprisonment of the emperor. The "Indian" war of 1841 resulted in the establishment by Great Britain of its power over the Indian empire. The "Crimean" war was significant of the defeat of Russia by the allied armies (1856). The "Austro-Italian" war (18-59-1860) ended with the defeat of Austria and the independence of Italy. In "Schleswig-Hestein" war (1864) the Danes were defeated and forced to cede Holstein and Schleswig to the victorious Austro-Prussian coalition. It was of this war about a very complicated situation that Disraeli said, when asked to explain it, that only two men, of whom he was one, in the whole United Kingdom had ever un-Sunday after the wedding he got a whole United Kingdom had ever un-neighboring minister to preach for derstood what it was all about; the him, so that he could sit with his bride other man was dead, and he had foron the first Sunday. The minister was gotten. Next comes the "Austro-Prusa good deal of a wag, so Mr. Caw made sian" war, in which Prussia, by winhim promise faithfully that he would ring the decisive battle of Sadowa, defeated the Austrians. Then we have the "Franco-Prussian" war, ending at

Sedan (1870) with the annihilation of the French. The "China-Japan" war, ing in victory to the Turks, and our own "Spanish-American" war completes the series, and seems to sustain

Gents Furnishing Goods. We are after the trade of all who need anything in our line, and are offering "Sledge Hammer" arguments in the way of low prices, in order that you may deal with us. We will not misrepresent any of our goods, all we ask of any person is a right to a share of their custom. Expenses are sure in a large establishment like ours, but profits can only be counted on goods sold. A quick profit is the best, be it ever so small. We know this and always make the "Almighty dollar" act as our agent when purchasing stock from the manufacturer, and spot cash is the watchword that guided us through ten years of almost unparalled business success. Our customers wants are always in view when we buy stock, and we always mark goods with Rock Bottom Figures, thus making a bargain of every article in our stock. If you come from a distance by rail to examine our stock the money you save in purchases will be more than equivalent to a

We do not wish to brag, but certainly our great success is the very best evidence that Square dealing, and business-like methods, have been shown in all our transactions with the public.

Now, when we are asking for an increased share of patronage, it would be suicidal for us to misrepresent our stock.

We have a large and most complete line of Clothing, Gents Furnishing Goods, Hats, Shoes, and we have also added a large and most complete line of Ladies Wraps, etc., and in spite of the advance in the prices in various grades of goods, we have decided to increase our popularity by offering everything at figures that will compel all to sek nowledge as by offering everything at figures that will compel all to acknowledge us as the "Leaders in Low Prices." Calf Feeding.

The Iowa experiment station, which has given particular attention to calf feeding, considers oil meal as too ni-trogenous, making the ration too narrow except for very young calves. Oat meal and corn meal are better to bal-ance the skimmilk after the first four weeks. The mixture producing the greatest gain at the least cost was found to be nine parts cornmeal to one part flaxmeal, and one pound of this mixture was used to eighteen or twenty pounds of skimmilk to each calf a day, the meal being later increased to two pounds a day. Grade Shorthorns alves thus fed make a gain at least of from one to two cents a pound, the skimmilk being rated at fifteen cents per cwt. Started on such a ration the milk was gradually withdrawn after the first one hundred days, and these calves reached an average of 760 pounds when one year old, a gain of 560 pounds in 365 days.

Feeding Values Compared. in experiment station has found that when corn meal has a feeding value of 100 per cent. when bran has per cent., where middling from 100 to 110 per cent., according to quality. Luten meal 152 per cent, old process Proced meal 135 per cent, and cotton-seed meal, 152 per cent. For example, a ton of corn is worth 25 cents a bushel, a ton of corn is worth $9, and a ton of cornneal, counting in the expense of sinding, would be worth $10. When a ton of cornmeal is worth $10 wheat is worth $8.50, gluten meal, $15.20; old process oil meal, $13.50, and cotton-

A Queer Mine.

A mine of sheep manure sounds strange to farmers, but there is one which is being worked in Fresno county. California. It is a place 150 feet square, where sheep have been yarded for many years in the same enclosure, entil the accumulation is about 10 feet deep, the fence having been raised everal times to enclose the animals. The rainfall there is but small, and the manure has been troden so hard by the sheep that it has not lost much its value by leaching. After it is ken out of the groundby machinery, which requires an eighteen-horse pow r engine to run it, and this reduces it to a powder as fine as dust, it is read-I'v available for agricultural and hor-(cultural purposes.

A buys a well improved farm of 160 acres at $75 per acre, $12,000. To are at $75 per acre, $12,000. To equip said farm costs $1,000. We then have the following items of expense: Interest on $13,000 at 6 per cent., $780; taxes, $125; insurance, $12; annual repair of buildings and fences. $50; seeds, including clover, $90; feed for four horses, $200; incidentals, $25;

$200; threshing and extra help during year, $100; total expenses, $1,882. Now as to his income. We assume that Mr .A intends to engage in general farming—clover, corn, oats and wheat. Deducting roads, drives and yards, it will give us 38 acres of each unless he gets higher prices or increases the yield per acre. The conclusion is, no matter how much judgment and energy a farmer has, it is very doubtful whether he can afford to pay $75 per acre for a well improved farm for the purpose of raising clover, corn, oats and wheat. The remedy for Mr. A lies in converting the clover—instead of using it as a fertilizer—into beef, mutton and pork. This of course means more capital and additional risk. Can a young man buy a farm and ever expect to pay for it? Yes, if he can get a good farm for $50 per acre and is willing to practice mixed farming, and scrupulously live up to the motto "Waste Not."

There are many farms in every country where with the present prices it is impossible to make a fair living with general farming. What shall these farmers do? Some say change the tactics and raise some special crop—berries, fruit, sheep, poultry, etc.—good advice, provided these farms are so located that they are in reach of a good market.

Does farming pay? The man that bought a farm two years ago says it does. The one who bought 25 years Thirty years ago we paid for one acre of naked ground as much as three acres improved, equally good soil, bought at public sale last summer.—Country Gentleman.

Potash in Orchards.

An excess of nitrogen usually tends toward wood production and an increased growth, at the expense, it is creased growth, at the expense, it is thought, of the crop of fruit. Potash and phosphoric acid, on the other hand, are supposed to promote the general vigor of the tree, and increase the quality of the fruit. It is thought that potash imparts a high color to peaches and strawberries, and covers grapes and plums with a deep bloom. grapes and plums with a deep bloom; but its effect on the fruit has not yet been thoroughly studied.

The experience of many large fruit growers favors the use of potash in fertilizing orchards. It is commonly applied in the form of muriate, from 200 to 300 lbs. p a being considered an economical dressing if the orchard receives an application each year. I often wonder if the practice is not sometimes carried too far, and if a complete fertilizer would not, in many cases, give better results.

The result of experiments in the fer tilizing of peach orchards at the N. J. exp. sta. shows the greatest yield of fruit per acre where muriate of potash and nitrate of soda were applied, but potash gave much better results than either nitrate of soda or phosphoric acid alone. Potash seemed to promote a certain vigor and thrift which were lacking in trees deprived of them. Potash has proved the most valuable of the single elements; the net gain being greater than where barnyard manure was used. The largest net gain, however, came from using a common fertilizer. S. D. Willard, the well-known western New York horticulturist, says: "In order to have good hard wood, healthy leaves and welldevelopd buds we must rely upon potash and phosphoric acid.—Prof. W.

A Streak of Fat and Streak of Lean. The question of feeding hogs for bacon instead of lard is again brought to the front by consular agitation of the subject. One of our consuls located in an English city points out that within a given year the United Kingdom imported five million hundred weights of bacon, largely from the United States, yet our own sold for $4 to $6 less than Canadian and Danish bacon, due to the unsuitability of the product from the standpoint of English consumers' taste. He indicates the chief disadvantage of our bacon in the excessive amount of fat. At the same time he agrees with many farmers in our western corn belt, who maintain it will not pay to feed for bacon; that there is more profit in crowding hogs with corn in order to get weight even though it is lard fat. All this, however, does not alter the fact that our Canadian cousins are making good money by feeding large amounts of peas and such other rations as produce lean bacon. The question may well be asked, why may not some such course prove profitable in our northern states, including Minnesota, Wiscon sin, New York and New England.
