

MORTGAGE STAMP TAX.

John H. Owings, Clerk of the Howard County Circuit Court, some time ago wrote to the Commissioners of Internal Revenue at Washington making an inquiry concerning an important point relating to the stamp tax on mortgages, and the reply from that official practically nullifies paragraph 77 of the section in the Digest of Holdings under the head of "Deeds and Mortgages."

Referring to the foregoing, Acting Commissioner Robert Williams writes as follows: "In reply to your letter of August 10, 1899, you are advised that if real property is sold subject to a mortgage and there is no statement or covenant in the deed by which the grantee becomes personally liable for the mortgage, the amount paid for the equity redemption is to be regarded as the consideration on which the stamp tax is to be based. However, if there is any statement or covenant in the deed by which the grantee does become personally liable in any way for the mortgage and on which a liability to a deficiency judgment could be founded, the amount of the mortgage plus the amount paid for the equity is to be computed."

The point settled by this decision was raised by James Mackubin, a well-known equity lawyer, and it involves a matter of considerable interest to the legal profession, being regarded as a practical reversal of the general practice since the stamp tax was imposed.

Rev. JOHN REID JR., of Great Falls, Mont., recommended Ely's Cream Balm to me. I can emphasize his statement, "It is a positive cure for catarrh if used as directed."—Rev. Francis W. Poole, Pastor Central Pres. Church, Helena, Mont.

After using Ely's Cream Balm six weeks I believe myself cured of catarrh. Joseph Stewart, Grand Ave., Buffalo, N. Y.

FELL 62 FEET.

A remarkable accident occurred at a colliery at Williamsport, Pa. A carpenter named Dunkelberger, while working on an extension to the colliery, 62 feet from the ground, lost his balance and fell. Fourteen feet below was a platform. This he struck, and rolling over to a trapdoor went through it to the ground. He landed on a pile of railroad iron, bounced up in the air and came down again. His fellow workmen ran to him, expecting to pick him up dead and only a few cuts and gashes.

HER DRESS CAUGHT FIRE.

Mrs. William Spangler, of Stony Brook, York county, was so terribly burned on Tuesday, while boiling apple butter that her recovery is not expected. The unfortunate woman's dress caught fire as she leaned over the kettle, and in a moment she was ablaze and soon her clothing was nearly burned off. Almost every part of her body is burned.

FIRE SWEEPS VICTOR, COL.

CRIPPLE CREEK, COL., Aug. 21.—Fire to-day destroyed the business portion of the mining city of Victor, causing a loss estimated at $2,000,000.

Beginning shortly after noon, the fire raged until night, consuming everything in its way. It probably had its origin in the Merchants' Cafe, adjoining the Bank of Victor, on the corner of Third street and Victor avenue. A strong wind from the south fanned the flames and in a few minutes all the surrounding houses were afire.

Help was summoned from Cripple Creek, but it came too late.

Efforts were made to stop the progress of the flames by blowing up buildings with dynamite. All the prominent hills roared with the explosion, but the effort was in vain.

The scenes of the great Cripple Creek fire were duplicated, illustrating before the flames went men, women and children, carrying what they could snatch and racing for their lives. The crash of buildings torn asunder by dynamite and the crackle of the flames as they consumed the dry buildings hastened the feet of the refugees. The pall of smoke added terror to the spectacle.

The first house was built in Victor in October, 1893. Since that time a city has sprung up.

"Our baby was sick for a month with severe cough and catarrhal fever. Although we tried many remedies she kept getting worse until we used One Minute Cough Cure,—it relieved at once and cured her in a few days." B. L. Nance, Prin. High School, Bluffdale, Texas.—T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

A COLORED woman 104 years old, whose age is attested by Maryland records, died in Washington, Aug. 14. Her name was Rachael Forest, and she was born a slave on the Gant estate, in Prince George's county, in 1795. Her mistress, Miss Gant, followed a custom observed with all her slaves and manumitted Rachael when she became 26 years old. A certificate to this effect was issued by the Prince George's authorities in December 1821.

THE soothing and healing properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, its pleasant taste and prompt and permanent cures, have made it a great favorite with the people everywhere. For sale by T. E. Zimmerman & Co., Druggists.

A GRAND

Opportunity is now presented to the people of Gettysburg and the surrounding country, to visit our elegant new store, (Centre Square,) and examine the wonderful bargains being offered in Clothing, Hats, Shoes, and Gents Furnishing Goods.

We are after the trade of all who need anything in our line, and are offering "Sledge Hammer" arguments in the way of low prices, in order that you may deal with us. We will not misrepresent any of our goods, all we ask of any person is a right to a share of their custom. Expenses are sure in a large establishment like ours, but profits can only be counted on goods sold. A quick profit is the best, be it ever so small. We know this and always make the "Almighty dollar" act as our agent when purchasing stock from the manufacturer, and spot cash is the watchword that guided us through ten years of almost unparalleled business success. Our customers want are always in view when we buy stock, and we always mark goods with Rock Bottom Figures, thus making a bargain of every article in our stock. If you come from a distance by rail to examine our stock the money you save in purchases will be more than equivalent to a

FREE RIDE

We do not wish to brag, but certainly our great success is the very best evidence that Square dealing, and business-like methods, have been shown in all our transactions with the public. Now, when we are asking for an increased share of patronage, it would be suicidal for us to misrepresent our stock.

We have a large and most complete line of Clothing, Gents Furnishing Goods, Hats, Shoes, and we have also added a large and most complete line of Ladies Wraps, etc., and in spite of the advance in the prices in various grades of goods, we have decided to increase our popularity by offering everything at figures that will compel all to acknowledge us as the "Leaders in Low Prices." If you need anything in our line come to see us. We are always glad to show goods. The prices marked on them will do the rest. If you trade with us, there will be no use to go for bargains, as we guarantee every article in our establishment to be a genuine "Money Saver," and hope by uniform, courteous treatment to merit an ever increasing patronage. Very Respectfully,

They found this historic peak of North Mountain inhabited by Joseph Fletcher and family, who have lived there for 25 years.

Who will be our Next President? The presidential campaign of 1900, but the war has so overshadowed all other matters that politics is almost unnoticed. Many people are of the opinion that the candidates will be the same as in 1888, but there may be a "dark horse" who will win the race. Popularity has much to do with candidates. This is also true with medicine. The most popular remedy to day is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and it has retained this for many years. Science never discovered the equal of this medicine for stomach, liver and kidney diseases. It builds up solid flesh tissue, imparts vigor and vitality to all organs, and makes life worth living. A bottle will make a big change for the better. Try it.

WASHINGTON county's yield of cloverseed will be enormous this year. William W. Seibert, near Clear Spring, reports a yield of 103 bushels from a small acreage, each load averaging five or six bushels of seed.

THE Emmitsburg District Republican Primary meeting will be held at Gelwicks' Hall, in this place, to-morrow evening, at 8 o'clock, to select delegates to the Republican County Convention to be held in Frederick, on Saturday, September 2.

Two new savings bank buildings are now nearing completion in Carroll county, one at Union Bridge and the other at Union Mills. The bank at Union Bridge, Jacob A. Stoner, president, will be the handsomest structure in that town. It is of two stories, with a front of pressed brick and Indiana limestone with granite steps. The vault is of the modern style, and is burglar-proof.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES. Alex. Kilgour, attorney for Mrs. D. S. Showalter, has instituted suit against Montgomery county for damages received by the breaking of a bridge which Mr. Showalter was crossing with a traction engine. Mr. Showalter received severe injuries and if a compromise cannot be effected the case will be tried at the next term of court. The suit is for $10,000.

DESTRUCTION OF A BARN. During a violent thunderstorm, which passed over Carroll county Monday evening, the barn on the farm of Alfred Stevenson, near Spring Mills, was struck by lightning, set on fire and, with its contents, including two bugles, self binder, hay, wheat and farming implements, totally destroyed. The loss is about $1,000, insured for nearly that amount.

PICNIC AND PISTOLS. At a colored people's picnic near Mt. Airy Monday a fight occurred in which Byron Butler, colored was, shot in the left breast. The injury was not serious. Butler was arrested on the charge of being the instigator of the whole trouble. He was taken to Frederick, and appearing before the court gave $200 bail for his appearance before the grand jury.

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT. The transportation committee of the Maryland Department, G. A. R., has almost completed arrangements for the trip of the members of the National Encampment and Reunion in Philadelphia, September 4 to 9. In the grand parade between 1,000 and 1,500 Marylanders will be in line. General Lewis Zimmerman, Department Commander, and his staff will be mounted. They will wear the regulation blue coats, white trousers, buff leggings and gloves.

A NEW TRICK IN SWINDLING. Another new trick to swindle is being worked by strangers in the Cumberland Valley. Their plan is to have one confederate, representing himself to be a minister on a walking tour, call at a farmhouse for a night's lodging, and, while he is there a strange couple drive up, looking for a minister to marry them. Then the "clergyman" upstairs is thought of, and he asks the farmer to witness the ceremony, which later turns out to be, instead of a marriage certificate, a promissory note.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN. J. P. Harris' Uncle Tom's Cabin Show was here Tuesday evening. The large attendance showed conclusively that there is no lack of interest in that pathetic story of slave life in the South, before the emancipation proclamation.

The performers handled their parts in a very pleasing manner, showing that they were well fitted for the different roles in which they appeared. J. P. Harris' production of Uncle Tom's Cabin was the best that has been in this place for many years.

A VAIN BOAST. John Smith, residing near Pratt, a short distance from Flintstone, Allegany county, at a sawmill boasted that he could stop the flywheel of a 20-horsepower engine by main strength, and insisted upon being allowed to do so. He seized the wheel and Sherman Leighty turned on the steam. Smith was hurled to the ground and frightfully hurt. It is reported that the steam in his arms were torn out and arteries severed. The bleeding man was bandaged by companions and taken to the house of a farmer named Deihl, where he lies in a critical condition.

TAYLOR AND BROWN EXECUTED. Armistead Taylor and John Alfred Brown, both colored, were hanged in the jail yard at Rockville, last Friday morning, for the murder of Louis Rosenstein and his wife, Dora, at Still, Montgomery county, on May 13 last.

The Rosensteins had been beaten with an iron bar and each suffered with a fractured skull. Robbery was evidently the motive for the crime, as about $700 was missing which it is believed the couple had on the premises. Taylor's declaration on the scaffold was: "I did all the killing. Brown was hit by the Brown repeating man's declaration, 'I am innocent.'"

SILENT PEOPLE'S PICNIC. The deaf mutes of Western Maryland held a picnic at Braddock Heights, on the summit of Catoctin Mountain, last Saturday. There were about 300 persons present, including quite a large number from Baltimore and Washington. These silent people enjoyed themselves in a royal manner. In almost every direction could be seen young men with their sweethearts. A meeting was held in the dancing pavilion. E. C. Wyand, of Washington county, chairman of the picnic committee, introduced A. B. Showman, of Frederick, who, after conversing in the sign language on the origin of the name of the beautiful resort, and of General Braddock's career, spoke of the delightful pleasures and privileges a meeting of this kind afforded.

NAUGHTY GYPSIES.

Harvey Hantzberg, of Penevola, charges that while driving along the turnpike to Boonsboro Tuesday afternoon he was robbed by two gypsy women, Rose and Marie, who belong to a company of gypsies now encamped near Roland's Mill, in the eastern suburbs of Hagerstown. He says the women stopped his wagon and tried to tell his fortune. He declined, when, he alleges, one of the women deliberately walked up to the wagon and got a $5 bill and 75 cents in silver out of his trousers pocket. He demanded the money, but she refused to hand it over. He communicated with the authorities, and the women, each of whom has a baby 6 months old, were arrested by D. M. Tice and lodged in jail. The company of gypsies finally made up $575, the amount claimed, and handed it over to Mr. Hantzberg, after which the gypsy women were released from jail upon order of Justice Ripple. The prisoners showed their gratitude to the Justice by attempting to kiss his hands, but he declined to allow them to do so.

FALL OF A BARN. The upper floor of a barn on Long Hunt farm, near St. Michael's, belonging to the estate of the late Colonel Richard S. Dodson, of Baltimore, on which 250 bushels of wheat was stored, fell, without warning, to the astonishment of those who knew how strong this new barn was built. The room was 10 by 20 feet and the floor was supported by joists 2 by 8 inches, 2 feet apart and well bridged. It was calculated to sustain a weight ten times that of 250 bushels of wheat. Examination showed that the joists had been thoroughly honeycombed by some kind of insect, or worm, so that their supporting power was destroyed. No live object was found in the minute holes and channels made in the timbers. The work was similar to that done by the pestilential teredo, in wood submerged in salt water, but this pest never works out of the water.

A NARROW ESCAPE. Monday afternoon William Shover, aged about 18 years, and son of James Shover, Blue Ridge Summit, while operating a circular saw for Ernest Sprengle, near Roadside, met with a frightful accident, by which he came near losing his life. He was engaged in sawing wood, when the carriage holding a hard peach stick slipped from his hands and swung against the saw in such a way that the saw was torn from the mandrel and thrown through the air, coming dangerously near Mr. Shover. At the same time a piece of wood was hurled backward striking him with fearful force in the lower part of the abdomen and felling him to the ground. Dr. Benj. Frantz was hastily summoned, who administered the proper remedies. A fearful contusion was found at the place of impact, though only a slight incision was made by the stick.

FREDERICK COUNTY SCHOOLS. The Board of County School Commissioners of Frederick county have adopted the following text-books for use in public schools: Cyr's primer, first, second and third readers, Hazen's fourth and fifth readers and "Stepping Stones to Literature," books 7 and 8.

The board authorized the secretary to introduce into the grades prescribed by the State Board of Education, viz. sixth and above sixth, "Institutions and Civil Government of Maryland," by Dr. Bernard Steiner, of Baltimore.

The appointment of H. H. Murphy as principal of the Adamstown High School was confirmed.

Miss Rosa K. Lamar was awarded the free diploma in the State Normal School. The examiner was instructed to introduce No. 5 Spencerian vertical penmanship into the public school course.

DAMAGE IN QUEEN ANNE'S. The storm of Monday night was one of the severest ever known in Queen Anne's, and did considerable damage wherever it struck. The high wind was accompanied by a heavy downpour of rain and severe electrical disturbance. A barn on the Pemyser farm, belonging to the McKenney estate, on the road from Centerville to Queenstown, was struck by lightning and the roof damaged. In the lower part of the county hail did great damage to cornfields, cutting it up so that most of it will be useless as provender. The streams were swollen more than they have been at any time this year. A party of Baltimoreans were on a straw ride when the storm came up and were compelled to seek refuge at the home of Mr. Summerfield Tigheham, where they received comfortable quarters. They reached Centerville Tuesday morning.

NARROW ESCAPE OF A FAMILY. A severe electrical storm passed over Elkton Monday evening, rain falling in torrents and the wind blowing a gale for a time. The lightning was vivid, and Mr. and Mrs. George Short, who occupy a house near Singery's Mill, had a narrow escape from being killed by it. The family had retired for the night and the lightning struck the house, breaking out panes of glass and tearing off some of the boards. The electric current entered the house near the chimney, passed through several rooms and into the room in which the occupants were, knocked over a large wardrobe and overturned a lamp. The occupants of the house were more or less shocked by the bolt, but not seriously.

Irritating stings, bites, scratches, wounds and cuts soothed and healed by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, a sure and safe application for tortured flesh. Beware of counterfeits.—T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

JOSEPH FOUND, of Conowingo, Cecil county, was found lying by railroad tracks near his home suffering from injuries that resulted in death. Reported that he was murdered.

SUICIDE FROM GRIEF.

Mrs. Clara V. B. Sullivan Hange Herself in Carroll County.

The lifeless body of Mrs. Clara V. B. Sullivan, widow of the late Charles Sullivan, was found suspended to a rope in the barn at her home, two miles northwest of Taneytown, at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning. One end of the rope, which was made of half-inch white cotton, was attached to a beam, the other was twisted about her neck, her body being suspended several feet from the ground. She had evidently ended her life by deliberate suicide, as indicated by the carefulness of her preparations. From the condition of the body it was evident that she had not been dead many hours. A light had been seen in her room about 10 o'clock Tuesday night, and it is thought the fatal act was committed shortly afterward.

Mrs. Sullivan, who was only 27 years old, had lived alone since the death of her husband, in November, 1896, as she had no children. She had no mental disorder, but the death of her husband affected her deeply and she was continually brooding over it and resulting family troubles.

She was the daughter of the late James Boston. The manner in which she ended her life was in keeping with that of her mother, who committed suicide four or five years ago by hanging herself in a garret at her home at Union Bridge.

Mrs. Sullivan had carefully prepared herself for death and even for burial. She had partly dressed for burial and slipped on a wrapper over her other clothing, the wrapper to be taken off, and indicated a particular dress to be put on her. She left a letter explaining why she killed herself and giving directions for her burial. The letter is as follows: "I have tried and tried not to let my troubles overcome me. I had a good husband. It's no use trying. I cannot live without him. I have thought from day to day if only I could die. I loved my patriotic husband. He was good and kind and true to me. I would have given my life to save him. I know it's not right to weep after the dead, but my trouble is too big a burden to bear. I want my clothes as they are, but my outer wrap I want taken off. You will find my clothes all together that I want to be buried in. I want to be buried beside my husband. I do not want to be embalmed if it can be helped. I do not care how soon they bury me when I am dead."

CLARA VIRGINIA BOSTIAN SULLIVAN, born August 4, 1872.

An inquest was held Wednesday by Justice A. F. Orndorff, of Taneytown. The jury's verdict was that her "death was caused by self-destruction."

Interesting Experience of Show Life. Walter Harris, press agent of the J. P. Harris Uncle Tom's Cabin Show that exhibited here Tuesday, relates some interesting experiences of show life. Recently while the show was coming through a small town in Snyder county, Pa., a barn was discovered to be on fire. Col. J. P. Harris, proprietor of the show, when a young man was chief of the fire department in Mobile, Alabama. The horses of the show were brought into service and did excellent work in hauling water. Col. Harris being in this line of work, formed the members of the show into line, and in a short while a line of buckets were playing on the burning building with telling effect.

The next night the J. P. Harris Uncle Tom's Cabin show exhibited near where the fire took place. The citizens of the village presented Col. Harris with a handsome gold ring, suitably inscribed, as a mark of esteem, during the middle of the performance.

Col. Harris of the show has had varied experiences, not only as a fireman, but many years ago when the Montana country had just opened he was proprietor of a large theatre there, and today he recounts many hair breadth escapes.

WHOLLY-GOOLIES AT WORK.

Wednesday morning when Simon Wiener, the novelty man, went to his place of business, Centre Square, Waynesboro, he found the vestibule of his store dotted all littered and bespattered with rotten eggs and yellow paint. The pavement all around was smiliarly decorated. A post-board card was tacked on the door reading: "Open from 1 to 12 p. m., and from 12 to 1 p. m." of course meaning that the store was open all hours day and night.

Simon good naturedly cleaned up the premises and seemed the least disturbed of any of the people who came along. "Nothing but a fire fazes me," said the hustling merchant.

The affair it is thought grew out of the night closing agreement entered into by a number of merchants, by which till Sept. 15, the stores are to be closed after 7 p. m., on all evenings except Monday and Saturday and pay night. It is charged that Wiener, who was in the agreement, kept open after the hour named on closed nights.

Whilst there is no clue, Mr. W. has shown suspicion as to the author of the outrage, but says he will take no steps to run him down as he does not propose giving him any free advertising.—Waynesboro Gazette.

SUICIDE IN A HOTEL.

John A. Keefe, aged 35 years, who conducted a clothing store in Carlisle, Pa., in his wife's name, was found dead on his bed in a room in the Hotel Hamilton, Hagerstown, last Friday afternoon, with a bullet in his brain. He left two notes addressed to his wife and family. One was not complete. The substance of the notes was that his family should not grieve for him, should forgive him and that they would live better without him. He implored his wife to teach their two little children, Margaret and Howard, to love Jesus. On his person was found a few dollars, a check for $12.50 and brokers' certificates, indicating that he had been dealing in stocks and the market was against him.

Keefe who went to Hagerstown for the body said Keefe dealer for himself and a professor in Dickinson College, Carlisle, and that Keefe had lost about $300 of his own and $1,000 for the professor.

Keefe went to Hagerstown Thursday morning and probably shot himself at 5 o'clock the same evening, for a porter testified at the coroner's inquest that he heard a shot at that hour in that section of the hotel. Friday morning the chambermaid found the door locked, and, assuming he was still asleep, made no further effort to get in. Before he left Carlisle he bought a new 38 caliber Smith and Wesson revolver and started for a bicycle ride. He returned, however, and his wife took the weapon away. He went away again and his alarmed wife telegraphed to adjoining towns inquiring for him. Rev. E. E. Ayres, who went from Hagerstown to Carlisle, informed her he had seen him there. She sent Charles A. Kanaga, Cumberland Valley Railroad train dispatcher at Chambersburg, to Hagerstown, and he, with Agent H. H. Miller, located him at the Hotel Hamilton. The coroner's jury, William Alvey, foreman, brought in a verdict of suicide.

ADAMS COUNTY REPUBLICANS.

At Gettysburg on Monday, the Adams county Republicans nominated their ticket in a harmonious and orderly conference, in which the Quary and anti-Quary fight had no part. William Baker, of Hamilton township, was chairman, and Calvin Bassore, of Cumberland township, secretary of the convention. The ticket is as follows: Associate Judges, Cyrus G. Beale, and York Springs; S. S. Melchers, Littlestown; District Attorney, William Hersh, Gettysburg; Sheriff, Morg'n Mickle, Gettysburg; Register and Recorder, James B. Slabaugh, Straban township; Clerk of courts, Charles E. Deatrick, Straban township; Commissioners, James B. Taylor, Huntington township; G. T. Heckenluber, Menallen township; Treasurer, Merville E. Zinn, Gettysburg; County Auditors, J. Harry Mehrling, of Littlestown; John DePier, of Butler township; Director of the Poor, C. McLean Gilbert, of New Oxford.

The platform indorses the State and national administrations.

THE F. T. AND N. RAILWAY.

The gentlemen who are engaged in surveying a route from Frederick to Emmitsburg for the proposed Frederick, Thurmont and Northern Railway arriving in this place Monday afternoon.

According to the present survey the line was run from Tom's Creek through the lands belonging to the Patterson Brothers, to the alley on the south side of town, striking the corner of Capt. Geo. T. Eyster's barn, then up the alley to Main street, across Main street to Zacharias' alley, and down this alley to the gate at Mr. Geo. W. Rowe's lot, where the line was stopped for the present.

According to the present line the distance from Frederick to Emmitsburg is 22 miles and 3,565 feet.

The Frederick News of Monday gives the following account of a meeting of the directors of the proposed road, held in Frederick on Saturday last:

"A meeting of the charter members of the Frederick, Thurmont and Northern Electric Railway Company was held on Saturday afternoon when ten per cent of $50,000 of the capital stock asked for from the citizens of Frederick county was subscribed.

"It was determined to hold another meeting on Tuesday, September 12, when directors will be chosen and a president elected. It was also determined to continue the survey from Emmitsburg to Gettysburg, Pa.

"No route has as yet been determined upon, nor has it been definitely decided where the track will be laid in Frederick. A meeting of business men of Market street has been called to determine whether they want the road to run on that street.

"A new route has been talked of along which the road can be constructed more cheaply, it is said, as the land is more level, and about five miles of the right of way can be obtained for nothing, as the farmers have said they will give permission for the road through their land free. This new route is on the Montevue boulevard to Montauqua Springs, to Bethel, to Mountaintide, thence on to Lewistown. This route, it is said, will afford the most beautiful of natural landscape scenery in the country. The elevation to Montauqua Springs, which are noted for their sulphur waters, is on a natural grade from Frederick, and from this point the road will skirt the Catoctin Mountain on a level plain to Lewistown. Near by is White Rock and High Knob, two large boulders rising up from the summit of the Catoctin range of the Blue Ridge Mountains, affording a magnificent view of the entire Monocacy valley.

"For the Sake of Fun, Mischief is Done." A vast amount of mischief is done, too, because people neglect to keep their blood pure. The mischief appears in eruptions, dyspepsia, indigestion, nervousness, kidney diseases, and other ailments. This mischief, fortunately, may be undone by the faithful use of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which cures all diseases originating in or promoted by impure blood.

THE CIRCUS COMING.

The first circus of the season will visit Emmitsburg on Saturday, Sept. 2. Surely this item of news will please the young folks, the children, and the older ones also. Sun Bros' World's Progressive Show is one that has a standing record for presenting a good performance in one big ring in the good old style. Sun Bros. run their show strictly on business and moral principles. Nothing is permitted to appear that will mar the pleasure of the skeptically inclined. Neither are the usual army of fools (often seen following in the wake of shows) allowed to follow this organization. The long standing reputation of the Sun Bros., throughout Europe, America and the Dominion of Canada shall not be jeopardized by allowing any catch-penny affair to be connected with their show. Fifty great celebrated artists will appear at every performance. Fully two hours and one-half of enjoyment is afforded for 25 cents, a price which is surely within the means of everyone. Let all attend. Afternoons at 1 o'clock. Evenings at 8 o'clock.

"DeWitt's Little Early Risers did me more good than all blood medicines and other pills," writes Geo. H. Jacobs, of Thompson, Conn. Prompt, pleasant, never gripe,—they cure constipation, arouse the torpid liver to action and give you clean blood, steady nerves, clear brain and a healthy appetite.—T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

ARTHUR POST, No. 41, G. A. R., of this place, will hold his annual Bean Soup at Seabrook's Grove, near the Tract School House, in Liberty township, Pa., on Saturday, August 26.

LOST HIS MONEY. A Frederick Man Fleeced by Two Girls at Atlantic City.

A dispatch from Atlantic City says: "Detectives are looking for two girls who got $200 from John E. Zimmerman, a Frederick (Md.) farmer, aged 55 years, who met him Tuesday night.

"Zimmerman was approached on the boardwalk by two girls.

"Why, Uncle John, when did you come here?" asked one, who said her name was Rosa Brown.

"Zimmerman said he did not know her, but she gave him a good description of his native town and acquaintances, telling him that his father had a farm near Frederick and that she had met him last summer.

"They visited several soda-water stands and candy stores together, and then the girls bade Zimmerman good-bye. Half an hour later he missed $200 from his vest pocket.

He reported the matter to the police and then telegraphed for money to get home with."—News.

SHRINE OF ST. ANTHONY.

Rev. J. B. Manley, pastor of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Mount St. Mary's Postoffice, near Emmitsburg, Md., Monday gave an order to Mr. John B. McMillan, of North Paca street, Baltimore, for the fitting up of the shrine of St. Anthony, which is part of the church property.

The shrine is ten feet by twenty feet, and it will contain a marble altar and marble statue of St. Anthony. The shrine, together with the three altars in the church proper, will be dedicated October 22, with impressive ceremonies. Two persons have signified their willingness to pay all the costs of the shrine, which will amount to about $1,800; but Father Manley has decided not to accept either offer, but to raise the money by general contribution, so that all the members of the congregation may have an opportunity to contribute toward defraying the expense.

The altar of the shrine will be made of marble and onyx, and a communion rail which will divide the shrine from the church proper, will be made of Italian marble and Mexican onyx, with carved pillars. A brass gate, of appropriate design, will lead into the shrine. The floor of the shrine will be of tiles, and the walls will be finished in marble.

The services of the dedication will be conducted by Bishop Curtis, who will also bless the three altars in the church proper. All of these altars are of marble and onyx, and were built by Mr. Mullan.

The main altar is the gift of Mrs. Cogrove, of Baltimore, and the altar dedicated to St. Joseph is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Griffith, of Baltimore. The third altar, in honor of Archbishop Elder, of Cincinnati, Ohio, is the gift of the Elder family.—America.

TALK ABOUT BANTAMS.

A Short History of the Origin of Two of the Most Popular Strains.

Those Comb Blacks, sometimes called Black Africans, are one of the oldest and most popular Bantams.

They are one of the most beautiful of our fancy varieties of poultry and are highly prized by producers.

They are generally ordinary setters and excellent mothers, defending their chickens against all comers.

Rose Comb Blacks should have a nice, neat rose comb, terminating in a spike inclining upward.

Japanese Bantams were first introduced into England from Japan, and from there to this country.

While it is considered bad form for a woman to carry her skirts when walking, there are conditions and circumstances when she must do so.

One's walking skirts should be made to just escape the ground (surely made to look after the heels of the shoes).

Did anybody ever hear of a girl who rouged one side of her face, but not the other? It looks as though we were all likely to hear of it before long.

The latest notions upon the art of complexion-making tally with the latest notions upon the art of writing, painting, acting, music and the rest.

They were amazed to see a girl with a great dash in her paint on one cheek while the other was as pale as nature made it.

The sight was altogether so unusual, in any country, that the South Americans, upon meeting the girl, deliberately asked her why she made up in such a considered way.

"I'm rouging according to the latest, the most scientific and most artistic theories upon the subject.

With both cheeks equally red it is easy to detect that it's artificial, while one cheek flushed and the other pale leaves the beholder uncertain whether it is the result of nature or of art.

Whether or not it is true that nature sometimes reddens one cheek and not the other, the South Americans were unable to say, as were the Americans to whom they related the experience.

Certainly it is that since then a number of girls have been seen with one blushing cheek and one pale.

It looks as though the fashion had begun to work, and meanwhile it has served for first-rate conversational capital for the South Americans when waxing eloquent upon the curious custom of this country.

Lifting the Skirt. While it is considered bad form for a woman to carry her skirts when walking, there are conditions and circumstances when she must do so.

One of the amusing scenes in "Henry V." turned upon the exchange of gloves between Williams and the King.

The old knight threw down the gauntlet or the glove in token of defiance and as a challenge to combat.

And now the way to most effectually and conveniently lift them: Throw the extra back fullness of the skirt over the back of the hand (which should be closed) and placed as a handle at one corner of the body, and slightly bend the forearm forward.

The fullness of the skirt will thus be found to remain in place and will not cause the fatigue to the hand and wrist that one experienced in the old way.

This is a decided saving on gloves, since it does not stretch them, or soil them, or cause the hand to become overheated and skirts lifted in this way will look much more graceful than when they are held in the hand.

One's anatomy is also less liable to be emphasized, and it gives one an ease and certainty that all the fullness is properly looked after, while at the same time petticoats, ankles and shoes are more becomingly exposed.

GLOVES IN HISTORY

THEIR ANTIQUITY AND THE VARIOUS USES THEY WERE PUT TO.

They Preceded Shoes and Other Articles of Dress—All Monks Preached Against Their Use—Monks as Glove Makers—Towns of Love, Honor and Battle.

As an article of costume gloves preceded shoes with primitive man, and other parts of his artificial covering as well.

Prof. Dowkins in his work, "Early Man in Britain," says that the cave men and women wore gloves, reaching even to the elbows, thus anticipating the twenty-buttoned kids that adorn the modern dame and demoiselle.

Now, according to geology and to the scientists, even when they lived 100,000 years ago, so it may be seen how ancient the glove is.

Neither shoes nor hats go back so far. When we come to historic times there is no literature that does not mention gloves and the Bible contains many references to them.

Christians, however, considered them to be a mark of effeminacy and preached against their use, but it availed nothing against fashion's decree.

A thing that has often happened since when the pulpit undertook to direct what should be worn in the pews.

By and by, somewhere about the tenth century, the clergy began to wear gloves also, and the episcopal glove is now a material part of the bishop's insignia.

The episcopal glove, with its tassel or tuft of silk, is well seen on the edifice of one of the archbishops in Canterbury Cathedral.

Chemical factories became the earliest glove-makers in Europe.

In coronation ceremonies the glove always bore a conspicuous part, the champion knight, throwing down a glove as a challenge to any one who would question the right of the new sovereign to the throne.

And also presented with a right-hand glove, with which to grasp the sceptre of the kingdom.

There is a good deal about gloves in Shakespeare, Master Slender in "The Merry Wives" swears by his gloves.

"By this white glove," protests Byron in "Love's Labor Lost." "Oh, that I wore a glove on that cheek that I might touch that cheek," sighs Romeo as he gazes upon Juliet in the balcony.

One of the amusing scenes in "Henry V." turned upon the exchange of gloves between Williams and the King.

The old knight threw down the gauntlet or the glove in token of defiance and as a challenge to combat.

HAMMON CARBONS.

An amusing story, illustrative of the difference between eyes and no eyes, is told by the New Orleans Times-Democrat.

"I noticed such a sweet decorative idea on this street yesterday," said a lady visitor to a New Orleans friend, while taking a trolley ride near the French market.

"It was a house," she continued, "hung at all the second and third story windows with pale yellow bamboo curtains. They were perfectly plain and all of the same shade, but you have no idea how they set off the old place. Why, they simply glorified it."

"Hm-m-m," mused her friend. "I don't recall the house. Just point it out as we go by, will you?" Presently the visitor uttered an exclamation. "There it is!" she cried. "The house of the bamboo curtains! I'm sure a colony of artists must live there!"

"A colony of Italians," said her friend, grinning. "That's not bamboo. It's a spaghetti factory. They hang the stuff out there to dry."

One Follows the Other.

"After all," said the bachelor, "the difference between love and dyspepsia is purely relative. It is a matter of time only. One is future and the other is past."

"How do you mean," asked the bewildered maid? "The lover doesn't want to eat and the dyspeptic wishes he hadn't," answered the bachelor, thereby thinking he had scored one on the sex that was continually disturbing his peace of mind.—Chicago Post.

A Helmet for Headache. A French doctor has invented an electric helmet, inside of which is a small motor that vibrates strips of steel, the motor making 600 turns per minute.

The helmet is supposed to cure the nervous headache and put the sufferer to sleep.
