REDWOODS IN CALIFORNIA.

Some Specimens to be Found Near San Francisco.

How many San Franciscans are aware that within twelve miles of the city once stood the biggest tree that ever reared its colossal form on the face of the globe, so far as the knowledge of man extends, or that only four miles further on there stands a grove of giant redwoods more extensive than the Mariposa or Fresno forests, and scarcely second to them in girth and height? Yet, these marvels of nature are within reach of any city idler with a day's leisure.

Recently among these giant redwoods there was a little gathering of an outdoor school of forestry in session for a day. At the request of several school principals of San Francisco, Thomas Hatch, honorary expert of forestry and fisheries from the United States to the Paris Exposition, took a class of men and women into the heart of the woods. Leaving the train at Mill Valley, a walk of a quarter of a mile brought the party to the mammoth stump, which was duly photographed and measured. This stump is precisely 144 feet around the base, at the surface of the earth, and 45 feet in diameter. A thousand people could find standing-room within it, and the little group of twenty persons caught by the camera was almost lost in the broad space.

When it is considered that the biggest tree, whose measurements have been recorded in any of the "big groves" of California is only thirty-three feet in diameter, the pre-eminence of this ancient monarch becomes apparent.

The old stump forms one of the redwood "creeks" so common along the coast wherever trees of the species have been cut or burned. Around the outer circumference are some thirty or forty young trees, varying from ten to twenty inches in diameter and raising to a height of eighty to a hundred feet. These represent the third growth from the parent tree. Within these are the remnants of stumps, varying from three to five feet in diameter, cut for the old sawmill, whose ruins, a hundred yards distant, give a name to the valley. Competent authorities estimate this second growth to have been 400 or 500 years old at the time it fell beneath the woodman's axe. Within an extending beneath these are the remnants of the original tree, whose enormous girth has been quoted. At the time of its discovery the inclosure was unbroken. The three openings through which the visitor now finds entrance were cut by Jacob Gardner, present superintendent of the tract belonging to the Tamalpais Land and Water Company, to whom the land on which it stands belongs. Mr. Gardner has lived on the land for thirty-two years, and was present with the company of visitors. He explained in detail the condition in which he found the stump when he first came upon it, removing the last vestige of doubt as to its being the compact base of one tree. To satisfy himself further that a giant tree had once occupied the entire space within the circle, at the time he cut the openings, many years ago, he took a spade and, assisted by another man, yet living, dug down through the soil, accumulation of the ages that had passed since the original burl had rotted away, and found there the old roots solid and unaffected by time.

It is about four miles over the ridge to Redwood Canon, a narrow vale hemmed in between fine wooded slopes, where the lesser giants stand in undisturbed majesty, jealously protected from fire or slaughter by the company as valuable adjuncts to their watershed. They occur singly and in groups by hundreds and thousands, splendid columns ranged along the sides of the winding road, and to be described as far as the eye can penetrate beyond the point where road and trail come to an end.

Trunks from ten to fifteen feet in diameter are common. There are many that approximate twenty feet, and more than one that is twenty-five feet through and seventy to seventy-five feet in girth. It is not so easy to estimate their height, but experienced woodmen familiar with the "big trees" say that many of them are not less than 300 feet. These splendid growths frequently form portions of redwood circles, which cannot be perfectly followed owing to the breaks in their margins, and the size of the parent tree cannot be reckoned with any certainty, as in the case of the big stump at Mill Valley, but no one can study the ground without being convinced that thousands of years ago it was covered with a forest of prodigious dimensions, exceeding anything dreamed of in this age.

The living trees that grow along this canon are remarkable for their beauty and perfect symmetry, rising straight and clean from 50 to 100 feet in height, where their graceful foliage spreads out laterally, the limbs often having a slight downward droop, gradually tapering in length until they reach the top, where an arrowy plume of green crowns all. Sometimes they divide at a point twenty-odd feet above the ground, and twin stems grow side by side, with the same perfection of outline, the same straight silvery boles of silvery gray, with living moss on the northern side. At the base fire or decay has in some cases hollowed a genuine cave. One of these is fully sixteen feet long and twelve feet across, and might on a pinch house a fair-sized family. Into still another fire had wrought havoc with the mighty trunk, and its hollow shell was charcoal lined, but the protecting bark was gradually extending itself around into the open doorway and covering the naked, charred hollow, one place forming a splendid burl, which would make a lumberman's eyes green with envy.

"That is the way a tree heals its wounds," said Forester Hatch. "The tree never rests. It is always at work performing its regular functions or repairing damages that time or accidents makes. After a while this new growth will extend through the tree, forming a sound new lining to protect the injured wood and prevent decay."

There were other cunning devices of the tree to which this woodman called attention. All the way up the naked trunks he pointed out scarcely perceptible scars, mere pinholes, cloaked and concealed with the healing bark, where the first limbs of the trees had dropped off when no longer needed for protection. But the great scars where its big limbs had been torn away formed the text for the most interesting disquisition, and Thomas Hatch showed, by means of a section of wood sliced into thin layers, how the concentric rings, which form the most exquisite wood-graining, can all be traced back to the knot and the hollow place that has rotted about it. Another peculiar habit of the redwood tree, which is perhaps the most vigorous growth in the entire vegetable kingdom, is frequently exemplified by roots sent out from half-healed scars a foot or more above the ground, yet striking into it and fastening themselves there to send up new sprouts which later on will make a desperate struggle to become trees. Further down the valley a fallen tree spanning a stream has sent out shapely young limbs, already grown to the stature and dignity of trees.—San Francisco Chronicle.

It did me more good than anything I ever used. My dyspepsia was of months' standing; after eating it was terrible. Now I am well," writes S. B. Keener, Hoisington, Kas., of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

ALL ABOUT CLOVES.

How They Are Cultivated and the Difficulties With Laborers.

Cloves were at one time the only economic product which Zanzibar supplied to foreign countries, writes Mr. Consul Cave, and, although much has been and is being done to encourage the native agriculturist to have more than one iron in the fire, this tree is still and probably always will be far more extensively cultivated than any other. The clove season proper—that is, the period during which the crop ripens and is harvested—extends from September to March, but the cloves continue to be brought into town for some months later, either because some of the trees are retarded in their flowering or because the growers are holding back for a more favorable market. The 1898 crop, although 1,307,700 pounds in excess of that of the previous year, was not more than a good average one, and fell far short of the results obtained in 1890, 1894 and 1895; but, although this is true as regards the twelve months ending December 31 last, it will probably be found when the next report comes to be written that the season of 1898-99 has equaled, if it has not surpassed, any previous existing record. In the summer and autumn of last year considerable anxiety was felt as to what the season would bring forth, for there had been no heavy rain for eighteen months, and a large number of trees had died from want of water. In Pemba alone no fewer than 200,000 are said to have perished from this cause. The rains came in time to save the crop and make it one of the most prolific that this country has known; but the long drouth which preceded them not only caused the buds to be somewhat smaller than usual, but delayed the harvest for several weeks. And this is especially the case in the Island of Zanzibar, where the rainfall is seldom more than half as heavy, and the trees not nearly so old or so hardy as in the sister island. The quantity of cloves brought into town from Zanzibar plantations up to the end of the year was, it will be observed, only 60,364 frasilas, the smallest amount tabulated; but of these no less than 32,399 frasilas, and from the two islands together 121,858 frasilas, arrived in December alone, which is far in excess of the amounts recorded for any period of one month since these returns were first compiled.

The other great difficulty which both the government and the Arab cultivator have to contend with is the labor question, which it will probably take many years to solve. Ever since the importation of slaves has been prohibited the supply of labor has diminished with increasing rapidity from year to year, and now that thousands of slaves have been freed under the decree of 1897, it is quite inadequate to meet the demands that are made upon it. Much has been done in the interests of the cultivator; the free slaves are induced, whenever it is possible, to settle on the shambles of their old masters and to work for them, under voluntary agreements, either in return for a fixed daily wage or by giving up a certain number of days to their employers and devoting the remainder of the week to the cultivation of plots of ground which are allotted to them for that purpose. A money wage has, as often as possible, been substituted for payment in kind, both as an additional incentive to the laborer, and so as to prevent him from absenting himself from his work for two or three days in succession at more or less frequent intervals, in order to dry and dispose of the green cloves which he has either earned as his share of the picking, or, as frequently happens, stolen from the trees during the night; but no legislation can make the native take a genuine interest in his work or keep at it for a long period than will enable him to live in comparative comfort for a few weeks of contented idleness. The scarcity of labor has had its effect both on the total yield of the year and on the quality of the sample. Different buds on the same tree ripen at different times, and to secure a good sample, they should be picked at a certain definite stage of development; but, in his anxiety to have as much of his crop gathered as possible, the cultivator has had to neglect any special care in picking, as well as in the equally important process of drying, with the natural result that the cloves sent home are found to vary in size, color and quality.—London Globe.

FOREHEAD AND EYES.

They Reveal Something About the Character.

A head justly proportioned to the rest of the body shows steadiness and force of character; too large, it generally indicates grossness and stupidity; too small, feebleness and inaptitude of mind, if not of constitution. The physiognomy of a forehead, says a writer in Public Opinion, is seen in the form of a frontal bone, its height and proportion, regularity or irregularity; this marks the disposition and measure of our faculties.

Eyes, mirrors of the soul, may, perhaps, be considered more beautiful and attractive than any other feature. Dividing them into two great classes, light and dark, it has been said that the dark indicate power, the light, delicacy. Black eyes, so called—for they are really of so deep an orange that they appear black contrasted with the white surrounding them—are tropical. Sometimes they seem dull and sluggish, but the forces they betoken are only slumbering, so that any chance spark may set them ablaze. With such eyes the intellect will be powerful and the passions strong. Clear blue eyes belong to temperate regions. Other intellectual indications being equal, what they may lack in power and passion they will make up in subtlety and versatility. Hazel eyes show steadiness and power of constant affection; green, cat-like orbs, though frequently fascinating, are dangerous, for they are a sign of coquetry and deceit. The eyes of genius are said to be of varying tints, like the sea, sometimes blue, tinged with green or orange, in certain lights, or when affected by emotion, deep and almost dark. These are but few of the infinite varieties in tint. It should never be forgotten that eyes are more capable of misleading than any other feature. Form and color may indicate much; the glance, steady or soft, perhaps even more. Widely expanded eyelids see much without reflecting greatly beyond the present moment. Eyelids half closing over the eyes denote less facility of impression, but clearer insight, more definite ideas, greater readiness in action; they notice less, but think and feel intensely. Deep-set eyes with wrinkles at the outer corners show penetration and a sense of humor. Eyes set near together, especially when there are wrinkles across the nose, are a sign of cunning and meanness in small things, money matters and otherwise. Set wide apart, the character will be generous. If too wide, careless and extravagant. The proper distance between the eyes is the length of one eye.

ties, our fashion of thinking and feeling. Physiognomy should be studied in the covering skin, its color, wrinkles, tension or relaxation; this gives a clew to the passions, the actual state of the spirit within, the use it has made of its natural gifts. Foreheads, seen in profile, are divided into three classes; projecting above, flat on the eyebrows; retreating from behind developed brows, and perpendicular. Broadly speaking, those with prominent eye bones act promptly, on the judgment, perhaps passion, of the moment. Yet they err but rarely, for their gifts of intuition and rapid deduction seldom fail to guide them rightly. High foreheads, lacking some part of this quick spirit, pause, consider and weigh the matter before taking action. Less passionate, less imaginative, less resourceful, they cannot afford to make mistakes. Short foreheads, prominent brows, belong to the man of action. High, well-developed temples, to the man of thought. A perpendicular, flat forehead, with wrinkleless skin stretched tightly across it may be briefly dismissed as the forehead of the fool. Eye bones which project so sharply as to cause the hair of the brows to bristle outward show immense acuteness and genius for intrigue. Li Hing Chang, the great Chinese Minister, and Prince Bismarck, are good examples of this class. A forehead square on the temples and retreating into the hair on either side, is a sign of retentive memory and excellent judgment. Lord Kitchener of Khartoum, has the typical forehead of a leader of men. Short, compressed, with prominent eye bones and thick, straight brows, square and receding on the temples. A man with this forehead could not fail to judge character or circumstances with quickness and accuracy, to store such observations in a tenacious memory, and to act upon his conclusion with promptness and decision.

BANKRUPTCY LAW.

The operation of the new Bankruptcy law has been watched with interest by the Department of Justice. For the first six months after the law went into effect there were filed 11,000 voluntary and 1,500 involuntary petitions in bankruptcy, a total of 12,500. One of the most interesting facts developed in the large proportion of petitioners who are clerks or mechanics or farmers, and have taken advantage of the law to escape the harassment of persistent creditors, whose methods make it impossible for the debtor to earn a living or to retain his employment, to say nothing of paying his debts. Speaking of this phase of bankruptcy proceedings, E. C. Brandenburg, the bankruptcy expert of the Department of Justice, said:

"The law seems to be meeting with general approval, although there has been some criticism. With the exception of a few large wholesale houses and trust companies, which were able through their vast resources, to maintain collection machinery of their own, the law is meeting with the approval of merchants and jobbers. The main reason is that the law forbids the making of any preference by the bankrupt. Under many state laws the bankrupt may prefer one creditor to another. This practice has sometimes resulted in fraud. Some amendments to the law will be recommended to Congress, principally with the view to further protection of the creditor from fraud in bankruptcy proceedings."

THE WAR IN AFRICA.

The Boers, under General Joubert, led the British into a trap near Ladysmith, with a result as disastrous as the battle of Majuba Hill. The British losses are forty-two officers and from 1,500 to 2,000 men, composing the Irish Fusiliers and the Gloucestershire Regiment, and a battery of six guns. Many of the British were killed and wounded, and the rest of the two regiments taken prisoners. General Joubert completely outgeneraled General White, and it is rumored in London that the latter may be superseded. In his official report General White assumes the entire responsibility for the disaster.

The Boers encouraged by their success, continue their aggressive movements, and General White may be forced to evacuate the town of Ladysmith and retreat if his forces are not completely routed. The Boers' heavy artillery shelled the British camp and the town of Ladysmith. The Boer losses in Monday's battle are estimated at nearly 1,000.

Preparations by the British government to call out the Second Army Corps, and the unusual activity in naval circles again arouses the belief in military and naval circles that the government anticipates European hostility.

The Boers are constructing forts around Kimberley for the purpose of shelling that town.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

SEVERE BLOW TO BRITISH.
Fighting between the British and the Boers was resumed at Ladysmith, Natal, Tuesday.

The Boers recaptured their former position with artillery, which Gen. Sir George Stewart White, the British commander, had reported silenced by his heavy guns, and they again opened fire. At last reports, which came by way of Cape Town, they were closing in on the British at Ladysmith in large numbers.

On account of the difficulty in getting details of the fighting it is suspected in London that General White—or, perhaps, General Joubert, in the rear—has wholly or partly cut off communication with Ladysmith. The African east coast cable has had a breakdown, and this adds to the difficulty of forwarding dispatches. The west coast cable is still open.

General White has sent an official dispatch confirming the report that the Royal Irish Fusiliers, the Gloucestershire regiment and No. 10 Mountain Battery were captured by the Boers near Ladysmith on Monday. About 2,000 men, with 42 officers and seven cannons, were captured. This is regarded in London as a staggering blow, and there is talk of superseding General White, who was clearly outgeneraled by Joubert. The loss of these men is considered one of the severest blows which the British army has had in a long time.

The London War Office has taken measures to meet the disaster. It will send three extra battalions of infantry and a mountain battery to South Africa within ten days to make up for the losses. A second army corps has been ordered to hold itself ready to be called out.

About 6,000 fresh troops will arrive at Cape Town next Sunday, and every day thereafter, until the end of next week, more troops will arrive until a total of 28,000 new men will be there. According to present plans, the British army in South Africa will soon reach a total of 89,634 men, which would be about double the combined Boer forces.

General Buller received a wildly enthusiastic greeting when he landed in Cape Town Tuesday. There were many cries of "Avengé Majuba!"

A Cape Town dispatch reports the Boers confident that they will soon capture Kimberley and Mafeking.—Sun.

THE TINPLATE IMPOSITION.

Tin and Terne figures the present price to the consumer of imported Welsh tinplate at $5.58 a box of 108 pounds. The duty accounts for $1.62 of this price. American tinplate costs at the mill $4.53, or $1.05 less. This price is, however, 56¢ cents more than the price of foreign plate in our port before the duty is paid. Taking this statement from the protectionist as correct, the American manufacturer is getting about half a cent a pound of benefit, while the consumer loses over 1½ cents a pound. The injury to the consumer is so much greater than the benefit to the manufacturer that the latter ought to offer to forego his half-cent extra. There is no good reason why the poor man should pay 1½ cents a pound more for his tinplate in order that a man better off may be enabled to go in to the manufacture of tinplate. A should not be taxed for B's benefit.—Sun.

PENNSYLVANIANS IN THE ARMY.

An official statement of the total number of Pennsylvanians enlisted in the last two years is being compiled by Major David Cragie, who has charge of the offices in the Pennsylvania recruiting district. His report, which will be made to the War Department, brings the number of enlistment up to Oct. 20, and shows that in round figures 20,000 men have answered Uncle Sam's call from that State. Of this number 9,000 joined the Regulars and 11,000 entered the ranks of the Volunteers. This is a greater number than furnished by any other State in the Union.

ONE KILLED AND THREE MISSING.
CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—One man is known to have perished and three others are reported missing, as the result of the collapse of a six-story building at 139 and 141 West Lake street this evening. Considerable damage was done to adjoining property, and during the excitement it was reported that as many as forty lives had been lost. About $200,000 damage was done.

The cause of the collapse is unknown, some claiming that there was an explosion in the store of S. F. Leonard, dealer in seeds; others saying that the walls fell without apparent cause. The generally accepted theory is that there was an explosion of dust in the seed store. At 10 P. M., the firemen working in the ruins found the body of a man under the debris of the office of the New England mills. It was too badly burned to admit of identification, but from the position in which it was found it is supposed to be that of Mr. Hanson, proprietor of the mills.

It will not be a surprise to any who are at all familiar with the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, to know that people everywhere take pleasure in relating their experience in the use of that splendid medicine and in telling of the benefit they have received from it, of bad colds it has cured, of threatened attacks of pneumonia it has averted and of the children it has saved from attacks of croup and whooping cough. It is a grand, good medicine. For sale by T. E. Zimmerman & Co., Druggist.

A NUMBER of coastwise sailing vessels were driven ashore by the furious northeast gale along the New Jersey and Virginia coast. The meadows at Cape May and Atlantic City were overflowed, and the wind reached a velocity of sixty miles an hour. The storm also did great damage on the Carolina beaches.

"Better to do it than wish it done." Better cure catarrh by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla than complain because you suffer from it.

SENATOR DEWEY last Thursday gave out a statement of the terms of the will of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt. It shows that the fortune is estimated at $70,000,000. Alfred Gwynn Vanderbilt will get about $50,000,000. He thus becomes the head of the family.

PRESIDENT COWAN, of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, said that the road could use 10,000 more freight cars if it had them, and that if the 5,000 pressed steel cars ordered last January had been delivered in time they would have made a difference of $750,000 in the earnings of the company.

A GRAND

Opportunity is now presented to the people of Gettysburg and the surrounding country, to visit our elegant new store, (Centre Square,) and examine the wonderful bargains being offered in Clothing, Hats, Shoes, and Gents Furnishing Goods.

We are after the trade of all who need anything in our line, and are offering "Sledge Hammer" arguments in the way of low prices, in order that you may deal with us. We will not misrepresent any of our goods, all we ask of any person is a right to a share of their custom. Expenses are sure in a large establishment like ours, but profits can only be counted on goods sold. A quick prompt is the best, be it ever so small. We know this and always make the "Almighty dollar" act as our agent when purchasing stock from the manufacturer, and spot cash is the watchword that guided us through ten years of almost unparalleled business success. Our customers want are always in view when we buy stock, and we always mark goods with Rock Bottom Figures, thus making a bargain of every article in our stock. If you come from a distance by rail to examine our stock the money you save in purchases will be more than equivalent to a

FREE RIDE

We do not wish to brag, but certainly our great success is the very best evidence that Square dealing, and business-like methods, have been shown in all our transactions with the public. Now, when we are asking for an increased share of patronage, it would be suicidal for us to misrepresent our stock. We have a large and most complete line of Clothing, Gents Furnishing Goods, Hats, Shoes, and we have also added a large and most complete line of Ladies Wraps, etc., and in spite of the advance in the prices in various grades of goods, we have decided to increase our popularity by offering everything at figures that will compel all to acknowledge us as the "Leaders in Low Prices." If you need anything in our line come to see us. We are always glad to show goods. The prices marked on them will do the rest. If you trade with us, there will be no use to go for bargains, as we guarantee every article in our establishment to be a genuine "Money Saver," and hope by uniform, courteous treatment to merit an ever increasing patronage. Very Respectfully, Output of the Klondike.

No one will ever know exactly how much gold was taken from the Klondike fields the past season. Since the English government imposed a royalty, the miners have adopted all sorts of ruses to evade the law. It is rather difficult to dodge taxes, but it is more difficult to dodge a bad cold and the grip at this time of year. When the system is weakened by such attacks, and the blood becomes thin and impoverished, the best medicine to take is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This remedy builds up the system. Besides regulating digestion, it overcomes constipation. It is good for the kidneys and liver, too, stimulating these organs into the proper performance of their functions. Nothing is so good foralaria.

The culture of English walnuts in Washington county is in an experimental stage, but it is said they can be profitably raised there and that the quality of the nuts is as fine as those raised in California. SUNDAY night robbers forced an entrance into the warehouse of Cutshall & Eagle, at Woodsboro, Frederick county, and attempted to blow open the iron safe, which contained $250 in cash and many valuable papers. A GOOD INVESTMENT.

For some years the First National Bank of Hanover has been the owner of a tract of between 20,000 and 25,000 acres of timberland in Florida, taken in foreclosure of a mortgage to secure loans. They have just sold the entire tract to a large lumbering concern for a sum that realizes to the bank an amount equal to 50 per cent. more than the land was carried as an asset on the books of the institution.

ATTACKED BY AN EAGLE.

Sharon Gonker and Charles Ritter, two boys, living near Waynesboro, were attacked by a large eagle on the South Mountain. The boys, who are not over 12 years old, were gathering chestnuts, when the eagle suddenly swooped down upon them and began the attack. They defended themselves by beating the bird with long sticks, which they had used to knock chestnuts from the trees. They both became exhausted and shouted for help. Two hunters came upon the scene and rescued them.

HOTEL BURNED.

The hotel at Jenners, near Meyersdale, on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, about 30 miles north of Cumberland, was destroyed by fire Saturday, originating from a defective flue. The original building, to which a wing had been added, was built early in the 19th century. The building was owned by E. B. Mauver and leased by M. H. Sipe. There was $2,100 insurance on the building and contents.

SHOT HIS SISTER.

Mrs. Abby Homer was shot by her brother, Miley Elliott, at the home of her sister-in-law, in Crisfield. Elliott had a quarrel with his mother and sisters at their home, and then left the house, returning about 12 o'clock. He learned that his sisters had gone out to dinner, and walking over to the house where they were seated at dinner, fired three times, the balls striking his sister, Abby, in the thigh, knee and ankle. Abby sank to the floor and her sister Henrietta began to shriek, when the assailant exclaimed: "If you don't shut up you will get it too." He then walked out of the house. Mrs. Homer resides in Cambridge, and went to Crisfield a short time since on a visit to her relatives. Her husband is an oysterman. Her injuries are not fatal, but the doctors fear she may be crippled for life. During the war with Spain Elliott enlisted in the First Maryland Regiment, and there made an excellent record. His father was a soldier in the Civil War. It is stated that Elliott was under the influence of liquor when the deed was committed.

DEATH OF MRS. McNULTY.

Mrs. Stella McNulty, wife of Mr. Denton McNulty, of McKeesport, Pa., formerly of this place, died at McKeesport, on Oct. 31. Mrs. McNulty's death was caused by the explosion of a lamp at her home Oct. 20. Just as she was in the act of pulling down a large hanging lamp to extinguish the light, it exploded, throwing the fire and oil over her, and igniting her clothes. She was terribly burned about the face and body. She lingered eleven days before death relieved her of her suffering. The deceased was a daughter of Alonza J. Mentzer, deceased, late of this place. Mrs. McNulty, who was about 30 years of age, leaves a husband and four children. Her remains were brought here and interred in the cemetery at Mt. St. Mary's College yesterday.

A FORCE of men will be put to work at repairing the pulp mills of the Southern Pulp Company, in Elkton, to get the plant in readiness to resume operations. The company has not yet been completed, but has been incorporated under the Delaware laws, with a capital stock of $100,000. The Providence Paper Mill will be operated by a company incorporated by the same State under the name of the Elk Paper Company, with alike capital stock. It is understood that Thomas H. Savery, vice-president of the Pusey & Jones Company, of Wilmington, Del., who purchased the properties at private sale for $105,000 for a syndicate, will be president of the new companies when they are fully organized.

FELL ON A HOT STOVE.

Clarence, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Houser, Chambersburg, went to the second story of a back building recently erected at Mr. Houser's home while the parents were at dinner Friday. There is a register opening in the room and the little fellow fell through the opening on to a hot stove in the kitchen below. The stove is enclosed behind two doors and the parents, hearing the cries of their little son, quickly went to his rescue. He was quite badly burned about the lower part of his leg and side.

AN IMPORTANT DIFFERENCE.

To make it apparent to thousands, who think themselves ill, that they are not afflicted with any disease, but that the system simply needs cleansing, is to bring comfort home to their hearts, as a costive condition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and sold by all druggists.

TIPTON will show you all the new styles in photographs, Nov. 3rd and 4th.

PACKING HOUSE BURNED.

A large canning house operated by the Nickle Brothers near Liberty Grove, Cecil county, was destroyed by fire early Saturday morning, together with about 4,000 cases of tomatoes. The building was owned by Isaac H. Hammond, and valued at $1,000, upon which there was a small insurance. The stock of tomatoes was insured for $3,000. The cannery put up about 10,000 cases this season, nearly 6,000 cases having been shipped away.

HALLOWEEN RUFFIANISM.

In Hagerstown Justice Ward issued warrants for 13 young men for reprehensible conduct on Halloween. The warrants were sworn out by a woman whose house they attacked and whom they abused. Some of the Halloweeners broke window glass, exploded beer bottles filled with powder, threw mud, stones and bricks against doors and houses. They hauled wagons off into vacant lots, threw corn and flour into people's faces and behaved, it is said, like young ruffians.

A MEMORIAL is being signed by many persons in Hagerstown addressed to Congress, which is asked to prevent the Secretary of War from using the military to prohibit the landing in Cuba of a cable line to compete with the Western Union cable, which is the only one running from Cuba to the United States. The Western Union claims the sole right for a Cuban cable by virtue of an alleged grant from Spain. Secretaries of War Alger and Root have both upheld the Western Union's contention. The Postal Cable-Telephone Company has been endeavoring to get permission to lay a cable to Cuba.

Tipton, the Gettysburg Photographer, advises his patrons to call early in the day, as the rush is greatest during the afternoon. In Emmitsburg, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 3rd and 4th.

GLENN H. WORTHINGTON, Esq., democratic candidate for State's Attorney, was in town on Tuesday.

DIED IN HAGERSTOWN.

On Sunday Chief of Police Charles Kappes, of Gettysburg, received a telegram from Sheriff Seibert, of Hagerstown, Md., stating that Uriah Stremmel, of Adams county, had died in that place, and inquiring as to what disposition to make of the body.

The family, who reside in Mountjoy township, were notified, and J. L. Williams, Esq., went to Hagerstown, on Sunday. The body was taken to Gettysburg Monday afternoon.

A Hagerstown dispatch of the 29th to the Balto. Sun says:

Uriah Stremmel, of Adams county, Pa., aged 45 or 50 years, died late last night in Hagerstown jail. He was found on West Bethel street half conscious, shrieking and in great pain. Constable Jones Rowland conveyed him to jail in a cab, thinking him intoxicated. Arriving at the jail Dr. W. B. Morrison was telephoned for. He arrived 10 minutes afterward, but in the interval Stremmel had died.

An empty vial was found on him labeled tincture aconite, purchased of a Gettysburg druggist; also a bottle full of laudanum purchased of another Gettysburg druggist, which had not been opened; a letter addressed to his mother, telling her to levy on all his property and get ahead of other creditors, and that he was going away to make a living for her and himself; a receipt, dated October 28, from George N. Krug, Kingsdale, Pa., for 77 bushels of wheat; a list of creditors to whom he owed over $400; summonses in debt addressed to him and other papers.

It is supposed he committed suicide on account of money troubles. The sum of $12.37 was found in his pockets. A wife, a daughter, Mrs. Sallie Keeney, and a son, Edward, survive.

AT CATOCTIN FURNACE.

Great preparations for the resumption of work at the Catocin Furnace are being made. A force of seventy-five workmen is at work every day trying to get things in shape. The dwellings houses around the furnace are all being repaired and put in order so that the people who work at the furnace may live in them. It is understood that one hundred more men are wanted to go to work next week, in order that the work of cleaning up may go on more rapidly. The lines of railroad for hand cars, used to convey the ore through the mountain to the furnace, are all being torn up.

The Monocacy Valley Railroad which connects with the W. M. R. R. will be changed and a new line connecting with the old one will be run a little north of the old line and will run right into the furnace building by means of a trestle-work which is to be built. The trestle-work will be high enough to allow the cars to run into the second story of the furnace.

Mr. Randolph Waesche, who is superintending the work, and Mr. Nelson Price, of Thurmont, made the preliminary survey for the new line of railroad Monday. The old line will not, it is understood, be abandoned, but will be used in conjunction with the new line.

HARNEY ITEMS.

HARNEY, Md., Nov. 1.—Services at the Lutheran Church ended on last Friday night after having a week of well attended services.

Miss Margaret Weybright corresponding secretary of the Lutheran C. E. Society, returned from York Springs convention with quite an interesting account of that service, and C. E. work in general.

After having a large sale of two days duration, and disposing of several hundred dollars worth of property, with the intention of going out of the hotel business, Mr. Hesson has now resolved to continue, at least for a short while.

Our town is beaming with the pleasant smiles of candidates who greet you at a distance of a quarter of a mile, while at any other time they would fail to recognize you at a distance of two feet.

Revival services have begun at the U. B. church for an unlimited length of time, with Rev. J. O. Clippinger, pastor, presiding.

What do you think of a fellow paying $1.20 railroad fare and $2.00 team hire to come from Harrisburg to Harney to whip a person for stealing from him fifty cents about one year ago. We think it would be advisable for such people to study Walker's Advanced Course of Political Economy.

Among this week's visitors are, Mr. E. S. Eyer and wife, of Shippensburg. Mr. Jack Clisgan has left for parts unknown.

OUTRAGEOUS CONDUCT.

A most outrageous occurrence happened at Walkersville on Saturday night last. The home of Mrs. Betsy Gates was stoned and fired upon for an hour or more by six drunken men. Mrs. Gates and her husband are both eighty years of age, helpless and infirm with no protection whatever. These men, who are supposed to be decent and law abiding citizens, all having families, "for fun" as they say, frightened the old woman to such an extent that she is now in a seriously nervous condition. She has sworn out warrants for their arrest and the lovers of justice in Walkersville hope they may be dealt with as their crime deserves.

SHOT FOR FUN.

Walter Morman, colored, claiming to be from Washington, D.C., was shot and perhaps fatally wounded Wednesday morning by Henry Hart, colored, aged 27 years. The shooting occurred in front of Maria Bell's house, at Lime Kiln, Frederick county. In response to a telephone summons, Officers George Brust and George Lowe went to the scene of the tragedy. There they found the man lying helpless in a pool of his own blood, surrounded by a crowd of people, with the blood flowing freely from a wound in his neck. He was taken into the house and medical aid summoned. Subsequently Morman told the officers that he did not know why he was shot; that as he was coming down the road Hart came out of the house, picked up his gun and pointing at him fired, when he felt something strike him in the neck and he fell over in the road. He further stated that he had not had a word with Hart before the shooting.

The officers placed the young negro under arrest and took him to Frederick. Before the justice he made the following statement: "I met Morman early Wednesday morning in the Baltimore and Ohio ticket office at Lime Kiln. I had my shotgun and Morman had a revolver, which we pointed at each other several times in fun. I then went hunting through several fields, having left Morman on the road. Growing tired I went to Mrs. Bell's house to rest, leaving my gun on the outside. Going out I seen Morman coming down the road, and through a spirit of fun I picked up the gun and pointing it at him pulled the trigger, when to my surprise I heard a report followed by a scream. I thought the weapon did not contain any load, or I would not have pointed it at him." He further stated that after he saw the man had been shot he went for a doctor.

Being asked what had become of the empty shell, he said he had taken it out and thrown it away. He was committed to jail in default of $1,000, to await the result of the injured man's wounds, for a hearing at 10 o'clock Saturday.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others.

My wife has been using Chamberlain's Pain Balm, with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicines and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement of this medicine and thought of trying it, which we did with the best of satisfaction. She has used only one bottle and her shoulder is almost well.

PROPOSED RAILROAD EXTENSION.

The following interesting railroad news is clipped from the Baltimore Sun of Tuesday. The advisability of extending the Emmitsburg Railroad to connect with the Pennsylvania Railroad at or near Woodsboro, has been talked of for several years. There is no doubt as to the benefit to be derived from the extension of the Emmitsburg Railroad to Woodsboro, provided that project is carried to a successful issue. It is to be hoped that the gentlemen interested in the extension of the road are in earnest, and that they will be successful in securing the right of way, and will put men to work constructing the proposed extension, for after all, that is the only way to build a railroad.

EMMITSBURG, Md., Oct. 30.—William A. Himes, William G. Blair, Vincent Sebold, president, treasurer and counsel, respectively, of the Emmitsburg Railroad Company, accompanied by James W. Legore, and several others interested in railroading, drove over the country today from Rocky Ridge to Woodsboro inspecting the country and selecting a route for the proposed extension of the Emmitsburg road to connect with the Pennsylvania system at Woodsboro. The projectors were highly pleased with the proposed route, which is about 41 miles long, and state that they will at once order a survey to be made. The Emmitsburg road at present connects with the Western Maryland system at Rocky Ridge and people from the northern section of the county suffer great inconvenience, as they are compelled to change at Rocky Ridge and then, after riding a few miles, must again change at Bruceville to connect with the Pennsylvania Railroad to come to Frederick. The passenger, express and freight rates are high, as each road must receive its proportion. By connecting with the Pennsylvania system at Woodsboro they can save a great deal of time and travel at about one-half the fare, and it will give the people of that section direct communication with Frederick.

"GRASP ALL AND LOSE ALL."

Many people are so intent on "grasping all" and they lose strength of nerves, appetite, digestion, health. Fortunately, however, these may be restored by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which has put many a business man on the road to success by giving him good digestion, strong nerves and a clear brain. It does the same thing for weak and tired women.

FOOT-PADS IN FREDERICK.

Late last Thursday night Sheriff Patterson was notified that a gang of five men had held up several persons on the stone bridge on the Baltimore pike, east of Frederick, and were searched, but, having no money or valuables, they were allowed to proceed. Charles Tabery, who had been to Frederick, while returning home, was held up, as was James White, who happened along soon afterward. Henry J. Glouchier and Charles E. Dorsey, later in the evening, were subjected to a similar treatment. They were suddenly surrounded by five men, who commanded them to throw up their hands. The footpads were poorly rewarded for their trouble, as none of those stopped had any money or watches on them.

On reaching the scene the officers found two men lying alongside the road near the bridge, whom they arrested and took to Frederick. When searched a pocketbook, which was identified as one stolen from Miss Bessie Thomas, of Buckeystown, while she was in a physician's office Thursday, was found on one, and a number of letters addressed to John Markey, East Second street, Frederick. Jacob Hanley, who lives on the pike, identified a coat and vest one of the men wore, and charged them with breaking into his house and stealing them.

Princeton Buckley, a brother of the groom, was best man. The bridesmaids, who wore white Persian lawn and carried white chrysanthemums, were Miss Minnie L. Buckley, a sister of the groom, of Middleburg; Miss Leona Weaver, of Littlestown, Pa., and Miss Anna Diller, of Double Pipe Creek. J. Travers Thomas, of Frederick, and Howard S. Lehman, of Hagerstown, were the groomsmen.

DECAPITATED BY CAR WHEELS.

An unknown man, aged about 45 years, was killed at Iron Hill, Cecil county, on the line of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad Wednesday morning. He had gotten under a box car during the night and had gone to sleep, with his head resting on the rail of one of the sidings. Early Wednesday morning, while some shifting was being done, the wheels passed over his head, severing it almost from his body. He was well dressed, but had nothing on his person by which he could be identified.
