WONDERS OF CHALCEDONY PARK.

Arizona's Wonderful Petrified Forest to be Included in a Park.

"Agate Bridge" is the chief wonder of that marvelous dream known as Chalcedony Park, or the petrified forest of Arizona. The portion of the forest where the finest of the gems are found is in Apache county, from seventeen to twenty miles from Holbrook, on the Santa Fe Railroad.

The "bridge" is a tree trunk, transformed into the finest agate, which spans a chasm 60 feet wide. This precious gem is 110 feet long, 4 feet in diameter at the base, tapering to 3 feet at the apex, and it contains enough material to give labor to all the lapidaries in the world for the next generation. This leg is one of thousands, many of them broken into huge fragments, which litter the ground in an area of above 100 square miles. The area of that portion of the park containing the agate bridge is confined to a few miles. It is impossible to conceive of the marvelous beauty of this section, for the ground is covered with amethyst, red and yellow jasper, topaz, onyx, carnelian, and gigantic specimens of agate of every variety. If the gems in "Tiffany's" could be increased to the size of flour barrels and steam boilers, multiplied by 1,000,000 and scattered over Manhattan Island, the result would be a fair idea of Chalcedony Park.

The primeval forest has not lost much of its beauty, although the human vandal has been there, and with dynamite has destroyed logs of priceless value, in their original form, to get a pocketful of crystals from the heart of the tree. The beauty and interest of the spot will not be wholly destroyed by the present generation, and the time will come when the government will police Chalcedony Park and protect its treasures.

The Indians have known the forests since their beginning, and it was here they found material for their precious arrow tips. They call the petrified wood "chirump." The white man discovered it when the United States Pacific Railroad was surveyed along the thirty-five parallel early in the '50s. Jules Marcuse, the geologist of the survey, made a collection of specimens, and extensive mention is made of it in the government reports. The tourist and vandal did not get at it until 1880, when the Atlantic and Pacific, or Santa Fe Railroad was built. The first specimens of the wood seen by the general public was at the New Orleans Exposition in 1885. A display was made in Paris, in 1889, and again in Chicago, in 1893. The only place where the stone is polished and manufactured is at Sioux Falls, S. D., and a recent newspaper article says this company is engaged in getting out $1,000,000 worth of ornaments and jewelry for sale at the Paris Exposition of 1900. The cost of cutting and polishing the petrification approaches that of treating diamonds, as it is calculated to be seven-tenths the hardness of diamond.

The scientific theory concerning the petrification is to the effect that, after the forest of pines and cedars was established, the basin or valley became a lake. This valley has an area, approximately, of 100 by 80 miles, and it is surrounded by extinct volcanoes. These volcanoes emptied themselves into the lake, and the trees became soaked with the silicious water. Silica took the place of every fiber and atom of wood. The colors of red, brown, yellow and purple came from the iron and manganese in solution in the water. All this took place before the existence of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. When nature formed that big ditch the lake was drained, and the water, in its rush to the northwest, leveled the stone trees, breaking them off as smooth as if they had been sawed. This sustains the theory that the trees were petrified where they grew.

The fact that nearly all of the fallen trunks lie in one direction, and to the northwest, sustains the theory that the lake was emptied to the northwest and into the Grand Canyon. A few ages of erosion after the draining of the lake brings the forest down to the present day, and has left some strange freaks. One big tree trunk protrudes over the brow of a cliff, looking like a cannon on a fort. Another has been left balanced on a column of stone, presenting a great "T."

S. J. Holsinger, special agent of the government land office, has recently returned from the petrified forest, where he went to investigate the advisability of forming a national park of the region. He will report favorably on the project, and will advise that a territory 18 miles by 9 miles be included in the park. In this area lie four different groups, or forests of fallen trees, although it does not include all of the groups of petrification in the valley. Mr. Holsinger says there are millions of tons of agatized wood in the proposed park territory. He measured many tree trunks which were 165 feet long and as large as 4 feet in diameter. He says that one group of petrifications, locally known as "Rainbow Park," is the most remarkable spectacle of color he has ever seen, and so dazzling was the effect of the sunshine on the brilliant confusion of stone fragments that dizziness of his head compelled him to sit down. At Carrizo, the station on the Santa Fe nearest the petrifications, he learned that the Sioux Falls company had ordered a carload of the stone to be shipped to the factory.—Arizona Graphic.

Mrs. Calvin Zimmerman, Milesburg, Pa., says, "As a speedy cure for coughs, colds, croup and sore throat One Minute Cough Cure is unequalled. It is pleasant for children to take. I heartily recommend it to mothers." It is the only harmless remedy that produces immediate results. It cures bronchitis, pneumonia, gripple and throat and lung diseases. It will prevent consumption. Music as an Inspiration to Labor.

A Philadelphia contractor has learned that men work better and more contentedly when encouraged by music. While visiting the Sudan, in Egypt, he watched the laborers at work on the English railroad that is being built in that region. To every gang of forty or fifty workmen were assigned two harpers and a flute player. These musicians play almost continually, and while they play, the workmen, who are nearly all negroes, work steadily and apparently without tiring, their movements confirming as nearly as possible to the time of the music. As a rule the players tire before the workmen, but if the music stops the laborers soon lag and play at work unless directly under the eye of the overseer.—Sel.

WM. ORR, Newark, O., says, "We never feel safe without One Minute Cough Cure in the house. It saved my little boy's life when he had pneumonia. We think it is the best medicine made." It cures coughs, colds and all lung troubles. Pleasant to take, harmless and gives immediate results. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

HOW LOLLIPOPS HELPED.

A funny little girl named Lollipop, with a little red dress, half on and half off, and two very small shoes, each on the wrong foot, stood dancing up and down by a table which was only a little lower than her curly head.

"See papa!" she said, "I d'essed all my own self. I'm doin' to help mamma lots today, 'cause she's so busy."

Then she pattered out into the kitchen where mamma was getting breakfast. A pan of milk stood upon the table.

"What can I do to help mamma?" said Lollipop. "I'll give kitty some milk." She reached up her little hands to pour it. Down it came—a white shower-bath, over her own head and frock and on the clean floor.

"I didn't fink it would do dat way!" said Lollipop, while her busy mother washed and dried her, and changed her dress. "I'm so—sorry!"

She felt quite bad for as long as two minutes. But by the time her pretty pink dress was settled, and she clambered into the high chair calling for "pancake and-cream-and-sugar," the smiles had all come back, and she looked like a little pink rose.

"Now what shall I do to help mamma?" she said again, as she climbed down after breakfast. "I'll clear the table. Won't she be surprised?"

But she dropped the pile of saucers and broke every one of them, and upset the pitcher of syrup over the clean table cloth.

Then her mother put her upon a chair to sit still and watch while she washed the dishes. But Lollipop climbed from her chair onto the floor barrel, which promptly tilted her off, and she fell on the sharp rim of the milk pail, and out such a gash in her forehead that the family were frightened nearly out of their wits.

An hour and a half of comforting and tending, and little Lollipop with a great black patch of court-plaster on her forehead, was ready to help mamma again.

This time it was making beds. "I'll straight it for you, mamma," she said. But she pulled every blanket crooked with her little soft hands, and hindered far more than she helped.

"Oh, Lollipops! I'll tell you what will help mamma most!" said the long suffering mother at last. "Go and clean up your plaything-box."

"Oh yes!" said Lollipops, gleefully. The parlor was all ready for company, and looked very inviting.

"I'll take my box in there," said the small girl. "Not bother mamma." She dragged in the box, which was just as much as she could do; and then by way of arranging it, she poured out everything on the parlor carpet.

The marbles rolled everywhere. The paper "tickets," which Lollipop cut by hundreds, flew all over the room; while a mixed collection of dolls, blocks, dishes, spoons, and everything else, filled the center of the floor. Just then the poppy came frolicking in, and helped to spread the confusion. In just three minutes that neat, orderly parlor was changed into the worst looking room you could imagine. Then Lollipops heard the thump of the rolling pin.

"Mamma's making pies. 'Course I must help her," she said. And away she ran, leaving everything where it lay.

She made some delightful little thimble pies "to help mamma," and she spilled a cupful of flour, and ate raw dough, and burned her fingers, and it was dinner time before mamma had a chance to even think of straightening up. Then she washed windows "for mamma" and there was another little wet dress to be changed and dried. Then she ran out to the barn "to help papa," and pitched out of the buggy into a can of red paint, and her mother, seeing her brought in crying, thought she was covered with blood, and let her jelly burn on the stove while she ran out to her. After that she dropped her mamma's ring down the cistern pump, put a silver spoon in the slop pail, and upset the jar of buckwheat batter.

Night came at last, and the tired mother breathed a sigh of relief as she drew the fourth dress down from the plump shoulders, and put on the little white night dress. Lollipops looked like a cherub, as she put her arms around her mother's neck, and cooed:

"Oh you dear mamma! Hasn't I helped you lots today?"

And mamma, the saint answered: "Yes—oh, yes, I couldn't get along one day without my little girl to help me!"—Advance.

Cholly Spinkle (as three pistol shots are fired in quick succession in the chamber above)—My gracious! I—I must be going. Gung-good night!

Miss Gladys Mork (an Oklahoma belle)—Aw don't be in a rush, Mr. Spinkle. That's only dad's way of hinting that it's 10 o'clock. Don't mind dad, he's firing at the floor now, and it will be half an hour before he comes down and begins to shoot at you.

General Wauchop had been wounded four times, twice severely, before going to South Africa. Shortly before he started for the Sudan last year he met on a country road an old thinker, a character in his way, whom he had known nearly all his life. Said the thinker: "El, laid, I hear ye're gonn' aff tae the wars an' ma'ir. Wha' will ye'er get yer fill o' fechtin'?" The thinker smiled, but made no reply. The other went on: "I'm thinkin' that'll be never, laird! I'm jist the same myself, sir; I can ne'er get ma' fill—but it's no fechtin'; it's whiskey." The laird took the hint.—Argonaut.

Acoustics.

When Otis Skinner, the actor, played an engagement at Memphis recently, his matinee performance of "The Liars," was graced by the patronage of a bevy of the season's most attractive debutantes. After the curtain went down the manager escorted the debutantes back on the stage, where they met and conversed with the actor. "We enjoyed everything very much," said one of them; "but do you know, Mr. Skinner, we could scarcely hear a word that you said?" "Now, that's certainly strange," replied the actor; "I could hear everything you ladies said."—Argonaut.

The old hunter thought a moment and then said: "Harry, I'll try you agin." And Harry was elected.—Argonaut.

WAR PEN PICTURES

WHAT A BATTLE IS LIKE UNDER MODERN CONDITIONS.

Grim Realities and Shocking Scenes—Nothing is Seen, No Men, No Smoke—The Noise Is Infernal—Ghastly Sights and Awful Sound.

One of our war correspondents, in the course of a private letter to a friend, gives some vivid pictures of the realities of war under modern conditions:

"As regards my own feelings in a fight it is very hard to describe; I know when the thing is all over and I am all right I feel much happier. Any man who has been in a modern fight, where men are being knocked over all around, and says he likes it, is a liar. In former days it must have been different. The enemy could be seen, the smoke could be seen, and rifles had to be reloaded after every shot. At 1,000 yards you were in comparative safety. The infantry, after receiving one volley, could charge, knowing that until the enemy had loaded again each man was practically safe.

"Nowadays that is all changed. Nothing is seen, no man, no smoke. The only thing seen is the dust thrown up by the bullets, like a rain-storm on the surface of a lake, the artillery throwing shells, and the shells bursting. In contrast to this is the noise, which is probably the most ghastly. The discord is appalling, as every gun has a different sound, and each shell going through the air hums or whistles according to its breed. After a time you can tell what is coming, or if it is one of your own, what is going.

"The most terrifying of the enemy's guns is a sort of Hottichkiss, which fires about five rounds at a time and throws a one-pound shell, which bursts. You are safe nowhere, as a bullet fired at an object at 300 yards, which missed hits and kills at 2,000 or 5,000. It practically means with these rifles that a bullet is never spent until it hits something and remains there. When a bullet strikes, you hear nothing. It is as if you had thrown a man and probably travel on another 2,000 yards. You hear a grunt or a gurgle, and the man collapses and doubles up; sometimes if hit in the arm or leg he spins around and falls, but probably gets up again, as it is only the shock which knocks him down, and he hardly feels the bullet. At Modder river I went down with three guns of the Eighteenth Battery to within 1,300 yards, and saw five men killed after the other, but only one killed.

"The worst thing is a bullet wound in the stomach below the navel which is mortal. The pain is excruciating, and they howl like a shot hare. It sounds like a child screaming, and is horrible. But you see such a lot of heartrending sounds that you become accustomed to them and callous. I found a wounded Boer at Magerfontein who was shot—exactly as I was lying down—through the top of the head above the right ear; the bullet had travelled through his head and out at the back of his jaw on the left side. It had then broken his collar bone and taken a turn, travelling round his neck, and out at his side. He was not pretty to look at, but did not seem much the worse, and while I gave him water he explained to me the course of the bullet. Some of the recoveries are perfectly marvellous. I suppose the thing is over the doctors will publish some of the extraordinary cases which have passed through their hands."—London News.

The Boers Aim Low.

It is the testimony of all the correspondents at the front that the Boers have a knack of hitting one in a vulnerable part of the body. The fact is brought startlingly into prominence by the enumeration of the wounds received by 300 officers and men treated by the British hospital at Gen. Hart's brigade. Of the whole only eight received shell wounds; the others were hit by Mauser bullets, seventy-six in the upper extremity, and 118 in the lower extremity. It is little consolation to know that the wounds were humane in the extreme, they were small, and there was very little hemorrhaging. So that the number of men totally disabled may in the end prove to be comparatively small. The practice of the Boers seems to be to aim low, no doubt with the object of taking advantage of the cochet shots, which are accountable for a good deal of the peculiar mischief done to our troops.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Dangerous Sport.

The military students of Turin, Chon are a nuisance. They have a way of using one of the main streets in the city as a convenient spot for practicing archery, and we have been repeatedly obliged to edge up to the extreme edge of the footpath, to avoid possible eccentric flights of arrows.

Characteristically it never occurs to them to suspend operations for other safety or convenience, and minor accidents must not be uncommon.

A lad was brought to the hospital the other day who had been struck by an arrow just below the eye as he was edging along the highway. It was not badly hurt, and probably regarded his injury as incidental to the ordinary risks of travel on city streets.

Gastronomic Gayety.

He—Marie, I think we had better economize a little on our Christmas dinner.

She—Well, Edwin, I fancy we can all get just as sick on 50 cents' worth of mince-meat as we can on $2 worth of fruit cake.—Indianapolis Journal.

Boer Horses Well Trained.

The Boer horses are remarkably well trained animals, and when the Transvaal desire to form an ambush, or firing line, their horses are in great readiness as such as they find the reins dropped, and their feet are

WILL PROSPERITY CONTINUE.

The remarkable prosperity of the United States during the year 1899, declares the New York World, shows no prospect of any abatement. A general failure of the crops is improbable, but even if the harvests should not be as bounteous as usual this year, the country has other resources.

"Our mineral wealth," says the World, "is an element no less important than our agriculture, and its future conditions can be even more safely predicted. In iron and steel and coal and the resultant industries the year's business is asserted by all expert authority to be already fully assured, as it is in the production of gold, silver, copper and zinc."

"Our position is strengthened by the fact that our former competitors, England and Germany, are unable to meet their own demands for iron and steel, and there is a shortage in the coal supply all over Europe. Our Consul-General Mason, at Berlin, reports that in Silesia and Saxony many establishments are curtailing production and even shutting down as a result of the scarcity of coal, and that the Russian coal situation is critical. The only possible source of supply is this country."

"All this means steady employment of labor at good wages, active commerce as the result of the disbursements of the workers, ample traffic for the railroads and the expansion of our industries to meet the growing demands on them. Even the traditional bugbear of the 'Presidential year' entirely disappears in the bright prospect which is assured by every expert testimony or authority on the situation."

A. R. DEFLUENT, editor of the Journal, Doylestown, Ohio, suffered for a number of years from rheumatism in his right shoulder and side. He says: "My right arm at times was entirely useless. I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and was surprised to receive relief almost immediately. The Pain Balm has been a constant companion of mine ever since and it never fails." For sale by T. E. RARE DOCUMENTS PRESERVED.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 18.—All the State's old parchment deeds and records have been put through the Emery preserving process and returned to the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth for future keeping.

Heretofore these old records, which included a large parchment deed made July 4, 1760, between Lord Baltimore and the Penns concerning boundary lines between the provinces of Pennsylvania and Virginia, were kept in tin boxes at the State Department and through occasional handling became much disarranged and somewhat damaged.

There are two volumes of these rare old State papers, four of which contain the signatures of William Penn, founder of Pennsylvania. It has been said by some antiquarians that there are only a half dozen genuine signatures of William Penn in existence.

REV. W. E. Sitzer, W. Caton, N. Y., writes, "I had dyspepsia over twenty years, and tried doctors and medicines without benefit. I was persuaded to use Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and it helped me from the start. I believe it to be a panacea for all forms of indigestion." It digests what you eat. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed for ever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (that is caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

MARYLAND MARRIAGE LAWS.

The Ministerial Association of Cumberland, Md., has issued a circular for distribution in Maryland, the object being a change in the State code of laws pertaining to marriages. As the law stands girls of 16 may be married in the State, and this provision of law invites runaway couples from other States to Maryland, where if the age requirements were set higher many indiscreet marriages would be prevented. The proposed law provides that in the case of girls under 18 years old the written consent of parents or guardians will be sufficient cause to issue license. The new law is also made to require all statements concerning age, residence, etc., to be given under oath, either by both the parties applying for the license, or by parents or guardians, or by a justice of the peace qualified to act.

Sooner or later Maryland will improve its present marriage laws, and when it does, probably those injudicious Pennsylvania girls who permit themselves to run away to be married will be benefited more than the people of Maryland. The young man who will not protect his wife with every legal safeguard in her marriage is not a man with whom a woman may safely trust herself. The marriage license is not a license at all but is rather a record, and its chief object is to plainly establish the fact of marriage rather than to grant permission. In a few cases it may operate to interfere, but where it interferes it does so wisely, and in no place more wisely than in requiring of a 16-year-old girl the consent of her parents or guardians before her marriage is permitted.—Pittsburg Times.

MONEY FOR CHICAGO UNIVERSITY.

CHICAGO, March 20.—Two Chicago men have given $50,000 apiece to the University of Chicago within the last week. This leaves $300,000 to be raised by April 1, the date named by John D. Rockefeller as the expiration of his offer to give $2,000,000 to the institution, on condition that an equal sum be contributed by others. The names of the two men will not be made public until April 2. Mr. Rockefeller's offer of $2,000,000 was made nearly five years ago, and was on condition that an equal amount be raised by January 1, 1900. On that date the University needed $2,000,000 before it could receive the money. The recent contributions have reduced it to $300,000.

SILK NEWS.

In the early part of October, 1899, we made contracts with a leading Importer in Japanese Silks for an extraordinary quantity for Spring, which to our mind and by subsequent investigation has proven to be at very advantageous prices. Dame Fashion has recommended them as the proper silk fabric for for utility, beauty and comfort in hot weather, as well as (the novelties of which there are many) for Fancy Dress and Evening Waists. We place them on sale at once, in order to make a quick turnover at a small profit on goods that are now positively scarce in Importers hands and much higher priced than they were when we contracted. The style range includes every color in greatest variety of Corded, printed and Plain.

The price is from 25c for the old Corded Kai Kais—in New Cords and Colors up to 50c and 75c for Novelties.

All washable, and serviceable beyond any other silk fabric known to the trade at the price.

New Fancy and Plain Silks.

Having every reason to believe that this Spring Season of 1900 will be the banner year for Silk Wearing—and seeing the tendency for some time past, of much higher prices we made our plans long ago to capture the silk selling for this community. Details are difficult because of the variety. We can only say that all the New Pastel Shades, as well as all the colors you are acquainted with are here.

Plain Taffetas, same quality and width as formerly—50c and 75c. Striped and Plaid Taffetas at 75c and 85c. Corded Taffetas—in richest of color combinations, stripes 75c and $1.00. The Newest Lace Stripe Taffetas $1.00 and $1.25.

BLACK SILKS

Rich Satin Duchesse in 22 to 27 in. wide, 70c, 80c, $1, $1.25. Black Taffeta, yarn dyed, will not cut, 21 in. wide, 90c—27 in Taffeta, rich, crispy $1.—22 in. rich, lustrous and crisp, 75c.

Make comparisons with others after having seen these.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR IN ADVANCE

NOTICE.—All announcements of concerts, festivals, picnics, tea and cake parties, and similar entertainments, got up to make money, whether for churches, associations, or individuals, must be paid for at the rate of five cents for each line.

Entered as Second-Class Matter at the Emmitsburg Postoffice.

FRIDAY, MARCH 23, 1900.

Spring began Tuesday.

VINCENT SEBOLD, Esq., has had his house repainted.

A MOVEMENT is on foot to erect an opera house at Williamsport.

LAST Sunday morning was one of the coldest mornings of this winter.

CARDINAL GIBBONS preached in St. Joseph's Catholic Church last Sunday morning.

MR. JOSEPH E. HOKE has sold his butchering business to Messrs. Sebore & Jackson who will take charge of the business April 2.

MR. ROBERT S. CRAWFORD, of Hagerstown, has organized a company to work valuable coal and timber lands in Kentucky.

ISAAC HIGHERBERGER, a farmer living near Williamsport, Md., left his home several days ago to go to Hagerstown, and he has not been seen since.

ROY NEWTON, aged 9 years, of Rockville, Va., died of rabies at the City Hospital, Baltimore, being the first patient of the Pasteur Department to die.

The West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company has submitted a proposition to the Cumberland City Council looking to a settlement of the Potomac pollution controversy.

MR. L. S. ANNAN has leased his creamery establishment in this place, to the Hanover Produce Company. The company will take charge of the creamery about the first of April.

SUBSCRIBERS TO THE CHRONICLE who intend changing their postoffice address this spring, will please notify this office of such change, which will insure the prompt delivery of THE CHRONICLE.

MR. J. M. KERRIGAN has converted the second story of his shop on East Main street, into dwelling apartments. He also intends building an addition to the eastern part of the shop.

JOHN A. BARRICK, of Woodsboro, who was adjudged of unsound mind by a jury, was committed to Springfield asylum at Sykesville, by the Court, and was taken to that institution by Sheriff Troxell on Tuesday.

JAMES HARVEY died in Frostburg, aged 52 years. He was a pioneer in developing the Frostburg mining region, and was one of the original members of St. Michael's Catholic Church, Frostburg.

MR. HAMPTON BOONE, a prominent resident of Anne Arundel county, committed suicide by hanging at his home on Bodkin Creek, in the Third District. The deceased had been despondent, but no motive can be assigned for the deed.

POSTMASTER WILLIAM KOLB, Creagerstown, was prostrated and made speechless one day last week while handling mail matter in his office by a stroke of paralysis, which affected the entire right side of the body.

THE death of Mr. Thomas Anderson, for many years president of the Montgomery County Bar Association, was announced at the opening of the Circuit Court at Rockville, and Chief Judge McSherry delivered an eulogistic address.

"UNDER THE LAURELS," a drama in five acts will be rendered by a company of home talent at Spangler's Opera House, on Easter Monday night, April 16. Admission, 15, 20 and 25 cents. Remember the date and don't fail to attend this play.

MR. J. M. DULANEY, of Baltimore, had an artery severed near the wrist Wednesday morning in the State Library at Annapolis while removing a file from a shelf. Dr. F. H. Thompson, of Annapolis, and Dr. F. H. Mackie, a Delegate from Cecil county, rendered medical attendance.

A new pipe organ at Emmanuel Protestant Episcopal Church, Cumberland, costing $4,000, was dedicated Sunday evening. The music rendered was of a high order. The organist is Mr. Geo. B. Rodgers, and the choir numbered 30 voices. The church has a new sanctuary floor with marble altar steps.

A. H. HARRINGTON, census supervisor of the Sixth district of Maryland, has received over 200 applications from persons in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Montgomery and Frederick counties to become census enumerators. About 500 application blanks have been asked for. The supervisor will have about 140 enumerators to appoint, and will soon announce their names.

STILL MORE COUNTERFEITING. The Secret Service has unearthed another band of counterfeiters and secured a large quantity of bogus bills, which are so cleverly executed that the average person would never suspect them of being spurious. Things of great value are always selected by counterfeiters for imitation, notably the celebrated Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which has many imitators but no equals for indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness and general debility. The Bitters set things right in the stomach, and when the stomach is in good order it makes good blood and plenty of it. In this manner the Bitters get at the seat of strength and vitality, and restore vigor to the weak and debilitated. Beware of counterfeiters when buying.

GRACE GUMM, aged 25 years, residing at Sinclairville, W. Va., just across the Potomac river from Cumberland, took carbolic acid while in a depressed state of mind, resulting, it is said, from a lovers' quarrel. She was for a time in a critical state, but was better at latest advices.

On Thursday of last week Senator Rohrbach introduced a bill in the Senate to provide for the repair of the roads in Emmitsburg District. The bill provides for the election of road commissioners, whose duty it shall be to superintend the repairing of the roads in this District. Should this bill become a law it will be a great benefit to the people of our district.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. R. L. Annan is visiting friends in Taneytown.

Miss Kate Hartley has gone to Baltimore.

Miss Lena Ott has returned to Baltimore.

Mr. Daniel Adelsberger, of Baltimore, visited his sister, Miss Lizzie Adelsberger.

The work of remodeling the house recently purchased by Mr. P. G. King is nearing completion. The front room has been enlarged and fitted up for a store room, into which Mr. King will move his store next week. The wood work in the building is being repainted and the hall repapered, an awning has been erected in front of the building, and a small building has been erected on the west side of the house, which will be used for storing feed, etc. A number of other improvements are also being made.

TRACK SPREAD.

On Tuesday just as the trainmen on the Emmitsburg Railroad were going to run a car load of coal on the College switch, the rails spread, letting the car fall to the ground. The wheels sunk into the soft ground to a considerable depth, delaying traffic for several hours. The car was unloaded and pulled on the track, with little difficulty. No particular damage was done to car or track.

NOT DIVORCED FROM THE PEOPLE.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 18, 1900. EDITOR CHRONICLE.—I was much pleased with the article in last week's issue of your paper, entitled "Recollections of Bygone Days," excepting the "divorce" reference, which, I must confess, was to me very distasteful. I, for one, do not propose to be included in any such ex parte divorce proceedings, and before I will permit a decree of that nature to be entered I wish to be heard. My way of comment, I desire merely to observe that the statement is misleading. "What G. I. has joined together, let no man put asunder." The College is not "divorced from the people around about it," and, I am confident, from my long and intimate knowledge of and association with them that the people of the Mountain to-day are just as tenderly devoted to Mount Saint Mary's College and her magnificent traditions as in the good old days of my youth, when the Church on the Hill and her galaxy of brilliant pastors were the pride and glory of the community. There can be no question of divorce where affection is mutual and interests are identical. With best wishes I remain, Yours sincerely, A. V. D. WATTERSON.

AFTER MANY YEARS.

An ex Confederate soldier from South Carolina has sent to Postmaster James Moore, of Fairfield, a hamlet about eight miles from Gettysburg, $15 which he asked the postmaster to give to certain parties from whom the Confederates had taken some dry goods during the retreat of Lee's army after the battle of Gettysburg.

The soldier had written to Postmaster Moore some time ago and had asked him if he could find the parties from whom the goods were taken. The Confederate thought the goods had been taken illegally and said that it had been worrying him for some time. Postmaster Moore made inquiries and found the place from which the goods had been taken and wrote the Confederate with the above result. He sent the money feeling that he satisfies the demands of his conscience as to his duty to his God and the one to whom he is indebted. The Confederate made the request of the Postmaster that the names of all the parties concerned in the affair be kept secret, as he had no desire to gain notoriety from what he considered a much delayed act of duty.—Herald.

HANGED HIMSELF TO A LOCUST TREE.

Mr. Hampton Boone, a prominent resident of the Third district of Anne Arundel county, committed suicide by hanging himself to a tree, in front of his home, near Lake Shore, on Monday afternoon. The scene of the tragedy is not more than a mile and an eighth from the point on the Magdohy river where the body of the unknown young woman was found floating last week. The two affairs had not the slightest connection, however, although the motive of the suicide is a mystery. Mr. Boone was thirty seven years of age, unmarried, and was a truck farmer. He had been low spirited and despondent for some time, but nothing was thought of it, and his act was a great surprise. A large locust tree stands in front of his house, and it was to this that he walked, about two o'clock on Monday afternoon to accomplish his purpose. He carried a plow line with him, and fastened one end of this about a limb of the tree, and the other about his neck. He climbed the tree and then dropped off, death coming from strangulation.

Members of the family discovered the dangling body shortly after the commission of the deed, and quickly cut it down. His feet were hanging close to the ground when found. The dead man was about five feet ten inches in height, and weighed 165 pounds. Coroner Dunlap, who had given the deceased his early schooling, investigated the affair, and decided that an inquest was not necessary.

A JUNK-SHOP STOMACH.

Prof. William S. Halsted, of the Johns Hopkins University and Hospital, Baltimore, last Friday performed one of the strangest operations on record. He cut into the abdomen of a man, opened his stomach and removed some of the most remarkable objects ever taken from a man's stomach. These included knives, forks, nails, tacks, watch chains, dog chains, glasses, knife handles and similar things.

Arthur Shutt, who said he was by "profession" a "human ostrich," and "man with a cast-iron stomach," was the subject of the operation. He was admitted to the hospital on Tuesday. He complained of a gripping pain in his stomach and abdomen and said he had been vomiting a dark-colored liquid. He told the physician who examined him that he never had any severe disease, but had when a child suffered from the common ailments of children, measles, whooping cough and malaria. Last year he had a two-months' attack of rheumatism in his knees and hips which kept him in bed. His appetite had not been as good as it should be of late. He said he was a fairly regular drinker of whisky, but not to excess, and smoked some.

When questioned further by the physician he confessed that he had been in the habit of chewing such heavy articles as tacks, nails, glass and similar odds and ends, but professed never to have swallowed them before last Saturday.

Saturday, the 10th, he met a number of students, so he said, and boasted to them of his ability to chew and swallow glass and ten-penny nails. He was with them from 7 o'clock in the morning until 2 o'clock in the morning of Sunday. He swallowed the entire broken pieces of a beer glass and a quarter of a pound of ten-penny nails and a box of No. 14 tacks before his interested spectators. He said he did not intend to swallow them, but merely chew them. His audience, however, jeered him so that he swallowed all of them.

Shortly before Shutt was put under the anesthetic he complained of a severe pain, which he described as "something like a saw working its way down my digestive tract." He was then given ether by two of the hospital physicians and then placed on the operating table. Dr. Halsted made a quick incision with his operating knife into the skin and muscles.

Several assistants, dressed in aseptic clothing, with white caps and white gloves and rubber gloves, all of which had been sterilized in boiling water, handed Professor Halsted the sterilized instruments. He was likewise dressed in a pure white duck suit and cap and wore rubber gloves.

After the skin and muscles were laid back, Dr. Halsted cut into the stomach and exposed its contents. The first thing taken out was a dog chain nearly five yards long, then several knife blades, a pearl knife handle, a common watch chain, screws, tacks, nails of all sizes, spoons, pieces of glass, button-hooks, wire, needles and objects that would make a good turn green with envy.

The stomach was then cleansed out with a warm sterilized solution. The two flaps of the stomach were tenderly brought together and sewed with catgut strings. In like manner the muscles and skin were sewed together.—Sun.

ROADS AND BRIDGES.

At Monday afternoon's session of the Board of County Commissioners a number of delegations were before the board with petitions for the opening of new roads and the building of new bridges in various parts of the county. A petition for the opening of a new road in Emmitsburg district, near Mt. St. Mary's College, was presented and a committee consisting of Messrs. G. A. Dean, Singleton Ramsburg and James O. Harne was appointed to visit the locality, and April 20 was settled upon as the day on which to make the trip.

Another petition, to open a new road from Licksville to Tuscarora station, in Buckeystown district, was presented, and the entire board, as a committee, will go over the line of the proposed road on April 30.

A number of taxpayers of Jefferson and Burkettsville districts were before the board asking that a bridge be built across Catocin creek at Boyer's ford.

A committee from Mt. Pleasant district petitioned for a bridge across Cabbage run. An estimate of the cost of a new Female High School building was received from a local contractor, which the board would not make public, but stated that it was their opinion that the estimate was too high. Other estimates will be furnished the board.

A large gang of tramps have located along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad near Everts Creek, about three miles east of Cumberland, and it is thought that the petty thieving which has been going on in South Cumberland and the hold up and beating of an old man named Davidson last week, were the work of this gang. Monday night two colored men reported that they had been held up by four of their own race, who pointed revolvers at them and then relieved them of their money, taking $10 from one man and $15 from the other.

THE COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

At Tuesday evening's session of the House of Delegates the committee made the following report:

"The committee appointed to investigate the charges of bribery made against the present Legislature has completed its investigation into the charges made by Mayor Hays, of Baltimore city, and find from the evidence the following:

"First—That Mayor Hays' statements in the public press charging that the members of the House were being corruptly influenced to vote against a bill known as the Telephone bill were based on (a) the statement of Mr. John Real, a member of the Baltimore city delegation, and (b) the statements by telegram from a certain Jacob Schonfarber and a certain William Russell, whom he had instructed to remain in Annapolis to watch the progress of the Telephone bill.

"Second—We find that the statement of John Real is such that it would be absolutely impossible to base a charge such as was made by Mayor Hays upon, for the reason that the person who attempted to bribe Mr. Real was unknown to him and is still unknown to him and had no connection with the telephone company that we can ascertain.

"Third—We find that the statements made by Messrs. Russell and Schonfarber were mere expressions of their individual opinion, unsupported by any definite fact whatever.

"Fourth—We find that Mayor Hays made his charges before he knew of the existence of the Hofferker letter given in evidence, and that there is nothing in said letter criminal or of which this House can take cognizance.

"Your committee begs leave to further report that it has gone into the matter thoroughly and has examined every witness who knows or was supposed to know any fact upon which said charges were based; and further, that the said charges made by Mayor Hays were recklessly and wantonly made, without any sufficient or warrantable reason.

"We submit herewith all the evidence taken before the committee upon which we have based our findings. This, being a charge made by a municipal official in this State, has been investigated first, and we suggest that any further investigation begun by the committee of its own motion without any definite charges before it would entail useless labor in investigating, with no appreciable result to the committee, the effort submits to the House this report and leaves the matter of its continuance or dissolution in the hands of this honorable body.

"Respectfully submitted,

J. H. WALKER, Chairman.

"C. C. WATERS, Secretary."

The report was adopted and the committee discharged.

TERRIBLY BURNED.

Mrs. Breckenridge Shaw, of Frederick, now lies in a critical condition as the result of burns sustained in her efforts to extinguish the fire caused by an overturned coal stove on Friday afternoon last. Mrs. Shaw was sitting in the room where her children were playing when her seven-year-old boy ran against the stove and overturned it. Oil was thrown about the room and the carpet took fire. In her efforts to put out the fire her clothing ignited, but she had the presence of mind to pick up the blazing stove and throw it into the yard. Two men were attracted to the scene by the outcries, but before they could render assistance, Mrs. Shaw was burned from head to foot, and she is now in a critical condition. Her chief anxiety, when she regained consciousness, was for her infant child who was in the room at the time of the accident. It was, however, unharmed, she herself sustaining all the injuries.

We have saved many doctor bills since we began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in our home. We keep a bottle open all the time and whenever any of my family or myself begin to catch cold we begin to use the Cough Remedy, and as a result we never have to send away for a doctor and incur a large doctor bill, for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy never fails to cure. It is certainly a medicine of great merit and worth.—D. S. MEARLE, General Merchant and Farmer, Mattie, Bedford county, Pa. For sale by T. E. Zimmerman & Co., Druggists.

GOLDEN JUBILEE.

Celebration at St. Joseph's Academy in Honor of The Community Founded By Mother Seton.

For The Chronicle. For the past few days, there has been an unusual stir in the quiet atmosphere of Emmitsburg, St. Joseph's Academy, the central figure standing out in strong relief amid the wintry surroundings. The snow deposited by the recent heavy storm upon the Blue Ridge, drifting from the Mountain had decked the Valley below as a bride for her Golden Jubilee.

The occasion was one of solemnity and joy, for the celebration was intended to honor and perpetuate the remembrance of the affiliation of the community founded by Mother Seton in the United States, with that of St. Vincent de Paul in France, which affiliation was consummated in the spring of 1850. Three sisters, originally from the United States, but for the past thirty years and more resident members of the religious family at Paris, had been deputed to take part in the celebration; they arrived at Emmitsburg a few days previously. These three Sisters are originally from the South, two of them being the daughters of the late Governor Roman, of Louisiana.

On Saturday evening, 17th instant, a chartered car from Baltimore, brought His Eminence Cardinal Gibbons and his suite: Very Rev. A. L. Magnien, Very Rev. P. McHale, C. M., Very Rev. J. J. Sullivan, C. M., and Rev. J. W. Moore, C. M.; the last named representing the Very Rev. James McGill, who resides at Germantown and is Visitor of the Congregation of the Mission.

At 7 A. M., on Sunday the Cardinal said Mass at St. Joseph's, Miss Alice Galvin, daughter of Mr. Thomas F. Galvin, of Boston, receiving her first communion from the great prelate. At the vesper service in the afternoon, attended by Very Rev. R. A. Lennon, C. M., Director and Superior of the Sisters of Charity in the United States, and Very Rev. P. McHale, C. M., of Niagara University, His Eminence administered the sacrament of confirmation to Misses H. and A. Galvin, M. Floyd, E. Goldsmith, I. Burkhardt, K. Evans, A. Moore, E. McAuley, and A. Madero. His Eminence in a few words full of action impressed his youthful hearers with the necessity and efficacy of prayer as the most powerful weapon to shield and protect them in the spiritual warfare in which every Christian must engage. He exhorted them to offer to God the only unmortgaged property left entirely to the disposal of the creature by the Creator—the gift of free will. The most perfect act of religion being the entire submission of our human will to the Divine will.

At 7 P. M., the following program was faultlessly rendered by the young ladies of the Academy, in their grand Commencement Hall, decorated with gold and white, the Jubilee colors, and a tinge of red to honor the presence of the representative of Bishop Carroll, Cardinal Gibbons, now Primate of the United States.

Entertainment by The Young Ladies of The Academy.

Grand Triumphal March, Gounod; Poem—original, Tribute to Mother Seton; Vocal Solo, Land of Yesterday; Poem—original, Tribute to Very Rev. Louis R. Deloul; Physical Culture Exercises; Jubilee Ode—original, Chorus; Essay—illustrated, Past, Present and Future; Jerusalem, Written by Mother Seton.

His Eminence Cardinal Gibbons, the Reverend Clergy, and others associated with the Academy were present. The distinguished faculty of Mt. St. Mary's, no doubt, appreciated the graceful and delicate compliment implied in a reference to that Institution in the closing stanza of The Tribute to Mother Seton:

"Traditions old—heart memories dear, Saint Mary's Mount should in our greeting share; For Mount of Vale hath blessings shed; Time-honored Nursery of Helms, fitting shrine May Federal Cross still grace your crowded And Seton's spirit o'er the world be spread."

The essay was illustrated by stereoscopic slides, placing before the audience most vividly the history of the community from its foundation to the present date. Among the views presented were the portraits of Elizabeth Ann Bailey, afterwards Mother Seton, Messrs. Antonio Filiechi, Samuel Cooper, the earliest benefactors of the remarkable women, so closely identified with the Catholic History of Maryland; also those members of the clergy mainly instrumental in carrying out the designs of Providence, regarding the Community of Sisters of Charity in the United States of America, Fathers Du Bourg, Du Bois, Brute and Deloul. A very pleasing feature of the entertainment was the presenting at the close, the portrait of His Eminence, which elicited an outburst of delightful surprise and applause.

Pontifical Mass.

Celebrant of the Mass, His Eminence James Cardinal Gibbons; Assistant Priest, Very Rev. A. L. Magnien, S. S. D. D., Rector of St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore, Md.; Deacons of Honor to His Eminence, Very Rev. W. L. O'Hara, President of Mt. St. Mary's College, Very Rev. J. J. Sullivan, C. M., President of St. John's Seminary, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Deacon of the Mass, Rev. J. J. Tierney, D. D.; Sub-Deacon of the Mass, Rev. D. J. Flynn; Preacher, Very Rev. P. McHale, C. M., President of Niagara University, N. Y.; Masters of Ceremonies, Rev. P. J. Henson, Rev. P. J. Durean; Processional Hymn, Dielman; Mass, Dielman; Offertory—Regna Terrae, Curto; Recessional—Te Deum, Lambdillo.

Besides those who participated in the ceremonies, the Very Rev. Director and Fathers Moore and Judge occupied seats in the Sanctuary. The sermon was a masterful effort of Sacred eloquence, proving that the union effected through Father Deloul by Father

Etienne was the final realization of the institutions and well-known desires of the venerated Foundress, Mother Seton. All listened with intense interest as the learned orator traced back to the earliest existence of the community, the evident anticipation of and preparation for that union, one of the most notable advantages resulting from which was to secure permanency to the Institute amid the vicissitudes of time which every good work must encounter. Father McHale dwelt especially upon the admirable economy of Divine Providence evinced in the fact that the Spirit of St. Vincent de Paul possesses the distinctive characteristic of the Church of Christ, its unity in variety, and variety in unity and which by its expansiveness and universality is adopted to every nationality.

In the forenoon of Monday, a cablegram was received from Rome, conferring the Papal benediction for the occasion of this Golden Jubilee. This exceptional favor had been solicited by Most Honored Mother Kieffer, Superioress of the Community at Paris. In a touching letter addressed to Mother Mariana, Visitatrix of the Province, Mother Kieffer had already presented her congratulations The Very Rev. A. Fiat, Superior General had also in a circular letter offered his felicitations to the American Community.

The solemn evening service filled up the measure of thankfulness for the beautiful heaven-sent festivities of March 19, 1900.

Pontifical Vespers.

Magnificat, Gloria; O Salutaris, Baumbach; Te Ad Joseph, Dressler; Tantum Ergo, Choultz; Laudate Dominum; Closing Hymn—Jerusalem.

HARNEY ITEMS.

HARNEY, March 21.—Communion services were held in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, in this place on Sunday.

Rev. J. O. Clippinger has returned from the Pennsylvania U. M. Conference, which convened at Shirmantown. He has again been appointed pastor of this circuit. This is Rev. Clippinger's fourth year here which is proof that he is well liked and performs his duties, spiritual and financial, well.

Mr. Josiah Hann has accepted the sextonship at the U. B. Church, the former having been vacated by Mr. A. B. Herr.

Miss Mabel Lampert, a graduate of Milton Academy, Taneytown, is taking Mr. J. A. Angel's place as teacher of the public school at Pine Creek.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hawk is saddened by the death of their only son, Master Roy, who was about 12 years old. Interment on Monday in Lutheran cemetery at Taneytown.

One of the best Ghost Comedies took place among some of our Milton Academy boys who board in Taneytown and we believe this little incident, which was so well performed, ought to be sufficient proof for the superstitious, that there is no such thing as ghosts, and that no matter how real such things to some appear, if it were properly searched into and known there is always some cause aside from spiritual for which some people call ghosts. The boys, with the exception of the one they wished to scare, went to the room, fastened a white string to the chair and placed these strings under the door to an operator on the other side; then one of the boys dressed in white, got under the bed. He had a comb and piece of tissue paper which served as the spirit's musical instrument. After all the boys were in bed they got up the ghost talk, and in a short time all the intended spirits began to move, chairs danced across the room, a noise was heard, the ghost appeared, gave the bed several gentle upheavals, also started the inmate in the face. The poor fellow was so badly scared that he could scarcely speak and was unable to see. He told it as a reality, and such is the case with all who think they see or hear ghosts.

Mr. Nerven Eyler while sleighing to Taneytown the other day met with a serious upset and runaway. Mervin was scared, however, worse than injured.

A gentleman last week while coming toward Harney met with a serious break up. The horse upset the sleigh and broke it all to pieces. You can see the remains lying along the road. Mr. T. J. Hess spent a few days last week across the mountain. Miss Serena Degroff, of Washington, D. C., is visiting her parents. Mr. John L. Ohler, of Johnsville, is visiting his parents in Harney.

GREENMOUNT ITEMS.

Mr. H. P. Bigham is able to be about again.

The creeks were very high Monday owing to the melting snow. Our new miller at Hoffman's Mill moved on Monday last. However, Mr. D. P. Sentz will be retained as miller for sometime.

Mr. Emory Weaver who severely cut his foot several days ago is getting along very well and is now able to walk.

Sales in this neighborhood are about over for this spring. Stock sold well.

Mrs. Joseph Felix, of Fairplay, is visiting at Waynesboro.

While Mr. J. T. Weiker was in H. P. Bigham's store last week his horse attached to a spring wagon started to run, and making too short a turn in front of the store, caught the hitching post, breaking the shafts and otherwise damaging the wagon. The horse was caught in front of Riley & Rider's store, about two hundred yards distant. Mr. W. had not tied the horse.

MRS. JARBOE'S ESTATE.

The will of Mrs. Margaret Jarboe, of Lime Kiln, Frederick county, who died on the 10th inst., was filed for probate in the Orphan's Court Saturday. She leaves all her personal property, valued at from $15,000 to $18,000, to her grand-children. Her husband, Thomas R. Jarboe, died a few years ago intestate, when a two-thirds interest in his three large farms passed to their only child, Mrs. Charles Rohrbach. Now that the mother is dead Mrs. Rohrbach falls heir to the mother's one-third interest in the farms. Mrs. Rohrbach is named as guardian for her children's estate.

DEATH FROM EXPOSURE.

Elijah Hackett, a young colored man, aged about twenty one years, was found propped to death about half a mile from Norwood Postoffice, Montgomery county, Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock by Ernest Gregg, farm tenant of Thomas Waters of S. Hackett was seen in Norwood about 7 o'clock in a very intoxicated condition. He started for the farm of J. Janey Shoemaker, by whom he was employed as a farm laborer. He was found on the side of the road, lying on his face, where he had evidently laid down in the snow and gone to sleep. The snow, which fell rapidly Thursday night, had almost completely covered the body. Acting Coroner A. F. Fairall, of Sandy Spring, was notified and summoned a jury, which rendered a verdict of death from exposure.

It is very hard to stand idly by and see our dear ones suffer while awaiting the arrival of the doctor. An Albany (N. Y.) dairyman called at a drug store there for a doctor to come and see his child, then very sick with the croup. Not finding the doctor in, he left word for him to come at once on his return. He also bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which he hoped would give some relief until the doctor should arrive. In a few hours he returned, saying the doctor need not come, as the child was much better. The druggist, Mr. Otto Scholz, says the family has since recommended Chamber
