FLORAL FANCIES. TYPES OF BEAUTY.

For The Chronicle.
There are bluebell buds and blossoms, Violets, primroses fair; There are daisies in the meadows, Ox-eyed daisies everywhere. So the world is full of childhood, Girlhood like that primrose there, There are milkmaids in the meadows, Ox-eyed milkmaids everywhere.

And the roses, bloom the roses, White coquettes and early blush, Crimson bouillons, yellow ramblers, Soft the winds their petals touch. So the sweetest and the dearest Are like roses on the bush; Belles and little blushing maidens, Queens and maids with golden touch.

Like a stately only lily, Like a pearl set solitaire, Like a Scandinavian princess Perfected, with golden hair, She once lived; then drifted over Snow wreaths to Valhalla fair, Slight her transportation thither, Freja of the golden hair.

FERN BOUND.
A fountain deep with imagery Of pine and cedar, twist and turn, Like to a mossy azale set Within a tracery of fern. Deep set upon the mountain's breast, A jewel fit for Nature's queen, And down her robes an arabesque Of fern and flower, red and green.

Dear Mother Earth, let me repose, Folded with gathers of the fern, I'll drink to solitude and thee, Ere to the haunts of man I turn. Some day thy arms shall open wide, And lock me in a close embrace; What if, well wrapped with fern and flower, No man shall mark my resting place!

THE ROSE WITHOUT A NAME.
The wild rose through the lattice saw the dainty Isabelle, The white rose Isabelle, And many came and her compared like to a perfect shell, A perfect ocean shell. She died upon a lover's breast and then Elmira came, And painted on a teacup rare the rose without a name, The rose without a name.

WHERE SELFISHNESS PAYS.

The Self-Denying Man In Society Not Always Popular.
"You may say what you like, dear granny, about Jack doing his duty in society and making himself liked," quoth a young lady of the period, "but all the same, an out-and-out selfish man is much more popular than an unselfish creature who is always trying to please people. Take Rupert C., for instance. He never for one instant dreams of consulting anyone but himself; he never goes where he does not want to, never accepts an invitation without finding out whether the 'crowd' that is going is completely to his mind, and never talks to a girl or dances with her longer than he likes. The consequence is, as he is really an attractive man, and can be extremely agreeable if he chooses, everyone is flattered by his attentions, and the women who give affairs are always anxious to secure him."

"On the other hand, there is Willie S., who is fairly good looking, and who, probably, is quite as intelligent and talks as well as Rupert C., and yet he is always considered as a last resort. No girl likes to dance the cotillon or to go to supper with him, because it looks as if she could get no one else, and he is never asked out to house parties or smart dinners unless there is a place to be filled up, and it all comes because he began his social career unselfishly. He acquired the reputation of dancing with all the neglected girls, and, of course, we all felt that to be seen with him meant that we might be considered as wallflowers, so none of the girls wanted to have him as a partner. Then, everyone said he went wherever he was asked without discrimination, and hostesses felt it was no compliment when he accepted their invitations. The consequence is, he has quite ruined himself socially. So, granny dear, it sounds very sweet of you to preach to Jack, and to tell him to be chivalrous and always rescue the neglected, but, unfortunately, the world is so constituted nowadays that a knight who rescues distressed damsels is very 'moyen age,' indeed, and does not work it at all well with up-to-date society!"—New York Tribune.

DISPENSICANT CANNOT BE LONG LIVED.

because to live requires nourishment. Food is not nourishing unless it is digested. A disordered stomach cannot digest food, it must have assistance. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests all kinds of food without aid from the stomach, allowing it to rest and regain its natural functions. Its elements are exactly the same as the natural digestive fluids and it simply can't help but do you good. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

SELDOM has a better chance for "stay-at-home traveling" been offered than in 'The Ladies' Home Journal' for July. From West Point, as pictured by George Gibbs on the cover, readers may go with W. L. Taylor to see "A Busy Boston Street at High Noon"; next try "Goin' Fishin'" with Joe Jefferson in Florida; then travel out West with Ernest Seton-Thompson to see "The Mother Teal and the Overland Route"; next go along the Atlantic Coast to find out how the places "Where Our Country Began" look to day; then seek Northern Michigan to hear "The Story of a Maple Tree," by William Javenport Hulbert; next visit an Eastern magazine editor's office and enjoy the good humored rillery of "The Case Against the Editor," by Edward Bok; and finally see what "The County of Sheridan's Ride" looks like nowadays. There are many other articles of equal interest on various subjects. By The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

CALL AT T. E. ZIMMERMAN & Co's drug store and get a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They are an elegant physic. They also improve the appetite, strengthen the digestion and regulate the liver and bowels. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect.

PROVED HE'D SEEN ONE.

He was rather the worse for speak-easy liquor when he faced the magistrate in the Central Police Court, and it didn't require a rich brogue to indicate his ancestry. The remnant of a fighting Sunday jag had left him very loquacious.
"What is your name?" asked the magistrate.
"Michael O'Halloran," was the reply.
"What is your occupation?"
"Phwat's that?"
"What is your occupation?"
"What work do you do?"
"O'm a sailar."
The magistrate looked incredulous.
"I don't believe you ever saw a ship," he said.
"Didn't Oi, thin," said the prisoner. "An' phwat da yiz t'ink Oi cum over in, a back?"
After that it went hard with Michael.—Philadelphia Record.

BETTER IF HE HAD.

Coming home rather late one night old Jones discovered a country yokel with a lantern standing by the kitchen door.
"Young man," said he, "what are you doing here?"
"I've come a-courting, sar."
"A-courting? What do you mean?"
"Well, I'm a follower of Mary, the kitchen maid, sar."
"Do you usually carry a lantern when you are on such errands?" asked the old man sarcastically.
"Yes, sar, all ways."
"Don't tell me such nonsense. You had better be off quickly—courting with a lantern, indeed! In my young days I never used such a thing."
"No, sar," replied the yokel, sidling off; "judging by your missus, I shouldn't think yer did."—London King.

AN EXTREME CASE OF THE CULT.

"Young Mr. Dingle tells me that he is extremely fond of the poetry of Sir Walter Scott," remarked Wintergreen to Tenterhook.
"Yes, I know; but he carries his fondness too far," replied the latter.
"In what way?"
"Well, he's a chicken fancier, as perhaps you know."
"Well?"
"And he has named his best egg producer 'The Last Minstrel.'"
"Queer name for a hen."
"I should articulate! But that's Dingle exactly. Gave his hen that name so that he could have the lay of 'The Last Minstrel' every morning for breakfast."—Pittsburg Commercial Gazette.

THE other day we hired a new office boy. And on the very first day he leaped into prominence as a full-fledged newspaper man. An afternoon paper recently offered 50 cents apiece for jokes. The Plain Dealer's new boy wrote out two, took them to the office of the afternoon paper, received a crisp $1 bill, and, coming back with an impish grin on his face, told of his success. "But where did you get the jokes?" asked the city editor. "Oh! I heard 'em at the Cleveland Theatre week before last," said the youth.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE honeymoon was over and they were keeping house. At the first breakfast she got him he sipped at his cup and then gravely turned up his trousers. "Is your coffee right, darling," she murmured. "Yes, precious, but a little muddy."—Philadelphia Press.

GOTHAM—Did you hear about my wife? Church—No. "Why, she was ordering tickets for the performance of 'Götterdämmerung' at the opera house, and the telephone company threatened to take out the telephone if she didn't stop her profanity over the wire."—Yonkers Statesman.

Keep Your Bowels Strong.

Constipation or diarrhoea when your bowels are out of order. Cascarets Candy Cathartic will make them act naturally. Genuine tablets stamped C. C. C. Never sold in bulk. All druggists, rec.

THE new director was positively

revolutionary in his devices.
"Instead of paying all this money to detectives for catching defaulters," said he, "why not use it to effect such an increase of salaries as would place our help beyond the necessity to defalcate?"
The old directors sneered wittingly.
"You evidently don't understand bank clerks," said they. "Why, if we were to raise wages that way, probably almost every man in the house would fall dead, and then there should be?"
This made the new director feel very foolish, of course.—Detroit Journal.

EDWARD WHYMPER, the British mountain climber, intends to spend the coming summer with Swiss guides among the Rocky Mountains of Canada. He will endeavor to ascend a number of peaks that have not yet been climbed, and he has particularly in view Mount Assiniboine, a fine peak about twenty miles south of the Canadian Pacific Railroad. It is nearly 12,000 feet high, bears a remarkable resemblance to the Matterhorn and is apparently inaccessible on all sides. Several attempts to ascend this mountain have failed.

THE whole island of New York was originally bought of the Indians for an equivalent of about twenty-five dollars. To-day New York has a population of about 3,500,000, which is exceeded by only one other city—London. Its wealth is enormous; its annual expenditures are more than twice those of the Republic of Mexico, and almost one-third as much as those of the German Empire with its population of 52,000,000. And it has become the financial center of the world—July Ladies' Home Journal.

A PARISIAN dentist proposed to use a phonograph, rolling off gay tunes, while putting the patient under the influence of gas. His theory is that this would counteract the effect of outside noises which generally produce such terrifying nightmares before the gas has had full effect. It has been suggested in the French Academy of Medicine that this method might be employed with beneficial effect in operations which are conducted under ether or chloroform to do away with the risk of the after effect of nervous depression.

"YOUR son," said the teacher, "has missed it on arithmetic." "Yes." "No good at spelling." "Yes." "A dunce in history." "Yes." "And there's no good in him." "Professor," said the farmer, "have you ever heard that boy cussin' of a Georgy mule, under a brillin' sun, in a ten-acre field."—Atlanta Constitution.

"THE doctors told me my cough was incurable. One Minute Cough Cure made me a well man." Norris Silver, North Stratford, N. H. Because you've not found relief from a stubborn cough, don't despair. One Minute Cough Cure has cured thousands and it will cure you. Safe and sure. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

"I AM unfamiliar with American custom," said one European nobleman to another. "What is the usual mode of procedure in marrying an heiress?" "It is very simple. You tell the lady how much you love her and her father how much you owe."—Washington Star.

"It is my opinion," said one sage, "that a man who has a college degree is very likely to be successful in life."
"Yes," answered the other; "and it is a rule that works both ways. A man who is successful in life is very likely to get a college degree."—Washington Star.

EARLY in April there were lying at the stations of three Russian railroads, waiting to be forwarded, 27,000 carload of grain, equal to about 12,000,000 bushels, much of which had been waiting for months. Complaints that railroad are not able to handle their traffic are common in Russia.

FRIDAY, JUNE 28, 1901.

AD ELBERT HAY KILLED.

Adelbert Stone Hay, former Counsel of the United States at Pretoria, South Africa, and eldest son of Secretary of State John Hay, fell from a window in the third story of the New Haven House, in New Haven, Conn., shortly before 2:30 last Sunday morning and was instantly killed.

His death occurred on the eve of the Yale commencement, which took him to New Haven, and in which, by virtue of his class office, the young man would have been one of the leaders.

The full details of the accident may never be known.

Mr. Hay had rooms at the New Haven House for commencement week. It is generally supposed that after going to his room he went to the window for air and, sitting on the sill, he dozed off and, overbalancing, fell to the pavement below, a fall of fully 60 feet. The fall resulted in instant death, and within 15 minutes the body had been identified as that of young Hay. How it all happened immediately became a matter of speculation on the part of the throng of curious spectators who gathered and a subject of mournful inquiry for the classmates and friends of the young man.

TO ACCOMMODATE those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation. Cream Balm is quickly absorbed by the membrane and does not dry up the secretions but changes them to a natural and healthy character. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

SOLD TO PENNSYLVANIA COMPANY.
PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—The actual purchaser of the underwriting syndicate's holdings of the Pennsylvania Steel Company stocks was made public to-day by Effingham B. Morris, a member of the executive committee of the company and one of those who negotiated the sale. The purchaser was the Pennsylvania Company, owned and controlled by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. Mr. Morris also announced that the Pennsylvania Company has secured, by purchases of stock and warrants in the open market, a controlling interest in the Cambria Steel Company.

SECRET DIED WITH HIM.
DENVER, Col., June 23.—Larkin M. Ford, a pioneer miner, last night died in poverty and before his death was unable to reveal a secret for which he was promised $1,000,000.
He died at the county hospital, where he was removed a week ago, after closing negotiations for selling the process of extracting gold from ore without the intervention of the smelter, for $1,000,000, which was to be paid as soon as the experiment was successfully demonstrated. Two experts from the East came to apply the test. The day they reached Denver and before they found the humble quarter of Ford, the latter was stricken with hemorrhage of the brain. From that time the visitors alternated at the bedside, hopeful that an interval might yield the secret of the dying man.

BLESSING THE CROPS.
A curious old custom has been revived at the village of Castlereagh, in Norfolk—that of blessing the crops. The parishioners gathered at the church and formed in procession, headed by the vicar and choir. After parading the village they proceeded to visit the fields of growing corn, at one of which a service was held, hymns sung, and a blessing pronounced by the vicar on the crops of the parish. The procession then returned to the church, singing recessional hymns by the way, and dispersed after receiving benediction.—London Globe.

ELECTRIC RAILWAY.

On May 21 the Baltimore, Westminster and Gettysburg Railroad Company was chartered to build an electric railroad in Carroll, Howard, Montgomery, Frederick and Baltimore counties. The capital stock is $750,000. The company will build roads from Reisterstown, Md., through Hampstead and Manchester to Hanover, Pa., and from Reisterstown through Westminster and Littlestown to Gettysburg, Pa. Branch roads will be built from Westminster to Washington, D. C., and from Gettysburg to Chambersburg, Pa., thence through Shippensburg, Carlisle and Mechanicsburg to Harrisburg, and from Mechanicsburg to Dillsburg, York Springs, Hampton, East Berlin, Abbottstown, New Oxford to Hanover, making in all a distance of about 168 miles.

The incorporators are I. A. Sweigard, formerly general manager of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company; William H. Bartlett and R. L. Purcell, Atlantic City, N. J.; Thomas E. Durham, Ellwood Becker, H. L. Chandler, G. A. Knoblauch, all of Pennsylvania, and Charles E. Fink, of Westminster, Md. Charters have been granted to Mr. Fink for the construction of the roads in Pennsylvania.

Franchises have been obtained in the towns through which the roads will pass, and several contracts for lighting the streets have been secured and options obtained on the turnpike over which the roads will pass.

UTILIZATION OF WASTE.
Every year chemistry, helped by mechanical ingenuity, enables us to find use and profit in by-products that were formerly in the way. In the oil business, for example, kerosene and vaseline were almost the only products sent to market. Crude oil contains on the one side oils lighter than kerosene, such as gasolene, naphtha, and on the other side products much heavier than kerosene, such as paraffin. At one time all these by-products were waste, now all are utilized. By first distillation the lighter oils are freed and collected, then the kerosene is distilled, leaving a product that is worked over into hard paraffin and soft paraffin or vaseline. A heavy oil left after the collecting of the paraffin is used for lubricating and fuel oil, much of it being made into car and axle grease. After all these processes a solid mass of carbon is left in the retorts, and this is used to a considerable extent in making carbon sticks for electric light.

BLESSING THE CROPS.
A curious old custom has been revived at the village of Castlereagh, in Norfolk—that of blessing the crops. The parishioners gathered at the church and formed in procession, headed by the vicar and choir. After parading the village they proceeded to visit the fields of growing corn, at one of which a service was held, hymns sung, and a blessing pronounced by the vicar on the crops of the parish. The procession then returned to the church, singing recessional hymns by the way, and dispersed after receiving benediction.—London Globe.

A CARROLL COUNTY SNAKE.

John Fridinger, an employee of the Westminster Electric Light Company, is authority for a remarkable snake story. Mr. Fridinger is the owner of a little farm in a rather out-of-the-way part of Myers district, in Carroll county, and a few days ago paid a visit to the place on his wheel. As he was returning along the country road, which is depressed below the surrounding ground and lined on both sides by undergrowth and dense forests, he heard a whistle in the woods, which he supposed came from some person signaling him to stop. He was confirmed in this opinion by hearing a rustling noise among the bushes, and slowed up until his wheel had come to a standstill. Suddenly from the bank above him a huge black snake darted toward him, with head erect and open jaws. Instinctively he drew up his leg on the side toward the reptile, or, he says, it would have struck him. As it was the snake struck the wheel instead. The rider quickly forged ahead, and when Mr. Fridinger had gained what he supposed was a safe distance he slowed up, and, looking back, says he saw that the reptile which had assaulted him was a monster in size for this locality. Its head hung down in the ditch by the roadside and its body and tail stretched across to the other side of the road, a distance of 10 feet. Mr. Fridinger concluded that a nearer view of his snakeship was not desirable, and sped on his way to the city. Old residents say that the snake has been seen in the neighborhood for years.

MASON AND DIXON LINE.
The monuments of the Mason and Dixon boundary line between Pennsylvania and Maryland have suffered severely from the attacks of vandals, and they will soon be replaced with cast-iron markers.
Rapid progress is now being made on the relocation of the line. The eastern portion was originally marked by stone monuments at equal distances of one mile. Many of these stones were removed or destroyed. The western portion, owing to the great difficulty at that time in the region traversed by the line, was marked by wooden posts, set on the spot, and secured in place by mounds of earth or stone piled around them. These posts have disappeared, but some of the mounds remain. Many of them have been destroyed by cultivation of the ground. It is believed, though, that enough of them can be recovered to enable the relocation of the boundary with precision.
The Pennsylvania Legislature has appropriated $7,000 to reset and repair the boundary monuments and the Maryland Legislature $5,000. Dr. W. C. Clark, of Baltimore, is co-operating with Secretary of Internal Affairs Latta, of Pennsylvania, in directing the work.

The police of Hagerstown were instructed by Mayor Schindel to rigidly enforce the ordinance forbidding fast riding on bicycles.

Jacob Harmon, aged 81 years, living on a farm west of Hagerstown, plowed an 18 acre field, prepared it and planted corn, despite his old age.

Robert Lewis, colored, created some excitement at Pinto, Md., by emptying his revolver at two women, neither of whom was struck. He afterwards escaped to the mountains.

PK-MAR Park was opened for the season on Saturday last. Several thousand people were on the grounds. Excursions were run from Baltimore, York, Waynesboro and Hagerstown.

Victor Cushman & Sons, of Hagerstown, were awarded by the United States Government the contract to furnish 2,000 tons of soft coal for the Government Indian School at Carlisle, Pa.

Robert Lewis, a negro, shot several times at a negro named Kate Preston, who was collecting money for church purposes at Pinto, Baltimore and Ohio camp of laborers. Lewis escaped.

The Board of Tax Commissioners of Frederick County during its two weeks' sitting added $70,000 worth of property to the taxable basis of the city, most of which was personal property.

Alfred Peterson, the fourteen year old son of Frank J. Peterson, 1021 Woodly street, Baltimore, who ran away from home eight months ago, returned and told the story of his wanderings.

Frederick city officials are after the dogs. In Frederick dogs must be muzzled or kept off the streets during the months of July and August. In this place the dogs have the freedom of the town.

A severe thunderstorm passed over Washington county Saturday evening. Lightning struck the house of John Albert, at Mangansville. Mr. Albert, who was standing against the house, was stunned by the bolt.

The Gettysburg National Military Park Commission will, in the near future, select locations for tablets to mark the movements of the Army of the Potomac in the course of its march to Gettysburg through parts of Maryland.

Fire destroyed a large farm stable on the property of Mrs. Peter Baer, on South Market street, in a thickly settled part of Frederick, June 21. Several nearby houses took fire, but were promptly extinguished by the Fire Department. Loss about $300.

The Rollman Cherry Seeder, manufactured by the Rollman Manufacturing Company, Mount Joy, Pa., an advertisement of which is now appearing in these columns, is a most excellent little machine for the purpose of which it is intended—to seed cherries. It can be recommended to fully come up to the claims of its manufacturers. It throws the cherries into one dish and the seeds into another, and leaves the cherries in a good condition.

Mr. Charles W. Moore, of Westminster, met with a severe accident Sunday evening while returning from Reisterstown. He was riding a wheel when about one and a half miles from Reisterstown he dismounted to walk up a steep hill. In dismounting he stepped on a round stone, which rolled and threw him, dislocating his left hip. Dr. Slady, of Reisterstown, reduced the dislocation.

THE COUNTY TAX RATE.

Commissioners Fix It at 82 Cents For 1901. The board of County Commissioners for Frederick County fixed the tax rate for the year 1901 at 82 cents on the hundred dollars, which is a reduction in the tax rate of 3 cents over 1900. The reduction is due to various causes, but principally to the decrease in the appropriations for bridges. The taxable basis of the county is $20,378,135, which produces, at 82 cents, $167,100.71. The amount raised by taxes on bonds is $1,297.02; the tax on the income from mortgages is $8,562.12; and the amount from the franchise tax is $2,777.56, which makes a total of $179,735.41. The estimated expenses of the county government are as follows:

The contract to build a small iron bridge over Bush creek at Monrovia was awarded to Nelson & Buchanan, of Chambersburg, Pa., whose bid was $350. The board decided to build an iron bridge over the Monocacy, at Pooles ford, in Emmitsburg district, on the Carroll county line, provided the commissioners of Carroll county would pay half the expenses.

WESTERN MARYLAND RAILROAD.

4th of July Excursion Rates. The Western Maryland Railroad announces that 4th of July holiday excursion tickets will be sold to and between all stations, on July 21, 24 and 4th at the low rate of a fare and a third for the round trip. These tickets will be good on all regular trains and valid to return until Friday, July 5th (inclusive). The minimum rate will be 15 cents. The low rate will induce many to exchange local and territory, and to exchange friends residing along the line of the Western Maryland Railroad.

A young man named Johnson, brakeman, was thrown from the top of his train at Mantz crossing, on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, and seriously injured. A guy wire on a derrick used on the improvements had sagged so that as the train sped along it caught him under the chin and threw him back into a pile of rocks, fracturing his skull. Physicians do not think he can live.

THE M. & C. BOND PURCHASE.

Mr. Charles S. Lane, of Hagerstown, who purchased the Myer and Case local and territory bonds, says that he bought them as an investment. Mr. Lane is a member of the firm of Eavey, Lane & Co., bankers. His brother, Mr. J. Clarence Lane, is attorney for the Hagerstown Railway Company.

Wants A Quiet Fourth. Mayor Schindel has requested the merchants of Hagerstown to stop selling fireworks before the Fourth of July. He threatens to call the Council together to prohibit the sale of fireworks at all times unless they stop before the Fourth. There is a law on the books forbidding the explosion of fireworks at any time within the city, but the ordinance has never been fully enforced on the Fourth.

Sale of The McMurray Property. Noah E. Cramer, real estate and loan agent, sold for Frank Goode, Ignatius Goode and Mrs. F. J. Fitzpatrick their real estate, known as the Louis McMurray Packing Company's plant lot of ground, situated on West South and All Saint's streets, in Frederick city, to Jno. F. and William H. Kreh, of Frederick, for $3,500.

Mr. Charles W. Moore, of Westminster, met with a severe accident Sunday evening while returning from Reisterstown. He was riding a wheel when about one and a half miles from Reisterstown he dismounted to walk up a steep hill. In dismounting he stepped on a round stone, which rolled and threw him, dislocating his left hip. Dr. Slady, of Reisterstown, reduced the dislocation.

A DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

Two Men Shot To Death In Hagerstown. John William Grant, a discharged freight engineer on the Cumberland Valley railroad, on Tuesday evening at 5:45 o'clock shot and killed Jacob J. Fuller, foreman of the Cumberland Valley roundhouse in Hagerstown, and Policeman Murphy E. Flory. He then turned the pistol on himself and succeeded in wounding himself in the head, but this wound is not considered serious. Before Policeman Flory fell he fired one shot, the bullet hitting Grant low in the abdomen. Grant was placed in jail. His physicians say his condition is very serious.

Samuel H. Long, general agent, told the story of the tragedy as follows: "Grant had been dismissed from the service for drawing a knife on machinist William Hoke. Fuller reported the matter. The testimony of witnesses was submitted to the general superintendent and Grant's dismissal followed Monday. Grant, receiving the letter discharging him, went to see Fuller Tuesday afternoon, and with him came to the depot to see me. We talked the matter over on the platform. Grant abused both Fuller and myself, drew his pistol from his hip pocket, aimed it at Fuller and fired one shot. Fuller fell and I ran into the building. Grant shooting after me. Fuller was in no way responsible for Grant's discharge." About this time Policeman Flory, making his usual rounds, came running up West Church street after hearing the shooting. He called to Grant, drawing his revolver, to throw up his hands. Instead Grant opened fire on him, one ball striking him in the right side, one ball in the left side of the neck, and a half-inch hole in the pit of the shoulder. Flory fired one shot, aiming low. The bullet hit Grant lower in the abdomen and will probably cause his death.

One bullet entered the right side of Fuller's head over the temple and turned downward, lodging in his neck. His lungs were filled with blood. Fuller died at 7 o'clock. After Fuller was struck down bystanders state that Grant fired one shot at him as he lay on the platform, but the bullet did not take effect. Flory died about two minutes after he was shot. Samuel Golden and Harry G. Nalle, the latter a special officer, ran to Grant and, after a tussle, succeeded in disarming him. The testimony of bystanders differs, but it is said Grant fired in all seven shots, reloading once. When disarmed his five-shot 32-caliber pistol contained two empty shells and one cartridge. Grant was taken to jail at once, walking all the way, though wounded badly. He begged God, after they reached the prison, to buy him some poison. Fuller leaves a widow and one daughter, Mrs. Alice Hull, of Spencer, N. C. Fuller had been in the employ of the Cumberland Valley ever since the road was built to Hagerstown about 1863. He is said to have run the first engine into Hagerstown. He was about 62 years old.

Grant heretofore has been considered very respectable, quiet and efficient and with no bad habits. He is about 30 years old and has a wife and three children. Flory, aged about 32 years, was the son of Alex. M. Flory, of Four Locks, Washington county, and was deputy sheriff under Sheriff M. Finley Seibert. When the Spanish-American War broke out he enlisted in Company B, First Maryland Regiment, and went into camp. He was regarded as an especially efficient officer.—Sun.

DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Grant Lenhart, aged about 35 years, was found dead in the Monocacy river, near Devil's bridge, at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning. Mr. Lenhart, who resided with his father on the old Getzenlander farm at the burnt mill, near Utica, left his home Monday afternoon accompanied by his dog. He did not return and his family became alarmed and a search was made which resulted in finding the body in the river. It is supposed that Mr. Lenhart was bathing in the river and was taken with a spasm, to which he was subject, and was drowned. Mr. Lenhart was a good swimmer and the water where the body was found is shallow, which strengthens the supposition that he was drowned as described. The body was removed to the home of the unfortunate man's father.

Mr. Lenhart was unmarried. He is survived by four brothers and two sisters. ALLEGED INDECENCY. Charles F. Jones, of Jefferson, a young man about 25 years of age, was arrested by Deputy United States Marshal George Brust, charged with sending obscene matter through the mails.

The arrest was made upon the complaint of Postoffice Inspector David C. Owens. United States Commissioner White committed Jones to jail, in default of $750 bail, for a hearing on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. It is alleged that Stone sent an indecent letter to Miss Gladys Hoffman, of near Jefferson, which is a penal offense under Section 3893 of the United States Postal Laws.

Miss Hoffman is a daughter of the late Dr. Hoffman, of Jefferson, and is about 20 years of age. She lives with her aunt, Mrs. Joseph Johnson, about a mile from Jefferson, on the Frederick turnpike.—Frederick News.

IMPORTANT RULING.

Judge Stake made an important ruling concerning magistrates in the appeal case of Koonz Bros., who were fined $100 for violating the Oleomargarine law. The Judge reversed the justice of the peace below, who contended that the attorney for Koonz Bros., Mr. S. M. Wolinger, had pleaded guilty before him. Koonz Bros., however, swore they did not authorize the attorney's act. The Judge held that on the merits of the case Koonz Bros. had complied with the law, but that the magistrate had collected the fine first and then entered judgment. It has been the practice in Washington county and in other counties in Maryland for years for the magistrate to collect the fines and give the county credit on their bills for same.

FREIGHT WRECKS ON B. & O.

While an east bound freight train was passing Lanzer, this county, on Saturday an axle on the second car from the engine broke, letting the front end of the car to the track and dragging it for nearly two hundred yards, before the train could be stopped. The accident resulted in the wrecking of five coal cars and did great damage to the track. Repairs hands were at work near where the wreck occurred and notified the engineer, or otherwise greater damage might have been done. Both tracks were blocked for two hours, which delayed both mail and express trains.

Quite a severe freight wreck, entailing a probable loss of several thousand dollars, occurred Monday morning at Ilchester, on the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, below Ellicott City. Five cars were thrown from the track, and the contents, aggregating about 250 tons of coal, piled up along the tracks. Passenger trains were delayed several hours before the wreckage could be removed. The accident was due to the cars jumping the track while rounding the sharp curve at that place.

A surgical operation is unnecessary to cure piles. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve saves all that expense and never fails. Beware of counterfeits. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

Miss KATE V. DORCUS, aged 37 years, daughter of Jacob Dorcus, of Woodsboro, Frederick county, who was arrested Wednesday of last week charged with using canceled postage stamps to send letters through the mails, was given a hearing before United States Commissioner White Saturday. She was released on bail furnished by her father for the action of the Federal grand jury in Baltimore. Miss Dorcus, who had no counsel, denied the charge.

EMMITSBURG TO ST. JOSEPH, MO.

A Graphic Description of a Journey From This Place to Buffalo.—Scenery En Route.—Pan-American Exposition.

BOYHOOD DAYS HALLOWED BY THIS OF FRIENDSHIP.

To the Editor of The Chronicle. ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 22.—On the 20th of June, after an absence of thirteen years from my native town, I returned to this city. We came via the B. & O. and the lovely Lehigh Valley route from Baltimore to Buffalo.

We missed connection at Philadelphia but were fortunate in doing so, as we thereby caught the famous "Black Diamond" Express leaving Bethlehem at 2 p. m., and due in the station at Buffalo at 9:55 p. m., same evening, distance 350 miles, including all stops and many miles of the road from Wilkesbarre passing through a mountainous country. Our running was about 55 miles per hour. The journey was a most delightful one, no heat, no dust, the landscape constantly changing from valley to mountain and lake, but always pleasing to the eye—a panorama of beauty embellished by man's art and skill that must ever delight the beholder. We passed the entire length, many miles of the famous and beautiful Saranac Lake, over whose glistening waters glided many a birch canoe of the Red man and on whose historic shores, his camp fires burned, where his tepees were mirrored in its sparkling waters, and where mighty chieftains held their councils of war, and celebrated victory or mourned defeat. Their deeds live only in memory and tradition, "their swords are rust, their ashes dust." There is no sound save the mighty rush and roar of the "Black Diamond," the demon of man's genius and civilization hurrying us on to witness the progress of man's achievements in war and peace, science and art.

At 9:55 p. m., we rolled into the depot at Buffalo on time to the minute, and the "Black Diamond" had nobly performed its task. No wonder some one has said: "I always feel like taking off my hat in salute to the locomotive!" Several days were passed visiting the sights and scenes of Pan-America. While not so extensive as the Columbian Exposition of Chicago, it possesses many attractions to the visitor. The early part of the season was unfavorable on account of the weather, and buildings had not been completed during my visit and the Chili exhibits were only being unpacked and arranged, and by the way, the Chilian building is one of the finest on the grounds. The Government and Fish Commission exhibits are especially interesting and constantly thronged with visitors, for Uncle Sam never fails to make a display worthy of praise from his admiring countrymen. The various departments of the Government are well represented. In the State department are shown manuscripts, documents and portraits of great historical value. There is to be seen the warrant, or perhaps fac simile, of the original signed by Cromwell and council, which pronounced the judgment of death against Charles, the first King of England, and led him to the block.

The army and the navy, the big guns, the life saving service, the terrible torpedo, one of which is capable of destroying the proudest battleship afloat, the great revolutionary light prism, visible for miles at sea to warn the mariner; all these are only a part of our National exhibit. Many curious and wonderful inventions and appliances are shown, indicating the country's progress.

There is an instrument for detecting the direction of sound to guard ships in the fog at sea; the machine which takes a photograph at New York and sends it by wire to San Francisco, reproducing the beautiful pictures we see in our daily newspapers; also the wonderful voting machine which infallibly counts every vote cast, and prevents ballot box stuffing.

I saw a $2,000.00 fishing rod, solid gold handle, the end set in a big brilliant topaz; the gold statue of Muade Adams weighing 600 pounds, its value $266,000.00; the $3,000.00 silver bedstead in which a tramp slept for a short time. He had been locked in the building at night and overlooked. Perhaps he was trying to imitate the illustrious hobo, who went to bed in Mrs. Astor's palatial residence and was calmly sleeping the sleep of the just, when rudely awakened by the police. The Electric Tower is 400 feet high. We went up 242 feet in the elevator and surveyed Pan America. The tower at the Niagara and the mist from the falls was plainly visible to the unaided eye, though twenty miles away. At night the scene is one of enchanting splendor.

Such as night has come, all the buildings, the fountains, the electric tower, become brilliant with myriads of light and we are in fairy land indeed. The powerful searchlight casts an intense and brilliant illumination upon the waters, the esplanade, the monuments of art. As its rays fall upon the sculptured arches and figures they become white as the fairest and snowiest Carrara marble, beautiful as the Alhambra by moonlight or the glorious vista of the now renowned Taj-Mahal. Here, too, is a notable reminder of former days in the west and the mighty progress of civilization in the Rocky Mountains, and the trans-Missouri country. It is a real pioneer stage coach run weekly from Helena, Mont., to Bozeman, while now there are four daily trains. This coach was captured by Indians and recaptured by our soldiers. It carried many famous men, among them Presidents Grant and Arthur and Gen. Sherman.

And now a word of farewell. A happy event had taken place that day in Emmitsburg and our train carried away the joyous June bride, one of Emmitsburg's fairest daughters, and the groom, whose good fortune I almost envied.

May happiness ever attend them is the wish of all. After a separation for so many years from kindred and friends, I found that like the true lover, absence "had made the heart grow fonder." How often my heart has yearned to visit again the scenes of boyhood hallowed by the ties of friendship. What exquisite joys, what tearful memories cluster around the name of the dear familiar spots of the peaceful little hamlet, which reposes in the lovely vale ever guarded by its towering and sheltering mountains. I drank from her clear, crystal fountains, climbed her majestic and glorious "Indian Lookout," with its picturesque and entrancing views, drove along meandering, foaming Friends Creek, aye, and walked among its silent and sacred grassy mounds where lies so many loved ones, whose loving voices are hushed forever, but whose memory is ever fragrant and which neither distance nor lapse of years can ever dim.

I stood upon the platform of the car and gazed with a fond last lingering look upon village and home as they rapidly receded from sight, and beloved Emmitsburg was only a memory. For its kindly welcome, its genial friends, its unbounded hospitality, its regretful partings, to all these I bid an affectionate farewell and will ever cherish and recall with feelings of pleasant and grateful remembrance.

Search was made for him and he was found lying on his face beneath the tree. His death may have been caused by apoplexy, but it is supposed that he fell from the tree. He was about 69 years old. He leaves one son, Mr. Edward Sheets, with whom he lived.
