MARVELS OF THE NEW LAND.

Talented Boomers Let Some Kinks Out of Their Imaginations.
Wondrous rich are the new lands opened to settlement in Oklahoma—according to the voracious tales of railroad boomers, real estate agents and others interested in making things hum out there. A man engaged in real estate operations in the new country is quoted as follows by the Chicago Inter-Ocean:

"Say, it's the finest land a man ever dug his toes into. An Indian and his family are living on one of my farms now. Their hut is a half section of a watermelon shell. The round top makes an excellent roof. A door is cut in the side. The house was a little damp at first, but the warm weather has dried it out."

"The Indian had a hard time cutting his melon in two. He finally did, though, and the family ate their way into their home. The other half of the melon he uses as a barn. I would fetch one of the melons from my place to the Chicago market, but I can't get a flatcar big enough to transport it. As it is, the melons have been used for irrigating during this dry spell. The Indian has gone around and bored holes into a few and the water has saved the corn forest."

"Corn? Say, Kiowa corn is a wonder. You can hear it groan any night from growing pains. The sound of these groans at midnight, mingled with the coyote howls, makes a strange chorus that frightens the tenderfoot at first. It did me."

"The Indian on my place lost a promising son last year. The young buck was on a ladder that leaned against a stalk about 25 feet from the ground. He was lowering a medium-sized ear of corn with a rope, when he fell and broke his neck."

"Crops do not rotate as much in the Kiowa country as they do in Kansas, where the tornado flourishes. I did not see any turned around while I was there. Pumpkins do well with the corn, but are difficult to handle single-handed. In Kansas the bumblebees have to get down on their knees to work at the pumpkin blossoms, but around El Reno they use stepladders."

"When a threshing machine of sufficient size is built to handle the crop wheat will be raised in the Kiowa district. The kernels are too large for the ordinary thrasher. That is all that keeps the country back as a wheat district. The Indian on my place plants just a little. A kernel is soaked in water over night and baked the next morning. It makes a loaf not unlike our Vienna bread. This method saves a lot of hard work this hot weather, as the housewife does not have to knead any dough."

A circular issued by the Chicago and Rock Island Railroad Company gives this summary of the characteristics of the opened reserve:

"It is a rolling and very attractive prairie country."

"It is watered by timbered streams in number much above the average in other agricultural prairie regions."

"The soil is a loam, dark chocolate to dull red in color, deep and covered with a rank growth of the same, or apparently the same, blue-stem grass that covered the prairie in Eastern Kansas."

"There are no swamps or sloughs and malarial disease is unknown."

"The latitude places the country between the north and the south. It grows cold in the winter, but does not make ice in the streams, and old residents say that actual winter, such as it is, is about one month long."

"Stock lives out of doors without provision or forage. But feed should be and will be provided by the new settlers as a matter of economy."

"The products are corn, wheat and cotton. It will be the upland alfalfa country par excellence. It is a most excellent region for all the small fruits, melons and vegetables. It is known now to be an excellent peach country and successful in all varieties of fruits that there has been time to try."

MOSQUITOES IN A NEW ROLE.

The Cuban stories of yellow fever experiments, in which mosquitoes are used to convey the virus and human beings are the victims, if true, indicate that the science of medicine has outgrown vivisection, which was confined to the lower animals, and is determined to discover the secrets of disease, no matter what it costs. According to these stories, a mosquito was allowed to bite a man with the yellow fever. It does not say whether the man was alive or dead, but judging by results the latter may be inferred. A mosquito would probably have no objections to feasting on a cadaver. He has a cast-iron stomach which makes him immune to the poisons which affect humanity. Coal oil and pennyroyal are about the only things for which he has no special fancy. But how did they keep the mosquito after he gorged himself? Did they put him in a cage or tie him with a rope, for a mosquito is as averse to imprisonment as any other animal.

The next step was to get a live man who would let the mosquito bite him. They seem to be very accommodating in Havana, and a number offered with the understanding that they were to be made immune. The mosquito bit two of them. Both are immune and are likely to remain so until the day of judgment. They both died of a virulent case of yellow fever, according to these reports, so that the specific contract of the doctors was executed to the letter. That either of the victims was infected with yellow fever by the bite of the mosquito will be doubted by many reputable physicians. If they were really bitten at all—that is, if the thing ever occurred—there are several intelligent ways of accounting for the catastrophe.

If the men were subjected to a swarm of mosquitoes in the room where the latter had been feasting on a yellow fever patient it is comprehensible, but they would have taken the fever more easily from the patient. If, however, a mosquito had been feasting on the dead body of a fever patient the results given in the report from Havana can be readily understood. The minutest particle of the subtle poison extracted from a corpse may be fatal to life. Nothing is probably more dreaded by physicians, and the men who would make this foolish venture with mosquitoes might easily mistake a case of rapid blood-poisoning for a blooming case of fever. But, after all, the story may be one of those seasonal ventures of the imagination, like the moon hoax, the Cardiff giant and other sensations which can be easily recalled. The men may have died of yellow fever. Persons frequently do when they rashly venture where the disease is raging. They have a government in Havana passably well-administered, just as we have in the United States. It is certain that no professional idiots would be allowed to murder citizens in this country under the pretense of aiding science, and it is not likely that such a thing would be tolerated in Cuba.

THE DREAM OF SOCIALISTS.

"The more advanced advocates of socialism," declares the Philadelphia Record, "recognize in the formation of great combinations of capital the last stage of progress toward the time when all wealth will be arbitrarily divided among the masses of mankind. As greed becomes organized and more and more grasping, it is the theory of these levelers that counter-organization will be made inevitable, and that as a result of it the many must crush the few."

"But the Socialist philosophers leave out of the consideration the inevitable conflict of combinations against combinations. The monsters cannot satisfactorily divide their spoil. They will tear and rend each other. While there is no such thing possible as an equality of distribution of talents or wealth among all the sons of men, there is an eternal competition which enforces the only practicable equalization."

"If the Socialists could create an enforced equality on one day of the week, the next day their labor would have to be gone over again. There is, as asserted in the Declaration of Independence, an equality of inalienable natural rights; but, starting from that basis, every man must shift for himself according to his strength and opportunity."

LIGHTS ON IN THUNDERSTORM.

Unique Trolley Car Order in Force in Kansas City.

During a thunderstorm at any time of day the lights in the trolley cars of the Metropolitan system are always turned on by order of the company, there are two reasons for it. One is for the protection of the car and the other for the protection of the passengers. When the lights are on and the car is at a standstill the trolley pole becomes a lightning rod. When a car is in motion the electric current, which leaves the powerhouse and is carried along on the trolley wire, passes through a wire in the trolley pole into the motors in the car, setting them in motion, and then down through the wheels into the rails, by which the current returns to the powerhouse. Thus the trolley wire, the rails and the car form a complete circuit. When the car is at a standstill the connection between the trolley and the motor is cut off, breaking the circuit. However, turning on the lights has the same effect as stopping the car; that is, it completes the circuit. That is the exact reason why the lights are on during a thunderstorm.

Should lightning strike a trolley wire the flood of current would be carried with a rush to the nearest car. If this car should be in motion or the lights be turned on so that the circuit with the rails were complete there would be a chance that the extra current of the lightning's stroke would pass down the trolley pole and through the car into the rails without doing any harm. The principle is the same as that of a lightning rod, which carries the electricity into the ground. But when there is no connection the current of a bolt of lightning would burn out the motors in the car, and if strong enough would shatter the car and injure the persons who might be riding in it.

The Metropolitan Company has had the rule for turning on the lights in trolley cars during a storm in effect for a long time, and it is believed that by this simple fact many serious accidents have been prevented.—Kansas City Star.

LIFE OF A LOCOMOTIVE

An engine of the Great Northern railway, in England, which was built in 1870, has just completed 4,000,000 miles. This, it is believed, breaks the English record.

Mr. G. M. Writ, superintendent of motive power for the New York Central, in speaking of the performance of the Great Northern engine in England, said:

"The record is far beyond anything we can show, and I may add is ahead of anything we intend shall be shown for any of our engines. In fact, we should think ourselves lacking in our duties to the public if we had failed to 'scrap' an engine in hard service long before it had been running 30 years and replace it with a modern machine."

"From the time a locomotive is out of the erecting shops we push it as hard as we can in doing profitable service, and by the time it is worn out we expect that the progress of locomotive design will have produced so many improvements that it will be uneconomical to continue the older engine in service, even if it could be rebuilt. In England an engine is cuddled and rested and its life prolonged as much as possible."

UNDONE BY LOVE OF PIE.

Little Johnny is a Philadelphia boy with an appetite for pie, and the North American tells of the dismal failure of his suit against a railway company through an innocent disclosure of his prowess as a pie devourer.

Six doctors had testified in a $5,000 damage suit that Johnny was an invalid as the result of his sudden ejection from a trolley car, when Willie Brower took the stand and incidentally spoke of Johnny's achievements in the pie-eating line.

"Could he eat a whole pie?" asked the lawyer.

"Why, yes; he ate five within a few minutes last week," replied Willie, evasively.

In vain Johnny's lawyers contended that the pies were very small and should not be allowed to figure in the case. The testimony was admitted, and the company's lawyer argued that any boy who could eat five mince pies was not much of an invalid.

The jury took this view of the matter and decided that Johnny had not made out a case. The mince-pie testimony—for the pies were of the mince-meat variety—had been fatal.

WHAT ONE WOMAN THINKS

When a man first falls in love with a girl, he always wonders why more women were not made on just that same pattern.

Imagination is the faculty that enables us to believe that the things we want and can't have, we are a great deal better off without.

Men admire women because they are women, and anything that makes them less womanly makes them less charming.

When a man's wife goes away on a vacation, he has a chance to put into practice some of his superior theories of minding the children.

Every infant appears like a phenomenal genius to its admiring relatives.—Phila Times.

WM. FINN, of Lima, O., obtained excellent results from the use of FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE. "It relieved my backache and severe pain over the hips. It toned my system and gave me new vim and energy. It is an honest and reliable remedy, a sure cure for all kidney diseases." T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

WON WITHOUT A STRUGGLE

She looked up at him suddenly, after he had waited silently and patiently a long time for her answer.

"I suppose," she said, "that a man pays a compliment to a woman by proposing to her, no matter what the circumstances surrounding the case may be."

"Yes," he replied, "you might regard it as a compliment—but Miss Picklingham—Mercedes—darling—it was not to compliment you that I asked you to be my wife. It was not."

"I know, I know," she answered; "I believe you are sincere in your protestations of love for me. Yet I must be on my guard. You must do something to prove that you do not want me for my father's money—that it is your heart and not your brain that is suing for my love."

For a moment he seemed bewildered. He opened his mouth as if to say something, but apparently was unable to think of the words he wished to say. Then suddenly he held out his hands, showing the deep yellow stains of cigarettes upon his fingers.

A glad light came into the maiden's eyes, and, grabbing off his hat, she looked into it, seeing that the tag showed the size to be 6½.

"Ah, darling—dearest," she cried, flinging herself into his arms, "take me!—I ask no more. It is—it is—your heart that speaks! I see you have no brains."—Chicago Record-Herald.

FOR WHOOPING COUGH.

"Both my children were taken with whooping cough," writes Mrs. O. E. Dutton, of Danville, Ill. "A small bottle of FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR cured the cough and saved me a doctor's bill." T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

MAKING LEMONS SOUR.

How often does a lemon fail to live up to its sour reputation? Until lately, says Beverages, American lemons were more likely to thus fail than foreign ones, the reason of which was that American growers did not know how to cure lemons. The fruit was never tart enough. There would be plenty of juice, but it contained a high percentage of sugar and a small percentage of acid, which made it unmarketable. But a few years ago the lemon growers clubbed together and sent experts over to Italy and Spain to learn the business, and now they are producing much better results. They pick the fruit before it begins to turn yellow, and put it in a curing house, where it is kept at an even temperature of about 50 degrees for about twenty days, which "sweats out" all the sugar. It is then removed to another temperature for sixty days more before it is ready for the market. Thus the highest degree of acid and the largest degree of juice can be obtained. One of the curious effects of this "sweating" process is to reduce the thickness of the skin. It originally grows thick and tough, but the acid seems to eat it up.

"Wish you and May would become friends again," said the would-be peace-maker.

"Well," said Fay, "if she'll make up, I will."

"I told her you had said that, and she said: 'The idea! It's easy for her. I never saw her when she wasn't made up.'"

250,000 FEE FOR LAWYER REDDING.

One of the largest legal fees on record in a case involving only the interests of private individuals is that which Lawyer Redding has earned by obtaining $6,000,000 from the estate of Collis P. Huntington for Mr. Huntington's adopted daughter, Princess Clara von Hatzfeld. Mr. Redding's fee is $200,000, or 5 per cent. of the sum which the Princess is to receive. Other lawyers have received larger amounts, but only in cases affecting great corporate interests. Among those who have received larger fees is William G. Moore of Chicago, who is said to have earned $5,000,000 by organizing the Tinplate Trust, taking a larger part of his pay in stock. Former President Benjamin Harrison's fee as counsel for Venezuela in the boundary dispute with England was only $250,000. That Mr. Redding's fee is large, in proportion to other payments for similar services, is shown by the fact that Senator Chauncey M. Depew charged only $100,000 for averting the threatened contest over a will of Cornelius Vanderbilt, involving about twice the amount of the Huntington estate. Mr. Redding has lived only five years in New York, and even now spends about half his time in San Francisco, his former home. His father was B. B. Redding, for many years land agent of the Central Pacific Railroad. Mr. Redding is 42 years old, and was graduated from Harvard in 1879.—Baltimore News.

THOUGHT BROWN WAS "EASY."
NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—A plot to obtain $500 from P. J. Brown, a wealthy resident of West New Brighton, S. I., was disclosed by the police of Richmond Borough today. Mr. Brown received a letter several days ago demanding that $500 in gold be ready for delivery to a messenger at a specified time. His failure to comply would result in his house being blown up by dynamite.

No attention being paid to this letter, Mr. Brown, received a second, in which the demand was repeated and he was told to send the money to one William Baker at Port Richmond. Last night three boys inquired for mail for Baker at Port Richmond, and were placed under arrest. They gave their names as Edward and George Tallaksen, aged 7 and 9 years, respectively, and Hiram Stott, 9 years old. The father of the Tallaksen boys was subsequently arrested, but he denied all knowledge of the letters or anything concerning the latter. Tallaksen was arraigned in court today and held for further examination. The boys were also held as witnesses.

ONLY ONE WAY OF SETTLEMENT.

NEW YORK, August 27.—No overtures for peace have come to the United States Steel Corporation from any of the strikers through the intermediaries named in the Pittsburgh dispatches, and it was stated at the office of the company today that none was expected. J. Pierpont Morgan returned to the city today, but it is said that his return had nothing to do with the steel strike or its settlement. An official of the United States Steel Corporation made this statement: "The report that there are negotiations for a settlement of the steel strike in progress is erroneous. The United States Steel Corporation has received no proposals for a settlement and has made none. Many of our men are returning to work and many others are desirous of resuming their places. The strike can only be settled by the return of the men to their places."—American.

MANY BIRDS KILLED IN WESTERN STORMS.

Special dispatches received at St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 27, report violent electrical and windstorms, followed by heavy rains throughout Southern Illinois. Orchards and cornfields were devastated in Jackson, Williamson, Union and Massac counties, the loss running up into many thousands. From Metropolis comes the report of many barns being destroyed with their contents the buildings having been struck by lightning. Near Herrin a tree was blown down and fell across a tent occupied by a family of campers, killing a mother and her child. At Richview dwellings were moved from their foundations and partially wrecked. At Carbondale 1,600 drowned birds were found after the storm, and it is estimated that fully 5,000 birds perished in that city alone.

WHITES ATTACK NEGROES

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Aug. 25.—Another riot broke out this evening in a crowd of 5,000 people at Fair View Park. Four negroes were badly injured and one named Harris had his right arm broken.

The trouble was caused by the gang of white toughs from the West Side known as the "Bungaloes." About 150 members of this gang congregated at the park and began a determined effort to drive all negroes out. Several negroes, some with their wives, were set upon, beaten and bruised before they could be rescued. Police were sent from the city to quell the riot, and their arrival stopped the trouble.

Four members of the gang were arrested and others are scattered in the woods. In a similar riot several weeks ago six shots were fired and one white man was badly injured by a bullet.

WILLIAM C. WHITNEY feels that men of affairs must have some relief from the high pressure under which they are living. "Racing," he says, "offers that relief. There is something human about the racing of horses. Any man with a soul loves a horse. In the summer time he loves to go to his country place and visit his stables and look over his horses and talk to his friends about them. In the thoroughbred lover of horses finds a new and keener interest. I do not know how it is with others, but for myself I can attend to my business infinitely better, because I have some horses to be interested in. I guess I'd go to seed if it wasn't for my horses."

PRICES OF STEAM PIPE RAISED.

One of the effects of the steel strike upon the local business interests in New York city has been the price that has been put upon pipe material, especially that adapted to steam fitting. At the close of last week the jobbers of steam pipe in New York raised the price of iron pipe 12 per cent. Monday the prices for this material were 20 per cent. above those quoted before the strike began.

BIG FEES FOR ATTORNEYS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—Fees and commissions amounting to $402,517 have been awarded to attorneys and executors of the James G. Fair estate by Judge Treut, in addition to the $30,000 given each of the executors by the New York Probate Court for the administration of the portion in that city. The total valuation on which the executors' commissions were computed is $17,871,645. Other heavy fees are yet to be paid, but it is estimated that $5,000,000 will remain for each of the late Senator Fair's three children.

THIRTY thousand Knights Templar were in the great parade in Louisville, Tuesday, and it is estimated that 300,000 people saw the magnificent spectacle. The intense heat caused much suffering among the marchers and there were 11 cases of prostration. The Maryland Knights made a fine showing. A feature of the day was the great demonstration for Admiral Schley. When the Washington Knights appeared the crowd took up the cry of Schley, and the Admiral's name was cheered all along the line. The mention of the Admiral's name by Judge Barker, acting for Governor Beckham, in the address of welcome also evoked applause.

FIERCE FIRE IN COAL MINE.

IRWIN, PA., Aug. 26.—A fierce fire is burning in the Ocean Mine, at Herminie, and the flames cannot be controlled. The fire was discovered early Sunday morning through dense volumes of smoke coming out of the shaft. The alarm was given and the men organized to fight the fire. It was soon learned that the fire was burning in several entries, and nothing was left to do but flood the same. Water was turned in yesterday about noon, but without avail. It is expected that it will require several days to extinguish the fire. No one was in the mine when it took fire. The Ocean Mine is owned by the Berwyn-White Company, one of the best-equipped in the bituminous region. It is filled with electric machinery, and the loss will be large.

A WORTHY SUCCESSOR

"Something New Under The Sun."

All Doctors have tried to cure CATARRH by the use of powders, acid gases, inhalers and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membrane causing it to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membrane that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of CATARRH, has at last perfected a Treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures CATARRH, by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the afflicted parts. This wonderful remedy is known as "SNUFFLES the GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE" and is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use.

"SNUFFLES" is the only perfect CATARRH CURE ever made and is now recognized as the only safe and positive cure for that annoying and disgusting disease. It cures all inflammation quickly and permanently and is also wonderfully quick to relieve HAY FEVER or COLD in the HEAD.

CATARRH when neglected often leads to CONSUMPTION. "SNUFFLES" will save you if you use it at once. It is no ordinary remedy, but a complete treatment which is positively guaranteed to cure CATARRH in any form or stage it used according to the directions which accompany each package. Don't delay but send for it at once, and write full particulars as to your condition, and you will receive special advice from the discoverer of this wonderful remedy regarding your case. It costs you nothing beyond the regular price of "SNUFFLES" the "GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE."

BOYS ON A CRUISE.

Amos Lawson and Lemuel Tall, boys of Lawsonia, Somerset county, were arranged before Justice Thomas K. Wheaton, at Crisfield, Md., Tuesday, on the charge of stealing a steamer from Sheriff James Cullen. The boys took the boat on the 21st of August and sailed across the Chesapeake bay to Solomon's Island, where it is stated they became frightened at what they had done and tried to dispose of the property. Sheriff Cullen learned that they were in the Patuxent river and telegraphed to Sheriff Lang. They were arrested by Constable Thomas J. Saunders and lodged in jail at Prince Frederick, whence they were taken to Crisfield Tuesday morning. The boys had an exciting voyage. It is stated that they were influenced to take the cruise by reading dime novels.

The men struck against a reduction from 55 to 50 cents and were out a week. The company offered to pay the old rate of 55 cents and the men agreed to return to work. It looks, however, as though they will demand that the operators sign the scale to maintain the 55-cent rate to April 1, 1902.

There were 37 in the party, which included guests from New York, Philadelphia, and Gettysburg. Miss Helen Tyson entertained the crowd with some very fine solos. All had a glorious good time and returned many thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Krise and daughters. The party returned home in the wee small hours in the morning.

By A. Guest.

CARDINAL GIBBONS was royally greeted on his return to Baltimore city, after an absence of more than three months. Official greetings on behalf of the city and the Catholics of Baltimore were extended immediately on his arrival at Union Station. A parade followed from there to the Cathedral, where special services were held. Later the Cardinal reviewed a procession from the steps of his residence, and then dined at St. Mary's Seminary. The occasion has only been equalled once in the annals of the city, and that upon a former return of his Eminence from a trip abroad.

HEAVY PEACH SHIPMENTS.

During the week ending Saturday evening 57 carloads of peaches were shipped from the stations along the Washington County Branch of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad between Hagerstown and Weverton. The cars averaged 450 crates each, and the peaches netted the growers on an average of $1 per crate, making the receipts for the week of the growers in this one section of Washington county $25,650. The shipments of peaches will increase as the season advances, and in the course of two weeks will probably more than double what they were last week.

HIS CANTALOUPE DISAPPEARED.

Mr. James A. Slagle had a fine cantaloupe and watermelon patch at Poplar Ridge, a short distance from town. The cantaloupes were ripening and the watermelons were getting to be a nice size. On Tuesday he went to the patch with the expectation of bringing home a lot of fine cantaloupes, but to his surprise and disappointment some unknown parties had previously paid their respects to the patch and carried away nearly all the cantaloupes and the unripe watermelons. As Mr. Slagle was out in the country it is natural to suppose that he gave expression to his thoughts. However, he brought home a few cantaloupes that had been refused by the unknown parties.

THE LAKE ROYER DROWNING CASE.

Verdict of Coroner's Jury—Indignation Meeting.—Rinehart Out on Bail.

The coroner's jury completed the investigation of the drowning of Miss Mary Finafrock, of York, Pa., in Lake Royer, on the mountain at Buena Vista on Sunday Aug. 18. The verdict of the jury was as follows:

"The capsizing of the boat being due to criminal carelessness by one Frank Rinehart, the jury says that the said Rinehart willfully and feloniously did kill and murder the said Mary Finafrock."

The jury was composed of Edward J. Wade, Sr., (foreman), C. E. Flaughner, C. S. Gardner, J. H. Ferguson, Cyrus Kager, Samuel E. Shockey, J. A. Brown, C. G. Hitechev, H. H. Flaughner, Edward Moser, Hiram Schindler, and Lewis Keller.

Rinehart was one of the witnesses. He was represented by Attorney Joseph W. Wagoner. He testified that he sat in the boat, but did not rock it; that the boat was rocked, but by whom he could not say.

One of the witnesses was George J. Gansore, of Baltimore, who was swimming in the lake when the boat capsized. He assisted in rescuing Berkheimer and Mrs. Weicker by pushing them into the boat occupied by E. A. Strevig, of Hanover.

Frank Rinehart was arrested at his home in Smithsburg on last Friday morning. He was committed to jail for the action of the grand jury. He is a good looking young man of genteel appearance. He was very cool, though his face bore an extreme careworn expression.

An indignation meeting was held in Smithsburg Saturday night in the interest of George Franklin Rinehart, charged by a jury of inquest, with being responsible for the drowning of Miss Mary Finafrock, of York, Pa., in Lake Royer, Sunday, Aug. 18, by rocking the boat. The meeting was presided over by Preston E. Vogel, Assistant Burgess of the town. Dr. J. M. Steck was secretary. The hall was filled with a representative audience.

Addresses were made by E. A. Sharretts, ex Postmaster Manoh Metz, Dr. J. M. Steck, Postmaster Lancelot Jacques, ex Justice S. D. Newman, George N. Rescoe and George W. Reed. Resolutions were adopted that certain newspapers have been unjust and unfair in their statements of the case; that it was wrong for all concerned to be boating on the Sabbath and breaking the holy day; that the community knows Mr. Rinehart so well it cannot entertain any idea of his criminality in connection with the capsizing of the boat; that on general principles it seems that John Rinehart and his wife, in the boat at the time it was upset with Miss Finafrock and Mrs. Louis Wecker, was equally responsible with Mr. Rinehart for the care and protection of the ladies. The Buena Vista Lake Company was asked to refund the fine for management in providing such frail boats so easily upset and for not providing means for the rescue of people whose lives are endangered by the capsizing of the boats. The untimely death of Miss Finafrock is regretted and the sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. Rinehart.

George Franklin Rinehart, charged with being responsible for the drowning of Miss Finafrock, was released from the Hagerstown jail by Judge Stokes on his $5,000 bail. His bail was fixed at $1,000. The court did not take any testimony, as State's Attorney Poffenberger consented to the amount of the bail.

SHOOTING AFFRAY
H. C. Turner of Waverton, Frederick county, was shot and perhaps fatally wounded in Cummings' lively stable, near Weverton, about 1 o'clock Saturday morning. George W. Pillman, of Knoxville Frederick county, was arrested and committed to the County Jail charged with the shooting. It is stated that the trouble commenced in a saloon. Pillman was on a bench asleep when Turner and some other men came along and aroused him by striking him with a barbelstave. He jumped up and vowed vengeance. He procured a revolver from home and subsequently finding Turner in the stable, opened fire on him.

The first bullet struck Turner in the cheek, near the mouth, and came out at the left ear. The bullet bullet entered the left shoulder and penetrated the upper lobe of the left lung. After the affray was over it was found that Pittman's face and breast were peppered with buckshot, but how it was done no one seems to know. Pittman alleges that he was shot by an unknown party, while those present in the stable say he was not shot while he was shooting at Turner.

A WEAKNESS FOR BRASS.
Henry Kennedy, colored, aged 11 years, was arrested on the charge of robbing Daniel A. Beckell's flouring mills of $9.40. John McCann, white, of Hagerstown, and Frank Feathers, a tramp, were arrested charged with being implicated. James Sylvester and James Riley, tramps, were arrested on suspicion. G. C. Beckell's flouring mill was also broken open, but nothing taken. Brass beams were stolen from the scales in the Western Maryland and Baltimore and Ohio catwalks and D. E. Leister's tools. Witness E. Kitzmiller's tools were entered and a lot of brass carboxes and tools stolen. Justice Hoffman committed the accused for a hearing.

The negro boy Kennedy was taken to the scene of the burglary and confessed to State's Attorney Poffenberger that he robbed the office of Stickle's mill. He also entered Snyder & Co.'s office, but got nothing. Kennedy said two tramps aided him. A telegram was received from Baltimore and Ohio city at Martinsburg asking that the tramps be held. A lot of brass was stolen in that place.

IN GOOD CONDITION.

Frederick County Institutions are Commended.

Rev. William C. Stouffmire, general agent of the Maryland Prisoners' Aid Association, has just returned to Baltimore from inspecting the jails and almshouses in Carroll, Washington, Frederick and Montgomery counties. He found those institutions generally in good condition. Concerning the Frederick county institutions he says: "Rev. Mr. Stouffmire's report is as follows:

COUNTERFEIT GOLD.

GILDING POWDERS ARE MADE OF COPPER AND SPECTER.

How the Material That Gives the Shining, Metallic Finish to Mirror and Picture Frames is Produced. Gold Leaf Without Gold.

How many persons who see the shining gold in colored printing and on mirror and picture frames know that gold does not enter at all into the composition of the stuff that produces these golden effects?

The shining metallic effect is produced by a fine powder made from a mixture of bronze and spelter. This offers the cheapest and best means of giving the rich surface demanded in wall papers, printing, lithography, frescoing and in a vast range of manufactured articles of wood, paper and iron.

The material used is so called Dutch metal, an alloy of copper and spelter. The relative proportions are varied to produce different colors. The larger the percentage of spelter the lighter or more yellowish will be the tint of the alloy.

The copper and spelter are melted in graphite crucibles containing about 400 pounds of metal, which, when completely fused, is run off into molds, forming half round ingots two feet long by half an inch in thickness. After cooling these are bound into bundles and sent to the rolling mill, where they are passed cold nine times through a double set of steel rolls under enormous pressure. This flattens them and draws them out into thin ribbons from 50 to 60 feet long and something more than one inch wide. Cold rolling under such extreme pressure makes the metal brittle, so it passes to the annealing furnace, which is heated by wood fire, as the sulphur in coal or coke would be injurious to the ribbons.

Having been softened and rendered ductile by annealing, they are cleaned in an acid bath, cut into lengths of about three feet and collected in bundles of 40 or 50 strips each. They are laid between sheets of zinc and passed under hammers which beat the metal strips to the thinness of tissue paper. This requires six successive beatings, and great skill must be exercised to produce a uniform and unbroken foil. After the third beating the metal strips are taken from between the sheets of zinc, loosened from each other and cleansed by immersion in a bath of tartaric acid. The cleaning is repeated after the last beating, and the sheets are hung on lines to dry. In the beginning the rolled strips are a dull gray metallic color, at the fourth beating the yellowish color begins to show, and after the fifth they are clear and bright as gold.

The defective leaves are then thrown out and the perfect ones cut into small squares, which are laid together by hand in packets of several hundred each and inclosed within an envelope of sheet brass. The packets return to the annealing furnace, where they are softened by heating and slow cooling, and then go to the beaters, where they are reduced under flattening hammers to the thinness of real gold leaf, so thin that it can be blown away by the breath.

The manufacture of bronze powder consists in grading, clipping and pulverizing the various bronze foils to an even, impalpable powder and is an industry of comparatively recent date. It began as a means of using up and utilizing the imperfect leaves which came as waste from the beaters of gold, silver and bronze. These were cut by hand into fine clippings and then ground to powder in hand mills of simple construction. With the lapse of time and the spread of artistic industries the uses of bronze powder increased until the demand far outran the supply of waste, and the leaf metal is now made on a large scale.

The beating process flattens out a pound of copper and spelter alloy to an area of about 500 square feet, and in this condition the square sheets as they come from the brass envelopes are sheared into small fragments and rubbed with olive oil through a steel sieve having ten meshes to the inch and then passed to the stamping and grinding machines, where they are pulverized by steam or water power to the bronze powder of commerce. The grinding occupies from one to four hours, according to the grade or quality of the powder to be produced, which is of four grades, from coarse to superfine. The superfine oil is removed by heating under pressure, and the powder is then carried into centrifugal classifiers, or grading machines, which, turning at a high speed, expel the powder through fine orifices in the form of dust, which settles on inclined shelves, according to weight and fineness, the finer particles at the top, the coarser below, and in this way the powder is divided into its various grades.—New York Press.

THE HORSE INDUSTRY.

Why the Eastern Farmer Will Do Well to Raise a Few Horses.

A belief exists all over the east that in the future the west can be depended upon to supply horses at a less cost than eastern farmers can afford to raise them. A month's sojourn in the west looking up the horse industry leads me to the conclusion that such belief is unfounded, says a National Stockman writer. The plain facts are, the low prices of a few years past have more effectively driven the western breeder out of breeding horses than the eastern breeder. True, there are horses found in plenty in the sale stables. But the quality of them is poor—in fact, very poor in many cases. Scarcely a first class carriage, coach or draft horse can I find. By far too many of them are 100 pounds too light for carriage horses, and when I do find one large enough with a kind disposition and intelligent I find him poorly formed.

There are no doubt good sires in the country west of the Mississippi, but they are comparatively scarce. There are some very good mares left there yet on the farms. But with the sires at present there is no considerable number of first class horses will come to eastern markets for some years. This can be depended upon. The west has seemingly been made the dumping ground for the cull stallions of the eastern states.

The farmer of New York, Pennsylvania or Ohio who has good mares will do well to breed them to good sires and be ready in the future to supply an increasing demand for good horses. Of that I have not the slightest doubt. In the east the fall colt can be raised where the mare is one of the team and but little or no inconvenience experienced. The colt can be weaned just before pasture and raised with little expense to supply the farm team, which in the future will take more money than in the past to buy or I am no prophet, and I think I am after looking over the horse situation.

HOW THE LEGS GROW.

The Shocks of Exercise Lengthen Them and Keep Them Even.

As a fact, says the author, our lower limbs are not usually both of exactly the same length, though they are so for all practical purposes. The left is usually the longer, though the right is usually notably influenced by this fact. At birth the lower limbs are shorter than the upper, and their movements are rather of the prehensile type. "We are not born leggy like the foal or kangaroo, but we gradually achieve legliness." The bones increase in length, not so much by interstitial deposit as by addition to their ends—that is, by progressive ossification of the layer of cartilage which intervenes between the end of the shaft and the epiphysis. Ossification goes on till the component parts of the bone are all united by bony matter, and thus the stature of the individual is determined.

If from inflammation or injury an epiphysis be damaged, one limb may be shorter than the other, or inflammatory stimulation may even induce an increased length in the bone affected. The skeletons of tortoises, not being subjected to sudden jars, have no epiphyses at the ends of the long bones, whereas in the leaping frog the extremities of the humerus and femur long remain as separate epiphyses. The continuous concussions to which the ends of the bones of the lower limbs are exposed when a vigorous child is excited by its own natural spirit to run about are doubtless of great value in assisting the growth in length of the lower limbs, which soon lose their infantile character and become adapted for running and walking. By exposing the lower limbs to the same influences and resistances during their entire growth we manage to maintain them of the same length, and gentle jars upon the epiphyses at the joints may be considered favorable to growth.—New York Medical Record.

A BIG WEDDING FEE.

The Generous Uses to Which Henry Ward Beecher Put It.

In his "Eccentricities of Genius" Major Pond says that often while traveling Henry Ward Beecher improved his time by having what he called "a good housekeeping" of his pockets, which would get loaded up with letters and papers until they could hold no more, when he would clear them out and destroy such papers as were worthless.

On one occasion Beecher happened to put his hand in the watch pocket of his pantaloons and found there a little envelope which he opened. When he saw its contents, he called Major Pond to sit beside him and remarked: "You remember the evening I married C. P. Huntington. I was so much interested in the subject that I forgot he handed me a little envelope as he went out the door. I put it in the watch pocket of my pantaloons and never thought of it again until just now, and here it is, four $1,000 bills. Now," he said, "don't tell any one about it, and we will have a good time and make some happiness with this money. We will just consider that we found it."

And so in a day or two Mr. Beecher went with Major Pond to look at a cargo of fine oriental rugs, many of which he purchased and sent to different friends, and afterward he spent what remained of the money for coin silver lamps, unmounted gems and various pieces of bric-a-brac, all of which he gave away until he had used up the entire $4,000 "in making happiness among those whom he loved."

After Mr. Beecher's death the major related to Mr. Huntington the incident of this discovery of the four $1,000 bills, and the railway magnate observed: "I should never have given them to him. It was all wrong. I made a mistake. Money never did him any good."

Other varieties closely resembling the above and which appear to be hardly distinct from it are the Trianon Cos and the Paris Self Folding Cos. The White Heart and Dwarf White Heart, if distinct varieties, differ but little from the Paris White Cos and are inferior to it.

The Paris Green Cos is a little deeper green than the Paris White and the plant not quite so large, but matures a few days earlier.

Balloon Cos has leafy plants and the heads not very firm when tied.

Ground Cos is a dwarf variety, intermediate between Paris White and Asparagus Cos.

Asparagus Cos has little value as a garden esculent, although some people like the fleshy midribs, which are tender, juicy and peculiarly pleasing to the taste if gathered just before the blossom stalks show in the center of the plants.

Sugar Cane.

Professor Blum of the Louisiana experiment station has made tests and analyses from which the conclusion is drawn that sugar cane grown on the yellow sandy pine lands of Georgia and North Carolina is fully the equal in sugar content of the best grown anywhere and superior to Louisiana cane in the proportion of 10 per cent to 12 per cent.

Agricultural Notes.

Where the mow has not worked well in cutting cowpea vines that are on the ground a bean harrower intended for navy beans has been found successful.

Kansas wheat growers are to have seed of the hard, red, Russian or Turkey wheat direct from the Crimea. It is imported through the State Millers' and State Grain Dealers' associations and will be distributed after the middle of July.

Sugar beets should not be permitted to dry out after being dug, as there is always a loss of sugar.

Hessian fly, the bane of wheat growers in the older states, appears to be going westward. Secretary Coburn of Kansas is credited with the advice to burn the wheat stubble as soon as the wheat is removed from the field.

WORKING IN PUBLIC.

Show Window Artisans Can Command Good Remuneration.

A Broadway shoe manufacturer was asked what method of advertising he found most profitable.

"Placing my men near the window," he said, "so they can work in view of the public. I don't know of anything that catches the attention of the passer-by more quickly than the sight of a demonstrator sitting close to the window running a machine for dear life."

"Manufacturers of all kinds of goods have adopted this plan. Watchmakers put their most skilled workers on exhibition to show how the finest garments are cut and sewed. Cigar manufacturers take the public into their confidence and let them see the process of rolling as performed by the cleverest hands. Men who deal in mechanical contrivances have found that it pays to have at least one machine set up near a window so the crowd outside may observe the intricacy of its parts and the rapidity of its action. Jewelers have stationed their most expert lapidaries within view of the street that possible customers may see how precious stones are cut and polished and set."

"It isn't everybody who can work in public. It takes a person with good strong nerves and concentration of thought to do difficult work in a show window. I have men in my employ who are excellent workers, but they get dazed when subjected to unusual surveillance and ruin everything they put their hands to. I have tried some of them as window operators, but they can't get used to it."

"A man who can run a machine at full tilt or paint a picture or fry pancakes or iron a shirt in the full gaze of the public eye and not lose his head is an artist and worth several dollars more a week to his employer than the more modest individual. And he gets it too."—New York Sun.

If the heart of a man is depressed with cares, the mist is dispelled when a woman appears.—Gay.

An old and not yet obsolete mode of taking a collection in a Scotch church is by means of a ladle—a small wooden box at the end of a straight wooden shaft about four and a half feet long, the top of the box being sufficiently open to receive contributions of money.

For all special collections this was the usual mode in the chief churches of Edinburgh when I was a boy at school there 50 years ago, but it has gradually gone out of fashion and is not often to be seen nowadays.

For ordinary Sunday collections the general custom has been to have a metal plate or basin on a small table at the church entrance superintended by an elder—a mode which was often called the brod. When ladies are used, they are handed round the congregation by elders after the sermon or after the last psalm, and the common Scotch phrase to "lift" the collection may have come from this custom.—Notes and Queries.
