BOERS AT BERMUDA

Communicated.

On the 2nd day of August some Americans of us had the happiness of visiting the Boer prisoners-of-war at Bermuda, being, we believe, the only citizens of ours who had this honor. The accompanying letter describes the situation of the prisoners in a general way. To give details would require a description of the "entanglement" of barbed wire fences, criss-cross four in number, about four feet apart and made so that the heroes may not rush out all at once on their jailers, an English regiment which is encamped on the other half of the little island, the camps being in sight of each other. A ship of war lies in the strait to prevent the prisoners swimming to the main island, as one of them did and escaped to our country. All night long at frequent intervals the searchlight is flung all around on the island and the waters.

What a privilege it must have been to see the defenders of liberty who fought at Marathon! Was it not as great a one to set eyes on these modern Greeks?

There are as great heroes in the world today as ever there were. Let us rejoice in the fact.

NEW YORK.—It is a far cry from the dusty veldt of South Africa to the coral reefs of Bermuda, and it is not likely that any of the Boer prisoners knew of the existence of the isolated little spot which is to be their home for many weary months. This is not a reflection on the intelligence of the veldt farmer, for there are many Americans who have yet to hear of Shakespeare's "still vexed Bermoothes."

Just what prompted the British Government to send prisoners of war to Bermuda will probably never be known. The Bermudians knowing that His Majesty's Ministers rarely gave a reason for any of their acts, have not taken the trouble to inquire into the matter, although they are not over-pleased at the prospect of having 2,000 men living on 40 square acres of land for an indefinite period.

The natives with vivid imaginations have pictured the camps as a hot-bed for all horrible diseases, from bubonic plague to measles, and many of the more pessimistic sent up the cry that Bermuda was ruined forever as a health resort. The local House of Assembly, stirred up by these alarmists, debated the subject of sanitation so strenuously that its members finally concluded that 2,000 Boers could hardly do much more harm to the health of the colony than an extra British regiment.

Existing Conditions. When one takes into consideration the conditions under which the prisoners will live, it will readily be seen that this is the more sensible view. The climate of Bermuda, though somewhat enervating in summer, does not breed the dreaded malaria, nor, in fact, any of the tropical diseases of the West Indies, and unless the men are in poor physical condition there will be comparative little sickness among them.

There is a picturesque group of little islands in the Great Sound, close to the entrance to Hamilton Harbor, and here the camps are located. Port's Island, the naval quarantine station, is the hospital island, while Tucker's, Darrell's, Burt's, Morgan's and Moses's Islands are given over to the main camps. The islands are well wooded with cedars, and these, in addition to the tents, afford excellent shelter when the sun is at its height. It is interesting to note that the whole group is commanded by the guns of Hamilton and the dockyard, as well as by the guns of the fleet.

Precautions for Health. Wise precautions have been taken to keep the camp healthy. Latrines have been built and moored close to the water's edge, so that the refuse will be swept directly out to sea by the tides. The one serious problem is the supply of fresh drinking water. There are no wells or springs in Bermuda, all the water being caught on the roofs of the houses. In the dry season, which is now on, the supply is necessarily limited. The Government, however, has large water catches and tanks in various parts of the colony, and it is from this source that the prisoners are supplied. There is also a large condensing apparatus in course of construction.

The first contingent of Boers, numbering 936, of whom 18 rank as officers, together with a guard of five officers and 184 men of the Second Battalion, Warwickshire Regiment, arrived on the 28th of June, after a pleasant 30 day voyage from Cape Town. The health of the prisoners was even better than that of their guards, for, although only two of the former were invalided, 22 of the Warwickshires were removed to the Naval Hospital on their arrival. It was feared that an outbreak of the bubonic plague might possibly occur during the voyage, but the precautions taken to prevent this proved effectual. Before leaving Cape Town the Armenian was cleared of rats—the chief agents in spreading the plague—and ingenious devices were prepared to kill the vermin should they try to get back to the ship.

Transporting The Boers. So far as is known, the voyage was without incident, the prisoners being accommodated and provided for in precisely the same manner as their guards.

All sorts and conditions of men comprise this remnant of Cronje's almost unbeatable army. The stalwart young burgher, who has lost all for his country's sake, the soldier of fortune, who claims no country as his own, the bearded patriarch of the veldt, whose family is scattered throughout the length of South Africa, perhaps never to be reunited again—all these are here. Then there are boys in their teens, and one, a little chap, 8 years old, who carried ammunition in the trenches at Paardeburg.

Will He Be Treated Well. It need not be presumed for an instant that the prisoners will be badly treated. On the contrary they will be well fed, well clothed and allowed as much liberty as is possible under martial law. The prisoners will have an undisturbed existence, for no visitors are allowed within 30 yards of the islands. Where these men will be sent after the war is over is rather an interesting question. Rumor in Bermuda has it that the British Government hopes they will be induced to emigrate to the United States. It will be an easy way to get rid of them and a cheap one, too, think the Bermudians, whose wishes evidently lead them to believe any tale that is circulated concerning the prisoners.

Interviews with prominent Boer sympathizers in New York reveal the fact that every effort will be made to prevent the prisoners coming to the United States. One who is intimately connected with the Boer relief fund and who is acquainted with all that is going on in South Africa, said emphatically: "The Boers Will Win."

"The Boers will gain their independence; they will never be conquered. There are 17,000 burghers still in the field, fit, ready and willing to fight. The subject of ammunition and food does not worry them, for whenever they run short it is a simple matter to capture a fresh supply from the enemy. Again, every man is well mounted, and the supply of horses is practically unlimited. I will not divulge the source from which the horses are obtained, because it is a secret vital to the interests of the Boers. We will do all in our power to prevent the prisoners at Bermuda coming to the United States. We do not want them, here; we want them to go back to their own country—to fight again if necessary. Not one penny will be spent to bring them to America, but funds will be supplied to send them home. People in England and the United States are just beginning to get the true facts of this infamous war. There will be a speedy revulsion of feeling in England, and American sentiment will be reflected spontaneously when the next session of Congress meets. No; the Boers are too sturdy and tenacious a race to be conquered. They will gain their independence and get back to the country which England is seeking to steal from them."

It may be remarked that the Boers at Bermuda express the same sentiments.

GEO. W. LANE, Pawamo, Mich., writes: "Your Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the best remedy for indigestion and stomach trouble that I ever used. For years I suffered from dyspepsia, at times compelling me to stay in bed and causing me untold agony. I am completely cured by Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. In recommending it to my friends for indigestion I always offer to pay for it if it fails. Thus far I have never paid." T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

The opening article in The Eclectic Magazine for October is the full text of the paper on the Suppression of Tuberculosis, by Professor Robert Koch, which made so great a stir at the recent Congress on Tuberculosis at London. There is a very clever and good-humored article on Mr. Bodley's France, by Eugene Melchior de Vogue, which The Eclectic translated from the Revue des Deux Mondes. An article at once mild-provoking and suggestive is Catherine I. Dood's collection of data regarding The Ideals of the American School Girl. Dilettantism in French Literature is interestingly discussed by Count de Soissons. Mrs. Florence Bell writes sensibly concerning the Relations of Mothers and Daughters. Mrs. Archibald Little presents a picture of Pekin as it appears now, after the year's occupation by the allies; there is a third instalment of the delightful "Londoner's Log-Book," a story by Harold Bindloss, a slashing article from Blackwood's on the Cult of the Millionaire, and much else besides. The Living Age Company, publishers.

NORRIS SILVER, North Stratford, N. H.: "I purchased a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure when suffering with a cough doctors told me was incurable. One bottle relieved me, the second and third almost cured. Today I am a well man." T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

AT LAST—Scene: Drawingroom. Young man is asking his fiancée's father for the hand of his daughter while the latter in an adjoining room anxiously awaits her lover's return. Reappearance of young man.

His Fiancee (excitedly)—What did he say, George? I can see by your face that he has treated you unkindly; but never mind, dear, we'll do without his consent and fly together. But what did he really say?

Young Man (with evident reluctance)—He said "Thank goodness!"—Tit Bits.

HAVE you a sense of fullness in the region of your stomach after eating? If so you will be benefited by using Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They also cure belching and sour stomach. They regulate the bowels too. Price, 25 cents. Sold by T. E. Zimmerman & Co., druggists.

WATER—Will you take your coffee with or without, sir? Uncle Josh—I think I'll take it with; I'm goin' outside to drink it!

WHEN you want a pleasant physic try the new remedy, Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. Price, 25 cents. Same as T. E. Zimmerman & Co's drug store.

"BRIDGET, did you call the boys?" "Indade, an' Oi called them everything Oi cud think of, but they wouldn't git up."—Bucklyn Life.

Every tablet of Cascarets Candy Cathartic bears the famous C. C. C. Never sold in bulk. Look for it and accept no other. Beware of fraud. All druggists, 10c.

At one of the railway construction works in the vicinity of a certain city a highly esteemed clergyman takes a great interest in the members of his flock who are engaged at the cutting. The other day he saw one of them entering a "pub" and hailed him; but Pat simply look and walked in. Waiting until he came out, the reverend gentleman accosted him thus:

"Pat, didn't you hear me calling?" "Yes, your ravnice, I did; but—but I had only the price of one."—Tit Bits.

"I HAD a running sore on my leg for seven years," writes Mrs. Jas. Forest of Chippewa Falls, Wis., "and spent hundreds of dollars in trying to get it healed. Two boxes of BANNER SAVE entirely cured it." Beware of substitutes. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

RICHARD (at the variety show)—What are you laughing at so? I didn't hear what he said that time.

Robert—Neither did I. That's why I laugh. All the others he got off were chestnuts. This might have been something fresh. At any rate, I thought I might as well give him the benefit of the doubt. —Boston Transcript.

ULCERS, open or obstinate sores, scalds and piles, quickly cured by BANNER SAVE, the most healing medicine in the world. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

"THERE are no blanks in the matrimonial lottery."

"No blanks! Do you mean to say that everyone draws a prize?"

"Yes, sir, I do, but some of them are booby prizes and a good deal worse than blank. Still, everyone gets something."—Chicago Post.

NATURAL HISTORY.

The pouch of a pelican is large enough to contain seven quarts of water.

For mountain climbing camels are very inefficient and seldom used in Abyssinia and other mountainous countries.

Sparrows begin housekeeping very expeditiously. A pair of them will build a nest and furnish it with an egg inside of 24 hours from the time when the site was selected.

The female red grouse is said to vary its dress according to surroundings. It is a fact worth remembering that the red grouse occurs in no other part of the world but the British Isles.

No one has been able to give a satisfactory reason for the formation adopted by the wild duck or mallard in flight. The birds arrange themselves in two converging lines, like a huge V, the leader occupying the point.

The ostrich is a descendant of a genus of bird which in prehistoric times attained an enormous size. In the aluvial deposits of Madagascar evidence has recently been found to show that ostriches 14 and 15 feet in height once lived on the island.

Stevenson's Cup of Misery.

R. L. Stevenson, writing in 1893 to George Meredith, in an epistle quoted in a new edition of his "Letters," says, with heart touching pathos:

"For 14 years I have not had a day's real health. I have wakened sick and gone to bed weary, and I have done my work unflinchingly. I have written in bed and written out of it, written in hemorrhages, written in sickness, written torn by coughing, written when my head swam for weakness, and for so long, it seems to me, I have won my wagger and recovered my glove. I am better now—have been, rightly speaking, since first I came to the Pacific—and still few are the days when I am not in some physical distress. And the battle goes on—ill or well is a trifle so that it goes. I was made for a contest, and the powers have so willed that my battlefield should be this dingy, inglorious one of the bed and the physal bottle. At least, I have not failed, but I would have preferred a place of trumpetings and the open air over my head."

The Life Line in One's Hand. There are three prominent lines in the palm—the line of life, that of the head and the heart line.

The line of life begins on the inner boundary of the palm, about midway between the thumb and the forefinger. If we imagine the left hand to be a map, with the fingers pointing north, this line runs toward the southeast, then curves toward the south and in some hands curves finally toward the southwest. It thus skirts the base or "uprise" of the thumb, known as the uprise of Venus. If it is deep, broad, of good color and extends nearly or quite to the wrist and if the rest of the hand indicates vitality and cheerfulness, the subject may be expected to live to a green old age; he has a good disposition and the qualities which good health and good temper usually create.

HIS START IN LIFE.

"DOC" HARTMAN AND HIS WONDERFUL GREASE ERADICATOR.

With Soap Candles and Bottles of Rainwater. He Picked the Public and Laid the Foundations of a Substantial Fortune.

"Talk about your self made men," said an old timer among a party of horsemen gathered in one of the speedway inns, "I don't think any of 'em can equal the early experiences of Tim Hartman, who died in St. Louis many years ago, leaving nearly a million dollars to be fought over by his heirs. He made his first good sized pile on patent medicines, then he picked up a great deal more on real estate, and at last he rounded out with speculation in Montana copper, but he was known as 'Doc' Hartman to the time of his death by his few intimate friends."

"But the story that I'm going to tell, and the one which he often told himself, concerns his very earliest experiences in the accumulation of money. Tim Hartman started life with $1. He kicked around as a barefooted boy—and a pretty mean one, too—in a little town in Connecticut until he was 13 years old, and at that time he had become so fresh and so full of wind and general cussedness that his father one day told him he was no good, never had been and never would amount to a picanine. The old gentleman, just to carry out the bluff, told Tim that he had a good mind to cut him off with a dollar and make him earn his own living. Tim straightened up and called the bluff. He told the old man that he would take the dollar and get out then and there and hustle for himself. The old man handed him a crisp $1 bill and told him that he'd be glad to see him make a fortune with it."

"The first thing that cuss did was to go about in a few back yards that he knew of and gather together a lot of empty bottles which were of no use to anybody. Then, for 10 cents, he bought a large cake of a kind of white soap that was then, and still is, on the market. He melted this soap and, after borrowing an ancient pair of candle molds from an old granny in the neighborhood, made two beautiful looking bottles of soap. He next filled his bottles full of choice rainwater. Then he made for himself one of those little three legged tables like the chuck-a-luck and shell game men use outside the circus, and struck out on foot for a county fair that was being held about 40 miles away."

"When he got there, he put up his little table outside the grounds, where the crowd was pretty thick, lighted one of his soap candles and began to extol the virtues of 'Dr. Hartman's Famous Grease Eradicator,' contained in the bottles set before him."

"Now, ladies and gentlemen," he would shout in a stentorian but plausible voice, "this marvelous liquid, so harmless that it can be drunk with impunity by the smallest infant and yet so penetrating that it will seek out and destroy stains and discolorations from the most refractory substance, was discovered by accident by the famous scientist, Dr. Hartman, the eminent school-teacher, while he was wandering over the wilds of Patagonia. It is colorless, you see, as the waters from heaven, and yet obdurate the effects of its startling properties!"

"At this point Tim would reach for his soap candle and, inverting it, would smear a lot of the grease over the sleeve of his coat."

"Now, every one of you knows, ladies and gentlemen," he would continue, reaching over and uncorking a bottle of his rainwater, "that there is nothing so penetrating and lifeless as the grease from a candle, and yet it is a stain that will not wash off with the most every evening of our lives while toying with that common article of the household, the candle. You will observe that my sleeve is smeared with the annoying substance. Behold!"

"Here that country bred fellow would spill a couple of drops of his rainwater on the soap and with a rub or two would produce a beautiful lather. Another swipe and the soap would have entirely disappeared from the sleeve, leaving not a trace."

"Now, we make this famous eradicator in such enormous quantities," Tim would continue, "that in order to introduce it into every home in this broad land we will dispense with it at the absurdly low price of 5 cents, a nickel a bottle. Step right up! Step right up!"

"Then, when the public was surging forward to purchase the rainwater, Tim would pause occasionally to drink a bottle of it, just to show that it was absolutely harmless."

"Well, the stuff went like hot cakes. When Tim's bottles were all exhausted, he bought more, and when the fair was over he went to another and another until he had traveled all over the country. Then, in some way or other, I don't know how, he got hold of some old patent medicine, and, being a genius, of course he naturally got a big go of it. So that's the way Tim Hartman almost became a millionaire."—New York Times.

A SPEEDY TRIAL.

Justice is sometimes slow, but in the case of Czolgosz she wore no leaden shoes. The assassin committed his crime on September 6, and yesterday, September 24, he was convicted after an impartial trial, in which he was given the benefit of counsel and of every legal safeguard which could have been commanded by the most innocent of prisoners. The majesty, calmness and power of the law were never more strikingly illustrated than in this case. In spite of the tremendous temptation to make it simply the instrument of vengeance there was not the slightest deviation from the ordinary legal methods and processes. There was absolutely no doubt of the prisoner's guilt and he himself was willing to waive his right to trial, but he was not permitted to deprive himself of any privilege that might be claimed by any other man, and he was pronounced guilty only after the presentation of complete and conclusive evidence. Thus the law, as the representative of government and civilization, gives to anarchy its most effectual lesson, demonstrating by its exhibition of unshaken and passionless composure its consciousness of its own strength and of the impotence of the adversaries who seek to destroy it. While conceding the assassin every legal advantage which the guileless might ask we have fortunately been spared the protracted and sensational scenes that characterized the Guiteau trial, and the next to the last act of the tragedy has been reached with commendable promptness. There now remains but one thing to do, and that should be done with as little delay as possible. The sooner the criminal is executed the better it will be for the country and for the cause of order and good government. The country has been under a great nervous strain for the past few weeks, and it should be relieved as quickly as may be of everything that tends to keep up the tension and prolong the unrest. Czolgosz has been convicted by due process of law and he should be promptly put to death and removed from the public thought. The law is doubly effective when it moves swiftly as well as fairly.—Baltimore Sun.

CONVINCE YOURSELF that Ely's Cream Balm deserves all that has been said of it as a means of quick relief and final cure in obstinate cases of nasal catarrh and hay fever. A trial size costs but ten cents. Full size, 50 cents. Sold by druggists or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York.

MESSES. ELY BROS.,—Please send me one bottle of Cream Balm, family size. I think it is the best medicine for catarrh in the world. Very respectfully, J. M. SCHOLTZ.

EIGHT HUNDRED THIRD COUSINS
UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 25.—A remarkable case is on trial in a special term of the Supreme Court in Herkimer. Menzo Shaul died and left $21,000, to be divided between those related to him as third cousins. In his will he wrote: "By the term third cousins I mean the children of those persons who are related to me as cousins."

Eight hundred and seventy persons from all parts of the United States are asking for shares in the estate. They are represented by 43 attorneys. The cousins are divided into four classes, and the court will be called upon to decide which class is entitled to the portion of the estate remaining after costs are paid.—American.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

KIDNAPPER WAS DARING.

WINCHESTER, Va., Sept. 25.—A bold attempt to kidnap Marshall Baker, the 7-year-old son of William H. Baker, the chocolate manufacturer of this city, whose New York offices are at 198 Broadway, has been made.

The boy was awakened by a man standing at his bedside. So frightened was he that he could not cry out. Suddenly the man snatched the boy from the bed and, holding his hand over his mouth, started with him down the stairs. In opening the front door the man uncovered the boy's face for a second. Young Baker then screamed, calling to his black nurse.

"Oh! mammy, a man has got me!"
The boy's cries were heard. His father, brother and old nurse ran quickly to his room. The bed was empty. A noise was heard in the front hall. The father and brother hurried there. A man was standing at the door, trying to unfasten it.

Seeing the men, the kidnapper dropped the boy, and, opening the door, dashed off into darkness.—Balto. News.

JUSTICE ON WHEELS.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 23.—The hearing of a prisoner charged with violating the laws of the United States was held this morning by United States Commissioner Hudgins, of Hinton, on an observation car attached to a fast train on the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, which was converted into a court house on wheels.

Deputy United States Marshal Cunningham had arrested George Davis, a negro, whose home is in Ohio, on a charge of selling whisky without a license, and was taking him to Hinton for a hearing when it was discovered that the Commissioner was asleep in a Pullman car on the same train. The witnesses were on the train and Judge Hudgins went into the observation car. The prisoner was brought before him and the witnesses were examined while the train was speeding along at the rate of about 50 miles an hour. The charge was heard and the prisoner was sent on to Huntington on the same train on which he had been heard, to await the action of the Federal grand jury.

CHAMBERLAIN'S Pain Balm applied to a cut, bruise, burn, scald or like injury will instantly allay the pain and will heal the parts in less time than any other treatment. Unless the injury is very severe it will not leave a scar. Pain Balm also cures rheumatism, sprains, swellings and lameness. For sale by T. E. Zimmerman & Co., Druggists.

CZOLGOSZ GUILTY OF MURDER
The jury found Czolgosz guilty of murder in the first degree for shooting President McKinley. Before adjournment Judge White announced that he would pronounce sentence upon the defendant on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. This was at the suggestion of the district attorney. Czolgosz was immediately taken to his cell, and, to all appearances, had been in no way affected by the result of the trial. Czolgosz was pronounced sane by the eminent alienists who examined him.

H. C. WATKINS, sexton of the Methodist Church, Springfield, Pa., says: "My wife has been very bad with kidney trouble and tried several doctors without benefit. After taking one bottle of FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE, was much better, and was completely cured after taking four bottles." T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

TWELFTH REMOVAL OF BODY.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 25.—The remains of Abraham Lincoln will soon be buried for all time, never to be disturbed again. An excavation 15 feet deep is being made beneath the vault where the remains now rest, and in this the casket will be placed. It will be surrounded by an iron cage, which is to be imbedded in and made a part of a solid concrete block 8 by 8 feet and 13 feet long. The transfer will be made after the return of Governor Yates.

This will make the twelfth removal of the body.

MR. G. A. STILLMAN, a merchant of Tampico, Ill., writes: "FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE is meeting with wonderful success. It has cured some cases here that physicians pronounced incurable. I myself am able to testify to its merits. My face today is a living picture of health, and Foley's Kidney Cure has made it such." T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

DEATH CASE WHILE SHE WAS LAUGHING

Mrs. Sarah Rebecca Green, aged 65 years, of Baltimore, died at her country home, at Pikesville. Her death came suddenly while she was laughing. Mrs. Green was born in Baltimore, and was the widow of Robert F. Green, who was secretary of the Board of Commissioners for Opening Streets, and was the daughter of the late Wm. O. Frush, who was a well known builder and contractor. She leaves six sons—Messrs. Wm. C., Julius O., Edward B., M. P., Rev. Robert M. Green, pastor of the First Baptist Church, at Phoenixville, Pa., and Charles F. Green; also two daughters, Mrs. George A. Horner and Mrs. J. George Fiest, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Mrs. Green was a member of Strawbridge M. E. Church for many years, and formerly of Grace Church.

A steamer has been chartered to carry the first cargo of Pennsylvania anthracite coal ever shipped from the United States to Europe. The coal will go to Berlin for use in American-made stoves.

A WORTHY SUCCESSOR

"Something New Under The Sun."

All Doctors have tried to cure CATARRH by the use of powders, pills, capsules and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of CATARRH, has at last perfected a treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures CATARRH, by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the afflicted parts. This wonderful remedy is known as "SNUFFLES" the GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE and is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use.

"SNUFFLES" is the only perfect CATARRH CURE ever made and is now recognized as the only safe and positive cure for that annoying and disgusting disease. It cures all inflammation quickly and permanently and is also wonderfully quick to relieve HAY FEVER or COLD in the HEAD.

CATARRH when neglected often leads to CONSUMPTION—"SNUFFLES" will save you if you use it at once. It is no ordinary remedy, but a complete treatment which is positively guaranteed to cure CATARRH in any form or stage if used according to the directions which accompany each package. Don't delay but send for it at once, and write full particulars as to your condition, and you will receive special advice from the discoverer of this wonderful remedy regarding your case without cost to you beyond the regular price of "SNUFFLES" the "GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE."

Send prepaid to any address in the United States or Canada on receipt of One Dollar. Address Dept. E-272, EDWIN B. GILES & COMPANY, 2330 and 2332 Market Street, Philadelphia.

LIKES TO BE A PRISONER.

"I am too lazy to work, your Honor, and if I am sent to the House of Correction I will have to work, so I have come to ask that you give me a term to make me work." This was what Wm. T. Mote, who hails from Delaware, stated to Justice Philip M. Groves in his office in Elkton. The Justice imposed a sentence of two years in the House of Correction and Mote was happy. This is not the first time he has been sent down. As soon as he serves out a term he returns and asks to be recommitted. Mote's people are well to do, but he would never make an effort to earn a livelihood.—Sun.

HOW ABOUT THIS.

Hagerstown lawyers have raised the question whether the 50 or more voters who took the oath before the court clerk that their removal from the state was not permanent have not disfranchised themselves by taking the oath. The law requires that any voter intending to go out of the state temporarily must make oath 30 days after the passage of the act that it is his intention to return to the state and reside six months prior to the election. A majority of those who took the oath have not returned to reside here six months previous to the election, and lawyers claim they are disfranchised because of having already made oath that they had removed from the state.—American.

INFANTS PITCHED OUT OF WINDOW.

A frame building, occupied as a saloon and residence by J. W. Vaughn, at Jonathan and North streets, Hagerstown, was damaged by fire at about 5:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. Mr. Vaughn, who was asleep in a front room over the saloon, jumped through a front window to the sidewalk and was painfully injured. Mrs. Bessie Renicke and two small children also lived in the house. The woman pitched both children out of a front window and they were caught by firemen below. In the meantime the truck of the Pioneer Hook and Ladder Company arrived and the mother was taken from the building carried down a ladder.

A BRAKEMAN INJURED.

John Robinson, of Baltimore, a brakeman on a Baltimore and Ohio ballast train, while uncoupling cars last Thursday afternoon, was run over and badly injured. He was taken to Frederick and taken to the home of Mr. Elmer Hull, East Fourth street, where Drs. Thomas Johnson and Franklin B. Smith amputated the right foot at the ankle and dressed the right shoulder, which was very badly crushed. Robinson is suffering very much from shock, and his physicians cannot say what the result of his injuries will be.

Robinson was uncoupling cars near Mantz's crossing about 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon and in some way got caught in the guard rail and was unable to pull loose. As the train backed over him, Robinson attempted to throw himself off the track, but must have been jerked back, as the injury to the shoulder was evidently caused by being struck by the freight car. There has been very little reaction since he received the injury, which may prove to be very serious.

LONGEST BUILDING IN THE WORLD.

The Hoffman Engineering and Contracting Company of Philadelphia, contractors for the foundations of the new cadet quarters at the Naval Academy, at Annapolis, are now employing about 450 men.

The area of ground occupied by the foundations is 11 acres, and when completed there will be 5,100 piles driven. There will be 13,000 cubic yards of concrete deposited and 36,000 cubic yards of earth excavated and filled back. Four hundred and seventy thousand bricks will be used in the foundations alone. The Hoffman plant consists of eight steam boilers, two Worthington duplex pumps, four pile driving machines and one large concrete mixing machine.

Figures show that a tremendous building is being erected. The length of the new quarters alone is 1,001 feet and the width is 48 feet and 6 inches. The quarters is, however, connected by colonnades with the armory on one side and the boathouse on the other, making the length of the whole building 1,278 feet and 4 inches, or about a quarter of a mile. This is said to be the longest building in the world.

FOR HORSE STEALING.

In the Circuit Court for Frederick County last Friday Emmett L. Route, of Union Bridge, charged with stealing a horse and runaway from John D. Grabbill, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 8 years in the penitentiary. Route was arrested in Conellsville, Pa., a few weeks ago, where he was traced by ex-Sheriff O. J. Gaver, who will receive the $300 reward offered by the County Commissioners. In pronouncing sentence Judge McSherry said that inasmuch as the prisoner had informed the authorities where to recover the animal and trap, and as he had pleaded guilty, thus saving the expense of a trial, he would give him only 8 years instead of 24, the full penalty.

Edward O'Malley pleaded guilty to stealing an overcoat from Joseph Douglas at Washington Junction, and was sentenced to 18 months in the penitentiary.

The Ladies' Home Journal for October is, perhaps, the best number of this magazine ever issued. The literary features include "How the Leopard Got His Spots," by Rudyard Kipling; "A Fifth Avenue Troubadour," by Ernest Seton-Thompson; the first installment of "A Gentleman of the Blue Grass," by Laura Spencer Porter; the last of "Miss Alcott's Letters to Her 'Laurel,'" and the closing chapters of "Alleen," "Some Things the President Does Not Do," a collection of anecdotes about Whistler, the artist, and Mr. Bok's advice to a young man about to marry, are important features. The regular editorial departments are supplemented by nine new ones of great interest, among which Professor Edward Howard Griggs's talks on "The Education of a Child from Eleven to Eighteen," Professor Schmucker's "Seeing Things Outdoors," and Miss Withey's "Writing and Speaking Correctly" are noteworthy. The illustrations and art features are superb. By The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar a year; ten cents a number.

In the Circuit Court for Frederick County Charles Gilbert, aged 24 years, pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing $30, a gold ring and a watch from his employer, O. C. Kefauver, a few weeks ago and was sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary. Gilbert is a young man who achieved much notoriety in 1898 by knocking down the captain of the local Salvation Army in the barracks one night for, as he alleged, bearing an American flag from his wife's bosom during the meeting.

Robert Phillips, a young white man, and Richard Wineberry, colored, charged with robbing Patrick J. May of $20 near Filby's Road House, where they found him lying along the road drunk, were sentenced to six and four years, respectively, in the penitentiary. Wineberry turned State's evidence.

BANK ROBBERY.

Burglars Blow Open A Vault and Safe at Myersville.

The banking house of Flock, Gaver & Co., at Myersville, in the Middletown Valley, Frederick county, four miles north of Middletown, was visited by burglars about 2 o'clock Monday morning. The robbers blew open the vault doors, wrecked the inner steel safe and stole a considerable amount of money and some valuable papers.

Mr. Cyrus F. Flock, one of the members of the banking firm, stated that the bank carried burglar insurance to the amount of about $3,000 in the New York Fidelity and Casualty Company, and that the sum would cover the amount taken by the burglars. He stated that the gold and silver in the safe, amounting possibly to several hundred dollars had been taken, but regarding the currency, which was kept in an inner compartment, he would not talk, saying that he had closed the bank awaiting the arrival of the insurance agent, who had been notified.

Entrance to the building was gained by prying open the front door. A small hole was bored in the vault door by means of a bit, and a charge of nitroglycerin was applied, which blew off the time lock without damaging the door. Another charge of nitroglycerin was placed under the doors of the inner safe. The explosion rolled up the door on the right side about half way and shattered the bottom, practically ruining it. The burglars left behind them two medium-size blacksmith hammers, a brace and two new bits. The burglary was not discovered until Monday morning, when Mr. Flock upon going to the bank discovered the front door standing open.

Shortly after 1 o'clock Monday morning Dr. J. W. Getzendanner, who lives opposite the bank, returned from a professional call. About 2 o'clock he heard a noise that sounded like the discharge of a gun at a distance. Soon after he heard several persons run across the bank porch, and then a vehicle drove rapidly away. He paid no attention to the matter, however, and went to sleep. Other persons living near by heard the explosion, but it was not loud enough to attract their attention to the extent of making an investigation. The bank is located on the first floor of a two-story frame building. The Monitor newspaper office is in the rear of the bank and a confectionery on one side. Above is the town hall. The bank was established only a few years ago.

No statement has been made by the bank officials in regard to the loss sustained. The amount of burglar insurance carried was $2,000. An investigation of the robbery of the bank was made by a representative of New York Fidelity and Casualty Company, in which the bank was insured.

A SINGULAR CASE.

A singular case is now in progress in the Circuit Court of Montgomery county, in which James D. Dove is plaintiff and his two sons, John W. Dove and Charles S. Dove, are defendants. The evidence so far produced shows that in 1897 a piece of property belonging to the plaintiff was sold under mortgage by Horace D. Waters, and that Waters bought the property. That the plaintiff agreed with Waters to buy the land back, paying for the same at the rate of $16 per month. The plaintiff then hired the defendants to farmers and took their wages to pay the monthly payments. At the time of the agreement between plaintiff and Waters for purchase of lands the two defendants were 19 and 20 years of age, respectively; the defendants continued to let their wages be paid to Waters until some time in the year 1900, when Waters deeded the property to the two defendants. Now the plaintiff asks that this deed be set aside and the property be deeded to him. Wm. Veirs Bouie is counsel for the plaintiff and H. Maurice Talbot and Bowie F. Waters for the defendants.—American.

MYSTERY OF A SHIRT.

The mystery of the shirt which was found hanging on a telegraph pole on Canton street, Baltimore, back of Patterson Park about 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening by Miss Alice Kirby and Mrs. Mary Clisahan, 719 South Canton street, which was embellished by an inscription which stated that the former owner had drowned himself in the new lake at the park, was thoroughly investigated Friday by the police of the Eastern district. Patrolmen Doerr and Command for several hours dragged the lake, but their efforts failed to bring to the surface the body of the supposed suicide.

MARYLAND STATE HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Plans for Fruit Exhibition At Next Annual Meeting.

It is expected that the exhibit of Fresh Fruit at the next Annual meeting of the Maryland State Horticultural Society will form one of the leading features of the meeting. This meeting will be held in Dushane Post Hall, Baltimore, December 12 and 13. Although it is some time before this gathering will occur, it is none too early for the fruit growers to begin making their plans relative to the meeting. It is hoped that those having fruit suitable for exhibition purposes will contribute whatever they can toward the interest of the fruit exhibit.

Arrangements similar to those of last year have been made with the Baltimore City Cold Storage and Warehouse Co., whereby they will place in cold storage fruit sent them for this exhibit. Fruit for this purpose should be picked as soon as it is well grown, without waiting for evidences of full ripeness to appear. It should be handled with the greatest possible care to avoid bruising; each specimen wrapped in tissue paper or some other suitable kind and carefully packed. Ship, express prepaid, to the above named company at No. 408 South Eutaw Street, Baltimore. Each package should be plainly marked in such a manner that the purpose for which fruit is intended shall be known. The cold storage company should be notified of each shipment, as should also the Secretary of the Society.

A large exhibit of fruit is hoped for. The exhibit at the last annual assembly was one of the most valuable features of the meeting. By vote of the Executive Board, certificates of merit signed by the President and Secretary will be issued, based on the report of the Exhibition Committee. The certificates will be of three grades—first, second and third—and be awarded on individual varieties of fruits in competition with each other; on collections of varieties; on new fruits and seedlings of merit; and on any other horticultural exhibits, based on the report of the committee in charge. Five specimens of each variety of fruit must be exhibited to compete for a certificate. Further information concerning matters relating to the Society may be obtained by addressing the Secretary, H. P. Gould, 1219 Thirteenth Street N. W., Washington, D. C.

BURGULARS WHO WERE BOLD BUT BUNGLING.

An attempted safe robbery, with several very peculiar features, was reported to the police and detective departments last Friday. Entrance was forced into the building occupied as an office by the American Light Company, 19 North Frederick street, Baltimore, and the heavy safe was rolled out about a foot from the wall, but apparently there was no very determined attempt to open the affair, as it was not scratched or injured.

The facts about the entry were first discovered by Mr. William Bruce, one of the clerks in the office, when he opened up the office in the morning. He found that the safe had been pulled out from the wall about 12 inches, and in front of it, on the floor, lay a heap of burned paper. Not having any light to work by, the would be thieves had evidently piled up a lot of paper and set it afire, to give them an opportunity to proceed. That this light was not noticed through the windows on the Frederick street side seems strange, for any one passing by at the time would undoubtedly thought the building was on fire. The front window was found to be open about six inches.

At the office Friday the affair was made light of, but the facts were not disputed. Friday was pay day, and the thieves probably hoped to make a big haul of the money intended for the men in the employ of the company. It is said, however, that this money is never carried in the safe, and that even had it been opened but little of value would have been secured.

ITALIANS ACQUITTED.

In the Circuit Court for Frederick county the Italians, Nazzarino Polucha and Stephano Valenoso, were adjudged not guilty of the charge of aiding and abetting in the murder of Giovanni Biondi. The homicide occurred at Adamstown, where the parties were engaged on the Baltimore and Ohio improvements. During a fight there on September 5 Biondi was stabbed in several places and taken to the Baltimore City Hospital, where he died September 7 from the wounds. Deberidino, who was charged with the stabbing, escaped and is still at large. As three of the principal State witnesses failed to appear and it was known they had gone to Pennsylvania, the defense offered no testimony. The jury retired and after a few minutes deliberation brought in their verdict of not guilty. Mr. J. Roger McSherry was counsel for the accused.

Moral.—Procure a bottle of this remedy before leaving home. It cannot be obtained when on a hunting, fishing or prospecting trip. REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

Met In Frederick and Nominated Candidates for the Various Offices.

The Republican County Convention for the purpose of nominating candidates for the House of Delegates and the county offices, was held in Frederick on Saturday last. The convention was called to order by A. D. Willard, chairman of the County Central Committee. Before calling for nominations for officers of the convention Mr. Willard made an address, in which he appealed to the delegates to sink selfish aims and prejudice, in order to secure the election of the entire ticket, and send to the Legislature men who will help to down Gorman and Raisin. The strength of the party, he said, lies not in individual strength, but in the unity of action.

The committee on resolutions, through its chairman, Reno S. Harp, reported the following, which were adopted: "Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God in his all-wise Providence to take from our midst our dearly beloved President, William McKinley, who was slain by the hand of a wretched assassin, and

"Whereas, today the whole civilized world mourns the loss which it has sustained in the death of this patriotic and God-fearing man, who by his public career, tender devotion to his afflicted wife and abiding Christian faith has so ingratiated himself into the hearts of the people that, although now still in death, he will ever live as the highest type of the world's greatest rulers; therefore, be it

"Resolved, that we tender to the sorely bereft widow and sorrowing family our heartfelt sympathy, and be it

MANUAL TRAINING SCHOOL.

Prof. W. C. A. Hammel visited Rockville and inspected the manual training department recently established at the Rockville High School. He gave his approval for the continuance of the school, which was necessary before the $1,500 annually allowed could be secured. County Examiner White hopes to establish a branch manual training school in another section of Montgomery county. It is understood that an industrial school for colored children will soon be established at Rockville. The State makes an annual allowance to each county of $1,500 for this purpose the only condition being that the county desiring the school provide a suitable building.

AFTER THE QUARREL.

A single smile from her rosy mouth,
A sudden glance from her soft eyes met,
And he turned, as the wind veers north or south,
And followed her, with his light feet went,
And he looked for a moment then,
And she met his face and smile again.
Say, not so
The heart of a girl, ah, who may know?

With every pace of his swift pursuit
Her step was quickened and her heart beat,
Her eyes were sparkling, and her lips were moist,
Never a glance or word of kind,
As if she checked her thought or care
For the eager footstep following there.
Was it so?
The heart of a girl, ah, who may know?

Did she love him more when look and smile Slightly less than to follow her?
Did she love him less when she saw her wife
His heart is true, his hope is true,
May rest you this little thing, but true—
She loved him most when she most withdrew Even so!
The heart of a girl, ah, who may know?

CAUGHT IN AN EXPLOSION.

A Miner's Description of His Feelings
When He Was Blown Up.

A miner who was blown up while blasting a rock describes his sensations thus:
"You see, it's so sudden. It's over just about the time you begin to understand that something is happening.
You know, I had the cartridge in my hand and put it down. Then I got afraid of it. All at once everything was light. I don't think I saw the flash. Anyhow, my face was not exactly toward the explosion."

"But then everything got light, lighter than day—kind of blinding. There was an awful crash. It was just at the same time. I was terrified and wanted to get away. It was just as if I was having the nightmare. Somehow, though, I knew just what the matter was. A man can think faster than he has any idea of. I knew that some of the others were nearer the explosion, and I said to myself, 'They're blown in bits, that's certain.'"

"You understand, this was all in a second—all at once, really. Then it was exactly the same as if I had been hit with a stick. I thought, 'It was a big stick, bigger than any man could swing, and that it must be worked by machinery. It hit me on the head and all over. I went sailing into the air a long, long way. My ears roared, and the wind blew into my face. I knew when I struck the ground, for I remember saying to myself, 'Well, I'm done for.'"
"I don't know just when I lost my right senses or when they came back, but when they did come back it seemed queer that I was there still. I thought I had been thrown somewhere else. I could feel my burning me. It was my clothes. They were smoking and almost blazing. I was bruised all over and could not hear very well. My voice sounded as though somebody else were talking. That's all I can tell you about it."

Hawk and Partridge.

In "Reminiscences of a Falconer" Major Fisher describes the tactics of a partridge when pursued by a tame falcon.

The falcon was descending upon the partridge when the partridge stopped short and fell to the ground as if dead.
It seemed to be lost in the short start of the field. It was far too knowing to trust himself again on the wing, and the hawk had no alternative but to take him on the ground, which he speedily attempted to do.

But on the ground the partridge was far more agile than he, running this way and that with great speed. The hawk would jump awkwardly up and dart after the scudding partridge, who just at the right moment jumped from the ground and over his back, descended on the other side and commenced running harder than before.

Time after time this was done. At every attempt the partridge met the hawk with outstretched neck and raised back, in the attitude of a fighting bantam cock, jumping up to avoid being clutched whenever the hawk struck at him. In fact, his whole action was that of a plucky little game fowl.

This went on for some time, until, as I regret to say, I ended the unequal strife by putting the partridge once more fairly on the wing, when, of course, the hawk readily overtook and captured it, not overmuch to his credit and still less to mine.

A Fish and Lizard Story.

One afternoon I thought I would go down the river and trail. I had with me a live minnow and in a little while had a strike, and I hooked my first fish, which seemed to be quite a large one. I reeled him where I could see him and found it was a large pike 25 or 30 inches long. I pulled him up to my boat, but when I lifted him from the water he was as light as a feather.
I measured him and found he was just 30 inches long and should have weighed eight or nine pounds, while he only weighed two. He was just skin and bones. I killed him, took my knife and cut him open and found a live lizard, five inches long, in his stomach. The reptile was as black and shiny as a beetle, living 24 hours after I took him from his prison.

Made Good Matches.

She-I can't make out how it is that Mr. Wise has fish for nearly every meal. It can't be for economy's sake, for she must be fairly well off.
He-She has a large family of unmarried daughters, you know.
She-Now, don't be nasty and say something about girls and their brains.
That's so old.
He-Oh, no, I hadn't the slightest intention of doing so!
She-Well, can't you tell me?
He-I don't know, I'm sure, unless it's because fish are rich in phosphorus.
She-I don't see what that has to do with it.
He-Perhaps not, but still it's good for making matches.

FARM GARDEN.

A VEGETABLE DAINTY.

Cauliflower Grown in Highest Perfection Under Irrigation.

Cauliflower is a favorite vegetable all over the civilized world, and where it can be grown successfully and by men who know what the plant requires it is a very profitable product. The chief requirements are a very rich soil, well prepared, and an abundance of moisture. Where irrigation is practicable there the highest measure of success is assured.

No land in a state of nature is sufficiently fertile to grow cauliflower to a high degree of perfection. As so much manure is required, it matters less what the quality of the land may be

FINE CAULIFLOWERS

than what the water supply. Thirty or forty thousand pounds per acre of barnyard manure suffice to make the soil conform to requirements, no matter what its previous condition may have been.

Cultivation requirements are about the same as those of cabbage, though a little more exacting. At the Texas experiment station, where the soil is about as unfavorable as possible, as high as $708.50 worth per acre has been grown, and it is claimed that the land on which this crop was grown was not sufficiently manured.

POINTS ON TOBACCO.

Cultivation, Worms, Topping, Suckering and Harvesting.

I aim to cultivate the crop about five times, not so much ten days, but when I plant, says an Ohio Farmer writer; first stirring, then plowing, then planting; last plowing, ten days after topping.

As to worms, they are sure to come.
I always aim to be ready for them. Up to this crop I have used poison in liquid form, and it has always given satisfaction.

I shall also try one pound of paris green to one bushel of air slacked lime and put it on by using tin can or basket by perforating bottom with holes. I shall begin to use this at the second plowing. One or two applications will be all that is needed. At the third cultivation we aim to cut out all grass, milkweeds, pea vines or anything of like nature that may have escaped the shovels.

As to hoeing, that is out of the question. Our hoeing is done with a riding cultivator.

Topping is the staggering point to a great many growers of the weed. Generally when the time comes to top the weather is dry, and we would like to top after a good rain, for then it will commence to spread at once, and that is what we top for. On Tobacco Leaf farm we aim to top as near clean as possible, for as it is topped so will it ripen.

Suckering should be commenced in about ten days after the tops have been cut out. Then they will have become about two inches long. The crop should be cleaned twice before cutting.
This is one of the back aches of the grower, but it must be done, or you will repent when the crop is being stripped and packed. We generally begin to harvest the latter part of August.

The Happy Truck Farmer.

Truck farming differs from the growing of ordinary field crops in that not so much land is needed for this work; hence the location of the home can be found in the suburbs of towns and cities, where both the advantages of city and rural life can be enjoyed. This is my ideal home. A man upon such a truck farm is a king, surrounded by the best influences of earth, away from the temptations and excitement of the city and close enough to take advantage of its schools, churches, water, lights, etc. He is in touch with the green, pulsating heart of nature, her invigorating atmosphere, her balmy sunshine, pure water, the song of the birds, the hum of the bees and the anoma of the flowers. What more enriching surroundings could a man need to lead a pure and happy life, which is the ultimate object and aim of human ambition when slumbered down to its elements?—Farm and Ranch.

Salt Valuable on Barley.

Common salt, which has long had a reputation with many farmers for its value as a fertilizer for barley, while others disbelieved in its efficacy, has been shown at the Canadian experiment farms to be a most valuable agent for producing an increased crop of that grain, while it is of much less use when applied to crops of spring wheat or oats. Land plaster or gypsum has also been proved to be of some value as a fertilizer for barley, while of very little service for wheat or oats.

Many physicians are now prescribing Kodol Dyspepsia Cure regularly, having found that it is the best prescription they can write because it is the one preparation which contains the elements necessary to digest not only some kind of food but all kind and it therefore cures indigestion and dyspepsia no matter what its cause. T.

GRANT'S RETREAT.

The General Went When a Policeman's Club Pointed the Way.

Speaking of nightbirds reminds me of seeing General Grant in his to my mind greatest hour, the only time he was ever beaten, and by a policeman.
I told his son, Fred Grant, of it when he became a police commissioner in the midwest. He was not in his great father's mold. The occasion I refer to was after the general's second term in the presidency. He was staying at the Fifth Avenue hotel, when one morning the Masonic temple was burned. The fire line was drawn half way down the block toward Fifth avenue, but the police were much hampered by the crowd and the firemen, who were standing by, saw a man in a great ulster with head buried deep in the collar, a cigar sticking straight out, coming down the street from the hotel. I recognized him at sight as General Grant. The policeman who blocked his way did not. He grabbed him by the collar, swung him about and, hitting him a resounding whack across the back with his club, yelled out:
"What's the matter with you? Don't you see the fire lines? Chase yourself out of here and be quick about it."
The general never said a word. He did not stop to argue the matter. He had run up against a sentinel and when he stopped went the other way. That was all. The man had a right to be there; he had none. I was never so much an admirer of Grant as since that day. It was true greatness. A smaller man would have made a row, stood upon his dignity and demanded the punishment of the policeman. As for him, there was probably never so badly frightened a policeman with a I told him whom he had clubbed. I will warrant he did not sleep for a week, fearing all kinds of things. No need of it. Grant probably never gave him a thought.—Jacob Nills in Outlook.

Apple Pie Order.

To feel in apple pie order is a phrase which dates back to Puritan times—to a certain Hephzibah Merton. It seems that every Saturday she was accustomed to bake two or three dozen apple pies, which were to last her family through the coming week. These she placed carefully on her pantry shelves, labeled for each day of the week, so that Tuesday's pies might not be confused with Thursday's nor those presumably large or intended for washing and sweeping days eaten when household labors were lighter. Aunt Hep-zibah's "apple pie order" was known throughout the entire settlement and originated the well known saying.

The Grate's Timidity.

A grate is very timid on hearing slight sounds, but is indifferent to loud ones. A writer in The Leisure Hour says: "Nasty sounds, like a man walking by with heavy boots, it does not notice, but a lady coming in with hardly more sound than the rustling of her dress makes it start, with pricked ears and eyes distended. We remember well, after a terrible explosion of gunpowder on a barge on the canal, asking the keeper of the grates of that day how they had taken it, and he said he was surprised how very little notice they took. They jumped to their feet, but almost at once lay down again when they found nothing happened."

POPULAR SCIENCE.

Mercury's year is only 88 days, that of Venus 225 days and of Mars 687 days.

Cumulus, or thunder clouds, rarely rise over two miles. Seven miles is the outside height for any cloud.

The edge of the moon is so broken by peaks, ridges and valleys that the length of totality during a solar eclipse is affected by them.

The sun's heat raises from the earth 57,000,000 tons of water a minute. To do the same work artificially a cube of coal 200 miles deep, wide and high would have to be burned every second.

The archaic, wasteful "beehive" oven process of making charcoal has been superceded in many parts of Germany by modern methods which save all the ammonia, gas, tar and other products of the wood.

A human body contains some of the smallest things of nature. The blood, for example, is a colorless liquid in which little red globules are floating. Every drop of it contains about a million of the globules, and they are susceptible of division into smaller globules still.

Making the Blind See.

Success in desperate cases by conservative treatment is the lesson often repeated and yet never quite sufficiently learned by any physician or surgeon.
The infinite ingenuity behind the healing processes, the never renounced struggle toward normality, is an ever renewed source of wonder. All that is needed to elicit it is confidence in it.
In doing anything radical, watchful-ness to follow up the hints to action as they begin to show themselves.

We know of a living and happy patient who ten years ago had albuminuric retinitis from long existing Bright's disease despite what all the textbooks say as to "two years" in such cases.
"Don't do the irrevocable thing until forced to do it" is the warning that has saved many organs and lives.
Above all, never proceed with surgery ("the despair of medicine") until physiologic and medical methods have been exhausted.

The Wiener Klinischer Wochenschrift
tells of the success of Herr Hehr, director of an asylum for the blind, in educating the remnant of visual power retained by a "blind" child. There was only perception of light in a narrow field left, but this by education was made to yield such indications to the courage boy that after 14 months of en-davor the boy has very useful vision, can distinguish colors and forms and even can read.

There are possibly thousands of blind people who have renounced vision instead of cultivating it to a degree that would render the blind types useless—

An Ant For a Pet.

One of the queerest little pets ever seen is the tame ant belonging to a well known scientist. This man keeps tribes of ants in nests which he has made himself and feeds them with honey or sugar, through a tube that connects with the nests. One day he saw that one of the ants kept coming into the tube to eat up the honey in the glass bulb at the end. When he took out the cork that closed the bulb, the insect came to look for the food, and he offered it some honey on the point of a needle, says the New York Tribune.

The ant shrank back at first, then drew nearer, feeling about with its antennæ, until it reached the needle.
Soon it learned to take the honey off its keeper's finger, although ants are among the most timid of living things, and a new odor or the least movement outside their nests usually drives these little insects away.

This ant is now so tame that it quits the bulb as soon as the cork is removed and goes to find the honey on the sci-entist's finger. When its meal is over, it does not try to hurry away, but waits till its master lifts it on a bristle and carries it back to its nest.

A Rattlesnake Story.

In "Life and Sport on the Pacific Coast," Horace A. Vachell relates one of his narrow escapes from a friend's bullet. "My cousin and I had been camping and hunting for several days in a sort of paradise valley. One day, during a long ride on horseback, we had seen a great many rattlesnakes and killed a few, an exceptional experience. That night my cousin woke up and saw, by the light of the moon, a big rattler crawling across my chest.
He lay for a moment fascinated, horror struck, watching the sinuous curves of the reptile."

"Then he quietly reached for his six shooter, but he could not see the reptile's head, and he moved nearer, noiselessly, yet quickly, dreading some movement on my part that should precipitate the very thing he dreaded, and then he saw that it was not a snake at all—only the black and yellow stripe of my blanket, which gently rose and fell as I breathed. Had he fired—well, it might have been bad for me, for he confessed that his hand shook."
