"Let No One Hurt Him."

"Cortelyou," said the President, "my wife—be careful about her; don't let her know." Moved by a paroxysm of pain, he writhed to the left, and then his eyes fell on the prostrate form of the assassin. Czolgosz lay on the floor, bloody and helpless beneath the blows of the guards. The President raised his right hand, red with his own blood, and placed it on the shoulder of his secretary. "Let no one hurt him," he gasped, and sank back in the chair.

In recorded history there is no finer instance of moral grandeur than is to be found in the above simple recital. That President McKinley in his hour of agony should have given his first thought to another, his dear wife, was beautiful, as all promptings of real love must be. That his second feeling should have been one of pity and anxiety for the wretch who, without cause or provocation, had just done him to death, places him forever upon a plane of moral altitude almost unattainable by man.

If there ever shall be full compensation for the loss of so noble a life it must be found in such a lesson and example as the tragic death of this great man has brought home to the people who he had loved, and who loved him.

This, our day of sorrow and prayer, could little advantage us should we prove unmindful of the lesson William McKinley seems to have given his life to teach us as a nation.

In our dead President and his assassin we have perfect contrast between the extreme types of civilization and barbarism; between a godlike nobility and human wickedness. Yet so has the lesson been lost that many good citizens desire to apply Czolgosz's own low methods to Czolgosz himself. They would willingly put him to torture and deserved death without the due process and protection of the law.

"Let no one hurt him" was a last public injunction. Before the mob that would have torn his murderer to pieces the dying President held high the standard of the Gospel and the law.

Let us take counsel with ourselves in this day of darkness and trial, and follow in the path blazoned for us by sacrifice and death.

We must not retrograde to Czolgosz instead of going forward with McKinley. We must be rid of anarchy and stand firm for civilized justice.

Czolgosz must die that better men may live—that society may be protected from the enemies of the human race—but he must die by law, with no greater cruelty than the law decrees. Since the prayer was uttered: "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do," vengeance has ceased to be a moral right of man, the infliction of unprovoked human suffering a thing abhorrent.

In these days of lynch law and mob violence, if the lesson have been taught that it is better to die as our martyr died, profiting by his example of charity and forgiveness, than to follow in the bloody track of anarchy, no matter how great the provocation, the President has not died in vain. If the nation love its dead martyr this lesson must be taken to heart. We have it upon authority that he bowed to that "they who love Me will keep My commandments."—Philadelphia Record.

"Did you know," said the man who is always worrying, "that the coal supply will be exhausted in a few million years?"

"Well," answered the friend with the world-weary face, "can you blame it? You would be exhausted too if you were worked for a million years, wouldn't you?"

Why express surprise at so simple a phenomenon?"—Washington Star.

A TWENTY-YEAR MINE FIRE.

One of the greatest fires in history—a subterranean conflagration which has already been raging for over twenty years—is causing renewed interest in the coal-mining districts of Nova Scotia. All efforts to circumvent the flames have proved fruitless and hope is now practically abandoned. The scene of the disaster is near the mining town of New Glasgow, in the peninsula province, down by the sea, and the fire originated in 1880. It is burning in a rich seam of coal, thirty feet thick, and in a mine which has a shaft 1,000 feet deep. The problem of extinguishing the flames is no nearer solution than it was twenty-one years ago. Water has been let in, but the fire is above the sea level, and the expensive work of flooding has had no effect.

After many futile efforts to extinguish the fire, the engineer directed their efforts toward devising plans for circumventing it and reaching the coal still intact. To that end all the approaches leading to the fire and all the neighboring workings were driven lower down. But every plan so far devised has proved a failure. The all-conquering fire has broken through, and every new work has been reluctantly abandoned.—Quebec Correspondence Chicago Record Herald.

Before he used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure indigestion had made him a total wreck. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

ONE WITH A BILL.

When I came home yesterday the maid met me at the door. "Mr. Thomason," she said, "someone with a bill was here yesterday."

Glanced in the parlor and saw that the room was full of neighbors.

"Someone with a bill?" I queried. "Was it the lawyer?"

"No," answered Marie, with a smile, "it was the stock."

I have since heard that some people say that the dialogue between the maid and myself was arranged beforehand, so as to give out the impression in the neighborhood that I was a wit, but that's a lie.—Indianapolis Sun.

She Valued Her Head.

Henry VIII, after the death of Jane Seymour, had some difficulty in getting another wife. His first offer was to the duchess dowager of Milan, but her answer is said to have been: "I have only one head. If I had two, one should certainly be at his service."

GUTTA-PERCHA GETTING SCARE.

Counsel Atwell, of Roubaix, writes that the scientists in France are now engaged upon the problem of acclimatizing the Isonandra gutta-percha, indispensable to the construction of submarine cable. It seems that no other product known at present replaces the gutta-percha found in the forests of the Malay Peninsula and in certain districts in Malacca. Interior quantities have not the requisite durability for submarine use. The plantation in the above-mentioned districts have been so ruinously exploited by the natives, who uproot full-grown trees and cut young plants before they come to maturity, that it is feared there will be a shortage in the supply of this quality of gutta-percha in the course of 15 years, unless means are taken to protect the forests or to propagate the plants elsewhere.—American.

A Reef, a Sand Bank and a River.

Lord Coleridge, the famous lord chief justice, once recounted to Sir Mount Stuart E. Grant-Duff an incident of his earlier life. He had to cross examine an eminent professional witness about a proposed harbor. In the course of doing so he said, "But, Mr. —, isn't there a reef of rocks that would be a great inconvenience to you?"

"Oh, yes," replied the witness. "Undoubtedly there is, but we propose to get rid of it in such and such a manner."

"Very good," rejoined Coleridge, "but when you have got rid of it, would there not be a very awkward sand bank to contend with?"

"Certainly," said the witness, "but against it we should provide thus and thus."

"Well," answered Coleridge, "but when you have removed both these obstacles would you not still have a great deal of trouble from the current of the river when in flood?"

"Clearly," was the answer, "but we should encounter that difficulty successfully by another expedient," which the witness proceeded to explain.

"You have seen the place, have you not?" said Coleridge.

"Oh, yes," replied the other.

"Well, I never did," was the rejoinder. "I have invented all the reef, the sand bank and the river!"

Message For the Scalp.

The hair falls out when the strength of its roots is insufficient to sustain its weight any longer, and a new hair will take its place unless the root is diseased. For this reason each person has a certain definite length of hair. When the hair begins to split or fall out, massage of the scalp is excellent.

Place the tips of the fingers firmly upon the scalp, and then vibrate or move the scalp while holding the pressure steadily. This will stimulate the blood vessels underneath and bring about better nourishment of the hair. A brush of unevenly tufted bristles is also excellent to use upon the scalp, not the hair.

Irregularity and Indigestion.

A common cause of indigestion is irregularity respecting the time of meals. The human system seems to form habits and to be in a degree dependent upon the performance of its function in accordance with the habits formed. In respect to digestion this is especially observable. If a meal is taken at a regular hour, the stomach becomes accustomed to receiving food at that hour and is prepared for it.

If meals are taken irregularly, the stomach is taken by surprise, so to speak, and is never in that state of readiness in which it should be for the prompt and perfect performance of its work.

Ashes on Cigars.

"Few men professing to be judges of fine cigars know anything at all about smoking them," remarked a cigar dealer. "The ashes on the end of the cigar serve to retain the flavor and should be permitted to remain as long as possible. Then the constant thumping some smokers give their cigars in the attempt to keep them clear of ashes often causes the wrappers to break, and that also lessens the pleasure of a good smoke."

Dogs of Alaska.

The dogs of Alaska are called malamutes. They are a cross between a dog and a wolf and work in harness soon after their birth. They do not bark, but have a peculiar howl. They have long hair and can sleep in the open with the thermometer 60 degrees below zero. Their usual food is fish and seal blubber. They are fed once a day, usually at night.

Where to Begin.

Flies Are Tough.

A fly is almost invincible. It will survive long immersion in water, will sustain the odors of sulphur and other disinfectants without apparent injury. Only turpentine, chloroform and ammonia and washing can get the better of a fly.

The Professor at Home.

"Grandpa," said Dot, who had been puzzling her brains over something she was reading, "what is 'food for thought'?"

"Head cheese, my child," replied the professor.—Chicago Tribune.

Too Realistic.

"Look here," said a Suffolk farmer to a friend, "I'm going to kill my pig, but I owe so much pork to my neighbors that I shall have none left for myself if I pay it all back. What would you do?"

"Quite easy to trick 'em," said the friend. "Kill your pig and leave it hanging outside until late at night, so's every one can see it. Then take it in and say some one stole it. Stick to the tale, and you'll be all right."

The farmer followed instructions, and the kind friend watched his chance and stole the pig. The poor farmer came around next morning to tell what had happened.

"Somebody's stolen my pig!" he cried.

"Good!" said the friend. "Stick to it, and the neighbors 'll believe you, sure enough."

"But it was stolen, I tell you!"

"Excellent!" quoth the friend. "Just you stick to the tale."

"You confounded ass!" yelled the farmer. "Don't you understand? It was really stolen!"

"Superb!" laughed the delighted friend. "You ought to have been an actor, so you ought."

That Suffolk farmer slammed the door and went away fuming.—London Answers.

Fire Among the Redwoods.

Perhaps the most startling phenomenon of the fire was the quick death of childlike sequoias only a century or two ago, says John Muir in The Atlantic. In the midst of the other comparatively slow and steady fire work one of these tall, beautiful saplings, leafy and branchy, would be seen blazing up suddenly all in one heaving, booming, passionate flame reaching from the ground to the top of the tree and fifty to a hundred feet or more above it, with a smoke column bending forward and streaming away on the upper free-flowing wind.

By burn these green trees a strong fire of dry wood beneath them is required to send up a current of air hot enough to distill inflammable gases from the leaves and sprays; then, instead of the lower limbs gradually catching fire and igniting the next and next in succession, the whole tree seems to explode almost simultaneously, and with awful roaring and throbbing a long tapering flame shoots up 200 or 300 feet, and in a second or two is quenched, leaving the green spear a black dead mast bristled and roughened with down curling boughs.

To Cure Round Shoulders.

In the case of round shoulders the muscles of the back are likely to stiffen from disuse. A special exercise to get them into a limber condition seems to be necessary. Stretch out and down with the arms until they nearly touch the floor, bending back in like manner. To successfully accomplish the latter sit on a stool before an upright piano or heavy desk, plant your knees firmly against the furniture until you have a good support, then slowly bend backward with your hand pointed over your head. At first you think you will surely crack in half, so stiff are the muscles, but astonishingly soon comes the pliability, and as it is impossible to fall your progress is easy and rapid. This exercise if persisted in will straighten out a curved spine, but it must be done gently and with patience, because the tendons in the back are delicate and must not be coerced.

The Lustrous Pearl.

Pearls, as most readers know, are small bodies found either in the mother of pearl shells or those with a nacreous lining. They are formed either by a disease, by the presence of a parasite or by an effort of some foreign substance to rid itself of some foreign substance which has found its way into the shell.

Pearls are composed of many layers of carbonate of lime with organic matter between and are not always pearly throughout and invariably have some small central core or nucleus. Round pearls of fine luster and color are very valuable, and their value increases rapidly with their size.

Daring Wasps.

"Wasps were the first paper makers," said an entomologist. "It is very interesting to study the ways of these fierce little insects. For the sake of a grain of honey stored a single individual will sometimes face a whole hive of bees, being in fair combat a match for any three inhabitants of the apiary. Most of us have had experience of the fearlessness with which they will attack human beings."

Fire Fighting in England.

In the smaller places in England horses have to be borrowed for the fire engines. Often thirty to fifty minutes are wasted in getting horses, which, when an alarm of fire was given, were at work at their daily duty. A considerable amount of time is also lost in finding proper harness for them. The harnessing of steam engines in country districts is a very difficult problem.

How the Lover Looks at the Fire.

When a young Savoyard goes a-wooing, he pays considerably more attention to the admired one's fire than to her face. If she leaves the billets of wood undisturbed on the hearth, it is a sign that he is welcome, but should she place one of the blazing fagots in an upright position against the others it is a hint for him to take his departure.

Slings—Why don't you say it to his face?

Bangs—I don't want to.

Slings—You're afraid to, ain't you?

Bangs—Ch. no. But his face has enough to bear already.—Detroit Free Press.

DIED TRYING TO SAVE SONS.

Connellsville, Pa., Oct. 13.—Touching devotion of father and son surrounds the story of a tragedy at Juncataway to-day, by which John Gilleland and his two sons are dead in a little miners' home.

By accident the younger sons fell into an air shaft filled with poisonous black damp. The older son went in after him and the father descended into the black depths to save the two. It was a death trap for three.

The shaft a short distance from the Gilleland home, was formerly used as a manway from the mine, but within the past few years all the coal was worked out and the gas of the unventilated mine escaped through the opening, about two feet in diameter.

The sons, James and Winfield, were playing around the shaft. The former was 11 and the latter 15 years old. James crawled to the top of the shaft and sat there, shouting to his brother. Suddenly a gust of the deadly gas struck him and he fell head long into the dark hole.

Not realizing the danger his brother went down after him. The father saw the two disappear down the shaft and hurried to the place. He heard faint cries for help, and in an instant descended. His body became wedged about six feet from the top and the deadly damp soon did its work.

Word was sent to the surrounding mines. Foreman John Nicholson, of Juncataway, directed the rescue work. A farmer's windmill was called into service, and a current thrown into the shaft. Nicholson and John Baker went down for the bodies. These were brought up one at a time.

When the brave men came up with their last load they were both overcome, and are still in a very critical condition from the effects of the gas.

When the bodies were recovered a physician worked for several hours to revive them, but in vain. Hundreds of people surrounded the shaft during the several hours the rescue work was in progress, and great excitement prevailed.

Gilleland leaves a wife and several children. He has worked for the Juncataway Coke Company for 25 years. He is known as an experienced miner, and his venture into the gas-filled shaft is explained only by his unselfish devotion to his sons.—Phila. Record.

SAVED BY FLUCK.

The Washington-Frederick express train due at Frederick at 4 o'clock ran into an open switch in the Frederick yards Sunday afternoon, but by the prompt action of the engineer, Patrick Collins, a bad wreck was averted. The train, in charge of Conductor Brown, consisting of two coaches and the express car, was entering the edge of the city at the usual rate of speed, when suddenly the engineer observed he had struck an open switch which ran into the roundhouse. He firmly stuck to his post, with his hands on the throttle. He reversed his engine, applied the air brakes, and saved the wreck. The train passed over the turntable, plowed into the engine house, and tearing the end out of the building, ran into an embankment of rock and earth, which brought it to a standstill. The front of the engine was smashed. The passengers were thrown over by the sudden halt and badly frightened, but no one was seriously hurt.

FREIGHT WRECK.

A freight wreck wreck of considerable proportions occurred about midnight Thursday near Henrytown, on the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. The train was bound east and consisted of a large number of heavily laden coal cars. Nine hoppers were thrown from the track, four of which were entirely demolished and the broken fragments mixed with the contents and piled along the tracks for some distance. The accident happened just before the midnight passenger train to Mount Airy arrived at that point, and the passengers were compelled to wait until Friday morning to be transferred to their destinations. Trains were sent from Baltimore to the scene of the wreck to convey the passengers to the city. A large force of hands worked during the night and until noon Friday before the tracks were cleared.

TO CONNECT TWO SEAS.

According to Engineering, the Russian Hydro-Technical Congress has recently been seriously considering the project of constructing a canal between the Black and Caspian seas. The industrial center of Russia keeps steadily moving southward, owing to the development of the naphtha, iron and coal industries. At present the yield of naphtha in that part of the empire amounts to some 400,000,000 pounds (about 7,400,000 tons) annually, and that of coal to 600,000,000 pounds (10,800,000 tons). The existing railways are even now unable to satisfactorily handle the large traffic, and new means of transportation are urgently needed. The proposed canal is to have a depth of 22 feet and a breadth of 150 feet. It is to commence at Astrakhan, and its terminus will be at the roads of Taganrog, on the Azov sea. The estimated cost is 40,000,000 roubles ($20,000,000).

AN OVERSEER'S DEATH.

Silas Fleming, overseer at the summer home of Col. Wilbur F. Jackson, ex-president of the Continental Bank of Baltimore, died last Thursday afternoon of paralysis of the respiratory organs. About three weeks ago he was severely punished at the hands of a Cambridge policeman. Mr. Emerson C. Harrington, state's attorney, with Mr. Daniel Moore, of the Neck district as coroner, went to the dead man's residence to hold a post-mortem examination to inquire into the cause of his death. An autopsy was made by Dr. John Mace, Dr. Guy Steele and Dr. Sidney Stokes, and their report absolutely denied that the man's death was caused by such punishment. The coroner's jury exonerated the policeman from any blame as to the cause of the man's death.

RICH HAUL BY CRACKSMEN.

The vault of the Farmers and Citizens' Bank at Tiro, a small town near Gallion, O., was wrecked early this morning by six robbers, who secured the contents and escaped.

It is said the vault contained $40,000. The cracksmen used nitroglycerin, and the doors of the vault were blown completely off. The noise of the explosion awoke the inhabitants of the town, but all who approached the bank were driven away by the robbers, who were armed with rifles. Mayor McConnell attempted to enter the bank, but was fired upon by the robbers and compelled to retreat.

With their booty the cracksmen went to a livery stable, where they bound and gagged the owner. They then took several horses and carriages and drove away. A posse and bloodhounds are on their trail.

W. T. WESSON, Gholsonville, Va., druggists, writes: "Your One Minute Cough Cure gives perfect satisfaction. My customers say it is the best remedy for coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles."

SHOCKED TO DEATH.

Morris Brodstein, 28 years old, of 1005 East Baltimore street, stepped upon an iron gutter plate in front of the store of Halliday Bros., florists, 11 East Baltimore street, which happened to be heavily charged with electricity, and was instantly killed at 7:40 o'clock Sunday morning.

At the same time Abraham Shear, 903 Fawn street, who was with Brodstein, received a shock that threw him into the doorway leading to Charles Quartley's studio, on the second floor of the Halliday building.

Two electric linemen and Round Sergeant Stroet, Central district, went to the roof of the Halliday building and soon discovered the cause of the trouble. A six-inch galvanized iron spoke-pipe runs up from Halliday's store to about a foot above the tin roof. Over the top of the pipe is a ventilator of the same material, and upon it rested a feed wire that runs into the building of the Heneghan-Bates Company, jewelers, 13 East Baltimore street. This wire had come in contact with an electric lighting wire of heavy voltage. The current passed from the electric light wire to the feed wire, thence to the smoke-pipe, down it to the tin roof, along the roof to the rainspout running down the front of the Halliday building, and down it to the gutter plate that extended from the building wall to the curb.

HEAVY DAMAGES WANTED.

Mrs. Rebecca Broadstein, widow of Morris Broadstein, who was killed on Sunday last by an electric shock as he stepped on a gutter plate on Baltimore street, near Charles street, Baltimore, brought suit in the Court of Common Pleas Tuesday by Attorneys Martin Behlmer and Lewis N. Frank, and in behalf also of her three children, against the United Electric Light and Power Company, claiming $40,000 damages. The same attorneys also entered suit for Abraham Shear, by titling, against the same company, claiming $10,000 damages. Shear is the man who was with Broadstein when killed, and was himself severely shocked and injured.

A WORTHY SUCCESSOR
"Something New Under The Sun."

All Doctors have tried to cure CATARRH by the use of powders, acid gases, inhalers and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of CATARRH, has at last perfected a Treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures CATARRH, by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the afflicted parts. This wonderful remedy is known as "SNUFFLES" the GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE. It is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use.

"SNUFFLES" is the only perfect CATARRH CURE ever made and is now recognized as the only safe and positive cure for that annoying and disgusting disease. It cures all inflammation quickly and permanently and is also wonderfully quick to relieve HAY FEVER or COLD IN THE HEAD.

CATARRH when neglected often leads to CONSUMPTION—"SNUFFLES" will save you if you use it at once. It is no ordinary remedy, but a complete treatment which is positively guaranteed to cure CATARRH in any form or stage it used according to the directions which accompany each package. Don't delay but send for it at once, and write full particulars as to your condition, and you will receive special advice from the discoverer of this wonderful remedy regarding your case without cost to you beyond the regular price of "SNUFFLES" the "GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE". SAN JOSE SCALE IS ABUNDANT.

Prof. A. L. Quinton, of the Maryland Agricultural College, says that the San Jose scale is becoming so abundant throughout Maryland that the extermination of it entirely is absolutely out of the question, and that the only thing for fruit-growers to do is to spray their trees every spring in order to keep it down. It is, he says, carried long distances by birds, by people on their clothing, by animals and in other ways. The majority of the fruit trees in the vicinity of College Park are now thoroughly infested.

Then came music "Crossing the Bar," by Miss Riddle. The male members then read pieces on the subject assigned. Refreshments followed of a dainty nature, and the hour of closing came all too soon. SPECTACLES FOR VOTERS

Campaign Committee Looking For Those Who Have Poor Eyesight.

An exchange says: "The election law passed at the extra session of the Legislature has certainly been a blessing in disguise to at least one branch of trade. Spectacle makers will profit by it. The Republican party will have purchased about 100 gross of spectacles by the time election day comes in order that their voters who have bad eyesight may have plenty of facility in dimly-lighted booths to see the names on the tickets they will have to mark.

"Already a large number of the spectacles have been sent out for use in the schools for illiterates, and on election day there will be about a dozen pairs of spectacles in each voting precinct. They will be of different strengths, and will be graded by an oculist especially for the purposes for which they are intended. They Republican Campaign Committee has found that it has a large number of persons who see well enough under ordinary circumstances not to require the use of glasses, but when these same persons are put in a badly-lighted booth with a long list of names to decipher and mark properly, their eyesight does not serve them well. For the benefit of such as these on election day will be found a man at the polls who will accommodate the voter with a pair of glasses. As they anticipate, too, that some of these glasses may be requested as souvenirs of the occasion, they have laid in what they believe to be an ample supply.

"The number of spectacles required—100 gross, or 14,400 pairs—seems stupendous, but it is not believed to be too great under the circumstances. The glasses themselves will be of good quality, according to Chairman Goldsborough, but the frames will be cheap. The first knowledge that these glasses would be needed came from schools for the illiterates throughout the State, and the demand for them has been steady since these schools were inaugurated. Many of the older colored men have never felt the need of glasses because they could not read, but upon trying to decipher the sample ballots, found they were utterly at sea."

HISTORIC HOUSE TORN DOWN.

Nothing is now left of the old Governor's mansion of Maryland, which has lately been used at the Naval Academy, at Annapolis, as the institution's library, but piles of brick. This building was erected prior to 1750 and was the home of Governors Sharp and Elen of Colonial times, and Thomas Johnson, William Paca, William Smallwood, and all the Governors of Maryland up to 1867.

When all other buildings in the vicinity, including the superintendent's house, were torn down to make room for the calet quarters, armory, etc., this was allowed to stand on account of its historic interest. It was decided to put on a new roof, make a few changes and convert it into a new home for the superintendent. When this work was begun, however, it was found that the walls were too weak to support any weight. There were great cracks running in all directions and the bricks would crumble at the slightest jar. It was found necessary to pull down the entire building. It will be rebuilt, however, upon the same quaint plan of architecture of pretty grayish brick.

REGISTERED VOTERS.

The officers of registration were in session on Tuesday for the purpose of striking from the lists all persons disqualified to vote at the coming election. In Precinct No. 1, 50 names were stricken from the list of qualified voters, leaving upon the registration books the names of 471 qualified voters. The total number of voters in Precinct No. 1, last year was 495.

The names of the students at Mt. St. Mary's College, who were placed upon the suspected list, were not stricken from the list of qualified voters by the registrars. It is reported that an effort will be made to have the Court order their names to be stricken from the registration books.

In Precinct No. 2 the names of 42 persons were stricken from the registration books, leaving upon the books in this precinct the names of 345 voters.

The total number of registered voters in the two precincts is 816. The total number of registered voters in 1900 was 860, a loss of 44.

FALSE REPORTS OF SMALLPOX.

Dr. O. H. W. Ragan is in daily receipt of inquiries from all sections of the State regarding the report that smallpox exists in Hagerstown. It is supposed the report is the second edition of a similar false report started last week by enemies of the Frederick Fair. There has been no case of smallpox in Hagerstown since May last, and none in Washington county since August. It is alleged the report was started to injure the attendance at the Hagerstown Fair this week, as was the case by a similar story concerning Frederick.—Sun.

YORK AGRICULTURAL FAIR.

Communicated.

The York Fair was claimed to be the best fair ever held in the history of fairs in York county. The people, and especially the York daily papers, claimed an attendance of 60,000 to 70,000 in the fair grounds on Thursday, the 10th of October, and there certainly was an immense throng, dozens hanging on the outside of every car until noon, and still they went from the city two or three hours in the afternoon, and cars crowded until after dark returning to the city. All kinds of vehicles and bicycles went to and from the grounds.

The fair was a good one. They had a fine display of live stock, especially cattle. The sheep and swine were very good, but not a large number of either. The poultry was the largest ever brought there. It was certainly fine. The vegetable and farm products were not as fine as I have seen, but still good. The fruit was a fine display, considering this was not a good season for fruit. The worst feature was some plates of popular varieties, had some among both apples and pears that were not genuine, thereby showing that the exhibitors had bought from nurseries or tree agents that would sell any variety called for and label from whatever variety they had the most of. Grapes were fine—the few displayed. The farm machinery and implements were very good.

Talk about prosperity, this is certainly the most prosperous year yet for the fairs. I never saw such open gambling. They raked in money by the handful and the half. Then the side shows and all kinds of goods sold on the grounds and all refreshment stands did a splendid business. In addition to this all the lame, the halt and the blind were there from everywhere, begging, some playing instruments and others simply saying, "Please help the blind, please." I never saw so many blind people outside of an asylum.

The smoking car was more than half filled with the fairs Saturday morning going to the Hagerstown Fair, and nearly all gloriously drunk; enough sober ones to keep any of their number from being left at Porters. Some were playing poker to see who would get the most of their big haul at York.

There was a great deal of late seeding of grain all the way from Gettysburg to York. Respectfully yours, S. G.

Pretty Home Wedding.

A pretty home wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride, in Baltimore, at high noon on Wednesday, when Miss Sara O. Jamison, of 1419 Park avenue, became the bride of Mr. Clarence S. Martin, of Charming, Pa. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Mr. Grey, an Episcopal minister from Annapolis, Md. The parlor was beautifully decorated with palms and cut flowers. The bride entered the parlor on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Forbs, who gave her away. The bride was gown in white organza over tulle, and carried bride's roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Gates, of Annapolis, also wore white organza over tulle, and carried carnations. The groom and the best man, Mr. Hopple, of Blue Ridge Summit, wore the usual black.

After the ceremony refreshments were served to the large number of assembled friends of the contracting parties, after which the bride and groom started on a wedding tour to Buffalo, Niagara, Canada and other places in the North.

The presents were many and handsome, consisting of China, silver, cut glass, and many other useful and ornamental articles.

Mrs. D. B. Martin, of Fountain Dale, Pa., mother of the groom, and Mrs. William P. Nunemaker, of this place, attended the wedding.

ALL WIRES BURNED OUT.

Every telegraph instrument in the Western Union Telegraph Company's main office, in the basement of the Equitable Building, Baltimore, was stopped shortly after midnight Monday morning by a fire in the big cable box beneath the Fayette street sidewalk.

The fire started from two crossed wires and burned fiercely for some time. Sergeant Kirby, of the Central district, notified No. 4 Engine Company, which is on Lexington street, a short distance from the scene of the trouble, and the men responded quickly with the hose wagon. A special call for the Salvage Corps was also sent in. The fire was extinguished in a short time, but not before the cables in the box were completely burned out, practically isolating office from the outside world as far as telegraph communication is concerned.

The smell of burning rubber from the insulation of the wires was overpowering and was noticeable several blocks away.

An expert telegrapher said in speaking of the trouble: "The stoppage of the instruments is due to the fuses behind the switchboard burning out. This damage is easily repaired in half an hour. But if the heavy cables in the cable-box are melted and run together it will take considerable time to repair the damage and get things in working order."

$100,000 UP IN SMOKE.

Early Sunday Morning Blaze in Baltimore.

An early morning fire in the four-story building at 204 and 205 West Baltimore street, Baltimore, Sunday caused a damage estimated at fully $100,000. The principal losers were Messrs. John A. Baker & Co., wholesale notions. The fire was confined to the building No. 204. Occupants of the three-story building 200 and 202, at the northwest corner of Baltimore and Liberty streets, suffered to some extent from smoke and heat. Morton C. Stout, merchant tailor, occupies the first floor, and A. B. Kirchbaum & Co., of Philadelphia, clothing manufacturers the second floor. Herman Gundersheimer, maker of shirts and gloves, and S. C. Hollander, maker of pantaloons, are also occupants of the building.

Members and representatives of the firms in Nos. 200 and 202 could not estimate their loss Sunday, as it was from smoke and water, and the extent of damage cannot be learned without careful investigation. It is thought the damage will be between $5,000 and $10,000.

The Salvage Corps spread tarpaulins over the stock of the Schwarzkopf Toy Company, 2 North Liberty street, into whose building smoke and water were penetrating.

The fire broke out in the rear of the fourth floor of 204 West Baltimore street about 5:20 o'clock. Three newsboys, Philip and Joseph Myers, and Max Lipschitz, saw smoke rising upward from the rear of the roof, but were afraid to turn in an alarm. Instead, they yelled "Fire!" lustily. A moment later a tongue of flame leaped in the air and was seen by Patrolman Harry V. Aronson, of the Western district. He ran to the nearest box, No. 422, Fayette and Howard streets, and turned in an alarm.

Almost at the same time the light had been seen by members of the Salvage Corps at their headquarters, Liberty and Fayette streets, and they sent in an alarm from Box No. 413, at that place. The alarm from No. 422 was given the right of way, however.

When the fire company reached the scene the flames were roaring and leaping into the air in a magnificent but terrifying manner, being fed by the combustible laces and fancy goods of the stock. It seemed as if a large part of the important business block bounded by Baltimore, Howard, Fayette and Liberty streets was doomed.

A general alarm was at once sent in, and all the available fire apparatus responded. By this time the third and fourth floors were like an open furnace. The roof had fallen in and the flames, eagerly eating up costly laces, shirts, underwear, handkerchiefs and notions of all kinds, pastedboard boxes and wooden shelving and furniture, all highly inflammable material, were shooting skyward and lighting up the central section of the city like a huge torch. The firemen went to work in front and rear. On Baltimore street they were seriously interfered with by the network of wires. On the north side of the street, in front of the burning building, there were 72 wires. At one time the large new straw hat factory of Townsend, Grace & Co., on Fayette street, directly in the rear of the burning building, seemed in great danger of the flame that surged out against it. The building was saved by the heavy solid iron shutters protecting its windows.

By prompt and excellent work the firemen confined the blaze to the third and fourth floors of the Horner building, and in about an hour had it under control, although some of the companies remained on the scene until near midday. The lower floors and basement of the building were flooded with water, and additional damage was done by smoke, which, when the engines began to get the better of the flames, settled down in dense, smothering volumes.

Large numbers of early churchgoers were attracted by the fire and crowded the streets in the neighborhood. During the day the number of curious ones was not as large as usual on such occasions because of the rain.—Sun.

KILLED BY DYNAMITE.

A young man whose name is Ross Love, of Cecil county, Md., an employee of the Pennsylvania Telephone and Telegraph Co., while working on the line being constructed through Adams county, met with an accident near Biglerville last Thursday, Oct. 10, about noon which resulted in his death.

It is not known exactly how the accident happened, but it is thought that the explosion was caused by a spark from a cigar which the young man was smoking. None of the other employees, it appears saw the occurrence.

The body was blown to pieces, only the trunk remaining intact. The remains were taken to the young man's home. He was about 20 years of age.

NON-RESIDENT GUNNERS' LICENSE.

Pennsylvania's New Law Requiring Non-Resident Gunners To Secure License.

A number of gunners from this section of Maryland have been greatly exercised over the report that a law had been passed by the Pennsylvania Legislature of 1901, prohibiting non-resident gunners from hunting in the State of Pennsylvania, unless they first secure gunners' license. The Legislature passed such a law, and non-resident gunners must secure license before stepping over the Pennsylvania boundary line. The license cost $10 for the "open season of the year." For the benefit of the sportsmen of Maryland we publish the Act of the Pennsylvania Legislature in order that they may become fully acquainted with its provisions. The act reads as follows:

Section 1. Be it enacted, &c. That from and after the passage of this Act, every non-resident of this Commonwealth, unless he be an owner of real estate in said Commonwealth, shall be required to take out a license from the county treasurer of the county where he proposes to shoot in this State, before he begins hunting. Each and every person not a resident of this Commonwealth, not being an owner of real estate therein, shall pay a license fee of ten dollars to the treasurer of such county, who shall thereupon issue to him a certificate, bearing the name and place of residence of the applicant, with his description as nearly as may be, which said certificate shall authorize the owner thereof to hunt and kill in any part of this Commonwealth, during the open season of the year therein specified and under the restrictions and for the purposes allowed by law, the game birds and the game quadrupeds in this Commonwealth. Said certificate shall not be transferable, and shall be exposed for examination and record made by any game protector, warden or constable of this Commonwealth. One half of the license fees so received shall be retained by the county treasurer receiving the same, for the use of the game laws of this Commonwealth. The other half of the same shall have been paid, and the other half of said fees shall be forwarded by the county treasurer to the State Treasurer, in the same manner and for the same purposes as is now provided by law in cases of fines collected for violation of the game laws of this Commonwealth. Any person who shall offend against any of the provisions of this act shall be liable to a penalty of twenty-five dollars for each offense, or, in default of the payment thereof, to imprisonment in the county jail for a period of one day for each dollar of penalty imposed.

Section 2. Any game protector, warden or constable shall have the right, after demand and refusal or failure to exhibit such certificate, to arrest, without warrant, any non-resident person or persons found hunting within this Commonwealth, and to take him or them forthwith before any magistrate, justice of the peace or alderman, and proceed against him or them, as is prescribed by law for the violation of the general game law of this Commonwealth, and to seize all guns or shooting paraphernalia of said suspected parties, and to hold the same subjected to the payment of the fine or fines attached by law to the violation charged, with the costs of prosecution; and in the case of default of payment thereof for a period of ten days from the date of seizure, to sell the same at public auction, and apply the proceeds thereof, first, to the payment of the costs attached to said case, and then the remainder thereof, if there be any, to the payment of the unsatisfied penalty imposed by law. Any amount remaining in the hands of the officer, after these demands have been met and satisfied, to be returned to the original owner of the property so seized and sold. No game protector, constable or warden shall be liable for damages on account of any such arrest, seizure or sale in accordance with the provisions of this act.

It Happened In A Drug Store.

"One day last winter a lady came to my drug store and asked for a brand of cough medicine that I did not have in stock," says Mr. C. R. Grandin, the popular druggist of Ontario, N. Y. "She was disappointed and wanted to know what preparation I could recommend. I said to her that I could freely recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that she could take a bottle of the remedy and after giving it a good fair trial if she did not find it worth the money to bring back the bottle and would refund the price paid. In the course of a day or two the lady came back in company with a friend in need of a cough medicine and advised her to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I consider that a very good recommendation for the remedy." The remedy owes its great popularity and extensive sale in a large measure to the personal recommendations of people who have been cured by its use. It is for sale by T. E. TROUBLE BREWING AT HYATTSVILLE.

Trouble is brewing between Mayor Michael V. Tierney and the Common Council of Hyattsville. Several days ago the Council ordered a partial payment of $3,000 made to the contractors for the water-works. Mayor Tierney has refused to sign the warrant authorizing the Treasurer to pay the money, the work, in the opinion of the Mayor, not having been properly performed. The Mayor has the right of veto under the Town Charter, but it seems to be the general impression that in this case his duties are merely ministerial and that the Mayor could be compelled by a writ of mandamus to sign the warrant. The matter will be taken up at a special meeting of the Town Council.

KISSES WITH A BITE.

Tony Petroni, of Mount Airy, charged with assaulting Miss Effie Bennett by kissing and biting her, had a hearing before Justice Frank J. Lewis. Miss Bennett testified that Petroni had been calling on her for 10 months but had always behaved in a proper manner. On October 1 she was visiting Mrs. Snyder, near Mount Airy. Petroni came by in an intoxicated condition, but was invited into the house. Mrs. Snyder left the room for a few minutes and Petroni put his arms round her and kissed her. She became alarmed and ran from the room, but he followed, and catching her, dragged her back, and after throwing her upon a lounge kissed her and bit her in the neck and arms. He was fined $40 and costs and ordered to leave the State within 24 hours. The prosecution was conducted by States' Attorney E. O. Weant and the defense by John G. Rodgers, of Howard county.—Sun.

A Report From Nature.
Among the useful results of aerial excursions are the satisfactory experiments in the way of echoes and reverberations. John Mackenzie Bacon has many opportunities of testing the carrying of sounds to and from a balloon at a great height, and Mr. Wise, the American aeronaut, relates a case in point.

He was ballooning one day above a dense cloud stream when he heard a "How" and the sounds of a wood-chopper's ax, whereupon, to attract the attention of the laborer, he shouted "Hello!" He was immediately answered by another "Hello!" from the ground.

He then asked the question, "How far is this from Lancaster?" and was answered by being mocked by his own words.

"Flying in the clouds," he says, "and not able to see things above or below, I felt somewhat nettled at this clownish display of wit, and in a very audible tone of voice, while the foregoing was still reverberating in my ear, I sang out, 'You're a fool!' which in a very few seconds was answered by an equally distinct and measured tone of voice, 'You're a fool!'"

"Then it suddenly flashed upon my mind that it was the echo of my own voice, which opinion was ratified by the dying reverberations of my words, which had now become as numerous as though a whole regiment had caught the watchword and were passing it in quick succession through the whole line."

Orderly Habits.
"It is a curious fact," commented a man recently, "that almost no mother realizes the importance of bringing her son up to orderly habits. She impresses upon her daughters from the time they are old enough to recognize any responsibility the necessity to keep their rooms tidy, put away articles after use and care for their belongings at all times."

The boy, however, is exempt from any similar requirement not only in his own room, but throughout the house. He reads newspapers and throws them on the floor, gets up from a divan leaving the cushions packed and shapeless, without the slightest reproach, the only notice taken of the occurrence, indeed, being to ask a sister, if he has one, to pick up the one and strikethen the other. The women of the family follow in his footsteps all day long, removing whatever disorder he creates.

Yet there is no business occupation upon which that boy will presently enter in which order is not a fundamental necessity. Girls, on the other hand, do not, as a rule, suffer so seriously from a lack of order, or at least consequences are not so continually disagreeable and costly as is the case with boys."—New York Post.

Sure Proof.
When France and Germany were at war, an Englishman was arrested by the French and accused of being a German spy. A letter dated "Berlin" and signed by his mother was found upon him. He was tried by drumhead court martial and condemned to be shot.

On the way to the place of execution he said that he had left something behind and insisted on going back for it. "You can't go back," was the reply. "You are about to be shot."

"I can't help that," said he. "I have left something, and I must get it."

"What have you left?"

"My umbrella."

That settled it. He was released. No one but an Englishman, said his captors, could be such a thoroughgoing imbecile as that.

Tale of a Dormouse.

This tear compelling tale is from the London Globe: "A young lady bought a dormouse. After keeping it for some time she had occasion to send a present to a friend and utilized the dormouse for that purpose. A few months later the friend wrote to say that the pet did not seem very lively and was refusing its food. Would she come and inspect it? She came and inspected it and finally, feeling that this was a case for professional opinion, called in a vet. The vet's verdict was brief and to the point. The dormouse had been dead just six months."

Advice About Health.
Don't worry about your health. More people make themselves ill by doing that than is generally supposed. If you are constantly imagining that there is something the matter with you, you will do yourself harm. Live as far as you are able a healthy life and for the rest take your chance like a man. There are plenty of people who suffer a living death by allowing themselves to imagine that they are going to have every illness they read about.

GREAT DAYS ...AT THE... PAN-AMERICAN

OCTOBER FLOWERS.

THE postponement of some of the special days has crowded many great events into the month of October. Toronto day opened the month with many thousands of visitors from Canada on the 3d. Pennsylvania day, on Oct. 4, with Governor William A. Stone, his staff and several regiments of the national guard, made a splendid showing. New York day comes Oct. 9, following Brooklyn day. These two days will be the occasion for reunions of people west and east, as New Yorkers are found all over the Union.

The Citizens' Committee of Brooklyn has been hard at work for several months preparing for Oct. 8, and the programme which has been arranged promises a rare treat for those who are fortunate enough to gain admission to the Temple of Music during the time of the day will be delivered by the Hon. St. Clair McKelway, editor of the Brooklyn Eagle. The Hon. Ludwig Nissen will preside at the gathering, and other addresses will be delivered by Mayor Diehl of Buffalo, William C. Bryant, chairman of the Brooklyn Citizens' Committee, and Hon. W. I. Buchanan, director general of the Exposition. The music incidental to the occasion will be furnished by the Innes band of New York City. Elaborate fireworks have been planned for the evening.

On New York day Governor Odell will be escorted to the Temple of Music by sixteen units of town organizations in addition to the three located in Buffalo. Over 3,000 men will be in line, composing one of the largest and most imposing parades which has ever taken place in times of peace. All branches of service will be represented—infantry, cavalry, artillery, naval and signal. An elaborate programme has been arranged for the Temple of Music and a reception in the New York State building with magnificent fireworks in the evening.

Illinois day, on Oct. 7, is to be one of the great days of the Exposition. While the death of President McKinley made it necessary to postpone the day from Sept. 10, Governor Yates and the State commission have determined that the day shall be an event of great importance at the Exposition. Thousands of Illinois people are coming. The great middle west, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, with Michigan, have sent great crowds already to the Pan-American, and there is every indication that the attendance from that section will be greater than ever during the month of October.

Buffalo will have a great day on Oct. 10. At the Chicago fair Chicago day was the crowning event of the Exposition. So Buffalo people are laboring hard to make Buffalo day the climax in point of attendance.

Many nearby cities will have special days in October, notably Erie, Pa., on Oct. 10, and Dunkirk, N. Y., on Oct. 10. The list is constantly being added to. National Grange day, Oct. 10, will bring Patrons of Husbandry from every part of the nation. Atlantic City people and New Jersey people will visit the Exposition on Oct. 11, Atlantic City day.

Alaska day, on the 28th, will bring into prominence the products and people of that great golden land of the midnight sun, ice, snow and wealth. Every day from Oct. 1 to the 31st will be replete with interest, from Carnival week, which opens the month with the gorgeous floats of King Rex and the replica of Mardi Gras pageantry, to the magnificent pyrotechnic display on the night of the last day of the month.

No exposition ever held in the United States so appealed to the American public as has the Pan-American Exposition in its architectural beauty and symmetry, its gorgeous flowers, now in the fine beauty of fall bloom; its gardens and fountains and its special amusements, music and carnival features.

"No person," said Secretary of Agriculture Wilson during a visit on Sept. 10, "should miss seeing the Exposition. It is magnificent beyond compare." Never again will the world see such an illumination. Not every city has the wonderful electric plant driven by Niagara Falls, and without some such plant it will be impossible to reproduce the solemn grandeur, the glorious beauty, the impressive radiance of this City of Light.

There are yet a few more weeks in which to see this vision with all its attendant beauties.

Conventions at Buffalo.
October will be a great convention month at Buffalo. Thousands of members of organizations will take this opportunity of visiting the Exposition at that time. Beginning with the International Convention congress from Oct. 1 to 3, the month closes with the American Langshan club on Oct. 28.

National Grange Day.
Thursday, Oct. 10, will be National Grange day at the Pan-American Exposition. At a meeting in the city of Washington held in 1900 the National Grangers adopted resolutions setting aside this day, and a great assemblage of Patrons of Husbandry and farmers generally is expected.

Insect Pests In Brazil.
I should take a small gang of practical coffee planters from Ceylon with good digestions to be not afraid of ghignars, ticks and Berne flies, to say nothing of the dear little mosquito. The writer last extracted during four years in Brazil no less than 200 ghignars from underneath every toe nail of both feet. The Portuguese, Brazilians, Italians and Spaniards called it a recreation on Sunday to dig them out of each other's feet.

Of all the vile insects on earth, the Berne fly is the worst. She lays her eggs inside your flesh and hatches three very ugly insects an inch long with three rings of bristles round the body and sharp nippers. They take about six weeks to develop under your skin, then commence to turn somersaults just when you want to go to sleep after a hard day's work in the sun. The natives of Brazil adopt a novel way of extracting the brute when full grown. They tie in a piece of raw pork, and the Berne comes out of your skin and takes a header into the piece of pigskin.—Ceylon Observer.

An Afghan Trick.
During a shooting match in the presence of the governor of Kandahar the sirdar noticed to his astonishment that the heads of sparrows were the favorite butt of the marksmen, who but seldom missed their aim, whereupon he declared that it was far more difficult to hit an egg. Sir Peter laughed at the supposition, but the sirdar stood his ground, and the matter was put to the test. An egg was suspended on a wall, and the soldiers fired at it; but, strange to say, not one of them hit the egg.

The governor and his suit kept their countenances and excused the non-success of the firing party on the ground of the difficulty of the thing. At last a ball happened to hit the thread to which the egg was fastened, and it fell to the ground without breaking. Now the mystery was solved. The cunning Afghan had used a blown egg, and the featherweight shell had been moved aside each time by the current of air in front of the ball and thus escaped being hit.

Limited Numeral System.
The natives of Murray Island, Torres Strait, have a numeral system which is based on two numbers, netat, one, and nels, two. Above two they compute by composition—nels-netat means three, nels 1 nels (two and two), four. When they get above this figure, they have recourse to different parts of the body, beginning with the little and other fingers of the left hand and going from there to the wrist, elbow, armpit, shoulder, etc., on the left side, and thence down the right side to twenty-one, the toes giving ten numbers more, to thirty-one. Beyond this they are satisfied with "man."

1837. THE SUN. 1901.
BALTIMORE, MD.

THE PAPER OF THE PEOPLE, FOR THE PEOPLE AND WITH THE PEOPLE.

HONEST IN MOIVE FEARLESS IN KRIFESION SOUND IN PRINIPAL.

A newspaper is an educator; it gives all kinds of educators, but the best one spends money judiciously and liberally is better able to impart his knowledge than the man who is little or nothing to spend.

The Sun is the highest type of a newspaper. The Sun's special, condensed news throughout the United States, as well as in Europe, South Africa, China, and, in fact, over the world, make it an up-to-date newspaper.

The Market Reports and commercial features put the farmer, the merchant and the lawyer in close touch with the markets at Baltimore, Norfolk, Charleston, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and other places which are prominent centers.

From now on the news of the world promises to be more interesting than ever before and national and political questions will arise, making probably the most eventful period in the country's history.

This, together with the corps of editors and reporters at Baltimore, Washington and New York, make The Sun invaluable to its readers.

By mail Fifty Cents a month; six months, $3; one year, $5.
