Did You Know This?" Did You Know This?

Do you know that a neglected cough or cold leads to cousumption? More people die from the effects of catching cold than from any other known cause. There is one remedy, and remember that it only costs twenty-five cents, that has proven a safe unfailing cure for coughs and colds. It is called Mexican Syrup. Your druggist has it, or will get it for you. It heals and strengthens the lungs and breathing passages, when nothing else you take seems to do you good. You had better get a bottle today and read the testimonials on the wrapper.

Have You Worms? Are you growing thin and sickly? Has you skin a pale or sallow tinge? Do you not occa sionally feel a hollow sensation in the pit of the stomach, or a queer distress in your bowels. Do you get easily vexed, nervous or fidgety. Probably you are nourishing some stomach worms, a lengthy tape worm, or else a thousand pin worms, that are devitalizing your entire system. You can expel them by taking Mother Worm Syrup. Nothing else is so effective.

Better Health. Better health always follows a use of Mexicar Root Hills, simply because they cleanse the sys-tem of sickening and effete matter so thorough ly and completely. It is a sin to remain consti-pated when Mexican Root Pills only cost 25 cts

The Best Pain Cure. Is one that is absolutely safe and sure and that taken internally will cure cramps and colic, and applied external will reduce swellings and subdue pain. Gooch's Quick Relief does this autonly costs 25 cents.

Want To Be Pretty. Then purify your blood by taking Gooch's Sar saparilla, the best of all blood medicines.

BANNER SALVE the most healing salve in the world

A WOMAN'S LOVE.

A sentinel sargel sitting high in glory Heard this sheil wail ring out from purgatory: "Lave mercy, mighty angel; hear my story!

If leved, gad, blind with passionate love, I fell, Love brought me down to death and death to hell, For God is just, and death for sin is well.

'Il do not rare against his high decree Nor for myself do ask that grace shall be. But for my love on earth who mourns for me.

'Great Spirit, let me see my love again And comfort him one hour, and I were fain To pay a thousand years of fire and pain."

Then said the pitying angel: "Nay! Repert that wild yow! Look! The dial finger's bent Down to the last hour of thy punishment!" But still she wailed: "I pray thee, let me go!

I cannot rise to peace and leave him so.
Oh, let me soothe him in his bitter woe!"

The brazen gates ground suddenly ajar, And upward, joyous, like a rising star, The rose and vanished in the ether far.

But soon adown the dying sunset sailing, And like a wounded bird her pinions trailing She fluttered back, with broken hearted wailing

She sobbed: "I found him by the summer sea Reclined, his head upon a maiden's knee. She curled his hair and kissed him. Woe is me!"

She wept: "Now let my punishment begin! I have been fond and foolish. Let me in To explate my sorrow and my sin." The angel answered: "Nay, sad soul; go higher! To be deceived in your true heart's desire Was bitterer than a thousand years of fire!"

DYNAMITE AND MINERS.

Long Immunity From Accident Results In Contempt of Danger.

"After a miner had handled dynamite for eight or ten years without a serious mishap it is a good idea to put him to doing something else about the works," said a gentleman of this city who has had a great deal of experience with high explosives. "The chances are a hundred to one that his long immunity from accident was given him such a contempt for danger that he is an unconscious menace to everybody on the premises. He will do things that not only imperil his own life, but the lives of all his comrades. To give you an illustration, once I had an old Cornishman at work at a mine in which I was interested and had intrusted him with a general supervision of all the blasting. He had been handling dynamite for twenty years or more and was justly regarded as an expert. During that entire period he had never had an accident worth speaking of, and by degrees the care and vigilance that were responsible for his excellent record had worn away until he was beginning to entertain the delusion, common to old hands, that the danger of the stuff was very much exaggerated.

"One day I was passing through a cut where some blasting had been going on and noticed the old Cornishman hammering a drill into what seemed to be a boring in the rock. I asked him what he was doing, and he told me coolly there was a cartridge in the hole that had failed to explode and he was 'just knockin' out the tampin' to reprime it.' I was horrified, for at every blow he was flable to explode the dynamite, and I ordered him sternly to stop and never repeat such a performance. The proper method would have been to exploded the first charge with a second blast. He obeyed sullenly, grumbling to himself, and less than a month afterward was blown up while doing exactly the same thing. He lost his left arm at the shoulder, his left eye and part of his left ear. He also lost his contempt for dynamite, and when he finally emerged from the hospital I gave him back his former job. I never had a more scrupulously careful employee than he was from that time on. It seems a brutal thing to say, but there is nothing that does an old dynamite hand as much good as to get blown up once or twice."-New Orleans Times-Democrat.

PRACTICAL IRRIGATION.

A Plan For a Forty Aere Farm-The

Location of Laterals. Irrigation has become a live question in every part of the country, and many are on the lookout for practical information on its various points. The location of the laterals furnishes an opportunity for the irrigator to show his skill. Discussing this feature in a recent publication, Messrs. Johnson and Stannard make some recommendations as follows:

It may be impossible to properly locate the main laterals at first, and supplemental laterals and dikes may have to be constructed. Before the crops carry it out. The advertisement was can be harvested these temporary chan-was considered beneath the dignity of many sabstantial concerns to advertise beyond the insertion in the newspapers of an occasional business card. Some of the experiences of that time show how recently advertising, as we know it, has developed.

A retail hardware house in an eastern city once found itself possessed of ten times the number of articles of a certain kind that it had intended to buy. As they had been ordered especially for a new hotel and were of a peculiar design, there seemed to be no way of disposing of them except at a merely nominal sum.

One of the younger men connected with the concern offered to "move them" at a fair price provided he be permitted to advertise. The suggestien encountered much opposition, but finally a small sum was set apart to drafted in an attractive way, and the people soon began to buy the new article. Finally the house was obliged to send to the manufacturers for more. When the next season's trade opened, the member of the firm who had most opposed the experiment whispered to the young man that he had better write out a few notices "and put them in the papers."

From such beginnings the advertising practice has come. Thousands of dollars are now spent not only in advertising itself, but in devising clever catch words, ingenious phrases and illustrations which will stick in the memory of the reader as well as new I'm sure to get 'em. 'They ain't mine now,' he said. 'I sold them last week to Teddie Stearns, and they'll all go to him.'

"Now, Teddie Stearns is my own boy, and I did not like to think of his smooth, chubby hands being disfigured with warts, and we did not live in a wart atmosphere. They belong more exclusively to the barefoot boy with cheek of tan conditions. I had been such myself. When I went home, I called my boy to me and looked with some anxiety at his hands. They were as clean and white as a girl's.

"'What is it, papa?' he asked curi-
