A WOMAN OF EXPEDIENTS.

How The Doctor's Wife Eased His Conscience And Gained Her Point.

"I have been married nearly a dozen years," says the doctor, "and never until my recent arrival home did I see the slightest indication that my better half was other than the most simple minded, and ingenious creature on earth. The idea that she would deceive me in any way was one which I should have been ready to resent with great indignation. But I have learned that there is nothing which may not happen." She and I arrived in Paris less than a month ago after a delightful tour of Europe. Professional duties demanded that I hurry home, but she decided to remain for a few weeks with friends in Paris. When I began to peek I found in one of my trunks numerous articles of feminine apparel which, my wife informed me, were gifts for friends or relatives, and she frankly said she expected that I should smuggle them into the country. "There's no great wrong in smuggling in such little things as these," she urged. "Why, everyone does it." Of course, I flatly refused to take any such risk, and my wife said quietly, "Oh, well, I'll take them and pay the duty at New York." Evidently she had determined to smuggle the things herself, but I said nothing.

"My trunks were packed all right, and I started for this side, arriving in good shape. At New York dock I told the customs officer that I had nothing dutiable and my baggage was passed with only the most formal examination. On arriving home in a couple of days I found a letter from my wife. It had come over in the same boat and had reached its destination ahead of me. The letter gave me full instructions what to do with all the articles which I had ordered out of my trunk in Paris, but which my wife had carefully packed in the bottom of another. A roll of ribbon, a ring, a silk dress, a scarf, some gloves and I don't know what all—there was the lot, and the letter told me all about who was to receive the various gifts.—Chicago Chronicle.

LIKE A DROWNING MAN.

"Five years ago a disease the doctors called dyspepsia took such hold of me that I could scarcely hold," writes Geo. S. Marsh, well-known attorney of Nocona, Tex. "I took quantities of pepsin and other medicines but nothing helped me. As a drowning man grabs at a straw I grabbed at Kodol. I felt an improvement at once and after a few bottles am sound and well." Kodol is the only preparation that exactly reproduces the natural digestive juices and consequently is the only one which digests any kind of good food and cures any form of stomach trouble. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

Perplexing.

Little Janie—Mamma, my birthday comes this year on a Monday, doesn't it?

"Yes, dear,"

"And last year it was on Sunday wasn't it?"

"Yes," replied her mother.

"Did it come on Saturday the year before last?"

"Yes, dear,"

"Mamma, how many days in the week was I born on?"

HIS ONE DESIRE.

In one of the public schools recently a number of the small pupils were busily engaged in working problems in multiplication, with more or less satisfactory results.

After some time the teacher noticed one little fellow who seemed most unhappy. His cheeks were flushed, his hair tumbled, and tears were very near the surface. The teacher said in a kindly tone:

"Well, John, what is the matter?"

"Oh, dear, I wish I was a rabbit!" replied the boy.

"A rabbit?" exclaimed the teacher, in astonishment. "Why on earth would you like to be a rabbit?"

"Well, my papa says they multiply so fast!"

THE TARIFF AND THE TRUSTS.

It is pointed out by the defenders of the Trusts and combinations that there have been of late years remarkable reductions in the prices of Trust products. This is a fact; but it is also a fact that as a rule the Trusts have been organized to resist the downward tendency. The Oil Trust, the Paper Trust, the Steel Trust, the Sugar Trust, the Beef Trust, and the great railway mergers are all combinations to smother competition and maintain prices.

In so far as there is legitimate effort to effect economies of management whereby the cost of production may be decreased there can be no objection; on the contrary, there are undoubted public benefits. It is only against undue advantages in secret rates of transportation, conspiracies in restraint of trade and tariff made opportunity for fleeing the consumer that the people of the United States desire to be protected. For the rest, they are amply able to protect themselves. Without the tariff on steel, sugar, paper, meats and the raw material of these products the Trusts would be comparatively harmless. New Trusts would arise to pull the teeth and cut the claws of the old ones. Except a Trust be founded upon some natural or artificial monopoly—as, for example, in the case of anthracite coal, or a patent right, or an exclusive franchise, or a secret process of manufacture—there is no trouble in properly dealing with it. If the State keep its meddling hands off wherever profits are inordinate competition is the sure leveler and safety valve.—Philadelphia Record.

YOUNG MEN FOR WAR.

The President is undoubtedly right in trying to get younger men, officers in the prime of life, up in the front rank of authority in the Army. The only way open to him under our present system is to retain and promote those who have served 40 years, without attaining the age of 64. At that age they retire by operation of the general law. All the brigadiers who were recently nominated are now on the retired list, holding their rank but a few days, none of them long enough to exercise any actual command. Thus Colonel Hooten went on the retired list the day after the Senate confirmed him as brigadier general. In the money sense the operation is rather expensive, since increased retired pay follows increase of rank, but that is one of the penalties we pay for our organization system, which allows progress to be made only by clearing off the top rank.

There are many majors and lieutenant colonels who are more highly trained than some of their superiors, but the latter in some way must be shoved off the path to permit of their advancement to posts where their training and talents can be utilized to the most advantage. So in the end the public gain more than offsets the money loss of increasing a man's pay on his ceasing his activity.—Boston Transcript.

Will Cure Consumption.

A. A. Herren, Finch, Ark. writes:

"Foley's Honey and Tar is the best preparation for coughs, colds and lung trouble. I know that it has cured consumption in the first stages." T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

"Mr. CRIMES," said the rector to the vestryman, "we had better take up the collection before the sermon this morning."

The Retort Courteous.

TWO KILLED DURING STORM.

Joplin, Mo., April 26.—Joplin has been visited by the most destructive storm in its history. Two persons were killed, six fatally injured or seriously hurt and $300,000 worth of property was destroyed.

Esther Hunter and Martha Cape were killed, and Bidwell Hunter, Mrs. Anna Hunter, Mrs. Marian Hicks, a boy named Kruger, F. P. Kelly and William Jones were either fatally hurt or seriously injured.

The fury of the storm broke at 4.35 o'clock yesterday afternoon. No warning was given of its terrible violence. There was an utter absence of the usual funnel shaped cloud and the clouds looked no more threatening than those which produce the ordinary thunder-showers. The wind was a straight gale, but it was of terrible velocity, whipping down scores of houses in the southern part of the city and reducing to swathing wood $100,000 worth of the finest mining plants in this district.

"You don't mean to say you got up at 5 o'clock in the morning!"

"Yes," answered the economical man. "A penny saved is a penny earned, and I like to get to the grocery as soon as it opens. Maybe I can buy my breakfast before the trust puts up prices again."—Washington Star.

BUILT A FILMY BRIDGE.

The Way a Water Penned Spider Got Back to Dry Land.

A gentleman who was fond of studying the habits of insects one day found a large spider near a pond. He took a long stick and put the spider on one end of it. He then went to the side of the pond and stretched out as far as he could, fixed the other end in the bottom and left the stick standing straight up out of the water with the spider on it. He then sat down on the bank to watch what the insect would do. It first went down the stick till it came to the water, but finding that there was no hope of getting off there, it returned to the top. It then went up and down the different sides of the stick, feeling and looking carefully, till it found there was no way of escape at any part. Then it went once more to the top and remained quiet for awhile, as if thinking what to do. After a short pause the insect began to spin a thread long enough to reach from the stick to the edge of the pond. When this was done, it fastened one end of the thread to the top of the stick and let the rest of it float in the breeze. It waited till the wind stretched the thread out toward the side of the pond.

The insect then went crawling along the thread till it reached the end. After floating in the air a little while it alighted safely on the ground and scampered off to its home.

Her Good Business Head.

"You say she is a good business woman?"

"Oh, splendid, incomparable. She lets absolutely nothing drive business out of her head. Why, just before Harold started for Europe he proposed to her by letter and asked her to telegraph her answer."

"Well?"

"Well, most people would have telegraphed 'Yes' or 'No' but she had enough of a business head to wire, 'I afford me a great pleasure to say yes to you,' thus preventing the telegraph company from getting any advantage of her in charging for a ten word message.—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Corn Cure.

To cure corns get a little gutta percha tissue from a druggist, cut it into strips and then wind a piece round the corn, which must first be moistened with oil. See that the edges of the tissue are as even as possible, and when you have wound it round wet the inside of the end with spirits of turpentine. This will cause it to stick firmly if you press it down. With a feather dipped in turpentine touch the edges of the tissue, and they will unite. Leave for four days, then take off the dressing, and you will be able to remove the corn with the back of a penknife.

The Monocle is Harmful.

No sensible person will ever wear a single eyeglass unless he is blind of one eye. Its use means that one eye is neither employed nor unemployed, but is engaged in ceaseless though no doubt unconscious efforts to see as much as its more favored fellow. This straining is as harmful as anything could well be and cannot fail to lead to the gravest results.

DOUBLED THE COLLECTION

A Scotchman's Scheme For Increasing the Church Contribution.

In a small town in England there is a rich congregation which is not characterized by lavish liberality. Time after time the minister had vainly appealed to his people to contribute more generously to the funds of the church. The members would indeed give something, but it was nearly always the smallest silver coin of the realm that was placed on the plate. A shrewd Scotchman who had recently come to the place and joined the church was not long in noticing this state of affairs, and a remedy soon suggested itself to his practical mind.

"I'll tell you what," he said to one of the officials, "if you make me treasurer I'll engage to double the collection in three months."

His offer was promptly accepted, and, sure enough, the collections began to increase until by the time he had stated they were nearly twice as much as formerly.

"How have you managed it, Mr. Sandyman?" said the pastor to him one day.

"It's a great secret," returned the canny Scot, "but I'll tell you in confidence. The folk, I saw, mostly gave threepenny bits. Well, when I got the money every Sabbath morning I carefully picked out the sixpenny coins and put them by. No, as there's a limited number of threepenny pieces in a little place like this and as I have mist of them at present under lock and key, the folk must give sixpences at least instead. See that's the way the collections are doubled."—Pearson's.

Diamond Cutters.

Speaking of women in the jewelry business, a diamond merchant said:

"In other branches of the jewelry trade than diamond cutting women have made some unqualified successes. Not one of Eve's daughters, from royalty down, I should say, that isn't an artist in the wearing of diamonds. Many are well versed in the tricks of buying and selling them, while others give excellent satisfaction in polishing, setting them and preparing them for the market."

"But when it comes to the real cutting of the stones they lack the patience, judgment and steadiness of nerve which constitute the expert's stock in trade. It would seem that diamonds have the same effect upon the woman who wishes to shape them that they do on the girl who sees one of them sparkling in her new engagement ring—puts her in a tremor of excitement; hence diamond cutters are invariably men."

Kruger and the Queen's Ball.

The following letter was written by the private secretary of President Kruger of the Transvaal in reply to an invitation from Johannesburg to attend a ball given in 1891 in celebration of Queen Victoria's birthday:

"In reply to your favor of the 12th inst. requesting me to ask his honor, the state president, to consent to the making use of his name as patron on the occasion of a ball to be given at Johannesburg on the 26th inst. I have been instructed to inform you that whereas his honor considers a ball as Ban's service, for which reasons the Lord ordered Moses to kill all offenders, whereas as such is consequently contrary to his honor's principles, his honor cannot consent to the misuse of his name in connection with such a ball."

A Strange Feasting Custom.

There was a strange custom in the Isle of Lewis when the people used to gather to the church of St. Mulvay at night, each family bringing provisions and each family furnishing a peck of malt, which was brewed into ale. One who was chosen for the purpose waded into the sea up to his middle and poured out a cup of ale, calling on a sea god called Shony, to favor the people through the coming year. The people, after seeing the ceremony performed, returned to the church and then went to the fields to spend the rest of the night in revelry.—London Standard.

Books With Leaves Uncut.

A book the leaves of which are uncut possesses no value of an intrinsic character beyond one that is cut, but really less. For that matter, if it is to remain uncut, it is as valueless as it is useless. There are book collectors, however, who place a premium upon books with uncut leaves and so commend them in their advertisements and circulars. "There are persons who load certain shelves in their libraries with uncut books. Of course they are not for use and are not used and are valueless except for keeping."

THE WORD PARADISE.

Its Earliest Meaning Was an Inclosed Pleasure Ground.

The earliest meaning of the word paradise appears to have been a walled in pleasure ground. In the Hebrew it was "pardes," in the Persian "ferdus," and from one or other of these the Greeks appear to have derived the word "paradeisos," from which we get our own word. We also know that the ancient monarchs of Chaldean and Assyria and also of Egypt constructed vast inclosures of forest land for the preservation of wild animals kept for hunting purposes, and these were also called "parades." Thus, the historical meaning of the word comes to this: a space protected from all incursion from the outer world, in which those who were privileged to enter were able to indulge in such pleasures as pleased their fancy.

It is easy to see the transition from the material to the spiritual meaning, paradise in the latter sense meaning the place of the elect or chosen. This is strikingly borne out by the fact that the favorite battery of the Moslems, whose firm belief it is that those who die fighting go straight to heaven, was "Eighty Eight Paradise." And the strong probability is that they got the word from the Persian campaigns of the eighth century. The use of the word in its present form in the New Testament as of Greek origin, and its description as applied to the garden of Eden is probably of Hebrew origin, dating from the period of the captivity.

A Forgotten Statesman.

Why is it that Oliver Ellsworth has received so little attention from biographers and historians? asks Frank Gaylord Cook in The Atlantic. He was not born in Massachusetts or Virginia, in Connecticut like Pennsylvania, the historic field has been meagerly tilled. Moreover, the dramatic and opportune quality of his work has been perceived only through the perspective of subsequent years. To negotiate an unpopular convention for a party just retiring from office in defeat and ignominy is not conducive to immediate fame.

Nevertheless he has not been wholly overlooked by subsequent statesmen. Webster said of him: "For strength of reason, for sagacity, wisdom and sound good sense in the conduct of affairs, for moderation of temper and general ability, it may be doubted if New England has yet produced his superior."

What he said as chief justice of the United States to the grand jury at Savannah in 1796 was the aim of his life. "So let us rear an empire sacred to the rights of men and commend a government of reason to the nations of the earth."

A Witty Reply of Pope.

As narrated by Edward Walford in his "Greater London," Frederick, prince of Wales, sometimes visited Alexander Pope at his villa. On one occasion when the prince was on a visit Pope, after expressing the most dutiful professions of attachment, gave his royal highness an opportunity of observing very shrewdly that his (the pope's) love for princes was inconsistent with his dislike for kings, since princes may in time become kings. Said his royal highness:

"Mr. Pope, I hear you don't like princes."

"Sir, I beg your pardon."

"Well, then, you don't like kings."

"Sir, I must own that I like the lion best before his claws are grown."

No reply could well have been happier.

Cultivate Tact.

The average man who curses his luck because he wasn't born with money to take advantage of his opportunities could get all the money he wants from people who have it if he had a small stock of tact. The youth who hasn't any friends who have faith in him could have an army of them if he was in his makeup a small stock of tact.

Tact has built more bridges and railroads, secured more banks, created more public reputations and capped more achievements than all the ability, talent and genius in the world. More subtle than money, it acquires possessions at less cost. Smarter than brains, it achieves bigger things with greater ease.—New York Press.

Insued Tea.

Insued tea is good for colds and is easily made. Put six tablespoonsful of insued and a quart of water into a pan and boil it for ten minutes. Then pour it off and add to it some slices of lemon and brown sugar to taste. If the flavor of licorice is liked, an ounce of it may be added. This is a refreshing and useful drink, especially for children with feverish colds, when there is sure to be much discomfort from thirst.

Short Measure.

"What am I so mad about?" repeated the popular actress, with flashing eye.

"I only got three bouquets, that's what!"

"But," said the manager, "you surely didn't expect more?"

"Of course I did. I paid for five."—Philadelphia Press.

FROSTBURG TRAGEDY.

An unusual tragedy occurred in Frostburg Tuesday evening, which resulted indirectly in the death of Joseph Thomas, aged 11 years, son of John Thomas, a miner, is momentarily expected. The Thomas boy was riding a horse to a water trough. Irving Cook, aged 9 years, son of W. H. Cook, disputed his right to water the animal at the point Thomas selected. It is alleged he jabbed a stick at Thomas, who dismounted and engaged the Cook boy in a fight. Cook drew a knife and in the scuffle stabbed Thomas across the hip into the abdomen.

The lad's intestines protruded and he was at once conveyed to his home in a semiconscious condition. Drs. Christopher C. Jacobs, Timothy Griffith and J. C. Cohey performed an operation on the wounded boy. While so engaged Mrs. Morgan, a neighbor, wife of Richard Morgan, street supervisor of Frostburg, called. She witnessed the operation, assisting as she could. She went home at 11 o'clock in the night and at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning was dead from heart failure, which it is stated was intensified by the excitement attending the tragedy. She was 61 years old. Reports from Frostburg state that Thomas' condition is most critical. —Sun.

A STRANGE CREATURE IS CAUGHT IN THE SEA.

Hampton, Va., April 25.—Examination of the peculiar looking creature captured by fisherman near Foxhill has elicited considerable interest. Whether the creature of the sea is a fish or serpent is the question. It is nearly four feet long and about two and a half feet in width, being 10 inches through. Eight rows of teeth, probably an inch long, are set in its mammoth mouth. The head resembles an alligator. Underneath, just below the neck, are two well formed hands, each containing, apparently, five fingers. The creature's viciousness was remarkable; it was necessary to kill the fish before it was landed in the boat. It weighed 150 pounds.

The catch was made by Bell Hamilton and J. A. Dean. Mr. Hamilton is an experienced fisherman, but declares that in his 15 years of fishing he had not caught anything like this creature. —Herald.

GAS WORKS DEAL.

The Hagerstown Gasworks has passed into the control of Samuel B. Loose, who purchased 1,592 shares of stock held by Christian W. Lynch and William Jennings, of Harrisburg, Pa., president and treasurer, respectively, of the Hagerstown Electric Railway Company. Lynch and Jennings held nearly the whole issue of stock, which was increased in 1891 to 1,750 shares, par $20. A local bank and a few individuals hold the balance of stock, less than 200 shares. In 1901 Lynch and Jennings, then lighting the town by electricity, got control of the gas works by purchasing from 43 different parties the whole issue of stock at, it is said, $60 a share—three times above par. This gave them a monopoly of the gas and electric lighting and led to the construction of a municipal electric lighting plant last year. By the deal Wednesday the gasworks again passed into control of Hagerstown people. Lynch and Jennings announce that they will put their whole attention to electric railways. They are completing a line to Boonsboro and making surveys for extension into Frederick county. Mr. Jennings said Mr. Loose had gotten the stock "at a bargain."

TRAVELING IS DANGEROUS.

Constant motion jars the kidneys which are kept in place in the body by delicate attachments. This is the reason that travelers, trainmen, street car men, teamsters and all who drive very much suffer from kidney disease in some form. Foley's Kidney Cure strengthens the kidneys and cures all forms of kidney and bladder disease. Geo. H. Hausan, locomotive engineer, Lima, O., writes, "Constant vibration of the engine caused me a great deal of trouble with my kidneys, and I got no relief until I used Foley's Kidney Cure." Sold by T. SAVED BY A FAT DOG.

The sagacity of a pet dog saved a valuable dwelling house from being destroyed by fire on Sunday night and the inmates from being victims of the flames. Paul Ushner, who, with his family, lives in a large house between Perryman and Boothby Hill, Md., was awakened by the fierce barking of the family pet dog. As soon as he was aroused he detected the odor of smoke. Upon opening the door leading into the kitchen he found that room all ablaze. By strenuous work Mr. Ushner succeeded in keeping the fire in that room, and after a hard fight subdued it. The damage is not great.

SCHOOLHOUSE BURNED.

The public schoolhouse at Catocin Furnace was destroyed by fire between 6 and 7 o'clock Monday morning with all its contents. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin. The burned building had been closed since April 15, when the school term ended, and it is not believed that the fire could have been due to any other cause than incendiarism. When discovered by people living in the neighborhood, the flames had made such progress that it was impossible to enter the building and save any of its contents. The building was an old one. It was frame, 25x36 feet in size, and worth about $400. It was well-equipped with furniture and contained also the books used by the school. The value of the furniture and books was about $200, making a total of about $600. There was no insurance.

This schoolhouse was only about a mile and a half distant from the Blue Mountain schoolhouse, which was destroyed by fire on Wednesday of last week.

Mr. Hays Mohler was teacher of the school at Catocin Furnace.

COL. SCHLEY GETS AN OFFICE.

The State Board of Public Works held a meeting Tuesday and appointed Col. Buchanan Schley, of Hagerstown, as the State Tax Commissioner. Colonel Schley is one of the best-known Democrats of Western Maryland, and it is said that when he took the position of State Superintendent of the State Census he was promised the position of Tax Commissioner.

Colonel Schley succeeds Mr. Robert P. Graham, of Wicomico county, who was appointed four years ago by Governor Lowndes.

STORE DESTROYED BY FIRE.

The general merchandise store of C. L. Sheeler at Bartholomew's Station, Frederick county, along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, was destroyed by fire at 2 o'clock Monday morning. When the fire was discovered the building was enveloped in flames, and it was impossible to remove any of the stock. The building, which was a one-story frame structure, was owned by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company. The origin of the fire is unknown. The stock of goods was valued at $3,600, on which there was an insurance of $3,000.

AN EFFECTIVE SCHEME.

The postal authorities last Thursday ordered stopped, pending an investigation, an endless chain business which was choking the post-office at Wilkes-barre with mail. About 5000 letters were arriving daily, each with a money order for $2.50.

A firm of that city seven weeks ago started selling fountain pens for $2.50 and giving each purchaser the privilege of entering their employ at $6.50 a week for writing sixty letters sending onward the company's offer.

DEATH OF JAMES J. MENTZER.

Mr. James J. Mentzer, a former resident of this place, died in Coatsville on Saturday, April 26, in the fifty-third year of his age.

The interment was made in Burns-hill Cemetery, at Waynesboro, Pa., on Tuesday. His first wife was Miss Joanna Six, by which union there were two children—Russell, of Coatsville, and Edward, of Westminster. His last wife was Miss Kate Michael, and by this union there were three children. He is also survived by one brother, Mr. Lewis Mentzer, and one sister, Mrs. James Knouff, both of this place. Both Mr. Mentzer and Mrs. Knouff attended the funeral services on Friday.

DEATH OF MR. DENNIS MCCARREN.

The people of this community were shocked by the sad and unexpected death of Mr. Dennis McCarren, who departed this life April 22. He was born in Donegal, Ireland, in the year 1820, came to America and landed in Columbia, Pennsylvania, in 1838. He remained there a short time; from thence he removed to Buena Vista, where he married Miss Ellen McGuire. During the latter part of his life he was a resident of Emmitsburg and vicinity. He is survived by an only brother, Mr. James McCarren, Pittsburg, and three children: Mrs. Annie Martin, Upper Marlboro; Mrs. H. C. Elder, Baltimore, and Mr. Charles McCarren, of near Emmitsburg. Also by twenty grand-children and four great-grandchildren, all of whom retain a loving remembrance.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY IN GETTYSBURG.

Dr. Henry Stewart and Charles W. Myers, operator at the Western Maryland depot have completed an installation of wireless telegraphy between the Western Union telegraph office and Dr. Stewart's office on Baltimore Hill. The doctor has erected on his premises a pole 87 feet high which is used for the aerial wire at that end, whilst at the telegraph office a wire runs to the top of the cupola which served the same purpose. The instruments were made by Messrs. Stewart and Myers and work perfectly. The ingenious gentlemen are certainly to be congratulated on completing this wonderful work which today is one of the marvelous things of the twentieth century.

PRETTY GIRL SWINDLERS.

Leo Reineberg, one of the most prominent shoe dealers of York, Pa., has been made the easy victim of two very prepossessing young women who struck the town the other day and represented to him that they were working for a society which proposed to give several hundred children an outing this summer. They asked Mr. Reineberg to allow them to shine shoes in front of his store next week. Would he get tickets printed which they could sell in advance. Each of these tickets would cost ten cents, and would be good for one shine. The genial dealer consented. The girls sold the tickets by the hundreds. The young men of the city fell over themselves to buy tickets, and the girls, for shines at the hands of the pretty girls. But here the story ends. The girls with their dimes safely stowed away in their pockets, left the city, and now Mr. Reineberg has to explain that there will be no shining done at his store—at least not by engaging young women in the cause of charity.—Frederick News.

WILD MIDNIGHT RIDE.

Edward Black, flagman on the Western Maryland railroad, had a perilous ride on wild freight cars Tuesday midnight from Highfield down the mountain grade to Hagerstown. In shifting cars at Highfield nine heavily loaded box cars were left on the main track. Scarcely had the engine pulled away before the cars started down the mountain. Black, who was in charge of the cars, applied the brake, but the momentum was too great and the cars dashed down the mountain side at a frightful speed. Black clung for life to the running board on top of one of the cars. At Edgemont, where the grade is especially steep, three cars, in rounding the curve west of the bridge, jumped the track while running at the rate of 75 miles an hour and crushed into the water tank and tool chest, completely demolishing them. The three cars were piled in a heap and smashed into a mass of splinters. The six other cars, to one of which Black still clung, remained on the rails and continued their wild flight to near East Hagerstown, a distance of 22 miles. Black says the distance was covered in about 10 minutes. He did not know that three cars had left the track at Edgemont until told by the trainmen who went to the rescue of the runaway.

MURDERED OVER A PIECE OF PIE.

Last Thursday afternoon, in a little grove of pines near Gaithersburg, Joshua Terry, a negro of Germantown, Montgomery county, was killed by a shot from a pistol fired by his companion, William Prator.

The two, with Gary Dines, another negro, had walked from Germantown to Mr. Kane's bakery, where they bought a number of pies and went into the woods to eat. After being there a few minutes they fell out over what kind of pie they were to have, and as a result Terry was shot in the center of the forehead.

Dines and Prator becoming scared ran away to their homes in Germantown, neither telling of the affair until Friday when Dines told another negro named Corn, who informed H. D. Waters, merchant at that place. The latter notified the county officers, who searched the woods and found the body of Terry with a piece of pie in his mouth and a piece in his hand and a revolver lying across his breast.

Prator when charged with the murder stoutly denied it, and then afterward said Dines did it. Later he made a confession that he did it by accident. Dines said that Prator did it maliciously. Both were committed to jail.—Herald.

NEW BANKING HOUSE.

The new banking house of the Westminster Savings Bank, which was begun about one year ago, has been completed and was opened for business Thursday of last week. It is a model banking house, thoroughly up to date in every particular and is the handsomest structure of its kind in Westminster. The bank was organized in 1869 and its deposits aggregate $648,000. Mr. E. O. Grimes is president of the bank and Mr. Thomas E. Reese secretary and treasurer.

The new building is of stone and hardburned brick. The exterior is of finely cut Woodstock granite up to the first floor and from there up to the window sill of pointed Baltimore county marble. The remaining portions of the exterior are faced with cream-buff bricks and hard-burned ornamental white terra cotta, all laid with white mortar joints. The exterior treatment of the building is of Colonial or Georgian style of architecture.

The building is fireproof and was built by day labor from plans, details and instructions of the architect, Jackson C. Gott, of Baltimore.

I am glad to endorse them for I think when we find a good thing we ought to let others know it," writes Alfred Heinze, Quincy, Ill. They never gripe or distress. Sure, safe pills. T. E. Land Koller Ran Over A Boy.

When Harry Miller, a farmer, who lives near Waynesboro, unhitched his horses from a land roller the heavy implement rolled backward, threw down Mr. Miller's young son and bruised him terribly. After the roller had passed over the boy the horses stepped on him. He is suffering from concussion of the brain, and may die.

SUPPOSED MURDER.

Four Bullet Wounds Found In Dead Man's Body.

The discovery of a partly decomposed body of an unidentified white man on the farm of Mr. William Pyles, near Silver Hill, Prince George's county, about seven miles east of Anacostia, on Saturday by Alonzo Talbert and Herbert King, is likely to develop into a mysterious murder case. That murder has been committed the detectives who are working on the case firmly believe, and what further complicates the case is the belief that the victim met his death in the District of Columbia, and was afterward removed to Prince George's county.

The officers in that section of the county are co-operating with Washington detectives in an investigation of the case. A coroner's inquest was summoned by Magistrate John M. Roberts, of Oxen Hill, and after hearing all the testimony, the jury rendered a verdict that the deceased came to his death by a stab wound reaching the heart and inflicted by someone unknown to the jury. The jury found that four pistol bullets had penetrated the dead man's body in the region of the heart.

The nearest house to where the body was a quarter of a mile, and no one has been missing from the community. A pistol found near the body had given rise to the theory of suicide, but this has been dispelled by developments of Monday. The revolver has been traced to a dealer in Washington, and the detectives are in hopes of discovering the man who purchased it.

Detective Miller gave the following description of the dead man: The man was white, about 5 feet 9 inches in height, 150 pounds, slender build, dark brown hair, blue and white striped shirt, white turndown collar, blue serge diagonal coat and vest, dark gray striped pants, black derby hat, size 7; No. 7 shoes, initials "L. T." and American coat of arms tattooed on right arm and initials "L. T." on left arm.

The finding of the revolver by the dead man's side and the location of the place where it was bought is regarded by the detectives as a valuable clue. The man's face had been badly disfigured by the buzzards and identification is impossible.

ALLEGANY SALOONS.

The saloonkeepers of Allegany county held a large meeting at Miller's Hall, in Cumberland, Tuesday and raised a fund to test the matter of threatened closing of saloons for two weeks from May 1 because applications for license had been filed under the old law, instead of the new, which was effective April 8. John J. Stump was elected president, Daniel J. Moran, of Lonaconing, secretary, and Michael J. Malampy, treasurer. A friendly protest to the application of ex-Sheriff Robert P. Casey has been filed by George Gessner and John C. Wolford through D. Lindley Sloan, counsel, and Benjamin A. Richmond, D. James Blackiston and Richard S. Bell have been employed by the saloonkeepers to appear in behalf of Casey, the case to be a test. Both the old and new laws require 20 days' notice, and it is contended that the salient feature of the new, as regarding applications, has been complied with in applying under the old. Should the saloons be closed the bottlers and wholesalers business will not be interfered with. A man could order a case of beer or a quart of whiskey sent to his house.

Dangerous If Neglected.

Burns, cuts and other wounds often fail to heal properly if neglected and become troublesome sores. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve prevents such consequences. Even where delay has aggravated the injury DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve effects a cure. "I had a running sore on my leg for thirty years," says H. C. Hartly, Yanketown, Ind. "After using many remedies, I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. A few boxes healed the sore." Cures all skin diseases. Piles yield to it at once. Beware of counterfeits. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

My line of wall paper is the finest you ever saw, from 2c up. Harry C. Gilbert, Gettysburg, Pa. mar 28 tf

From its charming cover by Albert Herter to its last page the May issue of The Ladies' Home Journal excels in all ways. The most important new feature is the beginning of Ernest Thompson Seton's department for boys, which is written and illustrated by the famous naturalist-author-artist, Lindsay Denison who knows President Roosevelt in a very personal way, writes of "The Outdoor President," and Helen Keller continues the marvelous story of her life. The fiction features are Miss Portor's "Those Days in Old Virginia," and the first part of a delightful story by Grace S. Richmond called "The Indifference of Juliet." Nellie Blanchard tells "How the Birds Build Their Nests," and Will Bradley shows the bond of "The Bradley House." Mr. Bok's editorial is a fine bit of sarcasm aimed at the wise New Yorkers, and Mr. Mabie in his literary talk deals with the reading habit and several new books and writers of note. There's no end of good and helpful advice and interesting facts in the various departments, and the illustrations are conspicuously attractive. By The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. Ten cents a copy; one dollar a year.

MET DEATH IN WHEEL.

Shocking Fate of John T. Witmer At Roxbury.

John T. Witmer, a prominent millwright and well-known resident of Hagerstown, met with a shocking death about 6 o'clock Tuesday morning at the distillery of George T. Gambrell & Co., at Roxbury, Washington county, where he was employed as general machine and repair man.

He had just completed a tour of inspection of the machinery and went into the basement to adjust the belt on the large wheel. He stood on a block, lost his balance and was caught in the wheel, which was revolving rapidly. His fellow-workmen estimate that he was whirled around 450 times before the water wheel, which propels the machinery in the distillery, could be stopped.

William Roth, the fireman, was in the basement when the accident happened. He hurried to the water wheel and stopped it. The body was still held fast to the wheel when it was released.

Mr. Witmer's neck, lower jaw and breast bone were broken, his ribs crushed in, ears lacerated and great gashes cut in his head and back. His death was instantaneous.

The deceased was about 67 years old and was born near Clear Spring, Washington county. He was the son of John Witmer and married a Miss Crampton, of Crampton Gap. He was a brother of Peter A. Witmer, School Examiner, who committed suicide in 1898 in Hagerstown.

He had been employed for years on various structural works on the Chesapeake and Ohio canal and built many of the large mills in Washington and adjoining counties. He once traveled for John T. Noye, Brooklyn, N. Y., and later for August Wolf & Co., Chambersburg, Pa.

FAIRFIELD ITEMS.

FAIRFIELD, April 29.—Mr. Samuel Walter, of this place, has 60 spring chickens that will weigh 14 pounds at this time.

Mr. Grothy, of York, is the guest of Mr. Henry Keener, of Fairfield.

Persons having lots in the Fairfield Cemetery would do well to see after the tombstones, as many are in a very bad condition at this time. Some have fallen over, while others lean in all directions. Nearly all require attention. Those having friends buried there should see to have the headstones straightened.

A great many horses in this vicinity have the distemper.

Mr. C. A. Spangler, butler of Fairfield, has put a new refrigerator in his meat store at Blue Ridge Summit. He now has two large refrigerators in the house, and is prepared to keep meat in good condition. He has also put up a large chicken house.

Mrs. Hetty Baker, of this place, is remodeling her house, which will certainly be an improvement.

Some farmers will plant corn this week. The ground is too cold for anything to grow.

Mrs. Andy McGlaughlin, who was in her usual health Tuesday morning, was suddenly taken sick and died in a short time. Heart trouble was the cause of her death. She is survived by a husband and one daughter, also by two brothers, Messrs. William and Emanuel Izor, and one sister, Mrs. X. Myers. Mrs. McGlaughlin was 60 years of age. Interment in the cemetery near Fairfield.

Whooping Cough.

A woman who has had experience with this disease, tells how to prevent any dangerous consequences from it. She says: Our three children took whooping cough last summer, our baby being only three months old, and owing to our giving them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, they lost none of their plumpness and came out in much better health than other children whose parents did not use this remedy. Our oldest little girl would call lustily for cough syrup between whoops.—JESSE PINKEY HALL, Springville, Ala. This Remedy is for sale by T. E. Zimmerman & Co., Druggists.

FISH AND GAME LAWS

Non-Resident Sportsmen Must Take Out License To Fish and Hunt.

Hereafter it will cost non residents of Frederick county who may desire to shoot game in the county $15.50 for the privilege. The cost of a license for one year is fixed by a law enacted at the late session of the General Assembly at $15, in addition to which the applicant is required to pay a fee of fifty cents to the clerk of the court. The full provisions of the law are as follows: "It shall not be lawful for any person, not a bona fide resident of said county, to shoot any partridges, pheasants, woodcock, rabbit, turkey, wild duck, or turkey in said county, without having first obtained from the Clerk of the Circuit Court for said county, a license permitting the person therein named to shoot said game in said county for one year from the day on which said license is issued and such license shall not be transferable. The person named therein or partly procuring such license shall pay to said clerk therefor the sum of fifteen dollars per year which amount shall be paid by said clerk to the Board of School Commissioners of said county for the use of the public schools of said county, and fifty cents to the clerk as a fee for issuing such license, and any non-resident convicted before a Justice of the Peace of said county for gunning therein without having first obtained the license aforesaid shall be fined twenty-five dollars for each and every such offense; in failure to pay said fine and costs, the offender shall be committed to the County Jail for twenty days; the one half of all fines so imposed under this Act shall be paid to the informer and the remainder to the Board of County School Commissioners of said county for the use of the Public Schools of said county; provided that nothing in this Act shall prevent the owners of land in Frederick County giving written permission to non-residents to hunt upon their own lands in said county."

Another game law passed at the late session of the General Assembly prohibits the shooting of gray or fox squirrels between November 15 and September 1.

A law requiring non residents to pay a license fee for the privilege of fishing was also enacted, but this law applies only to non-residents of the State and to a section of the county, its provisions being as follows:

"It shall not be lawful for any person not a bona fide resident or tax payer of the State of Maryland to catch or kill in any manner, whatsoever, any fish, in the Monocacy River or any of its tributaries, within the limits of said county, at any place North of and above the bridge crossing the Monocacy River on turnpike road leading from Woodsboro to Cragers town, without having first obtained from the Clerk of the Circuit Court for said county, a license to fish in said River and its tributaries, for the period of one year from the date of the issue thereof, and such license shall not be transferable. A license fee of ten dollars shall be charged for such license beside the fifty cents to said clerk for issuing such license. The whole amount license money so received shall be paid by said Clerk to the Board of School Commissioners of said county for the use of the Public Schools therein. Any non-resident of said State convicted before a Justice of the Peace for fishing in the aforesaid waters of said county without such license, shall be fined ten dollars for each offense and in default of the payment of such fine and the costs shall stand committed to the County Jail for a period of thirty days, and for the purpose of the strict enforcement of the aforesaid provisions of this (and the next preceding) Section, the Sheriff, Deputy Sheriffs, constables and road supervisors in said county are hereby clothed with the powers conferred on Game Wardens and Deputy Game Wardens by the general laws of this State and shall receive similar remuneration. The licenses under this Section shall always, when fishing, carry their license with them and shall present them to any of the aforesaid officers, when demanded by them, and, upon failure to produce such license the said officer shall immediately arrest such party and take him before the nearest Justice of the Peace for trial."
