VERDICTS IN VERSE.

Some Of The Forms Which The Vagaries Of Juries Assume.

Of the vagaries of juries there would appear to be no end, and not the least of their enormities, says an exchange, is the perpetration of villainous verse, of which in evil moments they are sometimes guilty.

There is one given in a breach of promise suit in Pennsylvania. The defendant had proved faithless to a fair lady of the name of Wright and the jury took advantage of the plaintiff's patronymic to return their verdict in verse. It ran:

The plaintiff in this case is Wright, And well her suit has won, One thousand dollars for the slight Must come from Samuel Dunn.

Even Chicago juries have been known to record their verdicts in more or less execrable rhyme. In a paltry case, which tried their tempers no less than it taxed their time, the good men and true thus aired their grievance and announced their finding:

Hungry, weary and sad, We have looked without avail, And now we're mighty glad To say this suit must fail.

Some years ago the members of a jury in Kansas were much incensed at being locked up all night owing to the obstinacy of one of their number, a man of the name of Knox.

On being ushered into the jury box next morning the foreman solemnly rose and thus delivered the verdict, which, during the nocturnal hours he and his indignant colleagues had arrived at:

By Knox our verdict was delayed, And we in durance landed; But kicks with Knox improvement made, And full assent commended. We now do find, all at one time, The prisoner guilty of the crime.

The judge accepted the verdict, but after studying for a moment the spectacle presented by the obnoxious Knox, remarked that he could not agree with the third line!

On another occasion the beauty of a youthful culprit of the feminine persuasion awoke the muse in the jury impaneled to try her. This was at San Francisco, which town the comely delinquent had made the scene of her unlawful pursuits.

After hearing all there was to be said against and for the prisoner, the jury put their heads together and a few minutes afterward started the court with this deliverance through the foreman:

We mark with grief and sorrow keen That woman, fair as ever seen, Should to such evil courses take, And show she is at heart a rake. But maiden, whether fair or frail, Must never our right prevail; We therefore find her guilt full proved, So now to jail she can be moved.

After listening to this extraordinary effusion the occupant of the bench remarked that his only regret on hearing the verdict was that he could not send each of the jurymen to prison as well as the subject of their atrocious verse.

He added that, after such an infliction, his would be the lightest punishment that he was at liberty to inflict on the girl for her offense.

For one more example of jurymen's eccentric rhyming we must go to New York, where, not long since, a faithless lover was brought into court to answer for breach of promise. The defense was that the damsel was a flirt, and this seems to have suggested the words in which the jury thus expressed their finding:

The plaintiff is a flirt, 'tis said, And thus broke her engagement; But tender missive we have read Disprove such disarrangements. For trifling with the plaintiff's heart, And blighting her affection, Defendant most with dollars part—Two thousand's our direction.

WATER POWER IN WINTER.

The hydrographer of the United States Geological Survey in New York State, Robert E. Horton, has taken up the interesting question of determining the volume of water flowing in the streams in the winter, when the swamps and springs, usually contributing to the rivers, are for the most part frozen and the sources of supply of many of the streams are thus in part cut off. Users of water power have hitherto required chiefly to know the least amount of water the streams would furnish in dry seasons in the summer time before building their dams. It is coming to be realized that water power is of as great or even greater value in winter than in summer, partly because coal is usually higher in price in winter. Another reason for the demand for information regarding the winter flow of streams arises from the increased use of water power for generating electricity. Electric light and street car companies require more power and use it through longer hours in winter than in summer.

Justine—That's twice in a week, isn't it?

Penelope—Yes.

Justine—I suppose he'll come three times in the next week?

Penelope—That's what my brother says.

Justine—And five times the next?

Penelope—That's what my sister says.

Justine—And six times the next?

Penelope—That's what aunty says.

Justine—And seven times the next?

Penelope—That's what papa says.

Justine—And then what?

Penelope—Then we'll get married; that's what everybody says.

Justine—And then what?

Penelope—Then I shan't see him any more of an evening; that's what mamma says.—Baltimore Sun.

BETWEEN FRIENDS.

"No, Mr. Duddleigh," said the beautiful girl with the old-rose hair, "I can never be your wife, but I shall always be your friend."

"Then before I go," rejoined the young man as he calmly lit a paper-covered coffin nail, "I have one last word to say to you as a friend."

"What is it?" she asked after the manner of the curious sex.

"It is this," he replied. "I think you have stacked the cards against yourself in this game. You lose by winning, while I win by losing."—Chicago News.

In the region of the Upper Nile is a district known as Walamo, which is said to be infested with devils. An American, Mr. Whitehouse, and an Englishman, Lord Hindlip, have organized an expedition for the exploration of that region and of Abyssinia, and the American, with true Yankee pluck, intends to spend sometime in Walamo to see if he cannot find out why the natives believe that the devils are there.

Yes, says one, I feel as old as Methuselah. Think of it, a youth with no energy or enthusiasm! But misery always has plenty of company, for hundreds—yes tens of thousands—old and young, from April to September are so tired that they can scarcely get out of bed in the morning. Overwork? True with some but not in your case. A torpid LIVER makes you sluggish, half work, half eat, and half sleep. You don't need a "week off" half so much as you need a bottle of VICTOR LIVER SYRUP, the hundred year famed cathartic and tonic that guarantees cure for all Liver and Blood Diseases and Kindred Ailments as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Headache, Constipation, Rheumatism, Malaria, Jaundice, Female Troubles, etc.

LOCATION OF VOLCANOES.

Volcanoes generally occur near the seacoast or on the sea floor, but a considerable number of cones and flows are known far in continental interiors. Volcanoes are more numerous on the lands bordering the Pacific ocean and the Mediterranean sea than on the coasts of the Atlantic, but many volcanic islands are known in the Atlantic, as well as in the Pacific and Indian oceans. It is estimated that over 300 volcanoes are now active, about 100 of these standing on the continents. All high islands of small area, far from the continents, and many such islands near the continents, are of volcanic origin.

DESTROYING WOODCHUCKS.

A Neat Method Which Kills and Barren at One Operation.

Much damage is done by various crops every year by the common woodchuck or groundhog. Many ways of exterminating this animal have been devised, but on the whole the simplest and most satisfactory method is that of the use of bisulphide of carbon.

One special advantage of carbon bisulphide is that its vapor is more than twice as heavy as air, so that in a woodchuck burrow it will follow along the hole until it reaches the bottom, crowding the air above it to the top. As the animal is likely to be in the lower part of the burrow, it is almost certain to inhale the poisonous vapors and be killed, says Clarence M. Weed of the New Hampshire station, who adds the following report from another experimenter:

"The first day that I killed woodchucks with carbon bisulphide I started out with a small can of carbon bisulphide, some old cotton in my pocket, a handle basket and a shovel. I began on one side of the field and treated every hole that I came to. I first filled the basket with dirt and set it above the hole ready to turn in; then, taking a small piece of cotton which I could hold easily between my thumb and finger, I poured upon it just enough carbon bisulphide to saturate it. Then I threw this into the hole as far as possible and immediately poured in the dirt and filled the hole up even with the surface. If there was more than one entrance to the burrow, I always filled in all but one before the treatment. Out of about twenty-five burrows that I treated only two or three were dug open, and these apparently were dug into from the outside."

Mr. Weed recommends the following precautions: It should be distinctly understood by every one who uses carbon bisulphide for any purpose that it is highly volatile, inflammable and poisonous. When mixed with air, it is also highly explosive. Any reasonable care in its use out of doors, however, can lead to no ill results. There is no necessity for one to inhale the vapor, and a small quantity in a glass stoppered bottle may be safely stored away in a cool place without danger. The one who applies it to woodchuck burrows must not be smoking while handling the liquid. For most people it is probably better to buy of the local druggist a small quantity at a time than to have to store a larger amount. The ordinary commercial carbon bisulphide will do as well for this purpose as that which is chemically pure.

MOUNTING A GRINDSTONE.

A True, Steady, Easy Going Stone With No Backlash.

The most satisfactory method of constructing a grindstone frame I have met with is shown in the accompanying sketch, says a Home and Farm correspondent.

For ordinary stones the frame should be built 18 inches wide, 30 inches high and 36 inches long. Make the ends of 3 by 8 inch stuff and the sides of 2 by 8 inch. Plane it up nicely, bolt it securely together and give it a good coat of paint.

One can buy very good sets of grindstone irons now for 50 cents, including a mandrel roller, bearings and crank. I have one very serious objection to the common grindstone mandrel, and that is that the crank does not screw on, but has a square end, on which the crank does not fit, but flops about "any old way" and very often causes the one who is furnishing the power to bruise or skin his knuckle against the frame.

The first thing I would do with such a mandrel would be to take it to the nearest blacksmith's shop, saw the square end off with a hack saw, run a drill through the square hole in the crank and make it round, run a tap through the crank and thread the end of the mandrel. By so doing you have a good, steady, easy going crank, without any backlash. Fit a piece of wood in the square hole in the stone, find the exact center with your dividers; then bore a hole the size of mandrel through the block. Use a piece of thick pasteboard on each side of the stone between the iron washer and the stone. Put the stone on the mandrel, observing to use the washers as above, and screw the nut up hard and fast.

A stone mounted thus should run true, but if it does not do not resort to wedges, as is usually the case, but take an old flat mill file and use it as a burner's gouge and turn the stone both on the sides and face.

A New Wrinkle in Eggs.

The results of experiments recently made at Frankfort on the Main are interesting. The eggs of hens of various breeds fed during some weeks with food containing a large percentage of iron, when carefully analyzed contained 30 milligrams to 1.79 per 100 grams of substance exclusive of yolk. Thus there was much more iron in the eggs than those from hens fed as usual. The iron is in a very digestible form—viz. albuminate of iron. Here is a good remedy for anemia.—Gazzetta delle Campagna.

ACCIDENT GAVE IT ORIGIN.

Confetti Was Concocted of Frenchman With a Yankee Genius.

Some things that fall under one's observation every day and are regarded as commonplace are really somewhat extraordinary. Among these confetti may be mentioned. The history of confetti is rather curious. Several years ago a large printing works in Paris was turning out immense quantities of calendars, through which a small round hole had been punched to receive an eyelet for holding the sheets together. A heap of the little circular scraps of paper cut out by the punch accumulated on a table and one of the machine men amused himself by scattering a handful of them over a working girl's hair. She immediately snatched up a handful and threw them in his face. Other girls followed her example, and the first confetti battle began.

The head of the establishment came in when it was at its height, and being what the Americans call a "smart man," he at once realized that there was "money in it." He ordered special machinery, placed large quantities of the new article on the market, made a fortune and created a new industry. Paris now supplies nearly every part of the civilized world with confetti and single orders for fifty tons are not uncommon.

Uncle Sam's Slot Machine.

A business man who wanted a book-keeper stated his need in an advertisement. The notice was seen by a young woman who was out of work and who had searched for employment day after day without success. She had just a cent left. This she spent for a postal card on which she wrote a reply to the advertisement and dropped the card in a street letter box.

Her application impressed the business man favorably, and he wrote to her, asking her to call at his office. She did so and secured the position. Her modesty and worth, no less than her capability, so won upon her employer that before many months had passed he offered her his heart and hand, and she accepted and became his wife.

"And to think," he said one day during the honeymoon, "that it all came from your spending your last cent for a postal card and mailing it at a street corner!"

"Yes," she replied, with a smile and a blush. "I dropped a penny in the slot and got a husband."—Youth's Companion.

The Cause of His Fame.

The Boston Journal tells a story of an actor who was accustomed to spend his summers in Wilton, Me. There he noted when, as the custom was, a farmer "killed a critter" the liver, sweetbreads, kidneys, etc., were thrown away. He offered to purchase these delicacies; but, though he got the goods, the "sturdy farmer" scorned his proffered gold. Not long after he observed as he walked through the village that he was the cynosure of all eyes and was followed by a wondering if not admiring crowd, chiefly of the young. "Aha," thought he, "I cannot escape my fame. My glory as an actor has followed me even to this obscure hamlet." And he was mightily puffed up till he overheard one yodel shout to another, "Bill, there goes the feller, what eats innards!"

Travelling in Japan.

A writer describing scenes on Japanese railways says when a native lady enters the car she slips her feet from her tiny shoes, stands upon the seat and then sits demurely with her feet doubled beneath her. A moment later she lights a cigarette or her little pipe, which holds just tobacco enough to produce two good whiffs of smoke. All Japanese people sit with their feet upon the seat of the car and not as Europeans do. When the ticket collector, attired in a blue uniform, enters the car, he removes his cap and twice bows politely. He repeats the bows as he comes to each passenger to collect the tickets from them.

Not to Be Sat On.

During a football match in Belfast between Ireland and Scotland an enthusiastic supporter of the Irish team kept crying out, "Sit on them, Ireland!" There was an old Scotchman beside him who endured this for a time, but at length, unable to stand it any longer, he turned round and impressively remarked:

"Ye can sit on the leek, mon, and mebbe ye can sit on the rose, but I tell you, mon, ye canna' sit on the thistle."—Pearson's.

Great Water Pumps.

An acre of grass land, according to experiments, gives off not less than 6,400 quarts of water in twenty-four hours, and an acre of sunflowers would give a relatively greater quantity. In fact, swamps have been reclaimed and malarial marshes rendered innocuous by planting sunflowers or eucalyptus trees, which are great pumps of water and also exert other influences counteracting beneficial conditions of air, earth and water.

A Changed Opinion.

Mrs. Gunning—Oh, Harry! Surely you weren't cruel enough to shoot this poor little bird?

Mr. Gunning—Why, yes; I thought you might have it stuffed and put on a bonnet.

Mrs. Gunning—Oh, how kind and thoughtful of you!—Philadelphia Record.

Evolution.

"This is the church where you hold your services, I suppose."

"We used to call it a church, but we have outgrown all that. It is a temple of progressive thought now."—Chicago Tribune.

THE LARGEST HARVESTER.

What is said to be the largest automobile in the world, and the largest combined harvester, as well, is now at work on a big ranch in central California, where it is now being used in cutting 40,000 acres of barley.

The apparatus moves over the ground at different speeds, according to the thickness of the crop, while at the time the header and thrasher are going at full speed, whether the grain be thick or thin.

THE KLONDIKE HAS HAD ITS DAY.

The golden star of the Klondike is on the name according to official report of George H. Heese, who recently was sent to Dawson by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to make a thorough examination into the business prospects of the Yukon Territory.

Mr. Heese points to the fact that the total yield of the Klondike last year was $24,000,000, and that the production of the coming year will not, according to Government estimates, exceed $14,000,000 a falling off of nearly one-half.

THE PARISH GOSSIP.

Among the thorns that grow in every parish there is none with sharper thrust and more biting sting than the gossip.

Their predominating passion seems to run towards uncharitable conversation. The good deeds of their neighbors are never repeated.

When they wish, however, to make a more than ordinary show of wisdom and knowledge, then it is the pastor who is made the subject of their attack.

FIRE AT THE PEN-MAR HOUSE. Fire broke out in the servants' quarters at the Pen-Mar House, near Pen-Mar Park, at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning, causing a panic among the guests, many of whom fled from the hotel in their night robes. By prompt action on the part of several of the male boarders the fire was confined to the room in which it started, and was extinguished before serious damage was done. Mr. John E. Crot, of Baltimore, who is proprietor of the Pen-Mar dining-rooms, is also proprietor of the Pen-Mar House. Just a short time before this blaze, fire broke out in the second story frame house of Joseph Lee, in the vicinity of Highfield, and only a short distance from Pen-Mar. Neighbors quickly gathered and forming a bucket brigade, succeeded in saving the house by tearing off the burning roof. The origin of either fire is unknown.

FOUND BURGLAR IN HER ROOM.

Within the past several weeks bold attempts have been made to rob the residences of Mr. Adolphus Fernbake, Mr. Ira J. Biser, Mr. Charles V. L. Levy and others in Frederick city without success. The residences of Mr. L. M. Nixdorf and Mrs. H. C. Markey were entered during the absence of the owners and ransacked.

Early Monday morning Miss Mattie Shook of South Market street Frederick, was awakened by the sound of some one striking a match, and, looking up, she saw the form of a burly negro in her room. Miss Shook succeeded in frightening the man from her room an immediately started after him, and recognized the intruder as Granville Brown, an ex-convict. Brown was captured several hours later, and the authorities are of the opinion that he is the man implicated in all of the robberies.

COUNTY CONVENTION

The Frederick County Democratic convention to nominate delegates to the Congressional convention which meets in Cumberland Sept. 4, was called to order in the Court House, in Frederick, at 12 o'clock last Saturday. Work will be commenced on or about Monday, September 1st, and all persons wishing employment can make application this week at the office of Martin Winter, Chambersburg street. A number of apprentices will be wanted.

Gettysburg is to be congratulated upon the addition of the gentlemen named to its business circles, and it is hoped they will increase their business ventures here.—Compiler

FIRE AT A SUMMER RESORT.

Fire in the Monterey Inn last Friday morning, a little after midnight, caused slight damage.

Most of the guests were asleep but they were promptly notified and got out of the building. No one was hurt, and the damage was slight.

The fire occurred in an attic and is supposed to have been started by a candle in a bureau drawer. It spread over the room adjoining.

Mr. Adrian Hughes, of Baltimore, one of the owners of the hotel, and his Washington guest used hand grenades with telling effect on the flames. Water was also thrown and finally the fire was conquered. It burned through the ceiling, but did not get to the roof.

There are about 200 guests at the hotel, a number being Baltimoreans. The inn is conducted by Mrs. N. W. Boling.

SUICIDE OF WINFIELD SMOOT.

Winfield Smoot, a well-to-do citizen, who lived near Charlotte, Hall, St. Mary's county, committed suicide on Saturday, by placing the muzzle of a double-barreled gun against his head and pulling the trigger with his toe. The discharge blew off the right side of the head and face, causing instantaneous death.

Mr. Smoot had been in a sanitarium in Washington for some time, but returned home about 10 days ago against the advice of his physician. He had been in bad health for several years and the ailment caused despondency. He was buried at Old Fields Church, near Hugesville. The deceased was about 40 years old.

THE COOLEST SUMMER IN YEARS

According to Weather Bureau officials at Washington this has been the coolest summer in years. Hot waves have been few, and while there have been some their duration was brief. Although cool there has been comparatively little rain, and in many sections it has been so dry as to almost approach drought conditions. Thus far August has seemed more like October than a midsummer month, and many nights the temperature has been exceptionally low. September, however, sometimes proves to be one of the warmest months of the year and we may yet have some full-fledged summer weather, but it cannot be of long duration.

HIS SIGHT THREATENED.

"While picnicking last month my 11 year-old boy was poisoned by some weed or plant," says W. H. Dibble, of Sioux City, Ia. "He rubbed the poison off his hands into his eyes and for a while we were afraid he would lose his sight. Finally a neighbor recommended DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. The first application helped him and in a few days he was as well as ever." For skin diseases cuts, burrs, scalds, wounds, insect bites DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is sure cure. Relieves the piles at once. Beware of counterfeits. T. E. Zimmerman & Co.

THEY GOT COFFEE IN HIS FACE.

George Warner, a well-known business man filed a petition in court at Cumberland asking for a divorce from his wife, on the ground of cruelty. Among other things the petitioner alleges that his wife amused herself by throwing hot coffee in the petitioner's face. The family is quite prominent in social circles.—Baltimore News.

PHYSICIANS BAFFLED.

Patient in a Baltimore Hospital Dies of a Rare Disease.

A case of acromegaly, or swelling of all of the joints and the cartilages of the body, interested the Maryland General Hospital physicians recently, the sufferer being Samuel Simon, aged 31 years. The disease is exceedingly rare, there having been only 175 cases reported in the whole history of medicine.

Simon had the case in the most developed form. His head was twice the normal size, and the lips, tongue and nose were all swollen far beyond the normal. Every joint in his body was enormously large, the knee joint measuring about 18 1/2 inches in circumference, and his toes being two inches wide. In connection with it the man had Hodgkin's disease—an enlargement of all the glands and structures of the body. His body was much emaciated, and this, with the enlarged joints, gave him a most peculiar appearance. The man had the disease 12 years, and had considerable pain.

The cause of the disease is unknown. It is a degeneration of the pituitary body, located in the brain, and supposed to be the seat of the soul. The disease is most common between the ages of 20 and 30 years, and was first described in 1886. A peculiarity of the disease is that when it begins the victim cannot imagine the reason for his having to put larger hats and gloves, due to the gradual enlargement of the skull and hands, and larger shoes, due to the feet enlarging. A spadelike appearance of the hands is typical. There is no cure for the disease, the treatment being alleviating. The treatment is symptomatic, and extracts of the thyroid gland and of the pituitary body are given. In the case of Simon the disease was far advanced, and he died the latter part of last week—about two weeks after being admitted to the hospital.

FREDERICK WON.

The Frederick Athletic Club baseball team defeated the crack Martinsburg, W. Va., club for the second time at Athletic Park, Frederick, last Friday afternoon by a score of 10 to 2. Rowe, who pitched for the home club, had the visitors at his mercy all through the game and they never had a chance to win. Rowe not only pitched well but he helped his team to win by exceptionally good batting.

Frederick made three runs in the second inning and then drew good eggs until the seventh, when a batting streak developed and seven more runs were added to the score. Martinsburg scored one run in the second and one in the third, but made no more, as Rowe was practically invincible. Houck, who played short stop for the home team, played a good game both in the field and at the bat. Bennett gave Rowe fine support behind the bat. A good-sized crowd witnessed the game. The players were: Frederick—Bennett, C.; Houck, ss.; Brust, lf.; P. Bentz, 1b.; Jones, cf.; Little, 2b.; Rowe, p.; Phebus, 3b.; E. Bentz, cf.; Martinsburg—Lindsay, ss.; Sakeman, lf.; Young, 2b.; Andrews, lf.; Miller, 3b.; Wild, rf.; Anderson, c.; Lane, of. Sh. p.

This was the first Frederick Athletic Club's thirteenth straight victory.—Frederick News.

DROWNED IN THE SUSQUEHANNA

The body of Theodore M. Richey, the young man who has been missing for several weeks past, and who was seen last crossing the Susquehanna river, near Rowlandsville, in a small boat, was found Thursday of last week having been washed upon a small island in the river, near where he was last seen. Richey resided in Harford county and had been to Rowlandsville to do some shopping. When he started to return the river was very high, and his boat, a frail one, is supposed to have been overturned. The boat was recovered some time ago, but all efforts to find his body were unsuccessful until Thursday. Richey was about 30 years of age, and leaves a widow and three children.

IT NEEDS A TONIC

There are times when your liver needs a tonic. Don't give purgatives that gripe and weaken. DeWitt's Little Early Risers expel all poison from the system and acts as tonic to the liver. W. WATER FAMINE.

Demand Considerably in Excess Of The Supply.

Hagerstown on the verge of a water famine. There has been a scarcity of water in the city main for some time, but the conditions Tuesday became acute. Many of the families in the higher portions of the town were without water, and several factories were forced to close until arrangements could be made to haul water from streams in the suburbs. The present conditions are probably worse than at any time in the history of the Washington County Water Company. The pumping stations at the Heysler Springs and at the artesian well at the old reservoir are running night and day. The Heysler Springs pump has a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons daily, but the most that can be pumped at present is 500,000 gallons. About 800,000 gallons a day is coming from the reservoir. Of this quantity only about 60,000 gallons comes from the streams emptying into the reservoir the remainder being pumped from the artesian well. Thus from all sources comes about 800,000 daily, while the demand is over 1,100,000 gallons per day. Little rain has fallen during the summer in the mountain regions, and, as a result, some of the streams have dried up and others become very low. The Western Maryland Railroad Company, which has been getting water from the water company for its engines, was compelled to go elsewhere Monday. Arrangements are being made to establish a temporary water station at Antietam Creek, about two miles east of Hagerstown. The supply is also insufficient for the Cumberland Valley and Norfolk and Western Railroads. The former is compelled to send its engines to Falling Waters, while the latter uses the large tank below Shepherdstown. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad does not depend on the city water for its engines, but has a large tank at the Marsh Run.

Notwithstanding that work on the new reservoir which the water company is having constructed near Edgemont is being rushed as rapidly as possible, with a force of over 300 men, it is not likely that the reservoir will be completed this year, and no relief is looked for from this source. It is understood that immediate action will be taken by the water company to relieve the present scarcity, but just what course will be pursued is not known. A notice was issued from the office of the water company Monday urging all users to boil their drinking water. President E. W. Mealey said that this should be done as a matter of precaution—not that there is any danger from epidemic or that the water is impure, but because in several large cities where the water supply is scarce typhoid fever has developed.

SAT ON STEPS DEAD.

Coroner Martin Decided Death Had Been Caused By Apoplexy.

Frederick Wilhelm Wildberger, a bartender, 52 years old, was found dead shortly after 6 o'clock Tuesday morning sitting on the front steps of the residence of Dr. William Green, 1124 North Charles street, Baltimore. The dead man was discovered by Patrolman Pick of the Central district, who had his attention drawn to Wildberger by Lucy Beal, a colored domestic employed in the family of Mr. John H. Emery, 1120 North Charles street. Baltimore. Patrolman Pick approached Wildberger, who was sitting on the steps, his body leaning forward and his right arm extended on the step over the one he was sitting upon. The officer at first supposed that the man was either sleeping or asleep, and shook him by the shoulder. The supposedly sleeping man toppled over and the officer lifted his head and looked into the face of a corpse.

The story told by the colored woman, Lucy Beal, at first inclined the police to suspect foul play, but this suspicion was removed when Coroner Martin, who examined the body, stated that death had been caused by apoplexy, and decided that an inquest was unnecessary. Lucy Beal said that between 5 and 6 o'clock Tuesday morning she saw Wildberger and another man walking northward on Charles street. The two appeared to be having an argument. The man walking northward, Wildberger, she said, suddenly pushed him down on the steps and walked rapidly away. For several minutes she watched Wildberger as he reclined on the steps. Then she went into the house again. When she returned to the pavement Wildberger had not changed his position, and, thinking that he had been hurt, she notified Patrolman Pick.

Coroner Martin made a careful examination of the body of the dead man, but the only mark on Wildberger was a slight scar on his chin. The coroner stated that Wildberger had suffered from a stroke of apoplexy, induced by alcoholism. The dead man was removed to the Morgue in the Central district ambulance, and later the body was identified by his wife and daughter. Wildberger had for the past two weeks been employed at the Pabst garden, 320 West Biddle street. Monday evening he reported for duty, but was so intoxicated that he was not allowed to go to work. His family took charge of his remains.—Baltimore News.

THE MARYLAND STATE HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Plans for Fruit Exhibition at the Next Annual Meeting.

One of the most interesting features of the meeting of the Maryland State Horticultural Society last year was the very fine display of fruits and vegetables. The exhibit was of great value in indicating the great horticultural possibilities of our State, and heretofore features of our annual meetings. It is desired to make the exhibit at the forthcoming meeting to be held in Baltimore, Thursday and Friday, December 13 and 14, as possible, and a splendid showing can be made if the fruit growers of the State will lend their cooperation. All are invited to contribute to this exhibition. Those desiring to aid in this important work, should read carefully the following directions, and be governed thereby. Fruit intended for exhibition purposes should be picked as soon as it is well grown, without waiting for evidence of full ripeness to appear. Handle with the greatest care, and pack in tissue or other suitable paper, label each specimen, and pack carefully in ordinary peach basket, crate or barrel. Address each package to the State Horticultural Society, care of the Warehouse Company, 408 South Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md., and ship once by express, charges prepaid. Advise the above company of the shipment, also the Secretary, to whom should be sent a list of the varieties shipped. Exhibitors will be put to no further trouble, as the arrangement of the fruit in the hall, will be in charge of a committee of the Society. Handsome Awards of Merit, signed by the President and Secretary, will be awarded to those entitled to them, as determined by the Exhibition Committee. These Certificates will be of three grades, first, second, and third, and will be awarded on individual varieties of fruits in competition with each other or collections of varieties; or new seedlings of merit, and on any other horticultural exhibits, based on the report of the Committee in charge. Five specimens of each variety must be exhibited to compete for a certificate. Further information relating to the Society may be obtained by addressing the Secretary, A. L. Quaintance, College Park, Md.

CLOSE OF CATHOLIC SUMMER SCHOOL

The close of the Catholic Summer School of St. Mary's was attended by Rev. Joseph Canavan, of St. Andrew's Church, Baltimore, who in delivering the Sunday morning sermon at St. Anthony's Church made particular reference to the return of the members to the ordinary walks of life after two weeks of ceaseless happiness and mental and spiritual refreshment. The music was in charge of Miss Emma Moore, organist of St. Anthony's. Misses Marie Barry, of Port Deposit; Emma Thomas, Sarah McGinnis, Ella Kerley, of Baltimore; Claire and Eleanor Gilman, Mamie and Catherine O'Donoghue, and Messrs. Leo Harlowe and Daniel O'Donoghue, of Washington, sang the mass. The solos were "O Salutaris," by Miss E. Kerley, and "Agnus Dei" by the members of the St. Mary's May Blaine Lyceum, of Pittsburg, Pa. Father O'Donoghue briefly recounted the many advantages that have been enjoyed and the unusual recognition the session has received in many expressions of congratulations and good wishes. Saturday evening Rev. Martin O'Donoghue, president of the Maryland Catholic Summer School, made the announcement of the preliminary plan of organization. The summer school is to be incorporated, and there will be a thoroughly organized branch under a clergymen and a layman as vice-presidents in Baltimore, Washington, Norfolk, Richmond, Cambridge, Wheeling, Pittsburg, Harrisburg, Philadelphia, and Wilmington. Lecturers will be engaged to go around the circuit, and the same program of reading will be pursued by the members in the various cities. The Baltimore and Washington contingents will meet for discussion and entertainment each month. Several offers have been made to the summer school to locate permanently at different places, but no decision has been reached. The colored people of St. Anthony's will hold their seventh annual picnic on the first Wednesday of next month, September 3, under the management of Mrs. George Ahey.

CHURCH DESTROYED.

Presbyterian Church Struck By Lightning and Burned To The Ground.

BUILDING WAS ERECTED IN 1878

At a Cost of $9,000—Insured for $5,000.—The Property Adjoining the Church Was Saved With Slight Damages.—New Church To Be Built at Once.

The beautiful Presbyterian Church in this place, is to-day a mass of ruins. All that is left standing of that pretty picturesque building is its massive brick walls. About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, during a heavy rain storm which was accompanied by vivid lightning and heavy peals of thunder, the Church was struck by lightning and the wood work was burned to the ground. No one knew at the time that the church had been struck by lightning, and it was some time afterwards that smoke was first seen gushing from the roof of this edifice, by some gentleman near the building. An alarm of fire was given and the members of the fire department were soon at the scene of the conflagration. Every effort was made to extinguish the flames, which were then between the wainscoting and the roof, at the northwest corner of the church, near the steeple, but as the fire was so high up at the cone of the roof, it could not be reached with the water, and in a short time the entire roof was enveloped in flames, and all hopes of saving the building from destruction were given up, and the efforts of the firemen were turned to the adjoining buildings, and these were saved without any or very slight damage. Nearly all the movable furniture in the church was carried to a place of safety, including two organs, pulpit furnishings, chairs, etc. The organs were removed without the slightest injury.

The tall steeple on the church created much fear among many persons lest it would fall and injure some one, or probably crush one of the adjoining dwelling houses. But fortunately when the time came for it to fall, it fell into the burning structure, thus doing no harm. The building was of Gothic architecture, and one of the finest churches in this section of the country. The building was divided into two apartments,—the church proper and a Sunday school or lecture room in the rear. There were large and costly memorial windows in the building, and was furnished with all the necessary church fixtures of the latest designs. The floor was carpeted and the pews cushioned. The building was heated by steam and lighted with one of Messrs. J. T. Hays & Son's Acetylene Drop Feed Gas Machines, being the first church to be lighted by gas in this place.

The church was erected in 1878, and was dedicated on the 28th day of September, 1879. The dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. Joseph T. Smith, of Baltimore. The building was erected during the pastorate of the Rev. Wm. Simonton, D. D., who served as the faithful pastor of this congregation for about 25 years. The Rev. David H. Riddle is now pastor of this church, succeeding the Rev. Dr. Simonton. The building was erected at a cost of $9,000. There is an insurance of $5,000 on the building, divided equally in the Frederick County Mutual and the Carroll County Mutual Fire Insurance Companies. There is also an insurance on the furniture, etc.

The carpenter work on the church was done by Messrs. Tyson & Lansing, contractors and builders of this place, and fine workmanship was displayed throughout the entire edifice. The buildings of Mr. J. T. Hays on the west, and Mr. F. A. Maxwell on the east, tenanted by Mr. D. S. Gillean, are only a few feet from the church. These buildings were saved by the efforts of the firemen. They were only slightly damaged, although the shingle roof on Mr. Maxwell's house caught fire at different places several times, and the tin roof on Mr. Hays' house had a number of holes cut in it by the falling slate.

This was the largest fire that has occurred in Emmitsburg for a number of years. The church will be rebuilt at once. The work will be begun as soon as possible after the insurance is adjusted by the insurance companies. The Sisters at St. Joseph's Academy sent in a number of chemical hand grenades. This act of kindness was highly appreciated.

PUBLIC LIBRARIES. The Board of Library Commissioners of the State of Maryland has elected Edward W. Mealey president and Miss Mary L. Titcomb secretary. The following members of the board were present: Mr. T. J. C. Williams, of Baltimore; Mr. John G. Mills, of Dorchester county, and Mr. Edward W. Mealey, of Hagerstown. This commission has been appointed to give advice to all free libraries in the State or to any persons or committees interested in the establishment of such institutions as to the best methods of management and to promote the library interests of the State in all possible ways.

To this end Miss Titcomb, the secretary, will receive communications, questions from all who are in the least interested in this branch of educational work. The Traveling Library Commission is entirely distinct, and has for its purpose the gathering together of a small collection of books to be circulated in the thinly populated parts of the State while the other commission looks principally toward the establishment of permanent libraries under the law enacted for that purpose.

The Traveling Library Commission will meet September 28 at the office of Dr. Bernard C. Steiner, of Baltimore, for organization.

DANIEL E. MURPHY, a recently enlisted teamster in the United States Army, threw himself under the wheels of a locomotive at Woodstock Station, Howard county, and was instantly killed. He was on his way to Fort Howard, Baltimore, to join the company of coast artillery stationed there. The remains will be interred at the National Cemetery, on the Frederick road.

Catarrh

Is a constitutional disease.

It originates in a scrofulous condition of the blood and depends on that condition. It often causes headache and dizziness, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, affects the vocal organs, disturbs the stomach. It is always radically and permanently cured by the blood-purifying, alterative and tonic action of

Hood's Sarsaparilla

This great medicine has wrought the most wonderful cures of all diseases depending on scrofula or the scrofulous habit.

HOOD'S PILLS are the best cathartic.

DIED IN THE BELIEF THAT PRAYERS HEALED.

Mrs. Jane Hutson was buried at Sharpsboro, Md., Sunday by the Evening Light of Caroline County, after funeral services by Mrs. Hutson Coulburn, of Elwood. Mrs. Hutson had been sick for four weeks with typhoid fever. There are now three children down with the disease, and two others who have passed through it and are up, but every particle of skin has come off their bodies. Mrs. Hutson was a member of the Evening Lights, and would not allow her children to have one drop of medicine.

Her husband, George B. Hutson, is also of the same belief, and held to the doctrine of prayer for relief. The family has been sick for more than two months, but no one, not even the family, knew what the disease was until Monday Undertaker W. D. Gravenor refused to bury the body without a certificate. Mr. Hutson consented to have Dr. J. A. Wright to make an examination. The doctor examined the three children and the mother, and pronounced the disease typhoid.

The doctor had no hesitancy in saying that Mrs. Hutson had died of typhoid fever. As the patients had been down so long, and without medical aid, the neighbors refused to go in and prepare the body, but after much persuasion Mrs. George W. Covington agreed to do so. Several faith-healers were present Monday and have been regular in their attendance and services of prayer, but no doctors have been called in.—American.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED.

At Panama, Columbia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. A. Utter, a prominent physician, of Panama, in a recent letter states: "I have had the case of a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentery. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. With the assistance of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and as a last resort prescribed by the medical authorities, she was cured. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of a week was entirely well." T. E. Zimmerman & Co.
