Ancestry of Shoemaking. There is nothing vulgar about the incestry of the shoemaking trade in the United States. The first shoemaker came over in the Mayflower. His name was Thomas Beard, and he had an income from the London company of $100 a year and received fifty acres of land on which to settle. Seven years later the city of Lynn was founded, and ever since it has been a making shoes for the world. Philip Kertland, a native of Buckinghamshire, was the first shoemaker of the city of Lynn. In George Washington's
