HANGED HIMSELF.

Body of Arthur Spencer Found Suspended From Bar of Cell Door.

Arthur Spencer, who under the name of "John Doe," was convicted in the Circuit Court at Frederick, October 1 of the larceny of $15 from the boarding-house of Mrs. Tobias Newcomer, in Frederick and sentenced to 15 years in the Maryland penitentiary, committed suicide in his cell in that institution last Thursday night.

Spencer who at the time of his trial at Frederick refused to disclose his identity, a few days after his arrival at the penitentiary made a statement saying that he was born in Australia and educated in England, and because of his love for animals had become an animal trainer. He stated that he had refused to disclose his name at the trial out of consideration for his young wife, to whom he was married in Cincinnati, Ohio, in November last, and on whose account, being out of work and no means to support her, he had been tempted to commit theft.

A few days later Spencer was identified at the penitentiary as the son of Lucy Piper, a mulatto woman, who formerly lived in Martinsburg, W. Va., but she now lives in Wheeling, W. Va. In the meantime Spencer's young wife had arrived in Baltimore and visited him in the penitentiary. She was informed that her husband had colored blood in his veins and upon being convinced that this was true declared that she would have nothing more to do with him. Spencer strenuously denied this story, but his identification by several persons who had known him in Martinsburg and the discovery that he had recently been staying at the home of the Piper woman in Wheeling left no room for doubt.

His heavy sentence, the disclosure as to his birth, and the desertion of his wife, for whom he manifested an ardent affection, made Spencer exceedingly despondent and last Thursday night he sought a way out of his misery by taking his life.

Spencer is supposed to have committed his desperate deed about eleven o'clock Thursday night. Making a rope out of the sheet of his bed, he formed a noose, which he placed about his neck and then standing upon a stool, tied the other end of the rope to a bar of his cell door. Kicking away the stool, he slowly strangled to death. His body was found by one of the keepers at 1 o'clock Friday morning.

Spencer was about 42 years of age. He was born at Harper's Ferry, and was given a good education, his mother sending him to Storer College at Harper's Ferry. For many years he traveled about the country with various shows, and he was employed as attendant to wild animals in public parks at many places. It was while employed in the latter capacity at Chennatti that he was married last November. His wife becoming dissatisfied with life there, he left his position and came east with her visiting many places. While at Glyndon, Md., his funds ran out and he left his wife there while he started out, according to his story, to find work. Shortly afterwards, while at Blue Ridge Summit, he stole a watch and some jewelry at a boarding-house. Subsequently he committed thefts in Columbia, Pa.; Hagerstown, Md.; Halltown, W. Va.; Frederick, Baltimore and other places. He was arrested near Washington Junction by B. & O. R. R. Detective Weber and taken to Frederick, where he was tried and convicted.

FELL DEAD WHILE AT WORK.

Wentz were summoned and did all in their power to revive the lady, but in spite of all that could be done she expired about 12 o'clock Saturday, the cause of death being uremic convulsions.

MET DEATH STRANGELY.

Body Of Harry Adams, Colored, Found Beside P. R. R. Bridge.

The dead body of Harry Adams, colored, aged about 24 years, of Lime Kiln, this county, was found Sunday morning lying beside the Pennsylvania Railroad bridge across the Monocacy river, north of Harmony Grove, this county. The body was found about 10 o'clock by Track Superintendent Shoemaker. It was lying upon the bank of the stream partly covered by water, but it was evident that death was due not to drowning, but to wounds on the man's head.

Adams was formerly employed on the farm of Charles Rohrback, at Lime Kiln, and was committed to Montevue Hospital for treatment October 9. He left that institution sometime after 6 o'clock on Saturday evening, and it is considered certain that he was not struck by a train, the last train over the railroad before the time when his body was found having reached Frederick about 8 o'clock Saturday night. The bridge is several miles from Montevue. The theory is advanced that the man, while walking along the Railroad, fell from the bridge and his wounds were caused by his head striking upon the rocks at the foot of the bridge. There are persons who think, however, that Adams may have been foully dealt with and that his body was carried to the place where it was found by persons who murdered him.

It is not known where Adams came from. He came to Mr. Rohrback's place four or five months ago and has since been employed by him, but Mr. Rohrback knows nothing of his history. At the recent term of court Adams was a principal witness against William Allen, colored, who was accused of stealing clothing from Adams, but who was found not guilty. Allen who was also employed at Lime Kiln, has disappeared from the neighborhood since his trial.

The coroner's jury which investigated the death of Charles Adams, rendered a verdict Monday evening that Adams came to his death from blows inflicted upon the head with a blunt instrument in the hands of a party or parties unknown to them.

The autopsy revealed that Adams had three large wounds on the top of his head and one on the left side of his head. No blood stains or signs of a struggle were observed in the vicinity. It is the opinion that Adams was killed somewhere up the river and his body brought down to the bridge and placed there to convey the impression that he was struck by a train and knocked from the bridge.

McCauley, pastor of St. Paul's, Cumberland, introducing a resolution, which was passed without debate, to the effect that the seceding part of St. Paul's congregation, calling themselves St. Stephen's, had violated the constitution by withdrawing without synodical action and that the action be reported to the Allegany Synod, which asked permission to take in St. Stephen's.

The Church of Our Saviour, recently organized at West Arlington, asked for admission into the synod. The request was referred to a committee composed of Revs. Dr. P. H. Miller, J. E. Maurer and Charles Reinwald.

Rev. George H. Beckley, visitor to the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society Convention at Middle-town, reported that he had been warmly received.

The committee to formulate rules to govern leaves of absence at future synods recommended that at future synods leave of absence should be granted only for personal illness or illness in the minister's family and to conduct funerals.

Sunday night St. John's Church was crowded. Rev. Charles Reinwald, of Emmitsburg, made an address upon "Beneficiary Education."

Treasurer Cornelius Eckhardt submitted the report of the apportionment committee, which was adopted. The report showed: Number of pastors, 75; pastorate meeting apportionment, 6; pastorate exceeding apportionment, 26; pastorate reporting deficits, 43; total deficits, $4,302.85; total excess, $785.35; net deficits, $3,517.50; amount apportioned for the year, $25,330; received on apportionment for year, $21,872.60; deficit, $3,517.50; total amount paid account of 1902 on apportionment, $21,872.60; 1901, $21,195.68. The apportionment committee consists of Revs. Charles A. Britt, Charles Reinwald, Messrs. H. M. Cowles, E. F. Stockert and Cornelius Eckhardt.

The committee on temperance reported a series of resolutions, which were adopted, denouncing the liquor traffic and opposing any change in the Anti-Canteen law. The synod will petition Congress to maintain the law prohibiting the sale of liquor to our soldiers. The Anti-Saloon League was commended to the people for their support.

RUN OVER BY A WAGON.

Master George Summers, aged 12 years, son of Mr. Frank Summers, of near Jefferson, this county, died at the Frederick City Hospital, Tuesday afternoon, from injuries received by being run over by a wagon on Thursday last. The boy was sitting on the foot board drawing the rubber on a large farm wagon going down a hill near Dickinson Station last Thursday, when the rubber block slipped out, throwing the boy under the rear wheel of the wagon which ran over his neck and shoulder. The wagon contained 10 bushels of wheat and 14 tons of fertilizer. The injured boy was removed to his home and, his injuries proving to be serious, was taken to the hospital for treatment. He was in a dying condition when he reached the hospital, however, and expired a short while after arriving there.

NEXT TUESDAY ELECTION DAY.

The Unofficial Ballot and Some Information In Regard To Marking Ticket.—The Polling Places, Etc.

To vote the ticket make a cross (X) mark in the square to the right of and opposite the name of the candidate you intend voting for.

For Representative in the Fifty-eighth Congress of the United States from the Sixth Congressional District of Maryland.

VOTE FOR ONE.

JAMES A. HOPKINS, of Montgomery County. Prohibition.

CHRISTIAN F. KENNEWEG, of Allegany County. Democratic.

GEORGE A. PEARRE, of Allegany County. Republican.

The ballot to be used on election day, November 4, will not differ materially from that used last year in this county, and every voter should familiarize himself with the ballot before going into the voting booth. Following are a few suggestions which voters will do well to observe:

The polls in Frederick county will open at 8 o'clock, A. M., and close at 6 o'clock, P. M., on election day, Tuesday November 4. In Emmitsburg District the voting places are as follows: In Precinct No. 1, at P. D. Lawrence's shop, near the Public Square. In Precinct No. 2, at Kerrigan's Coach shop, on East Main Street.

When a ballot is handed you see that it is endorsed with the initials of the Judge of Election who gave it to you.

There is only one office to be filled at this election, therefore your ballot should be marked with only one cross (X) mark.

Vote the ticket by making a cross (X) mark in the space provided therefor to the right of and opposite to the name of the candidate you desire to vote for, as there is only one candidate to be voted for make only one cross (X) mark on the ticket.

Make the cross (X) mark within the square provided for the purpose.

Do not let the cross (X) mark extend beyond the square; make it entirely inside the square.

Do not make any other mark on the ballot; if you do your ballot will not be counted.

Any mark whatever on the ballot except the cross (X) mark, whether in the square or out of it, will cause the ballot to be rejected.

Do not make a dot or a circle or any other mark but a cross (X) mark in the square.

If you mark any square on your ballot with any kind of a mark other than the cross (X) mark entirely within the square your ballot will not be counted. Be sure not to deface or tear your ballot in any way.

If you make a mistake in marking it, do not attempt to make a correction; return it to the judge and get another. You are entitled to a third ballot if the first two have been spoiled and returned, but you must not consume more than seven minutes in marking it.

Mark your ballot with the indelible pencil, which you will find in the election booth.

Do not use your own pencil; your ballot will not be counted if you do.

After marking your ballot fold it exactly as it was folded when handed to you by the judge, and give it to the ballot judge without permitting any one to see how you have marked it.

See that the judge tears off the coupon and deposits the ballot in the ballot box.

When taken before Commissioner of Immigration Weiss the woman stated that she desired to come to the States, but being without funds, she concluded to stow away on the ship. Just before the vessel sailed from Antwerp she found a place where she thought she would be secure, and hid herself there, but was compelled to come out after two days for the want of food and water. The stowaway was turned over to the captain of the ship to be deported.

Pains in the Back

Are symptoms of a weak, torpid or stagnant condition of the kidneys or liver, and are a warning it is extremely hazardous to neglect, so important is a healthy action of these organs. They are commonly attended by loss of energy, lack of courage, and sometimes by gloomy foreboding and despondency.

DROWNED IN THE CANAL.

Mr. H. J. Nelson, who resides in Washington and who is said to have been employed in one of the Government departments met his death near Glen Echo, Montgomery county, Monday afternoon under distressing circumstances. He left the city in the morning to spend the day fishing and hunting on the Potomac. While strolling along the towpath of the canal he raised his rifle and fired at a bird. A young son of Mr. King, who is a keeper of a canal lock, was struck in the calf of the leg by the bullet. Mr. Nelson, upon discovering what he had done, started to run to the young man's assistance, and in endeavoring to cross the lock, slipped and fell. His head struck the side of the lock and he fell into the canal and was drowned. Late Monday night Sheriff Collier summoned a jury of inquest, and after hearing the testimony decided that the young man's death was the result of an accident.

The deceased is said to have been a native of Canada, where his parents are understood to reside. He was unmarried and was a member of the Odd-Fellows and Knights of Pythias, which organizations took charge of the remains after the inquest.

FORCIBLY DETAINED.

It was reported to Police Officer Jones at Frederick Monday evening that a colored man was lying along the road near Reich's Ford either dead or drunk. Officer Jones reported to Justice C. H. Eckstein, who with Constable Staub, went out to make an investigation. They were not able to find any such person as described.

Later it has been learned that a colored man who had been drinking wanted to go to Frederick to get more liquor and that some of his friends, deciding that he should not go, tied his hands and feet and covered him over with an overcoat and laid him along the road to sober up and that he had been untied and placed before the officers arrived at the place.

FRIDAY OCTOBER 31, 1902.

THEY GOT FREE SEATS.

An Order That Was Promptly Honored at the Box Office.

Once when Nat Goodwin was playing in Chicago two men approached his manager, who was standing in the lobby of the theater, and introduced themselves as a couple of actors. Their names were entirely unknown to him, and they had nothing to show that they were what they claimed to be. Accordingly he refused to give them seats, but they were persistent. One of the men in particular was offensive. He shook his fist under the manager's nose and demanded who it was that dared refuse him passes.

"I'll see Mr. Goodwin," he declared. "I'll see if a little whippersnapper like you can refuse me seats. You don't know who we are, eh? Well, who are you? Let's see your card. I'll see Mr. Goodwin about it."

The manager, who feared a scene, handed over one of his cards and told the men he was responsible and quite willing to take the consequences of refusing to give them seats.

A few minutes later the two men came back to the theater. One of them had written "Pass two" on the manager's card. He presented the card at the box office, and it was promptly honored. They went in.

When, half an hour later, the manager's attention was called to what had been done, he was at first inclined to take some severe action, but later he saw the joke on himself.

"Get them alone," he said. "If they've got nerve enough to do that, let them be entitled to seats. You had better send an usher down and ask them if they wouldn't like a box."—Chicago Tribune.

Sam Jones to Reporters.

A prominent Baltimore physician tells in the Baltimore Sun the following anecdote about Sam Jones, the Georgia evangelist:

When several years ago Mr. Jones was at Emory Grove camp, the newspaper reports of his sermons caused him to complain.

At the last service he looked down at the reporters who sat at a table just in front of the pulpit, and said:

"I want to tell you fellows that I like you a lot in spite of your manifold faults. You boys don't treat me right, though. You take my sermons and pick out a piece here, a piece there and a piece somewhere else. Then you string the pieces together, and, naturally, they read funny."

"Now, suppose I reported the Bible that way! A man asks me what the Bible tells him to do. I read in one place, 'And Judas went out and hanged himself.' I turn over and read, 'Go thou and do likewise.' And in another place I find, 'And do it quickly.'"

"Now, you see, boys, that sort of thing won't do. It ain't fair!"

How a Great Surgeon Died.

While Bichat, the famous surgeon, was dying of typhoid fever he turned to an old colleague who was sitting beside his bed and said to him:

"My friend, I am lost, but it is some consolation to know that my case is very curious. During the last few days I have noticed some odd symptoms, and I am studying them carefully."

"Oh, you may recover yet," said the friend.

"That is impossible," replied Bichat, "and if it were not for one thing I would be quite willing to die."

"What is that?" asked the friend.

"I am exceedingly sorry," answered Bichat, "that I shall not have an opportunity to perform an autopsy on myself after my death, for I know that I would make some wonderful scientific discovery."

An hour later he was dead.

Hares That Swim.

I have many times seen hares, several of them at a time, cross a stream to feed on summer evenings and coolly return in the same way back to the woods, says a writer in London News. The act has been often voluntary, but one thing I have noticed—they invariably sat up to see if they had time to cross before any surprise came. For instance, the movements of a person walking along a footpath in the distance would be watched with some anxiety before the plunge was made. I have also seen snakes swim across streams in the same way, apparently to bask on the sunny side.

Experienced.

"Mamma," she said, "what preacher do you think I ought to have married? I feel as though Mr. Goodman is a young man, and not being married himself, he could hardly."

"Oh, please! Have Dr. Easleigh. I've had him for four of mine, and he always gave thorough satisfaction."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Open Road to Fame and Fortune.

"My boy," said the old gentleman in a kindly tone, "there's only one thing that stands between you and success." "And what is that?" asked the youth. "If you worked as hard at working," explained the old gentleman, "as you do at trying to find some way to avoid working, you would easily acquire both fame and fortune."—Chicago Post.

The One Qualification.

"What position will our friend take on this momentous question?" asked the gradgully man. "Position?" echoed Senator Sophomoric absentmindedly. "Oh, he'll take pretty nearly any position that's open, provided there's a salary attached to it."—Washington Star.

Too Cool.

"Oh, Major Bloodgood," said girlish gusher, "they say that during the war you were always cool in action." "Cool!" declared the major. "Why, my dear girl, I was so cool that when I shivered people mistaken that I was trembling."—Baltimore Herald.

DANGER IN NEW CORN.

An Unparalleled Promoter of Hog Cholera—Banned from the West.

During the last year there has been less cholera and swine plague than formerly simply because less corn was fed. This does not mean that corn is the direct cause of cholera, but it does mean that as a promoter of the disease corn, especially new corn, is an unparalleled success. This greatest of all grains is the greatest heat producer grown on the farm and when fed in large quantities produces fat at the expense of tissue, so that the animal falls an easy victim when the cholera microbe gets in an appearance.

At this time, in the face of an enormous crop, farmers are likely to forget the lessons they have learned as to feeding the smaller corn ration. New corn is unexcelled for fattening purposes, but it is deficient in muscle, flesh and bone forming elements. It should be fed cautiously and always with some digestible concentrated feed.

A well known Iowa authority said recently that the system of the pig soon becomes deranged by continuous feeding of new corn, the animal soon becomes sick, and much of the loss usually attributed to hog cholera might be termed corn disease. He stated further that two bushels of new corn are required to equal one bushel of old corn in results, and as pigs like the new grain and will eat it ravenously if permitted every precaution should be taken to prevent overeating.

"Don't misunderstand me. I would not urge any one to discontinue the use of corn. The farmer who has a big corn crop this year will be immeasurably benefited if he will continue to feed the balanced ration. The big yield of corn should not deter him from using concentrated feeds. He should remember the danger in feeding new corn and that three or four hogs saved will more than pay for the necessary quantity of concentrated feed rich in digestible protein."—Cor. Country Gentleman.

Where Only a Small Flock Is Kept.

Dipping sheep is universally acknowledged as being the only way to properly destroy the infestous pests that cause our sheep raisers and wool growers so many thousands of dollars loss each year. The accompanying cut shows a dipping tank the writer helped to make that has given very satisfactory results.

WOODEN DIPPING TANK.

Isafactory returns where only a few sheep are kept. The tank is 7 feet 8 inches in length at the top and 4 feet 2 inches long at the bottom.

The height is 4 feet. It is 2 feet wide at the top and only 6 inches at the bottom. We made the frame on the outside so as to have the inside perfectly smooth. We used three 2 by 4 pieces 19 feet long. The studdings are 4 feet 2 inches in height, allowing two inches to frame the studding across the bottom in order to hold the tank solid.—Cor. Ohio Farmer.

Earthing Up Celery.

The gradual earthing up of celery should be attended to when the weather is suitable. In earthing up it is necessary to success to have the foliage dry and the soil in a friable condition. Land with wet soil will aggravate rust and even start it on healthy plants. Go over the lines and remove all rotten leaves before adding the soil. Where it is found impossible to blanch with soil on account of bad weather boards can be used temporarily for this purpose of starting the process in time on either a portion of the crop or all of it by standing a line of twelve inch boards along at each side of the celery drill. Of course celery can be blanched altogether by the aid of boards, but many people consider the celery superior when earth has been used, while others object to the expense of boards. In handling celery it is important to keep the soil from getting into the hearts. This can be done by drawing all the stalks closely and evenly together, holding the plant with one hand and packing the soil firmly around with the other, or they may be tied with string. The soil can then be finished with the spade or plow. While the plants are growing four to six inches is enough to put in at one time.

"Flaxseeds" of the Fly in the Wheat.

Many farmers suppose that the so-called "flaxseeds" which are found in October and November at the base of the wheat-stalk are the eggs of the Hessian fly, but this is a mistake. These "flaxseeds" are the full grown larvae of the fly, which undergo their transformation into the winged insect within the brown cases called "flaxseeds," says Charles E. Thorne, director of the Ohio agricultural experiment station.

What Others Say.

The man who grows and feeds hogs to the full capacity of his farm is always prosperous.

Sheep will live and thrive on pasturage so short that cattle cannot get enough grass during the day to do them overnight.

Stock farmers don't wear out, but become more and more fertile and more and more profitable.

Sheep require no expensive shelter. A dry place and protection from the force of storms, an open shed with a roof that will turn the rain, are all that is required.

HOW SALT COOLS COFFEE.

A Little Experiment Worth the Trying Out of Mere Curiosity.

Between bites of the simple breakfast he had ordered the young clerk gazed nervously at the restaurant clock. It was plain he had overslept himself and was paying the way to future indigestion by bolting his food. The coffee was the stumbling block. It was hot—very hot—but the clerk needed it badly, and he slipped it carefully, having due regard for his mouth and tongue.

But time pressed, and with a parting glance at the clock, he reached for his glass of ice water and prepared to pour some of the frigid fluid into his cup.

"Don't spoil your coffee, young man," said an elderly gentleman who was eating his breakfast on the other side of the table. "You take all the good out of it by putting ice or ice water in it."

The clerk was at first inclined to resent the interference, but the paternal appearance of the other man tempered his resentment. "What am I to do?" he asked. "I am late for the office, and I want this coffee badly."

"Let me show you a little scheme," said the elderly man. Taking the cylindrical salt cellar from the table, he wiped it carefully with a napkin, then, reaching over, deposited the glass vessel in the cup of coffee.

"Salt, you know, has peculiar cooling properties," he said, meanwhile holding the receptacle firmly in position. "They put it with ice to intensify the cold when making ice cream. It is used extensively in cold storage warehouses for cooling purposes, and being incased in glass does not affect its power to any great extent."

As he spoke he withdrew the salt cellar from the coffee and motioned to the younger man to drink. He raised the cup to his lips and, to his surprise, found the liquid cooled to such an extent that he could drink it without inconvenience.

"The uses of salt are manifold," said the elderly man, with the air of one beginning a lecture. "I remember once when I was in Mexico."

But the clerk, with another glance at the clock, thanked him profusely and dashed out of the restaurant.—New York Mail and Express.

FRUITS AND FLOWERS.

Land cannot be too rich or too mellow for fruits.

Manure for the garden should be free from weed seeds.

The head of a tree needs to be fairly open to admit sun and air for full growth of fruit.

The dahlias will never disappoint you. Pink, white, yellow or crimson, tall, dwarf or cactus, it is bound to flower.

In the fall after the leaves have dropped is generally the best time for taking cuttings from quinces, but they may be taken later.

Hellebore should not be mixed with other cut flowers in water. They decay quickly and have a harmful effect upon the other blossoms.

Myosotis (forget-me-not) needs partial shading, but not the shade of a tree. Plant among taller flowers or around rosebushes, and it will do well.

Plenty of yellow blossoms should be secured for places which lack sunshine. Yellow is good in almost every situation and is the cheeriest of tones.

Good cultivation causes an abundance of fibrous roots to be made. The growth of any plant is largely measured by the number of its fibrous roots.

Too Smart.

He was one of those men who are constantly trying to beat down prices," said a bank cashier, "and had evidently been looking around for bargain pieces for his bill of exchange. When he presented it to me and asked the rate, I replied, 'One-tenth of 1 per cent.'"

"Now, look here," he said. "You are too high. I have done business in this bank for ten years, and yet you charge me a higher rate than I can get from the Farmers' bank over the way. They will do it for one-eighth. If you don't do it for that, I'll take my account over there."

All right, I remarked. "We will do it for the same rate, considering that you are an old customer."

"The bill of exchange cost him 60 cents more than it would have kept quiet,"—New York Times.

Needed For Other Purposes.

A Georgia justice recently married a runaway couple who drove up to his house and went through the ceremony without descending from the carriage. When the ceremony was over, says the Atlanta Constitution, the groom fumbled in his pockets and fished up thirty-six cents.

"Judge," he said, "this here's all the money I got in the world. If you've a mind to take it, you kin, but I'll say now that I done bet it aside for the honeymoon expenses."

Her Opportunity.

"They say she isn't happy," commented the neighbor, "but I don't see why."

"Oh, some people never are satisfied."

"That's right, and it's her own fault if she isn't happy, because she's able to buy clothes that will make all the other women envious."—Chicago Post.

An Insultation.

Doris—Yes, she was furious about the way in which that paper reported her marriage.

Helen—Did it allude to her age?

Doris—Indirectly. It stated that "Miss Glend and Mr. Yale were married, the latter being a well known collector of antiques."—Chicago News.

THE MILKY WAY.

A System Which Gives Us a Vague Idea of the Eternity of Space.

The Milky Way, the grandest feature of the "firmament which bends above us," the hazy path which so majestically bands the whole fabric of the skies together, is now known to be composed of a grand aggregation of at least 18,000,000 stars, each as large as or larger than that which makes vegetable and animal life an earthly possibility. One is apt when allowing the mind to revert to the contemplation of these misty and indistinct astronomical subjects to measure their magnitude or attempt to measure it by making terrestrial comparisons.

It is obvious, however, upon more mature reflection that such comparisons are worse than "odious." The bulk of our sun exceeds that of the earth 1,200,000 times, being 600 times greater than that of the bulk of his whole train of planets taken collectively. This being the case, what basis can we use for calculating the magnitude of 18,000,000 stars, each as large as said before, probably larger than that which gives us heat and light?

The infinite number of stars which, taken together, make up the Milky Way are not set at a uniform distance from our earth or even from our sun. In fact, they appear to work altogether independently of either this mundane sphere or our "glorious orb of day." The majority of them are planted at a distance too remote to be even imperfectly measured or understood. Some of them are so near (?) that light, which travels at the rate of 185,000 miles per second, would cross the distance between us and them in the period of about an even ten years. Others, however, are so remote that it would take a full thousand years for their light to reach us.

A Curious State of Affairs.

You must be very cautious how you treat your neighbor in Isle of Jersey, for he can have you arrested on the slightest pretext and if he has a grudge against you can bring about such a calamity by simply giving a fictional account of your misconduct to the nearest lawyer. The latter will demand a fine, and should you decline to pay it he will cause you to be thrown into prison to await trial. Then, even if you are acquitted on the ground that the charge is unfounded, you have absolutely no claim against your persecutor, though you may have suffered a couple of months' imprisonment for nothing.—London Tit-Bits.

Buras as a Tax Collector.

In the olden days candles were taxed articles, and it was the duty of Buras, an excise officer, to see that the tax was not evaded. He generally looked the other way, however, as when passing through the kitchen one night at William Limer's of Kensington, where the gudewife was busy making candles, he merely remarked, "Faith, madam, ye're thrang the night," and passed into the parlour.—Blackwood's Magazine.
