WAYS OF WINGED WOOLERS.

Incidents Illustrating the Comical side of Bird Life.

Wooling time brings to the front the comical side of bird life, and methods are as varied among our feathered neighbors as among ourselves. The extremes of dignified courtship and disreputable scolding were shown by two well known birds, when the presence of a rival intensified affairs.

Two purple finches, suitors for the favor of the same sparrowlike maiden, placed themselves on each side about a foot from her and offered a musical contest. First one burst into rapturous song, flying up into the air, feathers fluffed out and snowy breast and rosy shoulders more lovely than ever. The solo finished, he dropped back to his perch and politely waited, while his rival poured out his madrigal. This alternate display continued several minutes, and apparently the umpire found it hard to choose, for she evaded decision by taking flight—both suitors following.

Different was the method of two orchard Orioles, one in the immature plumage of the second year, the other in the full glory of maturity. This was a rivalry accompanied by scolding and avian vituperation from beginning to end. If the theory of selection by fine dress be true, decision should have been easy, but after a whole day's trial the fair one ended it by a truly feminine scorn of theories, eloping with her plainer suitor, leaving the gorgeous elder to console himself with another bride—which he did before the sun went down.—Collier's Weekly.

War.

There is, besides a pleasure in order, a very real fear of disorder. A mob, a fire or a runaway horse arouses a sensation of terror in the spectator quite apart from their potentiality of harm to himself. More force is not as is supposed, the last argument of man. A civilized war would have more terrors for the stockholder than the cotager were it not for the threat of ungoverned force veiled behind the punctilio of Christian fighting. We are never quite certain of an army. The disciplined brigade which nowadays captures the enemy's capital as tenderly as it would guard its own has, nevertheless, the same badges on its buttons as those which were fouled with the ruse of San Sebastian and the murder of Bazeilles. It may drown its manners at any moment in a torrent of blood and tears, and sometimes, as others never forget, the fact, War is but the crust of the volcano. Fires of unutterable horror burn beneath. The very perfection of the discipline which controls them is evidence of man's dread of disorder, for it is only fear that welds so strongly the furnace doors.—Blackwood's.

Diplomatic Permanency.

It is likely to be the case in America that as time goes on and our relations with foreign powers become more and more complicated and pressing permanence in consular and diplomatic office, based upon knowledge and proved fitness, will be the rule. This may mean that it will not be so common a practice to take scholars and authors from private life and place them suddenly in foreign consulates and missions. But even then it is likely that our literature will be enriched by the work of men who have become authors while enjoying the opportunities for new studies and broader observation afforded by the foreign service of their country, so that if hitherto literature has contributed to diplomacy hereafter we shall see our diplomacy contributing to our literature, as has not infrequently already been the case.—Century.

The Roman Lupetto.

The Roman Lupetto, which is almost indistinguishable from the so called Pomeranian dog, invariably tries to bury or cover over any food given him which he does not like. If fed on a loose druggist he will skillfully cover up the obnoxious food; if the carpet is nailed down so that he cannot do this he goes through the exact process with his nose which would turn over the plate if it were movable. The Lupetto has a general contempt for any but meat diet, and, though he may condescend to accept bread and milk out of deference to his owner (many of them would not make this concession), he is sure to go through the form of protest first.

Birdskin Garments.

Eskimo women wear the most curious kind of underclothing, its peculiarity being that it is made of the skins of birds. These skins, before being sewed together, are chewed well by the women in order to make them soft. About a hundred skins are required to make a shirt, and the labor of chewing the skins which form their garments is quite enough to account for the massive, well developed jaws of Eskimo women.

FUNERALS IN GREECE.

They Are Somewhat of a Shock to the American Tourist.

"One thing sure to shock the American tourist is a Greek funeral," said a recently returned traveler. "It is a spectacle which most persons of convention governed decency desire to avoid, because the body of the dead is exposed in an open hearse. The coffin is shallow, so that not only the face and head, but the hands and much of the body, can be seen from the sidewalk as the procession moves through the streets.

"The lid of the coffin, frequently richly upholstered and decorated with garlands and wreaths, is carried on the hearse by the undertaker. The priest, the relatives and other mourners follow, and as the ghastly spectacle moves along it is customary for bystanders to remove their head gear and cross themselves.

"In the Athens cemeteries graves are rented for a term of years, just like the habitations of the quick. Only the wealthy own burial lots. This is invariably an evidence of wealth or aristocracy. The poor seldom dream of buying a lot or tomb. Such purchase would be deemed among them an unnecessary luxury.

"At the end of the term for which a grave is rented the bones are dug up, placed in a bag, labeled with the name and date and deposited in a general receptacle."—New York Herald.

Rewards For Lost Property.

"More lost and stolen articles would be recovered if the losers would adopt different methods in advertising for their property," said a headquarters detective the other day. "Of course honest persons do not haggle over the remuneration for returning a pocket, a dog or anything else. But every one is not built along those lines. It may sound very nice to say, 'Liberal reward if returned to owner,' but there are different degrees of liberality. The sum usually dwindle in the mind of the owner when he sees his property before him, and no one knows this better than the finder.

"It is far more effective to set forth a definite sum in the advertisement. Five or twenty-five dollars means more than a vague promise to be real generous. Of course there are cases when it is not wise to be too explicit, but in nine cases out of ten a stated sum will bring better results than an indefinite offer. This is nearly always true with watches with the owner's monogram engraved on the case, as the pawnbroker refuses to loan so much on articles so easily identified."—New York Press.

A Lot of Sick Ones.

A delegation of clergymen once called on President Lincoln to recommend one of their number as consul at the Hawaiian Islands and in addition to qualifications for fitness appealed to the president's sympathy on the ground that the candidate was in poor health and a residence in that climate would be of great benefit to him. Lincoln questioned the man closely as to his symptoms, then remarked:

"I am sorry to disappoint you, but there are eight other men after this place, and every one of them is sicker than you are."—The True Abraham Lincoln.

The House Spider.

While the common house spider is harmless and renders a positive service to mankind by killing flies and other insects, it is generally regarded with aversion if not with fright. The ordinary spider does not deserve its bad reputation. From time immemorial it has been called crafty and murderous, luring the poor fly to its death and then greedily devouring it, but really it only punishes trespassers.

One Failure.

"It's funny our minister never gets married," remarked the young husband, who had just refused his wife a bond, in his endeavor to change the subject. "I think he'd make a good husband."

"Well," replied the wife warmly, "he didn't seem to make a very good one when he married us."

Vain.

"Did you find the Chinese a vain people?"
"Very. To hear a Chinese brag, you could almost believe an American was talking."—Detroit Free Press.

The Ruling Passion.

The prospective heirs of the dying miser came silently into his sickroom. Physician is seated by the side of the patient, a finger on his pulse.

"How is our dear uncle today, doctor?" asked the prospective heirs.

"There is a small change in his condition," whispers the doctor.

At this the dying miser rouses himself by a supreme effort.

"Small change?" he gasps. "Put it—in—my—pocket!"

Distress After Eating Cured.

Judge W. T. Holland of Greensburg, La., who is well and favorably known, says: "Two years ago I suffered greatly from indigestion. After eating, great distress would invariably result, lasting for an hour or so and my nights were restless. I concluded to try Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and it cured me entirely. Now my sleep is refreshing and digestion perfect." Sold by T. E. Zimmerman, Druggist.

WHY ONE FOOT IS LARGER THAN THE OTHER.

"The question of which foot to fit first is an important one to us," said the shoe salesman, as he tugged to get a small pair of Oxfords on a large foot. "It may seem strange to you, but it is rarely that we do not experience some trouble in fitting one foot, while the other is easily covered. A popular belief obtains that the left foot of every person is the hardest to fit, and consequently, many shoe clerks always try a shoe on that foot first. It is not true, however, according to my observation, that there is any inflexible rule as to which foot to try first. It is true, nevertheless, that in a majority of cases if you succeed in fitting the left foot you will have no trouble with the right. My practice is to try both feet before I pronounce a pair of shoes a perfect fit. Then I am sure of avoiding any mistake growing out of peculiarities of foot formation. No two persons have feet formed exactly alike, and the shoe agent who thinks 'so and is governed accordingly will meet with many complaints.

"For sometime I pondered over the problem of fitting shoes to feet, and especially as to why the left foot should be considered the standard by which to be governed. The only rational theory I have ever been able to evolve in a very simple one when you come to consider it. Nine out of ten persons you meet are right-handed, as we say. About one person in ten or perhaps the per cent is even less than that, uses his left hand. If you will observe persons who use the right hand when they are standing talking, they invariably rest their weight on the left foot. And vice versa, a left-handed person will rest his or her weight on the right foot. The result is that with right-handed persons the left foot is probably a fraction larger than the right foot, and the shoe clerk must inevitably find this to be a fact sooner or later."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A CASE OF TACT.

Many a man has been helped out of a difficulty by his wife's tact and ready wit. A popular Philadelphia clergyman tells the following on himself: One day he saw coming up the steps a woman whom he was not anxious to meet. So he said to his wife: "Now, my dear, I'll run upstairs and escape until she goes."

After about an hour he guiltily tiptoed to the landing and listened. Reassured, he started to go down stairs, and, while doing so, called out over the banister: "Well, my dear, has that old bore gone at last?"

The next instant a voice from below caused a cold perspiration to bedew his ministerial brow and rooted him to the spot.

Then came a response that sounded inexpressibly sweet to him. It was the voice of his wife, who replied: "Yes, doctor, she went away over an hour ago, but here is our old friend, Mrs. Jenkins, whom I am sure you want to meet."

NORWAY'S CURE FOR DRUNKENNESS.

In Norway drunkenness is punished by imprisonment. As soon as a man is incarcerated the delinquent has a loaf and wine morning and evening. The bread is served in a wooden bowl full of wine, in which it has been soaking for an hour. The first day the drunkard swallows his allowance willingly enough. The second it seems less pleasant. At the end of six or eight days prisoners have been known to abstain altogether from food thus pitilessly presented. This course of treatment finished, the drunkard, except in rare instances, is radically cured.

ALMOST A CHECKMATE.

J. P. Morgan, Jr., on the Oceanic, was describing a visit that he made to Ireland last year.

"In Dublin," he said, "my valet fell ill, and I was obliged to send him home to London. Thereafterward I relied upon hotel valets, and queer fish, truly, some of them were.

"There was a Derry hotel valet who amused me. I sat in the parlor of my suite one morning and sent this valet to the bedroom for a pair of boots.

"Two pairs of boots," I said, "are in the marquetry closet. Bring me one pair, and be sure that they are mates."

"The Derry valet bustled off and brought back a pair of boots that were not mates, after all.

"By Jove, Patrick," I said, "this pair of boots are not mates."

"Sure then, sir," he said, "I don't know what's to be done at all, at all, for the other pair in the cabinet are not mates, either."—Boston Post.

Quite Another Matter.

"Before I give you my answer," said the fluff-haired summer girl, "I would like to know if you are in a position to keep me in the style to which I have always been accustomed."

"If the styles don't change too often I am," replied the wise youth. "Otherwise the odds are in favor of my going broke."—Chicago News.

"Aren't the perfect trust and confidence engaged people have in each other perfectly beautiful?"
"Perfectly idiotic, I should say."

"Why?"
"Because when I was engaged I told my future wife all about my income and prospects, and now I can't spend a dollar on myself without her knowing about it."

"I read in one of the papers the other day," said Mrs. Henpeck, "that a Pittsburg man has just discovered that his wife secured a divorce from him 10 years ago."

"Heavens!" replied Mr. Henpeck. "Ten years of joy taken right out of the poor fellow's life."—Chicago Record-Herald.

AN ARTFUL PASSENGER.

At one of our holiday resorts during the season a coach used to run daily between the town and some ruins a few miles out, stopping at an inn for dinner. The landlord of the inn used to make a tidy sum (which he shared with the coachman) by doing the passengers out of their meal. A good repast was provided, but the passengers were hardly allowed to be seated before the signal was given to start.

One day, after the coach had departed, the landlord discovered a traveler still enjoying a hearty meal. He grew uneasy as he saw the eatables disappearing under his very eyes, but far more so when he noticed that all the silver spoons and forks were missing.

On the traveler describing a suspicious looking character among the passengers a bicyclist was hastily dispatched to bring back the coach. On its arrival out walked the accuser, who, instead of helping to identify the thief, took his seat on the coach, and, addressing the furious landlord, coolly remarked:

"Thanks for my good feed. You'll find them spoons and forks in the coffee-pot. Right away, driver."—Exchange.

Samuel Johnson would never speak good of anything Scotch.

"What do you think of the pudding?" asked an old Scotch lady, seeing that he was eating heartily of it.

"H'm," replied Johnson, with his mouth full, "It's very good food for pigs."

"Then let me gi' y' some mair o' it," said the lady, helping him again bountifully.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Clerk—I am to be married shortly. Couldn't you manage to increase my salary a little?

Employer—Couldn't, really. But I'll tell you what I'll do for you, my boy; I'll shorten your hours during the first three months, so that you can spend your evenings at home, and after that I'll lengthen them again, so that you will have an excuse to get away.—New York Weekly.

One Thing Unbroken.

Standing over the shattered remains of their last Dresden china statuette, the exasperated mistress said to the awkward servant:

"Is there anything you haven't broken since you have been with me?"

"Yes, mum," replied the servant. "I have yet to break my record for destructiveness."

Mr. Burns scowled as his wife opened the door of the library and ventured to tell him that dinner was ready.

"What do you want to bother me for?" he said wrathfully. "I'm right in the middle of a love sonnet and trying to think up a rhyme for 'angel,'!"—Chicago Tribune.

Language was given for the concealment of thought," quoted the witty citizen.

"That is perfectly correct," answered Senator Sorghum; "if every man voted the way he talks we'd have all kinds of reform in no time."—Washington Star.

Restful.

Laura—Alice Flitter is such a restless friend.

Anxious Wife—"Oh, doctor, I am so glad you came. My husband is worse—he seems to be wandering in his mind."

Physician—"Oh, don't let that worry you. He won't have to go far to reach the limit."

She—"Never! But pray, don't go and blow your brains out."

He—"If I had any brains I should not have proposed to you."

CHEST FULL OF VOUCHERS.

The Treasury department has just created a bureau, the like of which probably never has been known in the history of the Government. It is a temporary Bureau of the Treasury and is to handle certain matters of unique interest pertaining to the St. Louis World's Fair.

When Congress appropriated $5,000,000 toward the fair project it did so with the understanding that the fair managers themselves were to raise and expend a certain number of millions before the Government appropriation should become available. The managers now have spent a sum which enables them to claim the Government appropriation, and it is with the idea of straightening out the fair expenditures and securing the Government money that the new bureau is created.

J. H. Dunn, of St. Louis, assistant auditor of the fair, arrived in this city a few days ago and has established himself in the new bureau at the department. Mr. Dunn brought with him three large steel trunks filled with vouchers. The vouchers show an expenditure by the management of $8,000,000 in sums ranging from 25 cents to $100,000. There are 7,000 vouchers and they form a large bulk. Attached to each are incidental papers, such as checks, and when piled up in the room assigned to Mr. Dunn they make a formidable array. A peculiar thing about the papers is that they differ in handwriting, representing nearly every civilized nation on earth. They come from the representatives of the fair, telling of expenditures in all parts of the world. Mr. Dunn has been allowed 12 clerks by the Secretary, and his room has been fitted out with calculating machines and other paraphernalia designed to simplify his gigantic task of getting the mass of vouchers into shape for presentation.

BOILER EXPLOSION.

A 20-horse power boiler at the cannery of B. F. Thomas, operated by W. Scott Hamby, near North East, Md., blew up at noon Tuesday with a loud report. The boiler was driven with great force through the building and buried itself in the bottom of North East river. Earl Gatchell, an employe, was seriously scalded about the face and arms by escaping steam, and William Bryson, another employe, was injured, but not seriously.

The engine room was completely wrecked and the cannery, which was running to its full capacity, is practically out of business for the balance of the season. The explosion caused much excitement in the town of North East, and but for the fact that the explosion occurred at the noon hour, when but few people were about the building, the list of fatalities would have been large.

Sir Norman Lockyer, president of the British association for the advancement of Science, in his annual address contrasted the large endowments of American and German universities with the comparatively small provision made for advanced scientific education in Great Britain.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Girls and Piano Playing

Dr. Halle, of Berlin, states that out of every 1,000 young girls who begin to learn the piano before they are 14 years old, 600 are affected by some kind of nervous disease, while out of 1,000 other girls who are not taught the piano until 100 suffer in a like manner. The professor recommends that the study of the piano should not begin until after the age 16.

NO SPOOKS AT CONEWAGO.

Noises Which Terrified the Timid Have Been Explained.

A dispatch from Hanover, Pa., says that all the mysterious noises of the historic Conewago Chapel, two miles southwest of that place, have been explained, and thus the ghosts which for over a century have terrorized the timid have been laid.

For generations Conewago Chapel and the parish house adjoining it have been regarded by many people as haunted. Thrilling sounds were told of—sounds as if of invisible whirling wings; people passing near the parish house heard mysterious rappings, clanking irons and strange gurglings.

All these noises have been explained to the satisfaction of all but the most superstitious. Scores of bats found a home in the top story of the parish house and made slight but nerve-racking noises. Pet dogs, scratching for fleas, thumped their legs upon the resounding floors, and this gave rise to the belief of ghosts' tattoo. The clanking irons and gurgling noises were due to the water pipes leading from a windmill in the valley below the chapel to a tank upon the parish house, the irregular surging of the water causing the pipes to shake and rattle.

For pimples, blotches, bad complexion, Hood's Sarsaparilla is the medicine to take—it has established this fact.

SONS OF CHINESE AS VOTERS.

The Bureau of Immigration of the department of Commerce and Labor has been asked whether, as has been stated recently, the American-born son of Chinese parents may be considered as a citizen and be given the privilege of voting in elections in this country.

The bureau confirms the statement, and says that any American-born son of a Chinaman may participate in the elections after applying at the age of maturity for papers allowing him the full right of a citizen. In this connection the clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution is quoted, which reads:

"All persons born or naturalized in the United States, are subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside."

Department officials acknowledge that a rather peculiar situation is thus created, as the father who immigrated to this country is not able to exercise the privilege of suffrage, although his male children are granted that right. They assert, however, that the law stands clearly in the premises, and that there can be no avoidance, even if one were sought.

The number of Chinese residents thus qualified for the suffrage is supposed to be quite small. No record of the figures is kept.

What is Life?

In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in Constipation, Headache or Liver trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly readjust this. It's gentle, yet thorough. Only 25c at T. E. Strike Off At Frostburg

Oil has been struck on the farm of Henry Fanzel, five miles northwest of Frostburg, in Garrett county. Several months ago a test well was commenced, and last week evidence of oil began to show. On Sunday the well was visited by Pittsburg, New York and Baltimore capitalists. Property values will advance if the oil proves a good quality and comes in sufficient quantity to pay.

While racing at Grosse Pointe, a tire on Barney Oldfield's racing machine burst and the automobile flew off the track, striking and fatally injuring Frank Shearer, a spectator. Other accidents also occurred during the day.

WHY COUNTRY EDITORS GET RICH

After a great deal of study and worry, we have at last figured out why many country editors get rich. A child is born in the neighborhood; the attending physician gets $10, and the editor gives the loud-lunged youngster and the happy parents a send-off, and gets $0. It is christened and the minister gets $5; the editor gets $00. It grows up and marries; the editor publishes another long-winded, flowery article, and tells a dozen lies about the "beautiful, accomplished bride." The minister gets $10 and a piece of cake; the editor gets $000. In the course of time it dies and the doctor gets from $5 to $100; the minister another five; the undertaker gets from $50 to $100; the editor publishes notice of the death, and an abstruse two columns long, lodge and society resolutions, a lot of poetry, and a free card of thanks, and gets $0,000. No wonder so many country editors get rich.—Eve.

EVERY BONE IN BODY BROKEN BY FALL.

New York, September 9.—After struggling with six workmen, who tried to hold him; John Sauer, an employe in what is known as the Second Sugar House, in Williamsburg, broke away from them, ran to a window and jumped out. Every bone in his body was broken, and he died in the Eastern District Hospital a few minutes later.

Sauer had been acting queerly for a week. He told the superintendent of the factory strange yarns, and asked him to take care of some $800, which he said he was afraid to leave at his home for fear his family would get it.

The superintendent advised him to put it in bank. He did this yesterday. Today he reported for work and went to his place on the ninth floor. The other workmen noticed his peculiar actions. Twice he climbed out on the window-sill before his fellows, fearing he would do away with himself, seized him. He became quiet and asked them what they meant. Misled by his calmness, they relaxed their hold and Sauer broke away, ran to the window and jumped. He leaves a widow and family at 165 Graham avenue.

A Purgative Pleasure.

If you ever took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness or constipation you know what a purgative pleasure is. These famous little pills cleanse the liver and rid the system of all bile without producing unpleasant effects. They do not gripe, sicken or weaken, but give tone and strength to the tissues and organs involved. W. H. Howell of Houston, Tex., says: "No better pill can be used than Little Early Risers for constipation, sick headache, etc." Sold by T. E. Zimmerman.

Shot On The Road

Spartanburg, S. C., September 9.—Miller McKinney, a merchant of Tacapan Mills, S. C., was shot and killed this afternoon on the public road near Spartanburg by Harry Dean, aged 18 years, of Duncans, S. C. Dean surrendered, claiming he shot in self-defense, and saying McKinney attempted to shoot him as the result of a quarrel over a debt of $2.50 which McKinney alleged Dean owed him. Both Dean and McKinney were members of well-to-do families.—American.

The annual report of Pension Commissioner Ware is about completed and it will contain some interesting statistics regarding the fast thinning ranks of the civil war veterans. His figures show that at the end of the fiscal year, June 30, there were 998,181. Highwater mark on the pension roll was reached July 31, 1902, when there were 1,001,494 pensioners. Commissioner Ware expressed the opinion that the figures then reached will stand as the record for all time. During the year 4,907 pensioners were dropped from the rolls.

Fearful Odds Against Him.

Bedridden, alone and destitute. Such, in brief was the condition of an old soldier by name of J. J. Havens, Versailles, O. For years he was troubled with kidney disease and neither doctors nor medicines gave him relief. At length he tried Electric Bitters. It put him on his feet in short order and now he testifies. "I'm on the road to complete recovery." Best on earth for Liver and Kidney troubles and all forms of Stomach and Bowel Complaints. Only 50c. Guaranteed by T. E. Zimmerman, Druggist.

RICH MAN'S SON IN FOUNDRY

DERBY, CONN., Sept. 7.—Heir to several millions and the recipient already of a life income of many thousands, Franklin Farrel, Jr., 21 years old, Yale graduate, owner of fast horses and a $10,000 touring car, works 10 hours a day in his father's foundry.

He can be seen daily bending over a grindstone at the grimmest and lowliest labor in the whole plant for $4 a week. Determined to master the complicated business of his father's large foundry here, young Farrel last Monday began his apprenticeship.

Franklin Farrel, Sr., one of the wealthiest men in Connecticut, his estate being estimated at from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000, was unaware of his son's purpose until the latter had actually gone to work. Young Farrel is obliged to enter the mills with the other workmen at 7 a. m. every week day, and he passes out with the oil-begrimed crowds at 6 p. m., hurrying home in his overalls and jumper to Tower Hall, the handsome Farrel residence.

CARRIE NATION AT HANOVER

Hanover, Pa., September 9.—Mrs. Carrie A. Nation arrived here this morning to fill an engagement at Hanover Fair. Her invasion was not unheralded, for it was announced that she would arrive on the 8.30 train over the Northern Central Railway. There was a great throng at Union Station to get a glimpse of the noted woman. Mrs. Nation is staying at a private boarding house, and when her baggage was delivered one of the boarders volunteered to carry it into the house. He happened to be smoking a cigar, to which Carrie good naturedly objected, and snatching it out of his mouth she threw it into the street. Her baggage was posted with whisky advertisements, apparently by enterprising liquor dealers or practical jokers. When asked whether she would be willing to visit the local saloons she replied in the affirmative, but would do no smashing, as she had changed her tactics.—American.

A severe rainstorm flooded Kansas City and temporarily demoralized the street car service.

The steamer Laurentian, which arrived in New York from Glasgow, reported having sighted a burning vessel a sea. The crew was rescued.

Died While Sewing

Mrs. Denton C. Hoover died of heart disease at her home, near Sharpsburg, Washington county, aged 65 years. She was sitting in a chair sewing and fell over and expired almost instantly. Her husband was by her side when she died. The family had just received some bad news which greatly excited Mrs. Hoover and brought on the fatal attack.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY MEETING.

The Emmitsburg District Democratic primary meeting will be held in Spangler's Opera House, in this place, on Saturday evening, September 12, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the County Convention which will be held in Frederick City on Saturday, September 19. A new District Central Committee will be elected at this meeting.

MR. NEWCOMER'S WILL.

Alexander Newcomer, who died last week at Beaver Creek, Washington county, left an estate estimated at $15,000 to $20,000. He bequeaths $1,000 each to Rev. F. D. Power, of Washington, D. C., and Rev. Walter S. Hoyer, pastor of the Christian Church at Beaver Creek; $5,000 to his nephew, William McCauley, of Beaver Creek; $1,500 each to his nephews, Edgar McCauley, of Union Bridge, Md., and niece, Mrs. Martin Newcomer, of West Beaver Creek; interest on 1,000 during her life to Miss Kate Horine, of Beaver Creek; interest on $1,000 during his life to Henry Z. Hill, who has been sexton for 60 years of the Beaver Creek Christian Church. To his sister, Miss Ella Newcomer, he left his library and furniture.

PAINFULLY HURT

On Wednesday Mr. William F. Eyer, auctioneer, of Eyer, was caught by the carriage on Mr. John M. Stouter's saw mill west of town, and dragged a short distance, receiving painful injuries. Mr. Eyer was taken to his home, and Dr. D. E. Stone rendered the medical aid. Mr. Eyer is considerably bruised, but no bones were broken.

Burned By Coal Oil

Mrs. Thos. Creager, of Rouzerville, near Pen Mar, was shockingly burned Monday by the explosion of a bottle of coal oil, which she placed too near the fire. The burning oil was thrown over her and her clothes caught on fire. She ran out of the house to her husband, who tore the burning clothing from her and procured relief, but she is in a critical condition.

Struck A Wagon And Male

The fast mail on the Western Maryland railroad Friday morning struck a wagon and male, owned by George Sellers, of Smithsburg. The team was driven by Mr. Hoover, 70 years old, who was thrown on his head and injured. The wagon was knocked into splinters. The male just got across the track when the locomotive hit the wagon. The male was not injured.

CHURCH AND STORE BURNED

The Union Chapel of the Church of God and the general merchandise store of Powell Bros., at Troutville, near Woodsboro, Frederick county, were destroyed by fire early Friday morning. The two buildings, which stood about 60 feet apart, were frame structures, and it is not known in which one the fire started, as they were both practically destroyed when discovered to be on fire. Powell Bros.' loss is estimated at $2,500, on which there was $1,500 insurance on the stock and $300 on the building. The church was insured for $900.

Died In Frederick

James E. Abrecht, a Frederick poultry dealer, died Tuesday of heart disease, aged 54 years. A widow and two brothers—William and Niles Abrecht, of Frederick—survive him.

George King, aged 78 years, died Tuesday at his home in Frederick, of general debility. For a long term of years he had been pattern maker for the Palmetto Fiber Works of Frederick holding that position until incapacitated by ill health about 18 months ago. He was a widower and is survived by two daughters.

DELEGATES.

At the Republican primary meeting held in Spangler's Opera House, this place, last Saturday night, the following were appointed delegates to the Republican County Convention, which was held in Frederick on Monday last to name delegates to the Judicial Convention: Messrs. John T. Gelwick, I. S. Annan, A. M. Patterson, John Eckert, Thomas C. Hays, John A. Horner, Maurice Gillelan, Andrew A. Annan, William Snider, Jr., Philip Stansbury, Joseph Ohler and Charles B. Ashbaugh. Mr. I. S. Annan was chairman of the meeting.

Dr. J. E. Brawner has returned home from Atlantic City.

Mr. George Ling has gone to Baltimore county, where he expects to take his family in a few days.

Mr. George Seabour and little daughter, Irene, of Westminster, visited his mother, Mrs. John Seabour.

BOLD "HOLD-UP" AND ROBBERY BY MASKED MEN

Two masked men at 3 o'clock last Tuesday morning walked into the engine room of the Blue Ridge Knitting Mills, East Washington street, Hagerstown, and at the point of a revolver held up and robbed Oscar Morgan, the night watchman, of $20.20, all the money he had. After threatening to kill him if he told anything of the crime, they left. They used red cotton handkerchiefs for masks, with holes cut in for the eyes.

Morgan notified the officers at once. Deputy Sheriff Alexander arrested William Conley, of Portland, Maine, and John Eckinger, of Harrisburg, Pa., on suspicion of being the robbers. Morgan positively identified Conley and he was held for a hearing Monday. Eckinger could not be identified, but was held on the charge of carrying a razor.

Morgan stated that he was going the rounds in the building when suddenly confronted by the two robbers, who demanded his money. At first he told them that he had none. One of the men started to go through the man's clothes while the other covered him with his pistol. Morgan finally handed over his pocketbook, which contained 20 $1 bills and 20 cents in coin, a receipt and key. The robbers then left, jumping out of a window on the first floor.

The September term of the Circuit Court for Frederick County convened Monday morning at 10 o'clock with Chief Judge James McSherry and Associate Judge Motter on the bench.

FIRST WIFE FOUND.

G Walter Bowman Supposed That He Was Divorced From Her

The first wife of G. Walter Bowman, who died in Hagerstown on March 4 last, has been found in New York, after a diligent search that took in the continent. Bowman was the son of George R. Bowman, who died some years ago and left an estate valued at $50,000, chiefly to his son.

Bowman some years ago married an actress in New Jersey. He took her to Hagerstown and they lived together for some time, when they separated. Several years ago Bowman married again. His second wife was Miss Lettie R. Eakle, daughter of John S. Eakle, manager of a Hagerstown liquor store. By her Bowman had one child, Bowman died without leaving a will. Before Bowman married the second time he instituted proceedings in Washington, D. C., before Judge Cox, now dead, for a divorce from his wife. The proceedings went as far as the taking of testimony, and stopped. Bowman, under the impression that the court had granted him a divorce, married the second time. He had two wives living at the same time but he did not know it.

When Bowman died these facts were brought to light, and a search for wife No 1 was instituted. She was located at Denver, Col., where she was playing with a vaudeville troupe. Trace was lost of her until a few days ago, when she was located in New York, ready to start again for the West.

She will go to Hagerstown on Friday to establish her claim to her share of the estate of Bowman, which will be settled in the Orphans' Court. Wife No 2 and her child will get nothing from the estate. They are now living in the handsome residence on Broadway, Hagerstown, left by Bowman.—Sun.

FAMILY IN EXTREME PERIL.

A very distressing fire occurred at Jarboesville, St. Mary's county, September 3, which rendered a worthy family destitute. Shortly after midnight Mr. Stephen A. Goodrich, who kept a general store and was also the postmaster at Jarboesville, was aroused by fire which had made considerable headway. He found it necessary to kick out the glass in the windows of the second story with his bare feet, not having time to put on either his shoes or his clothing. His family at home consisted of a son 21 years of age, who is a student for the priesthood, two grown daughters and a little boy visiting. His wife was absent, being a patient in one of the hospitals in Baltimore. His son and the young ladies were assisted through the window, and all barely escaped in night clothing only from their burning home. Mr. Goodrich had his hands severely burned and his feet cut by the broken glass. Several of the members of the family were also cut by glass.

The house and store and everything in them, including stock of goods and furniture, were devoured by the flames. Everything belonging to the postoffice was destroyed, including stamps, letters, mailbags, etc. The stock of goods was valued at $2,000 and the building at $1,800. There was no insurance on either.

The family thus left penniless, destitute, without a home or food or clothing, was kindly cared for by neighbors, who took them in and provided for their immediate wants and for the little boy, their guest. Several hundred dollars was collected and steps have been taken to raise further funds by a testimonial benefit concert.

A DRIVING ACCIDENT.

Mr. M. C. Rice and Sister Thrown From a Vehicle and Injured.

Mr. M. C. Rice, and his sister, Miss Susan Rice, of Frederick, were painfully injured by the upsetting of a Day-ton wagon in which they were driving Sunday morning on the Montevue road a short distance from Frederick. Mr. Rice and his sister were returning from a short drive into the country when the horse, becoming frightened at an advertising sign, plunged to the side of the road, causing a wheel of the wagon to run over a small embankment. The wagon was upset and both occupants thrown out, but the horse did not run away. Mr. Rice had his right ankle sprained and his sister sustained a scalp wound and several cuts on the right side of her jaw, severing a small artery, which bled profusely. Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Ruland came along in a carriage immediately after the accident and took Mr. Rice and his sister to their home, where they were attended by Dr. Burk.

"Ock" Sims In Jail

William Sims, better known as "Ock" Sims, a well known colored man of town, was arrested recently for being drunk and disorderly on the street by policeman Sionaker. He was given a hearing before Justice John L. Hill, who committed him to jail to await the action of the Grand Jury in November. —Gettysburg Star and Sentinel.

FIGHT'S FATAL RESULT.

Joseph Robinson, Shot By His Brother, Dies at Montevue

Joseph Robinson, colored, aged about 23 years who was shot with a double-barrelled gun by his brother, Hanson, at their father's home, near Libertytown, on August 30, died Monday night at 11.30 o'clock, of lockjaw, at Montevue Hospital.

The fight which resulted in the loss of this man's life, and which was reported in these columns was a most horrible affair. A feud existed between the brothers. Recently Joseph returned home after an absence of several years and both being drunk, some words were passed and both the men drew razors, but almost as soon as the fight started the razor was cut from Hanson's hand and Joseph then proceeded to cut and slash his brother. After being badly cut about the hands and face, Hanson became maddened by the stinging of the ugly wounds and the sight of the blood and started toward the corner of the room where a gun was kept. Seizing the gun he emptied both of the loads into his brother. The shot took effect in Joseph's hip and abdomen and he sank to the floor in a helpless condition. Hanson by this time was so exhausted by the exertion he had made to protect himself and by the loss of blood that he also fell to the floor.

Dr. B. O. Stone was immediately summoned and examined the negro's wounds. He decided that Joseph must be sent to Montevue Hospital.

On last Sunday night Joseph showed grave symptoms of tetanus, or lockjaw and after a day of severe suffering succumbed.

Hanson Robinson, who since the affair has been at his father's home recovering from his wounds, was arrested Tuesday morning by Constable Stephen Myers and taken to jail.

Albright, Lewis O. Whip, J. P. T. Mathias, Geo. W. Bittle, George B. Dinterman, J. P. King, B. T. Nicodemus, Charles S. Knig, Thaddeus M. Biser, L. H. Bowles, Prof. William H. Harry, John W. Mumford.

The delegation was unpledged but instructed to vote as a unit.

E. Y. Goldsborough was chairman, with Eli G. Haugh and George R. Dennis, secretaries.

An organization people, who are said to be favorable to Mr. William H. Hinks for the judgeship, were given all the offices without any opposition, and it was felt that Mr. Hinks would receive the endorsement of the convention the same as he did in the Frederick primary Saturday. But when the committee on resolutions remained out so long it was known that something "was doing" and a mysterious air seemed to pervade the gathering. This feeling was intensified by surprise when the brief resolution of the committee was read, declaring for an uninstructed delegation. It is said that if the anti-organization people could have controlled the convention they would have sent a instructed delegation, which would have insured Mr. Hinks as the judicial nominee.—Sun.

Owes His Life to a Neighbor's Kindness.

Mr. D. P. Daugherty, well known throughout Mercer and Sumner counties, W. Va., most likely owes his life to the kindness of a neighbor. He was almost helplessly afflicted with diarrhoea; was attended by two physicians who gave him little, if any, relief, when a neighbor learning of his serious condition, brought him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which cured him in less than twenty-four hours. For sale by T. E. Zimmerman, Druggist.

CONSTRUCTION BEGUN.

Work was begun Monday by the Mid-dletown Hall Association on the new opera house. John D. Beachley, of Bolivar, has the contract for the carpenter work.

The opera house will be 38x83 feet in size, and the audience room will have a 20-foot ceiling. The stage will be 37 feet wide and 21 feet 6 inches deep, and the proscenium or curtain opening will be 25 feet wide and 14 1/2 feet high. The dress rooms will be in the rear of the stage. There will be a large gallery at the end of the hall, which will seat 125 persons. Under the dressing rooms will be located the mayor's office, fire hose and reel room and a lockup. The building will seat 425 persons. The opera house is to be completed by December 19.

The Genuine vs. Counterfeits.

The genuine is always better than a counterfeit, but the truth of this statement is never more forcibly realized or more thoroughly appreciated than when you compare the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve with the many counterfeits and worthless substitutes that are on the market. W. S. Ledbetter, of Shreveport, La., says: "After using numerous other remedies without benefit, one box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me." For blind, itching, and protruding piles no remedy is equal to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by T. E. Zimmerman.

Barn Destroyed By Fire

The barn on the farm of Marion J. Leister, near Finksburg, was destroyed by fire about three o'clock Sunday morning, with all its contents except the live stock. One horse was badly burned and had to be killed. Several wagons and buggies, farming implements, straw and all this season's hay and wheat crops were consumed. The loss is estimated at $2,000; partly insured.

FOUND DEAD IN A SILO.

Colored Man Buried Beneath Tons of Ensilage. Died While He Was At Work.

John Carroll, colored, an employee of Mr. Stephen Thomas, near Adamstown, lost his life on Saturday in a silo on Mr. Thomas' farm, and when his body was found it was buried beneath tons of ensilage.

Carroll, with other men, had been engaged in filling the silo and he had gone into the silo to pack the ensilage as it was thrown in from the cutter. He entered the silo about 7.30 o'clock Saturday morning. About 8.30 o'clock he was missed and as nothing was seen of him in the silo it was supposed that he had gotten out and gone away. Another workman was sent into the silo and the work of filling it proceeded.

As the day advanced and nothing was seen or heard of Carroll, Mr. Thomas and his men became alarmed, and when it was found that nobody had seen him after he entered the silo it was decided that possibly he had been covered up by the ensilage. A hole was sawed in the silo and a search was begun which resulted, about 3.30 o'clock, in the finding of Carroll's body under the great mass of ensilage which had been thrown in during the day. His hands were clenched, and from this and other circumstances it is supposed that he was seized with an epileptic fit and was covered up before the fact that he was no longer at work was discovered. Dr. Ira J. McCurdy, of Frederick, was summoned, and found that Carroll had been dead for a number of hours.

Justice C. H. Eckstein, of Frederick, was also notified and went to the farm but after inquiring into the circumstances decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Carroll was about 35 years of age and came from Virginia.

FAIRFIELD ITEMS.

Fairfield, Sept. 8.—Miss Florence Austemaul, of Philadelphia, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rowe, of Fairfield.

Dr. W. G. Dubs has two willow trees on his farm, grown from willow limbs sunk in the ground by Dr. Dubs in 1862. Now one measures 13 feet 9 inches, and the other 15 feet 4 inches in circumference.

Mrs. W. G. Dubs, of Fairfield, has a tomato stock, 10 feet high, having a lot of tomatoes on it.

Mr. Edward McGlaughlin, with his family from Taneytown, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McGlaughlin.

Miss Alice Sleasman, of Smithburg, is the guest of Mr. Harry Brown. Misses Naomi Ensor, Mamie Parr and Maggie Hare, of Baltimore, and Charles Myers, of York, are the guests of Mr. Harry Myers, of Fairfield.

Mrs. Wm. Lowe and children, of Hancock, Md., are visiting at Squire Lowe's.

Miss Belle Catlett, of Missouri, is the guest of Mr. G. E. Brown. Potatoes are raising well. Mr. Trester has lost 100 bushels out of 300 bushels. That is taking them pretty fast.

One of Mr. Charles Site's children died last week.

Mr. R. F. Sanders, of Oak Grove, is nursing a sore hand. The nature of which is catarrh. It is very painful.

Mrs. Flora Rowe and daughter, of Harrisburg, are visiting in Fairfield, being the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rowe.

Mrs. Lewis McGlaughlin, of Fairfield, who had a stroke last week, died Friday evening. Mrs. McGlaughlin had not been out of the house for many years.

The G. A. R. bean soup on Saturday at Fairfield was largely attended, by people from Gettysburg, Emmitsburg, Highfield, Waynesboro, Monterey, Taneytown, Cashtown, McKnightstown, Orrtanna and Fairplay. The army bean was enjoyed by all. The bean soup was certainly a success. In the evening the crowd was the largest in many years.

A Remarkable Record.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for over thirty years, during which time many million bottles have been sold and used. It has long been the standard and main reliance in the treatment of croup in thousands of homes, yet during all this time no case has ever been reported to the manufacturers in which it failed to effect a cure. When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even as soon as the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is pleasant to take, many children like it. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by T. E. Zimmerman, Druggist.

Smith's Body Recovered

After being in the water for three days the body of the man whose name was given as Harvey Smith, of Frederick county, on Saturday morning was found in the Potomac river at Falling Waters, W. Va. Smith, who also was known as C. E. Staub, was drowned while wading the river a mile below Williamsport, Md., and his body carried about 2 miles down the stream.

An epidemic of typhoid fever is reported at Clear Spring, Washington county.

Letter To Charles C. Kretzer.

Emmitsburg, Md.

Dear Sir: You'd strike it rich if you could find a way to shave your customers in less time, for less cost, and make the shave last twice or three times as long.

You wouldn't shave the same person so many times, or get so much of his money; but the whole town would be talking about you, and everybody would come to you for a shave.

Devote lead and zinc is exactly that in paints. It takes fewer gallons, and it wears longer. Costs less for the job, and you don't have to do it again for years and years—six years at the least.

"Fewer gallons; wears longer." Takes fewer gallons to paint a house with Devote lead and zinc than with mixed paints; and it wears longer than mixed paints or lead-and-oil.

Yours truly
F. W. Devote & Co.

MRS. MCGRAW'S NECK BROKEN.

Fatal Driving Accident On The Battlefield Of Antietam.

Assistant County School Examiner Aaron K. McGraw, had her neck broken in an accident Monday afternoon on Antietam battlefield, two miles from Sharpsburg. The accident occurred while Mr. and Mrs. McGraw and their 2-year old son James were out driving in a carriage by the recently erected New Jersey monument, at which the horse shied. Mrs. McGraw had just finished a remark about the workmen who was killed by the fall of a derrick at a monument a few days ago, when the fractions horse wheeled suddenly around a bluff, locking the fifth wheel and tilting the carriage at a dangerous angle.

Mr. McGraw, who was driving, was thrown out and badly, though not dangerously, injured. He was rendered unconscious. The child fell out of the carriage wheels passed over his body and inflicted dangerous injuries. Mrs. McGraw shouted "There goes the baby," and either attempted to jump out or was thrown out. Her dress caught and she fell on her head, breaking her neck. Death was instantaneous. When picked up she was quite limp.

A stranger who was in the neighborhood went to the assistance of the party. A messenger was dispatched to Sharpsburg for help. Dr. E. M. Garrett attended Mr. McGraw and the injured child. The body of Mrs. McGraw was taken to the McGraw homestead in Sharpsburg. The horse was found wandering along the road about a half mile from the scene of the accident. Mrs. McGraw also leaves a daughter, Catherine, six years old.

Mr. McGraw and child are too badly injured to be removed and are at the home of McGraw's father, Jacob McGraw, in Sharpsburg. Mrs. McGraw's mother, Mrs. Martha H. Leiter, was made seriously ill from the shock when the news was broken to her.

Mrs. McGraw had been spending several days with Mr. McGraw's parents at Sharpsburg, and Mr. McGraw, who is a bookkeeper in the Hagerstown Bank, went to Sharpsburg to see his family and proposed the drive which had such a fatal ending. The accident produced a profound sensation.

Mrs. McGraw was about 32 years old and was married in 1895 in Leitersburg, her birthplace. She was a sister of Dr. James William Leiter, Miss Marcia Leiter, of Hagerstown; Mrs. Annie Wolfinger, of Chambersburg; Dr. Joseph Leiter, of Brooklyn.

Mrs. McGraw was the first cousin of Lady Carson, daughter of Mr. Levi Z. Leiter, the millionaire who is a brother of Mrs. McGraw's deceased father, James Freeland Leiter. Lady Carson is the wife of the Viceroy of India.

The Renewal a Strain

Vacation is over. Again the school bells ring at morning and at noon, again with tens of thousands the hardest kind of work has begun, the renewal of which is a mental and physical strain to all except the most rugged. The little girl that a few days ago had roses on her cheeks, and the little boy whose lips were then so red you would have insisted that they had been "kissed by strawberries," have already lost something of the appearance of health. Now is a time when many children should be given a tonic, which may avert much serious trouble, and we know of no other so highly to be recommended as Hood's Sarsaparilla, which strengthens the nerves, perfects digestion and assimilation, and aids mental development by building up the whole system.

Charged With Highway Robbery

Joseph Klingman, a crippled Hebrew peddler, who was held up and robbed on the National pike, near Clear Spring positively identified Harry Starliper and Charles Mills, who were arrested on suspicion, and says they are the men who held him up and after filling his eyes and mouth with sand took off his clothes and carried off his money. Starliper was placed with twenty men in the office of Justice Little, in Clear Spring, and Klingman was sent in to pick out the man who assisted in the robbery. As soon as his eyes fell on Starliper he said he was the man. Mills was also picked out of a crowd. Mills when arrested attempted to escape out of a back window of his house, but was prevented by an officer.—Sun.

A MISSING EXCURSIONIST

Charles Little, of Rouzerville, near Pen-Mar, last Saturday went to Washington, D. C., on an excursion and never returned to his home. He left behind a wife and four children. His wife, who thinks her husband has been foully dealt with, is in communication with the Washington police officers, and Mr. Little's sister, Miss Belle Little, of Hagerstown, went to Washington to hunt for her brother. When he left his home he made his wife a tender good-bye, kissed the children and said he would be back the same night. His family relations are reported to be of the happiest. When he left home he wore a straw hat, black outaway coat, black trousers, blue-and-white tie and high turnover collar. Friends saw him last in Washington on a street car, near the Navy Yard.
