While these numbers are not large relatively, they indicate a marked change over conditions a few years ago, and it should be noted that in the up with the country may now go east majority of cases the registration has rather than west, The illustration, reincreased in spite of more and more produced by permission of the Boston rigid requirements for admission, and Maine Railroad company, shows which are now as strict as for any other course in the institutions mentioned. The differentiation of the agricultural course is now so much more complete than formerly that in most instances the men who elect agriculture do so because they are seeking an agricultural education and not because they are forced to take this course in order to get a training in general science, as was frequently the case a few years ago, or because it furnishes an easier road to a degree. This adds force to the figures presented above and indicates that the placing of the agricultural course on a level with other college courses in point of entrance requirements and grade of work is meeting with very encouraging results.

The two year courses and the short winter courses are serving a most admirable purpose and are increasing the army of trained agriculturists who put the teachings of the agricultural colleges and the experiment stations and other agencies for agricultural advancement into practical application,

The increased value of water has given added importance to studies of the duty of water. A LOST ART.

The Blend of Metals Which Certain Races Used For Tools. Fame and fortune await the lucky individual who can rediscover the combination of metals from which the Egyptians, the Aztecs and the Incas of Peru made their tools and arms. Though each of these nations reached a high state of civilization, none of them ever discovered iron in spite of the fact that the soil of all three countries was largely impregnated with it. Their substitute for it was a combination of metals which had the temper of steel. Despite the greatest efforts the secret of this composition has baffled scientists and has become a lost art. The great explorer, Humboldt, tried to discover it from an analysis of a chisel found in an ancient Inca silver mire, but all that he could find the hardness of steel, so it is evident that tin and copper could not have been its only component parts. Whatever might have been the nature of the metallic combination, these ancient races were able so to prepare pure copper such as granite and porphyry, and even cut emeralds and like substances A rediscovery of this lost art would revolutionize many trades in which steel at present holds the monopoly. If copper could thus be tempered now its advantage over steel would be very great, and it would no doubt be preferred to the latter in numerous industries. It is a curious fact that, though this lost secret still baffles modern scientists, it must have been discovered independently by the three races which made use of it so long ago.-New York

FEMALE WEAKNESS

5421-2 Congress St.

PORILAND, MAINE, Oct. 17, 1902.

I consider Wine of Cardui superior to any doctor's medicine I ever used and I know whereof I speak. I suffered for nine months with suppressed menstruation which completely prostrated me. Pains would shoot through my back and sides and I would have blinding headaches. My limbs would swell up and I would feel so weak I could not stand up. I naturally felt discouraged for I seemed to be beyond the help of physicians, but Wine of Cardui came as a God-send to me. I felt a change for the better within a week. After nineteen days treatment I menstruated without suffering the agonies I usually did and soon became regular and without pain. Wine of Cardui is simply wonderful and I wish that all suffering women knew of its good qualities.

Wilhelmina Somo Treasurer, Portland Economic League

Periodical headaches tell of female weakness. Wine of Cardui cures permanently nineteen out of every twenty cases of irregular menses, bearing down pains or any female weakness. If you are discouraged and doctors have failed, that is the best reason in the world you should try Wine of Cardui now. Remember that headaches mean female weakness.
