M'CURDY GETS $150,000 A YEAR

Pay Roll of Mutual Life Insurance Company Shows Big Salaries.

PAID $3,000,000 IN COMMISSIONS

every day of which has produced a sen- . do you any good to ask for the death sation that has stirred the country, the penalty. They can't break this man's special legislative committee investi- neck if they do try to hang him and gating the methods of insurance comweek. While other weeks of the hearing have had sensations, no previous prisoner is suffering from ossification the following letter in explanation: the one that just concluded.

On Wednesday, when President Mc-Call, of the New York Life Insurance company, was on the stand, he heatedly | the notice of the medical profession. declared that three-quarters of the bills introduced into the legislatiures of the states of the Union were blackmailing measures, and on that ground he explained the necessity of maintaining the corps of attorneys. On Thursday counsel for the committee, Mr. Hughes, took another tack and called Robert H. McCurdy, general manager of the Mutual Life Insurance company, and son of Richard A. McCurdy, president of that company, to testify as to the agency system of the company, this feature of the business being under his control. While Mr. McCurdy was on Gould, Commodore Vanderbilt and the stand counsel for the committee | John P. Blair, went to the poorhouse brought out facts that changed the prearranged course, and the result was the disclosure of the immense profits (nearly $3,000,000) derived from the commissions of the insurance business.

In the last day's testimony the sensational development was when Mr. Hughes demanded the pay roll of the executive officers of the company. This was produced and showed the salaries of these officers since 1877. For the year 1904 President McCurdy received $150,000; two vice presidents were paid $50,000 each; a second vice president, $17,500; the third vice president, $10,-.000, and the general manager $25,000, who this year will receive $20,000, and the treasurer $50,000.

Robert McCurdy said he never knew the salary of his father until he heard it read in the committee room. He thought, however, that there should be no limit to the salary of such positions, because they should be in accordance with the accumulations of the com-

When asked if it was any benefit to that when they increased the president's salary. No increase, however, had ever been considered when he was present at the trustees' meetings.

Earlier in the day when Mr. McCurdy bring out why C. H. Raymond & Co. and the partners in that firm received larger emoluments from the business than any other agency.

At one point in the day's testimony Much interest was manifested when the expenditures of the company were taken up. An auditor of the Mutual Life, Mr. Prillah, was on the stand, and he was asked as to the method of recording the expenditures. It was gathered that these were passed upon by an expenditure committee, of which Robert Oliphant was chairman. Three entries on the books of payments to Mr. Oliphant of $25,000 each were looked into, but no information could be gleaned. Mr. Prillah was asked about the $2500 campaign contribution to the Republican congressional committee which was disclosed, but he said none had come under his observation.

HUGHES HAS DECLINED

New York Republicans Are Now Without a Candidate For Mayor. New York, Oct. 10. - Charles E. Hughes, counsel for the insurance investigating committee, declined the Republican nomination as candidate for mayor of New York, giving as his reason that he could not spare the time from the insurance inquiry now funder way.

Mr. Hughes said: "In this dilemma I have simply to do my duty as I see it. In my judgment I have no right to accept the nomination. A paramount public duty forbids it. The non-political character of the insurance investigation and its freedom from bias, either of fear or favor, not only must exist, they must be recognized. I cannot permit them, by any action of mine, to become matters of Negro Lynched By Negroes. Bainbridge, Ga., Oct. 9.-A negro, whose home is not known, was lynched eight miles west of here by a mob of his own race. The negro had criminally assaulted a negro girl, and had attempted to assault another, who cut him in the breast. He was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Ivy and Murkerson, who were bringing him to Bainbridge, when they were stopped by a mob of negroes. The latter demanded the negro. They took him from the sher-Affs and forced those officers to go away on another road. The negro was strung up to a tree and riddled with bullets. None of the mob were appre-

Raplee was one of the best-known men along Broadway in his day. His father, who was Judge Raplee, of Yates county, N. Y., left him a large fortune. In 1856 he opened a banking house at 137 Broadway, which was capitalized at $200,000, and did a yearly business of $500,000, which was a large sum at that time. Since 1867, when this bank made an assignment after some unfortunate speculation, Mr. Raplee's fortune, aithough invested in a new banking venture, steadily diminished. Three years ago he closed his last offices and began to live on the remnants of his former wealth. He was unmarried.

people, are almost forgotten. One of these, perhaps the oldest, is distinctly heard. Treatises were write probability of the legend, and other treatises, as learned and vehement, to flout and jeer at it as an idle fable. Certain flotsam and jetsam, which was washed ashore after heavy storms on the coasts of Georgia and Floridalogs of strange woods unknown to this generation, coins, bits of carved marb. and beaten brass-was ascribed to the long dead workmen of Atlantis. The lost colony is now known only as the subject of an ancient fable, but years ago it was by most educated people believed to be an actual fact.

Another much discussed mystery then was what had become of the colony of civilized people who at the time of the settlement of the country live ! on the western coast of Greenia

That country is, as you will see by a glance at the map, shaped somethin ; like the half of an egg, cut lengthwise, the flat side upon the earth, the point to the south. The rounded center is a heap of impenetrable ice mountain As the centuries go by enormous bodies of ice slip from it into the sett and, breaking off, drift slowly down along our coasts. These are the icebergs of the Atlantic ocean. Now, along the narrow slip of habitable land which edges Greenland on this side, tradition says, once dwelt a civilize f people who, both in knowledge and the habits of life, were far in advance of the Laplanders. They were well known to the early mention of them in their logs and reports. The question yet unanswered is: Where are they now? Tradition among the Laplanders reports that the whole colony two centuries ago emigrated in. a body to the eastern coast of Greenland, attempting to cross the hitherton impenetrable masses of ice in the center. No tidings ever have come back from them. Some of the scientific me who accompanied the Hayes expedition made this question a matter at special study. They reported that at doubt could hardly exist that these people did once inhabit that part of the coast and that they now had utterly vanished. If they had been swept away by a pestilence their household belongings at least would be left to tell of them, but not a shard of pottery. not a single grave, remains to show that they ever lived. It was suppose ! by the Danish missionaries that they had perished in the ranges of ins mountains, but among the Laplanier there were traditions that they half safely reached the western coast and settled there, now forming a civilize t community, wholly isolated from that rest of the world. One of Nausen's voyages was, in fact, directed to their coast in the hope of finding this colony. He was not able to reach the northern part of the coast, and the mystery is therefore yet masofved. Another problem which perplexed the last generation was the long extinct pygmy race which centuries ago undoubtedly inhabited the Tennessee mountains. Legends among the Indians told of such a tribe of dwarfs. who were supposed to be of more intelligence than the red men. But these legends were very hazy. A burying ground, however, actually was discovered in the early part of the last century in which all of the skeletoms were of pygmy proportions. Some of them were carried away to college museums. But as far as I know no scientific inquiry has ever been directed to this question.

Another curious matter which cause only much speculation in the early part of the last century was the fate of the colony of French emigres who fled !: this country in the eighteenth centur? and took refuge in the northern part of Alabama. Like those Franchine who found safety in Delaware, the? were for the most part of noble blood Marquises and counts earned their ha ing in Wilmington as dancing maste 4 and even chefs, and their descendan & live there still.

OLD TIME SERVANTS.

With His Menials. Perhaps one reason why servants in Pepys' time were treated as "one of the family" was that they very often were blood relations. The diarist himself, in fact, engaged his own sister Pauline as his servant, "which she unlawfully influence witnesses sum- table with me, which I do at first that

It is then, too, that the snakes are more in evidence than at any other time of the year. Half torpid, stupid with the cold, you come upon them coiled up in unexpected places, as once, when entering my room, I found one wound round the leg of my dressing table. Another evening we were disturbed by a persistent tapping against the window, as if some one were trying to attract our attention. On rising to investigate we found it was a snake that, attracted by the light and warmth, was endeavoring to make its way in through the glass, "White ants are another terrible pest, or, rather, they would be did they not enter so literally into every circumstance of everyday life that they end by being taken as a matter of course. For instance, after an absence of a few hours you return to find half the matting on the floor devoured, or, your boy, having incautiously left your coat hanging in the sun, the lining affords a speedy meal to these voracious little insects. In fact, you never know what damage may not be revealed at any moment, and this uncertainty extends even to the garden, where your rose trees have to be grown in tubs half filled with broken glass and perched on bricks soaked in paraffin.

"I found that the tarantulas and scorpions were everyday evils, to be endured with what philosophy one could muster. A POOR FILTER.

Why One Central American Town Had Bad Drinking Water. Here is an incident that illustrates the unexpected difficulties which enterprise has sometimes to face in certain regions of Central America: From a certain large lake an important town drew its supply of water. By means of powerful steam driven pumps the water was drawn from the lake knows how readily it "runs out" or through a strong iron pipe, which, aftdegenerates. > The entire system was laid bare, from the outskirts of the town to the very shores of the lake, but the minutest examination failed to reveal any suspicious feature. Then, almost at their wits' end, for the epidemic was raging as badly as ever, the officials entered upon the last lap and turned their attention to the submerged portions of the conduit, and here it was they found the cause. A huge alligator had been drawn toward the mouth of the main by the very strong influx, and, being unable to release itself from the suction, had remained there until it died, and thus, for goodness knows how long, all the water consumed in the town had first filtered
