The Chronicle Piano.

A Prize Worth Baving.

Why not win it?

Each new subscription counts 200 votes.

There is no element of chance about the contest.

The Piano becomes the property of the person or organization receiving the greatest number of votes.

You have until January 1st, 1907, to work for it.

Remember this is a Piano, not a music box or a toy. It is an artist's instrument.

It would cost you $2.00 a day for 187 days to get this instrument under ordinary conditions.

At $1.50 a day it would take you 250 days to pay for it.

Why not work a few days at a time—at no cost to yourself and get the Piano free?

CONDITIONS OF CONTEST.-Conpons must be cut from THE CHRONICLE and the name and address of the individual to be voted for plainly written in the spaces provided and then sent to the Coupon Editor, EMMITSBURG CHRONICLE before the date named on each coupon. The last coupon will be printed Friday, December 28, 1906, and no coupon will be counted unless received at the office of The Chronicle on or before 12 o'clock, noon, January 1st, 1907, whether sent by mail or other wise. No employe of The Emmitsburg Chronicle nor any member of an employe's family will be eligible to compete. The name of the winner will be published in THE CHRONICLE Friday, January 4th, 1907.

The judges who will count the coupons and subscription certificates and declare the winner are: REV. FATHER HAYDEN, REV. MR. GLUCK AND BURGESS SHUFF.

JUDGE BUFFINGTON.

APPOINTED JUDGE OF THE THIRD UNITED STATES CIRCUIT.

Well-known In Emmitsburg.

The news of the appointment of Judge Joseph Buffington, now U. S. District Judge of the Western District of Pennsylvania, to be Circuit Judge in the district including Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey, was received with great pleasure and gratification by the people of Emmitsburg to whom he is well-known. It will be remembered that Judge Buffington married Miss Alice Simonton, daughter of Rev. William Simonton, for many years pastor of the Presbyterian Church in this place.

Judge Buffington was born at Kittanning, Armstrong County, September 5, 1855. His father, Ephraim Buffington, was a member of the Armstrong County Bar for years, and his namesake, Judge style Joseph Buffington, was, for years prior, Judge of the Tenth District, ite style for neck dressing, which comprised Indiana, Armstrong and Westmoreland counties.

This new appointment is of course a promotion upon which the many place heartily congratulate him.

THE FALL STYLES.

What Will Be Worn The Coming Sea

According to the Catholic Mirror. dark tones will prevail for street wear. Black will be the leading.

The masculine influence will be apparent in many of the coat styles. Tailored stitching and strappings and flatly pressed plaits will take the place of hand tuckings and fancy hand shirrings. Trimmings on the whole will be less elaborate. Extreme breadth of shoulders will be a distinct feature of the fall frocks. It is a movement in direct contrast to the tendency of the styles recently, when the narrowing of the shoulder was aimed for.

Draped skirts will be worn.

Sleeves are growing longer. Except for very dressy effects and purely evening wear, the sleeve will range from three-quarters to full length. The lingerie effect will be in high

This attitude was caused by Bailey's connection with the trusts.

The new State Child Labor law will go into effect in every county of Maryland on October 15th. After that date every child under twelve years of age who has not sufficient physical development, will be prohibited from working in any gainful occupation except farm work. The State Child Labor Committee, 101 W. Frederick, Sept. 24.—The Democrat c Convention of the Sixth District which met in Hagerstown last week nominated Harvey R. Spessard for Congress. This choice was made by a committee consisting of one delegate from each county. The representative from this county was Justice C. H. Eckstein.

The report of the committee on resolutions was almost unanimously, accepted.
Those opposing were led to do so by the reference made to Bryan. It is a matter of a good deal of surprise that Governor Warfield's able administration of affairs in this State received no commendation or even mention in the resolutions.

State vs. Ernest Palmer and Joseph Diggs. Assault with intent to murder.

This case was tried before the Court and the penitential peni cannot be retained; negroes, notwithstanding Poultney Bigelow to the contrary, are lazy, unreliable and vicious and the last hope of the commission is in the coolie, for each one of whom, a contractor will be responsible. Heat, humidity, hard work, isolation from womankind and home, monotonous rations and unsanitary conditions seem to make no difference to the Chinese laborer, who, (a) Guilty as indicted (1st degree if he cannot stand things, lies down and dies but never complains or runs away. Bonds for the proper performance of the contract, good treatment of the Chinese coolies and their return to China at the conclusion of their term of service, were required of each contractor. Brigadier-General Funston has been in Washington since early this week and, the greater part of each day, he has spent at the War Department in consultation with Chief of Staff Bell, going into every detail of the plans for the military

Tom Linley had never boarded the teacher and were put in a panic when the trustee came to speak of it.

"He's a grand young man," said he; 'good company, and you'll enjoy it." They looked soberly at each other. According to tradition, one was nrtyfour, the other fifty-five years of age. An exclamation broke from the lips of one. It sounded like the letter "y" whispered quickly. "Y!" the other answered. "It might make a match," said Mr. Blount, the trustee, smiling

"Y! Samuel Blount!" said the younger one, coming near and smiting him playfully on the elbow. "You stop!" Miss Letitla began laughing silently. They never laughed aloud.

"If he didn't murder us," said Miss S'mantha doubtfully. "Nonsense," said the trustee. "I'll

She wiped invisible tears with an embroidered handkerchief. The dear lady had spent a good part of her life thinking of that narrow escape. "If he wa'n't too particular," said Miss Letitla, who had been laughing at this maiden fear of her sister. "If he would mind his business wewe might take him for one week," said Miss S'mantha. She glanced inquiringly at her sister.

Letitia and S'mantha Tower, "the two old maids." had but one near relative, Ezra Tower, a brother, of the same neighborhood.

There were two kinds of people in Faraway, those that Ezra Tower spoke to and those he didn't. The latter were of the majority. As a forswearer of communication he was unrivaled. His imagination was a very slaughter house, in which all who crossed him were slain. If they were passing he looked the other way and never even saw them again. Since the probate of his father's will both sisters were of the number never spoken to. He was a thin, tall, sullen, dry and dusty man. Dressed for church of a Sunday, he looked as if he had been stored a year in some neglected cellar. His broadcloth had a dingy aspect, his hair and beard and eyebrows the hue of a cobweb. He had a voice slow and rusty, a look arid and unfruitful. Indeed, it seemed as if the fires of hate and envy had burned him out,

The two old maids, feeling the disgrace of it and fearing more, ceased to visit their neighbors or even to pass their own gate. Poor Miss S'mantha fell into the deadly mire of hypochondria. She often thought herself very ill and sent abroad for every medicine advertised in the county paper. She had ever a faint look and a thin, sickly voice. She had the man fear-a deep distrust of men-never ceasing to be on her guard. In girlhood she had been to Albany. Its splendor and the reckless conduct of one Alma Haskins, companion of her travels, had been ever since a day-long perennial topic of her conversation. Miss Letitia was more amiable. She had a playful, cheery heart in her, a mincing and precise manner and a sweet voice. What with the cleaning, dusting and preserving they were ever busy. A fly, driven hither and thither, fell of exhaustion if not disabled with a broom. They were two weeks getting ready for the teacher. When at last he came

BONDED DEBT Jail Bends, 4 per cent Flood and Bridge Bonds, 4 per cent
Refunded Bridge and Turnpike
Bonds, 3% per cent
Refunded Almshouse Bonds, 3% per cent By order of the Board WH HOGARTH, E H ALBAUGH Clerk. REMARKS

Both the County tax rate and the State tax rate for the year 1906 are the same as last year, the former being 89 cents and the latter 25½ cents on each one hundred dollars assessment, although the County rate was reduced three cents last year, the Commissioners have been able by careful and economical management to keep the rate the same this year notwithstanding some heavy expenditure not heretofore necessary to meet, chief of which is $6478 85 for the sinking fund.

The need of a Sinking Fund has long been feet, for, while the the bonded debt of the County is not lage in comparison with the debt of many Counties and municipalities, it is in accordance with sound principles of finance to make provisions for gradually paying it off Farthermore, it is naturally to be expected that circumstances will arise in the future whereby other cond issues will become necessary, either by legislation making public improvements imperative, or by rome calamity which would cause a similar result.

Hence unless provisions be made as above the burden of a bonded debt would never become less, and liable to grow neavier.

As far as the knowledge and recollection of the Commissioners go a sinking fund has now represent such as epithe last Legislature, at the instance of the County Commissioners, passed a law for that purpose, which was done in order to give authority to the present Beard, as well as to make the duty imperative for future Boards of Commissioners.

While it is true that a better showing in the REMARKS way of public improvements gould be made without this sinking fund, which seems to have been the policy pursued to a certain extent that he past, the present Board prefers to adopt a plan looking to the future interests of the taxpayers as well as to their present welfare

The burden of several thousand dollars annual increase in the cost of elections still The burden of several thousand dollars annual increase in the cost of elections still hangs like a heavy yoke around the necks of the taxpayers which must remain as long as the present election law is in force. The Common scioners simply have to levy for the money, and the taxpayers simply have to pay it.

The yoke is the more galling because instead of being benefitted by it, the right or suffrage is tamp red with and the people are made to suffra accordingly.

Notwithstanding the disadvantages the Commissioners have to contend with, by the exercise of discretion in matters under their exclusive control the finances of the County were never in a more flourishing condition; bridges and schoolhouses are built each year where needed, roads improved, no floating debt remains, and the prospect for a continuation of these conditions are fortunately very good.

The record of the Board is confidently submitted to the taxpayers with the belief it will meet with their approval. Respectfully submitted, W. H. HOGARTH, DAVID G. ZENTZ, Vice-president. L. G. DINTERMAN, H. MILTON KEFAUVER L. H. BOWLUS. 00 Attest:

President.

E. H. ALBAUGH, Clerk. Grain For Pigs on Grass. There is no way in which a shote can be made to gain so fast as by feeding corn or other grain in connection with grass. A little soaked corn fed daily while the shotes are on clover puts on weight at an astonishing rate and quickly puts the animal in marketable condition. Feeders should remember that no one kind of feed is as good fed alone as when combined with one or two other kinds of feed. Both grass and corn are natural and excellent hog feeds, but neither one is as good alone as when combined with the other. Corn makes fat very fast when the system 45 is in a healthy, thrifty condition, and nothing equals grass as a conditioner .-Wisconsin Agriculturist. Ringing Hogs.

President,

Breeding stock hogs that are kept from year to year must be ringed if kept on pasture, and they will do no good without pasture, says J. A. Doble in National Stockman. Pigs that are farrowed in fall, grown in winter and finished in spring, when the ground is soft, should also be ringed. But those that come in spring are not large enough to do any great damage until midsummer. By this time the pasture is so dry and solid that they will do but little mischief from that time on unless heavy rains should come.

The Pig Is Cleanly. The pig by nature is one of the cleanest of animals and in internal construction resembles the human being more closely than any other animal. What wonder then it is that we hear of so much disease when they are kept under such filthy conditions as we so often see. Give them clean, healthy surroundings and we shall hear very little of disease and they will be to us the money making machines they have proved themselves.-R. T. Archer in American Cultivator.

Orchard Culture. The fruit experiment station at Mountain Grove, Mo., has long tested the advantages of orchard culture and the condition of crops in recent years and will continue this work. It has been found that a crop which will cover the soil during August and September will be a great advantage. It is not advisable to plow this crop under until spring, for if allowed to remain on the ground during the winter it will serve as a protection.

A great many farmers cut all their straw last year and fed it with "black strap," about one cupful of molasses mixed with water to five head of cattle-just enough to nicely dampen the feed. This is considered very satisfactory, as it induces the cattle to eat the $208,474 77 $208,474 77 Cultivator.
