A GOOD WOMAN

Mrs. Elizabeth Zimmerman Dies Of Pneumonia.

EULOGIZED BY PASTOR.

Conspicuous For Her Piety.-Beloved By All With Whom She Came In Contact.—Her Children a Goodly Heritage To The Community.

Mrs. Elizabeth Zimmerman, after a short illness, died at her home in Liberty township, Pa., last Monday morning at half past nine of pneumonia. The funeral services were held in the Lutheran Church, in this place, on Wednesday, morning at 11.00. The interment was made in Mountain View Cemetery.

Mrs. Zimmerman was a woman for her acquaintances, had the highest respect. Of an esteemed parentage and family, she ever upheld its dignity and worth and has left an enviable name in this community.

Rev. Reinewald, at the close of his remarks at the funeral services, said in speaking of this estimable lady:

"Affliction has decreed our silent assembly here to-day. With saddened hearts we bow before the divine appointment-knowing that the loss and grief are ours and the gain of glory is hers whose sweet motherly voice we have so often heard-but now has passed into a cherished memory. The picture of her busy faithful devoted life was beautimother is a blessing and a benediction. Such, indeed, was she whose silent body now sleeps before the chancel of the Church within whose walls she worshipped for three quarters of a century. How the years of childhood do steal away on swift and silent wing; but during their flight how many are the cares and anxious concerns of a Christian moth er. It is she who shares our plans, and sketches our future with fondest interest and hope. It is she who binds up wounds and bruises and kisses away the tears of pain and sorrow. WASHINGTON LETTER.

LIVE CAPITAL TOPICS.

Weekly Letter From Our Regular Correspondent.

After a period of discussion and inaction long drawn out, the lower House of Congress has finally gotten down to real work and it is probable that the time which remains before the adjournment, of March fourth, will be most productive. The River and Harbor bill which calls for a big appropriation has been passed without a single dissenting vote. Appropriations approximating $84,000,000 have also been passed and favorable action has been taken on the amendment to the Denatured Alcohol law. The Naval appropriation bill is under consideration and will probably be railroaded through like the others. The River and Harbor discussion has brought to light one important fact which has been generally overlooked by some of the most ardent advocates of the bill and which will probably be made the subject of investigation by Congress. It is claimed that the warfage facilities of nearly all of the navigable rivers are controlled by the railroads and it is seldom that shippers can get the benefit of cheaper transportation for their products by water owing to the fact that the terminals are held by the railroads who make their own charges for wharf privileges. Thus there is in reality no competition between the two classes of freight carriers since the railroads after all, owning the wharfs, control the freight

The debate on the Denatured Alcohol bill was concluded by the pertinent remark of Representative Champ Clark who said, "This bill is intended to enable farmers to take advantage of the bill passed last June. Every one wants it but the whiskey trust, the wood alcohol | a Kaintucky Kernel! It would be murtrust and coal oil trust." This bill which is of such concern to agreat part of our population now goes to the Senate and there is a possibility that it will be passed. Speaker Cannon is well known to have opposed the bill in the House, but the Speaker has been confined to his home with the grip during which time he has rather lost his grip on Congressional affairs.

There will probably be no extra session, including both Houses of Congress, but it is almost certain that there will be an extra session of the Senate. The reason is that the Democrats of the Senate as it now stands, are able to thwart the ratification of the new Santo Domingo treaty, but after March the fourth there will be a sufficient number strictly Democratic or strictly Republi- dents in this vicinity.

The proposition to lease Government Institution Capital Surplus and Un- Dividends lands to cattlemen for grazing purposes is being agitated again in Congressional circles and a large delegation of cattlemen and lobbyists is here to support the plan. An effort will be made to have provision covering the proposition put in the Agricultural appropriation bill as an amendment, the text of which has already been suggested by Senator Burkett. The amendment authorized the President from time to time to establish grazing districts on the unreserved and unappropriated lands by proclamation, but the provision is being stubbornly opposed by those who claim that its passage would give the big cattlemen a monopoly of the range to the exclusisn of the small stockmen.

There has been in the last week or two a revival of President-making polities in Washington. The assiduously

Thurmont | National | 25
UNION BRIDGE cultivated boom of Vice-President Fairbanks is apparently the most flourishing. The trusts and especially the railroad combination are friendly to Fairbanks. There are many indeed who look upon him as Harriman's representative. He has put probably ten times more money into his campaign than any other candidate. It is estimated that England's Staid Journals Full Of his entertaining in Washington has cost him not much less than the President's salary of fifty-thousand dollars a year. His fine residence within three blocks of the White House is a social centre of but little less activity the papers of that city have broken and interest than that of the White over all precedent in handling the Thaw House itself. After an illness lasting since Christmas day, Mr. B. P. Englar, the capable editor of Taneytown's excellent paper, the Carroll Record, has resumed his editorial duties. Mr. Englar underwent an operation for appendicitis it is understood, and which his friends sincerely hope, was eminently successful. The patrons of the Record as well as Mr. Englar's many admirers are degean Stables. Can you give me some rector, requests that "patrons will come lighted at the thought that he is once more able to assume personal control over the paper which he so successfully edits and manages.
