Chicago, there was an Early a Misdewho tried to build a F e and Golf SUSSIETY. poration.

He cabbaged all the Corner Lots and nailed the Main Street Frontage and then held on like a Summer Cold.

He was a grisly old Badger who wore one Suit the Year round, with a Pair of box-toed Boots, a woollen Hat, and a Moss-Agate Collar-Button. While he was doing Business at 2 per cent. a Month, and holding out on the Assessor and bilking the Grangers for Railway franchises, he was regarded as a Wolf.

After he changed his address to Over There, the Heirs erected something that looked like the Bunker Hill Monument, and then they had him done in Oil by a Celebrated Artist. The Artist fixed his Hair for Him and gave him a neat Stand-Up Collar such as no one could have put on to the Old Man with a Block and Tackle. They named a School after him, and every one in Town who was related to him could butt into Sussiety without a Ticket.

The Large End of all the Scads mentioned in the last Will and Testament went to a Son named William H. Jimpson. On the way back from the Cemetery he took out a Pencil and figured to see what he was worth, and then he changed his Name to W. Harold

W. Harold had been compelled to fly fairly close to the Ground while the Governor was on Deck, but when there was no one to keep Tab on him he began to find $100 Bills in his Clothes when he was looking for a Card, and it seemed to Vex him a good deal.

A few Years before W. Harold became surrounded by Currency he had taken a Wife, without very much of a Struggle. Leonora was of a very Nice Family, that owed something on the House and kept a Girl part of the Time. After she began to have a Governess for Stuyvesant Jimpson and an Imported Nurse for the little Evelyn Jimpson her Memory seemed to blur in Spots and she couldn't have done up the Dishes to save her life.

When she was out in her Brougham it kept her busy not seeing her Childhood Friends who used to go to Kiss-

As Harold sized up the Caravansary he swelled with Satisfaction and said, "Little would any one Suspect that we have been out the Hazel Brush less than 3 Months."

Now that he was beyond the Range of the unlettered Rube, he began to do a little Landscape Gardening on the Frontispiece, laying out a very neat Set of Depews. He wore Gloves even at Night, and worked for Hours trying to get a side-hold on the Piccadilly Ac-

He learned that the Proper Caper for one who is out of Work and all clogged up with Funds is to build a Cottage overlooking the Sea and work up Features for the Sunday Papers. Accordingly he threw up a Shack with Onyx Foundations and Florida Water piped into every Room. It faced four different Ways. The Excursionists rode in from as far away as Swanzey to look at it and wait for the Real Things to come out and pile into the Blue Assassin and go out hunting Baby Carriages.

At last they became so Desperate each other out of yearning Sympathy, and this gave rise to so much Scandal that they had to go back to the Other Side to live it down.

One day the glory of life seemed to flood his world again, for Ruth Greville came to his studio. A charity bazaar was to be held, and she had charge of the art table. She wanted a picture for it, and she thought he might contribute some little sketch. He promised more than that. He would superintend the erection of her stall and decorate it himself. She wondered at his enthusiasm. When he refused payment for the work she was embarrassed. This had not been what she intended. Nor did she realize till long afterward that a busy artist could not spend two days overseeing the erection and decoration of the most beautiful booth in the bazaar without some pecuniary loss.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

It is now claimed by the railroad authorities that the public was unduly alarmed over the possibility of an increase in the price of tickets to pay for the new Union Station, and that no such action on their part is contemplated—at least for the present.

Dr. Wiley, of the Agricultural Department, whose name in connection with pure food and drugs has almost become a household word, declared, recently, that the sale of soft drinks should be supervised by the authorities, as the exact nature of the stuff put into these drinks and sold over the counters in drug stores to children is not generally known.

Capt. Charles de Forrest Chandler, of the Signal Corps, U. S. A., who acted as aid to Mr. J. C. McCoy, of New York, in the great balloon race held under the auspices of the Aero Club of America, is of the opinion that it would be much better for all contestants if the future races could be started from a point further West than St. Louis, as such a course would permit a much longer voyage and better records, but, that, it would be a difficult problem to find such a place, with the proper facilities for a race, on account of the difficulty in securing an adequate amount of the proper kind of gas It seems that the present race required 700,000 cubic feet of pure coal gas.

The War Department officials are elated over the success achieved by the McCoy-Chandler trip, although it was not the winning flight, and over the record Capt. Chandler is making in aerial navigation. No other aeronautic voyages are contemplated in the immediate future.

Since President Roosevelt's return to Washington politics, finance and all sorts of subjects have kept him busy at his desk ever since his arrival. It is generally understood that he approves the action of his Secretary of the Treasury is going to the prompt assistance of banks of importance and standing in New York. He believes now that the crisis is over and that no statement from him on the situation is necessary.

There is an abundance of third-term talk among the many White House visitors consisting of Senators, Representatives and politicians in general, and the consensus of opinion among them is that the country wants no one but Roosevelt-his acceptance is a wholly different question.

Quite a controversy has arisen between the War and Navy Departments over the plan of fortifying Subig Bay as the main defense of the Philippine Islands. Some years ago a joint naval and army board decided that Subig Bay was more desirable as a naval base and the main point for fortifications, than Manila, and as a result of their recommendations the large floating dry dock Dewey, constructed in this country and towed to the Philippines, is located at Clongapo, in Subig Bay. All the work that has been done thus far has been in conformity with the general policy of abandoning important defences at Manila and Cavite and concentrating the work upon Subig Bay.

Army engineers who have recently been investigating the conditions along the coast of the bay have convinced the authorities in the War Department that the scheme of fortifying this bay is impracticable, because of the difficulty of maintaining the land defenses, the engineers claiming that a force of 100,000 men would be required to defend that point from a land attack.

The Navy Department is still strong in its contention that because of the splendid naval base afforded at Subig Bay the work of improvement should go on. Admiral Dewey, heard of the general board of the Navy, takes this view, and is warmly supported by miral Brownson, Chief of the Bureau Synonymous and is warmly supported by Rear Ad-

When the appropriations for Subig Bay were under consideration by Congress last session, this conflict of opinion was reflected in the discussions, and on this account Secretary Taft has been led to visit the scene of the work in order that he may arrive at intelligent conclusions to be embodied in his annual report for the guidance of Congress in making future appropriations.

GOOD PRINT-ING means more than the use of type and ink and paper. Any printer can "set up" a quantity of type and "run off" a number of impressions. This is printing; but it is not always Good Printing.

T GOOD PRINT-ING is the result of using appropriate type in an appropriate manner, with due regard for the purpose for which the finished product is to be used.

Printing

GOOD PRINT-ING requires judgment, an appreciation of the artistic, a positive realization of effect, and a nicety of distinction with regard to the color, the quality, the very texture of the stock-the paper-used.

BAD OR IN-DIFFERENT PRINTING misrepresents the one who makes use of it. It is a poor introduction for any business man-and it is the most expensive kind of printing.

To Farmers--- A Word of Explanation.

There seems to be an impression that the Fine Set of Harness offered by the Emmitsburg Chronicle for the best article on farming will be awarded to the farmer who has raised the biggest crop.

This is a decided mistake. The sole idea is to get a series of articles for publication, written by practical farmers, explaining the methods by which they have succeeded with various

Thus the man who farms 30 acres is on the same footing with the one who farms 300, for the one who cultivates the small farm may have far better ideas than he who owns a greater number of acres, and his product, in proportion, may be greater.

It is simply a question of who has the best ideas.
