CARDINAL GIBBONS PRESIDES

One Hundred and First Annual Commencement at The Mountain.—Complete List of Honors Conferred on Students And Others.

On Tuesday Mount Saint Mary's College began the festivities that rounded out the one hundred and first year of its existence. A large number of alumni and eminent divines attended the commencement exercises which this year were favored with ideal weather. At no time has the mountain looked more beautiful and it is safe to say that this was one of the most happy commencements in the 101 years of the institution's life.

Bishop E. P. Allen, '78, one of the most successful and popular presidents the Mountain has ever had, graced the occasion with his presence and presided over part of the exercises. His Eminence Cardinal Gibbons had the seat of honor at the commencement proper.

ton, and William D. Delaney, Richmond diocese.

On Tuesday evening the annual contest in oratory for the "A. V. D. Watterson medal," was held in the gymnasium. Blue and white, yellow and white, purple and white bunting together with the national colors, draped the walls and galleries. The exercises were delayed a little and it was not until nine o'clock that the orchestra played the overture, "The Bridal Rose." To the strains of the music the Very Rev. President accompanied by Rt. Rev. Edward P. Allen, the faculty and the visiting clergy entered the hall. Father Flynn appointed the following gentlemen judges of the contest: Richard A. Malone, F. A. Campbell, Dr. Patrick Martin, Very Rev. Hehir, Rev. Cutler, Rev. Costello and Rev. Heap. Mr. Cletus Keating was the first speaker. His subject was "Vagabonds."

Mr. John J. Quigley "The curse of Regulus" Mr. W. H. Sheridan, "The Death of Benedict Arnold," Mr. Francis A. Smith "The Battle of Waterloo," Mr. John D. Victory, "America's Debt to Ireland," Thomas A. Lenahan, "The Benediction;" Frank L. Devine, "The Outcast." Of these young men the judges selected Mr. Keating as the prize winner, giving Mr. Devine honorable mention.

On Wednesday morning the commencement exercises proper were held in the gymnasium, Cardinal Gibbons presiding. Seated on the platform were Cardinal Gibbons, Very Rev. Father Flynn, President; Rt. Rev. E. P. Allen, Very Rev. Martin Aloysius Hehir, C. S. Sp. L. L. D., president of Holy Ghost College, Pittsburgh; Rev. Francis Howard, LL. D., Francis A. Campbell, LL. D.; Harry Irving Miller, LL. D., and several members of the faculty of this venerable institution. The programme opened with music by the orchestra after which Bishop Allen said a brief prayer. The first speaker was Mr. Edwin E. Kerwan. His subject was "A Plea for Inland Waterways." His delivery was excellent and he had fully mastered his subject. After an overture by the College Orchestra Mr. Frank L. Devine was introduced. Mr. Devine's selection was very happy, "The Centenary of St. Joseph's". He said:

Your Eminence, Most Rev. and Rt. Rev. Prelates, Very Rev. and Rev. Clergy, Ladies and Gentlemen:—

The story of the Sisters of Charity is not new or unfamiliar. Just a century ago, Mother Seton, with her small community of great souled women established in yonder peaceful valley the first American home of the Daughters of Charity. Little did those, the first sisters, hampered by their scant opportunities and stunted means, dream of the golden, heaven-sent harvest we now so joyfully celebrate. Little did the then inhabitants of this countryside, who saw that brave and persistent struggle against daunting odds, forecast the heroic deeds history's pages would yet record of those worthy women. The people of the young nation unaware of the very existence of St. Joseph's could not know that here in the hills of Maryland generous rivals of the Good Samaritan were under the Providence of the God of Charity, preparing for goodly work of binding up the wounds of stricken humanity. To one only, then Father, and later Cardinal, Cheverus was there vouchsafed a vision of the heavenly fruitage of Mother Seton's undertaking. "I see already," he wrote her, "numerous choirs of virgins following you to the altar. I see your holy order diffusing itself in the various parts of the United States, spreading everywhere the good odor of Jesus Christ, and teaching by their evangelical lives and pious institution how to serve God in purity and holiness."

RESULT OF THE PRIMARY

DEMOCRATS NOMINATE

Two Factions Fight it Out With No Excitement

CONTEST IN FREDERICK CITY

Organization Scrap For Nomination For Register of Wills Delays Returns From County Seat.—Col. E. A. Baughman Led Ticket.

The Democratic Judicial, State and County primary election was held on Monday. There was little excitement in Emmitsburg. Both precincts combined polled a total of 104 votes. There was a factional fight on but it did not cause much excitement, one side being too much in evidence. The results in the two precincts are given below the first mentioned in each case being elected:

First Precinct:—For Delegates to the County Convention, five voted for—Brooke I. Jamison 48, Frances E. Kreitz 47, Millard F. Shuff 47, Daniel E. Stone, 43, Christian T. Zacharias 32.

For members of the County Central Committee—Clarence J. Jamison 39, John A. Peddicord 38, Daniel F. Roddy 34,—Enoch L. Frizzell 26, Christian T. Zacharias 15.

Second Precinct:—For Delegates to the County Convention, five voted for—John C. Rosensteel 39, Edw'n Chrismer 38, J. McC. Foreman 34, Eugene L. Rowe 32, J. Rowe Ohler 33,—Isaac M. Fisher 29, Peter F. Burket 28, Bernard S. Jenkins 16.

For members of the County Central Committee—J. Rowe Ohler 46, George Keepers 44, John C. Rosensteel 40, Eugene L. Rowe 37, John L. Zacharias 35,—J. Edward Baker 21, Bernard S. Jenkins 17, B. J. Hobbs 15.

This was the first primary under the new election laws. All over the county little interest was taken either in the voting or the result. The only contest of any interest was made in Frederick, where Samuel O. Thomas and John H. Grove are candidates for Register of Wills. The fight was within the organization. It was a friendly contest, and Mr. Thomas won.

Between 400 and 500 ballots were cast in the city, and owing to the method of voting in each precinct the count was not completed until nearly midnight. The following delegates were elected:

Frederick—George W. Abrecht, Charles F. Cramer, Luther F. Derr, John H. Frazier, Joseph W. Gaver, James Harry Grove, John H. Grove, Charles McHagan, James A. Jones, G. Wesley Kindley, G. Herbert Kreh, John H. Lakin; Edgar K. Legg, Chas. P. Levy, Guy K. Motter, John C. Motter of L., Francis J. Newman, Benjamin E. Phebus, John E. Schell, John Francis Smith, Jacob Schmidt, D. Guy Thomas, George H. Wiener, George I. Wilson and E. R. Wood.

For county committeemen Col. E. Austin Baughman led his ticket. It was the first time his name has appeared on a ticket and he was generally indorsed. He is the only son of the late Gen. L. V. Baughman, for years leader of Democracy in Frederick county.

A severe earthquake shock was felt in France on Friday last. Several villages were ruined and many killed.

It was the design of Divine Providence that those whose mission was the alleviation of suffering should themselves first suffer. Thus was there from the first established between the distressed and the Sister of Charity a bond of sympathy which time but serves to intensify. A log cabin that did but little more than shelter them from the storm was their home, theirs was a bitter, soul-trying struggle for the mere necessities of life, yet, as contemporaries testify, they bore all with a saintlike patience and humility that in our day almost surpass belief. After the first few years of hardship and trial, there came days of peace and prosperity. The vocations so few in the beginning increased with the years, the foundations of the order were multiplied, until today, wherever in this broad land the poor, the lowly, the suffering are found, there, too, are found the white corneted daughters of Vincent de Paul.

When pestilence wastes the land and the stricken find themselves abandoned by timid friends, and often even by relatives, the brave, good Sister of Charity, in the teeth of the peril, is the first to hasten to the forbidding scene. The first to come, she is the last to leave, and her departure is as unassuming, as her ministrations are unostentatious. When the hungry dogs of war are loosed upon the nation's devoted sons, the Sister of Charity braving every danger, often sacrificing her life on the altar of Duty, is at hand to bind the wounds of the fallen. She is bound to no flag, but serves under all; on every battlefield she rears the white banner of Christian charity; she knows none as a foe, but all as children of a common Father. No plague, no disaster is without a record of her heroism. No danger is so great as to deter her from bringing comfort to her stricken brethren:—to cool the fevered brow, to slake the parched lip, to smooth the bed of pain. The founding, the waif, the afflicted find in her a friend. The sick, the infirm, the aged are her care. Charity, however ceases not its labors when it provides for man's earthly needs, but it has a care as well for his spiritual wants. In the work of these sisters the highest type of charity is exemplified. Though their name is not usually associated with educational work, still in this field their labors have been neither slight nor unproductive. Through numerous schools, devoted for the most part to the education of the poor, they have, like the Apostles of old carried to the lowly the gospel of the one true God. But here at St. Joseph's they have been engaged in a work that is of particular interest to us, and deserving of more than the passing notice of the world.

Before the exact work of the sisterhood had been planned by the holy foundress, St. Joseph's was. When, at length, the scope of action was fully determined upon St. Joseph's was continued. At first a work demanded by necessity, it has been continued as a labor of love. During its hundred years this Academy has stood in the forefront of Catholic educational establishments. It has been an important factor in the education of the Catholic womanhood of America, and its influence extends into foreign lands. Though it has kept pace with educational progress, yet it has never been lost in the maze of the educational fads and fancies that are from time to time adopted by a restless people only to be soon cast aside. Rather, the methods that have been approved by past experience are preferred here. Now for five score years has she been doing invaluable work in training the hearts, as well as the intellects of those who have been fortunate enough to be placed under her wise and prudent care.

Our beloved Cardinal has wisely said that the world is ruled by ideals rather than by ideas. Throughout the existence of this well-beloved institution, it has been the aim of the sisters in charge to inculcate lofty ideals, as well as to develop brilliant intellects. Hence, the training given here is that which produces the woman fitted alike for society, the home or the cloister.

While St. Joseph's has presented to her children all that is beautiful, noble and inspiring in the literature of the world, has carefully and painstakingly trained them in the sciences, and strengthened and disciplined their intellects, she has been equally insistent concerning their faith and their morals. In the classroom, in the chapel, in the recreation hall, on the campus, the highest types of Christian womanhood are presented to the students for their emulation. What the intellect is trained to admire is indelibly impressed upon heart and soul by living, inspiring models. Here, in a higher degree, we may safely say, than elsewhere, are the students made to feel that even in our day it is life's chief work to practice all the christian virtues. The pupils under the holy influence of these sisters must necessarily understand that in our own land and in our own time it is possible to attain to sainthood.

Do you seek her children? Then look you in society for the ideal woman, in the home for the ideal mother, in the convent for the ideal nun, and there shall you find the daughters of St.

Joseph's marked for their intellectual attainments, lofty ideals, sterling character and active faith, loyal ever in weal and woe to the safe traditions of their Alma Mater.

Among those who have contributed to this century of success-crowned labor, there stands out one conspicuous for her industry, her learning, her piety, she the truly sent of God, Mother Seton. Live everyone courageous enough to have an opinion, daring enough to express it and heroic enough to accept all consequences, Mother Seton was not without her disappointments and heart-aches. She was a woman of Spartan mold perfected by Christian virtues. Led in time to embrace the true faith, in a religious life she sought solace for her sorely wounded soul. The glorious results we to-day celebrate are due in no small measure to her, upon whom was cast the work of organization and leadership. By word and example she daily taught others "the luxury of doing good." In those pioneer days when the very existence of the establishment was threatened, she did not despair. When others faltered, she went bravely on; when others became discouraged in their seemingly futile struggle, she cheered them with the hopes of the good things yet to be. Her's was the difficult part "gently to hear, kindly to judge." How well she performed her labors the monuments about us eloquently tell.

To-day the Alumnae of St. Joseph's gather with the numerous friends of the academy to rejoice with Alma Mater in contemplation of the hundred faithful years that are now ended. Amid the scenes of other days—"sweet childish days that are as long as twenty days are now"—they recall only the pleasant hours, the sweet dreams and the fond hopes of the days that are now but memories. With grateful hearts they acknowledge their heavy debt to this home of learning and piety. In song and story let them exultantly commemorate all those immortal deeds—so numerous and so widely distributed—that can be traced back to the holy influence of St. Joseph's.

The glory of the past is but an earnest of what yet will be accomplished through the agency of this school. The sisters ever facing forward, with never a glance backward, placing their trust always in Him who has safely guided them through the storms and perils of a century, ever inspired by the deeds of their predecessors, shall continue this college in the front rank of educational institutions. With the work of the past as an incentive, with unselfish laborers on earth with saintly intercessors before the throne of mercy of the future of this sisterhood and of this college shall be as wealthy in noble and inspiring works of heroism and charity, as has been the century which now is history.

These remarks were received with the closest attention and when the speaker had concluded he was loudly applauded.

The College Glee Club sang "Wake With The Lark." Under Prof Braun's able leadership the glee club and orchestra have done remarkable work. Their selections during the commencement exercises were pleasing and plainly showed that Prof. Braun's efforts were not lost on his pupils. Messrs. Carl F. Mathieu and William Lindner, two of Prof. Braun's pupils, played a cornet duet, "The Pearls." This was followed by a chorus by the Glee Club.

The last speaker was Mr. Vincent J. Keating valedictorian. Immediately after the valedictory Father Gallagher of the faculty announced that each of the following students had received the highest general average in his respective class for the scholastic year, for which each was awarded a gold medal:—Senior Class:—Frank L. Devine, Maysville, Ky. Junior Class:—Edward O'Neil, Ashland, Pa. Sophomore Class:—John P. Fagan, Athens, O. Freshman Class:—Finton S. Tehan, Waterbury, Conn.

The following gentlemen were given the degree of master of arts: Joseph Augustine Boyle, Hazelton, Pa., Joseph Charles Carr, Altoona, Pa., Patrick Francis Cawley, Pittston, Pa., John Bernard Conroy, Easton, Pa., Michael Joseph Dougherty, Wilmington, Delaware, John Henry Eckenrode, Emmitsburg, Md., Charles Joseph Farran, Philadelphia, John Aloysius Farrell, New York, Arthur Raine Freeman, Goldsboro, N. C., Michael Ambrose Gilloeghy, Scranton, Pa., John Raymond J. Hayes, Indianapolis, James Joseph Kerrigan, Boston, Thomas Bernard Martin, Martinsburg, West Virginia, Sydney Augustine Quinn, Lansford, Pa., John Francis Zboyovsky, South Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

The degree of bachelor of arts was conferred on the following members of the graduating class: Albert Louis Cahill, Providence, R. I., Louis Hickman Chazal, Ocala, Fla., Michael Joseph Conway, Shenandoah, Pa., Frank Leo Devine, Maysville, Ky., Joseph Victor Golbart, Washington, Simon Richard Goebart, Washington, Albert Joseph Hoenniger, Lancaster, Pa., James Garvey, Horan Dunmore, Pa., Leroy Francis Johnson, Harrisburg, Pa., Vincent Joseph Keating, Cumberland, Md., Daniel Francis Kelly, Peabody, Mass., Edward Emmitt Kirwan, Louisville, John Jeremiah Leary, Great Bend, Pa., Thomas Andrew Lenahan, Philadelphia, Arthur Joseph Middleton, Baltimore, Md., Charles Augustine Murray, Wilkes Barre, Pa., Vincent Luke Parker, Portsmouth, Va., Thomas Jarboe Rhorback, Frederick, Md., Francis John Seewald, Williamsport, Pa., Joseph Michael Sheridan, Mobile, Ala.

Then followed the address to the graduates by Hon. Francis A. Campbell, LL. D., class '86, Boston, Mass. Mr. Campbell delivered an excellent address in a most able manner. He spoke of his standing before his fellow students twenty-two years ago the same as the class of '09 now stands about to take its departure from the old "Mountain." He paid a glowing tribute to his Alma Mater, and gave some good advice to the graduates concerning their going forward, always upward and onward. He furthermore said they were well equipped for the battle of life, for he knew of no other place where better training could be received than at the "Mountain."

The address to the graduates was followed by a chorus "March of the Guard" which was well rendered by Glee Club and Orchestra. The blessing was then bestowed by his Eminence James Cardinal Gibbons, after which the exercises were terminated by a march, "Robin Hood" rendered by the orchestra.

The annual alumni banquet was held after the commencement exercises. A. V. D. Watterton, LL. D., of Pittsburgh, who is president of the Alumni Association, acted as toastmaster, and some of the more prominent guests were called upon to speak. Very Rev. Dr. Flynn referred to the fact that the college now boasted of 362 students, including the seminarians. He expressed the hope that the beautiful new chapel would be dedicated on December 8, the Feast of the Immaculate Conception.

Rev. Father Calahan made a motion suggesting that each member of the alumni give for 10 years in succession a personal contribution toward a common fund to be used for the betterment of the college. Dr. Martin, however, suggested that a committee be appointed by Father Calahan to give the matter further consideration, and this motion being seconded by Father Calahan, was unanimously adopted. Grace was said at the conclusion of the dinner by Bishop Allen. The remainder of the afternoon was one of sociable entertainment among the members of the alumni.

THE important thing is generally the next step. We ought not to take it unless we are sure it is advisable; but we should not hesitate to take it when once we are sure; and we can safely join with others who also wish to take it, without bothering our heads overmuch as to any somewhat fantastic theories they may yet have in sight.—Theodore Roosevelt.

Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

(Copyright 1909 by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.)

June 20th, 1909.
 Review.

Golden Text—With great power gave the apostles witness of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus. Acts iv: 33.

The following review is planned for all who are taking up these Bible Studies, whether having actually studied the eleven lessons here reviewed or only a part of them. Even if this is the first lesson which has captured a reader's attention it can be made a profitable lesson in itself.

The date and title of each lesson, and where found, the Golden Text and one question for each lesson follow:

April 4—Acts x: 1-48. Peter and Cornelius Golden Text, Acts x: 35. In every nation he that feareth Him, and worketh righteousness is accepted of Him.

Verses 1, 2—Can you give a good reason why God to-day, is not as well pleased with a devout Roman Catholic, as he is with a devout Protestant, or vice versa?

April 11—I. Cor. xv: 12-28. Easter Lesson. Golden Text. I. Cor. xv: 20. Now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept.

Verse 12—Can you mention a single nation, or tribe, or people in the past, or the present, that has not believed, or does not believe, in life after death in some shape?

April 18—Acts ix: 1-30. The Conversion of Saul. Golden Text. Acts ix: 4. He fell to the earth and heard a voice saying unto him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

* Verses 1, 2—How do you account for Saul's bitter hatred for Christians before his conversion, and that after he became a Christian he showed such a spirit of love toward those who were not of Christians? (This question is to be answered in writing by members of the club.)

April 25—Acts xi: 19-30; xii: 25. The Gospel in Antioch. Golden Text. Acts xi: 26. The disciples were called Christians first in Antioch.

Verses 29, 30—Should the Church of Christ to-day be a practical brotherhood, caring for one another, and helping each other financially, and in every other way as the need may be?

May 2—Acts xiii: 1-12. Paul's First Missionary Journey—Cyprus. Golden Text. Mark xvi: 15. Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature.

Verse 3—It is clearly the duty of the present day church to send missionaries to foreign countries and into new districts; is it equally the duty of all men to help support such missionaries?

May 9—Acts xiii: 13-52. Paul's First Missionary Journey—Antioch in Pisidia. Golden Text. Act xiii: 49. The word of the Lord was published throughout all the region.

Verse 14—If a professed Christian does not attend church, and act like a Christian when away from home, is he a real Christian when at home, no matter how he may act when there?

May 16—Acts xiv: 1-28. Paul's First Missionary Journey—Iconium. Golden Text. Ps. xcvi: 5. All the gods of the nations are idols; but the Lord made the heavens.

Verses 1, 2—Was the unbelief of the Jews a matter of the intellect through lack of evidence; or was it a matter of the heart; that is, a result of their rebellion against God?

May 23—Acts xv: 1-35. The Council at Jerusalem. Golden Text. Acts xv: 11. We believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we shall be saved, even as they.

Verses 6-17—Is actual experience of God, and his dealings with us, conclusive proof of the will of God, in the matters which the experience covers?

May 30—Jas. ii: 4: 26. Believing and Doing. Golden Text. Jas. ii: 20. Faith without works is dead.

Verse 14—Can a man have true faith in God if he is not filled with love to his fellows, and doing all he can to help them?

June 6—Jas. iii: 1-12. The Power of the Tongue. Golden Text. Prov. xxi: 23. Whoso keepeth his mouth and his tongue keepeth his soul from troubles.

Verse 2—Is the control of the tongue the key to the control of the entire man? Give your reasons.

June 13—Heb. xi: 1-40. Heroes of Faith. Golden Text. Heb. xi: 1. Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.

Verses 1-3—If a desirable thing is firmly possessed by faith, does that give as much, or similar satisfaction, as the possession of the thing itself?

A Neglected Industry.—Horse Breeding On The Farm.

Dr. G. W. Twitchell, one of the foremost authorities on horses &c., in speaking to a farmer's institute in Maine in substance said that the people he was addressing as well the great majority of farmers all over this country, are suffering for the want of good horses. This is as true as Gospel as far as this section of the country is concerned. So rare is a really good team seen in town that when, for instance, Mr. Daniel Hartman or Mr. Jacob Hoke and a very few others drive through, everyone turns to see more of their horses.

Dr. Twitchell says, as reported in the New York Tribune Farmer: A draft colt will earn its living after two years of age. To grow this class of stock suitable mares are demanded, those of fair size—1,000 to 1,100 pounds—with sound legs and roominess of body. It is of little use to breed from runts or broken down "skates." These are a disgrace to our agriculture and a positive hindrance to any farmer. In buying Western chunks select mares, not geldings. Look to feet and legs. See that they stand squarely on their feet. Avoid those who toe in or out—or whose hocks touch behind. The foot determines the horse. Good hoof structure, round and well set at heel, with short, stout but not straight pasterns are wanted. In drivers seek the long, springy pastern, the angle from ankle joint being 45 degrees, shorter and stronger, but the same angle for draft. A straight pastern is likely to cockle, while too sloping a pastern will be likely to break down. Watch out for sickle or straight hocks, as well as tendency to curbs. The hind legs propel, an therefore must be built in right proportions to lift and sustain the greatest effort. Above all, avoid coarse bone or joints. A good leg feels like a piece of polished steel. The cannon bone hide, hair and eye are among the best advertisers of quality in a horse. Trueness of action increases power. The eye is the telltale of energy; the ear the nostril and lips the indicators of courage and disposition.

First equip the farms with this type of mare and then breed only to a pure bred sire. He should intensify the good qualities of the mare and carry more of action and style. Never patronize an unsound horse. Better no colt than a poor one. Seek positive virtues through positive sires. Reproductive powers in our mares are burned out by constant grain feeding. A physical examination is necessary in every case. Cool down, one month before breeding, with bran mashes, green food and roots, and put organs in more normal condition. It is a waste of time to breed without this preparation. A whole year is lost by neglect. Less than 20 per cent. of services prove fertile, whereas the average should be 80. Stallions need exercise to sustain virility energy. Padded stalls and heavy blankets do not insure living foals. More roots in winter and more regular work all the year is called for. Fat is not congenial to prepotency. With the growing interest in the subject stallions will be forthcoming as the evidence of good, sound mares is seen. Don't expect to combine draft and stylish road qualities in one horse. Seek for well built, symmetrical, fast walking draft colts and a foundation will be found for the road horse. The money to-day lies along well built, strong, full quartered, clean limed draft stock.

Don't use a stallion with a small, dull eye or misshapen head. Intelligence in our coming colts must be intensified that safety may follow. The automobiles make necessary a safe horse, and this will come through critical breeding. There's no chance for indifferent work in any direction.

Feed broodmares liberally and keep in good condition. If allowed to run to pasture with foal protect from the flies. Never allow either to lose flesh. Keep the colt growing. Its size will be determined the first six months. See the stock at pasture daily and look out for accidents. There is no limit to the demand for good draft colts. Clean out the deadwood in winter, if there is any, and put in one or two shapely, sizable, true gaited, fast walking mares, and be ready to breed in May so as to have the colt drop as warm weather is approaching. This is business, and good farming justifies nothing less.

TO BUILD HANDSOME CHURCH

Hagerstown Lutherans Award Contract.—To Cost About $100,000.

Hagerstown is soon to have a handsome new church building. Last week the congregation of Trinity Lutheran Church awarded the contract for a new edifice to cost $67,762 to Mark T. Wells, of Philadelphia. It is estimated that when completed the building will cost between $95,000 and $100,000.

The style of architecture will be Gothic and the material for construction is to be brick and granite. The tower has been planned for chimneys. A parsonage will also be erected.

York Company to Build Bridge

The contract for the iron bridge over Tom's Creek was given by the County Commissioners to the York Bridge Company, the lowest bidders. This action was taken on Tuesday.

The Way to Plan to Have a Variety For the Table.

Vegetables are becoming so plentiful that with a little care in planning, the housewife will be at no loss to find variety to set before the family. Vegetable salads are economical, easily made and wholesome, but to be at their best, care must be exercised in their preparation. Different flavors can be delicately added to the plain dressing, and in this, as in other things, practice makes perfect.

The freshest of oils should be used or if oil is not at hand, thick cream or butter may be substituted. The ingredients should all be of the best. Hard-boiled eggs may be powdered either in a mortar or by mashing with a spoon, and the seasoning should be added to the egg, then the oil a few drops at a time and lastly the vinegar. Vegetable salads should be stirred as little as possible, and always with a wooden spoon or fork. All vegetables used for salads should be freshened in cold water, dried carefully and then shredded with the fingers instead of being chopped with a knife. Lettuce salad should be dressed only with salt, pepper, oil and vinegar; eggs and mustard should not be used with lettuce. Care must be taken to avoid bruising or crushing the vegetables when handling or preparing them as rough handling causes them to wilt. Asparagus, cabbage, lettuce, celery, cauliflower, water cress, tomatoes, cucumbers, potatoes, beets, carrots, turnips, artichokes, dandelions, spinach, kale, chickory and purslane may any of them be used for salads.

Cock Roaches and Water Bugs.

The following are methods of ridding the house of these pests: The treatment must in all cases be applied for some time—from a fortnight to a couple of months, and even after thinning of their numbers, constant vigilance must be exercised that no new ones are brought in by the trades people. One method of ridding the house of the pest is to shovel powdered borax thickly over the shelves and in their runaways, blowing it into cracks and holes with a powder gun. Another is to use strong Persian insect powder in the same way; another, to mix powdered borax and an equal amount of a mixture composed of equal parts of sugar, Paris green and sulphur; take everything out of the pantry and scatter this freely over the shelves, and then put fresh paper on the shelves and await developments. Everything eatable must be kept securely out of their reach, as they will track the poison into food, even if they do not eat it. Another is to mix one part borax and three parts corn starch, sifting several times to thoroughly mix it, and scatter this thickly about their haunts. Borax with Paris green or cayenne pepper is recommended, and this should be sprinkled over the sink openings at night to dissuade the bugs from coming out of the pipes. None of these remedies promise immediate relief, or prevent other bugs from invading the premises; but after a few weeks the older generation will begin to thin out while the newly-hatched will be coming on. Just persevere in the use of the powders and keep a constant watch that a new supply is not brought in. Remember to keep all foods out of their reach, and keep everything clean and dry. This last is half the battle, for dampness is ideal for their propagation, and you must keep up the fight for several months.

Sandwiches.

Unless the bread is freshly cut the slices will soon become dry, and unpalatable. The slices should be cut thin and evenly, and the loaf should be fresh. To cut a fresh loaf satisfactorily, dip the knife in very hot water before slicing. Butter should be spread on the loaf before the slice is separated, as otherwise it is almost impossible to spread the butter without breaking the slice. A sure way to keep the sandwich from getting dry is to fold several layers of wet cloth over them, this will keep the dry air from them and preserve moisture. The savoriness of the sandwich will depend on the quality of the bread.

To Jar Red Beets.

Here is a way to jar beets. Cook new red beets till nice and tender, peel, take one cup of sugar a little salt, enough vinegar to cover beets; put in agate boiler, cook till hot through. Put in jars hot and seal they are always ready for use are fine and will keep for a couple of years. MRS. J. C. F.

AGAINST AMENDMENT

Republicans To Fight It In Federal Courts

RECENT ACTION AT ANNAPOLIS

Foreigners Organizing and Municipal Election May Decide People Against The Straus Law.

The Republican party through its leaders are determined to fight the proposed suffrage amendment to a finish. The preliminary move made at the municipal election in Annapolis, to try out the proposed law has had the effect of stirring up the opponents to the Straus law. Their action in taking the case before a federal court and in case of necessity to the Supreme Court was quite a surprise to the Democrats. It was thought that such action would be impossible as the disfranchisement applied only to a municipal election. Legal lights, however, decided after a careful investigation that the law infringing on the Constitution of the United States, and if their contention is sustained it is more than probable that the Supreme Court of the United States will be obliged to pass upon the validity of this act. It is the purpose to strip the question from all extraneous technicalities so as to put the grandfather provision squarely before the court.

The decisions of the registers at Annapolis with reference to naturalized citizens also furnished an object-lesson which the Republicans intend to press home. They refused to place upon the books the names of American-born sons of fathers who were natives of foreign countries but had never been naturalized. In other words, they turned down men who had lived and voted in Annapolis because their fathers had not qualified themselves as citizens after coming to this country. They based this action on the provision that only naturalized citizens and the descendants of naturalized citizens who could have voted prior to 1868 should be permitted to register.

The developments at Annapolis have spurred on the foreign born citizens to renewed effect. Notwithstanding the approach of the heated term they are meeting regularly and plan an aggressive campaign this fall. The Germans met during the past week and the executive committee is now arranging for a big mass-meeting to be held under their auspices and which will be distinctively a German meeting.

QUITE WILLING TO BE ARRESTED

Carroll County Officials Can Easily Find The Editor.

The Hampstead Enterprise has roused up the officials of Carroll county. Under the heading "It Is Too Bad" it printed the following last week:

The article in the Enterprise of May 28, commenting on some of the customs of public officials, seems to have stirred up the whole county, and some of our county officials seem to think that they have been terribly maligned. So much so that from what we notice in the exchanges, a warrant has been sworn out for our arrest (at this writing we are at Bridgewater, Va.)

Mr. Reifsnider, the state's attorney, it seems has sworn out the warrant, and he and a few others are trying to make it appear that the article referred to accused or charged Mr. Reifsnider, Mr. Townshend and Mr. Humbert with grave offenses and reflected seriously on the honesty and integrity of these gentlemen and the grand jury. The facts are that the article did not accuse any one of anything, nor did it reflect or aim to reflect on either of the gentlemen named. It was not intended to reflect on any one. We do not "reflect." When we have anything to say, we say it in as plain English as we can.

The Advocate says that it is authorized by both Mr. Townshend and Mr. Humbert to say that they paid for what they set up to the grand jury. Who said they did not? Who said that their places were not kept in excellent condition? Who said that the grand jury was bribed by a good dinner or intimated anything of the kind? Who said that Mr. Reifsnider is not an efficient officer?

The article that has created all this hubbub stands for itself, and it expresses our sentiment exactly, and if there is a single declaration in it, it is as true as gospel.

The issue of this paper containing this editorial will in all probability be out before we reach Hampstead, but as soon as we get there we will be pleased to see the gentleman with the warrant, and if he doesn't care to drive over to Hampstead we will report at Westminster.

THE DOWNS' JURY DISAGREES

State Unable to Convince Jury of Former Clerk's Guilt.

After deliberating for almost twenty-four hours the jury in the case of William F. Downs disagreed and was dismissed after the court had expressed regret that a verdict could not be reached. On the final ballot the jury stood eight to four for acquittal. State's Attorney Owens has asked for a new trial.

William F. Downs, was a former clerk in the city register's office at Baltimore, and was placed on trial in the criminal court there on three indictments charging larceny of city moneys. There are altogether 35 indictments pending against Downs accusing him of having stolen $35,000. The total alleged defalcation was $67,000.

Downs, who is 23 years of age and married, was a $900 clerk in the register's office. He was known as a liberal spender, the owner of a race horse and the financial backer of several pugilists. One of his duties at the register's office was to deposit the currency funds received, at various banks, and it is alleged that he abstracted money during a period of many months.

To Discuss "More Daylight"

The National Daylight Association, with headquarters in Cincinnati, has received an encouraging letter from Postmaster-General Hitchcock. The officers of the association are invited to Washington for a conference, at which the question of "more daylight" will be discussed. Mr. Hitchcock states that the President wishes him to go into the subject thoroughly. The officers will probably go to Washington within a few days.

Questionable.

"Your tickets were complimentary, were they not?"

"Well," replied the man who had seen a painfully amateur entertainment, "I thought they were until I saw the show."—Tit-Bits.
