NO. 19

TO MEMORY OF McCLOSKEY

BISHOP OF LOUISVILLE

Next to Oldest Alumnus of Mount St. Mary's

DIED AT PRESTON PARK SEPT. 17

Noted For His Spirited, Athletic and Gentlemanly Character.—Ordained Priest in 1852.—Always Interested in Education.

Rt. Rev. William George McCloskey, Bishop of Louisville, who died Friday last, was, excepting Lewis Motter of this place, the oldest surviving student of Mount St. Mary's College, with which his brother, John, was closely connected for nearly fifty years. William was born in Brooklyn, Nov. 10, 1823. On leaving the local school he began the study of law, but later entered the Mountain College of which his brother John was then vice-president. After completing his classical theological course he was ordained priest in 1852 by another mountaineer, Archbishop Hughes, of New York, and having served for one year on the Mission with his brother George, pastor of the Church of the Nativity in that city, returned to the Mountain and taught Sacred Scripture, Moral Theology and Latin. When in 1857 Rev. Wm. Henry Elder, future archbishop of Cincinnati, became bishop of Natchez, Father McCloskey succeeded him as director of the Seminary, and two years later, in the Fall of 1859, was appointed first president of the newly founded North American Ecclesiastical College in Rome. Of the twelve young men who came under his charge, six were like himself students of the Mountain, and so was Father Chatard the priest who succeeded him in the presidency, when, in 1868, Father McCloskey was made bishop of Louisville. He was consecrated in the chapel of the American College, Rome, by Cardinal Von Reisach, archbishop of Munich, who was assisted by two other prominent archbishops.

The memory of Bishop McCloskey as a student still lingers at the Mountain, for he was noted for his spirited and athletic as well as gentlemanly character. "All the McCloskeys were gentlemen," said one who knew them, and it is related that Pius IX, who created another John McCloskey, (a native of Brooklyn, too, but no relative) the first American Cardinal, was attracted by his refined gentlemanly manners. Besides acting as professor and director of seminarians Bishop McCloskey, while a priest at the Mountain, took his share of parish work and built the pretty church, "Our Lady of Mount Carmel," at Thurmont. He came to the College last October for the Centennial celebration and went round about the Mountain visiting the scenes of his youth and calling on many of the children and grand-children of those whom he had known as a boy and as one of the pastors of the Old Church on the Hill. His love for seminaries clung to him to the end and it was at the diocesan seminary of Preston Park, of which his brother George had been president, that he died. His last words indicate the strength of his character: "I understand my condition clearly," he said to his physician. The bishop was buried on Monday in the little chapel at the college where nearly twenty years of his long life had been passed. May he rest in peace!

TREAT FORCED FROM THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT

His Successor Has Been Selected But Has Not Yet Been Made Public.—Political Exigencies.

President Taft has already picked the man to succeed Charles H. Treat of New York as treasurer of the United States. Who he will be is not known. One rumor is that Mr. Myron T. Herrick of Ohio is slated, but Mr. Herrick's friends say he could not afford to take the place owing to his large business interests. Moreover, he wanted a Cabinet place and has been cold to the President since he failed to get it. Another man mentioned is Lyman C. Murray of Louisville, a prominent banker there. The resignation of Mr. Treat was no surprise. It is well understood he was forced out. The New York delegation months ago tried to get President Taft to reappoint him, but the President would not do it, having already picked a successor. As treasurer Mr. Treat was efficient, but political exigencies led to the demand for his place for another.

On Wednesday, Robert Hoe, aged 70 years, head of R. Hoe & Co., printing press manufacturer, of New York and London, died in London after a short illness.

GREAT EXPLORER HERE

Dr. Cook's Reception Almost Friendly Riot

MEETS THE APPROVAL OF PEOPLE

Concerning Peary He Said 'I Prefer to Believe The Statements Attributed to Him Are Incorrect.'

Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the American explorer who first reported the discovery of the North Pole, landed in New York from Copenhagen on Tuesday. Dr. Cook's arrival went through progressive stages of enthusiasm as he moved from the lower bay to Quarantine, thence to the tug on which his wife and children were waiting to give the first exchange of family endearments, then to the steamer Grand Republic, freighted with upward of a thousand enthusiastic friends and champions of the explorer, and finally as he set foot on his native soil of Brooklyn and passed through cheering throngs and flower-arched streets to his home at Brushwick avenue.

Everywhere he was met with the same clamorous shouts and demonstrative approval, which swept aside any dissenting note, if it existed. Dr. Cook bore his honors calmly and with dignity.

At sunrise the steamer was dressed with flags and preparations were made to receive the explorer's wife and children, who were coming down in a tug to meet a reception committee of city officials and friends of Dr. Cook, who went down the harbor on the steamer Grand Republic.

Brooklyn's reception to Dr. Cook had all the elements of a riot, except violence. From the moment the Grand Republic warped up to her landing and the explorer, flanked by militiamen and police, fought his way into an automobile, until he left the Bushwick Club for the Waldorf-Astoria, in New York, the surging crowds taxed the capacity of the police, and more than once got out of control. Along the five miles of avenues through which the explorer passed, the mounted police were continually fighting a way for Dr. Cook's automobile, when they were not stemming the massed thousands who seemed to have only one object—to break loose and embrace Dr. Cook.

Referring to Peary, Dr. Cook said: "I have as yet heard nothing but vague reports. I prefer for the present to believe that the statements which have been attributed to Peary are incorrect."

UNCLE SAM BEING SUED FOR $61,287,800 BY RAILROAD

One of the Largest Suits Ever Brought Against Government.—Missouri, Kansas, Texas R. R. Claims.

A suit against the United States for $61,287,800 probably will be tried by United States Court of Claims during the coming winter.

This suit, which is one of the largest ever brought against the Government, was instituted some time ago by the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad Company, one of the land-grant railroads, by the filing of a petition in the United States Court of Claims, in which it was alleged that by acts of Congress the United States had agreed to convey to it the fee-simple title to every alternate section of land to the extent of 10 sections a mile on each side of its line through the Indian Territory and Kansas, and that subsequently many of these lands had been deeded to the Indians in severalty and had otherwise been disposed of, to the great loss of the railroad company.

In its petition the company prays that an accounting may be taken to ascertain the value and extent of its land grants improperly and wrongfully taken from it by governmental authority, and that judgment be rendered for the amount stated.

The railroad company has engaged eminent counsel to prosecute its case before the Court of Claims, and it is understood that Attorney-General Wickham will appear in defense of the Government.

Drop a Nickle and Get a Typewriter

The nickel-in-the-slot typewriter is about to be installed at leading hotels, on ocean steamers, trains, etc., says Popular Mechanics. If you want to use the typewriter, you drop a nickel in the slot and it is workable for half an hour, at the end of which time it automatically locks itself up again. Another nickel releases it for a second half hour. A guest at a hotel can have these slot typewriters taken to his room by notifying the clerk. They are wheeled up by one of the bell boys.

Announcement is made by the Cincinnati Aero Club that two wealthy men of that city have pledged themselves as backers to the extent of $100,000 to secure the international aerial meet for Cincinnati in 1910.

PEARY LOSING MANY FRIENDS

ONE CONSUMING DESIRE TO ROB COOK OF HONOR

Commander's Unfortunate Contracts Reflect Very Much To His Discredit.

NAVAL OFFICER WITH TWENTY-THREE YEARS' LEAVE OF ABSENCE

A Servant of the People Living On Their Bounty He Tries Keep From Some of Them the Story of His Achievement.—His Conduct Deeply Regretted by Many of His Admirers.—He Has Been Wretchedly Advised by His Friends and Stands in a Bad Light.

A party of newspaper men paid their respects to Commander Peary at Battle Harbor, Labrador. While Peary gave these gentlemen some general information and made some illusions to doctor-observations that might have been made by other explorers, not himself included, he had little to say of Dr. Cook, saying he would wait for the Doctor's story before attempting to refute it. It seems to be Peary's one consuming desire to snatch the laurels from Cook's head, now that his other ambition, to reach the pole, has been accomplished.

Under the heading, "An Unfortunate Contract," the Springfield Republican in an editorial tells an interesting story that throws a light on Peary's status in the United States Navy. It says:

Arctic and Antarctic exploration long since formed connections with the financial end of press and magazine publicity, for every explorer in the frozen zones has banked upon the profits from his books, his lectures and his narratives for the newspapers. The legitimacy of such profits can hardly be questioned, inasmuch as they go far to recoup the explorer for his expenditure and enable him to repay the loans of his friends. But Comdr. Peary seems to have made an unfortunate mistake, judging the affair in the light of later developments, in accepting $4000 from the New York Times for the outfitting of his last expedition and obligating himself by contract to repay the loan, in case he should succeed in reaching the pole, by furnishing the lender an exclusive copyrighted press narrative of his journey. By the terms of the contract, the Times was to sell the story to other newspapers here and there on a basis which precluded any competition with the Times in its own field.

Nothing would have been heard of this contract, perhaps, had not the controversy as to prior discovery burst upon the world; but, now that Comdr. Peary is much in need of newspaper support in his fight against Dr. Cook, it is evident that his performance in thus discriminating in favor of a particular New York journal, and such outside papers as might choose to pay a special price for the Peary narrative in order to serve their readers, has reacted against him. The papers that have had no opportunity to print Comdr. Peary's story, beyond his bare announcement, and there must be thousands of them in this country—are little disposed to become Peary partisans in the controversy with Dr. Cook. The sentiments expressed by the New York Tribune are probably representative of this large portion of the American press. That newspaper has been moved to say:

"Grave questions of propriety are raised by the course which Comdr. Peary adopted in pledging himself in advance for a pecuniary consideration to confine within narrow limits the original account of his efforts and possible success. There is much force in what counsel for other newspapers said to the court concerning this aspect of the case in asking that the injunction against them should be dissolved. It is urged that Comdr. Peary has spent large sums out of his own pocket in pursuing for many years his quest of the North Pole. We do not know how that may be, but we do know that he has received large sums from the taxpayers of the United States during the long period in which he has been relieved of the duties of an officer of the United States navy; that he has been the beneficiary of handsome funds supplied by generous individuals, largely in response to appeals which the newspaper press of the country helped to make effective, and that the government of the United States, whose servant he is and on whose payroll he has been retained, has treated him with extraordinary consideration in various ways. It was felt—and properly felt, we believe, though many of his brother officers who have been doing the regular work which he was paid to do have chafed somewhat under the arrangement—that inasmuch as Comdr. Peary had special aptitude and enthusiasm for polar exploration the results of his labors in that field of effort were likely to be creditable to the country, whether he reached the ultimate goal or not. But we cannot believe that the government or the public expected him to requite official and popular kindness by denying to the great body of his fellow-citizens all knowledge of his proceedings beyond the bare announcement that he had succeeded and that Dr. Cook was a liar."

Comdr. Peary's peculiar status in the United States navy must have been forgotten by him and his friends when he entered into the contract with the Times. It was a regrettable oversight; for it will be observed that the Tribune's dignified protest against the treatment it has itself received, in being excluded from the privilege of printing Comdr. Peary's narrative, derives its main force from the explorer's position in the government service. It is, of course, not to be denied that for over 20 years Comdr. Peary has been of almost no use to the navy. Since 1886, he has made many Arctic expeditions, and their value to science every one is glad to concede; but other officers had to do his work in the navy, while he was engaged in strictly private journeys of exploration. In all that time, however, Comdr. Peary's pay from the United States treasury has been continued; and the aggregate amount of his salary in this period has virtually been a government subsidy to his expeditions, quite as much as was the money recently appropriated by the British government to meet the debts incurred by Lieut. Shackleton in his recent journey to the Antarctic. If the United States government had actually equipped a polar expedition and sent it out under the command of a naval officer, an attempt to corner the news by the commander on his return, for a money consideration, would have been considered beyond the bounds of possibility. Yet Comdr. Peary is a United States naval officer, drawing pay from the government; and he so far magnified his own official status as to claim to be the government's representative when he planted the flag at the North Pole and laid claim to possession of all the "adjacent" region, by right of discovery.

While it is to be regretted that this gallant explorer, whose work has always aroused the deepest admiration, should have exposed himself to criticism of this character, the Times contract has another aspect even more deplorable, possibly, at the present time. It enables the partisans of Dr. Cook to charge that Comdr. Peary's peculiar financial obligation to a newspaper, incurred before he started North, gave him a very practical motive for regarding any rival explorer with animosity. For Peary was to repay the Times by bringing back an exclusive story of the first discovery of the pole. It followed that if another reached the pole before he did and returned first to civilization with the news, his own exploit would probably be cheapened as a piece of newspaper sensationalism. We do not say that such feelings have animated Comdr. Peary, but it is certain that his contract with the Times has exposed him to this form of counter-attack by the partisans of the man against whom he turned his guns as soon as he reached telegraphic communication with the world.

It seems that Comdr. Peary has been wretchedly advised by his friends, if he took counsel of them. Evidently, he has none of the arts of popularity, has no diplomacy or cunning, and has no capacity whatever for forecasting the effect of his transactions and utterances. His publicity contract was hardly consistent with his standing on the government payroll; but for him to attack so fiercely a rival explorer, whose reported achievement was calculated to impair the value of that contract, was an error we heartily wish could be wiped out of the record.

Twenty-nine lives were lost in the wreck of the Nicolas Castani off the Isle of Pines last Saturday. The news was received here on Monday.

REV. OSBORNE INGLE

Frederick's Oldest Divine in Point of Residence

P. E. RECTOR THERE 43 YEARS

Member of Old Washington Family And Born There in 1837.—Chaplain of Independent Hose Company.

Rev. Dr. Osborne Ingle, rector of All Saints' Protestant Episcopal Church of Frederick, for more than 43 years, died at the rectory Monday morning of Bright's disease, aged 72 years.

Dr. Ingle had been for a number of years a sufferer from ailments which developed into the disease from which he died. Six weeks ago he was overcome while conducting a service in church and was taken home in a carriage. Since then he had not been able to officiate at any church service, and most of the time he was confined to bed.

Rev. Dr. Ingle was a member of one of the old Washington families widely connected in this country. He was the youngest child of John Pechin Ingle and the last surviving one. He was born in Washington, D. C., in October, 1837. After preliminary education in the primary schools of that city and in the Episcopal High School of Virginia, he graduated at the University of Virginia, and took his special course for the ministry at the Virginia Theological Seminary. He came to his first charge in Baltimore as assistant minister of Old St. Peter's Church. For three or four years he was the rector of the Memorial Protestant Episcopal Church, Lafayette avenue and Bolton street, Baltimore.

His ministry of nearly 50 years in the Diocese of Maryland extended from the time of Bishop Wittingham, through that of Bishop Pinkney and into that of Bishop Paret. He had been a member of committees of the convention of the Diocese of Maryland, including the standing committee of the diocese.

Dr. Ingle was for many years chaplain of the Independent Hose Company, of Frederick. He was also chaplain of the Frederick Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution and served as chaplain of the Key Monument Association.

The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with services at the church. All Frederick business houses were closed during the services. Bishop Paret assisted by Rev. Dr. John Gardiner Murray officiated.

RAILROADS TO BEGIN TO WHITEWASH COAL HANDLED

Measure of Protection Against Thieves Made Necessary by Depredations Amounting to 1,000 Tons.

As our readers are likely to be served with coal that has been whitewashed, an explanation of this novel and unusual condition is in order, says Popular Mechanics. Whitewashing coal is not done to improve its appearance or increase its burning qualities; the treatment neither improves nor harms the fuel. It is a detective scheme on the part of the railroads to locate and prevent theft of coal as it is hauled from the mines to the consumer. These depredations amount to thousands of tons annually, and the railroads are the sufferers, as it is up to them to deliver as many tons at destination, often a thousand miles away, as was weighed in when the car was turned over for transportation.

Two or three tons may be removed from a carload containing forty tons without attracting attention to its decreased quantity until the car is again placed on the scales. To locate the loss, lime water is sprayed over a trainload of coal. In a short time the water has evaporated leaving a load of white coal. Then removal of any coal leaves a big, black spot which is quickly noticed by inspectors and station agents and the leak found and stopped.

Chang Yin-tang the newly appointed Chinese minister to the United States left Peking for his post.

Big Peach Crop in New York.

Three thousand carloads of peaches, making a total of 2,400,000 baskets, will be sent to all sections of this country within the next few weeks from western New York. The peach crop this year, particularly in the peach belt of Niagara and Orleans counties, is the heaviest in many years and the peaches are of a better quality, if anything, than ever before.

Orville Wright made a new record at the Tempelhof field Berlin on Saturday for sustained aeroplane flight with a passenger. He remained in the air for one hour and thirty-five minutes, carrying Captain Englehardt. He broke his own record, made July 27, when he stayed up with a passenger for one hour and twelve minutes.

GOV. JOHNSON'S LIFE OVER

REMARKABLE CAREER

Success That Began In Most Lowly Surroundings.

THREE TIMES PEOPLE'S CHOICE

Example of What a Strong Man Can Accomplish in America.—Many Obstacles Surmounted and Work Done in Minnesota.

A bulletin from the CHRONICLE office on Tuesday announced to a sorrowing public the untimely death of Governor John A. Johnson, three times chief executive of Minnesota, and once a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President and the foremost leader of his party in this country.

His illness has not been of long duration but was of such a serious nature that his life hung, as it were, from a thread ever since he was operated on last week.

The story of his life is remarkable and his career could only have been possible in this the adopted home of his parents. John A. Johnson was born at St. Peter, Minn., on July 28, 1861. His parents were natives of Sweden who first met in America. The father was a blacksmith, prosperous for a time, but finally a victim of dissipation. At the age of 12 years John A. Johnson left school against his mother's wish and became the real head of the family. He got a job in a printing office in St. Peter at $10 a month, and gave all his earnings to his mother for the support of her and the other children of the family. He continued his studies at night in the intervals between his tasks as a printer's devil.

After a few years he became clerk in a drug store and proved so valuable that in the sixteenth year of his age he received the splendid salary of $75 a month. Then it was that he insisted that his mother stop the hard labor by which she helped support the family.

Later he returned to the printing business, and in time became a member of the firm of Essler & Johnson, publishers of the St. Peter Herald, of which he was until recently the editor in chief. In the meanwhile he had served seven years in the National Guard of Minnesota, in which he rose to the rank of captain. He also served a term as State Senator. He was also a Democrat.

Senator Johnson heard in the early fall of 1904 there was a great deal of talk about nominating him for Governor of Minnesota. He was busy running his paper, and he made up his mind he could not afford the time to make a canvass. Editor Johnson at last consented to run. He tore up his letter of refusal. He was nominated unanimously. The total vote of Minnesota that year was 297,592. Roosevelt's plurality for President was 161,000. Democrat Johnson, in the face of this Republican landslide, carried the State for Governor by a plurality of 6352.

Four years later in the face of a campaign of mud-slinging and vilification, Governor Johnson was elected to succeed himself by an overwhelming majority of nearly 800,000 votes.

Minnesota, according to all local historians, never had a better Governor than Johnson. He fought extravagance. He killed steals. He gave the State a clean, decent, wish and economical administration.

VARDAMAN TO HELP FIGHT FOR SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT

Mississippi Fire-Eater To Be Turned Loose on Defenceless Marylanders During Campaign.

The supporters of the proposed suffrage amendment will import foreign talent to help fight their cause. Former Gov. James Vardaman, of Mississippi, probably the most radical, rabid, and rampant "Negro bugaboo" public man in the country, has accepted an invitation to make speeches in Maryland in support of the amendment, according to a dispatch from Jackson, Miss.

The dispatch states further that the invitation was conveyed in "an urgent telegram from the chairman of the Democratic committee," and that although Mr. Vardaman had made lecture engagements, he canceled them in order to come to Maryland and take the hustings during the campaign. The dispatch also says that former Gov. Vardaman will leave in a few days for Maryland, and that he will remain in this State until the close of the campaign.

ODDS AND ENDS

The second strike at Schoenville ended without bloodshed.

Mr. Fairbanks formerly vice-President in Manila.

Ten lives were lost in a cyclone that blew over Cuba.

Pennsylvania State Veterinarian Pearson died in Newfoundland.

The International Medical Congress at Budapest praised American doctors.

A family of six persons was murdered at Hurley, W. Va., on Wednesday.

Several men were seriously injured in a strike riot in Omaha on Wednesday.

On Saturday afternoon the first game of American baseball was played in Berlin.

Bishop Seth Ward, Methodist Episcopal Church, died in Tokio, Japan, Sunday.

A heavy wind storm passed over Mississippi on Monday and destroyed valuable property.

Eight elephants, escaped from a circus, invaded the residence section of Santa Barbara, Cal., on Monday.

The official reports give 86 deaths from the bubonic plague, and 39 deaths from cholera in Amoy in a fortnight.

Fifty-six are known to have perished in the hurricane on the Gulf coast which raged from Sunday until Monday night.

A flight from Governor Island across the lower bay and around the Statue of Liberty probably will be the first aviation event during the Hudson-Fulton celebration.

Glenn H. Curtiss, winner of the first international aviation contest, announced that he would attempt to make this flight as soon as possible after he has assembled his machine.

Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy has sent to the New York Museum of Safety and Sanitation her check for $5,000.

Mrs. Eddy stated that she did so in appreciation of the philanthropic efforts of the museum in the introduction of safety devices to minimize accidents due to railway travel and the use of machinery.

Luck and Skill.

Luck and Skill were rivals old ;
Luck was ever overbold ;
Skill just plodded on its way,
Doing something every day ;
Luck by leaps and bounds would fly,
Down to-day, to-morrow high.

Luck and Skill both chanced to meet,
Journeying along the street.
Luck said unto skill, "Let's race,
Just to see who wins first place."
Skill agreed ; away Luck sped.
In an hour a mile ahead.

Skill seemed, oh ! so slow, until Luck approached a mighty hill,
Luck knew not which way to turn ;
He had had no time to learn.
Skill, though, seemed the road to know,
Knowledge told him where to go.

Skill looked back at Luck and said,
"Those who trust to you must tread
Many weary miles each day ;
I'm the one who knows the way.
Obstacles affright you, Luck,
Skill gets there by brain and pluck."

Proclamation

WHEREAS, at the January Session of the General Assembly of Maryland, held in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eight, an Act was passed proposing an amendment to Section 1 of Article 1 of the Constitution of the State, which said Act is in the following words to-wit:

CHAPTER 25.

AN ACT to amend Section one of Article one, title, "Elective Franchise," of the Constitution of this State, and to provide for the submission of said Amendment to the qualified voters of this State for adoption or rejection.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, three-fifths of all the members of each of the two Houses concurring, that the following section be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Section one of Article one, title, "Elective Franchise," of the Constitution of this State, and if adopted by the legal and qualified voters thereof, as herein provided, it shall supersede and stand in the place and stead of Section one of said Article one.

SEC. 1. All elections shall be by ballot, and every male citizen of the United States of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, who has been a resident of the State for two years and of the Legislative District of Baltimore City or of the county in which he may offer to vote, for one year next preceding the election, and who, moreover, is duly registered as a qualified voter as provided in this Article, shall be entitled to vote, in the ward or election district in which he resides, at all elections hereafter to be held in this State, and in case any county or city shall be so divided as to form portions of different electoral districts for the election of Representatives in Congress, Senators, Delegates or other officers, then to entitle a person to vote for such officer, he must have been a resident of that part of the county or city which shall form a part of the electoral district in which he offers to vote, for one year next preceding the election; but a person who shall have acquired a residence in such county or city, entitling him to vote at any such election, shall be entitled to vote in the election district from which he removed, until he shall have acquired a residence in the part of the county or city to which he has removed.

Every male citizen of the United States having the above prescribed qualifications of age and residence shall be entitled to be registered so as to become a qualified voter if he be, first: a person who, on the first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, or prior thereto, was entitled to vote under the laws of this State, or of any other State of the United States, wherein he then resided; or second: a male descendant of such last mentioned person; or third: a foreign born citizen of the United States naturalized between the first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-nine and the date of the adoption of this section of this Article; or fourth: a male descendant of such last mentioned person; or fifth: a person who, in the presence of the officers of registration, shall, in his own handwriting, with pen and ink, without any aid, suggestion or memorandum whatsoever, and without any question or direction addressed to him by any of the officers of registration; make application to register correctly, stating in such application his name, age, date and place of birth, residence and occupation at the time and for the two years next preceding, the name or names of his employer or employers, if any, at the time and for the two years next preceding, and whether he has previously voted, and if so, the State, county or city and district or precinct in which he voted last, and also the name in full of the President of the United States, of one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States, of the Governor of Maryland, of one of the Judges of the Court of Appeals of Maryland and of the Mayor of Baltimore City, if the applicant resides in Baltimore City, or of one of the County Commissioners of the county in which the applicant resides; and any person who is unable to comply with the foregoing requirements as to making application for registration in his own handwriting, solely because he is physically disabled from so doing; or sixth: a person, or the husband of a person, who at the time of his application for registration, is a bona fide owner of real or personal property in an amount of not less than five hundred dollars, as assessed thereon in the tax-books of the City of Baltimore or of one of the counties of this State, has been such owner and so assessed for two years next preceding his application for registration; shall have paid and shall produce receipts for the taxes on said property for said two years and shall at the time of his application make affidavit before the officers of registration that he is, or that he is the husband of the person who is the bona fide owner of the property so assessed to him or to her, as the case may be, and that he or she has been such owner for two years next preceding his application.

No person not qualified under some one of the above clauses shall be entitled to be registered as a qualified voter or be entitled to vote. Every written application to be registered, presented to the officers of registration by any person applying to be registered under the above fifth clause, shall be carefully preserved by said officers of registration and shall be produced in any Court, if required, as hereinafter provided. The affidavit of any applicant for registration, duly made to the officers of registration or in Court, that he, the applicant, is a person who was entitled to vote on or before the first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, as aforesaid, or that he has become a naturalized citizen of the United States between the first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-nine and the date of the adoption of this section of this Article, as aforesaid, or his affidavit upon information and belief that he is a descendant of a person who was entitled to vote on or before the first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-nine, or that he is a descendant of a person who has become a naturalized citizen of the United States between the first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-nine and the date of the adoption of this section of this Article, shall be prima facie evidence of any of said facts so sworn to.

A willfully false statement upon the part of any applicant for registration in relation to any of the matters aforesaid shall be perjury, and punishable as perjury is punished by the laws of this State.

Any person who feels aggrieved by the action of any board of officers of registration refusing to register him as a qualified voter, or in registering any disqualified person, may at any time, either before or after the last session of the board of officers of registration, but not later than the Tuesday next preceding the election, file a petition, verified by affidavit, in the Circuit Court for the county in which the cause of complaint arises, or, if the cause of complaint arises in Baltimore City, in any court of common law jurisdiction in said city, setting forth the grounds of his application and asking to have the action of the board of officers of registration corrected. The court shall forthwith set the petition for hearing and direct summons to be issued requiring the board of officers of registration complained against in said petition to attend at the hearing in person or by counsel, and where the object of the petition is to strike off the name of any person, summons shall also be issued for such person, who shall be served by the sheriff within the time therein designated; and said several courts shall have full jurisdiction and power to review the action of any board of officers of registration and to grant or withhold, as it may deem lawful and proper, relief prayed for in the premises.

In determining whether any person who applied to be registered under the above fifth clause of this section was or was not entitled to be registered under said fifth clause, the court shall require the board of officers of registration complained against to produce the written application prepared and submitted by such person at the time he presented himself for registration to said board of officers of registration, and upon said written application the court shall determine whether or not said person; when he presented himself for registration, complied with the requirements of said fifth clause; and if the court shall determine the said written application, so prepared and submitted by said person, complied with the requirements of said fifth clause, and that said person was not disqualified under any other provisions of this Article of the Constitution to be registered upon the books of registry in question, then the Court shall order said person to be registered as a qualified voter, but if the court shall determine that said written application of said person failed to comply with the requirements of said fifth clause, or the said person was in any other respect under this Article of the Constitution disqualified to be registered upon the books of registry in question then the court shall order that said person shall not be registered upon said books of registry.

The court may enforce any order by attachment for contempt in said cases; neither party shall have any right of removal; exception may be taken to any ruling of the court at the hearing of said cases and an appeal shall be allowed to the Court of Appeals as in other cases; all such appeals shall be taken within five days from the date of the decision complained of and shall be heard and decided by the Court of Appeals upon the original papers, and otherwise, as the Court of Appeals may by rule prescribe, as soon as may be practicable.

The General Assembly shall have power to provide more fully by legislation not inconsistent with this section of this Article, for the hearing and determination of all such cases.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the foregoing section hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of this State shall be at the next General Election for members of the General Assembly to be held in this State submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof for their adoption or rejection, in pursuance of the directions contained in Article XIV of the Constitution of this State, and at said general election the vote on the said proposed amendment shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment" and "Against the Constitutional Amendment" as now prescribed by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against said proposed amendment, as directed by the said Article XIV of the Constitution.

GETTYSBURG LETTER

Pennsylvania College opened last week with a large attendance, nearly one hundred new names being added.

The usual show of class spirit was manifested by the second year men with reference to the Freshmen. Large posters, embellished with illustrations of hazing and a skull and cross-bones, as a warning, and bearing the rules to be observed by the Freshmen, were posted in conspicuous places over town.

The Freshies, however, lacked the usual grit of under classmen and made little or no attempt at removing them.

The class rush, which has long been in vogue in this and other colleges, was done away with this year. The upper classmen, after a conference with those in authority, decided to have an athletic contest instead.

In the mandate issued by the Sophs the Freshies were ordered to wear a green cap with a very prominent yellow button. This however could be removed after winning one contest and the cap discarded at the second victory of Freshy over Soph. So on Saturday afternoon the two classes met on Nixon Field, where a tug-of-war was had.

At the opening of the programme Coach Vail had the rules governing the contests read and referees, judges and timers as were on hand to see that fair play was had.

In the tug-of-war teams of ten men each contested, but the Freshies were too light and lost.

Next came a tying contest, when the two classes rushed together and endeavored to tie each other with ropes. In this also, the Freshmen were worsted.

Taken as a whole it was good, clean sport, and a decided improvement over the old class rush, into which men rushed, slugged and struck anyone with whom they came in contact.

The College football team is getting in shape and promises to be the strongest eleven Gettysburg has turned out for some time.

The first play in the new Walter Theatre was given last Friday evening when "Cradled in the Deep" was rendered before a crowded house. The troupe, however, was "up against it" and disbanded after the performance.

On Monday evening of this week the second play "The Lily and the Prince" was given. This also drew a large crowd.

The next play billed is "Paid in Full" to appear September 29th.

At the close of the morning service at St. James Lutheran church, last Sunday morning, Rev. Joel Baker, pastor at Newport, Pa., was elected to succeed Dr. Clutz, resigned. He will likely accept the charge.

While riding a bicycle on one of the avenues Sunday, D. A. Skelly in reaching for his hat, lost his balance and fell off. His face struck the rubber block of a wagon driven by John P. Hoffman, whose prompt action in stopping the team saved Mr. Skelly from being run over. However he was considerably bruised and shaken up.

Hon. W. J. Ziegler, W. B. McIlhenry, G. H. Buehler, A. E. Riddlemoser and R. S. Brenen represented Adams county at the annual banquet of the Hagerstown Fair Association last Saturday.

Leo Claybaugh and Charles Cassatt, who were held in the county jail since August, having plead guilty to breaking into the restaurant of David Weikert, near Round Top, were on Monday sentenced to the Huntingdon Reformatory.

Harry Bollinger, of Cumberland township, was thrown from a colt one day last week dislocating his wrist.

The last racing matinee of the season will be held by the Gettysburg Driving Club, at West End Park, on Saturday, October 9th. Only local horses will enter the races.

Excursions from Baltimore and Reading last Sunday brought 376 and 556 passengers respectively.

P. M. Wisler has sold his drug store on Chambersburg street, to H. C. Landaw, of Philadelphia. Mr. Landaw was lately chief pharmacist of the Pennsylvania State Hospital.

Your Carpet Wants

Are of the utmost importance to us. We made ready with a great big Carpet stock to fill the wants of our community —(which extends to a radius of 15 miles or more around Gettysburg). Satisfactory service in the item of sewing free of charge all carpets sold—might alone influence you to buy from us, other things being equal. But there is much more to our Carpet Department than satisfactory service. There is the elegant assortment, not found outside of Exclusive Carpet Stores.

There is the fact
That only Standard Qualities are in our stock

There is the fact
Of a Reasonable Price

There is the fact
Of Great Choice

Carpets of quality have a value—a difference between satisfaction and dissatisfaction. We are back of ours for service.

An addition to our ever large stock this season is 5 Borders to our Wilton Velvets. We make you a bordered carpet or rug in any size desired. Expert workmanship—at from two to five dollars less than City Carpet Stores.

WILTON VELVETS With or Without Borders . . . $1.00, $1.25
TAPESTRY CARPETS, 60, 75, 90, $1.00

We ask especial attention to our Park Mills Tapestry Body. We believe that it has but two mills that equal its quality . . . $1.00

In patterns suitable for any part of the house—including Hall and Stair. We also make up RUGS AND RUNNERS OF WILTONS FOR HALLS.

Rajah and Extra Supers

in half wool cotton chain and all wool. Very highest grade made—best in quality of stock used in production—50 patterns—all clean, quiet, neutral tints; colors that won't show dust and turn well. Patterns suitable for Parlors, Sitting Rooms, Dining Rooms, Bed Rooms, &c. Sewed while you wait—free—by machine which is better than by hand.

25c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c.

Rag Carpet

Only good Rag Carpets in elegant stripes of wool and cotton, no matter what you pay, we give you your money's worth.

THE CHRONICLE will be independent in politics, progressive in spirit and a champion of what it conceives to be right. Its columns will always be open for a dignified discussion by the people of any subject that may seem to them interesting, or that may in anywise be a benefit to the community at large.

[Editorial from The Chronicle, June 8, 1906.]

A LITTLE BIT BETTER THAN THE AVERAGE.

Charles M. Schwab's recipe for success is to do whatever is to be done a little bit better than the average. There is a great deal of wisdom and good common sense in that advice. The world is so full of average men and average things that only by decided contrast, some unusual achievement, some notable success are we suddenly aroused to admiration and a renewed faith in man's wonderful genius.

Since about the year 1500 navigators, men of science, explorers, have been trying to locate the North Pole. Each new expedition was an improvement on the preceding one, and each succeeding record showed that the next to undertake the perilous journey got further and further towards it, till finally the desired spot was reached. The principle of telegraphy was experimented with for years and many men were engaged in attempting to bring it to a state of perfection. To-day there has been evolved from the first crude method a practical and satisfactory system of wireless communication. For centuries aerial navigation had occupied the minds of numerous geniuses. To-day it is an accomplished fact. Fulton's rudely constructed steamboat really furnished the model from which the four-day trans-Atlantic flyer is the outcome. The one-mile-a-minute train is but an improvement on that series of stage coaches drawn by a lumbering traction engine. The race horse, the perfection of animal beauty and speed, is only the culmination of a long series of experiments in breeding. The modern reaper goes back for its origin to the cradle swung by hand. The automobile is but the idea of the ox-cart revolutionized. The sky scraper can be traced to the lowly mud house of the Aztec.

Throughout the whole category of advancement in science, invention and mechanics, and the never ending record of invaluable work accomplished in the various professions, and in the crafts and trades there is development—the story of one decade's improvement over another's, one man's conquest of another's attempt. And all this is traceable to the fact that in each line of endeavor the man who made or created or discovered or evolved that which stands out prominently before the world to-day is the man who did his work a little bit better than those who tried it before him—a little bit better than the average.

We have only touched at random on a few accomplished things that are of quite an unusual character. Let us come nearer home, so to speak, and see how this principle of doing a little bit better than the average works out in the affairs of everyday life—in farming for example. Nine farmers with ordinarily good farms, divided in the usual manner, raise wheat and corn and hay, etc., etc. They have orchards and the customary number of cows and hogs and cattle, and the house wife has her chickens and her dairy products and her garden. But everything about these farms is only average. The land is allowed to remain average land; the amount of work expended on these farms is only the average amount; the crops harvested are only average crops; the cows are average cows, producing merely average milk; the fruit supply is from average trees, and when everything is disposed of the price realized is but an average price.

The tenth farmer improves the condition of his soil; he makes a careful selection of seed; he plows deep and prepares his ground thoroughly, working it often. He believes in fine fruit and he plants only the best varieties of healthy trees which he repeatedly sprays and watches. His cows are the best he can afford, chosen with a view to obtain the largest milk supply and of the better quality. His wife, realizing that table fowls that bring the highest price and that lay with greatest regularity are of special breed, procures the right kind of fowls and houses them properly and feeds them clean food. Her garden is made with care and she bestows time and effort upon it and it yields bountifully. The entire farm yields bountifully. The crops are larger and better than those of the nine farmers and they command more money. The poultry and eggs and butter and the garden produce sell for top prices. Everything from that farm is at a premium—simply because the owner of it was willing to do, and did do, a little bit better than his neighbors—a little bit better than the average.

But the same rule applies everywhere and to every enterprise or undertaking. Produce something that the people need or want and raise the standard above the average and you will win out.

MR. TAFT'S PLEA DOES NOT SATISFY.

If it had been simply a Democratic harangue against his speech defending himself for supporting the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill Mr. Taft and his adherents might rest easy, sit still and smile. But the outburst of disapproval has by no means been limited to Democrats. A considerable percentage of Republicans, and influential and prominent ones at that, are not in sympathy with the President's utterances on this far-reaching bit of legislation. They evince a spirit indicative of more than disappointment and they take no pains to hide their feelings.

As for the West and middle West, the Republicans of those sections openly declare that Mr. Taft, with perfect disregard for his ante-election promises, allowed the tariff manipulators to do practically as they pleased and then sanctioned their act with remarkable haste. They take no stock in the "party solidarity" features of his defence, nor are they unmindful that when tariff conferences were being held at the White House near the close of the special session they were left out in the cold.

In the opinion of a great many Mr. Taft had a magnificent chance to redeem his pledge by insisting when the tariff bill was under consideration that his party live up to its promises to the people. In their judgment even if he failed in gaining every point he could certainly have done better than he did, and that this much the country had a right to expect and did expect that he would do. They now realize, only too fully, that he let the opportunity slip, that he turned a deaf ear to the people and to an important element in his own party—an element again to be reckoned with—and played right into the hands of the already over-protected interests.

In view of this it is hardly to be expected that Mr. Taft's plea that the recently enacted measure is "the best tariff bill that the Republican party has ever passed" will be accepted as a valid excuse for his failure to make good.

A PERIODICAL devoted to farm interests states that a certain species of hog, claimed to be the "perfect hog" will "stand heavy feeding and considerable neglect." This reminds us of the difference between it and the human hog, the latter being unable to be surpassed in the heavy feeding line, but very touchy about any kind of neglect.

THE demand for separate schools for colored children by the white citizens of Kennett Square, Chester county, Pa., indicates that there are even some localities in the Keystone State where at least one of Thaddeus Stevens' ideas is not looked upon with favor.

"How are we to know which one to believe, Cook or Peary, when they both come home with the cold facts?" says the Philadelphia Bulletin. The only way we can suggest is to wait and see which one gets cold feet.

THE world thinks a great deal more of the man who when he makes a mistake acknowledges it and tries to correct it, than it does of him, who for fear he may make a mistake, does nothing.

JUST as the country is witnessing the biggest kind of a scramble for the "water wagon" here comes the report that this year's rye crop exceeds that of last year by 24,000,000 bushels.

It cannot be said that a Goodman has not been elected president of the American Pomological Society. This one's initials are L. A. and he comes from Kansas City.

AFTER all it is quite fitting that the graft Capitol at Harrisburg should be the repository for the $17,000 statue of the late Boss Quay. There is everything in being consistent.

It all depends upon who it is. One man is roundly abused, condemned, jeered at, for doing that which if done by another is looked upon as quite within reason.

STATE MISCELLANY

Interesting Paragraphic News From Various Sections of Maryland.

The present session of the Cecil county court will try four murder cases. The Hagerstown Fair Association gave its annual banquet on Saturday afternoon.

Representative Sidney E. Mudd, who is in a hospital near Philadelphia, is said to have improved greatly during the last few weeks.

The Presbyterian Church, Hagerstown, has been reopened after undergoing renovation and remodeling. The improvements cost $6000.

Owing to the partial failure of the corn crop in Washington county but few cattle will be fattened in that vicinity the coming winter. The price of beef cattle has advanced.

A balloon occupied by Hellyer Beachey and George Hudson, ascended from Baltimore on Tuesday and landed 20 miles north of Harrisburg. At one time the balloon attained an altitude of 10,000 feet.

The Frederick county Democrats opened their campaign on Friday night in Frederick when addresses were delivered by Alfred Ritter and O. B. Coblenz. Regular meetings will be held.

E. E. White, employer of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, living at Lovettsville, Va., was beheaded by the wheels of a car which passed over his neck. The accident happened on Tuesday near Knoxville.

Anne Harrison, colored chambermaid at the Hotel Edgewood, Pen Mar, was held for court by Justice Ferguson, of Smithsburg, charged with stealing $110 from Isaac Craig and John Craig, colored waiters at the hotel.

There is every indication that the case of Joseph Forrest alleged murderer of his father and mother at their home near Leonardtown, St. Mary's county, last spring, will be disposed of very quickly by the court. Forrest pleaded not guilty.

A telephone operator at Hyattsville averted a robbery of the postoffice at that place last Friday night. The operator across the street from the postoffice first drove the men off with a revolver and on their second appearance called for help which came just in time.

Mrs. Jason E. Crout, wife of the proprietor of Pen Mar dining rooms, is the owner of a sapphire worth about $100, which came from the claw of one of the hundreds of chickens killed each week during the summer season. It is supposed the stone was lost from the ring or brooch of some visitor at the mountain resort and was afterwards swallowed by the chicken.

Temperance forces in Washington county are arranging for a whirlwind campaign during the latter part of October, in connection with the determined fight to make Washington county "dry" this fall. The skating rink has been rented and local option headquarters will be maintained there. Seaborn Wright and other prominent temperance workers will be among the orators who will assist in the campaign.

The Cumberland Fair and Agricultural Association will introduce a new feature at the fair to be held during the first week of October, a feature that is popular throughout the county—foot racing—and a purse will be offered for a 100-yard dash and a 250-yard dash. Charles J. Strobel will also bring his airship to Cumberland and will make a flight through the air each day of the fair.

An experiment was made at the Antietam Paper Mills, near Hagerstown, in the manufacture of book and writing papers made of cotton lint and rice straw, last week. The mills were hired for two days, and 10,000 pounds of raw stock that had been shipped here were processed in the regular way by the mill force under the direction of Mr. Logan. The product was cut up into sheets and shipped to Washington for examination by the persons interested.

According to his sworn statement filed it cost Mr. D. Lindley Sloan $310.55 to make his campaign in Allegany county for his delegates who voted for him for the nomination for chief judge. The statements of the five delegates of Mr. Sloan filed are in effect that they made no expenditures whatever, and the same statement is made by the five men who were the candidates for delegates in favor of Charles G. Watson for the nomination for judge. According to his sworn statement, Mr. Watson's campaign expenses amounted to $269.00.

NO CHANGE IN ALASKA COAL TITLE STILL STANDS

Taft Decision Still Leaves $75,000,000 of Property in Hands of Several Syndicates and Combinations.

The ruling of President Taft in the Ballinger-Glavis controversy does not change the title to the vast coal areas near Katalla in Alaska, claimed by several syndicates, including the Cunningham combination. Estimates of the value of the coal lands vary from $75,000,000 to $1,000,000 with the country only partly exploited. It is stated that there will be no immediate decision on the question, but that under orders from the President, a more thorough investigation will be made of the coal land cases.

Discussion of Affairs in General from Leading Journals of The Country.

Evil Citizenship.

(New York Evening Post.)

With admirable vigor and courage, Mr. Taft has again expressed himself about the proposed constitutional amendment to disfranchise the Negroes of Maryland. He writes:

I have already, in another letter, expressed my opinion in regard to its vicious character. It is deliberately drawn to impose educational and other qualifications for the suffrage upon Negroes and to exempt everybody else from such qualifications. This is gross injustice and is a violation of the spirit of the Fifteenth Amendment. It ought to be voted down by everyone, whether Democrat or Republican, who is in favor of a square deal.

These are noble words, all the more gratifying because of Mr. Taft's known desire to break up the solid South, where this message will be received with anger, for what Maryland is trying to do, several Southern States have long since done. We cannot believe that the Maryland amendment will be carried. There is even a Democratic Association at work against it, pointing out that as the amendment is drawn it might result in the disfranchisement of two-thirds of the white voters. But that is not what its backers are after. They are drawing a color line, pure and simple, in order that they may weaken the Republican party and thus make Maryland a sure Democratic State, with all the evils that come from permanent possession by one party.

Mr. Taft's Decision.

(New York Times.)

President Taft has decided to abandon the cause of tariff reform and reduction. He has decided more than that. Confronted by unmistakable and somewhat alarming evidence of a division in his party, in which the West is found upon one side and the East upon the other, he deliberately elects to ally himself with the East, with the protected interests, with the great and powerful class of capitalists who have been so influential in shaping the policy and legislation of the party, the men who have caused it to be called the rich men's party, the men against whom the charge has been made that they are a combination of "privilege and pelf." He serves notice upon the so-called insurgents of the great Republican States of the Central West that they can expect no aid, no sympathy from him.

Does Mr. Taft forget that the insurgent Senators displayed not only great courage but very great ability in the fight they made for a fulfillment of the party's pledge? Not for one moment will those exceedingly well informed men be fooled by his sophistical attempt at a demonstration that the tariff has been reduced. They will expose its shallowness and its errors. They stand exposed already in Senate document No. 155, comparing the Conference bill with the Dingley law.

The true test of the new Tariff bill, the final standard by which the good faith of the party in enacting it under the guise of a reduction, and his own good faith in accepting it as the best tariff ever made must be judged, by the effect it will have upon the pockets of the consumers. We know already that it will not reduce the tax levied from them, that it will raise, not lower, the customs revenues. We know only too well that it will not cut down the inordinate profits of a host of industries protected far beyond the difference of production cost here and abroad, fixed by himself as a reasonable measure of protection. The consumers know this already. The statesmen and the common people of the West know it. It is not necessary to wait, as Mr. Taft advises the country to wait, "for two or three years" in order to tell what effect the Payne tariff will have.

May Work Both Ways.

(Philadelphia Record.)

It appears to be quite possible that a reform may go backward and forward at the same time. While there was a decrease in the consumption of intoxicating liquors in England last year to the extent of $30,000,000, there was contemporaneously a frightful increase in drunkenness among women. It is alleged that while drinking decreased among the educated and busy classes of women, it was increasing among wealthy women, and among the wives of workingmen there was a marked increase. In the debates of the International Congress on Alcoholism lately held in London it was shown that out of 140 persons sent from one police court to homes for inebriates as habitual drunkards 17 were men and 123 women. This is a frightful showing.

The South In Congress.

(New York Sun.)

The South is prospering financially and industrially. Its "big men" take the lead in progress and achievement; but in Congress the South is almost without a successor to the strong and compelling men of forty or more years ago. "Old Anse" McLaurin sits in the chair once graced by a Lamar or a Wallthall. Murphy Foster rattles in the seat that Soule, Benjamin, White and Eustis formerly filled to bursting. Bankhead replaces Morgan, and Smith and Tillman take the places of Matthew Butler and Wade Hampton—to go no further back. It is a disheartening situation.

Maybe the South is postponing its political rejuvenation to a secure establishment of its financial fortunes. That may well be. The descendants of the old leaders still live, but they are immersed in works of local import, and they leave politics to the riffraff—for the present only, let us hope. Some day—and may it be soon!—they will imitate their ancestors, leave their fortunes safe behind them, and bring to the national councils a long needed element of courage, independence and enlightenment.

Public School The Hope of To-Day And Of The Future.

(New York American.)

No. The greatest thing in this land is the public school. It is the hope of to-day and of the future. Knowledge alone can make men free, knowledge alone can pull down the arrogance of the parasite classes that would live happily if they could on the ignorant human beings. Ignorance is the only evil, and knowledge the only good.

Send your children to the splendid public schools now opening. Put them on a par with other boys and girls of their age. Let them absorb in the public school true ideas of equality and democracy.

There is no real progress except in increasing knowledge. The man who says that nature, or Divine justice, intends that a few should be wealthy, a few learned, a few powerful, and the masses ignorant; poor and weak, is himself an ignorant fool, or a slanderer of Divine justice.

Never listen to any man who tells you that you must be content in a humble station. Never believe the man who tells you to submit to poverty and to want. Never believe that the Founder of Christianity, who came here and lived here with poor people, and died for them, intended that they should be forever poor.

The man who would have you content, wants to keep you content, so that he can get what he wants from you.

Remember that.

Send your children to the public schools and give them a chance.

Moving Along.

(Boston Transcript.)

The world moves rapidly, in these times, and within a few days has passed quite a series of records and caught up with a number of novelties. Orville Wright made the highest aeroplane flight, 765 feet; a White Star liner, steaming sixteen knots an hour, stopped, backed and rescued in twenty minutes a seaman who had fallen overboard in midocean; on a bare plot of ground in St. Louis, a $1300 cottage was "completed" in eight and a half hours, sixty-one mechanics being employed; "the first aerial Masonic lodge" was formed in a Massachusetts balloon floating at an elevation of some 7000 feet; a New York coroner's physician performed an autopsy upon an armless man whose kidneys had been practically non-existent from birth, and whose heart had for fifteen years been eaten by a cancer, yet who died of old age; New Jersey farmers experienced a chicken-thief who travels in an automobile and sends a collie dog to rob the roosts and fetch out the poultry without killing it; also in New Jersey, four trees yielded eight bushels of plums. Does the reader protest that these occurrences have no natural sequence or normal relation? Let him remember that "it takes all kinds of people"—and events—"to make a world."

Harriman And Fair-Weather People.

(Minneapolis Journal.)

In a letter written in 1895 urging the attendance of the men on his estate on religious service, the late Edward H. Harriman put one part of the Church problem of the day tersely and with businesslike acumen. "Fair weather Christians," he wrote, "are of no more use in a community than the same sort of a laborer, milkman, farmer, carpenter, blacksmith, railroad man or any other kind of a fair weather man."

The fair weather man is, of course, the man who consults his own ease rather than his plain duty. If he is a farmer who fails to get in his hay when it threatens rain he loses his crop. If he is a milkman who deserts his customers in a storm he loses his route.

The losses in these cases are so direct and so plainly personal that the average man conquers his aversion to taking pains and does the work. But in the Church, apparently, it is different. He shrinks because the loss is not so evident. But it is just as sure. The habit of performing the duty, once lost, is hard to recover, and the eventual moral depreciation is certain.

Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

(Copyright 1909 by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.)

September 26th, 1909.

Temperance Lesson. 1 Cor. 10: 23-33.
Golden Text.—Let every one of us please his neighbor for his good to edification. Rom. 15: 2.

*Verse 23—If a man could lawfully drink intoxicating liquor, in moderation, would it be a good thing to do, seeing so many thousands are being ruined yearly, by drinking, all of whom commenced to drink in moderation?
(This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Is a man honest, either in money or morals, who always goes as far as the law will allow him and no further?

If the general influence of anything we do, which may be lawful in itself, is injurious to ourselves or others, what is our duty?

What is the general influence of the drink traffic?

Verse 24.—Why is not all our duty to our neighbor fulfilled when we have succeeded in doing him no harm?

Does Paul mean that we are to devoted more time and thought to adding to our neighbor's wealth, than we do to our own, and if not what does he mean?

To how much of our respect is a man entitled, who cares nothing for the success of others, but is devoted wholly to his own?

Verse 25.—In those days meat was offered to idols and afterwards sold in the market for food, and some conscientious people objected to eating it for that reason. What did Paul advise in the circumstances, and why did he advise it?

Should we always pay the price demanded without question, or should we endeavour to buy for the lowest possible price?

Verse 26.—If the earth is the Lord's why should not all real estate be public property?

How much of our property should we consider we own in our own right?

Verse 27.—Is it right for a Christian to be intimate with worldly people, to attend their parties and to conform to their usages, when such usages are not actually sinful?

If wine is used at any party which a Christian attends, would it be right or wrong for him to drink it, and why?

Is it a Christian's right to do as he is "disposed" in any matter, or has God got a special plan for him for all matters great and small?

Verses 28-30.—Was the meat in itself any less good for having been offered to an idol?

Why does Paul here advise not to eat meat that had been offered to an idol, if any person calls attention to it who thought it wrong to do so?

Is it necessarily hypocrisy to do a thing behind a person's back, that you would not do before his face?

If no person ever got drunk, and if drinking was doing no harm, would it be right or wise for us to drink intoxicating liquor as a beverage?

Verse 31.—Are all our actions taken by God as worship if they are done to his glory?

How is it possible for a Christian to do literally, everything he does, to the glory of God?

Verses 32-33.—What should be our supreme desire in all our dealing with our fellow men?

LAW FOR THE SALE OF LIQUOR

Grocers and Saloons Not On The Best of Terms in Frederick.

Sometime ago the CHRONICLE stirred up a little smoke in Frederick by means of an article concerning the liquor selling groceries of that place. It was through this article that jealousy existing between the "liquor dealer" and "liquor-dealing grocer," became more marked. This week the fight became open and the two are at loggerheads.

A news dispatch to the Baltimore Sun says—"Angered by the alleged action of grocers holding licenses for the sale of liquor in quantities of not less than a pint in calling attention to a violation of the law by saloonkeepers in selling liquor in quantities of more than a pint, the latter threatened to retaliate by having the sale of bottled beer by grocers investigated. While under their licenses saloonkeepers can sell liquor only in quantities of less than a pint, it has been a practice, it is alleged, for them to sell whisky in bottles containing nominally a quart. This has been the practice so long, it is alleged, that many persons holding retail licenses have sold these bottles hardly realizing that they were violating the law. Somebody called the attention of the authorities to this practice, and all saloonkeepers have been notified that it is against the law and must be discontinued.

"The protest against the sale of such bottles by them, the saloonkeepers allege, came from grocers holding licenses under which they have authority to sell liquor in such quantities. A saloonkeeper said that the saloonkeepers will likely retaliate upon the grocers by calling the attention of the authorities to the sale by the grocers of beer in bottles containing less than a pint. 'Beer bottles' he said, 'are supposed to hold a pint, but they do not. The usual beer bottles hold 14 ounces or two ounces less than a pint. As I understand it, it is just as much against the law for grocers to sell these bottles of beer as it is for us to sell the larger bottles of whisky.'

"The saloonkeeper, it is said, will meet the demand for 'bottled goods' by selling whiskey in bottles containing a trifle less than a pint."

The law is now being interpreted by the authorities for the saloonmen all over the county. No longer can the beer drinker take his half dozen bottles home from the saloon; no nor his two or three bottles unless he is willing to take part in a walking match. No saloon can sell a man more than one bottle at a time or at one standing, uncorked. The purchaser must take his bottle away from the saloon and go back for the next until he has enough to entertain himself and friends at home. It is said the shoemakers are partly responsible for the law.

DR. ERNEST ADELSBERGER.

Last Friday at the residence of his sisters, the Misses Lulu, Nancy and Martina Adelsberger, 414 North Carrollton avenue, Baltimore, marked the sad and closing scene in the life of Dr. Ernest Adelsberger. A native of Emmitsburg, he moved with his brothers and sisters when a boy, to Baltimore. He had hardly attained his majority when he entered the Maryland University in the school of medicine and by his ambition and diligence in his studies, graduated with honor in 1902.

He immediately began the practise of his profession and soon began to enter upon a career which held out a bright and promising future. But alas his bright hopes of happiness and the joys of living were never to be realized for a dread disease was soon to claim his youthful life. He sought the mountain and the sea, the hospital and the sanitarium, for relief, but all was of no avail and medical skill could only soothe his dying hours. Thus at the age of thirty came his untimely end in the kind and pure of life. His life was gentle, very flower, and admired and beloved by all who knew him and most worthy of the tender and loving devotion of his sisters, whose prayers will ever rest like a benediction upon his memory. "Leaves have their time to fall, And flowers to wither at the North wind's breath But thou hast all seasons for thine own, O Death!" Rest in peace.

A FRIEND.

Prominent Hotel Man Dead.

Mr. P. E. Long, a prominent hotel proprietor of Frederick, died very suddenly at Hotel Braddock on Tuesday evening about 10 o'clock. Mr. Long had been about during the day and appeared to be in his usual good health. In the night he was seized with hemorrhages and expired immediately.

Mr. Long came to Frederick almost a quarter of a century ago and during his career in that city had been at different times proprietor of every hotel there. He came from Baltimore and first took charge of the Groff House. He was recently proprietor of the City Hotel, and since his lease on that property expired he has been devoting his entire attention to Hotel Braddock, which he built about five years ago and of which he is proprietor.

HUCKLEBERRIES SNAKES AND POLES.

(Contributed to the Weekly Chronicle.)

Once upon a time, long ago, two men went out upon the mountain to gather huckleberries. It was a good year for huckleberries and they soon got all they wanted, it was also a good year for snakes. They encountered a very large one and after a battle royal they succeeded in killing it. One of the men had a string in his pocket with which he took the length of the reptile. It was a "leettle" over 11 feet. They forgot to measure the circumference, which was left to guess at, but a well proportioned snake of 11 feet should be as large around the middle as an ordinary stovepipe.

On interviewing one of the men a few days afterward, I expressed great surprise and a little doubt about the size of the aforesaid "sarpant." The man turned on me sharply and said:

"I just thought I would strike such fellows as you who won't believe a man when he does tell the truth. If you don't believe me, here's the string I measured him with."

Taking the string from his vest pocket he handed it to me. Of course in the face of such evidence I had nothing to say, but simply (with a little mental reservation) apparently swallowed the story—could almost as easily swallowed the snake.

Now what has the above to do with the recent discovery of the North Pole? Only this that it is a pity that, so far as heard from, neither Dr. Cook nor Commander Peary measured the pole with a string and brought the string home with them, so that they could have dumfounded the doubters.

But seriously speaking, what matters it to the people of the United States who first placed foot on the spot where the pole ought to be? The fact remains that it was an American who made the great discovery, and the pole must remain a Yankee pole, forevermore a monument to American pluck, valor and endurance.

Let no Russian Bear or "Blarsted British Lion" howl or growl on the premises. It must remain a roosting place for the American Eagle while the earth endures.

He clasps the pole with hook-end hands, As high above the world he stands, And screams the news to other lands, The Pole! the Pole! the Pole!

SANFORD—FLEMING.

Miss Nellie Fleming, daughter of the late Mrs. Margaret Fleming, and Mr. Louis L. Sanford, of Baltimore, were married at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Robert A. Tyson, in Thurmont on Tuesday by Rev. Richard Koontz, pastor of the Thurmont Methodist Episcopal Church. Owing to recent deaths in both families only immediate relatives were present. After a dinner Mr. and Mrs. Sanford left for Baltimore, whence they will go on a wedding trip up the Hudson river and into Canada. They will return from their trip about October 6 and will live in Baltimore.

Grand Jury Adjourned.

The grand jury for the September term of court adjourned on Monday after a session of 13 days. Their report shows that 235 witnesses were examined, they found 59 presentments and indictments and dismissed 51 cases. It recommended legislation to keep from being carried before the grand jury "those small and insignificant cases which have been brought before us and every jury held in this county, taking so much of our valuable time, and when sifted down found naught but spite work, causing great expense to the county and much sorrow and expense to the persons presented."

Reformed Church Reopens.

The Reformed Church will be reopened on Sunday morning at the usual hour for services. For two weeks the church has been closed and during that time it has been most tastefully and beautifully frescoed. The many improvements to this structure during the last few years have made it a very beautiful church.

The Holy Communion will be celebrated on Sunday, Oct. 10.

I offer at private sale my property situated about 1 mile Northwest of Emmitsburg, on the Lower Tract Road, formerly the F. P. Topper property, containing about 9 acres of land, good two-story Dwelling House, Barn and other outbuildings on the premises. For further information, Apply to sept 24-1t THOMAS RIDER.

MARYLAND FARMS IN DEMAND

More Than $1,000,000 Expended Here This Year by Outsiders.

In a report which the State Bureau of Immigration is preparing for submission to Governor Crothers it will be shown that more than $1,000,000 was brought to Maryland by people of other countries and by residents of other States for the purchase of land through the efforts of the Bureau for the present fiscal year.

This does not include the purchases of land made through the efforts of the Bureau by residents of Maryland, many of whom desired either to take up farming as a new method of earning a livelihood.

Eastern Shore farms proved most in demand. Large sales were made in this locality and the prices ranged all the way from $20 to $70 an acre. Next in order was Southern Maryland.

Many inquiries were made concerning land in the western part of the State, but the prospective settlers abandoned this field because of the prices asked for farms.

The Proposed Constitutional Amendment.

Mr. Editor:

After the unambiguous statements of ex-Gov. Warfield on giving his reasons for his decision to support the proposed suffrage amendment, it looks like "butting in" to use the vulgarism, on the part of the writer to raise his voice in favor of the proposed measure; but certain reflections have occurred to him since you were gracious enough to publish his communication on "The Race Problem and the political immunities of the Negro" which with your permission he proposes to submit to the readers of the "CHRONICLE."

In the first place is the question a problem? There is nothing in our dealing with the Negro which is any more problematic than in dealing with anarchists or woman suffrage. It is a condition. The question of race finds its answer deep in the hearts of all white Americans; for Republicans and Democrats alike know and feel as ex-Governor Warfield does that all "should favor the protection of the white voters who are" of the race which produced the "founders of our Republic and whose descendants inherited the right of suffrage along with the dower of glory and greatness which has come down to them from their ancestors as a part of their political birthright."

I admit that we should deal with the Negro not as a problem but as a man, for he can control the fruits of his labor and not be separated, unless for crime, from his wife and child, and above all he can receive the blessings of education and religion. While we admit his claim as such, this by no means gives him any right to exercise the rights of suffrage. The very constitutional provision which endows him with the right, admits the usurpation of the power, in its inability to provide a punitive mandate for its violation; no one can say that the threat of restricted representation is punitive, it is merely the exercise of a delegated right by which Congress becomes the arbiter of the eligibility of its members. The Negro never became a citizen by the fact of his manumission, and in spite of the wording of the 15th amendment the General Government never could endow him with the elective franchise as that is a right which belongs to the states and they have never surrendered the right by free and untrammelled consent. Except the iniquitously obtained amendment, the 15th, there is no law standing between the people of the U. S. and their General Government which interferes in any way in their well established relations of the Sovereign, the people through each State with their Representative the Federal Government to whom were delegated certain enumerated powers and who were forbidden to exercise others. The qualification of electors is a reserved right. Massachusetts and every State of the Union still exercises the reserved right to dictate the qualifications of its electors and that is all that Maryland intends to do by the adoption of the proposed amendment. But the question arises how can we deal with the Negro as a man and refuse to give him the right of suffrage? Does not England refuse this muniment to the Negroes in her possessions in Eastern Africa? Is it an answer to say these are Barbarians, ours are civilized? How many civilized men within the limits of our Union who cannot and do not exercise the right of suffrage? No Washingtonian as such can vote for the President; a generation ago Negroes in the District of Columbia were deprived by Congress of the municipal franchise, and I do not know that Congress has restored the right to them to this day.

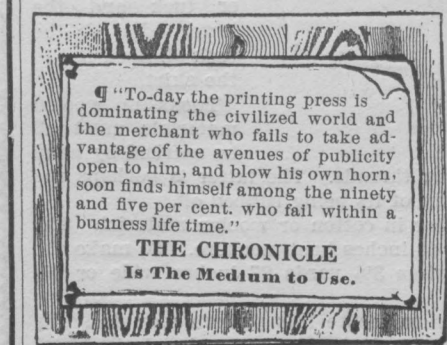

If the Republican party honestly wishes the Negro to vote as an intelligent and responsible citizen let its members vote for the amendment; for, the disfranchisement of the present ignorant and shiftless Negroes will, to use the words of Ex-Gov. Warfield, "help to make him frugal and eager for education so that he may fit himself to exercise the highest privilege of an American citizen, that of participating in elections."

Legislative Candidate Questioned.

The following is a copy of a letter which the Anti-Saloon League has sent to all legislative candidates:

"September 22 1909—Before asking certain questions in behalf of our constituency in the various parties we make clear a few points which are evidently misunderstood by some because misrepresented by our opponents. The local option issue has nothing to do with total abstinence. A man may consistently vote for a local option law to submit the saloon question to a vote, regardless of whether he will vote for or against saloons at the election held under it. The proposed local option law will not, when passed by the Legislature, close a single saloon, but merely leaves the question to the people. While in order to be fair, a vote under it may be reversed, it does not repeal or interfere with any other temperance law previously passed.

"Enclosed find copy of the League Legislative Platform and of Condensed Report, containing 'wet' and 'dry' map of Maryland. A copy of the bill will be sent free upon request. The questions which we will be glad to have you answer for publication are as follow:

1. "Do you believe that the people of Maryland in the various counties or other subdivisions have a right to decide by majority vote whether their existing saloons shall or shall not be closed?"

2. "Will you support by vote and influence the proposed state-wide local option bill of the Anti-Saloon League as the concrete expression of the present demand for that right?"

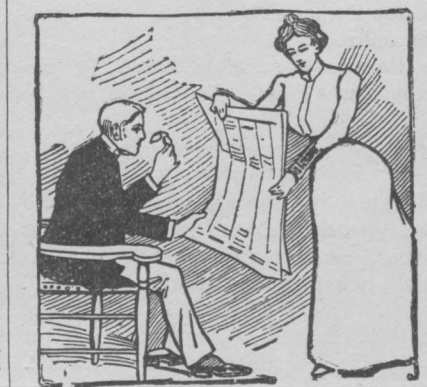

3. "Will you use your vote and influence for such organization of the Legislature, and parliamentary procedure as will insure speedy and favorable consideration of said bill?"

"Enclosed find stamped envelope. A reply by return mail will be appreciated.

"Yours very truly,

"WILLIAM H. ANDERSON Superintendent."

Hudson-Fulton Stamp.

On Saturday the postmaster will have for sale the special 2-cent stamp to commemorate the discovery of the Hudson river and the introduction of steam navigation on its water by Robert Fulton. This stamp is oblong, about 1/2 by 1 1/2 inches in size, and comprises a border containing the inscription "Hudson-Fulton Celebration" with dates "1609" and "1909," immediately thereunder. In the center is engraved a picture of the Palisades with the Half Moon sailing up the river and the Clermont steaming down. In the foreground is an Indian, the canoes representing the first means of navigating the river. It is in the same color as the regular stamp.

The Citizens' National Bank OF FREDERICK, MD.

CAPITAL $100,000

SURPLUS $300,000

We are now doing business in our new building, of which the superintendent of its construction, Mr. John Evans, of Scranton, Pa., says:

"When I make the following statement I am saying a great deal, but, in my judgment, I have a perfect right to state this is not only a fireproof building, but the vaults are burglarproof in the full sense of the word."

We have a special room for the use of ladies transacting business.

We also have three rooms—one large and two smaller rooms—for the use of persons who wish to meet others and transact business, or where they can take their securities and detach coupons, etc. All of these rooms are easy of access and ready for use at any time, and we will be glad to have them used by the people.

In our splendid vaults we have a large number of safe deposit boxes, in which persons can arrange to place their securities or valuable papers.

We will be pleased to open accounts with individuals, firms or corporations, whether large or small accounts, giving to our smaller accounts the same attention as the larger ones.

We will be glad to show persons through our building at any time during business hours.

Tailored Suits

The New Fall Tailored Suits are here awaiting your inspection. 'Tis almost futile to attempt a description. They are the kind you'll want if you intend to be in the procession. Man tailored, correctly designed, representing the most recent modes of fashion, and not high priced. We believe you will do well to see us, as many of our models have marked individuality.

Sweaters

are an actual necessity nowadays. Fine to ward off that Fall cold. A great assortment in the wanted lengths and qualities. Children's and ladies. Might save a doctor bill.

Colonial Draperies

are possibly just the items needed to complete the appointment of that room. They are of the new order of things—just the proper weight—clinging in finish and exquisite in coloring.

Challenge Flour is Going Some

Recently a large bakery in Philadelphia, wishing to put a new loaf of bread on the market, tested

Challenge Flour

in competition with many other high grade flours. This resulted in

Challenge Being Selected and this bakery is now using

500 to 600 Barrels of this flour each week for their new style loaf. If you are not using

KNIFE TO BE USED LESS IN APPENDICITIS CASES

Consensus of Opinion of Surgeons at International Medical Congress—Too Much Cutting.

The doctors attending the International Medical Congress at Budapest have divided themselves into three groups as to the treatment of appendicitis—those who favored operation in all cases, those for operation in selected cases, and those for no operation at all. Dr. Lenhart of Hamburg, and Dr. Bourget of Lausanne championed the last-named method. They asserted that by means of careful internal treatment, good nursing and starvation they had been able to show a lower mortality than the surgeons could show. The champions of operation in all cases did not get the warm support which has been extended to them during the past few years. The consensus of opinion was against such radical measures.

A number of surgeons regarded operation, if it could be performed within twenty-four hours or forty-eight hours, as the proper treatment, and would only operate later if sudden complications threatened the patient's life. Dr. Sonnenburg of Berlin led the argument for such cases.

The question of the removal of the appendix was also considered, and was regarded by many as unnecessary. Viewing the discussion in its entirety, it might be said that surgeons had operated too much in the past and have now received a check, and that they have failed to justify their part in the procedure.

GOV. JOHNSON'S LIFE OVER.

The success attained by Governor Johnson, in the management of the State affairs of Minnesota and the popularity of the man throughout the great Northwest brought him out prominently prior to the last Presidential election, and at one time it looked as if he would be the standard bearer of the Democratic party in the Presidential race.

His successor as governor A. O. Eberhart, was formerly a minister of the Gospel.

New Postage Stamps to Be Issued.

A stamp of a new denomination is to be issued by the Post Office Department to conform with the recent increase in the price of registration from 8 to 10 cents. This will be a 12-cent stamp and one of them on an ordinary letter will suffice for postage and registration.

BALLINGER-PINCHOT FIGHT A MYSTERY TO FORRESTER

Gives Interview at Los Angeles and Says He Has No Fight.—Declines to Make Random Statement.

Gifford Pinchot, chief of the Bureau of Forestry, who has been on the Catalina Islands, arrived in Los Angeles on Monday. Mr. Pinchot said: "It is a mystery to me why it has been called the Ballinger-Pinchot fight. I have no fight. Although I am not yet in a position to say definitely I have every reason to believe that matters will be adjusted satisfactorily as soon as I can return to Washington, next week."

"At present I am awaiting a letter from President Taft. Further than this, I have nothing to say. My duty as a public official demands that no random statements be made."

It is understood Mr. Pinchot has no intention of resigning as chief forester. He will return to Washington about September 30.

ANOTHER CATHOLIC CHURCH TO BE BUILT NEAR VATICAN

Rome's 366 Churches Not Enough.—Sumptuous Building Planned by Committee to Cost Millions.

Notwithstanding the fact that there are already 366 church edifices in the city of Rome, a committee has just been appointed and was received the other day by the Pope in special audience, to find ways and means for the construction of another sumptuous church not far from the Vatican palace.

The facade of the new church will be decorated with three steeples and the cost of construction will be several millions of dollars, contributions for which are expected to come from Catholics all over the world. Practically the region adjoining the Vatican palace is without a church in the direction of the Prati di Castello, and the construction of the new church will signalize the Pontificate of the present Pope.

King a Clergyman.

King Edward possesses several distinctions unknown to the man in the street says Home Words. Everybody is aware that he is the earthly head of the Church, but few know that he is actually a clergyman, being a prebendary of St. David's Cathedral, receiving a salary of £1 a year, which entitles him to preach a sermon in the Cathedral pulpit.

An effort is being made to pardon Helen Boyle who is in the penitentiary for her part in the celebrated Whitla kidnapping case.

Today's Suggestion by Ellen Stan.

PRACTICAL WAIST FOR MORNING.

It goes without saying that tucks must lie flat and smooth. It is much less difficult to obtain this result in cotton fabrics than in woolen ones, for the reason that much of the marking can be done by a tucker that is attached to the machine, it only being necessary that the first tuck be properly creased.

When the tucks are to be grouped the first of each group should be creased by hand. While this may be done by the tucker, it is more difficult, as the tucker must be reset each time, and it is sometimes impossible to get it back to exactly the first setting.

and in fine tucks the width of a thread will plainly show and spoil the good effect of the whole waist.

When strips of lace or embroidery are set in between groups of tucks the edges of the insertion are basted along the sewing line of the tucks and stitched in with them. The material is then cut from beneath and the raw edges of the material rolled and overseamed by hand.

Embroidered edgings that are to be used for flounces are joined to the tucks in the same way. When lace edgings are used the heavy thread at the top is drawn so as to give a slight fullness, the right side of the lace and the material are held together and the lace overseamed on by hand to the edge of the tuck.

When flounces are joined to the petticoat by tucks the gathered edge of the flounce is slipped under the lower tuck and the lower edge of the tuck stitched flat to the skirt.

Tucks in woolen materials must all be marked by hand either with colored chalk or with basting threads. The latter is perhaps the most satisfactory, as there is no possibility of its being rubbed off.

This tucked waist may be copied either in cotton or woolen material. The pattern is cut in seven sizes—from 32 to 44 inches bust measure. To make the garment for the average person it requires 3½ yards 27 inches wide or 2½ yards 44 inches wide.

Any reader of this paper who desires to secure this pattern may do so by sending 10 cents to this office. Give the number, 3904, state size desired and write the full address plainly. The pattern will be forwarded promptly by mail.
