An attempt was to have been made this week to capture Juarez, on the Texan border. Concerning this the Mexican minister at Washington received the following advice on Monday:

"Colonel Rabago arrived in Juarez last night after encountering the disturbers and causing heavy loss. Juarez is free from any danger. Rumors that reach Mexico City that armed filibusters have crossed the border are absolutely false as the watch of the United States troops prevents any breach of the neutrality laws. The reports published by some papers of a general uprising in Texas to help the disturbers in Mexico has no foundation at all."

Galveston Disaster Found in Texas by Traveling Salesman.

In the Galveston disaster, September 8, 1900, among the buildings wrecked was a house in which was the 4-yearold son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woodson. Since that time Mr. and Mrs. Woodson have mourned the loss of their baby.

A few days ago a traveling salesman heard the story of the finding of the infant in a pasture from the man who found the child and placed it in an asylum in San Antonio. The salesman knew the Woodsons, who since moved to Kansas City, and the child, now a bright boy 14 years of age, was traced to a family named Warner, near Fredericksburg, Texas, who adopted the child from the asylum six years ago and were rearing him as their own.

Killed by Lightning on Friday.

Andrew Musselman, who lived with his mother, Mrs. Sarah Musselman, near Milnor, Franklin county, Pa., was killed by lightning last Friday night. Musselman was walking along a wire fence when he was killed. He was smoking a pipe at the time and when his body was found on Saturday morning the pipe was still in his mouth. His body was terribly burned.

The lightning struck on top of his head, burned the scalp almost clear of hair, traversed the left side of his face and distorted the features on that side. It passed over the left ear and drew the blood near the surface of the skin there. The skin about the left eye and mouth were burned and drawn.

The bolt passed under the man's chin and jumped to a place in his chest, into which it seemed to bore and which was marked by a big red open spot. Both of his shoes were torn off.

IF I COULD KNOW.

F I could know the agony of pain In which my brother wrought, yet gave no sign, His bungling work would take on graceful shape, And glory would illumine every line.

If I could know the heartache bravely hid Beneath the smile of courage, day by day, I'd not withhold the kindly deed and thought

If I could know the struggle to do right Of that poor fallen one so sore beset, Not "shame" but "bravo," would I cry to him: "Thou fightest foes whom I have never met."

If I could know the longing pressing close Beneath derision's sneer at holy things, A friendly hand I'd stretch across the gulf And know the thrill which world-wide kinship brings.

It is the aim of THE CHRONICLE to publish as many personal and social items as possible, but it frequently happens that those who have guests visiting them, and those who entertain, fall to send a list of their friends, or an account of these events, to this office. Readers who live at a distance are always interested in what is going on "at home," and for that reason, if for no other, this column should be filled every week. It is of course understood that anonymous contributions will not be published. Names of persons furnishing items will be withheld.

HIGH SCHOOL SPELLING BEE

Naomi Harbaugh Wins Prize at Interesting Entertainment on Friday Night.

The Spelling Bee, the first held in Emmitsburg for a very long time, proved very entertaining. It was the more successful because a prize of $2.50 February 10. in gold was given to the best speller. There was a long but friendly battle before it was decided and everyone was perfectly satisfied with the result.

Prof. Strauss chose Miss Pauline Baker and Dunn Black as Spelling Captains, who in turn chose spellers for the two sides. The letter "T" was so skilfully manipulated by the fair young spellers in this first half of the battle that it took 40 minutes before Miss Harbaugh had spelled down the last one in the first class. Immediately after the first set the same captains chose sides again and began spelling. This proved even more interesting than the first half. For 45 minutes they spelled until all but two, Miss Harbaugh and William Morrison were retired. Then by some sudden and unforseen disaster, William carelessly took aim at a word and missed. Miss Harbaugh was more successful and the contest was ended. Prof. John T. White, County Superintendent of Schools, in a few well chosen remarks, presented her with the prize and the audience was dismissed.

There is very much truth in Prof. White's words-"spelling is almost a lost art" and the only way to reclaim it once more is to go back to the old time spelling bee and battle for a whole evening. guests sat at the tables.

The buying public is very apt to size up a man's sale from the sale bill and newspaper advertisement he has printed. Those who have good stock and goods to offer are wise in calling attention to the fact in a well displayed advertisement and a bill of the proper size. This method attracts bidders and materially increases the revenue from the sale. THE CHRONICLE already has a long list of sales. Add yours to the number and have your bills printed at this office. It will be worth your while.
