Chicago has 814,115 children. The Royalists are active in Portugal. The population of India is 315,000,000. W. J. Bryan was 51 years old Sunday. Barnard College has put a ban on the harem skirt. A serious strike of seamen is threatened in English ports. A new pest is destroying growing cotton in Texas. There were 88,498 deaths from the plague in India during February. Yale has received an anonymous gift of $100,000 for a forestry department. Fire destroyed $3,000,000 worth of property in Buenos Ayres, Wednesday. Fire destroyed $350,000 worth of property in Staunton, Va., on Monday. David H. Moffat, celebrated railroad builder, died in a New York hotel on Saturday. A strike order has been issued calling out 10,000 men in the Eastern Ohio fields. The Christian Herald has contributed another $25,000 to the Chinese relief fund. Premier Stolypin, Minister of the Interior in the Russian cabinet, has resigned. Troops have been called out in Illinois to suppress troublesome foreign miners. J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., will join foreign capitalists in exploiting several Russian enterprises. The pastor and congregation built themselves a church at Gary, Ind., in just one day. The Insurrectos completely exterminated a body of 50 Federals last week in Chihuahua. The strike of expressmen in New York city was declared off Wednesday night. On Tuesday the women of Milwaukee were allowed to vote in selecting candidates for the school board. American exports in February of this year were greater than those of February of last year by $51,500,000. Carlisle's population by a recent count of mail carriers is 11,711 instead of 10,303 as reported by the last census. In a brawl among drunken soldiers at Tyncalpa, Honduras, two generals were killed and 25 soldiers killed and wounded. Confederate veterans of Texas have offered their services to fight the Mexicans in case of trouble between them and us. Impending famine has caused many of the citizens of small towns in the war zone of Mexico to flee to the border. Booker T. Washington was assaulted by a white man in New York. The Negro educator was mistaken for a suspicious character. Dan Sully, cotton plunger, has entered suit against John Hays Hammond for $1,500,000 for alleged conspiracy to injure his good name. The Cleveland memorial fund is completed. The money will be used to erect a tower 150 feet high at Princeton University. President Taft has been conferring with the French ambassador for an arbitration peace treaty like that proposed with England. Before leaving for the West ex-Secretary Ballinger announced his determination to prosecute Pinchot and others who had attacked him. The lakes of Central Park, New York, were searched for the body of Dorothy Arnold who has been missing for some time. The search was unsuccessful. An anti-American spirit is again being felt in Mexico. Circulars are being distributed in some of the cities denouncing Americans as meddling Yankees. The Geran election bill passed the Jersey House. This bill was the cause of the trouble between Gov. Wilson and a Democratic politician the other day. A Turkish loan of $31,500,000 was taken by a syndicate of German and Austrian banks, including the Rothschilds, to be used for the development of the army and navy. The condition of Tom L. Johnson, former mayor of Cleveland, who suffered a relapse several days ago, is serious, but he is said not to be in immediate danger. The Interstate Commerce Commission will begin an investigation on April 19 of rates on import traffic west bound from the ports of Baltimore, New York, Boston and Philadelphia. The battleship Texas which was used as a target in Chesapeake Bay, was riddled by the big shells and sank, according to Secretary of the Navy Meyer, who witnessed the tests. The will of John Heissenberger, filed for probate in New York, directs that his body be cremated and the ashes strewn over farm lands "at least 50 miles from New York or any big city." Dr. Gomez, the head of the insurgent agency in Washington, says that when the revolutionists once secure the control of a number of Mexican states the United States will be asked to recognize their belligerency. John Hays Hammond and others are interested in a project to bring wild animals from Africa to this country where an effort will be made to domesticate them with the idea to create a new source of food supply. The negotiations for the loan of $50,000,000 to China by an American group of financiers have reached a final stage all points at issue having been agreed upon. It is expected that an imperial edict sanctioning the loan will be issued. Boston was scored as a very bad place by Rev. C. Myers, D. D., pastor of Fremont Temple. He said the city is being disgraced by a wave of crime, by orgies of society folk in leading hotels, and by women smoking cigarettes. Plans have been perfected for the erection of a statue of Archbishop Carroll, founder of Georgetown University. The plans provide that the memorial will be unveiled January 19, 1912 at Washington. That is Founder's Day, and the birthday of Archbishop Carroll. The tercentenary of the authorized version of the English Bible was officially commemorated Tuesday in London by the presentation of a specially bound copy to King George by a deputation headed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, representing various Protestant bodies of the kingdom. The indicted Chicago packers lost their fight against going to trial on the indictments secured by the Government several months ago when Judge Carpenter in the United States District Court, Chicago, overruled their demurrer to the charges and held that the immunity granted by Judge Humphrey of the Federal Circuit Court in 1906 did not apply to present charges which he held were based on evidence not included in the Humphrey decision. As a result of the arrest in Washington on Monday night of William J. Wahle, Jr., an employee of the Government Bureau of Engraving and Printing, who is alleged to have committed several forgeries on fellow-employees of that Bureau, Director Ralph has begun a rigid investigation, which will probably result in the dismissal of several employees. It is alleged that some of the employees lent money at exorbitant rates of interest to their fellow-workers, and to these "loan sharks" Wahle lays the blame for his downfall. The purpose of the investigation will be to stop this practice.

Planting Roses. There is no end to the beautiful things one can have in roses. The tea roses are grown now to be hardy, and there are many hardy ever-blooming climbers, thrifty and strong growers. Before the April rains, dig a hole where you wish the roses to grow, either singly or in beds, and in the bottom of it throw some pebbles, broken crockery, or coarse cinders, over this put a layer of straw or dead leaves, then, with the soil lifted in digging, mix plenty of old, rotted cow manure, which can be had of the dairyman, or at the stockyard, and fill in the hole, rounding it up, in order to get all the soil back in it. The rains will beat it down. Remember, roses are gross feeders. Then, in May, plant choice hardy tea roses from the pots. Be careful to get of a reliable nurseryman, and get plants that are grown on their own roots. Water freely during the season and do not let the plants bear more than one or two blooms the first year. During the hot months, keep the soil mulched and moist.

Watermelons Kept Over Winter. The family of John I. Sprecher, living along the National turnpike near Hagerstown, has been enjoying watermelons of last year's raising since before Christmas. The melons were placed in the cellar together with the winter crop of potatoes, and the first one was cut and eaten at Christmas with much relish. The melon was found to be solid and had a fine flavor. Since then the family has eaten several more melons that were found to be just as good as the first one.

Cy Malone Wins Shoot. The Prospect Park Handicap of twenty white flyers was won by Mr. Cy Malone, of Frederick, who got all twenty. A silver cup and cash consideration were his by virtue of his marksmanship.

A FAIR EXCHANGE

MANY people have things that they no longer have use for, but keep them in the house taking up room and doing no one any good. Better sell or trade off things you don't want. Advertise them and you will find that there are people ready to take them and pay cash, or trade for them. You will find it easy through the Columns of

THE CHRONICLE

Women on Warships.

In the British navy of Nelson's day it was not uncommon for wives to live aboard men-o'-war with their sailor husbands.

A Mean Advantage.

In a breach of promise case the barrister who held the brief for injured beauty arranged that his fair client should be so placed that her charms should be well under the observation of the jury.

The American Baby.

The American baby has a fine, strong ancestry. The young men of England who were impatient of religious restraint and of physical oppression; the young men of Germany touched with the dream of democracy; the pick of northern Europe, the strong, the fair, the self-reliant, the conscientious English at bottom, but with a dash of the best blood of other races—this is the American baby, and no king and no lord ever had a better heritage.

The Young Man's Tact.

The man who was having his picture taken in the photograph gallery was an innocent listener to the conversation between two young ladies on the other side of the screen.

Not His Fault.

A doctor was summoned to attend the miller's little boy. He wrote out a prescription, which was promptly made up and administered in due form.

The Soft Answer.

Irritated Frenchman (to Yankee, who had taken him for a waiter)—Sir, you have gr-r-r-rossly insulted me. There is my card. My seconds will wait upon you, sir.

Shopping by Mail.

Not long ago in a little town in one of the prohibition states a young man entered the postoffice and asked the postmaster for a postoffice order.

A Real Surprise.

Mamma—And you say your Uncle Titewad gave you a penny, Tommie! Tommie—Yes, ma'am. Mamma—And what did you say? Tommie—I was so surprised I couldn't say anything, mamma.—Yonkers Statesman.

Life, that ever needs forgiveness, has, for its first duty, to forgive.—Bulwer Lytton.

Inn Names In Germany.

Germany probably holds the record for out of the way signs and fantastic inn names. The most absurd results are usually obtained by the name of some animal with a more or less unsuitable object.

A Strange Colony.

The Colonia Cosme, on the Paraguay above Asuncion, is one of the most curious in the world. The members of the colony make or grow everything they want and import nothing.

Dogs In Ecclesiastical Decorations.

The stained glass representation of the "Peddler and His Dog" was removed from Lambeth church a quarter of a century ago owing to the alleged incongruity of introducing the figure of a dog in a church window.

The Giant's Staircase.

One of the most widely known geological curiosities in the vicinity of Cork is a series of knobs or knots projecting from the face of a cliff. There are sixteen of these huge projections all together, all regularly set in the face of the cliff, one above the other, forming a series of such uniformity as to give it the general appearance of a stairway.

How He Won.

A rich old man was asked how he made his money. "Simplest thing in the world," he said. "I always did the reverse of what everybody else was doing. If everybody bought, I sold—prices were high. If everybody sold, I bought—prices were low."

Prepared For the Worst.

Husband—Goodby, my dear. A pleasant voyage. I have taken every precaution in case of accident. Wife—What do you mean? Husband—Insured your life in my favor.—Journal Amusant.

Spider Racing.

Lord Devon's property was greatly impoverished by the twelfth earl, who squandered nearly all his fortune and terribly embarrassed the entailed property. He was addicted to a most peculiar form of gambling, namely, spider racing, which he played with the last Marquis of Hastings and the eighth Duke of Bedford.

Making a Locomotive.

A young lady once visited the Baldwin Locomotive works and then told how a locomotive is made. "You pour," she said, "a lot of sand into a lot of boxes, and you throw old stove lids and things into a furnace, and then you empty the molten stream into a hole in the sand, and every body yells and swears. Then you pour it out and let it cool and pound it, and then you put it in a thing that bores holes in it. Then you screw it together and paint it and put steam in it, and it goes splendidly, and they take it to a drafting room and make a blue print of it.

Napoleon's Peepholes.

A curious Napoleonic relic still preserved in St. Helena is a pair of shutters, each with a peephole. St. Helena was strongly garrisoned in Napoleon's time for divers reasons, and the British soldiers exercised on Deadwood plain, close to Longwood.

Hard to Deny.

As Miss Hyppatia Squaretoe reached the culminating point of her lecture on "Woman's Rights and How to Wield Them" she threw back her head and stood in an attitude of defiance.

Her Dear Friend.

"I have declined marriage proposals from five men," said the fair widow. "Have you?" her friend asked. "I didn't suppose your husband had been as heavily insured as that."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Jiffy.

Tommy (who has been told to go to bed)—Pa, how long is "a jiffy?" Father—It's just about the length of time you've got to go to bed without a kicking.—Boston Transcript.

The Last Dance.

He—May I ask you for a dance? She—Certainly, the last one on the list. He—But I'll not be here then. She—Neither will I.

Uncommercial Liszt.

Artistic folk frequently have somewhat vague notions about business. Some of them are quite ignorant of it, others utterly indifferent to it and others yet hate the very name of it.

"I hear," she said, "that you did good business in Paris." To which Liszt gave the tart reply, "I only played some music there. Business—that I leave to bankers and diplomatists."

The Names of Moses.

Moses of Scriptural fame is called by eight different names in various places in the Bible. Bathia, the daughter of Pharaoh, called him Moses because she drew him out of the water. Jochebed, his mother, called him Jekuthiel, saying, "I had hoped for him."

Dot and Trouseau.

Dealing with the weaknesses of actors, some noted for meanness, a Paris contemporary relates a good story of Frederick Lemaître, the celebrated actor, who was somewhat parsimonious.

The Cry of the Loon.

The cry of the loon is one of the strangest, weirdest sounds in nature. Those who have heard it can scarcely wonder that it has so often been woven into song and legend.

A blood red ring hung round the moon, Hung round the moon. Ah, me! Ah, me! I heard the piping of the loon, A wounded loon. Ah, me! And yet the eagle feathers rare I, trembling, wave in my brave's hair.

Four Kinds of Liars.

The late Sir Frederick Bramwell was famous both as a witness and arbitrator in engineering disputes. It is recalled that his brother, the late Lord Justice Bramwell, on giving advice to a young barrister told him to be careful of four kinds of witnesses—first, of the liar; second, of the liar who could only be adequately described by the aid of a powerful adjective; third, of the expert witness, and, finally, of "my brother Fred."

Extra Hazardous.

Beers—Poor Mrs. DeAlteres has always been unlucky in the selection of her husbands. Townsend—Why do you say that? Beers—Her first husband was a guide in the Adirondacks, her second was a baseball umpire, her third was a manufacturer of dynamite and her last was an aviator.—Chicago News.

A Generous Spirit.

"Henry, I want $2 this morning." "What for?" "Must I account to you for every penny I spend?" "I don't insist upon knowing about every penny. When it's less than a nickel you can bunch it."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Wanted It Abbreviated.

Jeweler—What shall I engrave in it? Customer—G. O. to H. L. Jeweler—What's that, sir? Customer (meekly)—George Osborne to Harriet Lewis; but just the initials, please.—Lippincott's.

His Sole Dread.

Hammond—Don't you dread the silent watches of the night? Martin—No; it's the cuckoo clocks that give me away.—Harper's Bazar.

Good intentions will never justify bad actions.

WILL JONES "It Was a Big, Speckly Black and White Hen"

Daddy's Bedtime Story—Biddy's Secret And Ours

WHEN I was a little fellow," said daddy one evening in telling his usual bedtime story for Jack and Evelyn. "I was very fond of going to visit my grandparents, who lived on a farm far away from town. There were three of us, my little sister, whose name was the same as yours, Evelyn, and my little brother, who is now your Uncle Fred, and myself, and we had the greatest times on grandfather's farm. We liked all of the animals, of course, but best of all we liked the old hens with their broods of fluffy little chickens.
