Commercial Supremacy Not Enough For America

CHEAP MONEY BADLY NEEDED

American Bankers' Association Investigating Conditions With the Idea of Giving Relief—Easy Rates For Long Periods.

Ex-Governor Myron T. Herrick of Ohio, the newly appointed Ambassador to France thinks that our future progress depends on husbandry. "Back to the soil," is his cry.

"The division of the industry that occupies the most important position in relation to the welfare of all the people is the cultivation of the soil," he said. "Agriculture is the basic vocation. The stability of National life depends on the existence of a sound agricultural development."

"There is a growing appreciation of the fact that the future material and political progress of the United States largely depends upon turning the trend of population from the cities to the country. It is also realized that to be permanent and of the greatest utility this movement must be accompanied by a very great improvement in the methods of cultivating the soil, and a very decided increase in the number of farms that are cultivated by owners."

"Since the civil war we have bent our energies with wonderful success to the building up of our 'infant industries.' It is now time to turn some of the milk that has stimulated the 'industries' to the nourishment of senile agriculture. We have neglected the farm; we have emulated England in our race for commercial supremacy. We have not taken heed of the example of France, Germany and other European countries that have recognized the importance of the equal development of manufacturing and agriculture."

"From 1899 to 1909 the per acre production of oats decreased from 31.9 to 28.6 bushels; the per acre product of wheat increased slightly—12.5 bushels in 1899 to 25.9 bushels in the same period, and the per acre production of corn fell from 28.1 to 25.9 in the same period. For the decade 1900-1910 the number of cattle in the United States, and other dairy stock, decreased nearly 8 per cent. Should such a situation continue it will be but a few years before we are dependent on the bounty of other countries for much of our food supply."

"In France and Germany co-operative societies formed among the farmers, have done much to promote scientific farming and the general interests of the farmers by enabling them to advantageously buy and sell products and merchandise."

"The permanent improvement of farming methods, whereby the yield (Continued on page 2.)

PLOT TO ASSASSINATE SECRETARY KNOX DISCOVERED

Nicaraguan Government Has Alleged Plotters and Will Bring Them to Trial—Dynamite on Railroad

As the result of the alleged discovery by the Government of Nicaragua of a plot to assassinate Secretary Knox on the occasion of his recent visit to the capital of that country, it is not improbable that a number of prominent "Liberals" will be put to death, according to advices received from Bluefields. Thirteen dynamite bombs placed beneath the roadbed over which Secretary Knox's special train traveled from Corinto to Managua and connected with an electric battery were discovered by Government agents and will be used as evidence against the conspirators.

Fatalities to Trespassers.

For venturing in violation of the trespass law, upon the private property of the Pennsylvania Railroad, a total of 8,523 persons have been killed and 8,285 others injured within the past decade, according to figures made public Sunday by the railroad company.

Besides applying to the Legislatures of New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania, and other States for legislation, the officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad have ordered the immediate repositing of the lines of the entire system with warning notices.

Anarchists After Kaiser

Reports have reached Rome that an anarchist living in Switzerland had threatened to make an attempt on the lives of the German and Italian monarchs when William visits Venice.

LOCAL OPTION FIGHT IS SHOWING UP LEGISLATURE

Charges of Bribery and Loss of Temper Reflect on Several Members.—Accusations and Denials.

The presentation of the Local Option bill before the Maryland Legislature has caused no end of trouble in the State House. When the bill was first presented the scene was one of unusual disorder. The debate resolved itself into disagreeable personalities that reflect little credit on the members so engaged.

William R. Smallwood, delegate from Prince Georges, on the floor of the House, accused John F. O'Malley, state auditor, of offering him $2,500 to vote against the Local Option Bill, and brought in the name of Delegate D. Frank Clendenin, of Cecil county.

Mr. O'Malley denies the charge preferred by Smallwood, says he does not know him and was not in the State House during the day.

Delegate Cook, of Baltimore county, moved an investigating committee which the House ordered and the Speaker named Messrs. Cook, Cummings, McQuade, Democrats and Warburton and Pairo, Republicans.

Action on the Local Option Bill was temporarily suspended and the committee proceeded to organize and to issue summons for witnesses.

The investigation began Thursday morning and the findings of the committee will be reported to the House at the earliest possible moment.

The alleged exposure has created a tremendous sensation and has caused consternation in the ranks of the opponents of the Local Option Bill.

The measure came up on its second reading Thursday and efforts were made to amend it so as to exclude the city and counties who want to be excepted.

BIG IRON ORE DEPOSITS FOUND IN PENNSYLVANIA

Great Discovery Made in Fulton County of Deposits Estimated at One Billion Tons of Rich Ore.

An immense deposit of highest grade iron ore, conservatively estimated at more than 1,000,000,000 tons has been located in the heart of Pennsylvania. The mother lode of red hematite ore, which scientists for many years have believed lay somewhere in Southern Pennsylvania, has been located almost at the door of the largest steel and iron industries in the world. It is claimed by geologists and engineers who have made an investigation that it is the most startling discovery since the discovery of gold in 1849, and is destined to mark a new era in the steel and iron industry of the country.

It is located in Ayer township, Fulton county, in three spurs of the Blue Ridge Mountains, known as Meadow Ground Mountain, Lowry's Knob and Dickie Mountain, 100 miles from Baltimore, 200 miles from Philadelphia and 240 miles by rail from Pittsburgh. The most remarkable thing about it is the fact that there are three kinds of ore—red hematite, estimated at more than 250,000,000 tons; brown hematite, in about the same quantity, and carbonate of iron to the extent of more than 500,000,000 tons. Nearby are immense deposits of the best limestone and plenty of water, so that everything for the manufacture of iron is on the ground except coal, and it is only a few miles distant.

Pork Barrel Secret Revealed.

Senator Lea of Tennessee, has created a sensation in the Senate by exposing the fact that Senator Warren, of Wyoming had secured a favorable action in that body upon a bill appropriating an aggregate of $207,000 for public buildings in his State in three towns with an aggregate population of only 3,000 people.

The Tennessean found that Sundance Wyo., which was to get a $75,000 building, had only 281 people; Newcastle, for which $67,500 was appropriated, 975; Thermopolis, Wyo., with a population of 1,524, was to get a building to cost $65,000.

Baltimore's Strange Malady.

Baltimore's leading medical men are aroused over an epidemic of a peculiar illness which in many cases has proved fatal and which specialists trace to milk. Most of the milk suspected of causing the trouble is believed to come from a big dairy, but other sources of supply may be responsible. The epidemic is "milk born," is however the opinion of the medical authorities, and incidentally, the same symptoms are attracting the attention of medical men of other cities, especially Chicago and Boston.

The malady is a throat affection, similar to tonsillitis and diphtheria.

Friday.

Floyd Allen, one of the murderers of Judge Massie and the sheriff of Hillsville (Va.) courthouse, is under arrest. He will probably die from his wounds. His brother, Sidney Allen, was not captured, though wounded, after a battle with the detectives in his home, in which his wife was killed.

George E. Hoffman was sentenced at Lynchburg to three and a half years in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., for stealing $20,000 from a mail pouch.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the Bureau of Chemistry of the Department of Agriculture, sent his resignation to Secretary Wilson. It was accepted by President Taft.

Owing to the high water, as a result of continued rains, it was necessary to annul all trains on the branch of the Cumberland Valley Railroad, running between Chambersburg and Waynesboro.

John Early, the leper, has been made custodian for another leper at Point Diamond Quarantine Station in Washington State.

Saturday.

An attempt was made on the life of Judge Rosalsky of the New York Court of General Sessions to-day. An "infernal" machine was sent him through the mail and being suspicious of the package the judge had explosive experts open it. Both of them were wounded in the explosion that followed.

Orders issued by the Navy Department directing the flagship California, the cruisers South Dakota and the Colorado to proceed to the Philippines means that the United States will have the largest fleet excepting that of Japan in touch with Chinese waters.

The coal strike in England has caused the suspension of some of the largest manufacturing, including the Great Western Railway Company's shop, which alone throws out 10,000 skilled mechanics.

In a collision between the Peninsula liner Oceana and the German bark Pisagua, in the English Channel, the former sank and four passengers and several sailors perished.

T. R. Aldana, chief of staff of Gen. Pancho Villar, who was taken prisoner in a fight near Santa Rosalia, Mex., was executed by order of General Orozco.

The situation in Northern China is critical. President Yuan Shi Kai's troops are uncontrollable.

Between 15,000 and 18,000 of the miners in the Westphalian coal district of Germany, resumed work.

Admiral Melville, U. S. N., retired, died in Philadelphia to-day. He was born in New York, January 10, 1841.

Mrs. Despaard, a notorious English suffragette, makes the prediction that there will be a real war between the sexes if man refuses to recognize woman as his equal in every way.

The Sultan of Tangiers, suffering from a nervous affection, recently announced his intention to abdicate, but was persuaded to reconsider his decision.

Secretary Knox cabled from Nicaragua to President Taft urging that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee give attention to the Nicaraguan loan treaty.

A battalion of the Fifteenth United States Infantry, numbering 444 men, arrived at Tien Tsin, China, and are quartered in the French concession.

Dr. D. W. Bigelow, assistant chief of the Bureau of Chemistry, was recommended by Dr. Wiley to be his successor.

Monday.

It is estimated that 200,000 German coal miners are on strike to-day.

La Follette Wins Over Teddy.

The returns from the first state-wide presidential primary in North Dakota show LaFollette first, Roosevelt second and Taft only a few votes, some 270. The margin between LaFollette and Roosevelt was over a thousand votes.

When they get the band out to welcome a fellow because he takes care of his afflicted parents it begins to look bad for filial love.

Sydney E. Mudd, Jr., of La Plata, Charles county, formally announces himself as a candidate for the Congressional nomination of the Republican party from the Fifth Maryland district.

Bombs dropped from an aeroplane belonging to the Italian expeditionary force killed 10 Arabs in a Turkish camp some distance from Bengazi to day.

To gather into a federation all organizations of Catholic women is the object of an association now being formed in New York.

Mahlon Pitney, of New Jersey, to-day took the oath of office and assumed the duties of Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the States, as the successor of the late Justice Harlan.

An explosion in a locomotive at San Antonio, killed 32 men and injured 50 others.

The Governor of Virginia offers $1,000 for the capture of the Allen outlaws dead or alive.

So great was the rush of mill operatives back to the looms and spindles at Lawrence this morning, after the strike of nine weeks, that several departments were unable to accommodate more than a small part of the operatives, and thousands were obliged to return to their homes.

Tuesday.

The Democratic state senators of New Jersey to-day addressed a letter to State Senator Richard Fitzherbert, of Norris county, calling upon him to resign. Fitzherbert was declared guilty by the senate of a charge of conduct inconsistent with the duties of a senator.

In the Japanese House of Representatives Count Hattori bitterly condemned United States Senator Dillingham's bill amending the immigration laws as an insufferable insult to Japan. The bill introduced by Senator Dillingham in Washington provides for the exclusion of laborers and artisans of races ineligible for American naturalization.

To-night the Wilson headquarters at Washington put out "Wilson and Wiley" as their presidential ticket on a platform of "pure Democracy and pure food."

The complete report of the United States Steel Corporation for 1911, issued today, shows a decrease of $36,749,288 in earnings and a decrease of $32,271,790 in net.

Wednesday.

The House committee investigating the State Department took up the charge that Secretary Knox uses as his personal valet a colored man carried on the payroll of the department as an employee of the mailing room at $1,200 a year.

District Attorney Wilkerson in his closing argument in the trial of the beef packers in Chicago for criminal violation of the Sherman Law demanded the conviction of the defendants, saying that they had been proven guilty of every offense charged.

There is a prospect that all the bituminous coal mines will be closed down after April 1, pending the making of a new working and wage agreement between the miners and the operators.

Mrs. Blanch Carson, a prominent society woman of San Francisco, charged with smuggling jewelry into New York, committed suicide by hanging herself from the window of a hotel there.

Ellen Pitfield, the suffragette who attempted to set fire to the London post-office, was sentenced to six months imprisonment.

Five men were killed and four wounded by a bomb explosion in a suburb of Oporto Portugal.

Spain has ceded to France almost the whole of the southern zone in Morocco except Ifni.

In Dr. Wiley's Place.

Dr. A. S. Mitchell, chief of the St. Paul Laboratory of the Bureau of Chemistry, has assumed office as a temporary member of the Pure Food Board, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley. Dr. R. E. Doolittle remains acting chief of the bureau and chairman of the board.

No, Charles, it is not a sin to belong to the State Legislature.

PRESIDENT TAFT ONLY ASKS FOR SQUARE DEAL

To Large Audience at Concord, New Hampshire, He Talks of the Recall of Judges and Decisions.

"All that the administration wants is a square deal," said President Taft, speaking Tuesday from the steps of the Concord, (N. H.) Statehouse, near the close of his two-day New England visit. "Progressive is that progressive does," was one epigram the President gave his hearers. He also gave a concise outline of his idea of the adoption of the recall of Judges and decisions.

"Adopt such measures," he said, "and you will have a government of special instances. You would have a constitution that is to be applied at one time and not applied at another. That, my friends, is nothing but a government of special instances that has not the uniformity of law and constitution, and is the most tyrannical form of government we can have."

"I believe in popular government, but I believe in popular government ordered by constitution and by law. The people who vote are only one-fourth of the people, and they are in that sense representatives of the people, and if we are going to trust that quarter with power over all the people, then they have to be limited by constitutional restriction under our constitution. When the question is to be decided whether they have transgressed those restrictions, we have to have somebody decide independent of them and independent of everybody. And that is the necessity for an independent judiciary."

"You give up an independent judiciary and you might as well give up your Constitution. I know enough about the common sense of the American people to know that they will never give up the Constitution, and they are not going to be honeyfugled out of it by being told that they are fit to interpret nice questions of constitutional law just as well or better than judges. The American people are a great people because they can stand having the truth told to them about themselves without getting mad about it and without turning on the man who tells the truth."

THE PRESIDENTIAL LINE-UP OF EIGHT CANDIDATES

Their Age, Profession, State and Party.—All But Two are Lawyers The Youngest of Whom is 50 Years.

The list of Presidential candidates up to date of writing is as follows:

William H. Taft, 55 years old, a lawyer from Ohio and a Republican.

Theodore Roosevelt, 54 years old, a publicist from New York and a Republican.

Albert H. Cummings, 62 years old, lawyer from Iowa, Republican.

Robert M. LaFollette, 57 years old, lawyer from Wisconsin, Republican.

Champ Clark, 62 years old, lawyer from Missouri, Democrat.

Oscar W. Underwood, 50 years old, lawyer from Alabama, Democrat.

Woodrow Wilson, 56 years old, educator from New Jersey, Democrat.

Judson Harmon, 66 years old, lawyer from Ohio, Democrat.

Roosevelt on Maryland Legislature.

Speaking of President Taft's attitude for a presidential primary Theodore Roosevelt asks him to influence his (Taft's) managers to take the same ground. "There is pending in the Legislature of Maryland," the Colonel says, a bill providing for the exact kind of legally safeguarded presidential preferential primary in which the President says he favors. The Collector of Customs at Baltimore, the most active of the President's party managers of Maryland and the head of the office-holders there, has been opposing the enactment of the measure by every means in his power. Every Roosevelt member of the Maryland legislature is for the primary bill, and they have been endeavoring to secure the assistance of Collector Stone and Governor Goldsborough and the other supporters of President Taft.

Taft and Hard Coal Strike.

President Taft indicated at Boston, before leaving for Washington, his interest in the threatened anthracite coal miners strike. The President wished to make it clear that he had no intention of interfering, but conferences arranged for the White House showed his desire to become acquainted with the situation. One of the first of the President's callers who is expected to give him information of value is John Mitchell who probably will visit Washington to-day.

Enormous Bequest to Orphanage.

By the will of the late Lord Waudsworth (Sydney James Stern) the sum of $6,250,000 was left to found an orphanage which is to be known by his name.

OUR MATERIAL GREATNESS

WILL LEAD THE WORLD

Germany Best Equipped For Trade Development

BUT OUR GROWTH IS UNEQUALLED

Group of Figures Showing Our Industrial Activity in Last Decade.—Work of Commercial Agents, to be Greatly Extended.

According to statistics the United States is destined to be the greatest producing nation of the world. In the twelve months ended June 30, 1911, the total value of its exports was $2,013,500,000, of which amount only a little over $600,000,000 was credited to manufacturers ready for consumption and $300,000,000 to manufacturers for further use in manufacturing the remainder being for food stuffs and crude materials.

Germany ranks as the best equipped nation of the world to-day, with regard to organization in connection with trade development. She makes use of every national force to aid and foster her foreign commerce. Special rates are made for exports over transportation lines; her commercial agents, banks and steamship lines are found in every corner of the globe; her systems of commercial education are without equal; her trade and commercial organization are semi-official, and all these efforts are as one unit in the service of building up Germany's foreign commerce.

In some foreign countries America's greatest trade rival as a nation will spend $60,000 annually on a consulate, where this country spends $10,000 or less. In New York one foreign government is almost as adequately equipped to report to its home government on trade conditions in the United States as the Bureau of Manufacturers of the Department of Commerce and Labor is to report on trade conditions throughout the world.

At the present time ten of the commercial agents of the Bureau of Manufactures are abroad gathering data relative to machinery and machine tools, cotton textiles, chemical products, electrical machinery and supplies, leather and boots and shoes, and trade conditions in general. Their reports are also published from time to time in monograph form.

The work of the American commercial agents is most important, and it is Secretary Nagel's hope to extend this work as rapidly as possible, with a view to having commercial experts stationed in all the important commercial cities of the world, just as America's foreign trade rivals have their attaches detailed to such centers.

During the last two decades the growth of our commercial and industrial activities has been unequalled, the annual value of the products of its mills being over $20,000,000,000, as compared with less than $10,000,000,000 twenty years ago.

REMAINS OF MAINE SUNK 600 FATHOMS DEEP IN GULF

Battered Hulk Covered With Flowers Taken From Havana Harbor Out Into Deeper Water of Gulf

In a heavy sea the battleship Maine that has obstructed the Harbor of Havana fourteen years was towed out to the deeper waters of the Gulf of Mexico on Saturday and sunk in 600 fathoms of water.

The bodies recovered from the vessel were transferred to the North Carolina and will be brought north for burial.

The decks of the Maine were covered with flowers and palms and a great American ensign floated from the jury mast on this last voyage of the former war vessel.

Terrible Extent of Russian Famine.

Full knowledge of the famine in Eastern and Southeastern Russia is beginning to reach the outer world. It is now officially admitted that 31,000,000 persons are suffering acutely.

The Central Aid Committee in St. Petersburg, which has finally been permitted by the Government to collect funds, has issued a strong appeal to the Russian nation and to other countries. Five kopecks (2½ cents) will save a person from starvation for one day.

School Tax Division.

The quarterly distribution of the State school tax, amounting to 300,000 for school tax and $37,500 for book fund, shows that Frederick County's share in the school tax is $12,591.96; in the book fund $1,771.58 Carroll County allotment is $7,793.78 and $1,089.96; Washington County $11,587.17 and $1,606.00.

PROGRESS AND HUSBANDRY

per acre may be substantially increased, primarily depends upon two conditions. Farmers must be made to appreciate the possibilities of scientific methods and taught how to use such methods, and they must be supplied with funds to make the needed changes and improvements. We cannot hope for an increase in the production of foodstuffs in this country to approximate the increase in consumption unless the deserving tiller of the soil can be supplied with the funds he needs at low rates and for long periods.

"For the young man of today there is no vocation that offers greater opportunities for usefulness to society and for profit to himself than the cultivation of the soil. There is no vocation which more surely develops all the talents that a man possesses than farming. Farm life to-day is immeasurably more attractive than it was twenty or even ten years ago. Improved roads, the telephone, rural free delivery, and other conveniences to a large extent have done away with the depressing isolation of country life, and it is now possible for the farmer and his family to take part in the social life of the community.

Under the present conditions, when the farmer needs funds for improvements, additional stock, or new implements, he can only borrow, if at all, in his immediate neighborhood and for short periods. The consequence is that not infrequently he is unable to get funds when needed, and usually he is obliged to pay a higher rate of interest than that to which the nature of his security he has to offer entitles him.

"A committee of the American Bankers' Association is investigating the matter at present. I wish them much success, for the matter is of the greatest importance. The demand for cheap money for the purpose of agriculture is Nation-wide, and the effort to supply it should interest all who appreciate the fundamental importance of National prosperity and progress."

PRESIDENT TAFT ON RECALL OF JUDGES AND DECISIONS

Hard to Devise a More Unjust and Ineffective Method of Purifying Judiciary.—Utterly Without Merit.

President Taft has said a word or two concerning the recall of judges and decisions. In his Toledo speech last Friday he said:

"But it is said we may have corrupt judges. How are we going to get rid of them? They can be impeached under our present system. But that is said to be too cumbersome. Well, amend the procedure of impeachment. Create a tribunal for removal of judges for cause. Give them an opportunity to be heard, and by an impartial tribunal; but do not create a system by which, in the heat of disappointment over a lost cause, the defeated litigants are to decide without further hearing or knowledge whether the judge who decides against them is to continue in office. It would be hard to devise a more unjust and ineffective method of purifying the judiciary or one less likely to promote courage of honest conviction.

"This (recall of judicial decisions) is a remarkable suggestion, and one which is so contrary to anything in government heretofore proposed that it is hard to give it the serious consideration which it deserves, because of its advocates and of the conditions under which it is advanced.

"Such a proposal as this is utterly without merit or utility, and, instead of being progressive, is reactionary; instead of being in the interest of all the people and of the stability of popular government, is sowing seeds of confusion and tyranny."

There are 480,000 saloons in France. That's because France owns the Sahara.

Over in England they are breaking windows because men won't give them what they desire; in Oakland, Cal., she left her husband because she was bored by his kindness. Who would want to be a man?

"They are doing nothing at Annapolis." Welcome news. As long as they keep busy at that we are safe: when they begin to make laws watch out.

To those who look and hope for the total abolition of the drink evil it is suggested they read concerning the last days

A brick, a blackeye and "bam" chief constituents of a "funny" picture in the daily press.

"The delays of modern judicial decisions and the technicalities on which they rested are notorious," says Mayor Gaynor, of New York. And further on "the judiciary of this country is the worst department we have."

Looking back one might reasonably think Taft was the head of a house of correction rather than a cabinet.

VESPERS IN THE VALLEY.

From the "Valley," just at twilight,
On the sweet Spring-scented air,
Floats the chant of holy voices,
Breathing forth an evening prayer.

O'er the meadows wafts the cadence,
Rising, falling with the breeze,
Like the forest hum at evening,
Nature's anthem, through the trees.

Up to Heaven, high ascending,
There o'erheard by martyr, saint—
Rises to the Blessed Mother
This appealing sacred plaint:

"As the dew shades of even,
Gather o'er the balmy air,
Listen, gentle Queen of Heaven,
Listen to my vesper prayer.

"Holy Mother, near me hover,
Free my thoughts from aught defiled,
With Thy wings of mercy cover,
Safe from harm Thy helpless child."

Then from tower, old and sacred,
Chimes the sweet-toned evening bell,
Bearing in melodious measure,
Benisons o'er hill and dell.

Soon the darkness falls and silence
Reigns. The "Valley" now in sleep
Calm reposes, and God's angels O'er it tender vigil keep.

Highway to Gettysburg.

What is known as the Borland plan for the construction of a highway between this city and Gettysburg is now before Congress in the form of a bill introduced by Representative Borland of Mississippi. The bill provides an appropriation of $2,000,000 for the construction of the road, and stipulates that it shall be known as the "Lincoln Highway" or bear some similar appropriate title.

Probably no other public improvement of the magnitude of this highway arouses more sentimental interest or would result in greater practical advantage to the people. While it would benefit first the citizens of Maryland, particularly those who own property along the proposed route, it would be of much wider benefit to the City of Washington and the nation. Gettysburg lies within an easy ride by automobile, and the construction of a good, modern road to the most celebrated battlefield of the civil war would be a matter of great convenience and would minister much to the pleasure of the people of this city. Such a highway would also be a source of delight to thousands of tourists who come to Washington from all parts of the country, and who could take the short side trip to Gettysburg, riding through a picture-que country, part of the way over the very routes over which the contending armies rushed to conflict in 1863.

The propriety of calling the highway by the name of Lincoln is apparent, in as much as it would connect the National Capital with the scene of Lincoln's great address.—Washington Herald.

A Frame Up.

One day Freddie and his sister sneaked surreptitiously into the pantry on a foraging expedition. The only good things to eat were some cookies and a bowl of whipped cream.

"Let's take the cookies," said his sister.

"I'd rather have the cookies myself," replied Freddie, "but if we took them we'd be sure to get caught. The only safe thing to do is to take the cream and then shut the cat up in the pantry."

Taxing Rich to Aid Poor Parsons.

If the report of the committee appointed by the Methodist Episcopal Conference at Philadelphia to investigate the high cost of living as it affects ministers is adopted, ministers of churches drawing high salaries will have to aid their less successful brethren by submitting to an income tax. The report provides for a tax on all ministers' salaries exceeding $800 per annum. The tax varies from 1 to 3 per cent., salaries of $1,000 being taxed at the lesser amount, the levy gradually increasing until it reaches 3 per cent.

THE TEETH AND ORAL HYGIENE

How to Prevent Any Decay of the Teeth.

The tendency of all humanitarian endeavor today is toward prevention of evil. In sociology we no longer rely upon efforts to reform the hardened criminal; we have turned our attention to the child, to save him from the ways of crime. In medicine we no longer only drug and physic the sick; we teach the well how to keep from getting sick. The basic idea of modern sanitation also is prevention, rather than cure. Modern dentistry is no exception to this rule; instead of merely filling holes in decayed teeth or removing them when beyond repair, the higher endeavors of dentistry look to the prevention of decay. Its effort is to teach such care of the mouth as to prevent all disablement and loss of teeth. As long as people are left in ignorance of the fact that proper care will prevent the suffering due to bad teeth, the present conditions of discomfort and disease will continue.

There is a popular and fallacious belief that indigestion and medicines spoil the teeth. Don't believe a word of it! It is merely a plausible, sounding excuse for the very evident results of neglect. If you have indigestion or have to take medicines for other ailments, then you must simply give that much more care to your teeth. The care that is sufficient for one set of teeth is wholly inadequate for another. But given the care that your particular set of teeth demand, you undoubtedly can preserve them to be a comfort and solace to you in your old age.

It is entirely possible today to prevent our children from ever having a cavity in their teeth, and ourselves from ever having any more. How is this done? Simply, by going once a month to what is known as a prophylaxis specialist (prophylaxis being just the highfalutin way of saying prevention), and having the teeth thoroughly cleaned, and then taking such daily care of them as is outlined farther on in this article. The ordinary dentist is as a rule too busy patching up old teeth or putting in new ones, to give the time and attention necessary for properly polishing those that need nothing more than polishing. The specialist also uses finer instruments than does his brother of the drill and forceps, which enables him to remove tartar that may form far up on the tooth beneath the gum, and where a coarser, blunter instrument would not reach, or if it did reach would lacerate the gum and cause pain. It is this growth of tartar under the gums that irritates them and makes them bleed whenever the teeth are brushed, or when biting anything hard like an apple. In very bad cases the gums will bleed at the slightest touch, showing that they are in a high state of inflammation, and will even exude pus.

Nothing is more important for the possession of good teeth than a healthy condition of the gums. What is known as Rigg's disease will attack a neglected mouth, the gums will become soft and spongy, will loosen their hold on the teeth and the latter will naturally drop out. The most glittering teeth that ever flashed a challenge to the eye are worse than useless anywhere but in the mouth that grew them. Hence we want to look well after the gums that hold them safe and fast where they will do the most good. Somehow this reminds one of the old darkey who said he would rather be killed in a railroad accident than in a steamboat explosion for the very illuminating reason that when one is killed on a railroad train "dar you is," but when one is blown up on a steamboat "whar is you?" If the teeth decay you can have them filled and "dar you is," but if your gums refuse to do their manifest duty of hanging on to your teeth "whar is you?"

The above article is from the pen of one, Miss Seuday. I publish this because it will prove interesting to many even though it is not instructive. Next week I will publish an article from another source which will very much counteract the effect of the foregoing, but will prove just as interesting, and we will let you be the judge as to which one is "off its base."

ANNUAL REPORT OF BELL SYSTEM TO STOCKHOLDERS

Over 700,000 New Stations Established—Lines Reach 700,000 Places 10,000 More Than Railroads Do.

The growth of the Bell system, its broader usefulness and resulting prosperity, are shown in the annual report of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company for 1911, by the financial statement and other comparative statistics.

In addition to this usual information, President Vail has made a very comprehensive statement of the policy of the company both in management of its business and in its relations to the public.

The growth of the system is indicated by an increase of 749,906 in the number of stations, making a total at the end of the year of 6,632,625, of which 2,158,454 are operated by connecting companies.

The Bell toll lines now reach 70,500 places, which is 5,000 more than the number of post offices and 10,000 more than the number of railroad stations in the United States. The total wire mileage has been increased to nearly 13,000,000 miles, of which over half is underground, and the new 450-mile subway between Boston and Washington has been completed except for the drawing in of some of the cable.

The traffic over the Bell lines shows a daily average of 24,129,000, or at the rate of 7,770,000,000 connections a year. Comparison of the telephone, telegraph and first-class mail traffic of the United States and of Europe, shows that telephone conversations are 58 per cent. of the whole in the United States and only 23 per cent. in Europe.

There was spent in plant additions $55,660,738, as against $53,582,800 the year before. Estimates for the current year are $56,000,000. There was applied to maintenance and reconstruction during the year $58,840,000, making a total provision for the last nine years of $342,300,000.

AN ODDFELLOW NEARLY 66 YEARS

Initiated at Emmitsburg Into Good Samaritan Lodge No. 46, Now Located at Thurmont.

Last week Mr. James H. Firor, Recording Secretary of Good Samaritan Lodge No. 46, I. O. O. F., of Thurmont, received a communication from Otterville Lodge No. 102, I. O. O. F., of Otterville, Mo., asking information regarding Mr. A. L. Zollinger who became a member of Good Samaritan Lodge in the year 1846, or a little more than a year after the Lodge received its charter.

After searching the archives of the Lodge, a record book was found in which it was recorded that Bro. Zollinger was initiated into the order September 5, 1846, at Emmitsburg, this county. A record of degrees taken was also found. In the year 1849, Bro. Zollinger withdrew from Good Samaritan Lodge and associated himself with Olive Branch Lodge No. 32, of Boonville, Mo., later withdrawing from that Lodge and becoming a member of Otterville Lodge No. 102, of Otterville, Mo., in which he now holds membership. He is now 88 years old, is in good health, and has been an Oddfellow almost sixty-six years.

The object of Otterville Lodge in looking up this record is, that they purpose placing the facts before the Supreme Grand Lodge and secure for Mr. Zollinger "An Honorable Veteran's Jewel."

The Zollinger family were evidently residents of Emmitsburg or vicinity, as George Zollinger, Peter Stem and John Burk, of Emmitsburg, and John B. Picking and Lewis Coliflower, of Thurmont, applied to the Grand Lodge of Maryland in 1845 for a charter for Good Samaritan Lodge, which was organized at Emmitsburg on October 23rd of that year. Several years later the Lodge was moved to Thurmont.—Catoctin Clarion.

It is reasonable to suppose they will raise Cain at Washington about wearing religious garbs in Indian Schools. The form and not the fact is the main thing with that crowd.

The KITCHEN CABINET

NOW the true value of time; snatch, seize and enjoy every moment of it. No laziness, no procrastination; never put off till tomorrow what you can do today.

—Earl of Chesterfield.

KITCHEN COMFORTS.

The kitchen is often the last room in the house to plan for or equip, when it should be the first consideration, for it is here that the large majority of women spend the greatest part of their time.

When it is possible to have the things we want, if our tastes are simple, a painted wall is good, for it can be cleaned and kept sanitary.

A small-sized kitchen is the model these days. We have graduated from the idea of the ancient kitchen, where one walked a day's journey getting the three meals a day.

A kitchen cabinet holding all the necessary cooking materials; a zinc-covered table, a good, well-placed sink high enough to wash dishes in without stooping (one may have words with the plumber before you get it high enough if you are an average woman in height, for they seem to have a deep-seated desire to place all sinks the same height, regardless of the woman who has it to use), and a sink-draining board at the end, are all necessities.

One interesting housewife has a picture hung in her kitchen wall that is an inspiration to her. When washing dishes she can enjoy its beauties and its presence is a constant uplift.

We have passed the day of back-breaking iron kettles and the kitchen utensils may be as artistic in coloring as one's taste desires.

A small rocking chair is a great addition to the kitchen comforts, for one may often drop into it for a moment when waiting for a cake to be baked, or while preparing fruit or vegetables.

Linoleum on a soft wood floor is the easiest on the feet for a floor, and it is so easily kept clean. The floor should harmonize with the wall color, but be darker.

When ironing, place a folded rag under the feet and notice how much less tiring the day's work will be.

When we spend a little more time in planning and furnishing our kitchen and the maid's bedroom, we will perhaps have reduced the servant problem a little towards its lowest terms.

PAPER BAGS IDEAL FOR INVALID COOKERY.

In invalid cookery the eye must be appealed to, as a dish that is attractive in appearance will be more apt to be tasted; and, tasted, it is up to the cook to make it so savory that not a crumb is left.

When preparing food for the invalid, more pains can be taken, as one dish may be more quickly prepared than one for a family.

Minced Chicken With Toast.—Finely mince the breast of a chicken, add a tablespoonful of cream, the yolk of an egg and a little salt. Lay in a greased paper bag with a small piece of toast. Seal and cook six minutes in a hot oven. Serve in the bag.

Chicken Tea.—Cut up a fowl, break the bones and add two tablespoonfuls of water, seal and place the bag on the rack in the oven. Allow forty-five minutes in a slow oven. Strain and serve.

In paper bag cookery not only is the natural flavor of every article of food preserved, but all undesirable flavors are kept out.

For invalid cookery this is a great point in its favor, as the delicate aroma and flavor of the white meats and those suitable for diet in convalescence are so easily dissipated by cooking.

It was one of our ancient wise men who said "that which pleases the palate nourishes." It is most important that the invalid eat that food which is best for building up and repairing waste.

Filletted Poultry.—Slice a carrot, turnip and an onion; add a little ham, a pinch of sugar and salt, and place in the bottom of a well-buttered bag. Slice the breast of a fowl, lay the slices on the prepared vegetables, sprinkle with melted butter, seal and cook six minutes in a slow oven. Dish the fillets, put the vegetables into a sieve or fruit press, press lightly and pour the gravy over the fillets.

Advertising Talks

PERSONAL APPEAL IS SURE

One Way of Advertising That Never Fails to Bring Certain Results.

The subject of advertising in its various phases has been so thoroughly exhausted by professional ad writers that "just a retail merchant" may well hesitate to offer any hints or suggestions unless it be on advertising that pulls, or in other words, brings results—and especially that which will pull trade to a shoe store.

Theoretically, an advertisement should consist of some interesting general reading matter and a description of the goods offered for sale, but this strikes the very difficulty of shoe advertising.

It is practically impossible to describe a shoe in a way that is convincing enough to get good results, as the wide latitude allowed in advertising makes it possible to use exactly the same description for a low priced shoe that is used in describing the highest grades.

One sure way for a shoe store to get results that are lasting is to systematically advertise in the personal appeal way.

Shoe dealers as a rule feel that they either lack the time or the ability to write advertisements, but personal appeal advertisements should be written by some one right in the store.

For a number of years this store has been running copy each week under the heading "Thielbar's Shop Talk."

Shop Talk is merely used as a heading that is general enough to permit any store subject to be taken up.

The personal appeal in the way of Heart to Heart talks on different subjects, store news, talks on fitting, etc., is sure to get a following if persistently kept up.

It does not require an advertising expert to do this. Any merchant can sit at his desk and write just as he would talk to a customer in the store.

Write as convincingly and by all means as truthfully as you would talk and while the results from a professional and artistic standpoint may be lacking you get results and, after all, results are what you are looking for.

Several years ago one of our local Newspapers offered a cash prize for the best advertisement appearing in a certain edition.

The contest was decided by a committee composed of three men prominent in advertising circles from other cities and although they awarded the prize to one store, they made the statement that the ad. of another store would bring the most results.

If it is necessary to sacrifice either results or art in writing shoe advertisements, by all means forget the art and get the results.

Results do not come from one ad. or two, but they will come from the establishment of a personal appeal foundation and then by keeping persistently at it along the same lines.

This plan will bring results in the shape of real permanent customers and not just the shoppers that are blown around with each change of the wind.—Henry W. Thielbar of Peoria, Ill.

"A good many merchants seem to think that people will read the same old ads time and again when they know they wouldn't read the most exciting news or the most interesting story a second time. Ads have got to be changed every issue." —Frank Farrington.

Age of Advertising.

A paper is Leslie's Weekly says: "This is an age of advertising. We cannot do business successfully without it. Recently, when the Chicago papers stopped publication for three days, business in the city stores was practically at a standstill. I remember when certain large establishments in New York boasted that they did not advertise or said that a satisfied customer was the best advertisement. Tiffany, Brokaw Brothers and other well-known houses did not advertise, but they do today, and so does every large concern. In those days the merchant sold his goods over the counter and the manufacturer sent out his salesmen, but today people buy the goods which they want and which they know something about because of the information given by the advertisers.

Wasteful Advertising.

Reasonably correct statistics reveal that about $20,000,000 worth of calendars are used in this country each year for advertising purposes. Perhaps the money thus expended brings fair returns, but the $20,000,000 would accomplish much more for the advertiser if he would use it to get advertisements in the newspapers. The calendars are all right, on the whole, but perhaps half of them are cut to pieces as soon as received by the public. They contain nice pictures and many people cut away the advertising portion and decorate their walls with the pleasing sections.

A Girl of Yesterday

By Martha McCulloch Williams

(Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.)

"It's no use—not the least," Dora said despondently, though her lips curled faintly. "Wear that—thing to the Marstons! I won't. That's flat. I don't expect, of course, to have things like other girls—but this once—well, it seems to me, if father—"

"Shut up!" Prudence, her elder, worn and worried, said imperatively.

"Nag me all you want to, but leave father out. The salt of the earth—that's what he is—so good I don't see how he can have a flirty, flighty child such as you."

Dora was used to such sisterly amenities. There were just the two of them—father did not count. Unlucky, mild, the soul of honor, he had a talent for losing whatever he ventured, so had ceased from venturing—not quite voluntarily, to be sure. Squire Hexly, his wife's father, had tied up his daughter's portion, so it inured solely to the benefit of the two girls. It was safely invested—so safely the income was mighty slender. Hence the chafings of Dora—and Prudence's careworn face.

Prudence loved her father passionately—because she understood him. The fine fibre that made it impossible for him to be shrewd and money-making seemed to her the most wonderful thing in the world. She petted him undemonstratively—chiefly in the way of cooking what he liked, exactly as he liked it. Further, she made Dora keep the peace—mainly by giving the young lady much more than was equitably hers. But she had refused the new party dress, firmly, and spent herself on refurbishing an old one. Dora had already spent much more than her share of the joint income—and Prudence was bent upon buying her father a new greatcoat—he had needed one for two winters at least.

Commonly, she either coaxed Dora out of the sulks, or ended them by herself giving in. This time she did neither. Instead, she nonchalantly took up her shears, saying over her shoulder, "If you are so set against this dress, I know a girl that'll be glad to have it. It only needs a little shortening and a bit off the waist measure to make it fit Elinor Lee—"

"Give it to her and welcome."

"She shan't have it—it's my dress—even if I don't mean to wear it," Dora flashed out. "Hateful thing! She'd feel fine as Friday—though she knew everybody was laughing at her, because she had on my cast-off clothes."

"You don't want them to laugh at her, I suppose," Prudence said argumentatively. Dora gave her a withering look, saying, "You know I don't want her to go. She's so uppish, and forward, always pushing herself into everything."

"I say she's nice—always trying to help along. Tastes differ," Prudence countered loftily, still clutching the shears. "As you say—this is your frock. Wonder if I haven't got something that might do for Elinor? There's my graduating dress—you turn up your nose at it—but those old-fashioned rosebud silks are coming back again."

"Give it to her and welcome—if she comes in it, she will be worse than a laughing stock," Dora said, scowling. Prudence turned sharply on her. "You're my blood—whether or no," she said. "Don't let a beau, more or less, make you so mean and hateful. You're afraid Elinor will cut you out with Tazewell Gray. I hope she won't—he's the best chance you'll ever have—but you won't get him by being so despicable. He has eyes that see deeper than a pretty face—even if it is yours."

"Yet—you won't help me," Dora sniffed, hiding her eyes. "You know how particular he is—that's why I must have something new—"

"You can't! That's the word with the bark on it," Prudence retorted. "But if you'll be sensible, I'll drape my lace shawl over this green satin—and then nobody will know it isn't new—right straight from the city."

It was an enormous sacrifice—made in the interest of peace and matrimony. Dora knew it—the lace shawl was, next to her conscience, Prudence's most cherished possession, an heirloom, fine and costly, descended from a great grandmother, to whom fine and costly things were not rare. It would give distinction to any frock. Instantly, Dora was smiling. She even patted her sister's hand, saying, "Oh, but you are clever, Prue. I won't be naughty again for a whole month."

Then the two fell to work, with the result that Prudence had time next day to fit the rosebud silk to slight, pretty Elinor Lee—and feel more than rewarded by the girl's shy yet genuine gratitude.

"You—you are—better than a fairy godmother, Miss Prue," she said. "Because this beautiful frock won't turn to rags even if I do dance on past 12 o'clock."

The Marston dance reached almost the dignity of a ball. Dora was easily the belle of it—tall and dashing, vivid in color, mobile of face, she caught every eye. The transfigured green satin became her as no other gown had ever done. It swathed her slender, curving shape modestly, yet alluringly. Because she knew she was looking her best, she was at her best—until the unexpected happened.

Elinor was unaccountably late in coming. Truth to tell, she had come long before the rest, and spent the interval in helping kind Mrs. Marston with the fine, last details of supper. She had been wise enough to rest afterward—even to sleep a little while. As a result she came among the dancers dewy-eyed, and as rosy fresh as the flowers upon her frock. They had held color, and showed finely against a ground once white but now the softest cream. The low bodice had a lace berth at top—the frostwork of it was caught up in front with a knot of real pink roses. Tiny ruffles fluffed over the foot of the full skirt. Truly, Elinor's feet, beneath, "like little mice, played in and out." Her mass of fair, wavy hair, simply parted, and coiled low, went beautifully with the gown's lines. Altogether, she was a picture, the sweetest picture in all the world to one pair of eyes—Tazewell Gray's eyes.

He had hung about Dora half a year, all the while conscious of Elinor's attraction. Commonly he had seen her in the world of workaday—a fragment of the huge machine known as public education. Rosy and rose-beset, he knew her for what she was—the woman of all the world to fill and crown his life.

He strode toward her, forgetting all else. But before he came to her, Allan Muir had whisked her off in a waltz. Indeed, for a full hour he could not get near her. Outblossoming the roses of yesterday, she put even Dora in the shade. Partners, the most finicky, the most eligible, swarmed about her—her card was full in a twinkling. By way of keeping the peace she even parted dances between the young fellows she knew best.

Tazewell would have no such partnership. Audaciously, in the face of an eager partner, he drew Elinor out on the piazza to say:

"Girls of yesterday didn't flirt—you look the part—are you going to live up to it?"

"No—because I don't know how," Elinor murmured, drooping lightly toward him.

Then and there he kissed her—quite forgetting Dora.

FIND REST IN NEEDLEWORK

More Women Should Realize the Beneficial Effects Such Employment Has on the Nerves.

Not many realize what a restful effect needlework has on one, and it has this great advantage over books, that one is not lost to all around. One woman of artistic tastes goes to the museum and makes sketches of well-known pieces of art needlework and tapestry designs, and then sets to work to copy them. And the woman who would look charmingly picturesque well knows she is most fascinating sitting before a frame, with exquisite colored silks near her.

But this kind of needlework needs more thought than white work. As one sews, the thoughts come fast. One remembers one's grandmother, showing one how to put the needle in, and advising stroking the cotton under the hem neatly, when an impatient beginner would tie a knot. One also remembers the beautiful work she accomplished.

That strange and interesting woman Princess Helene von Racowitz, in her memoirs, amusingly describes her first attempt at tailoring, with which she was delighted. And she says ever since her first success she has made all her own clothes, including lingerie. The princess must be a monument of patience and cleverness, because the making of gowns, in these days, is an art not lightly acquired.

MONOTONY OF DAILY MENU
Introduction of a Little Imagination
Into Our Dinner Table Fare
Much to Be Desired.
There is no doubt that, in spite of all our boasted modern luxury, there is a singular monotony about the things we habitually eat. Pork being voted anathema by modern dyspeptics, and veal being out of favor, we fall back, year in, year out, on beef and mutton, varied by pheasant in winter and fowls which come from strange lands beyond the seas during the remaining period.
In fish, too, we are curiously exclusive and conservative, so that the modern fashion of hors d'oeuvres—first introduced from Russia—was seized upon with avidity as a delicious change from the predestined soup, fish and roast. In Rome during the olden days they had other views on entertaining than we have nowadays, and flamingo's brains were ordinary items in the regal feasts of the period; also fig-peckers from Samos, and African snails formed part of a modish menu before Rome began her final decadence. Without going the length of using these exotic delicacies we might introduce a little imagination into our dinner table fare.

EGGS IN TOMATO SAUCE
Nicely Seasoned Stuffing Gives This Dish a Most Appetizing Flavor.
Cut six hard boiled eggs in half,
cross wise, and remove the yolks.
Mash these fine with a spoonful of butter half a cup of bread crumbs slightly moistened with milk, and a little finely minced parsley or scraped onion, and salt and pepper to taste.

Fill the halves firmly with this mixture, press them together and serve in hot tomato sauce garnished with parsley.

NEW WAY TO SCRAMBLE EGGS
Ham, Onions and Mushrooms Enter Into Glorified Form of This Breakfast Dish.

The member of your family who scorns scrambled eggs may enjoy them in a new, glorified form. Cut thin slices of ham in strips like matches. Mince an onion. Fry both in butter seasoned with salt and pepper, and when nearly done add three or four slices of mushrooms. Make a circle of the ham and onions, and place the scrambled eggs in the center, garnishing with parsley.

Another variation is to spread round croutons with a layer of sweet red pepper cooked, then the scrambled eggs, then a sprinkling of truffles.
All scrambled eggs must be served at once, and must not be tough.

Sausage Meat.
Take 2½ pounds of fat pork, fat and lean, ½ pound lean fresh beef and run through the chopper. To each pound add 1½ teaspoons sage, ½ teaspoon summer savory, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-3 teaspoon of pepper, a little cayenne (I use level teaspoon). Be careful about putting in the seasoning. Fry a bit and test rather than get in too much. Mix thoroughly and press into a dish. Cover with wax paper.
Keep cool and slice as needed. Fry or bake. If gravy is liked, turn off fat, which is nice to warm over potatoes in, add a little water, thicken, salt, pepper, a pinch of sage, a bit of butter. Fine with baked potatoes.

Scotch Shortbread.
Cream a quarter of a pound of butter with one ounce of castor sugar; dredge in a quarter of a pound of flour and one ounce of ground rice;
mix well with a spoon until a smooth paste. No liquid must be added; put on a floured board, roll out to about three-quarters of an inch thick; cut in to square cakes, pinch the edges into shape, bake in a moderate oven till firm but not brown, sift sugar over whilst hot.

Quick Cookies.
Mix well together one and one-half tablespoonful of lard, one teaspoonful salt and two cupfuls of sugar. Then add two well beaten eggs and enough flour to make a dough suitable to handle easily, spice or flavoring to suit the taste. This should not be kneaded, but rolled out thin, cut into shapes and baked in a moderate oven.

Mountain Dew Pudding.
Three rolled crackers, one pint of milk, yolks of two eggs, butter the size of an egg. Bake for 20 minutes, beat the whites, add one-half cupful of sugar, put on top and brown; flavor with lemon. Steam or bake.

Bellevue Stratford Salad.
One tablespoon chopped English walnut meats, 1 tablespoon chopped celery, 1 tablespoon chopped filberts or hazel nut meats, 1 tablespoon chopped apple or orange broken into bits. Over this place heated salad dressing.

Practical Fashions
LADY'S OVERBLOUSE.

5680

An overblouse is a clever addition to any woman's wardrobe. With its use the effect of several different gowns is given where there was only one garment originally.

The design here illustrated is made in one piece, closing at the left side.
It is finished with a straight pep-um.
The material to be used must match the skirt with which the blouse is to be worn.

The pattern (No. 5680) is cut in sizes from 32 to 42 inch bust measure. To make the overblouse in the medium size will require 1¼ yards of 36 inch material.

To procure this pattern send 10 cents
to "Pattern Department," of this paper.
Write name and address plainly, and be sure to give size and number of pattern.

LADY'S WAIST.

5678

This pretty waist has stylish revers and plaited pepum. It is a design suitable for the fashioning of a dressy waist and may be made of cashmere or silk. The revers are of contrasting material. The waist is tucked at the shoulders, front and back. At the front the tucks are released at bust depth to provide becoming fullness and in the back they run to the belt.

The pattern (No. 5678) is cut in sizes from 32 to 42 inch bust measure. To make the waist in the medium size will require 2½ yards of 36 inch material.

To procure this pattern send 10 cents

Rally to Fight Tuberculosis.
Nearly 2,000 organizations of various kinds are engaged in the fight against tuberculosis and new agencies have been formed during the past year at the rate of about one a day, according to a statement by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. These anti-tuberculosis agencies include 618 associations and committees; 451 sanatoria, hospitals and camps; 365 dispensaries and clinics; and 91 open-air schools. If to these were added 200 state and local boards of health and a number of other institutions, such as hospitals for the insane and penal institutions making special provision for tuberculosis cases, the total number of agencies engaged in tuberculosis work would be swelled to nearly 2,000.

PERSONALS.

It is the aim of THE CHRONICLE to publish as many personal and social items as possible, but it frequently happens that those who have guests visiting them, and those who entertain, fail to send a list of their friends, or an account of these events, to this office. Readers who live at a distance are always interested in what is going on "at home," and for that reason, if for no other, this column should be filled every week. It is of course understood that anonymous contributions will not be published. Names of persons furnishing items will be withheld.

Mrs. James B. Elder visited her mother, living near Harney, on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hoke went to Baltimore on Tuesday. Mr. Hoke returned on Wednesday. Mrs. Hoke will remain in the city for several weeks.

Mrs. Bertha McCurdy and children are visiting in Hagerstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Ohler, Mr. George Shorb and three children, Bertha, Daniel and William, Mr. Jerry Overholtzer, Mrs. James Bouey and Mrs. Albert Dicken and children, Artie and Florence, spent Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Shorb.

Mrs. Isaiah Ohler spent several days with her daughter, Grace, in Thurmont.

Mr. Maurice A. Topper, Mr. and Mrs. William Troxell and sons, Henry and Robert, and Mrs. Joseph Orndorff and children, Alice and Lawrence, spent Sunday of last week at the home of Mr. Wm. J. Topper.

Miss Emma Rider, of this place, spent Sunday at the home of Miss Rosella Adams.

Mr. Otto Hahn, of the College bakery, spent Sunday with Mr. Clarence Adams.

Judge Worthington was in town on Monday.

Mr. B. M. Kershner, of Hagerstown, spent Sunday here.

Mrs. Roger Geisbert, who spent a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Agnew, has returned to Frederick.

Guy K. Motter, Esq., was here on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Rosensteel visited in Washington on Saturday.

Misses Clara Mae Rowe and Mary Ellen Eyster spent a few days in Taneytown this week.

Mr. Clarence G. Frailey was in Gettysburg on Monday.

Mr. Hahn, of Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., visited here on Tuesday.

Misses Mary and Isabelle Snively, of Greencastle, were in Emmitsburg on Wednesday.

Mr. Roland K. Hoke, of Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., is spending his Spring vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hoke.

Mr. John H. Matthews visited in Lewistown on Thursday.

Mrs. Catherine Welty returned from Philadelphia on Saturday.

Miss Elizabeth Rowe returned from an extended trip to Baltimore on Wednesday. She visited her brother, Charles, at Maryland University, and also Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hays.

Misses Nellie Bennett and Mamie Barnes, of Baltimore, spent a few days at the home of Mr. David Rhodes.

Messrs. Robert and Charles Sellers are spending their vacation at their home. Both are students at Bucknell University.

Miss Fannie Hoke spent a few days this week with Dr. and Mrs. Jordy, in Hanover, Pa.

Mr. Rohrback First Candidate.

Ex-Senator Jacob Rohrback has filed his certificate of nomination with the Board of Election Supervisors, as a candidate for judge of the Sixth Judicial Circuit, comprising Frederick and Montgomery counties. A fee of $25 is required of candidates from each county. Mr. Rohrback was the first to file his papers with the supervisors.

Former Resident Dead.

Mrs. Mary M. Campbell, widow of the late Blackford Campbell, formerly of Emmitsburg, died Saturday, March 2, at the home of her niece, Mrs. Joe Rogerson Gormley, Ontario, Canada. She was in her 82nd year. Previous to going to Canada she lived in Gettysburg.

Wrecked by Nervous Nuts.

A good deal of excitement was created last week at a public sale near Fairfield, by a nervous mule. Harry O. Myers was kicked in the back, and a son of Henry Cool, of Liberty township, had his nose broken by the same instrument.

Rev. Father Coad, of Mt. St. Mary's College, will assist at high mass next Sunday at St. Anthony's.

Attorney Wise says the Sugar Trust broke the Tenth Commandment. It is dollars to doughnuts they didn't recognize it under that name.

On Wednesday the horses hitched to a load of hay took fright at a passing motorcycle in front of the home of Burgess Rowe and upset the wagon, breaking a wheel. One of the horses with considerable effort extricated himself from the upset wagon, much to the surprise of the curious crowd that quickly gathered.

Mr. and Mrs. David Rhodes celebrated their golden wedding on Monday. The felicitations of their many friends are extended them.

Spring came in with thunder and lightning. The first day of spring is usually the 21st but for the first time in 3,333 years it came this year on the 20th. There is a difference of three ten-thousandths of a day each year between the tropical year and the calendar year. Wednesday was the one day in 3,333 years in which enough of these three ten-thousandths of days had piled up to make the vernal equinox fall a whole day earlier.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wastler last Friday. It was a 12-pound baby.

JAMES T. HAYS.

On Monday afternoon Mr. James T. Hays, head of the firm of J. T. Hays & Son, died after an illness of a few weeks, at his residence on West Main street. The funeral service was held in the Presbyterian Church on Wednesday, Rev. Mr. Hensley officiating. The interment was made in the Presbyterian Cemetery. Mr. Hays lacked a few days of being eighty years old.

Mr. Hays was a descendant of Jonathan Hays, an officer in the British army stationed at Elizabethtown, Pa., prior to the Revolutionary War. Jonathan Hays, and his twelve sons settled then in the Monocacy Valley where they became landowners, and the family has been prominent in this locality ever since.

Mr. James T. Hays was the son of Thomas Hays and in his earlier years was a millwright. Later he formed a partnership with Joseph Hays under the firm name of J. & J. T. Hays.

In January, 1856, J. & J. T. Hays bought the Emmitsburg foundry, taking possession on March 15, 1856. They manufactured threshing machines, plows, stoves and general castings. In 1867 the firm was dissolved, Joseph Hays taking the foundry and James T. Hays the stove department. This business has been carried on continuously by James T. Hays for 54 years, thereafter by James T. Hays & Son. In these years the business broadened out. Several patents owned by the firm formed the nucleus of a lucrative business. The Hays acetylene light plant long made by this firm has been extremely popular.

On January 4, 1859, Mr. Hays married Miss Sarah A. Witherow, who survives him. Mr. and Mrs. Hays had four children, two sons and two daughters. Thomas C. is the only surviving son. The daughters are Mrs. E. D. Snively, of Greencastle, and Miss Sarah Weinert at home.

ATTEMPT AT MURDER AND SUICIDE NEAR FAIRFIELD

Berenice Carbaugh Seriously Injured by James Hurley who Afterwards Kills Himself With Shot in Head.

On Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock James Hurley living near Iron Spring store, not far from Fairfield, made an unsuccessful attempt on the life of Miss Berenice Carbaugh and afterwards with the same weapon shot himself in the head, dying from the wound at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Hurley went to Fairfield and at Rein-dollar's store purchased the revolver. evidently, with the intention of murdering Miss Carbaugh. He met the girl and shot four times at her but did not succeed in inflicting a fatal wound, although the chances of her recovery are slight. After the struggle with the girl he shot the remaining shell with better aim, the bullet entering his brain. The attack on Miss Carbaugh was made between Maria Furnace and home of Mr. Washington Gladhill.

As soon as possible Drs. Trout and Glenn, of Fairfield, were summoned and everything is being done to save the young lady's life.

It seems that Hurley's attention to Miss Carbaugh was not desirable to her family and he was denied the privilege of calling on her. It is supposed that this was the cause of his attempt at her murder.

Class of 1914 Entertained.

The class of 1914 of Emmitsburg High School with faculty, Miss Maude Dorsey and Prof. P. F. Strauss, were entertained by Mr. Loy Summers at his grandparents' home, on Monday evening. Eleven members of the class were present.

BILLS BEFORE LEGISLATURE RELATIVE TO EMMITSBURG

There follows below a list of bills placed before the General Assembly of Maryland by Senator Mathias, the same relative to this district:

No. 23.—Making it the duty of savings banks and other institutions and corporations receiving deposits of money and paying interest thereon, to pay over to the burgess and commissioners of Emmitsburg one half of the franchise tax they are now required to pay by existing law. The other half to go to the State and county.

No. 232.—Amending the charter of the Emmitsburg Railroad Company, authorizing and empowering it to conduct and operate a general express service over its own road, its extensions and connections, and to make traffic agreements with other express companies, and to charge such rates of compensation therefor as its Board of Directors from time to time may determine.

No. 275.—Amending charter of Emmitsburg Savings Bank that the capital stock shall be $25,000, divided into 2500 shares; and that the holder of certificates for weekly deposits may surrender said certificates and receive a like amount of the par value of the capital stock, or shall receive in cash the face value of the certificates for weekly deposits, and when all such certificates shall have been surrendered to said bank no more shall be issued; and that the bank shall be subject to the provisions of Article II, of Public General Laws, title "Bank."

No. 301.—Repealing Article 33, section 28 of General Laws, relating to elections and registration in its application to Frederick county, and to reenact it with amendments to read somewhat as follows: All persons who move into Frederick county from another State can register their intention of becoming citizens before a justice of the peace.

No. 350.—Authorizing and empowering the burgess and commissioners of Emmitsburg to contract with the Emmitsburg Water Company and pay the same the sum of $7.50 per fire plug and that there shall not be less than twenty such plugs, to be erected and maintained by the Water Company. To carry out this provision the burgess and commissioners are authorized and directed to levy annually upon taxable property, in addition to corporate taxes now allowed, not to exceed eight cents on the $100.

No. 396.—Authorizing the County School Commissioners to pay annually in their discretion, a sum of money not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars, to the Sisters of Charity of Saint Euphemia's School, from the money received by them from the County Commissioners of Frederick county for school purposes for educating colored children in said school.

McSherry Will Case Compromised.

A compromise was effected on Sunday in the will case of Mrs. Clara McAleer McSherry, wife of the late Chief Judge James McSherry. While the terms of the settlement are withheld, it is understood that J. Roger McSherry, of Chicago; Mrs. Bertha McSherry Wimsatt, of Washington, and Mrs. Clara Louise Alveres, of New York, who were given but $5 each by the terms of the will, will receive a satisfactory portion of the $50,000 estate. Judge McSherry died in 1907 and he bequeathed his entire estate of $50,000 to his widow absolutely, with power at her death to devise as she chose.

Five thousand people make a good-sized town, yet more than this number are employed at STRAWBRIDGE & CLOTHIER'S in Philadelphia. In addition to the immense business of our Retail Store, thousands of good merchants all over the country sell STRAWBRIDGE & CLOTHIER'S Suits, Coats, Skirts, Linens, Upholstery Materials, Underwear, Hosiery and Dress Fabrics. We prefer that you buy of your local dealer if he carries our goods—and he should if he handles merchandise of quality and distinction. If you cannot obtain the lines you wish in your own town, write for a free copy of the Spring and Summer Fashion Catalogue of our Retail Store which is now ready. Address Strawbridge & Clothier, Philadelphia. 3-15-2ts

DEVOE TAKES LEAST GALLONS: ALWAYS

Paint Devoe; its the cheapest paint in the world: never mind the price; it may or may not be more. Less gallons will paint the house; and the paint will outwear anything.

Skip wear; you've got to wait, to find that out. It covers more; you haven't got to wait to find that out.

It's the cheapest of all; no matter about the price. M A Thomas, painter, Lynchburg, Va., writes: "The first job I did with your paint I estimated 37 gallons; had 12 gallons left. Since then I have used Devoe altogether and recommend it to all my customers. When I commence a job, I tack up a card reading as follows: M A Thomas, contractor; Devoe Paint."

That's how. Sold by J. THOS. GELWICKS.

"There is a corner in pearls." Not in any we wear.

To the Voters of Frederick County.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the nomination as the Democratic candidate for Associate Judge of the Sixth Judicial Circuit composed of Frederick and Montgomery counties, and respectfully solicit your support and influence at the primary election to be held on May 6, 1912.

SPECIAL MEETING

—OF—

County Commissioners.

Frederick, Maryland, March 11, 1912.

The County Commissioners will meet at their office at the Court House on Monday, April 1st, 1912, at 10 o'clock A. M., and will continue in session three weeks to hear appeals from assessments, assess new property, consider pension applications and for the transaction of general business.

The following schedule of districts has been adopted:

FIRST WEEK.

April 1 and 2—General Business.

April 3—Creegetown and Emmitsburg Districts.

April 4—Hauvers and Woodsboro Districts.

April 5—Catoctin and Urbana Districts.

April 6—Buckeystown and Middletown Districts.

SECOND WEEK.

April 8—Woodville and Linganore Districts.

April 9—Liberty and New Market Districts.

April 10—Petersville and Mt. Pleasant Districts.

April 11—Jefferson and Mechanicstown Districts.

April 12—Jackson and Johnsville Districts.

April 13—Lewistown and Tuscarora Districts.

THIRD WEEK.

April 15—Burkittsville, Ballenger and Braddock Districts.

April 16—Brunswick and Walkersville Districts.

April 17—Frederick District.

April 18, 19 and 20—Pension Days.

The attention of all taxables is especially directed to this notice, as no abatement will be made nor any credit allowed after the 30th day of April, 1912, until the levy of this year shall have been completed. Persons having erected new buildings, or made additions and improvements to their old buildings, and those acquiring additional personal property would do well to report the valuation of same, otherwise they may be assessed excessively.

Those disposing of personal property are earnestly requested to report the same, and bring their sale books to this office before May 1st if they wish to be relieved from taxes on same this year.

By order,

LINCOLN G. DINTERMAN,

President.

SHALL WE SEND YOU A WONDERFUL PICTURE

Costing Hundreds of Dollars, of the Great Baltimore Harbor as it looks after being built up since the great fire in 1904, with its fifteen million dollar piers? This picture was taken from the top of the Emerson Bromo Seltzer Tower 310 feet high and shows the Big River and Ocean Going Vessels, a vast portion of the city the entire harbor, the eastern Shore of Maryland and miles and miles of surrounding Country.

IF YOU LIKE IT

Tell us so, it is the front cover of J. Bolgiano and Son's Seed Catalogue for 1912. It plainly shows Bolgiano's New Pier and Warehouses and Bolgiano's Seed Store both on the water front.

IT'S FREE

Although Bolgiano's 1912 Catalogue costs many thousands of dollars to produce—having over 300 half tone illustrations. We will send it to you free if you plant Garden Seeds, Field Seeds or Flower Seeds or users of Poultry Foods and supplies—but we cannot afford to give it free to those who do not use these items—the edition is limited so send for one to day before they are all gone.

FOR A 2c. STAMP
We will also send a 25c. Poultry Record for one year.

Event for School Athletes.

Invitations are out to the school boys of Maryland to attend the annual track and field meet, to be held at the Maryland Agricultural College, College Park, Md., on the eleventh of May. The meet last year at the Agricultural College was a great success, and the boys from a number of county schools throughout the State won gold medals in different events.

Running and jumping represent a good, healthful sort of out-door exercise, and the boys would do well to train for the Agricultural College games, and enter the contests on May 11th.

Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded as last year. Any of our school boys who may want a booklet on "How To Train" may secure it free of charge upon application. The entry blanks will be mailed to all the county schools. Extra copies and the book on training may be secured free of charge by applying to Professor C. S. Richardson, College Park, Md.

"Dr. Wiley is evasive" says a heading. What could you expect from a wily doctor.

MIDDLEBURG.

Pauline, the little daughter of Mrs. Harry Myers, who suffered for a week with diphtheria, died last Saturday morning and was buried in the evening in the Reformed cemetery at Taneytown. Two more children, Ruth and Annie, are now suffering with the same disease, the former being critically ill and little hope is entertained of her recovery.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fisher was buried last Friday in the M. E. cemetery.

Mr. Charles Mackley, of Westminster, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Mackley.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Coleman, Mrs. Mollie Miller, Mrs. Ed. Angell, Mrs. Mrs. Chas. Hyde and Miss Edwina McKinney attended the funeral of Mrs. Jacob Coleman in Thurmont last Monday.

In spite of the muddy roads a goodly number came out on Monday evening to hear Miss Ola Bidwell. Those who failed to come missed a rare treat as her ability as a singer, musician and elocutionist was considered by those present to be the finest ever heard here. We certainly hope she may pay our town another visit.

Miss Clara Mackley is visiting friends in Frederick.

LOYS AND VICINITY.

Mr. Herbert F. Martin, of Sykesville, and Mr. T. A. Martin, of Taneytown, spent Monday here.

Mr. Charles Tressler, of Rocky Ridge, spent Monday with friends in this place. Mr. Elmer J. Pittinger visited Thurmont on Thursday.

Mr. Harvey B. Ogle and children, spent Thursday with Mrs. D. Henry Havener, of near Creagerstown.

Mr. Lemuel Long spent a few days with his uncle, Mr. Calvin L. Putman, of near Lewistown.

Mr. Edward Firor of Baltimore visited his sister, Miss Catherine Firor for a few days.

Mrs. Harvey Valentine and family, of near Motter's spent one day recently with Mr. Denton Wachter and family.

Mr. William A. Shorb, of Long's Mill, spent Friday with friends in this vicinity.

Miss Hazel M. Boller, of Millersville, Pa., is spending two weeks' vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey R. Boller.

Mr. Irvin Fisher, of Waynesboro, has moved again to his property which he bought from his brother, Mr. Newton Fisher.

There will be a great many changes in residence made this Spring in our neighborhood. Mr. Denton Wachter moves to the property he purchased near Motter's; Mr. Harry Boone, of near Johnsville, moves to the property vacated by Mr. Wachter; Mr. Howard Eigenbrode will move to near Franklinville; Mr. Robert Grabill to the place vacated by Mr. Eigenbrode; Mr. Lewis Smith will move to Thurmont.

Owings Creek was very high on Friday.

Miss Minnie Tressler, of Rocky Ridge, is spending some time with her mother, Mrs. Samuel Martin.

Miss Ella Eyler, of Thurmont, spent Sunday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. John M. Eyler.

Messrs. Calvin G. Colbert and Clarence C. Pittinger spent Sunday very pleasantly with Mr. Charles Haines and family, of near Hoover's mill.

Mr. Elmer and Miss Annie Pittinger and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Moser, of Key Mar, spent Sunday evening with Mr. Samuel Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Moser, of Key Mar, is spending a few days with Mrs. Moser's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Washington Pittinger.

A large barn of Mr. Charles Haines near Hoover's mill was destroyed by fire on Sunday morning last between 6 and 7 o'clock. Four head of horses, 9 head of cattle, 10 head of hogs and a lot of hay and farming implements were destroyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Martin spent Sunday with Mrs. William Wood and family of Rocky Ridge.

FIRE EXTINGUISHER IS HANDY

Many Small Conflagrations Easily Smothered by Use of Home-Made and Cheap Device.

A home-made fire extinguisher, easily made and always ready for use, can be easily made by anyone, as shown in the accompanying illustration. Procure the required number of thin, flat pint or quart bottles, make a solution composed of one gallon of water, three pounds of salt and one and one-half pounds of sal ammoniac, says the Homestead. Fill the bottles not quite full, and cork.

Home-Made Fire Extinguisher.

seal the corks over with any sealing wax, tie a stout cord around the neck of each bottle and hang in any handy place. In case of fire, shake one of the bottles slightly to mix contents and throw in such a manner that it will break as close as possible to the fire. A gas is formed that will smother out the fire. By using the inexpensive extinguishers many small conflagrations may be prevented and many times the small fire will cause the big one if not placed under control in time.

EFFECTIVE TRAP FOR RATS

Water-Tight Barrel Placed in Dark Corner of Barn With Head Knocked Out Is Good.

A simple but effective rat trap can be constructed in any barn by simply setting in a dark corner a water-tight barrel, with the head knocked out and the top made accessible to the rats by placing boxes near it or arranging boards or poles so as to enable them to climb up, says the Northwest Homestead. The barrel needs to be filled about two-thirds full of such rubbish as corn cobs and chips and something put on top to entice the rats. After they become familiar with the surroundings, which they will in about a week if present, the barrel should be cleaned out and filled about three-quarters full of water; enough chaff should then be thrown in to cover the water and with it a block of wood, on each side of which a piece of bacon has been tacked. This will induce the first rat to jump in to eat the bacon, the next one will not hesitate to do likewise, and then there will be a fight for the possession of the block. The noise will attract other rats, and when they get in, no matter how many there may be up to a certain extent they will all drown.

PANEL FENCE IS EXCELLENT

Among Other Advantages It Can Be Fastened to Posts Without the Use of Nails.

In building the larger part of all board fences made, the boards are nailed to the posts, which is a mistake. The posts rot off after a few years and the fence goes down. It is then impossible to pull the nails and get the boards off without splitting them. Panels like the one shown in the sketch are wired to the posts, says the Homestead. When the post breaks off the wires are loosened and another post set in its place. These panels will last nearly half a century and outstand several sets of posts. The space between the boards should be increased from bottom to top. The up and down pieces extend below the bottom board to keep the panel up from the ground, also two inches above the top board so that when the end becomes soft the strength will not be lessened where the nails go through. Another advantage of this kind of fence is that when one wants to drive from one field to another a panel can be easily opened at any point.

Panel Fence.

A LUCKY BEGGAR.

Robert Newman telephoned the police: "I want you to find my trousers," he said. "Did you look under the mattress?" asked the telephone clerk in the chief's office. "No," said Newman. "Give me the description," he said. "All right. The number on the case is 5,574,561 and the number on the works is 5,133,475."

"What are you talking about, anyway?" "My watch." "I thought it was your trousers." "Yes, the watch was in the trousers' pocket. A beggar called here and asked me to give him a pair of trousers. I did. After he was gone I discovered I gave him the ones with my watch in them. Find that beggar, will you?"

A Solemn Duty.

"Why did Bangs change his iron-gray hair to black?" "Because his fiancée thought the gray in his hair made him look too old for her, and he thought it was his duty to obey his sweetheart's dyeing request."

PLAY TO FORM.

With pious mien he goes to church, For probity has great renown; But his religion seems to lurch Whenever his wife is out of town.

Not Polite as the Neighbors.

Mental Treatment.

Farmer A—I've been thinking of having that field plowed for quite a spell. Farmer B—Well, turnin' it over in your mind ain't agoin' ter fix it for crops.

For Value Received.

Hubby—I won't say marriage is a failure, but some are more fortunate in what they get than others. Wife—You are quite right, dear; for instance, you got me, but I—got only you.—Tatler.

Like Case.

"A political party and a man with a monkey are in much the same need." "What is that?" "They both want an organ to support them."

OUT OF SIGHT.

Henpeck—Johnson has joined the silent army. Henderson—Dead? Henpeck—No; married.

Distance.

He sat beside her lovingly; She answered with a smile; "You will not be so near to me When hoopskirts are in style."

The Reason.

"So your teacher does not approve of your wearing rats." "No, the old cat."

The Usual Way.

"Are you keeping any of your good resolutions now?" "Yes—in cold storage."

It Made A Difference

"Here!" burst out the young man suspiciously after his sister had knocked at his door the sixth time to ask if there wasn't something she could do to help him get ready for the party to which he was going. "What's the matter, anyhow, Em? Do you think I'm so decrepit that I'm not able any longer to attire myself or is it that you love me so you can't keep away from me?"

"I think you're horrid and rude," said the young man's sister, opening the door and entering. "Of course I'm fond of you, Jimmy. Fonder than you realize. I always have your best interests at heart."

"Is it a touch?" he asked surprised. "So soon after the holidays, too?"

"Jimmy," said his sister, seating herself and shaking her head at him sorrowfully, "you haven't a bit of sentiment or any of the finer emotions, have you? I don't want a thing! I just wanted to talk to you. Why don't you get married?"

The young man laid down the clothes brush he was using and, leaning toward her, stared. "Don't you feel well?" he asked with solicitude in his voice.

"Do you think you are funny?" she asked, indignantly.

"Mostly," said the young man, going on with his brushing, "a fellow's mother and sister throw spasms if he suggests matrimony for himself and the whole family has hysterics, so I don't understand you."

"I'd just love to see you married, Jimmy," his sister declared, eagerly. "Honestly! Nothing would please me more than to have you pick out the right sort of girl and settle down in your own comfortable little home. Think how nice it would be for me to have a sister and what fun she and I could have together and how glad I would be for you—"

"Would you really feel that way, sis?" the young man asked, with interest. "I hadn't any idea—I thought you'd cut up a terrible row if I did such a thing!"

"That's all you know about me, Jimmy," his sister insisted, sweetly. "You don't appreciate the depth of my affection in the least! Why, I would be a selfish, horrid creature if I didn't want you to be happy! I can't imagine why you should have got such an idea in your head! And you're such an all around fine boy, too, that you deserve a mighty fine girl, let me tell you!"

"I am astonished," declared the young man, seriously. "All these revelations are overwhelming. Particularly after the years of sisterly lectures on which I have been brought up! I thank you!"

"Oh, be mean if you want to," said his sister. "Only I hope you'll be on your best behavior the next two weeks because I have a guest coming. Of course, I don't expect you to give up your engagements to help me out, but if you could find time to be a little nice to Harriet I'd be obliged. You've heard me talk of her—tall and a raving beauty and the family has heaps of money and she refused a millionaire the year she—"

"I see it all," said the young woman's brother. "You want me to fall in love with Harriet and marry her!"

"Now, Jimmy!" protested his sister. "How absurd of you! As though I didn't think you could manage your own affairs without my help! You'll be perfectly crazy about her complexion and she is the sweetest—but I wouldn't have you think, not for the worlds, that I had any notion like that in mind. I was just speaking in the abstract. Just in a general way. You are such a suspicious person!"

"I see," said her brother, searching out his dress muffler. "It is merely that you feel it is time for me to marry and settle down and you have no ulterior motives—you'd be perfectly happy if you could be sure that I was happy—is that it?"

"Of course," said his sister. "I'm surprised that you could think anything else. Harriet certainly has a way with her. And they have I don't know how many automobiles and a place on Long Island and she'd be the loveliest sort of a girl to have in the fam—"

"You don't know how relieved I am," interrupted the young man, reaching up for his silk hat box, "to find you have such warm hearted sympathy and so much interest in my future. It makes it easier to tell you that I've just got engaged to Marion Brooks—the one we went to school with!"

"James Henry Ward!" gasped his sister, as she fumbled for her handkerchief. "That girl! That insignificant, poor as poverty, ordinary girl, when—and I don't see why you want to get married, anyhow—aren't you perfectly comfortable here at home? Men are such idiots!"

Discrepancy Somewhere.

Aviators are popularly supposed to be men of iron nerve and perfect physical condition. Yet the great Verdines was rejected for military service on account of physical shortcomings and a special arrangement has had to be made by which his services as an aviator might be utilized during the French maneuvers.

DISHES A LITTLE OUT OF THE ORDINARY.

Variety is the spice of life, and often a change of food, a different manner of serving and garnishing it will awaken a sluggish appetite.

When serving a baked or fried fish, and wish to add a sauce to further the food value and make it more attractive, try:

Green Sauce for Fish.—Make a good rich white sauce, using much rich milk, or, better, cream in the making. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add an equal amount of flour and when thoroughly cooked add a cup of rich milk or thin cream. Cook until smooth, add yolk of egg, beaten, and two tablespoonfuls of cooked spinach put through a sieve. Season well with white pepper and salt and fold in a quarter of a cup of thick whipped cream just before serving.

Baked Corn With Minced Meat.—Into two large cups of corn put a cupful of minced chicken or ham, one-half cup of thin cream; season with salt, pepper and onion juice, add one egg beaten. Mix and put into a baking dish, cover with crumbs and bake. Dot with bits of butter and serve.

Combination Salad.—For this salad there is a wide range, as one may use almost any vegetable or fruit. Too many kinds of either fruits or vegetables are not good to serve, or too many colors. A few string beans that have been marinated in a little French dressing and added to potato salad, makes a good combination.

Any little left-overs like corn or bits of green peppers are also an addition to a plain potato salad. One should not forget to add a little shredded onion for flavor to almost every vegetable salad.

A few cut-up dates or figs or raisins added to an apple salad, or in fact almost any fruit salad.

The pineapple is delicious to the taste, a remedy for indigestion and an all-round good fruit tonic. In combination with grape fruit it makes a most delectable salad with French dressing.

SOME HOT BREAKFAST DISHES.

For a cold frosty morning a hot cake is most acceptable. Waffles are cakes that are more wholesome than the ordinary griddle cakes as they are cooked crisp and brown.

Waffles.—Mix and sift one and a fourth cups of flour with a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt and half a teaspoonful of soda. Separate the whites and yolks of two eggs, beat well and add one cupful of thick sour milk to the yolks; stir in the dry ingredients and add three tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Cut and fold in the whites of the eggs and bake on a well-greased waffle iron.

Oatmeal Muffins.—Mix and sift together one and one-half cupfuls of flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of sugar. Cut in one-fourth of a cup of butter, add a half of a cup of milk gradually, one beaten egg and two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, with a cup of cooked oatmeal. Bake in muffin rings placed in a buttered pan.

Breakfast Savory.—Have ready two tablespoonfuls of butter, half an onion, a cup of diced bread, five eggs, a teaspoonful of salt and a few dashes of pepper; melt the butter in a saucepan, add the chopped onion and fry brown, add the diced bread, brown this, add salt, pepper and put into the other mixture, toss with a fork until the eggs are set. Serve immediately.

Baked Riced Potatoes.—Riced potatoes are excellent if put again through a ricer and placed in a buttered baking dish with plenty of seasonings and baked a delicate brown.

A Novel Salad. A delicious and dainty salad—good at all times—is made by laying a slice of canned Hawaiian pineapple on a lettuce leaf. Heat a knife and spread cream or Neufchatel cheese over the pineapple; arrange pointed strips of pimento like the petals of a poinsettia over the cheese; heap mayonnaise in the center and put a stuffed olive on top.
