The last number was a farce comedy in two acts, "Woodcock's Little Game." This was a finished production. The acting was splendid, Dr. Forman's part in the chief male role, exacting and requiring talent of no mean order to bring out the full meaning of the lines, was done to perfection. Probably nothing in the whole show was more enjoyable than the scene between Woodcock (Dr. Foreman) and Mrs. Carver (Miss Estelle Codori) unless it was the dialogue between Woodcock and Mrs. Larkings (Miss Grace Rowe.) This distinction is demanded by the lines, the dramatic situation, etc. As to the presentation was best when all were so good. Miss Anna Felix as Clarice, a minor part, was splendidly done. Miss Clara Rowe, the bride, was just the demure maiden she should have been to contrast with her mother, Mrs. Carver. The bridesmaids, Misses Ruth Patterson and Valerie Welty, added greatly to the first act. Miss Codori had a hard part and she spoke it splendidly. Miss Grace Rowe of whom mention has been made above, portrayed with surprising skill the part of Mrs. Larkings.

Christopher Larkings (Mr. Thomas Frailey,) Chalmondley Swansdown (Mr. J. Ward Kerrigan,) David, (Mr. Clarence Frailey,) Findley Hanson, (J. Roger Mitchell,) with those before mentioned completed the caste. These ger tlemen all acquitted themselves with credit. It would be difficult to fill the parts of the comedy to better advantage than was done on Friday and Saturday nights. It was a delightful surprise to the audience to know that Emmitsburg could boast of such superior talent.

During the intermissions music was furnished by Miss Ruth Patterson, Miss Mary Welty, Miss Frailey and Mrs. Higbee.

THE STORE WHERE EVERY PURCHASE Must BE SATISFACTORY

One of the foundation principles of the Hochschild, Kohn & Co. Store, laid down nearly fifteen years ago, was this: "Every article sold in this store must give satisfaction; if it does not, the purchaser is to receive a new article, or the purchase money."

This principle has been practised everybusiness day since November 15, 1897 and it has helped to make this business grow as no retail business in Baltimore ever grew.

Added to this security, every purchaser has the knowledge, born of experience, that Hochschild, Kohn & Co. merchandise is the best possible value for the money. And added to this, is the knowledge that Hochschild, Kohn & Co. stocks offer wider variety, and are selected with the best of taste and judgment.

When you come to Baltimore for your spring shopping, there's just one logical place to visit—the Hochschild, Kohn & Co. Store.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Union, and especially in the production of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scoth-Irish descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a valley of rolling lands lying between the Linganore Hills and the Catoctin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river, and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and productive areas of the Union. The great crops are wheat and corn.-Maryland Manual issued by Board of Public Works.

Gracious effort showed behind them, and thus it was that so much of the detail. so much of the hard work was carried through.

From the time the curtain rose on the beautifully staged and ten. conscientiously enacted Indian drill,—most effective from every standpoint—until it was rung down on the last scene of the faultless production of "Woodcock's Little Game," there was not a dull moment. Every number, every drill, every tableau, every scene was interesting and satisfactory and the consensus of opinion of the large audiences that graced both performances was that the "Big Show" was worth a great deal more than the price of admission.

Wanted to Patent a Circus.

P. T. Barnum once came to the office to know if he could patent the three-ring circus. In technical parlance his three-ring circus was an aggregation and not a combination to produce a new result. Therefore it was not patentable, which information highly incensed the showman. "It will be adopted by every circus just as soon as I make it known," he declared. FRANKLIN'S POLITE SARCASM.

By A. W. MACY. Benjamin Franklin was noted for his politeness, though he not infrequently tinged it with sarcasm. In 1774 he was dismissed by the British government from the office of surveyor general of the postoffice in America, no reason being assigned except that his majesty the king had no further need of his services. Two years later the Continental congress appointed him postmaster general of all North America: whereupon he could not resist the temptation to write the English minister that the British government need not worry any more about postal affairs in America as they had again been placed in competent hands. Some months after the opening of the war he summed up the situation thus in a letter to a friend in England: "The English have made a campaign here, which cost two million; they have gained a mile of ground, and lost half of it back again. They have lost 1,500 men and killed 150 Yankees. Meantime we have had between 50,000 and 70,000 children born. How long will it take to conquer America?"

INFANT MORTALITY.

At the recent international congress for the consideration of means for lessening infantile mortality, Hon. Nathan Straus, the New York philanthropist, said that nearly half of the infants that die in America are the victims of improper feeding. If it be considered that resistance to disease, in infants as in adults, is dependent primarily upon proper nutrition, in which food is fundamental, the percentage of infantile deaths resulting from other causes than improper feeding, is seen to be comparatively small. If half the effort spent on so-called scientific cooking instruction were devoted to teaching the art of feeding adults and Infants naturally the results would be infinitely better.

The best proof as to Taft's progressiveness, however, lies neither in the pamphlet of the cabinet member nor the statement of Mr. Taft, but in the list of progressive American statesmen who are leading the fight for Mr. Taft in the United States and who have declared Mr. Taft's progressiveness as the only genuine brand which they were willing to invest in

> If a plain citizen should have the impudence to inquire of these gentlemen how a president can be "safe and sane" both to the plain people and to the bosses, ringmasters and special interest representatives who prey upon the plain people, these gentlemen would no doubt reply in the words of the old song: "Hail, hail, the gang's all here! What the h-l do we care!" But there is another question that the gang does care about, and that is interesting it more and more as the Republican national convention draws near. That question is whether, after all, it is worth while to nominate a man who cannot be elected even if his progressiveness is everything that the gang requires and nothing that it does not require.

ROOSEVELT VERSUS TAFT.

A Comparison Between a Progressive and a Reactionary.

In his Louisville speech Mr. Roosevelt suggested these standards for distinguishing between the progressive and the reactionary:

Every man who fights fearlessly and effectively against special privilege in any form is to that extent a progressive. Every man who directly or indirectly up-holds privilege and favors the special interests, whether he acts from evil motives or merely because he is puzzle headed or dull of mental vision or lacking in social sympathy or whether he simply lacks in-terest in the subject, is a reactionary. Every man is to that extent a progressive if he stands for any form of social justice, whether it is securing proper protection for factory girls against dangerous machinery or securing a proper limitation of hours of labor for women and children in industry, for securing proper living conditions for those who dwell in the thickly crowded regions of our great cities, for helping, so far as legislators can help, all the conditions of work and life for wageworkers in great centers of industry or for helping by the action both of the national and state governments, so far as conditions will permit, the men and wom-en who dwell in the open country to in-crease their efficiency both in production on their farms and in business arrange-ments for the marketing of their produce and also to increase the opportunities to give the best possible expression to their social life. The man is a reactionary, whatever may be his profession and no matter how excellent his intentions, who opposes these movements or who if in high place takes no interest in them and does not cornectly help them forward. does not earnestly help them forward.

The Metropolitan Magazine in an editorial makes this comparison between President Taft and his predecessor:

The present incumbent of the office is a man of comfortable habits. He enjoys good food and fast motorcars. His recreation is golf over the links of two of the most exclusive country clubs in America. If he were John D. Rockefeller or the Duke of Westminster he could not be further removed from the atmosphere of manual labor. One cannot conceive Mr. Taft spending days among the miners of Pennsylvania or the steel workers of Pittsburgh. Nor can one picture him taking any passionate interest in the toiling masses. If they get what the law allows them he is well content to dismiss them from his well balanced mind.

The other candidates are like Mr. Taft—with the exception of Roosevelt. He is different, not because he does not like the good things of this world; he probably likes them just as much as Taft. Who doesn't? But he is not dependent on them. And he has a burning sympathy with the poor wretches who never can enjoy them. He is a rich man, compared with the vast majority of his fellow countrymen, but the comforts of life are not enough for him. He was born with the divine discontent. He cannot be easy in wealth so long as the wealth of the few is built upon the misery of the many. Roosevelt has been for days among the miners of Pennsylvania. Probably he would much rather be shooting lions or leading a regiment in battle. But the injustice of life so impresses itself upon him that he cannot rest until he has at least done his share to improve things.

This comparison is a keen analysis of the reasons underlying the events of the last four years which must inevitably culminate in making Mr. Roosevelt the people's candidate for the presidency in November. - Kansas City

Are You Willing to Have the Democratic Party Name the Republican Candidate For President?

This is just what the Democrats are attempting to do all over the country. The Democratic newspapers are breaking their necks to nominate Taft and Pacific Coal company to acquire the are hysterical in their denunciation of Roosevelt.

Why? Because the Democrats know they can beat Taft in the election if he is nominated and know they cannot beat Roosevelt. Every Democrat evervwhere knows Roosevelt would be elected. This is why the Democratic newspapers and the Democratic politicians are breaking their necks to keen Roosevelt from getting the nomination-good business on their part.

Suppose Roosevelt would prove a weak candidate if nominated. Would the Democrats oppose his nomination as they are now doing? Most certainly not. To beat Roosevelt in the nomina tion means to every Democrat that the machine in the last Ohio state election Democratic party will win at the polls that you annot get away from. Think

Then suspend the rings (RRR) from the rafters by means of wires (BBB) so that they will barely touch the wire A, then make the rings (RRR) secure to the wire A by means of small wires wrapped around each ring and the wire A. After a similar structure has been made on the other side, the arrangement is ready for the poles, which should be smooth saplings from three to four inches in diameter and cut nine inches shorter than width of the house, so that they may be easily taken in and out of the of the fright and injury which usually occur when fowls are chased, says the Orange Judd Farmer. The one used by the New York experiment station at Ithaca and described in bulletin 284 is an improvement on the common style. It differs from the common one, first because the wire is so fortified and braced that it remains practically rigid, and second, the hook end is so bent that it permits the shank of the fowl to be easily caught and effectively held without which prevents the shank from being easily withdrawn, and the large aperture, which gives freedom of action, while the shank is held. The shank, however, is easily released by the attendant. The hook is made from a broom handle and a six-foot piece of No. 10 steel wire, which can be easily bent into the proper shape. The wire is less conspicuous than the wooden end, which attracts the fowl's attention while the hook catches the shank. The fowl is then gently drawn from the flock and the foot released.

The Cantata given Friday evening by the Choral Society and soloists under the direction of Miss Francis Waring was exceedingly well rendered to a large and appreciative audience. The work of the pupils showed much skill on the part of the teacher. This musicale is usually reserved for commencement week but this year other necessary programs crowded out the Cantata.

The great military drama which the amateurs hope to place before the public sometime in June, under the patronage of Hon. J. P. T. Mathias, will be managed by Mr. Edward Seltzer. From what we have learned Mr. Seltzer has been in this business before. The name Swastika which the amateurs have chosen is of ancient origin. More than 3,000 years ago this strange cruciform was a symbol known as the Flyblot cross reverenced in India. It is a sacred symbol in the tombs of Egypt and in the catacombs of Rome. It is graven on the and Western hemispheres. The heralds of the Middle Ages blazoned it on the shields of warriors. Today is used as a mystic symbol among the secret societies which ape the form, but have lost the soul which animated the brotherhood of those ages. Modern Leralds term it gammadion and crux gammata considering it as composed of a fourfold repetition of the Greek gamma. The Buddhists call it "Swastika" or in the Pati form "Suti" meaning "It is well" or "So be it." And it is the symbol of resignation. Its use extended from the earliest day to the present. It is found on early Hindo coins and seals and is used today by women as an ornament and as a charm against evil, few however being aware of its origin or significance.

PEOPLE BELIEVE IN GOV. WILSON

Fitness For Presidency.

President of North Carolina College Outlines Career of New Jersey Executive and Declares He Is the Man Who Will Get the Most Votes In the Right States.

By L. L. HOBBS,

President of Guilford (N. C.) College. Governor Wilson's career has been such as to reveal his powers both intellectual and administrative, and his course as governor of New Jersey-a very difficult position to fill-has been his fitness for the presidency came into the minds of the people all over the country with the belief that a second Tilden had arisen.

This was no sudden bursting forth of his powers, for the distinguished scholar had risen in an orderly way, step by step, to eminence and fame. He was known to the world of scholars as a man who expressed and who was expected to express in the clearest possible terms the best sentiment and the profoundest philosophy on all problems of education and of educational interest in this country. His literary productions in the way of American history and his work "The State," used as a textbook in many colleges, have been in a field of learning that will be of the greatest use to him and the country in case he becomes president.

Clearness of Utterance.

Governor Wilson's intellectual penetration is not surpassed by any man in public life, and his power of speech is scarcely equaled in this country. Generally clearness of utterance follows clearness of perception. The fact that his work in life has been mainly in educational fields, so far from be ing a hindrance, as some pretend to think, must necessarily be helpful in fitting him in the adjustment of means to special ends. As president of a great university and as governor of a great state he has had a good field in which to display his executive ability.

Moral courage. The president of our great nation needs to be man of the utmost integrity of character, a man spirit of the times in things political whose judgment in respect to right and wrong has become keen by a life of uprightness that is so well known that the people will know that when he speaks he means what he says. Cleveland is the shining example of this virtue in American history. Governor Wilson's public and private life leads me to believe he possesses that sterling integrity of character that would be respect to public utterance

He Is Calm and Thoughtful.

At this time, when we behold an aspirant to the office of president who and unmistakable terms that he would under no circumstances allow himself to be considered a candidate and who today in terms just as unmistakable announces himself for a third term-a such a time it would be an infinite rethoughtful and who cannot be moved "privileged business" rather than "big integrity any more than the sun can be turned from its course. Such man I think Woodrow Wilson to be.

The controlling reason should be that all things considered, Governor Wilso will be the strongest candidate the Democrats can name—that is the one who will be most likely to win the con test for election. We are not by an means to conclude that a nomination my judgment Governor Wilson has th best prospect of success in case of nonination for the simple reason that he i well known to be a man of vast cap bilities, both intellectual and moral. H can be depended upon more than an other man in America at this time to

THE PEOPLE LIKE WOOD. ROW

[Sharpsburg (Ky.) World.] Here are some of the reasons why the people like Governor Woodrow Wilson, who ought to nominated for president by the Democrats:
He is democratic.

WILSON STRONG, SAYS O'GORMAN

Courage and Skill Show His Senator Sure He Can Carry State of New York.

REGARDED AS SECOND TILDEN COULD WIN IN NEW ENGLAND.

Senator Gardner of Maine Indorses New York Colleague's View That New Jersey Governor Is Strong In Sections Where Foes Say He Is Weak.

[Atlanta (Ga.) Journal.] Senator O'Gorman of New York declares that Woodrow Wilson if chosen the Democratic nominee can carry that state against any Republican.

A weightier comment on present day politics has not been made. It crushes the flimsy pretension that Woodrow Wilson's candidacy would lose or imso marked by courage and skill that peril the party's chance in New York state and indicates his strength in the strategic center of the east as well as in the west and the south.

Coming from a leader of Senator O'Gorman's prestige and farsightedness, this estimate is particularly significant. He is the titular head of the Democracy of New York, a state that has ninety votes in the nominating convention and forty-five votes in the electoral college, the state for which both parties strive most vigorously in presidential years as the key to national success. He has the support of Tammany Hall, but he is immeasurably beyond and above the system with which Tammany is identified in the public mind. He is versed in practical politics, but he is also a statesman of spotless record and of rare ability, so much so indeed that when he was called to the senate the people as a whole, regardless of party connections, rejoiced that the duties of the office had fallen upon a man so eminently fitted to bear them.

Of all the Democratic nominees yet suggested Woodrow Wilson would not only stand the largest chance to carry New York, but, according to the recent testimony of Senator Gardner of Maine, he is the only Democrat who could win portions of New England.

From the clear headed testimony of these two eminent Democrats. Senator O'Gorman of New York and Senator Gardner of Maine, it is evident that Governor Wilson is particularly strong in the very places wherein his foes would have us believe he is fatally weak.

When to this fact is added the confi dence and the following he has won over the country as a whole there can be no fair minded doubt that of all the aspirants in the field he is by far the best fitted both as a statesman and

GOVERNOR WILSON'S CHANCES.

[New York World.]

The World is unable to agree with its friend Colonel Watter-"the Woodrow Wilson presidential boom has started on the down grade."

Viewing the situation without prejudice, we should say that the governor of New Jersey is still the leading Democratic candidate for the nomination and that he is still the only candidate who has shown strength in all sections of the country.

GOV. WILSON'S CANDIDACY.

Harrisburg (Pa.) Patriot: "Hon. James O'Gorman, who left the bench of the supreme court of New York to become a senator of the United States, shows political acumen when he expresses the opinion that Woodrow Wilson could carry New York and by a larger majority than any other man who has been mentioned for the Democratic nomination for president.'

Corsicana (Tex.) Sun: "Looks as though the more fight made against Governor Wilson the stronger his support grows. Governor Wilson knows the political game as well as those who are in it with him."

Bradentown (Fla.) Herald: "United States Senator N. P. Bryan has declared for Woodrow Wilson for president. Senator Bryan doesn't make any grand stand plays, but his sympathies are with his constituents.

Montrose (Colo.) Enterprise: "The Democratic party will make a grave mistake if it fails to place Woodrow Wilson at the head of its national ticket-a mistake which will more than likely cost it the presidency."

Rockford (Ill.) Star: "It is Woodrow Wilson against the field and against Wall street too."

Gaffney (S. C.) Ledger: "It's precious little comfort the boomers of Messrs. Harmon, Clark and Underwood are receiving in this state. To be perfectly frank about it. Governor Wilson seems to have the goat tied Hartford (Conn.) Post: "Governor Wilson of New Jersey says that our tariff is a misfit—that it's a child's garment. Perhaps that's so. Somehow it does pinch terribly, and it's getting worse all the time.'
