

The Weekly Chronicle.

STERLING GALT, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

ESTABLISHED OVER A QUARTER OF A CENTURY

TERMS—$1.00 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

VOL. XXXV

EMMITSBURG, MARYLAND, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1913

NO. 32

AMONG ARMIES IN MEXICO

TACTICS OF BOTH SIDES

A Visit to Head Of The Constitutionals

LIFE OF INSURRECTO SOLDIERS

Federalists Summarily Execute All Officers and Privates of Constitutionals Taken Captive.—Recruit Ranks by Conscription.

Just at this time much is being written about the Federalist and the Insurgent armies in Mexico, but a closer view is gathered from the following, coming from a New York Times correspondent who visited the Hacienda Hermanas the temporary headquarters of General Venustiano Carranza.

Says the writer:— Hacienda Hermanas is the temporary headquarters of Gen. Jesus Carranza and Gen. Pablo Gonzales, the commanders of a portion of the Constitutionalist army. The hacienda is a massive and extensive series of stone structures of the ancient type, located at the foot of a rocky hill and with a wide and fertile valley stretching away in the opposite direction. An abundant supply of water and groves of nut and fruit trees, with a large vineyard, make it a most attractive camping place.

When Mexican soldiers go to war they take their women with them, or at least enough women to go with the troops to attend to the gathering and preparation of the food supply. Sometimes children accompany their parents on such journeys.

The ranks of the Constitutionalist army are filled by volunteers eager to fight under Governor Carranza's leadership. The Federal army on the other hand is very largely recruited from the jails and prisons, and by enforced conscription. When rebel bands are captured it is the custom to spare their lives if they will join the army, and thousands of such are now under the Huerta banner.

The writer has seen detachments of recruits going to the front through the streets of Mexico City to join the regular army, each individual of whom had his right arm securely fastened to the left arm of a soldier by a thick strap wrapped several times around both members, the soldier carrying his rifle in his right hand ready for instant use should the recruit prove obstreperous.

A deplorable feature of the warfare now being waged in Mexico is the wholesale execution of officers and men taken prisoner by the Federals from the Constitutionals. Gov. Carranza was urged to make reprisals in character, but refused to sanction the execution of any officers below the grade of captain, although the Federals execute officers and privates alike.

All officers of and above that grade are executed when captured, this being done under what is known as the "law of Maximilian," which was adopted in 1865, and is the law under which the Austrian pretender met his fate. It provides that any one engaged in a seditious uprising and taken with arms in his hands shall be immediately executed.

Valuable Book for Farmers.

The Agricultural Department has issued a new publication, devoted to reports of crops, consideration of the condition and prospects of the dairy, live stock and general farming interests, and other subjects of interest to the farmer at the time of issue. It is called the "Agricultural Outlook," and will be issued seven or eight times a year. Congressman David J. Lewis has two hundred subscriptions to this publication to distribute among the farmers of the Sixth District and will allot forty to farmers of this county who write him making request for it. Farmers who wish to have the Agricultural Outlook should write him at Washington, D. C.

Thirty Colleges of Journalism.

There are now thirty colleges and universities of the United States in which special provision is made for training students expecting to become journalists, according to the C. S. Monitor. All but two of these institutions are beyond New England's borders, all but four west of the Hudson River and all but five west of Pennsylvania. South of Mason and Dixon's line there are only five.

Vouchers in excess of the $75,000 appropriated for the expenses of the Sulzer Court of Impeachment have been filed.

The Kansas grain crop is fifty per cent. subnormal.

FOR MOUNTAIN ROADS

Congress May Grant $1,000,000 Worth of Land

IN EIGHT DIFFERENT STATES

Highways in the Rocky Mountain Region Could be Built by Government Selling Grants.

Eight of the Rocky Mountain States will have a million dollars apiece to spend on constructing and maintaining public roads, if a bill which has been suggested by the Interior Department is enacted by Congress.

The method by which the million dollars would be raised would be from the sale of 250,000 acres of public land, which it is proposed that Congress grant to Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico, Utah, and Wyoming, to be sold or leased by land boards, and Governors of the respective States, at not less than $4 an acre. This bill is offered as a substitute for several bills which have been introduced in Congress providing for the Governments assistance in road building by the grant of lands.

Road construction in the Rocky Mountain States is difficult and expensive by reason of the roughness of the country, the torrential rains at some seasons of the year, and the lack of sufficient moisture to lay the dust and solidify the top soil during other seasons. If Federal assistance is to be extended to road construction, the Interior Department believes it should be undertaken in the Rocky Mountain States in the form of grants of land, which may be sold to homesteaders and the proceeds devoted to the construction and maintenance of roads. The idea of giving land for this purpose is not entirely new, for as early as 1802 both land and money were donated by Congress to build highways.

The grant of 250,000 acres of land to any of the eight Rocky Mountain States mentioned would be taking only a small part of the total amount of public land within this group of States, all of which contain 17,000,000 to 39,000,000 acres of surveyed and unsurveyed land which is undisposed of.

If Congress should enact a law for such a grant, the building of roads would assist in opening thousands of miles of country which is now inaccessible or partially inaccessible, and with the road work now going on within the national forests in all Western States, would contribute much to the general prosperity.

Desecration of U. S. Flag.

The War Department, says the Army and Navy Journal is again advised that a firm in the middle western section of the country has been using the United States flag for "advertising purposes." Some complaints who have addressed the War Department on the subject have been desirous lately of knowing what steps should be taken or may be taken to protect the flag from this commercial use. Under the act of February 20, 1905, a trade mark can not be registered which consists of or comprises the flag, coat-of-arms, or other insignia of the United States or any simulation thereof. There is no other statute of the United States which would forbid the use of the flag for advertising purposes. Some of the states have statutes which forbid the sale of articles upon which there is a representation of the flag for advertising purposes, and there is a decision of a Nebraska court to the effect that the laws of that state punishing the desecration of the flag and prohibiting the sale of articles upon which there is a representation of the flag for advertising purposes is not constitutional.

Fashion Demands That Women Hop.

Word comes from Paris that the ballet skirt is to be the feature of this winter's dress. Overskirts of satin, velvet and mouseline de soie are hung on little circular skirts which make women look like graceful balloons. Skirts are made narrower than ever at the bottom, says the same dispatch and walking has become a problem. The Parisienne is equal even to this formidable task. Some of the most famous beauties have already cultivated a hop, and all are endeavoring to walk with the feet close together.

Several tango teachers are reaping an extra harvest of golden louis d'ors by giving a special course in walking to society ladies. It is no longer the dance of the lame duck, but "le pas de la dinde sauteuse" (the jumping turkey-hen step.)

To see if he could talk that far a man in St. Augustine, Florida, successfully talked to room clerk of the Waldorf Hotel, New York.

The cost of fire prevention in this country is $450,000,000 a year.

THE WEEK AT THE COUNTY SEAT

Chronicle of Happenings in Frederick City and in The Courts.

There has been no decision reached in the awning pole case, as the question is still being considered by the Circuit Court.

All Saints Episcopal Church is one of the beneficiaries of the Late Mrs. Carlton Schafner, a former resident of this city.

Rev. E. Holmes Lamar of the M. E. Church attended the convention of the Anti-Saloon League of America, which convened at Columbus, Ohio, recently.

Prof. John T. White, Superintendent of Schools of Frederick County, in an address to the forty students of the night school greatly lauded the work and promised to give all the assistance in his power to promote such a cause.

Dr. Clifford I. Sappington has been urged by his friends to become a candidate for County Health Officer. Dr. Sappington is a prominent physician in this city and a life-long Democrat. Up to this date his name has been the only one mentioned for this position.

The fund to have Frederick county represented at the United States Land Show at Chicago, from November 20, to December 5, and at Baltimore Horticulture exhibit, continues to grow and the canvassers are now on the home stretch, for only a small amount over one hundred dollars is yet needed.

Nearly forty of the water meters ordered by the Board of Aldermen from the Gamon Water Meter Company have arrived in this city and within a few weeks Superintendent of Water Works George A. Burck will begin to install them. However, they will not be used until April 1st. The cost was about $2,000.

The Barbara Fritchie Statue is being planned by the Barbara Fritchie Memorial Association. In addition to having received many subscriptions, new members have been elected to the association among them Gov. Phillips Lee Goldsborough and Mrs. Donald McLean, former President-General of American Revolution.

The proper disposition of the canine population of this city and an amendment to Frederick's present ordinance requiring dogs to be tagged and muzzled the year around were the chief questions considered at a special session of the Board of Alderman. Mayor Fraley is in favor of removing the muzzles from the dogs during the winter months.

The minimum fine for hunting with a gun on private grounds without a permit from the owner is $50. Such a fine was imposed by Justice Dennis on Monday afternoon. This attracted the attention of many hunters who claim that this penalty is entirely too high. A movement may be started to amend the provision that fixes the maximum fine at $100 and minimum at $50.

The most important appointment the Board of County Commissioners have is that of clerk. This position is now held by M. D. Harp. Some of the candidates for this position are, William E. Hauver, Harmon L. Gaver, C. H. Eckstein, John Neighbors and C. R. Harper. Hauver seems to have the support of Commissioners Mohler and Humm, while Gaver is said to be favorable to Commissioner Stevens, who will be backed up by Commissioners Holter and Annan. Eckstein, Neighbors and Harper seem to be out of the running or at least the last two mentioned are not spoken of in this latest bit of prophecy.

Friday

Brazil appropriated $500,000 for representation at the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

State Chairman William Barnes announced that the Republicans are in absolute control of the lower house of the New York legislature.

Gen. Felix Diaz was arrested at Havana, Cuba on the charge of shooting Pedro Guerrero, the young Mexican wounded in the altercation between them.

Ervin Pope was for the fifth time convicted of murder in the Criminal Court in Anniston, Ala.

President Wilson signed the order laying out the winter work for the revenue cutters.

Alfred Russell Wallace an eminent British scientist, died in London aged 91 years.

Francis B. Sayre, future son-in-law of President Wilson was appointed a deputy assistant district attorney by District Attorney Whitman, of New York.

The marriage of William F. McCombs Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and Miss Dorothy Williams, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. John B. Williams, of Washington, took place at noon at Sts. Peter and Edward's Chapel at London.

Dr. Charles McBurney an eminent surgeon, of Massachusetts, and the one who attended President McKinley when he was shot in 1901, died at Brookline, Mass.

Saturday

Representative Levy, of New York, announced he would be a candidate to succeed Senator Root at the primaries next fall.

Gov. Felker, of New Hampshire, honored the requisition of the State of New York for the extradition of Harry K. Thaw.

The United States torpedo-boat destroyer Downes was launched at the yard of the New York Shipbuilding Company, Camden, N. J.

Ludwig III., new king of Bavaria, who replaces the mad King Otto, took the oath in the palace at Munich.

The Hamburg-American Steamship Company decided to increase its capital from $37,500,000 to $45,000,000.

President Wilson had conferences with members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the Mexican situation.

Facing defeat through dissension among his own party members of the Senate Banking Committee, President Wilson approved a call for a Senate "conference" on the currency measure.

Secretary McAdoo awarded a silver medal to Patrolman James J. Moynihan of the New York Police Department for bravery in saving William Shannon from drowning May 7, 1913.

Sunday

The formal announcement of the engagement of Miss Helen Dinsmore Huntington, daughter of Robert Palmer Huntington, of Hopeland House, Staatsburg, N. Y., to Vincent Astor, son of Col. John Jacob Astor, who was lost with the Titanic, was made.

George Tracey, one time champion half-mile runner of America, was struck by a train and killed at Rockingham, Nova Scotia.

Five men were found dead in a small bedroom in a tenement in Stamford, Ct., having been asphyxiated by gas.

Harlan Page Amen, principal of Phillips-Exeter Academy and an overseer of Harvard College, died at Exeter, N. H.

Attorney General McReynolds decided that the section of the new tariff law authorizing a 5 per cent. reduction on goods imported in American vessels is void.

Democratic senators worked on a report to be submitted to the currency caucus.

Monday

Huerta's note to the diplomats, defining his position and explaining his policy, was made public.

Miss Zelig Emerson is seriously ill as the result of an injury received during

(Continued on page 2.)

HUGE APPLE FUTURE

Seen For Northwest From Young Orchards

EXPECTS 60,000 CARLOADS IN 1919

Matter of Distributing Large Crop the Greatest Problem.—Producers to Organize.

Fruit growers of the Northwest are beginning to wonder what is going to happen when the great acreage of young trees which have been planted yield their prospectively immense product.

Probably 10,000 cars of fruit will go out of the district as the 1913 contribution of the Northwest to the markets of the world. By 1916 the output, basing calculations on the present acreage of young trees, will be at least 30,000 cars, and it would not be surprising to the large growers if the total reached 60,000 cars by 1919. At the present average price of apples that would mean finding a market for $51,000,000 worth of fruit.

Making preparation for distributing intelligently the crop of 1914 and the increasing crops of succeeding years is the greatest problem in the Northwest to-day. It begins now with the location of immigration on lands, which are no longer cheap, by showing the investor a market which assures a fair return, and it reaches forward to the time when the large investments in orchard, fruit, and garden lands of the Northwest must be made to pay the grower a reasonable profit.

As a help to Oregon growers the Portland, Eugene & Eastern Railroad has been making an investigation of marketing methods in Washington.

At Puyallup it was found that a co-operative association of farmers was able to create and maintain a market for vine and garden products, using a selling organization and a cannery. The big thing disclosed by the investigation was the plan of co-operative selling as developed by the North Pacific Fruit Distributors, which in its first year handled 40 to 50 per cent. of the fruit crop and maintained the market.

The North Pacific Fruit distributors is simply a central selling agency, representing eighty-five affiliated associations of fruit growers, or local unions. It aims to find and maintain a fair market for the Northwest. In a single year it has become one of the largest factors in the apple market of the world. Among fruit growers in general the general opinion is that some such organization must be formed to care for the interests of the large producers of fruit in the Northwest.

Gettysburg Honors "Eddie" Plank.

Ministers, lawyers, physicians, merchants, farmers, mechanics, laborers, and those representing other occupations and professions attended a monster banquet given in honor of "Eddie" Plank at the Eagle Hotel, Gettysburg, last week. Members of the old Good Intent team on which "Eddie" first played ball greeted him again, together with members of the teams that opposed him a score or more years ago when he made his first victorious tour of Adams county. There were his warm personal friends and the members of the rising generation who gave him the adoration due a hero. More than two hundred were present and of that number many came from a distance while the portions of the county north, east, south and west of Gettysburg all sent their delegations.

Professor Taft's Taxes.

The stories from New Haven to the effect that ex-President Taft had confessed to the ownership of $150,000 in bonds on which he would have to pay a tax of 2 per cent., roused some of the bond men to protest against the spreading of a false report. Under the Connecticut secured debt law bondholders in that State can pay a tax of four mills on the dollar of valuation per year, and thereby make securities exempt from further taxation for the year. The saving over the payment of 2 per cent. amounts to $16 per bond per year. Mr. Taft was evidently taking advantage of this privilege when he registered his security holdings.

Woman Lawyer Distinguishes Herself.

What the Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States declared to be the best legal argument ever presented to that tribunal by a woman was delivered before that body last week. The lawyer was Mrs. Sarah Herring Soron, of Arizona.

Mrs. Soron was interrogated several times by Mr. Justice Pitney and explained lucidly the legal propositions which she sought to impress upon the court. She was arguing for the defendant in a legal controversy over title to a mining claim in Arizona.

HUERTA DEFIES

ULTIMATUM

TIME UP FOR ANSWER

Special Envoy Lind Leaves Capital

HALE MEETS GENERAL CARRANZA

Asks the Constitutionalist Leaders for Pledges if Embargo on Arms is Lifted.—Situation Grows Critical.—Some See War Ahead.

The situation in Mexico has reached another critical stage. Gen. Victoriano Huerta tacitly refused on Wednesday night to accede to the demands of the United States expressed in an ultimatum sent to him by President Wilson's personal representative, John Lind.

Mr. Lind receiving no word by six o'clock, the time limit set forth in the note, prepared to leave Mexico.

Not since the recent revolutions began has the feeling in the Mexican capital been so intense. The most categorical denials by the American charge, Nelson O'Shaughnessy, and President Wilson's personal representative, John Lind, of knowledge of any developments on which this feeling could be based failed to disabuse the minds of the people generally of the belief that the next 24 hours would see some decisive move on the part of Washington.

When Secretary Bryan was informed of the dispatches from Mexico, he announced that a statement would be issued in a few days setting forth the policy of the United States.

The same day William Bayard Hale, personal representative of President Wilson, met the Constitutionalist chief, Gen. Venustiano Carranza and his Cabinet and presented to them a definite proposal from the American Government. What that proposal was the American diplomatic agent declined to say.

The assertion that the United States is preparing for war with Mexico has sprung out of the report at Memphis, Tenn., that the Illinois Central Railway had handled 23 cars of mixed ammunition destined for points on the Mexican border within the past week.

President Lincoln's Overcoat Found.

The overcoat that Abraham Lincoln wore the night that he was fatally shot in Ford's Theatre nearly 50 years ago, has come to light and is now in the possession of John M. Kirby, of Washington, according to the Federalburg Courier. He also has obtained possession of a suit of clothes that were worn by the martyred president. The clothing is in good state of preservation. One shoulder of the overcoat however, had been torn, evidently by a souvenir hunter some years ago. The clothing shows the huge size of Lincoln as an ordinary sized man would be lost in the garments. Immediately after the death of Lincoln the clothes were lent to an artist who wished to paint a portrait of the president. Later they were used by a sculptress, who made a statue which now stands in Statuary Hall in the Capitol.

Electrically Prepared Ships.

Coal-driven and oil-driven ships are to be followed, it seems, by ships operated by electricity. The fireboats of Chicago are both propelled and steered through the crowded Chicago River by electricity; there is the new electric-driven United States Navy collier Jupiter, and the ship Tynemount, recently completed in England and destined to ply the waters of the Great Lakes of North America, is one of the largest vessels of this type. The advantage of electric propulsion, the Electrical World says, is greater flexibility of control and the possibility of manipulation from the bridge.

United States in Third Place.

The United States stands in third place in the column of coal exporting countries of the world. Figures given out by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce show exportations of coal for 1913 approximate $100,000,000.

Anthracite coal comprises about one-third of the total exports, and goes to Canada almost exclusively. The Dominion also buys great quantities of bituminous coal, taking 8,500,000 tons of the 12,000,000 tons exported in the eight months ending with August.

Negro Mayor in London.

For the first time in the history of England a colored man has been elected the Mayor of a borough.

John Richard Archer, whose father was born in the West Indies, was elected Mayor of Battersea by a majority of 1 vote.

Japan has 5,000 miles of railways.

PARAGRAPH NEWS.

(Continued from page 1.)

a riot in London in a suffragette meeting over which she was presiding.

Sir Richard Solomon, high commissioner in London for the Union of South Africa, died in the British capital.

The Chino-French Bank signed a contract for a loan to the Chinese government of $30,000,000.

The Supreme Court decided that receivers for insolvent corporations are not required to pay the corporation tax.

Amid scenes of unparalleled excitement Mendel, the Jew, was acquitted of the blood ritual murder of Andrew Yushinsky, the 13-year-old Christian boy who was slain in March, 1911.

Declaring valid the Federal "hours of service" law prohibiting railroads from working trainmen more than 16 consecutive hours, the Supreme Court affirmed convictions against the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway for its alleged violations at Sherman, Texas.

Walter H. Page, United States Ambassador, presented to the British Foreign Office a message from President Wilson, the general effect of which is that under no circumstances will the President recognize Provisional President Huerta or any of his acts.

Chief Judge Henry D. Harlan, of the Supreme Bench, of Baltimore sent to Governor Goldsborough a letter in which he resigned his position, the resignation to become effective January 1.

Tuesday. The American Federation of Labor, at Seattle, Wash., refused to accept the credentials of Delegate Tazelaar, who figured in the Mulhall lobby charges.

William T. Fisher, a clerk in the office of the Isithman Canal Commission, Washington, was indicted at Rockville, for the murder of William L. Aldorfer at Chevy Chase.

A resolution was introduced in the House proposing an injunction to stop judicial lashing of wife-beaters in Delaware.

Mr. William L. Marbury opened the arguments in the Supreme Court in the Annapolis grandfather's clause case.

Official announcement was made at the Vatican of the appointment of Monsignor Edward Kozlowski, of St. Stanislaus' Church, Bay City, Mich., as titular bishop of Garma, in Asia Minor, and auxiliary bishop of the diocese of Milwaukee.

Mendel Beiless, acquitted of the charge of ritual murder, was quietly released from jail at Kiev. He rejoined his family and there was a happy reunion.

Three workmen were scalded to death in Indiana Harbor, Ind., and a building of the Inland Steel Company was wrecked when a steamship exploded.

Earthquake shocks that were perceptible, but not strong enough to do damage were felt in the western part of Louisville.

Wednesday. New York opened a $3,500,000 hospital for the treatment of tuberculosis.

The Pope received and imparted his blessing to the officers and men of the American fleet.

The Italian bark Elva sunk at the mouth of the River Mira and 11 were drowned.

Lady Strathcona, wife of Baron Strathcona and Mount Royal, high commissioner of Canada, died in London.

Alex Sweek, of Portland, Ore., was selected by President Wilson to be minister to Siam.

Ten towns were wrecked by an earthquake in the mountainous section of Peru, and many people were killed.

Oral argument on the Grandfather Clause Election Law, enacted by the Maryland legislature to govern Annapolis municipal elections, was concluded in the Supreme Court.

Attorney Daniel Donahoe, of Chicago, charged with conspiring to defame Clarence S. Funk, former general manager of the International Harvester Company, was found guilty and fined $2,000. Detective Isaac Stiefel, tried on the same charge of conspiracy, was found not guilty.

Thursday.

Announcement of the suspension of the firm of H. B. Hollins & Co., bankers and brokers, of New York was made on the stock exchange.

The world's national debts now total $2,000,000,000, having increased 20 percent in 10 years, according to Commerce Department statistics.

SALE DATES.

Don't wait until the last minute to select the day for your Spring Sale.

Dates are already being booked at this office.

If you are wise you will choose your day now to avoid conflicting with the date determined upon by some one else.

Oysters at Zacharias'.

The Local Weekly Newspaper, per 1,000 Circulation is the Most Valuable Advertising Medium in the World.—Chas. H. Betts, Pres. of New York State Press Association.

A Boomerang

By ANDREW C. EWING

"It's all up with me, Sadie!" "What in the world is the matter?" "I'm fired."

"From your position?" "Yes." "What for?" "Well, you know that when I was graduated from the electrical school I was offered a situation in the office of the Metcalf company, of which Mr. Metcalf is president and principal stockholder. I supposed the position would be permanent. It turns out that the Metcalf company had put in a bid on the erection of an electrical plant and had been awarded the contract. Mr. Metcalf wanted some one to assist in making figures on the specifications and hired me for that purpose. The formula being now completed, he has no further use for me."

"How dishonorable in him not to have told you in the beginning that you were simply employed for the job."

"If he had I would have declined his offer, for I had a permanent one offered me at a lower salary. I've been working nights for six months besides my day work and have a whole closet full of estimates figured out that I wouldn't do over again for a thousand dollars. I received only $600 for the whole period of my service. I'm sorry, Sadie, that we can't fix the date we expected to fix for our wedding. I shall have to hunt for another place, and when I get one I can't tell whether I shall be treated in the same shabby fashion."

"Well, Bob, I expect you'll find the world full of disappointments."

"Yes, and when I get knocked down I propose to get up and push on."

"Good! If you feel that way you're sure to win in the end."

But Bob found getting another place difficult. Engineers were being graduated every June, and those just entering the field were ready to work cheap. Besides, dull times came on, and it was difficult for those having positions to hold them. His fiancée was always hopeful and cheered him so far as she could.

One day the young engineer was called up on a telephone. On answering the call he learned that the person on the other end of the wire was the president of the Metcalf company.

"Would it be possible," he asked, "for you to recall from memory the formula you made for the electrical plant we bid on while you were with us?"

"No, sir."

There was no further word for a moment, but Bob knew that the receiver had not been hung up.

"Why do you ask?" Has anything happened to the formula I made for you?"

"Yes. Last night our safe was broken into, and it was taken with other moneys and securities, and there is no certainty of our ever recovering it. We must begin work immediately in order to get the job finished according to contract."

Bob opened his eyes, but not his mouth. He knew that the company would forfeit $100,000 if the work was not finished on time. Indeed, it could not begin without making a new formula.

At length he said:

"I could help you out, Mr. Metcalf, but I don't think you treated me right in not telling me when you employed me that it was for this job only. I did a great deal of work home at nights and simply took results to the office. All that home work I have and could easily reconstruct the formula from it."

Bob could hear a suppressed exclamation of joy.

"You can come back to work if you like," said the president, "and I'll raise your salary."

"Thank you. I don't care to enter your employ again."

"I'll make it permanent."

"That doesn't tempt me either."

"What do you ask for the figures you have?"

"They are not for sale. Had I been retained permanently in your employ I would give them to you, or if I had been told that I was hired simply for the job I would do the same. As it is I am under no obligations to you."

There was silence for a few moments when the question came, "Will you be at home this evening?" to which Bob replied that he would.

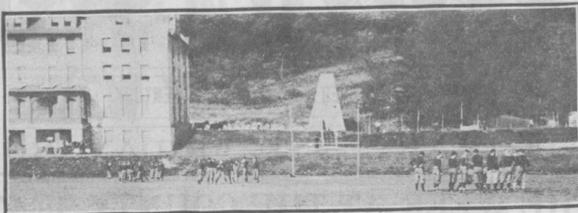

When Mr. Metcalf called in the evening he looked very much broken. He offered Bob $10,000 if he would reconstruct the formula. Bob declined the offer, but made a counter proposition. He proposed that they should submit the case to the heads of other concerns to decide between them what the cost should be, both to be bound by their decision. The offer was accepted, and an average amount of what the arbitrators figured as a proper payment was $12,500.

But a different arrangement was made. Mr. Metcalf sold a controlling interest in the company to the vice president and resigned the presidency. Bob was given a position at $3,000 a year for five years and restored the formula as an employee without charge. His ability to do so saved the company from ruin.

Bob never said a word to his fiancée about the loss of the formula till the matter was settled between him and the Metcalf company. When he did so he held her in a bear hug.

Bob and Sadie were married long ago, and Bob is now one of the principal managers of the Metcalf company.

MOUNT SAINT MARY'S COLLEGE

Terrace Talk

The regular classes in Elocution were resumed this week.

The Seniors were put to a severe test and were not found wanting.

The Junior class is still augmenting. Its number was again increased this week.

There can no longer be any doubt that the colors of '14 are Green and White.

This year the day after Thanksgiving will be a holiday; Friday instead of Wednesday, as heretofore.

When it comes to manifesting his fondness for an opposing center, Rattenburg is not a bit bashful.

The large panorama picture of the Snake Dance and the photos of the play turned out fine and are in great demand.

Two more games of football and this year's season will have ended. Maryland Aggies and Albright are on the schedule.

It is understood that a debate is arranging between the Senior and Junior elocution classes. The teams and subjects will be chosen later.

Not a great many boys will go home for the holiday. The college is a good place to "stick around" on Thanksgiving, and besides it's not long till Christmas.

Manager Costello announced yesterday that Fordham College had asked for a Thanksgiving game to be played in New York City. Such a game between the two Catholic institutions would no doubt prove a drawing card.

Judging from the season's records of both teams the Mountaineers should claim a victory at Delaware on Saturday. Coach Day intends to use some second string men in order to save the 'Varsity players for the Albright game on Nov. 19.

Coach Day will find a lot of good material on hand when the basketball season opens. Malloy and Letters will be missed, but May, Costello, Phillips Leary and Ditchey look like a winning combination. And there are a lot more good ones.

The Myerstown eleven will present a heavier aggregation than Mount St. Mary's, but the Mountaineers will rely on speed and open play to bring them a victory. Albright tied Gettysburg.

DECISIONS OF SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES AS TO NEWSPAPER SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Few readers of newspapers fully and clearly understand the laws governing subscriptions. Following are the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States on the subject:

Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to renew their subscriptions.

If subscribers order a discontinuance of their periodicals the publisher may continue to send them until all dues are paid.

If the subscriber refuses to take the periodical from the postoffice to which they are directed, he is responsible until he has settled his bill and ordered the paper discontinued.

If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher, and the papers are sent to the former address, the subscriber is held responsible.

The courts have held that refusing to take periodicals from the postoffice, or removing and leaving them uncollected for is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

If subscribers pay in advance they are bound to give notice at the end of the time if they do not wish to continue taking it, otherwise the publisher is authorized to send it and the subscriber will be responsible until express notice with payment of all arrearages is sent to the publisher.

BECOME A SUBSCRIBER

To THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE, and keep in touch with events at St. Joseph's College and Academy. The cost is $1.00 per year and you get 52 issues.

early in the season and the game that the local eleven played against Gettysburg last week warrants a close contest.

Dr. Bradley expects to be able before long to erect a new building for the juveniles. The quarters they now occupy are not spacious enough to accommodate them all. As the number of boys who matriculate between the age of twelve and fifteen is growing yearly the need of a new building is urgent and cannot long be deferred.

All the Mt. St. Mary's gridiron men came out of the Gettysburg game in splendid condition with the exception of J. McManus, who has a bruised shoulder. He will not be able to play in the Delaware game and his place at left guard will be filled by Mulhern or Kane. Carroll who has played at right tackle most of the season is putting up a good game of football at left half-back. "Bear" Dowdle, the human drill engine takes care of Carroll's old place in fine style. His presence in the line adds materially to the strength of the team.

Gettysburg's scrubs and Mount St. Mary's second team clashed on Echo Field last Saturday, the Pennsylvanians carrying off a 13-0 victory. The visitors presented a heavier line-up and their heavy backfield repeatedly tore through the local eleven's line. Mount St. Mary's resorted to modern football and executed several forward passes for long gains. Gettysburg scored its first touchdown on their line plunging and the second score resulted from a long forward pass to Fosick, who carried it over from the 20-yard line.

Long, Kane, Rodgers and Mulhern played fine football for the Mountain eleven, while Campbell, Mullen and Fosick excelled for Gettysburg. The line-up:

- Gettysburg. Pos. Mt. St. Mary's. Eyerl.....r. e.....Moran Wedner.....r. t.....Mulhern Shrack.....r. g.....Whittle Snyder.....c.....Cogan Parles.....l. g.....Cobb Kramer.....l. t.....Kane Meade.....l. e.....McMorris Fosick.....q. b.....Long (Capt) M. Miller.....r. h.....Haltigan C. Miller.....l. h.....Rodgers Campbell.....f. b.....Talbot Touchdowns—Campbell, Fosick. Goal from touchdown—Fosick. Referee—Leary. Umpire—Fagan. Head linesman—Leonard. Time of quarters—12 minutes. Substitutions for St. Mary's—Rattenburg for Cogan, Stollman for Cobb, Hickey for Haltigan, Crouch for Talbot, Kelley for McMorris, J. Kelley for Whittle, Gilroy for Stollman.

Are You Going To sell your farm in the Spring? Do you contemplate disposing of your Household Goods or your Livestock? Perhaps you want to buy a farm, a house. If so advertise in the WEEKLY CHRONICLE.

Advertisement for Old W. Harper Whiskey. Features a bottle of whiskey and the text: 'OLD W. HARPER WHISKEY YOUR GUIDE TO REAL WHISKEY Get That Name in your mind—memorize it—say it every time you buy whiskey and you will always get the best. ORDER FROM Leading Dealers'

Man is Inconsistent. A great many young men, whom the doctors advise to take long walks and exercise with dumb bells to reduce their avoirdupois, will stand around the house with their hands in their pockets while the little wife removes the tacks from the carpet, and then complains if she requests of her lord to pull it out from under the stove while she lifts the stove. O, man, thou art certainly a humbug.—Union Bridge Pilot.

Surplus Funds It is safe and wise to carry a surplus fund bank account. It protects your general account. It adds to your credit basis. When you come to Baltimore to buy stock the surplus account is handy to pick up unusual bargains. 3% interest on daily balances of $200 and over subject to check. The Munsey Trust Co. BALTIMORE CAPITAL $1,000,000

Paint—Drouth The longer the drouth the more rain is required to water the earth. The longer a building goes without painting the dryer it gets and more paint is required to keep water out. A ten gallon Job this year is an eleven gallon Job next year—you will save money by using the best paint. DEVOE'S J. Thos. Gelwicks, Agt. april 24-ly

Advertisement for Universal Portland Cement. Features an image of a cement bag and the text: 'UNIVERSAL PORTLAND CEMENT makes the strongest CONCRETE FOR SALE BY E. L. FRIZELL Emmitsburg, Md. Apr. 29-09 1 yr.'

Advertisement for Sold by Strout Farms. Features an image of a house and the text: 'SOLD BY STROUT STROUT SELLS FARMS "Sold by Strout" Is the sign we nailed on the barns of 1352 FARMS that we sold in 1912. Most Farm Buyers are from the great American cities. Therefore we have Big General Offices in Boston, New York Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, and receive hundreds of calls for farms every day. We sell more farms than any other Agency in the World. We can sell your farm. No advance fees. Lining blanks and valuable illustrated book, "How to sell Your Farm," mailed free. Write to-day to E. A. Strout Farm Agency 47 WEST 34th ST., NEW YORK Boston Philadelphia Pittsburgh J. R. OHLER, Local Representative, Emmitsburg, Md.]

LETTER WRITING

becomes an active pleasure when it is done to describe to an intelligent woman shopper just exactly what items from the large store stock you want information about—

There is a pleasurable anticipation enjoyed while writing that is just so much more keenly gratifying when you find the result so satisfying as the packages ordered from Hutzler's—

HUTZLER BROTHERS & CO. BALTIMORE

BUSINESS LOCAL.

HAVE your Watches, Clocks and Jewelry repaired by George T. Eyster who warrants the same and has always on hand a large stock of watches, clocks, jewelry and silverware.

GUY K. MOTTER ATTORNEY AND COUNSELOR AT LAW

Will be in Emmitsburg Tuesday of each week from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M. Office at Public Library Room. Frederick office telephone number 30. June 3-10-14

ALBERT ADELSBERGER LIVERYMAN

HOTEL SPANGLER Emmitsburg, Maryland

Automobile For Hire Fine Horses and First-Class Carriages.

Teams for Drummers and Pleasure Parties a Specialty

may 7-09 17

Advertisement for Now is the Time to Plant Fall Bulbs. Features an image of various fall bulbs and the text: 'NOW IS THE TIME To Plant Fall Bulbs Plant Now'

YOU CAN HAVE BEAUTIFUL FLOWERS TO BRIGHTEN YOUR HOME

All winter, at Christmas time, at Easter time, also on your lawns and in your flower beds at the first opening of Springtime—if you plant now.

Bolignano's Fall Bulbs are full sized and true to name. Our 95 years experience in Bulb Selection has placed us in a position of knowing the most reliable source of securing the choicest French and Holland Grown Bulbs.

Beautifully Illustrated 30 Page Bulb and Poultry Book Free.

It tells you exactly how to arrange and care for your Fall Bulbs to have the best success, also give a full line of Poultry Supplies and requisites. If you have not already received a copy send us a postal to-day.

Table listing various bulb types and prices. Columns include bulb name, quantity, and price. Items include Baby Hyacinths, Bedding Hyacinths, 2nd. Size Hyacinths, 1st. Size Hyacinths, Freesia Bulbs, Early Tulips Mixed, May or Cottage Tulips, Parrot Tulips, Double Tulips, Narcissus Single, Tonquils, Double Narcissus, Crocus Mixed, Oxalis, Easter Lilies, Chinese Sacred Lilies.

Our Plant Season Now In Full Progress

Beautiful Plants, Ferns, Palms and Hardy Evergreens selling at a price within the reach of all. Watch the Baltimore American and Sun for special sales. If you cannot get Bolignano's Bulbs and Plants through your local dealer—Send us a postal and we will tell you where you can get them.

Bolignano's Seed Store 95 Years Established Trade. BALTIMORE. MD.

Feb 6-12 14

The Maharajah and Maharanee of Kapatalia, India, and their royal suite are to arrive in New York on Monday Nov. 17.

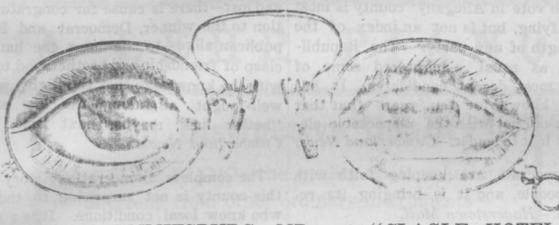

Upon an average, Scotsmen are the tallest men in the United Kingdom; Irishmen come second, Englishmen third and Welchmen last.

SOLID SILVER
AMERICAN LEVER WATCHES
WARRANTED TWO YEARS
ONLY $6.00
G. T. EYSTER. - EMMITSBURG, MD.

FINE NOTE PAPER
One pound of Fine Linen Note Paper - eighty odd sheets - with envelopes to match 50c
CHRONICLE OFFICE.

We can sell you what you would consider a suitable refreshment for any rare day in June or whether it be something you might desire during the Christmas holidays. We have it. We have real Strawberry Ice Cream, the same kind we have furnished you in May or June, Hot Chocolate, Hot Bouillon, Oysters in every style, Best of Candies, Society Chocolates and Johnstones, Sodas, Fruit Sundaes, Coca Colas and so many other things, we can't just think of just now. You'll be sorry you didn't come sooner, honest you will.
MATTHEWS BROTHERS.

The "Racket" Store
MITTENS AND GLOVES
Ladies Wool Knit Gloves, 50c. Values For 25c.
Children's and Ladies' Heavy Mittens, 10c.; Child's Gloves 5c. and 10c.; Men's Shirts in Blue and Double Sewed, 25c. Blankets going fast. Not many left.
Many of our goods that are not imported we have direct from manufacturer.
CHARLES ROTERING & SONS PUBLIC SQUARE EMMITSBURG, MD.
STRICTLY CASH
Feb 26-11-17

DR. C. L. KEFAUVER, OPTOMETRIST FREDERICK, MD.

Will be in EMMITSBURG, MD., at "SLAGLE HOTEL" Second Thursday of Each Month. NEXT VISIT THURSDAY, NOV. 13th, 1913.

ASK FOR
G. L. BREAD
IT IS Pure, Wholesome, Satisfying.
ASK YOUR DEALER
G. L. BAKING COMPANY, FREDERICK, MARYLAND
7-18-13T

TAXES.
We have an agreement with the County Treasurer whereby we are authorized to Collect State and County Taxes.
Come In and Avail Yourself of This Convenience
4% INTEREST PAID ON TIME DEPOSITS
WE SOLICIT YOUR ACCOUNT
ANNAN, HORNER & CO., BANKERS.
oct 8-0917-

MOUNT ST. MARY'S ALUMNI HOLD A MEETING
Held at the College November 5th and 6th---Elaborate Exercises---Many Guests Present---Seniors Present Play.

For the second time in many years the Alumni Association of Mount St. Mary's College held its annual reunion and banquet at the Mount on Wednesday and Thursday of last week. The success of last year's reunion which was the first held locally for some time was so pronounced that the officers decided to hold all future meetings here. The weather was ideal, and although election day and the first Friday kept many away who regularly attend the sessions, a goodly number laid aside their exacting duties to return to their beloved Alma Mater. Among those who were tendered a warm reception was the Right Rev. Edward P. Allen, Bishop of Mobile, who for many years was president of this institution. Bishop Allen had been in Boston attending the Missionary Congress.

ing of the side lines and the playing of the band, the Mountain boys put up a vigorous fight but their opponents were much heavier and weight gave Gettysburg a 14 to 6 victory.

HON. A. V. D. WATTERSON. Unanimously Re-elected President of the Alumni Association.

The Senior Class had practical charge of the entertainment features but the whole student body, manifesting the exemplary Mountain spirit, co-operated with the Faculty in making the occasion a memorable one, and the days of this year's reunion—the 5th and 6th—will go down in history as one of the greatest events in recent years.

Very Rev. B. J. Bradley, president of the College, presided at the banquet, which was prepared for the visitors from the produce of the farm, and acquitted himself admirably as a host. There were no regular toasts or speeches, but at the conclusion of the dinner, Mr. A. V. D. Watterson, a prominent Pittsburgh attorney and president of the alumni, addressed the guests, urging them to continue to follow with interest the activities of the school which, he declared, was secondary to none in point of natural resources, equipment and scholarly teaching staff. Concluding Mr. Watterson said: "Mt. St. Mary's is our Alma Mater and we have reason to be proud that she is. Where is the college in America that can overtop the achievements of our Mountain? Where is there another school with so singular a history or one so replete with inspiring traditions? A galaxy of bishops and archbishops, headed by a great American cardinal, looms before us to testify to the worth of the training that made them great and good. And a great array of laymen, of substantial character and condition, whose life work has reflected credit on the source from which they drew their power, are testimony of the mastery education that has made them masters among men." Mr. Watterson has been president of the alumni for twenty-five years and was unanimously elected to continue in the office.

The Track Meet.

The annual inter-class track meet took place on the following morning and a silver loving cup, given by Spalding Bros., of Baltimore, for the best all around athlete, was awarded to Jean Hickey, of the Preparatory Department. The prep team secured the highest number of points, while the Freshman and Sophomore teams tied for second place.

Rodgers, of the Freshman class, was the highest individual point winner, but Hickey of the preps, secured the highest number of points for the winning class, and by doing so secured possession of the silver loving cup. Summary: 100-Yard Dash—Hickey (1), Rodgers (2), Coyle (3). Time 13 sec. High Jump—McManus (1), Rogers (2), McMorris (3). Distance 5 feet 3 in.

Broad Jump—Camino (1), McManus (2), O'Donoghue (3). Distance, 20 ft. 4 in.

One-Half Mile Run—Miley (1), Farley (2), Rodgers (3). Time, 2.30.

220-Yard Dash—Coyle (1), Haltigan (2), Hegarty (3). Time, 24.1 sec.

Shotput—Rice (1), May (2), Dwyer (3). Distance, 33 ft. 4 in.

440-Yard Dash—Hickey (1), Rodgers (2), G. Jones (3). Time, 52 sec.

Relay Race—Won by sophomore team Morgan, Haltigan, McMorris and Leary, Second Preps.

Referee—Coach Day. Starter—Engle, of Washington. Judges—Leary, Leonard Tobin, Fagan and Pauxtis. Clerk of course—Keating. Announcer—Dowdle.

On Wednesday night the seniors presented "Hawthorne of the U. S. A.," a stirring drama in four acts. The attendance was very great and a second performance was given to accommodate those who could not gain admission to the first. Some of the veteran alumni who have been visiting the Mountain regularly for upwards of forty years, declared it to be the best piece of histrionic work ever done at the school.

The Decorations.

Those who attend functions at Mount St. Marys have become accustomed to looking for only the best in decorative effects but the adornment of the auditorium for the staging of "Hawthorne" outstripped anything in the way of artistic embellishment. No one short of a master could have painted a proscenium curtain and tormentors with their Corinthian columns of marble, that would compare with the work of Mr. Robert Kealey, '14, of the Seminary. His replica of the Senior Class pin in colors above the curtain, the scroll designs and the massive '14 Shields in burnished gold attest Mr. Kealey's ability as an artist par excellence. The unique decoration of the body of the theatre was the work of Mr. Thomas J. Burke, A. M. The scheme was green and white, carried out in '14 pennants and bunting. The beautifying of the dining hall for the alumni Banquet was effected under the direction of Messrs. Kealey, Stieff and Kilroy, of the Seminary.

The Spirit of '14.

The Class of 1914 believes in advertising. It also refuses to do things by halves. The attractive programmes it issued for the show and the track meet were the last word in the printing art and served to impress upon everyone the fact that the '14 colors are green and white. The programme of the field day exercises was tied in blue and white silk ribbon the hues of the College. The procuring of the famous Yellow Springs Band, with the obliging Prof. Harris as leader, proved a wise policy and did more to enliven the gala afternoon than did any other one thing.

"Hawthorne of the U. S. A."

An estimate of the performance staged by the Senior class, on the night of November 6th., must be primarily, an appreciation of the skilled and arduous labors of Mr. Thomas J. Burke, of the Seminary, who directed the cast to a brilliant triumph in its presentation of a play that was the headliner in last year's theatrical world.

"Hawthorne of the U. S. A.," is a play of vivid color and quick action, and one that demands swift and sympathetic interpretation, to attain even mediocre success. The incessant ovations that interrupted the actors bore witness to the high appreciation the audience felt for the work of the cast, as drilled by their experienced director.

The success of any show is proportional to the success of the leading man. In this instance, Mr. Joseph R. McGee made a capable star. In him "Hawthorne" became a lovable character, handsome, brave, and full of real American grit. He surmounts all obstacles, turns the nobility of Borrowova to his side by shrewd diplomacy; makes a flourishing republic out of a bankrupt monarchy, and wins a princess for his bride. Clever and versatile as Mr. McGee is, the character of the Yankee abroad assumes artful interest. We are captivated by his initial appearance over the garden wall, and remain his willing slaves, until the curtain falls on the sun-dial betrothal; and, awakens us to the fact that it is only a play.

"Rodney Blake" is Hawthorne's best friend. John F. Cogan gave to this role a distinctive touch, that was entirely his own. He attached himself to his friend's wake and rescues him from every predicament; acting with an ease that showed his perfect naturalness. In the fight scene, at the finale of the second act, Mr. Cogan assisted "Hawthorne" in staging a pitched battle with the prince and his agent, that raised the audience to its feet with its realism. In the fourth act he raised endless mirth by his strange manner of making love; and when he boasted of his powers as a Lothario, after compelling his bride-to-be to propose to him, his acting was that of a professional.

One Mountain actor is inimitable. His character studies are perfectly interpreted; and whether he plays the parson, the secretary or the king, Daniel John Boyle, is beyond compare. As Augustus III, King of Borrowova, Mr. Boyle played with a quaint, original grace, that was truly regal; making the person of the Balkan King real by his irresistible accent that was so tantalizingly foreign. He is the true Thespian. Always calm and unruffled, possessed of a vibrant musical voice, and never at a loss for a word. In the part of the harassed ruler of a Balkan state, he acted a heavy role with consummate art.

Daniel F. Costello, made his initial bow on the college stage as Prince Valdimir Halberstadt, Pretender to the Throne. He put dignity into the role; appearing splendidly attired in full royal regalia. His ferociousness was well assumed, and more than once he caused the audience to quake.

M. De Witz, Minister of the Police, was the important personage whom Edward T. Hogan admirably portrayed. One always expects to see Mr. Hogan at his best, and in "Hawthorne of the U. S. A.," he quite sustained the reputation of a skilled actor that he earned for his work as the elder Ryder in "The Lion and the Mouse."

Daniel A. Tierney, was cast in the role of the Honorable Thomas Ballard, Senator from Pennsylvania. Mr. Tierney seems to have a penchant for being a gentleman of the legislature, this being the second occasion upon which he appeared before the Mountain audiences in that character. With a strong voice an oratorical delivery and a cool deliberation he faithfully and at times brilliantly took his part.

Ralph Keating scored a success as Count Ivan Pavloric, Chancellor of State. George Goldsborough was quick in his entries, and a breezy talker while on the stage, thus acting the metropolitan reporter.

M. Fredrick, Proprietor of the Casino was so full of the polite suavity of a French landlord that it would have been difficult indeed to discover Joseph A. McManus, concealed in the landlord's full dress suit. John L. Sheridan made an able General Hohenloe, Minister of War. His acting for one who was making his first appearance under the calciums was splendid. "Tact, tact Your Highness, more tact, I beg of you," will be long remembered as the sage advice of Colonel Radulsky to the Prince. It was R. Emmitt Hannon who acted in superb style the part of the diplomatic colonel. Leo P. McManus was much in evidence as an officer of the Guard, giving to this small part a sincere and unaffected presentation.

J. Edward McCaffrey was a charming and clever Princess Irma, daughter of the king. Under the spell of his acting one forgot one was witnessing an impersonation, and saw only a beautiful lady, who was indeed a princess. In the love scenes at the sun dial, Mr. McCaffrey was at his best, and here the princess acted with such zest, that we saw a suggestion of the wizard of feminine roles, Tom Mulhearn.

Harold G. Durkin, made his debut in the theatrical circle at the Mount as Kate Ballard, daughter of the Senator from Pennsylvania and acquitted himself admirably.

To the theatre goer of the College, Ernest F. Pratt is no stranger. In this play he established his reputation as our premier dowager and in the part by Miss Fitz Hardings Smythe, an English governess. It will be a long time before we shall see an abler impersonation.

A stage romance without music would be a rather cold affair. In this show as in those of times past the orchestra under the direction of Professor Fred A. Braun, was at its best. Professor Braun had a fine program arranged, among which "The Doll Girl" and Popular Songs" evoked great applause. The latter was especially appreciated, a chorus of male voices rendering several of the song hits of the year.

The performance on Thursday afternoon was an eloquent witness to the fact that the success of the previous evening had not been a flash in the pan. With the same lively expression, Hawthorne flashed through the scenes, his cast supporting him in professional style. The only friction occurred in the second act, when a beautiful oak tree, that should have been growing up in the seclusion of the top lights, had the temerity to drop into the office of M. Frederick, the proprietor of the Casino, quite startling that gentleman out of his usual aplomb by this unexampled incident of nature-faking.

Like a troupe of real Thespians, the cast moved in and out ignoring the unfortunate slip of the scene shifters, and actually convincing the audience that it was an every day occurrence to see trees growing in casino offices.

Mountain audiences are disposed to be critical. They have been accustomed to the best shows that can be produced. Discriminating critics have pronounced this the best in history, not excepting such a triumph as the "Parish Priest," which has always been remembered as a performance that would have graced the regular theatres.

The staging was of elaborate nature, electrical scenic effects adding much charm to the second and last acts. Under the efficient direction of J. Elmer Ditchey, stage manger, and his assistant, Leo J. Paillips there was no delay in the heavy work of scenic arrangement. Business Manager Daniel Joseph Boyle and his assistant Leo T. Collier attended to the business affairs with wisdom and dispatch. All in all, "Hawthorne of the U. S. A.," must be regarded as an achievement, and Thomas J. Burke and the Senior class deserve great commendation for having so excellently produced this play which was never before attempted by amateurs.

A Very Contemptible Habit.

A petty attempt to discredit one's reputation just for some particular purpose, without giving even the minutest credit to the same person for distinctive worthy deeds accomplished, which have a thousand fold more weight in the cause of good citizenship, is one of the most common methods employed in the present day by the fore-flusher, who is always open to censure from every point of view.—Frederick Citizen.

Neuralgia sufferers find instant relief in Sloan's Liniment. It penetrates to the painful part—soothes and quiets the nerves. No rubbing—merely lay it on.
SLOAN'S LINIMENT
Kills Pain
For Neuralgia
"I would not be without your Liniment and praise it to all who suffer with neuralgia or rheumatism or pain of any kind."—Mrs. Henry Bishop, Helena, Missouri.
Pain All Gone
"I suffered with quite a severe neuralgic headache for 4 months without any relief. I used your Liniment for two or three nights and I haven't suffered with my head since."—Mr. J. R. Swinger, Louisville, Ky.
Treatments for Cold and Croup
"My little girl, twelve years old, caught a severe cold, and I gave her three drops of Sloan's Liniment on sugar on going to bed, and she got up in the morning with no signs of a cold. A little boy next door had croup and I gave the mother the Liniment. She gave him three drops on going to bed, and he got up without the croup in the morning."—Mr. W. H. Strang, Chicago, Ill.
At all Dealers. Price 25c, 50c, and $1.00
Sloan's Book on Horses sent free.
Address
DR. EARL S. SLOAN, Inc., Boston, Mass.

The Weekly Chronicle

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY AT EMMITSBURG, MARYLAND.

STERLING GALT, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

TERMS:—One Dollar a year in advance; Six months, 50 cents. Trial subscriptions, Three months, 25 cents.

ADVERTISING RATES made known on application at this office.

THE PROPRIETOR reserves the right to decline any advertisements which he may deem objectionable.

NO ATTENTION whatever will be paid to anonymous contributions.

MANUSCRIPTS offered for publication will be returned if unavailable, when accompanied by stamps.

CHESAPEAKE AND POTOMAC PHONE.

Entered as second-class matter January 1, 1909, at the post office at Emmitsburg, Md., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1913.

THE CHRONICLE will be independent in politics, progressive in spirit and a champion of what it conceives to be right. Its columns will always be open for a dignified discussion by the people of any subject that may seem to them interesting, or that may in anywise be a benefit to the community at large.

[Editorial from The Chronicle, June 8, 1906.]

1913 NOVEMBER 1913

S	M	T	W	T	F	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30

Communications intended for publication in this paper, letters of a business nature in relation to the Chronicle, and all orders for Job Printing to be done at this office should be addressed to THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Union, and especially in the production of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scotch-Irish descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a valley of rolling lands lying between the Lingonore Hills and the Catocin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river, and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and productive areas of the Union. The great crops are wheat and corn.—Maryland Manual issued by Board of Public Works.

HEAVEN FORFEND.

Senator Tillman surely voices the sentiment of the decent element of the State of South Carolina when he says, "South Carolina's good name would be hopelessly stained if our people should send Blease to the Senate. It is time for demagoguery to take a back seat and statesmanship to come to the front."

Blease, as Governor, has shown by his every utterance and public act that he represents the lowest order of South Carolina's intellect. He is a low-browed iconoclast, a dangerous vulgarian whose highest hope would be to "tie" not only the President's hands, but his feet also.

Couldn't Huerta use Blease to advantage down in Mexico?

SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF.

Just about a month ago Governor Goldsborough made an inspection of the State School for the Deaf at Frederick, at which time he promised that in him the school would have a champion. He was impressed with the fact that the institution was very much in need of an appropriation for extension and repairs and declared it was the duty of the State to support the school liberally.

No doubt the Governor made copious mental notes of the requirements of this important State institution, and it is fair to assume that it is the intention of his Excellency to report his findings to the Legislature at its next session. This is devoutly to be hoped, for there is no institution in Maryland more worthy of liberal support than the School for the Deaf.

Modestly, unpretentiously, but most thoroughly does this school do its work, and its influence for good is felt far beyond this commonwealth.

THE BIELISS VERDICT.

The whole Christian world breathes easier to-day over the result of the verdict in the now celebrated "ritual murder" trial in fanatic Russia. It still stands amazed, nevertheless, at the attempt of that country to foist upon the innocent victim of a still more victimized race a crime that had no existence in fact—a crime which was but the figment of the over-heated imagination of a desperately cruel and ignorant peasantry egged on to frenzy by an autocracy with a fiendish purpose.

Interesting would it be could the true state of mind of that Kiev jury be arrived at. Did those who "tried" the case render their decision on the merits of the "evidence?" Or did they—although, as it were, scourged and urged to render an adverse verdict by the powers claiming to be above the law—hear the rumbling of a world-wide denunciation and, in spite of their prejudice, listen to and heed the message which that rumbling foretold?

Bieliss is free—for that much Christendom is glad; but on Russia's escutcheon there remains a blot that it will take more than time to efface.

NOTHING TO IT.

They are trying to raise the point of "irregularity" about Senator Lee's election—these "seven-by-nine" partisans, as the Baltimore News calls them. It will not do.

"After the most careful investigation," says the News, "it was decided that there was no need to have the State go to the expense of an extraordinary legislative session, when the Governor could by proclamation order the balloting for Senator. There were conferences in Washington, and it was commonly understood that the agreement had been reached that such a technical objection should not be urged against Lee. * * * Should the point be made to stick, he could not take his seat till after the Maryland Legislature has met, passed the required legislation and the State had held a special election under it, at great expense, and with absolutely no doubt of the result. It would be sheer waste and folly."

There is no ground whatever for a contention. Senator Lee was elected by an overwhelming majority, and common sense dictates that it is best to abide by the will of that majority.

"MOST PREPOSTEROUS OF INVERACITIES."

In nothing is New York City quite as much maligned by outsiders as in her elections. The thoughtless, uninformed, the jealous and those whose partisanship carries their sense of justice far afield—these ascribe to the citizens of Manhattan every crime in the calendar in recounting the scenes that are alleged to take place in the metropolis on each election day.

It is very doubtful if there is a city in the United States half the size, one-fourth the size, of New York, in which elections are more orderly.

No wonder the New York Sun's sense of fair play is shocked at what it calls "An Annual Slander." After referring to the fact that on the fourth "upwards of 600,000 voters went to the polls undisturbed by violence, menace or even discomfort," that journal says:

Apart from the usual arrests procured by zealous and perhaps over-zealous poll watchers, there was no breach of public peace apart from one or two trivial brawls. Even the regular crop of arrests was shorter, and this will plainly be diminished by a general release of those arrested this morning.

Yet for two weeks this town has been libelled, its citizens insulted, its reputation assailed by daily reports of vast frauds contemplated and wholesale importations of "gorillas," repeaters and thugs planned.

Is it not about time a final stop was put to such foolish, false and utterly ridiculous ante-election performances? Is there not one department in their municipal life in which the citizens of this town can afford to cease slandering themselves?

If there be any part of the country in which election day is a quieter, more orderly holiday or the business of election conducted more honestly or more carefully, The Evening Sun does not know of it.

Is it indeed, necessary, as the Sun asks, "to keep alive this most ancient and preposterous of inveracities?"

WAR AND THE RUMORS OF WAR.

Whether the policy of President Wilson in his dealings with Mexico is what certain manufacturers of opinion call idealistic, there is no question that he is clinging grimly to his decision. He has a plan which from its very nature is unalterable, for he says that "it is not expediency but morality that must guide us." Some editors question the right of a foreign power to interfere in the domestic affairs of another, and yet these very writers, whenever anything goes wrong in Armenia and Christian missionaries and their followers are interfered with by the Turk, are prepared with many a plan to wipe the nameless Moslem from the face of the earth.

President Wilson cares little whether his ideas of governing Mexico conform with those of Huerta and his followers. He looks on the Dictator as a traitor to the best interests of the Mexican people and as one whose treachery cannot be condoned; and therefore whatever interests may be at stake, the President considers these as secondary to the moral factors which govern him in making every proper effort to check disorder in the neighboring republic. Now the question arises, can we carry out his plan without a recourse to war? The President has viewed the question in all of its bearings, and from the fact that he has stated that it is not the policy of his Administration to take a single inch of territory from the countries that must be disciplined to peace, it is evident that he has no plan for a war of invasion. He knows how costly the experiment would prove, how difficult even it would be to make it one of immediate triumph. He knows that nothing but a heavy sacrifice of life and treasure can land our victorious troops into the capital of Mexico; and he is prepared to avoid all the calamities of war by the prudent measure of forbearance which is the outcome of his policy of "hands off." Not only does he intend this policy to be carried out so far as other foreign powers are concerned, but his dream of peace for the Latin Republics will be realized by his own determination of "hands off." The next week will tell how he intends to carry out his plans; in the meantime let us be content to be "lookers on."

Neglected Neighborhoods.

You can find in almost any town a "neglected neighborhood." The easiest thing to do with such a neighborhood is to keep on neglecting it.

It is so easy for us to study these topics as if they were about other places and people than ourselves and our homes. Is there a neglected corner in your town or in your county? If there is, what are you going to do about it? Not "What have you been doing about it?" or "What ought you to do about it?" but "What are you going to do about it?"

If you can't get the committees interested do something yourself. Do not be afraid.

The thing is to get started. You see, as soon as you have started something the neighborhood is no longer neglected. And then it will be an easier matter to get some one to come in and help.—Christian Herald.

The Passing of a Type.

The hard contemporary fact is that the gloriously maned authors are becoming sadly rare, even rarer than long haired actors. The long haired musician is still with us, though one of the most eminent masters of the pianoforte has yielded something to the modern spirit by submitting briefly to the shears. Individual age has here a potent influence—age, or the getting through with things. What a wonderfully picturesque person Dickens was at twenty-five! And how matter of fact at forty! Browning suffered a similarly sobering and averaging effect. The same thing is true of many other figures in that period, and it is not easy to guess whether the changing fashion set in during their middle years or whether advancing age would have effected the same change in any case.—Atlantic Monthly.

The Swiss Navy.

Centuries before Germany was to be reckoned with as a sea power Switzerland possessed a fleet equipped for warfare. Eight hundred years ago, on all the larger Swiss lakes, armed galleys were maintained by the rival cantons. Skilled shipwrights had to be imported from Genoa for the construction of these vessels, some of which carried crews of 500 men or more. The largest of these flotillas was maintained on the lake of Geneva, when the inhabitants of Geneva were at war with Savoy. Since the neutrality of Switzerland has been guaranteed by the powers there has been no need for war vessels on the lakes. The Swiss, however, possess a mercantile navy which carries a considerable amount of trade over the 342 miles of navigable waterways in the republic.

Sorry For the Overworked Artist.

"Henry," said his sister at the breakfast table the morning after, "you shouldn't ask that young artist to work so hard when he and a party of your other friends visit you."

"Huh?" replied brother, coming out of a postmortem reverie of the big hand.

"You needn't try to deny it. I listened at the door awhile, and some one was always asking the poor artist to 'draw three' or draw some other number of pictures. At least you should have been satisfied to have him draw one at a time."—Kansas City Star.

Common Weakness.

An interesting light is thrown on the purely human side of the late Edward VII. of England by a story told of his inability to resist the temptation to appropriate a particularly good anecdote.

Some one told a delightful story to one of his majesty's young nieces. "That is capital," she said. "I must tell it to the king."

"No," she instantly added, "I won't, for if you tell uncle a good story he forgets in a day or two that it was told to him and goes about repeating it to every one as his own."

Information Wanted.

Simmons had returned from his vacation. "I certainly enjoyed the husking bees," he said to the young woman. "Were you ever in the country during the season of husking bees?"

"Husking bees!" exclaimed the girl. "How do you husk a bee, anyway, Mr. Simmons?"

Prophecy.

Small Boy (handing druggist half dollar)—Five five-cent cigars, and give me the change.

Druggist—But, Bob, your father always smokes ten cent cigars.

"Well, he isn't going to this time."—Life.

Her Bad Accident.

"Did you ever have a bad accident?"

The lady chauffeur bit her lip.

"I met my husband by accident," she admitted.—Exchange.

Just Too Late.

"When did you learn that he was one of the bank's most trusted employees?"

"The day after he absconded with the funds."—Detroit Free Press.

Be at war with your vices, at peace with your neighbors and let every new year find you a better man.—Franklin.

EDITORIAL COMMENT ON THE ELECTION BY THE MARYLAND COUNTRY PRESS.

The result in the State was foreshadowed. The Democratic administration at Washington has held the reins for eight months, and its work has been of a radical character, sufficient time has not elapsed to measure its worth. Whether beneficent or malevolent, the future alone will tell, but taken in conjunction with the novelty of the plans adopted to this generation, and the further fact that their leaven has not had time to work out for good or evil, the voters of the State and country seem inclined to give the Administration the benefit of any doubt that might arise in their minds.—St. Mary's Enterprise.

The Democrats have won a victory in Baltimore county because they deserve to win. With the character of voters that prevail in our county a Democratic victory could have been secured on no other grounds.—Catonville Argus.

Now that the election is over with, and the Democratic ticket has had the splendid approval of the voters, especially of those in Baltimore county, there is nothing to remark, except an appeal to the elected officials for the very best administration they are capable of giving to the people. Their records in the past have justified the hope that they will do their best, and a thorough co-operation among those in the various offices will surely make a similar history for the next two years.—Democrat and Journal.

The only reason of our defeat was we did not have votes enough.—Westminster Times.

The overwhelming Democratic victory in Carroll county and throughout the State of Maryland on Tuesday demonstrates most forcibly that the Democratic party believes in direct primaries and in the Wilson-Bryan-Lee kind of government.—Democratic Advocate.

The vote in Allegany county is most gratifying, but is not an index of the strength of any party. The Republicans, as usual, slaughtered some of their most decent candidates. It has been known for ten years that that party did not wish the respectable element in it to lead it.—Cumberland News.

Democrats are keeping faith with the people, and it is bringing its reward.—Hagerstown Mail.

The overwhelming Democratic victory in Frederick county, while a surprise to both Republicans and Democrats, is only one of those unexpected results in politics that comes along every now and then.—Valley Register.

Maryland like other sections of the country, passed judgment on the Democracy and Democratic achievements, State and National, and the judgment was delivered with an emphasis which cannot possibly be misunderstood.—Denton Journal.

It looked impossible that the party, that a year ago was hopelessly divided and was overwhelmingly defeated, could have recovered sufficiently in that brief time to turn defeat into victory, even under the most advantageous circumstances.—Westminster Sentinel.

The election in Maryland and in some of the other States is over and happily over and without regret from the lovers of good government. In Harford, in which our readers are most interested, there are no complaints heard. The vote was not large but was representative of the best thought of the county, giving the Democratic ticket an average majority of over a thousand.—Harford Democrat.

Good Roads Prevents Disease.

Good roads prevent disease by setting an example to adjoining farm premises. Good roads promote travel and set an example to the farmer whose premises are bordered by them. The comparison of a well graded, clean highway with an unkempt and trashy barnyard adjoining is sufficient to stimulate every land owner to a clean-up. Pride compels him to offer to passers-by a neat-appearing and attractive house and barnyard. Results are only too obvious. Good roads are active disease prevention agencies, aside from their financial and commercial value.—Garrett Journal.

"Ad" Value of Country Weekly.

Aside from the numerical growth of recent years, the advertising trend toward country weeklies shows the hold they have taken on national affairs. Ask many manufacturers of household commodities, and they will tell you that much of their annual "ad" appropriation goes to the country weeklies.

Why? Because they want to reach the people, they desire to spend money where it will do the most good, and they know that the country weekly is read from cover to cover in the community that they wish to reach.—American Press.

The Democracy of the county should be proud of the victory on Tuesday last. The new Central Committee fortified with unity of action accomplished great results. The future of the party depends largely on the ability and qualifications of those elected on Tuesday last.—Frederick Citizen.

The Democrats of Allegany county have no cause whatever to be discouraged or disheartened over the result of the election here at home. They made a glorious fight against overwhelming odds and in the face of more than ordinary difficulties. With the large Republican majority in the county to contend against it is really a matter of surprise that we elected any of our candidates.—Cumberland Times.

The paramount issue in the campaign was whether the hands of the President should be upheld or tied. The triumphant election of Blair Lee to the United States Senate by the people of Maryland is as much an indorsement of the policies and administration of the President as if Woodrow Wilson himself had been a candidate before the people of the State last Tuesday for the office of United States Senator.—Montgomery County Sentinel.

The elections Tuesday throughout the country have all been favorable to the Democrats, and there can be no disputing the fact that the voters of the country, are disposed to endorse the policies of President Wilson's administration, as a whole.—Harve de Grace Republican.

United States Senator-elect Lee, in his pre-election speech at Hampstead, plead for the voter to send him to Washington to prevent the tying of the President's hands and advised the voter to send enough Democrats to Maryland's Assembly to override the Governor's veto. The voter did both—almost.—Hampstead Enterprise.

The fight is over—it has been won and lost—there is cause for congratulation to the winner, Democrat and Republican alike—to the loser the handshake of friendship and brotherhood, too, with the knowledge that the fight was well-fought; all along the line and "better luck, maybe, next time."—Cumberland News.

The complete Democratic victory in this county is not surprising to those who knew local conditions. It is a notorious fact that the poorest, weakest and most trifling campaign in many years was put up by the Republicans of this county this year, and upon what theory they could expect to win is more than a person of ordinary intelligence is able to figure out.—Laurel Leader.

Now that the Democrats are elected, it is "up to them" to make good, to administer the public affairs in the interest of the whole people and not in the interest of any favor-seeking class or clique; to practice rigid economy in the expenditure of the public monies—to make a long story short, to practice the kind of Democracy laid down by Thomas Jefferson, the kind of Democracy that is now being practiced at Washington by President Wilson, the members of his Cabinet and the Democratic members of the Senate and the House of Representatives.—The Jeffersonian.

This splendid Democratic majority is due to the fact that all the candidates were good, strong men and the voters wanted them.—Democrat and News.

Having demonstrated that the Progressive party is no longer a factor in Maryland politics the Republicans should with renewed courage and faith set to work to strengthen their lines for future service.—Bel Air Times.

Seed Corn Collection.

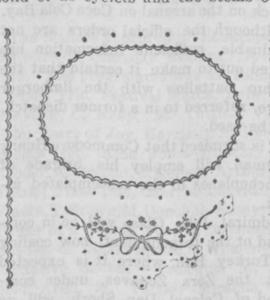

More and more is the farming public becoming aware that good seed is a fundamentally important matter in the production of a top notch corn field. Now is the time to provide good seed for the next year's planting. This seed should be selected in the field. The whole corn plant should be the unit in selecting of seed. Look for the stalks which have the most corn, and then from the sturdiest of these select seed for the 1914 planting. It is well to leave these seed stalks until fully matured before cutting. It is never wise to send away very far to get seed corn. Corn is a crop which is very sensitive to a slight change in climate. Excellent seed will often fail to make a profitable crop if moved two hundred miles, and the seed grown on your own farm, if carefully selected, is the best for you to plant. It is only while the corn is on the stock that wise selection can be made.—Denton Journal.

It Pays to Make Friends.

No matter how much work a man may do, he will do nothing worthy if he is too busy to make friends. The value of our investment in the world depends largely in the manner in which our own self is drawn out and enriched through the touch of other lives. No man can be great by himself alone; all greatness is a gathering to ourselves of other beings.—Berlin Advance.

WHEN IN Frederick
—even between trains—be sure to visit the Diamond Alleys
The Finest in the State
Something Going On All The Time
Finest Brands of Wines, Liquors, Cigars
SHERWOOD A SPECIALTY
Match Games of Duck Pins
EVERY WEEK
JOHN H. FRAZIER
feb 17, '11-17

Mountain View Cemetery
EMMITSBURG, MD.
Beautiful Location, Lots
Carefully Attended To, Perfect
Drainage, Grounds Well Kept.
LOTS AT PRESENT $25.
HALF LOTS $15.
SINGLE GRAVES $5.
ALL PAYMENTS TO BE MADE BEFORE INTERMENT.
For Information Apply to J. HENRY STOKES.
SOUVENIR VIEWS
OF
EMMITSBURG AND VICINITY
An Attractive Booklet. 5 Cents.
Postage Prepaid, 7 Cts.
THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE
Send One to Your Friend

FASHION HINT
By JUDIC CHOLLET
This is a charming design for a young girl's low necked nightgown that the girl may work herself with little trouble. The scalloped edges are to be padded and buttonholed. The flowers worked solid with leaves either solid or as eyelets and the stems outlined.

GIRL'S LOW NECKED NIGHTGOWN DESIGN.
lined. The ribbon can be worked either solid or in outline stitch and the dots solidly or as eyelets.
To pad continuous scallops cut a skein of thread and apply two or more strands over the center of the stamped pattern, keeping on the lines; tack here and there in couching style, gathering the threads closely at each point of the scallops, or work chain stitched between the lines, heavier at the center, lighter at the points. Buttonhole closely over the foundation.
Make solid embroidery first by darning backward and forward over the stamped figure and then closely with over and over stitch, working in opposite direction from the padding.
To outline take short stitches, keep the needle toward the right and work upward. To make the dots as eyelets first encircle by a running thread around the outline, pierce with a stiletto and work over and over. Use embroidery cotton suited to the material.
This May Manton design comes in one size only. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 680, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.
No. Size.....
Name ..
Address ..

His Blunder
By GREGORY GIBSON
Woolcott during the summer met Miss Martindale and did a lot of spooning, with the usual result. However, the affair was not brought to a finish, and Woolcott was obliged to take a thousand mile trip for the purpose of making a proposition. He was preparing to do so when the lady wrote him that she would be at M. shortly and would be happy to receive him there. Since M. was some 900 miles nearer than her residence, Woolcott concluded to see her there instead.
Miss Martindale wrote that she would be at the Cliffs, meaning that she would visit a family of that name. Woolcott took this to mean that she would stop at a hotel. On alighting at the station he asked a man who was in a hurry where he could find the Cliffs. The man pointed to a handsome house on a hill near by. He found the baggage agent and, pointing to the house, told him to send his trunk there; then he set off to walk the distance. On arriving he opened the front door, entered a spacious hallway and saw a gentleman reading a newspaper before an open fireplace.
"The Cliffs, I believe?" said Woolcott. The gentleman looked up at him over a pair of glasses, somewhat surprised, and replied in the affirmative. "Are you the landlord?" asked Woolcott.
A twinkle came into the gentleman's eye, and he replied that he was the proprietor.
"I would like a room in your house for a few days," continued the traveler. "Have you a young lady staying with you of the name of Martindale?"
A light seemed to break in upon the gentleman's brain. "Miss Florence Martindale? Certainly. She arrived a few days ago. But she's out in an auto just now. She will not return till late tonight. Be seated and I'll call a servant to show you to a room."
Howard Cliff, banker, entertaining a few friends at his country residence, had sent them off in his car, remaining at home himself. He went himself for the butler, instead of ringing for him, to tell him to show a gentleman to his room who supposed he was in a hotel and who was not to be told he was in a private house. Then Mr. Cliff returned to the guest, followed by the butler, who took him upstairs. While Woolcott was making a toilet his baggage arrived and was sent up to him. When he came downstairs he found Mr. Cliff in the library.
"We have very few guests at present," said the supposed landlord. "You see, ours is a summer house, and we shall close up for the winter within a few days or a week. It depends upon how long I can keep those who are now with me. You will have to dine alone, for all have gone on the auto party."
"I don't like that," said Woolcott. "If you are alone may we not dine together?"
"Certainly."
"What wine have you?"
Mr. Cliff mentioned several kinds of wine, and his guest selected champagne. He asked for a wine card, but the host told him it was unnecessary. Woolcott regaled his host with one bottle and called for another. The dinner was delightfully served, and altogether Woolcott found the landlord a very agreeable companion. Judging by the number of foreign places he was familiar with, Woolcott thought that he must have kept hotels all over the world. Mr. Cliff suggested that, since the auto party would not return till late, perhaps Woolcott would not sit up for them. Since the latter did not relish a meeting with the lady to whom he had come to propose before others he said he thought he would go to bed.
When he went down to breakfast in the morning he met a genial party, every one of whom had been coached with regard to his reception. Miss Martindale had been horrified at the blunder he had made. She had expected him to stop at a hotel and call upon her at her friend's. But Mr. Cliff pleaded with her to permit her friend to remain in ignorance of the situation temporarily and continue to be entertained by the Cliff family.
Miss Martindale advanced with a smile, not unmingled with embarrassment, but refrained from mentioning the mistake. All sat down together to breakfast, and Woolcott thought what a charming place it would be for him to make his proposal.
He had ample opportunity, for the members of the family kept out of the couple's way, having some suspicion of the young man's errand. During the afternoon the two took a long walk, and when they came back Woolcott looked very proud of himself. At dinner he remarked to Mrs. Cliff that he had never before stopped at so charming a hotel.
"Hotel?" exclaimed the lady, feigning surprise.
"Mr. Woolcott," said the host, "I have to thank you for making a mistake in taking my house for a hotel. Had you not done so I should not have had the pleasure of entertaining you."
Woolcott saw by the looks of those present, especially his fiancée, that he had blundered, but both host and hostess came to the rescue, and it was not long before he was feeling quite at home and laughing with the rest over his mistake. But it is not to be expected of a man who has won the girl he wants that he will mind a little thing like that.

The Citizens' National Bank OF FREDERICK, MD.
CAPITAL $100,000
SURPLUS $300,000
OFFICERS.
J. D. BAKER, President.
WM. G. BAKER, Vice President.
H. D. BAKER, Vice President.
WM. G. ZIMMERMAN, Cashier.
SAMUEL G. DUVAL, Asst. Cashier.
DIRECTORS.
GEO. WM. SMITH, THOS. H. HALLER,
JOHN S. RAMSBURG, DANIEL BAKER,
WM. G. BAKER, C. H. CONLEY, M. D.,
C. M. THOMAS, P. E. CLINE,
D. E. KEFAUVER, P. L. HARGETT,
JUDGE J. C. MOTTER, J. D. BAKER.
NOTICE.
On November the 1st, 1909, this Bank increased its interest rate to Four (4%) per cent. per annum on all its special interest bearing deposits, said deposits to remain in all other respects subject to the provisions of the contracts under which they were made.
Referring to the above notice, it is not necessary for any depositor to present his or her book to have any change made. The 4% rate, will, of course, also be paid on new deposits made of the same class.
This bank offers first-class facilities for the transacting of your general banking business.
July 8, '10-17

HANDWORK.
Sash, Doors, and Frames made by hand a specialty.
Jobbing promptly attended to and done right.
J. THOMAS LANSINGER,
CONTRACTOR and CARPENTER
GREEN ST., EMMITSBURG.
jul 7-14

House of Quality.
People who in buying Groceries, make price and cheapness the standard instead of quality, will sooner or later, come to a realizing sense of the false-ness of their economy. We stand for quality, first, last and all the time; and while doing so, we know that we can give you, intrinsically, better value for your money than the man who eternally talks cheapness. This is a House of Quality at moderate prices.
THE BEST ALWAYS.
F. COLUMBUS KNOTT,
Successor to Besant and Knott, aug 23-lyr FREDERICK, MD.

FASHION HINT
By JUDIC CHOLLET
Aprons such as this one are always attractive for school and play hours. Mothers are sure to welcome this new design. It can be made with or without pockets, and the bretelles can be either plain or full.
In the back view embroidery is used

His Blunder
By GREGORY GIBSON
Woolcott during the summer met Miss Martindale and did a lot of spooning, with the usual result. However, the affair was not brought to a finish, and Woolcott was obliged to take a thousand mile trip for the purpose of making a proposition. He was preparing to do so when the lady wrote him that she would be at M. shortly and would be happy to receive him there. Since M. was some 900 miles nearer than her residence, Woolcott concluded to see her there instead.
Miss Martindale wrote that she would be at the Cliffs, meaning that she would visit a family of that name. Woolcott took this to mean that she would stop at a hotel. On alighting at the station he asked a man who was in a hurry where he could find the Cliffs. The man pointed to a handsome house on a hill near by. He found the baggage agent and, pointing to the house, told him to send his trunk there; then he set off to walk the distance. On arriving he opened the front door, entered a spacious hallway and saw a gentleman reading a newspaper before an open fireplace.
"The Cliffs, I believe?" said Woolcott. The gentleman looked up at him over a pair of glasses, somewhat surprised, and replied in the affirmative. "Are you the landlord?" asked Woolcott.
A twinkle came into the gentleman's eye, and he replied that he was the proprietor.
"I would like a room in your house for a few days," continued the traveler. "Have you a young lady staying with you of the name of Martindale?"
A light seemed to break in upon the gentleman's brain. "Miss Florence Martindale? Certainly. She arrived a few days ago. But she's out in an auto just now. She will not return till late tonight. Be seated and I'll call a servant to show you to a room."
Howard Cliff, banker, entertaining a few friends at his country residence, had sent them off in his car, remaining at home himself. He went himself for the butler, instead of ringing for him, to tell him to show a gentleman to his room who supposed he was in a hotel and who was not to be told he was in a private house. Then Mr. Cliff returned to the guest, followed by the butler, who took him upstairs. While Woolcott was making a toilet his baggage arrived and was sent up to him. When he came downstairs he found Mr. Cliff in the library.
"We have very few guests at present," said the supposed landlord. "You see, ours is a summer house, and we shall close up for the winter within a few days or a week. It depends upon how long I can keep those who are now with me. You will have to dine alone, for all have gone on the auto party."
"I don't like that," said Woolcott. "If you are alone may we not dine together?"
"Certainly."
"What wine have you?"
Mr. Cliff mentioned several kinds of wine, and his guest selected champagne. He asked for a wine card, but the host told him it was unnecessary. Woolcott regaled his host with one bottle and called for another. The dinner was delightfully served, and altogether Woolcott found the landlord a very agreeable companion. Judging by the number of foreign places he was familiar with, Woolcott thought that he must have kept hotels all over the world. Mr. Cliff suggested that, since the auto party would not return till late, perhaps Woolcott would not sit up for them. Since the latter did not relish a meeting with the lady to whom he had come to propose before others he said he thought he would go to bed.
When he went down to breakfast in the morning he met a genial party, every one of whom had been coached with regard to his reception. Miss Martindale had been horrified at the blunder he had made. She had expected him to stop at a hotel and call upon her at her friend's. But Mr. Cliff pleaded with her to permit her friend to remain in ignorance of the situation temporarily and continue to be entertained by the Cliff family.
Miss Martindale advanced with a smile, not unmingled with embarrassment, but refrained from mentioning the mistake. All sat down together to breakfast, and Woolcott thought what a charming place it would be for him to make his proposal.
He had ample opportunity, for the members of the family kept out of the couple's way, having some suspicion of the young man's errand. During the afternoon the two took a long walk, and when they came back Woolcott looked very proud of himself. At dinner he remarked to Mrs. Cliff that he had never before stopped at so charming a hotel.
"Hotel?" exclaimed the lady, feigning surprise.
"Mr. Woolcott," said the host, "I have to thank you for making a mistake in taking my house for a hotel. Had you not done so I should not have had the pleasure of entertaining you."
Woolcott saw by the looks of those present, especially his fiancée, that he had blundered, but both host and hostess came to the rescue, and it was not long before he was feeling quite at home and laughing with the rest over his mistake. But it is not to be expected of a man who has won the girl he wants that he will mind a little thing like that.

New Fall Coats
Are open and selling freely. More beautiful than ever before, all say. Never has so much individual style been developed in a Top Coat. Designers have excelled themselves—telling compliments have greeted them on every side. The variety of ideas as well as materials will be most pleasing to buyers. The popular cloths will be Baby Lamb, Matalesse, Fancy Vicunas, Chinchillas, Mannish Cloths, Plushes, priced from $5.00 to $30.00.
Stylish New Suits
That will appeal to every lady who wants a becoming costume. The graceful lines of the coat coupled with the modern characteristics of the skirt offer a combination that will spell style in capitals. And MORE, certain figures that in other seasons could not be given the fullest opportunity will have full rein this season.
W. B. and Royal Worcester
Are familiar names to Corset wearers—synonymous with style and comfort. The Fall Models are very acceptable. One dollar buys either No. 1351 or No. 47 in W. B. or 410 or 433 in ROYAL WORCESTER. The New Bon Ton No. 848 at $3.00, is a source of pleasure to its owner.
The Famous Gossard
Is daily winning and retaining friends. Some say, "After the Hospital" a Gossard. A friendly tip—A Gossard might help to avoid the Hospital. Wear a Gossard and be happy. All styles in Brassieres. New Sport Coats in all colors.
New Matalesse Velvets, New Sweaters, Fashionable
New Neckwear, New Fall Silk Hosiery.
Pictorial Review Patterns—The New Fall Fashion Book on sale.
THOS. H. HALLER,
Central Dry Goods House
17 and 19 North Market Street FREDERICK, MARYLAND
march 27-17

THE INDIVIDUALITY OF A LEHR PIANO
The Distinctive Quality
Of a LEHR PIANO—the quality that makes it so different from other ordinary instruments—
Is Its Pure & Vibrant Tone
This tone is the object, the purpose for which the Lehr instrument is created. But you yourself, without assistance, can judge the tone! Can be seen at Birely's Palace of Music,
FREDERICK, MD.
PROF. LYNN STEPHENS, Representative.
dec 22-11

FASHION HINT
By JUDIC CHOLLET
Aprons such as this one are always attractive for school and play hours. Mothers are sure to welcome this new design. It can be made with or without pockets, and the bretelles can be either plain or full.
In the back view embroidery is used

His Blunder
By GREGORY GIBSON
Woolcott during the summer met Miss Martindale and did a lot of spooning, with the usual result. However, the affair was not brought to a finish, and Woolcott was obliged to take a thousand mile trip for the purpose of making a proposition. He was preparing to do so when the lady wrote him that she would be at M. shortly and would be happy to receive him there. Since M. was some 900 miles nearer than her residence, Woolcott concluded to see her there instead.
Miss Martindale wrote that she would be at the Cliffs, meaning that she would visit a family of that name. Woolcott took this to mean that she would stop at a hotel. On alighting at the station he asked a man who was in a hurry where he could find the Cliffs. The man pointed to a handsome house on a hill near by. He found the baggage agent and, pointing to the house, told him to send his trunk there; then he set off to walk the distance. On arriving he opened the front door, entered a spacious hallway and saw a gentleman reading a newspaper before an open fireplace.
"The Cliffs, I believe?" said Woolcott. The gentleman looked up at him over a pair of glasses, somewhat surprised, and replied in the affirmative. "Are you the landlord?" asked Woolcott.
A twinkle came into the gentleman's eye, and he replied that he was the proprietor.
"I would like a room in your house for a few days," continued the traveler. "Have you a young lady staying with you of the name of Martindale?"
A light seemed to break in upon the gentleman's brain. "Miss Florence Martindale? Certainly. She arrived a few days ago. But she's out in an auto just now. She will not return till late tonight. Be seated and I'll call a servant to show you to a room."
Howard Cliff, banker, entertaining a few friends at his country residence, had sent them off in his car, remaining at home himself. He went himself for the butler, instead of ringing for him, to tell him to show a gentleman to his room who supposed he was in a hotel and who was not to be told he was in a private house. Then Mr. Cliff returned to the guest, followed by the butler, who took him upstairs. While Woolcott was making a toilet his baggage arrived and was sent up to him. When he came downstairs he found Mr. Cliff in the library.
"We have very few guests at present," said the supposed landlord. "You see, ours is a summer house, and we shall close up for the winter within a few days or a week. It depends upon how long I can keep those who are now with me. You will have to dine alone, for all have gone on the auto party."
"I don't like that," said Woolcott. "If you are alone may we not dine together?"
"Certainly."
"What wine have you?"
Mr. Cliff mentioned several kinds of wine, and his guest selected champagne. He asked for a wine card, but the host told him it was unnecessary. Woolcott regaled his host with one bottle and called for another. The dinner was delightfully served, and altogether Woolcott found the landlord a very agreeable companion. Judging by the number of foreign places he was familiar with, Woolcott thought that he must have kept hotels all over the world. Mr. Cliff suggested that, since the auto party would not return till late, perhaps Woolcott would not sit up for them. Since the latter did not relish a meeting with the lady to whom he had come to propose before others he said he thought he would go to bed.
When he went down to breakfast in the morning he met a genial party, every one of whom had been coached with regard to his reception. Miss Martindale had been horrified at the blunder he had made. She had expected him to stop at a hotel and call upon her at her friend's. But Mr. Cliff pleaded with her to permit her friend to remain in ignorance of the situation temporarily and continue to be entertained by the Cliff family.
Miss Martindale advanced with a smile, not unmingled with embarrassment, but refrained from mentioning the mistake. All sat down together to breakfast, and Woolcott thought what a charming place it would be for him to make his proposal.
He had ample opportunity, for the members of the family kept out of the couple's way, having some suspicion of the young man's errand. During the afternoon the two took a long walk, and when they came back Woolcott looked very proud of himself. At dinner he remarked to Mrs. Cliff that he had never before stopped at so charming a hotel.
"Hotel?" exclaimed the lady, feigning surprise.
"Mr. Woolcott," said the host, "I have to thank you for making a mistake in taking my house for a hotel. Had you not done so I should not have had the pleasure of entertaining you."
Woolcott saw by the looks of those present, especially his fiancée, that he had blundered, but both host and hostess came to the rescue, and it was not long before he was feeling quite at home and laughing with the rest over his mistake. But it is not to be expected of a man who has won the girl he wants that he will mind a little thing like that.

SHOE STORE
NEW LOT OF Fall and Winter Shoes
—IN—
Ladies', Misses and Children's
Men's, Boys' and Youths'
1913-FALL and WINTER-1913
M. FRANK ROWE,
EMMITSBURG, MARYLAND

CLARENCE E. MCGARREN
LIVERYMAN
EMMITSBURG, MARYLAND.
First-class teams furnished for private use.
Satisfactory arrangements guaranteed commercial men.
Horses boarded and vehicles cared for by the month.
Heavy and light hauling of any kind and for any distance.
Buggies, surreys and large pleasure vehicles available at all times.
Gaited riding horses—perfectly safe.
Prompt service and moderate prices.
apr 8-'10-ly

FASHION HINT
By JUDIC CHOLLET
Aprons such as this one are always attractive for school and play hours. Mothers are sure to welcome this new design. It can be made with or without pockets, and the bretelles can be either plain or full.
In the back view embroidery is used

His Blunder
By GREGORY GIBSON
Woolcott during the summer met Miss Martindale and did a lot of spooning, with the usual result. However, the affair was not brought to a finish, and Woolcott was obliged to take a thousand mile trip for the purpose of making a proposition. He was preparing to do so when the lady wrote him that she would be at M. shortly and would be happy to receive him there. Since M. was some 900 miles nearer than her residence, Woolcott concluded to see her there instead.
Miss Martindale wrote that she would be at the Cliffs, meaning that she would visit a family of that name. Woolcott took this to mean that she would stop at a hotel. On alighting at the station he asked a man who was in a hurry where he could find the Cliffs. The man pointed to a handsome house on a hill near by. He found the baggage agent and, pointing to the house, told him to send his trunk there; then he set off to walk the distance. On arriving he opened the front door, entered a spacious hallway and saw a gentleman reading a newspaper before an open fireplace.
"The Cliffs, I believe?" said Woolcott. The gentleman looked up at him over a pair of glasses, somewhat surprised, and replied in the affirmative. "Are you the landlord?" asked Woolcott.
A twinkle came into the gentleman's eye, and he replied that he was the proprietor.
"I would like a room in your house for a few days," continued the traveler. "Have you a young lady staying with you of the name of Martindale?"
A light seemed to break in upon the gentleman's brain. "Miss Florence Martindale? Certainly. She arrived a few days ago. But she's out in an auto just now. She will not return till late tonight. Be seated and I'll call a servant to show you to a room."
Howard Cliff, banker, entertaining a few friends at his country residence, had sent them off in his car, remaining at home himself. He went himself for the butler, instead of ringing for him, to tell him to show a gentleman to his room who supposed he was in a hotel and who was not to be told he was in a private house. Then Mr. Cliff returned to the guest, followed by the butler, who took him upstairs. While Woolcott was making a toilet his baggage arrived and was sent up to him. When he came downstairs he found Mr. Cliff in the library.
"We have very few guests at present," said the supposed landlord. "You see, ours is a summer house, and we shall close up for the winter within a few days or a week. It depends upon how long I can keep those who are now with me. You will have to dine alone, for all have gone on the auto party."
"I don't like that," said Woolcott. "If you are alone may we not dine together?"
"Certainly."
"What wine have you?"
Mr. Cliff mentioned several kinds of wine, and his guest selected champagne. He asked for a wine card, but the host told him it was unnecessary. Woolcott regaled his host with one bottle and called for another. The dinner was delightfully served, and altogether Woolcott found the landlord a very agreeable companion. Judging by the number of foreign places he was familiar with, Woolcott thought that he must have kept hotels all over the world. Mr. Cliff suggested that, since the auto party would not return till late, perhaps Woolcott would not sit up for them. Since the latter did not relish a meeting with the lady to whom he had come to propose before others he said he thought he would go to bed.
When he went down to breakfast in the morning he met a genial party, every one of whom had been coached with regard to his reception. Miss Martindale had been horrified at the blunder he had made. She had expected him to stop at a hotel and call upon her at her friend's. But Mr. Cliff pleaded with her to permit her friend to remain in ignorance of the situation temporarily and continue to be entertained by the Cliff family.
Miss Martindale advanced with a smile, not unmingled with embarrassment, but refrained from mentioning the mistake. All sat down together to breakfast, and Woolcott thought what a charming place it would be for him to make his proposal.
He had ample opportunity, for the members of the family kept out of the couple's way, having some suspicion of the young man's errand. During the afternoon the two took a long walk, and when they came back Woolcott looked very proud of himself. At dinner he remarked to Mrs. Cliff that he had never before stopped at so charming a hotel.
"Hotel?" exclaimed the lady, feigning surprise.
"Mr. Woolcott," said the host, "I have to thank you for making a mistake in taking my house for a hotel. Had you not done so I should not have had the pleasure of entertaining you."
Woolcott saw by the looks of those present, especially his fiancée, that he had blundered, but both host and hostess came to the rescue, and it was not long before he was feeling quite at home and laughing with the rest over his mistake. But it is not to be expected of a man who has won the girl he wants that he will mind a little thing like that.

SHOE STORE
NEW LOT OF Fall and Winter Shoes
—IN—
Ladies', Misses and Children's
Men's, Boys' and Youths'
1913-FALL and WINTER-1913
M. FRANK ROWE,
EMMITSBURG, MARYLAND

CHARLES M. RIDER
(SUCCESSOR TO HOKE & RIDER)
Monuments, Memorials and Cemetery Work of All Kinds ARTISTIC WORKER IN CUT STONE
CONCRETE EXPERT
My yards hold exhibits of beautiful work. These and photographs are always open for inspection.
C. & P. TELEPHONE-26-4 RESIDENCE.
WEST MAIN STREET, EMMITSBURG, MD.

FASHION HINT
By JUDIC CHOLLET
Aprons such as this one are always attractive for school and play hours. Mothers are sure to welcome this new design. It can be made with or without pockets, and the bretelles can be either plain or full.
In the back view embroidery is used

His Blunder
By GREGORY GIBSON
Woolcott during the summer met Miss Martindale and did a lot of spooning, with the usual result. However, the affair was not brought to a finish, and Woolcott was obliged to take a thousand mile trip for the purpose of making a proposition. He was preparing to do so when the lady wrote him that she would be at M. shortly and would be happy to receive him there. Since M. was some 900 miles nearer than her residence, Woolcott concluded to see her there instead.
Miss Martindale wrote that she would be at the Cliffs, meaning that she would visit a family of that name. Woolcott took this to mean that she would stop at a hotel. On alighting at the station he asked a man who was in a hurry where he could find the Cliffs. The man pointed to a handsome house on a hill near by. He found the baggage agent and, pointing to the house, told him to send his trunk there; then he set off to walk the distance. On arriving he opened the front door, entered a spacious hallway and saw a gentleman reading a newspaper before an open fireplace.
"The Cliffs, I believe?" said Woolcott. The gentleman looked up at him over a pair of glasses, somewhat surprised, and replied in the affirmative. "Are you the landlord?" asked Woolcott.
A twinkle came into the gentleman's eye, and he replied that he was the proprietor.
"I would like a room in your house for a few days," continued the traveler. "Have you a young lady staying with you of the name of Martindale?"
A light seemed to break in upon the gentleman's brain. "Miss Florence Martindale? Certainly. She arrived a few days ago. But she's out in an auto just now. She will not return till late tonight. Be seated and I'll call a servant to show you to a room."
Howard Cliff, banker, entertaining a few friends at his country residence, had sent them off in his car, remaining at home himself. He went himself for the butler, instead of ringing for him, to tell him to show a gentleman to his room who supposed he was in a hotel and who was not to be told he was in a private house. Then Mr. Cliff returned to the guest, followed by the butler, who took him upstairs. While Woolcott was making a toilet his baggage arrived and was sent up to him. When he came downstairs he found Mr. Cliff in the library.
"We have very few guests at present," said the supposed landlord. "You see, ours is a summer house, and we shall close up for the winter within a few days or a week. It depends upon how long I can keep those who are now with me. You will have to dine alone, for all have gone on the auto party."
"I don't like that," said Woolcott. "If you are alone may we not dine together?"
"Certainly."
"What wine have you?"
Mr. Cliff mentioned several kinds of wine, and his guest selected champagne. He asked for a wine card, but the host told him it was unnecessary. Woolcott regaled his host with one bottle and called for another. The dinner was delightfully served, and altogether Woolcott found the landlord a very agreeable companion. Judging by the number of foreign places he was familiar with, Woolcott thought that he must have kept hotels all over the world. Mr. Cliff suggested that, since the auto party would not return till late, perhaps Woolcott would not sit up for them. Since the latter did not relish a meeting with the lady to whom he had come to propose before others he said he thought he would go to bed.
When he went down to breakfast in the morning he met a genial party, every one of whom had been coached with regard to his reception. Miss Martindale had been horrified at the blunder he had made. She had expected him to stop at a hotel and call upon her at her friend's. But Mr. Cliff pleaded with her to permit her friend to remain in ignorance of the situation temporarily and continue to be entertained by the Cliff family.
Miss Martindale advanced with a smile, not unmingled with embarrassment, but refrained from mentioning the mistake. All sat down together to breakfast, and Woolcott thought what a charming place it would be for him to make his proposal.
He had ample opportunity, for the members of the family kept out of the couple's way, having some suspicion of the young man's errand. During the afternoon the two took a long walk, and when they came back Woolcott looked very proud of himself. At dinner he remarked to Mrs. Cliff that he had never before stopped at so charming a hotel.
"Hotel?" exclaimed the lady, feigning surprise.
"Mr. Woolcott," said the host, "I have to thank you for making a mistake in taking my house for a hotel. Had you not done so I should not have had the pleasure of entertaining you."
Woolcott saw by the looks of those present, especially his fiancée, that he had blundered, but both host and hostess came to the rescue, and it was not long before he was feeling quite at home and laughing with the rest over his mistake. But it is not to be expected of a man who has won the girl he wants that he will mind a little thing like that.

NEW FALL FABRICS
Ready with the most extensive line of the newest fabrics for Fall and Winter in Pretty Designs and Color Combinations
It is worth while to see these now for early choosing is best choosing.
J. D. LIPPY, Tailor,
GETTYSBURG, PA.
Feb. 8-17

Mount St. Mary's College and Ecclesiastical Seminary
Conducted by secular clergymen, aided by lay professors
Classical, Scientific and Commercial Courses. New Laboratory for the practical teaching of Physics and Chemistry.
The latest modern improvements. Beautiful grounds. New athletic field. Fine gymnasium and swimming pool.
Separate department for young boys.
Address, VERY REV. B. J. BRADLEY, LL. D., Emmitsburg, Maryland.
8-11-'10

FASHION HINT
By JUDIC CHOLLET
Aprons such as this one are always attractive for school and play hours. Mothers are sure to welcome this new design. It can be made with or without pockets, and the bretelles can be either plain or full.
In the back view embroidery is used

His Blunder
By GREGORY GIBSON
Woolcott during the summer met Miss Martindale and did a lot of spooning, with the usual result. However, the affair was not brought to a finish, and Woolcott was obliged to take a thousand mile trip for the purpose of making a proposition. He was preparing to do so when the lady wrote him that she would be at M. shortly and would be happy to receive him there. Since M. was some 900 miles nearer than her residence, Woolcott concluded to see her there instead.
Miss Martindale wrote that she would be at the Cliffs, meaning that she would visit a family of that name. Woolcott took this to mean that she would stop at a hotel. On alighting at the station he asked a man who was in a hurry where he could find the Cliffs. The man pointed to a handsome house on a hill near by. He found the baggage agent and, pointing to the house, told him to send his trunk there; then he set off to walk the distance. On arriving he opened the front door, entered a spacious hallway and saw a gentleman reading a newspaper before an open fireplace.
"The Cliffs, I believe?" said Woolcott. The gentleman looked up at him over a pair of glasses, somewhat surprised, and replied in the affirmative. "Are you the landlord?" asked Woolcott.
A twinkle came into the gentleman's eye, and he replied that he was the proprietor.
"I would like a room in your house for a few days," continued the traveler. "Have you a young lady staying with you of the name of Martindale?"
A light seemed to break in upon the gentleman's brain. "Miss Florence Martindale? Certainly. She arrived a few days ago. But she's out in an auto just now. She will not return till late tonight. Be seated and I'll call a servant to show you to a room."
Howard Cliff, banker, entertaining a few friends at his country residence, had sent them off in his car, remaining at home himself. He went himself for the butler, instead of ringing for him, to tell him to show a gentleman to his room who supposed he was in a hotel and who was not to be told he was in a private house. Then Mr. Cliff returned to the guest, followed by the butler, who took him upstairs. While Woolcott was making a toilet his baggage arrived and was sent up to him. When he came downstairs he found Mr. Cliff in the library.
"We have very few guests at present," said the supposed landlord. "You see, ours is a summer house, and we shall close up for the winter within a few days or a week. It depends upon how long I can keep those who are now with me. You will have to dine alone, for all have gone on the auto party."
"I don't like that," said Woolcott. "If you are alone may we not dine together?"
"Certainly."
"What wine have you?"
Mr. Cliff mentioned several kinds of wine, and his guest selected champagne. He asked for a wine card, but the host told him it was unnecessary. Woolcott regaled his host with one bottle and called for another. The dinner was delightfully served, and altogether Woolcott found the landlord a very agreeable companion. Judging by the number of foreign places he was familiar with, Woolcott thought that he must have kept hotels all over the world. Mr. Cliff suggested that, since the auto party would not return till late, perhaps Woolcott would not sit up for them. Since the latter did not relish a meeting with the lady to whom he had come to propose before others he said he thought he would go to bed.
When he went down to breakfast in the morning he met a genial party, every one of whom had been coached with regard to his reception. Miss Martindale had been horrified at the blunder he had made. She had expected him to stop at a hotel and call upon her at her friend's. But Mr. Cliff pleaded with her to permit her friend to remain in ignorance of the situation temporarily and continue to be entertained by the Cliff family.
Miss Martindale advanced with a smile, not unmingled with embarrassment, but refrained from mentioning the mistake. All sat down together to breakfast, and Woolcott thought what a charming place it would be for him to make his proposal.
He had ample opportunity, for the members of the family kept out of the couple's way, having some suspicion of the young man's errand. During the afternoon the two took a long walk, and when they came back Woolcott looked very proud of himself. At dinner he remarked to Mrs. Cliff that he had never before stopped at so charming a hotel.
"Hotel?" exclaimed the lady, feigning surprise.
"Mr. Woolcott," said the host, "I have to thank you for making a mistake in taking my house for a hotel. Had you not done so I should not have had the pleasure of entertaining you."
Woolcott saw by the looks of those present, especially his fiancée, that he had blundered, but both host and hostess came to the rescue, and it was not long before he was feeling quite at home and laughing with the rest over his mistake. But it is not to be expected of a man who has won the girl he wants that he will mind a little thing like that.

Peoples Fire Insurance Company of Maryland
H. M. WARREN FELTZ, Agent, EMMITSBURG, MD.
HOME OFFICE, FREDERICK, MARYLAND
A STOCK COMPANY
E. E. ZIMMERMAN, Local Director.
Jan. 1-11

PERSONALS.

It is the aim of THE CHRONICLE to publish as many personal and social items as possible, but it frequently happens that those who have guests visiting them, and those who entertain, fail to send a list of their friends, or an account of these events, to this office. Readers who live at a distance are always interested in what is going on "at home," and for that reason, if for no other, this column should be filled every week. It is of course understood that anonymous contributions will not be published. Names of persons furnishing items will be withheld.

Mr. Donald G. Agnew left Tuesday evening for Sebring, Ohio.

Mr. J. Thomas Gelwicks made a business trip to Baltimore on Monday.

Mr. Joseph Overman, of Richmond, Va., was in Emmitsburg over Sunday.

Miss Scott McNair has returned to Baltimore after spending some time with her sister, Mrs. E. L. Annan.

Miss Tabitha Beam has returned to Waynesboro, after spending several days here.

Mrs. Samuel Hostetter, of Charmian, visited Mrs. W. P. Nunemaker Sunday.

Mr. Lucian Beam, of Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, visited his mother, Mrs. Lucy Beam.

Mr. Lewis E. Kimmel spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives here.

Mr. Bernard Ott has returned to Baltimore, after spending a week with his parents.

Miss Julia Tyson, of Baltimore, visited here on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Gilson visited in Greencastle last week.

Miss Fannie Hoke visited in Baltimore this week.

Messrs Joseph Stouter, of Ridgewood, N. J., Frank and John Stouter, of Paterson, N. J., visited their parents. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Stouter, this week.

Miss Bernadette Eckenrode, of McSherrystown is visiting friends here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Stouter, of Jersey City, N. J., spent a week with Mr. Stouter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Stouter.

Mr. Geo. T. Eyster and daughter, Mary Ellen, spent Saturday in Taneytown.

Messrs. John H. Matthews, Oscar D. Frailey, Charles M. Rider and J. Stewart Annan spent Monday in Frederick.

Miss Edythe Nunemaker returned from an extensive visit to Selinsgrove, Pa., on Thursday evening.

Mr. William D. Colliflower returned from Altoona, Pa., on Tuesday, where he spent several days with his mother and son, Alexander.

The Misses Nelle Rowe and Nelle Cover visited in Thurmont.

Mr. Harry Nicodemus, of Waynesboro, Pa., was in town Wednesday.

Mrs. Theodore Classon, of Kump, Md., visited relatives and friends in town this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Mullen and son are visiting in Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gross, Mrs. William Nunemaker and Miss Edythe Nunemaker were in Thurmont Wednesday evening.

Misses Ruth Gillelan and Columbia Winter and Mr. E. F. Ohler attended the wedding of Miss Mary Valentine on Wednesday evening.

Miss Ruth Gillelan was in Baltimore this week.

Mr. Joseph E. Hoke, Misses Helen and Bessie Hoke spent Friday in Baltimore.

Strawberry and Vanilla Ice Cream at Zacharias'.

Gettysburg Boniface Commits Suicide.

As a result of brooding over insignificant financial troubles, Richard M. Ham proprietor of the Eagle Hotel in Gettysburg committed suicide at noon last Friday. He was widely known throughout the East as a hotel man, having held positions in Washington, Cape May and Philadelphia before going to Gettysburg. His last position before leasing the hotel here was at the Bellevue-Stratford, Philadelphia, where he was chief clerk.

Another Gift to Father Neck.

By the will of Mrs. McMahon, filed in the Orphans' Court of Baltimore last Friday, $500 is bequeathed to Rev. James H. Neck of the Immaculate Conception parish in that city. Three hundred dollars of this amount is to be Father Neck's personal property, and the balance is to be spent for Masses for the repose of the soul of the testatrix.

W. M. Lets Contract.

Contracts, amounting to approximately $200,000, have been awarded by the Western Maryland Railway Company for tools and machinery necessary for equipping the new erecting shop which the company is now building at Hagerstown, Md. This is one of the largest expenditures made by the Western Maryland recently in connection with the improvement work now in progress at various points along the line. The contracts were distributed among a number of tool manufacturing companies.

Strawberry and Vanilla Ice Cream at Zacharias'.

MONTHLY EXERCISES OF ST. EUPHEMIA'S HELD FRIDAY

Essays, Songs, Hymns and Recitations Particularly Interesting.—Parents Do Not Take an Interest.

The regular monthly exercises of St. Euphemia's School, held last Friday in the school hall, were particularly interesting. They began by a hymn to the Sacred Heart by the School, after which were read the reports of the Graduating class.

An essay in three parts entitled "A Martyred Son of St. Vincent, Blessed John Gabriel Perboire," was but once more to characterize the excellent work which always marks this school. Part I, The Boy was read by Master Harry Scott. Part II, The Priest by Master Frank Baker, while part III, The Martyr was read by Master J. Albert Saffer. Next followed "A Hymn to the Blessed Martyr," by the Seniors.

The reports of the seventh and eighth grades and those of the fifth and sixth were interspersed by a recitation and song by the Third Grade.

The excellent Essay—"Woman's Kingdom: The Home," read by Miss Agnes Cotilus was very timely as there is so much comment in Maryland at the present day about woman suffrage. Miss Cotilus spoke beautifully of the home and woman's influence in her sphere.

The reports of the 3rd and 4th grades were announced after which the exercises were concluded by the hymn, "Mother Watch Over Us."

It is to be regretted that the parents of the scholars do not take more interest in these exercises and attend them each month.

DR. J. W. REIGLE.

On Wednesday afternoon the community learned with sorrow of the death, after a long illness, of Dr. J. W. Reigle a widely known and much respected citizen of Emmitsburg, who passed away at his home on East Main St., about 1.30 o'clock.

Dr. Reigle who was a veterinary had a large practice which was not confined to this immediate community. Until his illness which began about a year ago Dr. Reigle was very active and was a familiar figure in this district. Sometime ago he retired from active business life and associated with him, Dr. Remsburg, of Walkersville.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. E. E. Smickle, of Waynesboro, Florence, at home, one brother, of York, Pa., and three grandchildren, Aravesta, Reglei and Florence Smickle.

Funeral services were held in the Reformed Church, of which he was a member, at one o'clock this afternoon by Rev. E. L. Higbee. Interment in Mountain View Cemetery.

CLUTZ-VALENTINE.

A very pretty wedding took place Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Valentine, when their daughter, Mary, became the bride of Harry L. Clutz, of Keymar. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Stockslager, in the presence of about sixty guests. After a trip to several eastern cities the young couple will be at home near Harney, Md.

A Delightful Birthday Surprise.

On Nov. 7, 1913, a very delightful birthday surprise party, was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Baumgardner. It being in honor of the two daughters' birthdays, Addie and Edith. The evening was spent in social games and music, until all were invited to the dining room, where refreshments were served. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. John Baumgardner, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Barrick, Mr. and Mrs. John Bollinger, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Ohler, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baker, Mrs. Peter Baumgardner, Mrs. James Shealey, Mrs. Marshal Michael, The Misses Mazepa and Rosa Troxell, Carrie Fuss, Elsie and Lilly Baumgardner, Pauline Baker, Helen and Anna Baumgardner, Emma Stonesifer, Julia and Alva Dern, Stacia Barrick, May and Rachel Martin, Grace Bollinger, Margaret Michael, Evelyn Troxell, Addie, Edith, and Mary Baumgardner. Messrs James Baker, Lloyd and Russel Ohler, Elroy and Harry Ashbaugh, Allen Shealey, Charles, Elmer, and John Fuss, Wm. Stansbury, Charles Barrick, Clarence, Roy, Raymond, George and John Baumgardner, William and Charles Ohler, Roy Bollinger, John Moser, Francis Herring, Charles Michael, and Harry Bollinger.

Oysters at Zacharias'.

Casts First Vote at 103.

Eugene, Oregon, had the honor of registering the vote of a person 103 years old. The ballot which was on the referendum, was cast by Mrs. Sarah Todd whose husband was a brother of Mrs. Abraham Lincoln.

Although many a younger person in her precinct demanded carriage to and from the polls, Mrs. Todd showed her activity and independence by walking.

Despite the talk of higher prices that emanated from Europe following the passage of the new tariff, New York merchants handling imported goods do not look for any great change in values.

There is a nation-wide movement to make December 7th Tuberculosis Day.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Readings from THE CHRONICLE Standard Thermometer for week ending Friday, Nov. 14, 1913.

	8 A. M.	12 M.	4 P. M.
Friday	36	54	62
Saturday	54	58	—
Monday	40	40	40
Tuesday	34	38	38
Wednesday	36	46	50
Thursday	44	54	64
Friday	60	—	—

Readings from THE CHRONICLE Standard Thermometer for week ending Friday, Nov. 17, 1912.

	8 A. M.	12 M.	4 P. M.
Friday	—	56	64
Saturday	48	62	70
Monday	21	29	35
Tuesday	30	39	42
Wednesday	39	50	55
Thursday	36	40	43
Friday	32	—	—

Mr. John Hollinger shipped to Hagerstown this week 306 barrels of apples from his local orchard. Including the 500 barrels sold at home, Mr. Hollinger has disposed of 1500 bushels altogether.

While exercising one of Mr. Albert Adelsberger's bronchos last Sunday, Albert Beatty, colored, fell to the ground and was badly cut about the face.

Having no post here the members of the local G. A. R. went to Thurmont last Friday for inspection.

Three flurries of snow fell last Friday, Sunday and Monday.

Dr. J. McForeman was indisposed this week.

The following children are on the roll of honor for attendance at Hayfield school, for the fall term. Ivy Brown, Nora Harbaugh, Bernadette Orndorff, Catherine Orndorff, Arthur Lingg, Clarence Lingg, Pius Kelly and James Orndorff.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Hoke are receiving the congratulations of their many friends on the birth of a son on last Sunday.

The center of interest in the apple exhibit at the Hagerstown Fair was a Stayman Winesap weighing 16½ ounces. This specimen was from the orchard of Mr. John Hollinger, of Emmitsburg, whose fruit has a quiet and enviable reputation among the orchardists of Maryland.

Miss Alice Blair was taken last week to the Frederick City Hospital, Frederick, where she was operated on for appendicitis.

The Emmitsburg Grammar School will present "The Courtship of Miles Standish" the latter part of this month.

Mr. Lucian Beam has accepted a position in Washington.

On account of the second week of evangelistic services at Tom's Creek M. E. Church there were no mid-week or vesper services at the local M. E. church on Thursday evening.

The spelling bee at Annandale school on Friday evening last was largely attended. Besides quite a contingent of town folks, many patrons of the school attended. Miss Clara M. Rowe is the present teacher.

Mr. Jacob L. Topper has had his newly erected shop on Pennsylvania avenue painted.

The patrons of the High and Public Schools are requested to meet in the School Building on Friday afternoon, Nov. 21, at 3.30 o'clock.

Oysters at Zacharias'.

Blizzards in West and in Maryland.

The West and Middle West have been in the grip of a severe blizzard all during the week. At some points there was snow eleven inches deep, and loss of life, suffering and great damage to property followed. Many wrecks occurred on the Great Lakes and portions of the coast. Western Maryland encountered a veritable mid-winter storm. Railroad traffic was at a stand-still and in parts of West Virginia and in the mountains of Western Maryland snow reached a depth of twenty inches.

NOTICE TO CORRESPONDENTS.

To insure publication letters from regular correspondents should be in this office not later than Wednesday morning.

THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE.

Ninety-eight vessels of all classes of 38,000 gross tonnage were built in the United States during October, according to a Bureau of Navigation report just issued.

ADMIRAL BUSHMAN HAS FLEET IN READINESS TO DEPART

Board of Strategy Meets, Makes Plans For Attack.—Bronchoplane Used.—Glass and Bowman in Command.

Realizing that it will only be a matter of days until the Mexican situation will reach a crisis, Rear Admiral Bill Bushman is putting the Flat Run fleet in readiness to sail to southern waters.

The Board of Strategy of the naval annex of Harney University has been in executive session night and day for two weeks making plans for a combined attack on the arsenal on Coca Cola Bay.

Although the official orders are not obtainable, sufficient information has leaked out to make it certain that the airship battalion with the limberger cargo, referred to in a former dispatch, will be used.

It is surmised that Commodore Henry Bowman will employ his brigade of bronchoplanes in the contemplated attack.

Admiral John Glass will be in command of the torpedo fleet, now coaling at Turkey Run, where it is expected that the Zora Zouaves, under command of Colonel Dan Shorb, will go aboard.

The Dry Bridge Dragoons will also form a part of this command which will take orders from Commodore Cornelius Buckingham, who will be chief officer of the gunboat "Sardine."

Under cover of three ulsters, a cloud burst and a blizzard, Nick Keller, courier, has been carrying cipher dispatches to General Bill Snyder who for the past ten days has been secreted in a cider barrel in the cellar of President Huerta's Palace, reading the "Burial of Moses." Immediately upon the explosion of 6,000 pop bottles from Carrick's Knob—the signal for the advance—the entire fleet will set sail, every band, cigar band included, will play "There's Life on the Ocean Wave." Passing the fort at Maxell's Mill Prof. Charlie Reeder will conduct the massed bands of the fleet as they render his new war song, "It's Alright While You Are Flying, But Its H— When You Light."

General Jerry Overholtzer will have entire charge of the wireless towers, recently erected on Poplar Ridge. With this system, which is entirely new and the invention of Major Hiram Rager, it is expected that the secret plans of the Strategy Board will be carried out.

In the event of hostilities daily bulletins will be posted at Dry Bridge, Whitmore's Wharf, Pigs Misery and other seaports.

When You Fish For

—Business use good bait. If you want business from this community put an advertisement in THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE.

The Savage Fire Brick Works at Keystone Junction, thirty-five miles northwest of Cumberland were destroyed Saturday. The loss was one hundred thousand dollars.

Supper and Festival.

The Emmitsburg High and Public Schools will hold a supper and festival, in the School Building on Saturday afternoon and evening, Nov. 22. adv

MARRIED.

BROWN-DORSEY.—At the Lutheran parsonage, Monday, Nov. 10, 1913, Mr. Daniel Irvin Brown, of Motter's Station, and Miss Margaret Dorsey, of Woodsboro, were married. The ceremony was performed by the pastor of the Lutheran Church, Rev. C. Reinwald, D. D.

DIED.

Regular death notices published one time free of charge. Obituary poetry and resolution charged for at the rate of five cents a line.

REIGLE.—On Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 12, 1913, at his home in Emmitsburg, Dr. J. W. Reigle, aged 57 years. Funeral services this afternoon in the Reformed Church by Rev. E. L. Higbee. Interment in Mountain View Cemetery.

DESIRABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE.

Property on East Main Street 60 ft. front, 160 ft. back, consisting of 11-room frame house, improved by large brick summer kitchen and shop; large stable and carriage house combined; wood shed; chicken house and run, enclosed with new wire fence. House in good repair, house and stable both recently shingled. For further information call on Mr. Eugene Rowe. Oct 24-4ts Mrs. C. J. LANSINGER.

An Unprecedented Event.

The New York Motion Picture Co. presents The Battle of Gettysburg, a $75,000 production in 5 reels, which will be shown in the town hall, Thurmont, one night only, Monday, November 24. Seats will be on sale at Shaffer's store, commencing, Monday, November 17. Show starts promptly at 7.45. Come early if you wish to secure a seat. This is without question the greatest military film ever produced. nov 14-2t

Dancing Class.

Miss Fannie Hoke will give dancing lessons in the hall above the garage of Mr. John Wagerman, West Main street, on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and Saturday afternoons until further notice. nov14-tf Painting and Wall Papering.

Rooms papered from $2.50 up. Fine line of samples to select from. All work neatly and promptly done. Give me a call. Write, wire or 'phone. M. S. HARDMAN, West Main Street, Emmitsburg, Md. aug15tf Public Sale.

On Nov. 25, at one o'clock, Mrs. Emma E. Shelleman, on the Gettysburg road, about 2 miles from Emmitsburg, live stock and household goods.

Lumber Sale.

On Tuesday, Nov. 25th, 1913, at one o'clock, P. M., on the Geo. A. Ohler farm on the public road leading from Keysville to Martin's Mill, John L. Zacharias will sell Lumber and Wood.

Horse For Sale

Four years old, good size and handsome. Broken to ride but not to drive. Price $60. Apply early to ALBERT ADELSBERGER, Spangler Stables. 1t

HOLSTEIN CALVES FOR SALE.

Three high grade Holstein bull calves—next year's service—for sale. Apply to E. A. Seabrook, Fairfield, R. D. 2.

FARM FOR SALE.—Fifty acres of land, 11-room house, outbuildings. Apply to MRS. SARAH W. OVELMAN, nov. 6-4ts. Emmitsburg, Md.

Helman sells the only solid rubber boot made. 100 lbs. granulated sugar for 4.50. nov. 7-3ts

In thirty years the production of petroleum has increased nineteen times.

ORDER NISI ON SALES

IN THE ORPHANS' COURT OF FREDERICK COUNTY, MARYLAND.

OCTOBER TERM, 1912.

In the Matter of the Sale of the Real Estate of David Ohler and Joseph Ohler.

In the Matter of the Report of Sales, Filed this 27th day of October, 1913, ORDERED, by the Orphans' Court of Frederick County, this 27th day of October, 1913, that the sale of Real Estate of David Ohler and Joseph Ohler late of Frederick County, deceased, this day reported to this Court by his Executor be ratified and confirmed, unless cause to the contrary be shown on or before the 22nd day of November, 1913, provided a copy of this Order be published in some newspaper published in Frederick County for three successive weeks prior to the 24th day of November, 1913.

The Executors' Report states the Amount of Sales to be Ten Thousand Dollars [$10,000.00].

JOHN C. CASTLE, ALBERT W. ECKER, JOHN W. MUMFORD, Judges of the Orphans' Court True Copy, Test:—

SAMUEL D. THOMAS, Register of Wills. JOHN H. OHLER, THOMAS C. HAYS, Executors. oct. 31-3ts

DRS. RIEGLE & RAMSBURG

VETERINARY SURGEONS All Calls, Both Night and Day, Promptly Attended To Offices at Rear of Dr. Riegle's Residence C. & P. Telephone 34-4 E. MAIN STREET

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

MEN, WOMEN, BOYS, GIRLS, money can be made at home by our Home Money-Making Plans. It costs nothing to find out. Particulars free. Address Lock Box, 203, Emmitsburg, Maryland.

The New City Hotel,

Frederick, Maryland, is known to and patronized by Tourists from all parts of the country. This hotel makes a Specialty of Serving Delicious Meals to Auto Parties. Comfort, Cleanliness and Good Service, and Considerate Attention to all guests are the characteristics of the New City Hotel. C. B. COX, Manager. oct 6-12-13t.

—CALL ON—

GEO. T. EYSTER.

See his splendid stock of GOLD & SILVER Key & Stem-Winding WATCHES

Notice to Taxpayers!

Notice to Taxpayers!

1913 Levy for State and County Taxes is now ready and the following discount will be allowed on State Taxes:

DURING JULY AND AUGUST	5%
" SEPTEMBER	4%
" OCTOBER	3%

I will be in Emmitsburg with the tax books on Tuesday and Wednesday, November 18th and 19th.

Taxes may be paid at Annan, Horner & Co. or the Emmitsburg Savings Bank.

Respectfully, FREDERICK W. CRAMER, County Treasurer. 7-4-3m

GOOD FURNITURE

Is Always in Demand.

I sell nothing but Good Furniture.

If there is anything you need in Furniture no matter what it is, whether inexpensive or costly, I can furnish it.

E. E. Zimmerman Furniture Dealer ON THE SQUARE

Medals and Decorations are not awarded to inferior exhibits. They are given

For Merit Only.

There are two awards on exhibition at

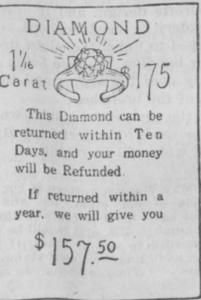

HARRY HOPP'S that were won by the Hagerstown Brewing Co's Export Pilsner

Ask to see them, and be sure to order a case of

This Exceptionally Fine Beer.

uov. 15, '12-1yr

Our Selling Plan Protects You

Buy a Diamond here—make comparisons—your money back within 10 days, if you want it—or less 10% within a year, whether you pay ten dollars—or a thousand. Send for our new Christmas catalogue. It is free.

C. C. CROOKS CO.

114 W. BALTIMORE ST., BALTIMORE.

FREDERICK RAILROAD.

THURMONT DIVISION.

Schedule in Effect June 13, 1913.
All Trains Daily unless Specified.

Leave Frederick	Arrive Thurmont
5.10 a. m.	6.00 a. m.
6.25 a. m. Except Sunday	7.15 a. m.
8.15 a. m.	9.05 a. m.
10.00 a. m.	10.50 a. m.
12.00 M. Except Sunday	12.50 p. m.
1.50 p. m.	2.40 p. m.
4.00 p. m.	4.50 p. m.
6.20 p. m.	7.10 p. m.
10.00 p. m.	10.50 p. m.

Leave Thurmont	Arrive Frederick
6.07 a. m.	6.55 a. m.
7.30 a. m. Except Sunday	8.20 a. m.
9.15 a. m.	10.05 a. m.
11.20 a. m.	12.10 p. m.
1.00 p. m. Except Sunday	1.45 p. m.
2.55 p. m.	3.45 p. m.
5.20 p. m.	6.10 p. m.
7.35 p. m.	8.25 p. m.
11.00 p. m.	11.45 p. m.

Through Pullman service between Baltimore, Pittsburgh and Chicago. Direct connections are made with all Western Maryland, through and local trains both East and West.

Dental Announcement

Extraordinary

FULL SETS OF TEETH $5.00

A Written Guarantee for Five Years if You Want It.

DR. J. McC. FOREMAN,
EMMITSBURG, MD.

nov. 7-4m

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE--ACADEMY

Valley Echoes

The Seniors appeared in Shakespearean roles on Thursday evening, Nov. 6, 1913. The programme was as follows: Piano Trio, Festival March, Behr, M. Spalding, C. Kelly, M. Tuttle. Vocal Solo, Tears of Joy, Harrison, A. Byrne. Scenes from King John—Hubert, M. Sebald; Attendant, C. Kelley; Arthur, M. Tuttle; Piano Duo, Marche Capricante, Wachs, T. Brown, M. Donohue. Essay, The Power of a Genius' Pen, A. Fesenmeier, Shades of Shakespeare's Women—Illustrative Sketch—Prologue, M. Sebald; Ariel, M. Tuttle; Miranda, A. Byrne; Portia, M. Spalding; Cordelia, T. Brown; Ophelia, V. Kalbach; Lady Macbeth, A. Fesenmeier, Witches, M. Vaughn, M. Donohue, C. Kelly.

"A little nonsense now and then is relished by the wisest men." So thought Gertrude Rebill when she opened her corner for votes, not for "woman suffrage," but for "popularity."

Bessie Morgan, the President of the Ladies' Charity, disposed of the "raffles." Among the fortunate winners were: Victorio Kalbach, silver candlestick; Anna Fesenmeier, silver rosary; Katherine Gloninger, $20 in gold; Caroline Denny, hand-painted dish; Mary Donohue, handsome picture; Mildred Brager, handsome picture, Katherine Williams, doll; Agnes Starkey, doll.

At 5.30 P. M. cake, ice cream, fruit, sandwiches and coffee were served. Proceeds to be used in purchasing clothes for the less fortunate.

Very Rev. Patrick S. McHale, C. M., of Germantown, Philadelphia, who has just returned from a trip abroad visited St. Joseph's Tuesday afternoon. In the evening the young ladies of the Senior Classes were given an intellectual treat by Father McHale, who led them in spirit through Paris, Turin, Genoa, Rome, etc. The chief point of interest dwelt upon in Paris was, not its usual gayety which attracts the ordinary tourist, but the one feature hidden from all but the keen observer, namely, its spiritual activity. Paris stands preeminently the most emphatic, apostolic, religious city in the world, because it sends out from her midst the greatest number of holy men and women to labor for souls, after the example of Christ. Rome was made more appreciative by being treated, not as Old Rome or Modern Rome but under the title of Living Rome or the Rome of the Popes. Under this aspect the students were made to realize that the glory of Rome will never depart.

"Whatsoever you do to the least of mine, that you do unto me." Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 11, 1913, at 2.30 o'clock the annual Charity Fair was opened at St. Joseph's under the direction of the Juniors, assisted by the officers of the Senior Class.

The large refectory was converted into a veritable Bon Marche, where the patrons most generously made their purchases and partook of a delicately prepared collation.

The fancy work table was in charge of Louise Haberman, Margaret Shaw and Helena Hartnett.

Agnes Starkey presided at the floral booth, which was well patronized by the lovers of Nature's choice offerings. "Flowers! The sweetest thing that God created, Into which He forgot to put a soul."

Mary Rodgers and Elizabeth McManus distinguished themselves as experts in handling toys, if we are to judge by the number of girls who frequented their stand.

Notes and Remarks Both Personal and Pertinent By "Country Contributor."

ACROSS THE LINE

Gettysburg—The number of wounded soldiers in the General Hospital, near this place, is being rapidly diminished. There are now less than 100 there, and a week or two will probably witness the breaking up of the camp—as they are being removed as fast as their situation will allow. The arrangements of the Camp Hospital were so perfect, and such constant and prompt attention given to the wounded, that the sufferings incident to those terrible results of war have been much ameliorated, and the brave soldiers who were the sufferers, with tearful eyes acknowledge the kind attention which they have experienced from all about them, both male and female—and will never forget Gettysburg.

During the heavy wind storm of Friday last, the beautiful flag which waved so proudly over Round Top was prostrated, the staff being broken into four pieces. The flag is very little injured, and will again be raised this week by the officers and soldiers of the camp with more permanent fixtures. Long may it wave over the scene of the glorious battle of Gettysburg.

William V. Neely and wife, of Wenhah, N. J., were visitors here last week.

The Sunday school classes of Miss Martha Moore and Miss Ruth Bream will hold a penny social in the Cunningham store room, afternoon and evening, Nov. 15. Proceeds to go to the piano fund.

George J. Kebil had a volunteer pumpkin vine in his garden on which grew 18 good-sized pumpkins and two small ones.

H. B. Slonaker has purchased a Reo automobile.

Strawberry and Vanilla Ice Cream at Zacharias'.

Big Bill for Keeping Clean.
There are no less than 420 soap manufacturing plants in the United States. The industry is well distributed over the country, it being well established in 35 States. New York leads with the manufacture of $23,582,977 worth of soap. The total expenses of these concerns aggregate $98,226,337, and the bill for soap, annually paid by the American people amounts to $111,357,777.

Baroda, a little State of 8,000 square miles in Western India, with a population of about 2,000,000 is the only State in India which primary education is both compulsory and free.

BOYS WATCH FREE
TELL YOUR MOTHER
WITH SUITS FROM $3.50 UP
CUSTOM TAILORING DEPARTMENT
Hand Tailored—FACTS—Custom Made
As good if not a little better than the Local Tailors.
Large assortment of Newest, Latest and most Fashionable Cloth. PRICES! WHY? FROM $13.50 UP.
C. F. ROTERING,
West Main Street
(Formerly Rowe Clothing Store)

Rayo Lanterns For Fishing, Camping, and Hard Use under All Conditions.
Strong and Durable
Give steady, bright light. Easy to light. Easy to clean and rewick. Don't smoke. Don't blow out in the wind. Don't leak.
At dealers everywhere
STANDARD OIL COMPANY
Washington, D. C. (New Jersey) Charlotte, N. C.
Richmond, Va. BALTIMORE Charleston, W. Va.
Norfolk, Va. Charleston, S. C.

Saving a Sick Horse
It often happens that a valuable horse or cow is suddenly taken sick. Quick action must be taken. Rush to the nearest telephone and call up the veterinarian. To provide for such emergencies, which often occur at night, you should have a telephone on your farm, where you can get at it quickly.

Why not order it to-day?
THE CHESAPEAKE AND POTOMAC TELEPHONE COMPANY
R. W. STAKE, Local Manager
Tel. 9000 33 E. Patrick St., Frederick

UNDER THE NAME "DURO"
We Sell the Best Stockings That Money can Buy Anywhere

When we prepared the specifications for "Duro" Stockings, we reversed the usual procedure. Instead of finding out how cheaply we could buy them, we tried to find how many betterments we could introduce into them and how little profit we could get along with.

The result is evidenced in the success of "Duro" Stockings—a success which has been built on the satisfaction which they brought to their wearers.

WOMEN'S "DURO" SILK LISLE STOCKINGS
35c PAIR—THREE PAIRS FOR $1.00

Fine gauge—making them look well; full regular made—which makes them fit well; and extra splicing throughout—so they will wear well; in addition, they are woven so that they will stretch without binding.

WOMEN'S "DURO" SILK STOCKINGS
$1.00 A PAIR.

PURE THREAD SILK STOCKING—they are good-looking and will wear splendidly. In black, white, tan, pink, sky, turquoise, azure, navy, royal, Copenhagen, Nile, reseda, emerald, dark green, wistaria, royal, plum, lavender, light gray, suede, champagne, yellow tangerine, orange, gold, cardinal, coral, Nellrose, copper, caffeine, bronze and mustard.

MEN'S "DURO" SILK LISLE SOCKS
25c A PAIR—SIX PAIRS FOR $1.38.

SEAMLESS SOCKS OF SILK LISLE—double at heel, toe and sole; various weights; in black, tan, white, navy and gray.

FOR CHRISTMAS GIVING
We will be glad to supply "Duro" Stockings or "Duro" Socks in neat holiday boxes, making them a beautiful as well as a practical gift. No extra charge for boxing.

Baltimore's Best Store
Hochschild, Kohn & Co.
Howard and Lexington Streets

CORTRIGHT METAL SHINGLES

The four designs of Cortright Metal Shingles as shown above are made in any of the following ways:

1. Stamped from Tin-plate and painted Red.
2. Stamped from Tin-plate and painted Green.
3. Stamped from Tin-plate and Galvanized by a hand-dipping process.
4. Stamped from special tight-coated Galvanized Sheets.

Each and every genuine Cortright Metal Shingle is embossed with this Trade-mark, "Cortright Reg. U. S. Pat. Off."

For Sale by
JAMES G. BISHOP, EMMITSBURG, MD.

TAXES

By the same agreement made by the County Treasurer with all banks in Frederick County we are authorized to collect State and County Taxes.

Every Courtesy will be Extended to All Who Desire to Avail Themselves of This Convenience.

Emmitsburg Savings Bank
We Pay 4 Per Cent. Interest on Time Deposits.
Under the Supervision of the State Bank Examiner

M. F. SHUFF, DEALER IN Furniture of all Kinds
FUNERAL DIRECTOR AND EMBALMER
W. MAIN STREET,
Emmitsburg, Maryland

Any absent Emmitsburgian would appreciate a subscription to The Chronicle. 52 weeks $1.00.

DR. O. W. HINES

..VISITS..

EMMITSBURG

MARYLAND

Every Two Months

Next Visit

NOVEMBER, 1913

HOTEL SPANGLER

THE OLD RELIABLE
Mutual Insurance Company
OF FREDERICK COUNTY

ORGANIZED 1843

OFFICE—46 NORTH MARKET ST.
FREDERICK, MD.

A. C. MCCARDELL O. C. WAREHIME
President Secretary

SURPLUS $25,000

NO PREMIUM NOTES REQUIRED

INSURES ALL CLASSES OF PROPERTY AGAINST LOSS BY FIRE AT RATES
25 PER CENT. LESS THAN STOCK COMPANIES CHARGE
A Home Insurance Company for Home Insurers
Feb. 11, 10-17

You Want The
"F. & D." Guarantee

WE WRITE

Fidelity and Surety
Accident and Health
Burglary
Plate Glass
Liability
Auto'

ORGANIZED 1890
ASSETS $6,904,365.36
HOME OFFICE: BALTIMORE MD.

Fidelity and Deposit Co.

OF MARYLAND
EDWIN WARFIELD, President.

We Do Business Everywhere
HALLER & NEWMAN
General Agents for Frederick County
FREDERICK, MD.
Aug. 11, 10-17

AT DUKEHART'S
CARRIAGE WORKS

ANOTHER CARLOAD OF STUDEBAKER

Buggies

Runabouts

Surreys

Spring Wagons

Farm Wagons

Of Latest Style and Design.
Come early and inspect them. It will pay you.

Repairing and Repainting

All work guaranteed.

J. J. DUKEHART, Prop.

C. & P. Phone No. 38-3

Feb. 10-11 17.

The Newspaper And
The Book

One man in a hundred reads a book; ninety-nine in a hundred read a newspaper. Nearly a century ago, when the American press, which is now a spreading oak, was in its green twig, Thomas Jefferson said he would rather live in a country with newspapers and without government than in a country with a government and without newspapers. Resolve to say a good word for your HOME Paper at least.—Exchange.

OFFICIAL DIRECTORY.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Circuit Court—Chief Judge, Hammond Urner, Associate Judges, Glenn H. Worthington and Edward C. Plett. Court meets at Frederick City, first Monday in February and September, for Grand Jury Terms, December, petit jury term; second Monday in May, non-jury term.

Clerk of the Circuit Court—Harry W. Bowers, Deputy Clerks, Adolphus Fearhake, Charles B. Groff, I. N. Loy, M. N. Nusz, Eli G. Haugh, Harry E. Chapline and John H. Martz.

Register of Wills—Samuel D. Thomas, Deputies, J. Fenton Thomas, C. H. Kreh and C. C. Waters.

Orphans' Court—John C. Castle, Chief Judge; John W. Mumford, Albert W. Ecker. Orphans' Court meets every Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week.

County Treasurer—F. W. Cramer.

County Commissioners—Lincoln G. Dinterman, President; John W. Holter, Charles W. Zimmerman, J. Stewart Annan, and Charles W. Johnson. Markwood D. Harp, Clerk. George R. Dennis, Jr., Attorney.

Board of Charities and Correction—David Cramer, president; Solomon Stern, secretary; Jacob B. Tyson, treasurer; Samuel U. Gregg, superintendent; Millard F. Perry, Clerk. R. Howard Magruder and George T. Eyster.

School Commissioners—John S. Newman, president; William P. Morsell, Dr. C. L. Wachter, A. W. Nicodemus, Jr., and Cyrus W. Flook; Edward S. Eichelberger, attorney.

Secretary, Treasurer and Examiner—John T. White; Assistant, G. Lloyd Palmer.

Dr. J. M. Goodman, County Health Officer.

State's Attorney—Samuel A. Lewis.

Sheriff—Charles T. Fagan. Deputies, Charles C. Holt, Office Deputy; Robert Cramer, Riding Deputy; William Deeter, Turnkey.

Supervisors of Elections—Garrett S. DeGrange, President; Joseph F. Eisenhauer, Democrat; W. B. Jams; Republican, Clerk, Clagett E. Remberg.

Surveyor—Emory C. Crum.

EMMITSBURG.

Burgess—John H. Matthews.

Commissioners—Charles M. Rider, Oscar Frailey, H. C. Harner.
Clerk of Commissioners—C. M. Rider.
Chief of Police—Victor E. Rowe.

TYPEWRITER RIBBONS

CARBON PAPER

TYPEWRITER SHEETS

LATEST IMPROVED RUBBER

STAMPS

RDBBER STAMP INK

AND PADS

For All Purposes.

NOTARIAL, CORPORATE,

SOCIETY, CHURCH

AND BUSINESS SEALS

Any Size Desired.

ENGRAVING, EMBOSING

LITHOGRAPHING

Estimates Furnished—
Prompt Service.

TRESPASS NOTICES AND

"DON'T HITCH HERE"

SIGNS

Ready for Delivery.

All These May Be Had At

THE CHRONICLE OFFICE

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

The new shirt waists are sure to be interesting at the beginning of the season. We all need them, and it is interesting to know that new and attractive ones are offered. Here is a model that is very smart with tucks that give the fashionable "bosom" effect and with one tuck over the shoulder to give breadth.

ONE OF THE NEW SHIRT WAISTS.

The back may be either plain or have an applied yoke, so that both the long and short waisted sisters can be suited.

Linen and madras always suggest themselves as a material for the tailored shirt waist, but today satin and silk are as much used for this purpose as the wash materials.

The soft rolled over cuffs or the straight ones are equally fashionable on a waist of this kind.

For the medium size the waist will require three and one-half yards of material twenty-seven inches wide.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 42 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7969, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

No. Size

Name

Address

FASHION HINT

By JUDIC CHOLLET

Mothers are constantly on the lookout for new and pretty designs for little children. Here is a frock with decided charm that is both easy and simple to make.

The skirt portion is straight, gathered at the upper edge and joined to a plain body, and over this body is arranged the shaped one with a sash of ribbon slipped under the lower edge.

MODISH FOR LITTLE MISS.

Most mothers will like the short sleeves, for nothing is prettier than to see the dimpled arms of childhood. Nevertheless long ones are included in the pattern.

For the four-year-old size will be needed two and three-eighths yards of material twenty-seven inches wide, with one yard of ribbon five inches wide for the sash and three yards of ruffling.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for children of two, four and six years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7892, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

No. Size

Name

Address

BELGIAN CUCUMBERS

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1913, by Associated Literary Press.

The county of Vernon in a certain middle state was at peace. Farmers, mechanics and merchants met each other and asked:

"How is old Vernon county?"

And the answer would be:

"Old Vernon county is all right—you bet!"

Fifty men saw X. M. Davis, as he came to be known, when the bus drove up to the inn at Clifton with him as the only passenger. He was a middle aged man, and he had the face of a true American patriot. He had come to give Vernon county such a chance to get rich as had never been held out to her before. Years ago his grandfather had died and had been buried in that county, and it was consecrated ground to him. That is why he had come to it instead of any other county. Mr. Davis had come to Clifton direct from Europe. He had gone over there to study the agriculture of the country at his own expense. He had returned with what might be called a great find. The Belgians were almost secretly growing a specimen of cucumber that was bound to revolutionize the world. It was amazingly prolific.

One acre of ground would grow 5,000 cucumbers, each three feet long and weighing five pounds.

It was like eating oranges. It was a breakfast food in itself. It left behind it an exhilaration not known to any other vegetable in the world.

This cucumber was certain to take the place of grains of all sort in a year or two more and would displace the potato and the turnip entirely.

Mr. Davis did more than talk and exhibit seeds. He put $50 cash in bank as a prize to the person raising the most Belgian cucumbers the next spring or summer. It was November then. Between November and April Mr. Davis sold over $3,000 worth of seeds and received his money for them.

When he went away he went boldly, and he left the prize money in the bank. By so doing he escaped all suspicion.

Now came a mystery. In Clifton lived a widow named Lee. She had been there only two years, and the people knew little about her. She was nearly six feet tall, rugged and strong, and she neighbored with none. She went to Mr. Davis for some seeds, but refused to pay the price. She offered only a penny apiece and when turned down made use of some very strong language.

April was a forward month in Vernon county, and the cucumber vines were beginning to run by the middle of May. One night some one pulled up and stacked the vines in ten different gardens. They found tracks of a man's boots, but nothing further. The next night more gardens suffered. Just who to suspect was a puzzler, but of course it was a case of jealousy and spite. Every man who had any vines set a watch on them.

Deacon Tracy was the first one to report a clew. He had half an acre of vines and was sitting up to watch for the vandal when a man came suddenly upon him and knocked him senseless. When he recovered his wits his vines had been destroyed. Tracks left by a man's boots—that was all.

Of course there were excitement and indignation. A reward of $5 was offered for the arrest of the marauder, and owners of vines as yet untroubled hired watchmen. Then the man of night betook himself out among the farmers. He raided far and wide. He destroyed nothing but the cucumber vines, but he did not spare a bill of them that he could get at. He was chased by men and dogs; he was shot at; traps were set for him in twenty different places, yet no one earned that reward.

At Farmer Johnson's place he and his son were hidden in the smokehouse when the unknown appeared. He had scarcely pulled a vine when they were upon him. Both were strong men, but the struggle was over in a minute. The unknown knocked them both silly and got away with their hats and pieces of their shirts as souvenirs. It was figured that he had got such a scare, however, that he would not appear again. He returned next night when no one was watching and attacked the vines.

The excitement was now at fever heat, and the whole county was asking what should be done, when the marauder came to his end. A widow named Jones had twenty hills of vines she was watching. She had an old army carbine, and a neighbor had loaded it for her. She was watching from a window, and as the man of night appeared and began his work she fired at him. He dropped, but struggled up and ran.

A hundred men turned out and searched the streets and alleys and the country around, but they did not find the wounded man. They had given up the quest when word went round that no one had seen the Widow Lee for three days. The locked doors of her house were broken open, and she was found dead on the floor. A bullet had struck her in the chest—the bullet fired by the other widow. She was dressed as a man from head to heel and had false whiskers besides.

"The Belgian cucumbers? Oh, they were a fraud, of course—just plain, everyday American cucumbers, with the usual 99 per cent water. It's just as easy to swindle a whole county as it is to swindle a single man. All you have to do is to get a new idea.

THE STAFFORD

Perfect Service.
Finest Location.
Excellent Cuisine.
Liberal Management.
Fireproof Construction.

WASHINGTON PLACE

BALTIMORE,

MD.

June 28-17

J. L. TOPPER & SON

Successors to TOPPER & SWEENEY

Undertakers, Funeral Directors and Embalmers

Expert Embalming Service Rendered by Mr. Robert Topper, Graduate of Johns Hopkins School of Embalming.

EMMITSBURG, MD.

Telephone Connections. Can be Reached Day or Night.

7-18-17

George S. Eyster

LIVERYMAN

AT THE ROWE STABLES

EMMITSBURG, MARYLAND

Fine teams for all occasions.
Teams for salesmen and pleasure parties a specialty.
March 22-17.

EMMITSBURG

GRAIN ELEVATOR

BOYLE BROS.

—DEALERS IN—

Hay, Corn, Oats, Rye, Bran,
Chop, Clover and Timothy Seed, Chicken Feed, Horse and Cattle Powder, Maryland Portland Cement, Terra Cotta Pipe. A Full Line of

MACHINERY

And Repairs for same.

Coal in all Sizes

Call and get our Prices before you buy.

BOYLE BROS.

Apr. 2-08

Challenge Flour

The best winterwheat Flour made in America

It is a Maryland product manufactured from Maryland wheat and is the peer of any flour made any where.

It is sold at a less price than many high grade flours.

Manufactured by

Mountain City Mills

FREDERICK, MARYLAND

Capacity 1000 bbls. daily.

Jan 3-1913

SPECIAL NOTICE!

In this space there will appear next week an interesting fall announcement from
JOSEPH E. HOKE

EMMITSBURG, MD.