ALL OF EUROPE IS DIVIDED

NOT EVENLY MATCHED

Aims Of Powers In The Triple Entente

STRENGTH OF TRIPLE ALLIANCE

The Various Nations of Europe Are Bound to Aid Each Other According to Previous Offensive and Defensive Alliances.

Now that the great European clash has finally begun, and the various nations are leaping at each other's throats, it is interesting to note the motives they have for taking the different sides in the struggle.

All of Europe is divided into two armed alliances, the triple alliance and the triple entente.

The triple alliance was formed in 1883 between Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy for the purpose of checking encroachments by Russia and France. The three powers are bound to support one another in certain contingencies.

Its terms were made more definite in 1887. The exact provisions of the alliance have not been divulged, but are said to have been modified as between France and Italy in 1893. In 1902 and in 1907 the agreement was renewed for certain periods, and the period of its last renewal extended to June 14, 1914. For many years Great Britain, while not a party to the alliance, was closely linked to it through apprehension of French and Russian aggressiveness, but later, becoming disquieted by the growth of the German naval power, adopted in 1902, a decided change of policy with a view to seeking in the balance of power greater security against invasion.

In pursuance of this policy Great Britain entered into an agreement with France in 1904 and with Russia in 1907. The aims of the triple entente, so called Great Britain, France and Russia, were substantially as follows:

1. The balance of power.
2. The strengthening of the treaty law in the interests of peace and the status quo.
3. Disarmament.

In some direction this policy has met with considerable success.

In both the forces of land and sea, as far as numbers go, the triple entente would seem to have a considerable advantage. The army exceeds that of the alliance by almost a million men, while its fleets in ships, tonnage, armament and number of men exceeds the naval strength of the alliance. This is especially true since Italy has preferred to disregard her part in the alliance, and has so far refused to be drawn into the conflict. This takes 3,433,000 troops from the strength of the alliance, and weakens its fleets by 185 ships. To some extent, however, this advantage in numbers is offset by the splendid German fighting machine which is conceded to be the best in the world in training and equipment.

Intemperate Speech Defeated Him.

Texas is now the fifth State in the Union in population, ranking along with New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Illinois. It has passed the callow state. Immigration has poured into Texas from the North and West, and with millions of acres of rich land to make it the agricultural empire of the world, with oil and gas to build up great industries, and with great cities and big commercial enterprises, the people have something to think about other than grand-station agitation to make the whole world sober by law, says the Washington Herald. So Thomas H. Ball, with the support of the administration and all the politicians of Texas, was defeated because the plain people of Texas decided to confine politics to political affairs and leave the liquor traffic to be regulated by local communities in harmony with the majority will.

Wheat Possibilities in Australia.

The Commonwealth meteorologist, who has been making a close study of Australian wheat areas, states that the present production there of about 100,000,000 bushels can be increased to 1,000,000,000 bushels. Only 30,000 square miles in Australia are being used for wheat, which could be increased to 500,000 square miles.

Militants Won't Compete With War.

The headquarters of the Women's Social and Political Union in London, the militant suffragette organization, which has been doing so much damage, recently, sent a proclamation to all the branches in the United Kingdom ordering the cessation of all acts of militancy during the continuance of the international crisis.

BILLION TO BE CIRCULATED

Congress Authorities Issue of Huge Sum of Money For War Crisis.

More than a billion dollars in currency is to be added to the circulating medium in the United States by the action of Congress on Monday to meet the situation resulting from the European crisis.

This new money, backed by the prime assets of the banks, may be issued under a modification of the bank law passed by both House and Senate, then compromised in conference and approved by the Administration.

All national banks and all State banks and trust companies members of the new Federal reserve system, and those which have agreed to join, may issue notes under the Aldrich-Vreeland section of the bank law up to 125 per cent. of their combined capital and surplus.

There is approximately $1,760,000,000 such capital and surplus upon which issue of notes may be based. Of that about $800,000,000 invested in Government bonds is not available.

Approximately $900,000,000, plus 25 per cent., is therefore, ready as the basis of issue. Inasmuch, as bankers pointed out to Administration leaders, issues of clearing-house certificates in this country never have exceeded $500,000,000 in times of most dire distress, the issue available should more than care for any possible contingency.

SULGRAVE MANOR OURS

England Gives Home of Washington's Family to America.

The first formal ceremony in honor of the 100 years of peace between the English-speaking nations occurred at Sulgrave Manor, when Sulgrave Manor, the home of the family of George Washington was handed over to members of the centenary committee as a gift to the people of the United States from England. The property was purchased for $42,500 all of which was subscribed in great Britain.

Many prominent men in both nations, including the American Ambassador, W. H. Page, the Duke of Teck whose family is related to the Washington's and many members of the English nobility, took part in the ceremonies.

At Queen Eleanor's cross, erected by Edward I, and which now stands in a new portion of the city of Northampton, the spot where the emigrating Washingtons took leave of the family, the centenary party was received by the Mayor and local officials of Northampton, also in robes. A reception and luncheon followed in the Guildhall.

The Mayor and committee members then visited the country seat of Earl Spencer, whose ancestors were related to the Washingtons, and viewed other Washingtonian shrines.

Maryland Has Good Coal Record.

The coal mined in Maryland in 1913 amounted to 4,779,839 short tons, valued at $5,927,046, according to figures compiled by E. W. Parker, of the United States Geological Survey, in cooperation with the State Geological Survey. This was less than the amount mined in 1912 by 184,199 short tons, but the value showed a gain of $87,967 and exceeded that of any other year since 1907. The annual production of coal in Maryland has been fairly constant for the last 16 years, the smallest output in that period being in 1909, when it amounted to 4,023,241 tons, and the largest in 1907, when it reached 5,532,628 tons.

Rules for Prevention of Divorce.

The divorce prevention bureau of the Municipal Court of Chicago, the first bureau of the kind in this country, recently gave the following rules which will help in divorce prevention.

"Give the wife a vacation each year. She gets tired. Take a vacation yourself for the same reason.

"Have some kind of music in the home.

"Whenever you quarrel go upstairs where the baby is sleeping and look at him."

Since its opening, the bureau has reunited fifty couples who had applied for divorce.

$1,000 For a Steerage Passage.

The highest sum ever paid for a steerage passage on any steamship was paid by a passenger of a Hamburg-American ocean liner last week. Every berth on the Trans-Atlantic steamers sailing before September 15 has been sold and thousands can get no accommodations.

Tuberculosis statistics of Germany show a great reduction in the mortality which has been particularly marked in hospitals and homes for consumptives, having dropped in 16 years from 31 to 12 a thousand.

Fifty thousand combinations are possible with a new combination padlock.

PREPARING FOR BOOSTER WEEK

Chairmen of Various Committees Hard at Work Perfecting Plans and Appointing Sub-Committees.—Attractions Numerous.—Monster Parade.—Talks to Farmers.—Entertainments Galore.—Lunch Basket Dinners.—Co-operation Necessary.

Plans are being rapidly formulated for Emmitsburg's big Booster Week, September 14, 15 and 16, and the interest being manifested by the several executive committees is a positive assurance that it will be a success in every way.

These plans are in many ways similar to those adopted for the long-to-be-remembered Old Home Week, which, it will be recalled, consisted in starting with several small committees each of which was expanded until everybody in the community had his or her part to do. The preliminary work—that of inaugurating and making provision for the various attractions that are to be offered—is now being done; the chairman of each sub-committee is engaged in assembling the members of his or her staff and it is expected that by next week the names of all the co-workers, will be published in these columns.

In this connection it should be understood that EVERYBODY—every man, woman and child in Emmitsburg and Emmitsburg district and the surrounding section, regardless of state lines, is most cordially invited to co-operate in making this event one of the biggest and most instructive in the history of the community.

Too much stress cannot be laid upon the fact that this affair is all embracing. It is not gotten up by a few, or by any particular number of persons. It is open for all and as the pride and reputation of Emmitsburg is at stake, it is expected that every citizen will do his or her part in making Booster Week even greater than Old Home Week. A start had to be made and in order to get the main attractions here, it was necessary to have guarantors. These guarantors came forward and contracted for features that cannot fail to prove instructive and interesting to all. Nor is anyone asked to contribute funds towards the enterprise. All that is requested is patronage.

Talks to Farmers.

As stated in last week's CHRONICLE there will be lectures or rather practical talks to farmers on the more important phases of their work. These will be given, not by theorists, but by men whose whole life has been devoted to that branch of farming about which they will talk. These sessions—three each day—will be most instructive; they will be filled with information which should prove invaluable to every one engaged in farming and its allied interests, and an opportunity will be afforded all who attend to ask questions about those points in which they deem themselves more or less deficient. This, one of the main features of the week, will, it will be seen, be in the nature of a farmers' grange. At one point and at one time all the farmers in this section will congregate. Here they will have an opportunity to interchange ideas, to compare notes, and to talk informally about the things in which they are most interested. By this means they will become better acquainted; they will rub elbows with each other and with the people of the town, and each will realize how dependent the one is upon the other.

Attractions in the Tent.

The instructive features of the three-days' entertainment will be interspersed by high-class amusements in the nature of musical numbers by the best talent in the country, by concerts by such organizations as the Metropolitan Glee Club and Trombone Quartet, the Swiss Bell Ringers, the Featherston Novelty Concert Company, and by performances given by magicians, vocalists and humorists. In a word there will be something going on all the time and of interest to all.

A Bumper Walnut Crop.

A walnut crop of 10,529 tons of record breaking superior quality is the new estimate of the California Walnut Growers Association for the 1914 output of the state, contained in a circular issued to the trade.

The fine growing conditions we have had all season have brought the nuts up to very large sizes, so that the weight per nut will probably be 25 per cent over last year's average reads the circular.

An eminent authority has estimated that 91 per cent. of the people of Paris have the germs of tuberculosis in their blood and are capable of spreading the disease.

the old, the middle-aged, the youth, the child and even the baby.

Local Features.

On the first day it is proposed to have a monster parade. This term is used advisedly, for according to plans there will be floats emblematic of every industry in the district. There will be automobiles gaily decorated, there will be horsemen galore, a children's division, a rough-riders' squad, a trades display, and many other features diversified and entertaining; while on the grounds outside the big tent there will be tournament riding, baseball games, drills, grotesque races and contests of various kinds. There will be a merry-go-round for the children and other amusements yet to be provided.

The Box Dinner Feature.

As these features will embrace the entire day the object is to have all who attend from out of town bring their dinners with them—box dinners, as they are called—containing the substantial and to procure coffee, ice cream and other desserts on the grounds where refreshments will be on sale throughout each day. This will obviate the necessity of going back and forward and will make each day a separate family picnic, informal and on that account more pleasurable.

The Baby Show.

Everyone loves children and every family justly takes pride in "the baby" of the household. Emmitsburg district is noted for its pretty babies. Therefore there will be a Baby Show and a prize will be offered for the prettiest baby in the show. The judges will be persons not acquainted with Emmitsburg people so that the verdict will be absolutely impartial.

Boy Scouts, Too.

It is the intention of those in charge of the children's part in the big affair not to overlook, but to have something exclusively for the boys. Accordingly, it has been decided to have a boy scout company. Mrs. L. M. Zimmerman has charge of this part of the programme and would like to have all the boys in Emmitsburg and the district report to her as soon as possible so that arrangements can be made for marching practice. It is expected that the boys will respond heartily to the invitation and form an organization that will reflect credit on themselves and on the town.

Everything as Advertised.

It will be the aim of the committees in charge of this big event to preclude the possibility of any misrepresentation. Consequently there need be no doubt as to the positive appearance of each and every attraction and feature of the official programme. As stated above, in generalities only, each chairman of a committee is arranging the details in connection with the feature over which he or she has charge, and in each edition of the CHRONICLE there will be noted the progress of all the committees and a more definite outline of the project as a whole will be given.

Co-Operation Necessary.

Too much stress cannot be laid upon the necessity for co-operation—hearty co-operation, the kind that has the head and heart behind it—plus good will and a desire to uphold the reputation of this town and district for doing things right. There will be no opportunity left for anyone to say, "I was not invited to take part." EVERYBODY is invited; everybody is expected to take part, to offer suggestions, and in every way to help. No formal invitation is necessary. Just come forward and offer your services and realize that, by virtue of being a citizen of the community, you have a right to do so and knowing that your services will be greatly appreciated.

Indian Pipes Found Near Thurmont.

Two Indian pipes in good condition were found several weeks ago by F. N. Willhide at Deerfield, near Thurmont. Messrs. Willhide and John Portner were digging around a large rock, when the pipes were unearthed.

The age of these pipes can only be estimated, but presumably they are the work of Indians hundreds of years ago.

The rock from which they are cut is almost a lead color, is soft and capable of being highly polished.

Great Britain's largest railroad has adopted for general use a system of automatic train signaling which produces audible signals in locomotive cabs.

THE FRITCHIE MEMORIAL

September Ninth The Date Set For Unveiling The Monument.

Contributions from public men and business men all over the country are daily being received for the Barbara Fritchie monument which will be unveiled in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Frederick, on September 9. Among the latest contributors are two former Governors of Massachusetts, Hon. W. Murray Crane and Curtis Guild. D. H. Fanning also contributed liberally as did Major Amory, of Boston, Mass., who fifty years ago was imprisoned in the Petersburg mine.

The anniversary of the flag waving incident fortunately falls during the Home Coming Week, and the unveiling which will be an event of national interest will no doubt attract people from many sections. Those who come for the Home Coming will also have an opportunity to be present at the exercises incident to the honoring of the famed Frederick heroine. The unveiling will at the same time not interfere with any of the events on the Key week program.

The Association has been at work on the program for the unveiling and full announcement of the details will be made later. It is expected that a speaker of national note will make the chief address. Veterans are particularly interested in the event, and it is expected that representations from Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Ohio, and other States will attend.

OVATION GIVEN PRESTON.

500 Representative Baltimoreans Honor Their Mayor at Banquet.

Baltimore, through 500 of its representative citizens, honored Mayor James H. Preston for his splendid work in behalf of the city of Baltimore and the Star-Spangled Banner Centennial on his recent tour through the West and South, at a dinner tendered him in the Hotel Rennert Tuesday night. There were many speeches to show the city's appreciation of Preston's work since he has been in office. Speakers unanimously praised his aggressiveness and enterprise and spoke of him as "Baltimore's man of action."

A fine testimonial, in the form of a handsomely embossed resolutions on behalf of the citizens of Baltimore, was presented to him. The resolution, in addition to referring to the boosting trip the mayor has just completed, named the many reforms and benefits that his administration had brought to Baltimore.

Cumberland's Profitable Industry.

There is a glass manufacturing concern at Cumberland, Md., which has had an extraordinary financial history. It is a cooperative company, and employs 300 men, women and children, who own its stock. The only other stockholder is a politician, who put the factory on its feet. The company is capitalized at $25,000, and has just declared a dividend of 92 per cent on its last year's operations. The plant runs day and night and has orders ahead for over a year. The first dividend of 10 per cent was declared in 1910 after eight years of operation. Other dividends were: 1911, 32 per cent; 1912, 62 per cent, and 1913, 72 per cent.

Ulsterites Volunteer.

General Richardson, commanding the Ulster Volunteers, has offered the services of his men to England in the present war crisis, and all thought of civil war has been abandoned in the face of a graver situation.

The acquisition of the well drilled, splendidly equipped forces organized to fight the enforcement of home rule would be of more than nominal value to the war office. That the offer will be cordially accepted is practically certain.

Whether the Irish Nationalist Volunteers will follow this action of their political opponents is not yet known.

The Key Shaft Committee is Named.

Secretary of War Garrison has appointed Senator John Walter Smith and Congressman J. Charles Linthicum members of the Key monument Commission, who with Mayor Preston, chairman of the National Star-Spangled Banner Centennial Commission, and President George Weems Williams of the Park Board will have charge of the preparation of plans and the work of erecting the $75,000 monument to Francis Scott Key on the Fort McHenry reservation.

In the United States the estimated coal in the ground is 3,554,383,400,000 short tons; total exhaustion of coal in the United States to date the close of 1911, 14,181,980,000 short tons; annual production, 1911, 496,221,168 short tons.

FOR THE SAKE OF COUNTRY

WILSON MAKES APPEAL

Asks Americans to be Calm In Great War Crisis.

NATION READY FOR EMERGENCY

United States As Leading Neutral Nation Must Set an Example of Clear-headedness in the Gravest Situation of Modern Times.

"I want to have the pride of feeling that America, if nobody else, has her self-possession and stands ready with calmness of thought and steadiness of purpose to help the rest of the world."

So said President Wilson in his appeal to the people of the United States to remain calm during the war in Europe. He declared that this country owes it to mankind to help the rest of the world during the present crisis which has created the gravest situation of modern times.

The President declared that the United States could gain great and permanent glory during the present trouble providing no one lost his head. He urged that nothing be done in America to add to the general excitement which is now at fever heat throughout the world.

"And we can do it and reap a great permanent glory out of doing it, provided we all co-operate to see that nobody loses his head. I know from my conferences with the Secretary of the Treasury, who is in very close touch with the financial situation throughout the country, that there is no cause for alarm. There is cause for getting busy and doing the thing in the right way, but there is no element of unsoundness and there is no cause for alarm. The bankers and business men of the country are co-operating with a zeal, intelligence and spirit which make the outcome secure."

The President also cautioned the papers of this country to guard against printing unverified reports from the seat of war, and against publishing any articles which would serve to create a partial spirit in the minds of the people.

Some Railroad Prosperity.

That there is some prosperity left in the country is indicated by the statistics contained in the report issued early in July by the Interstate Commerce Commission remarks the Transmitter. The figures cover the business of the steam railroads for the year ending June 30, 1913. They show that the total number of persons on the payrolls of the roads at that time was 1,815,239, or an average of 743 to 100 miles of line. This was an increase in one year of 115,298 in the total number of employees.

The total amount of wages and salaries paid to employees during the year came to the enormous figure of $1,373,830,589.

Scholars May Have Long Vacation.

The school systems of Pittsburgh and Chicago are severely crippled because of the war. 600 teachers from Pittsburgh and 400 from Chicago are touring in Europe and are unable to get back to this country.

The public schools of both cities are due to be opened on September 1, and the authorities of both cities are in despair of opening the institutions on time. All attempts to get into communication with the absent teachers have so far been met with failure.

Rich Find in Frederick County.

The United Mining, Milling and Smelting Company, having mines in Frederick county, reports an unusually rich "find" in the New London mine. General Manager T. A. Dunshee reports that the find is unusual and that the ore is about twenty per cent. copper. The ore will be sent direct to the smelter because of its richness and will not be concentrated at the plant at New London.

Snow Last Week Near Cumberland.

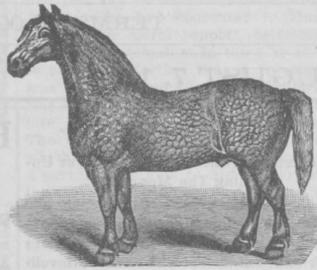

During the sudden drop in temperature throughout this section of the country, snow fell in the glades in the mountains above Oakland. Stoves were lighted in Cumberland and the people were wearing overcoats. Camping parties along the Potomac complained of the cold, and built campfires to keep warm after nightfall.

Rainfall in Frederick County.

The rainfall in Frederick county for the past four months is the average for the past five years. For April, May, June and July, 13.9 inches of rain fell. The weather report for Frederick county for the last month shows that although there was some exceptionally warm weather, it was unusually cool.

EMMITSBURG BEATS COLLEGIANS

Frederick's College Nine Loses Before Heavy Batting of the Locals.— Score 12-6.

Emmitsburg had the Frederick Collegians as its guests last Saturday and served them up a 12 to 6 defeat. The locals got a lead in the third inning and never were in danger afterwards. Stokes pitched beautiful ball, only one man getting on base in the first three innings. But four hits were made off his delivery in the six innings he pitched, two coming in the sixth and, with a hit batter and two errors, giving the College men 3 runs. Sellers pitched the remaining periods and held the game easily. In the ninth after two were down Turner and Legore got two-baggers, giving their team two more points.

Emmitsburg broke into the run column in the third inning. Sebald drove a pass, after two were gone. Ned Annan doubled to center-field and ambled home back of Sebald when the return throw went into the crowd. Frederick owes her first tally to the daring base running of Legore. In the fourth he singled, stole second, went under L. Topper at third on a fielder's choice, and stole home on a close decision.

In the fourth Dr. Rowe sent one to center for three bases, and a few minutes later scored on Rosensteel's single. In the sixth the whole side batted and then some. After three hits were made off Lease he was yanked and King ascended the mound, only to be bumped four times. When the dust cleared away Emmitsburg had eight more runs.

If Dr. Rowe had really ever given up baseball, it would have to be said that he certainly had the "come back." He made a sensational running one-hand catch in right garden, and at bat besides his three-bagger, got a clean single.

The game was unusually free from errors, despite the large score. It was played by both sides for all that was in it until the last man was out, and was well attended.

EMMITSBURG WINS SIX STRAIGHT

Brilliant Fielding and Daring Baserunning Defeat Thurmont, 6 to 3, at Thurmont.

"Iron bars do not a prison make"—Nor bass drums win a game.

Emmitsburg journeyed to Thurmont on Wednesday and returned with a 6-to-3 victory sewed up in the bat bag and a whole heap of perfectly good Thurmont money in the pockets of its fans. Moral: One can't always sometimes tell. Sellers pitched a splendid game for Emmitsburg. Although 13 hits were made off his delivery he kept them well scattered and time and again his teammates came through with a brilliant piece of fielding which killed potential runs. They figured in three fast doubles, threw out 3 men trying to steal, and had not an error against them.

Eddie Creeger was assigned to the pitcher's box for Thurmont and pitched good ball until the eighth when a walk, two singles and a double gave the visitors three runs. Root then went in, and a fourth run came in on a passed ball. That ended Emmitsburg's scoring.

Thurmont got her first run when Root, first up, hit for a homer in the fourth. Creeger singled and stole second, R. Creeger flied to S. Annan and Damuth ditted to F. Rowe whose throw was relayed by Rosensteel and caught Freeze at third. The other two runs came in fifth on three short singles in the high grass, in which the whole outfield abounded.

A large number of Emmitsburgians motored to Thurmont and not only had the pleasure of seeing their team win a victory, but of witnessing a splendid game.

The series is evened up now between Thurmont and Emmitsburg. The next game will be played in Emmitsburg in the near future and ought to prove a thriller.

YOU CAN SHARE IN THE GREAT SAVING

On Commercial Fertilizers By The Use Of

CRIMSON CLOVER

Read Farmers Bulletin No. 579 on Crimson Clover Its Free—Address U. S. Dept. of Agriculture Washington, D. C.

A bushel of Crimson Clover Seed sown on four acres of ground will increase the succeeding yield of Corn or Cotton about the same amount as would a ton of complete fertilizer applied at the rate of 50 lbs. per acre. A good stand of Crimson Clover turned under will ordinarily double the yield of the crops which follow. The physical condition of the soil is also materially benefited. The Sandy Soils are increased in Humus and Nitrogen Contents. The Stiff, heavy clay soils are rendered more open and friable.

Crimson Clover makes an excellent grazing crop, hay, ensilage and pasture for all classes of live stock. Milch cows make considerably more milk, when pastured on Crimson Clover. It is also valuable as a honey plant, furnishing an abundant supply of nectar in the spring. Crimson Clover is valuable as a Winter Cover crop. It is especially valuable in Orchards where it is generally plowed under as a green manure crop. The plants retain for the use of the trees the following season much of the plant food, which would otherwise leach out of the ground during the Winter and early Spring. A good stand of Crimson Clover not only reduces the erosion and the gulfing of the fields, but on sandy fields, the blowing of the soil by the wind is greatly lessened. The Plants also serve to hold the snow to a greater extent than if the field was left bare during the Winter. More and more each year farmers are realizing the importance and great value of Crimson Clover.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county.

EMMITSBURG.

In all Western Maryland—the beauty spot and the garden spot of the State—there is no town more attractive than Emmitsburg.

No people are more wide-awake, more knowable, more courteous to strangers than Emmitsburgians.

The location of Emmitsburg is ideal; the surrounding scenery is unmatchable; the climate is notably healthful; its water—pure mountain spring water—cannot be surpassed.

Mount Saint Mary's College and Ecclesiastical Seminary—with an enviable reputation extending over 106 years—is located here; St. Joseph's College and Academy for young ladies—equally as noted during its 105 years of splendid achievement—is also here.

There are excellent Schools—Public and Parochial—in Emmitsburg; two sound Banks, five Churches, a live Newspaper, modern Hotel accommodations, adequate Fire Department, progressive merchants, splendid physicians, good liverys, auto garages, many fraternal organizations, good railroad accommodations.

There is business to be had in Emmitsburg; there are Factory Sites available. If you contemplate changing your place of residence—come to Emmitsburg, Frederick County, Md.

PATRIOTISM FIRST.

Once again the patriotism of the people of the United States has been appealed to and has not been found wanting; once again the call has come to lay aside thoughts of personal gain and advancement to work for the nation's good, and, as has always been the case in the past, the nation has responded heartily and eagerly.

In the first week of war, the United States lost two billion dollars in the depreciation of securities, the most serious loss in the history of our country. In such a situation prompt action is called for and in this case was not lacking. Due to the energy and zeal of the President and the Secretary of the Treasury, ample arrangements were made to meet any financial emergency.

Laying aside party differences, Congress came to the aid of Americans abroad by voting $250,000. The business men the country over have shown an admirable spirit of hearty co-operation with the government which a few days ago many of them were denouncing in extremest terms, 55,000 railroad employees who were on the verge of striking consented to arbitrate and give up part of what they sincerely believe are their rights.

Government, business men and the people as a whole have worked in unison and hearty accord. Politics, dear to the American heart, business losses and industrial differences have all been laid aside and forgotten because the call has come to aid the United States as a nation. The result of this co-operation has been gratifying in the extreme. The financial situation, which looked desperate, has been steadied and an increased feeling of confidence in government and nation has become manifest.

The President has issued an appeal to the nation to be calm during the events of the war. With such a response to his other appeals, can we doubt the response in this case? With the patriotism of the American people once more proven need we, as a nation, have any fears for what the future holds for us? We are to be congratulated.

THE Baltimore Star does not think much of German's diplomacy and in this respect it seems to voice the sentiment of the majority on this side of the sea—a majority that includes many Germans. "That policy of the mailed fist which Bismark bequeathed to the empire he built has no longer the genius of the Iron Chancellor behind it," is the reminder of the Star; nor can the present trouble involving the leading European powers be viewed in any other light than that of hasty action on the part of the Kaiser. This is made the more significant by Germany's attempt to place the blame on two of the other powers.

To defend the policies of his administration will be the purpose of Mr. Wilson's speech campaign this fall. Before he came into office his attitude was that of opposition. He won, and he has had Congress with him. There are many who opine that the President will be equally successful in showing the country that he has made good.

"UNCLE" JOE CANNON got a hot broadside the other day from Congressman O'Hair—the man who defeated the former Czar of the House—when he played on the calamity harp and sang the song of the pessimist telling of business woes in Illinois. O'Hair happened to be loaded with facts while the big gun shot empty statements only.

CYNICISM, pessimism, distrust of human nature, are blood taints. Persons thus afflicted ought to consult a doctor—a horse doctor, at that. A grouchy embodiment of these ailments is about as welcome as a pole cat.

Nearly All Electric Power Is Bought.

A fact which speaks eloquently for the administration of the electrical power companies of this country is that while in 1902 electric railways purchased very little power, ten years later 33 per cent. of all the power used was purchased. Illinois, in 1912, purchased electricity amounting to 58 per cent, while in Chicago, during the first few months of the present year, surface and elevated railways used 90 per cent. of purchased electrical energy. This seems to indicate that by specializing and producing in large quantities the electric service companies are enabled to furnish current cheaper than industrial establishments can produce it themselves.

A Genous Citizen?

An exchange in speaking of a deceased citizen said: "We knew him as old Ten Per Cent—the more he had the less he spent—the more he got the less he lent—he's dead—we don't know where he went—but if his soul to heaven is sent—he'll own the harps and charge 'em rent."—Southwestern's Book.

To Seal Jelly Glasses.

Shave a small quantity of paraffin into the tumbler before pouring in the hot jelly. The paraffin will come to the top and effectively seal the surface when all is cold. This method is much easier than melting the paraffin to pour over the hardened jelly.

Seventeen Year Locusts.

The song of the cicada is the noisiest in the insect world. The seventeen-year cicada has been called the Rip Van Winkle of the insect world. From its tiny eggs there issues a creature with soft white body and mole-like front legs. It burries to the ground and disappears beneath its surface sometimes to a depth of twenty feet. For seventeen years it digs its way around in absolute darkness and then comes to the surface to join in a marriage revelry of a few brief weeks. It is a full fledged creature of the air, though encased still in grave clothes of parchment, but it soon splits these up the back, pulls itself out, dries its powerful wings and flies away with the whirr of an aeroplane to live but a few brief weeks.—National Geographical Society Bulletin.

Advice From Mark Twain.

There is a gem in a letter from Mark Twain to Will M. Clemens, who wanted some advice: "How can I advise another man wisely out of such a capital as a life filled with mistakes? Advise him how to avoid the like? No, for opportunities to make the same mistakes do not happen to any two men. Your own experiences may possibly teach you, but another man's can't. I do not know anything for a person to do but just peg along, doing the things that offer and regretting them the next day. It is my way and everybody's."—New York Mail.

Korean Justice.

The Korean judge dispenses justice in the open, and by etiquette only the judge can sit. Every one else must stand, excepting the prisoner and his friends, who are forced to remain in a humble kneeling position with bowed heads. Until quite recently these trials were always very one sided and shockingly unjust, states the Wide World Magazine. When a man was brought to a judge it was taken for granted he was guilty, and if he did not confess he was tortured and made to do so. Witnesses, too, were openly bribed. In fact, giving evidence for or against an accused person meant a living to a portion of the community, and these witnesses naturally favored those who paid best. Punishments varied. If the prisoners were too full and the condemned could not pay a fine they were often given a chance to escape or disappeared by some means. Though these things are of the past, Korean judges, like those of China, possess a poor idea of the sense of justice.

An Ancient Mariner's Tale.

A solemn man leaned forward as the train approached the seaside resort. "You see that boardin' house over there. I can tell you a funny story about that. I was stayin' there thirty years since, and there was a 'usband and wife there, too—very pleasant people. One day after dinner 'e says to 'er, as any 'usband might say to any wife, 'Pass me them boots.' And she says to 'im, as any wife might say to any 'usband, 'Get 'em yourself.' And 'e says, 'I'll never ask you for no more boots.'"

"Well, is that all?" asked the victim as the ancient mariner paused for breath.

"No. 'E went out at once and drowned 'imself in those very boots—a new pair fresh on."

And the ancient mariner was obviously gratified by the sensation which the climax of his funny story produced.—Manchester Guardian.

The Legs in Swimming.

The correct stroke of the legs is exactly like that of a frog's hind legs. Watch one of these frogs and copy his style. You cannot do better. The legs are drawn up together slowly, not with a jerk, until they are gathered in close under the body. Then with a sudden, quick spring they are shot out behind, the ankles being turned so that the soles of the feet present as flat a surface as possible to the water and so offer more resistance from which to make progress. As the kick is made the legs should be spread out in the shape of a letter V, but not allowed to sink far down under the surface of the water. If they kick downward at an angle instead of out straight behind much of their energy is wasted in unnecessarily forcing the body out of the water instead of forward.

Curious Epitaphs.

Old New England graveyards are not the only ones which contain curious epitaphs. The old time dweller of Maine who "died of a falling tree," as his headstone asserts, had a fellow in misfortune in faroff Austria, as is shown by W. A. Baillie-Grohman's "The Tyrol and the Tyrolese."

A wooden slab, painted with the representation of a prostrate tree under which lies a man in spread eagle attitude, bears testimony to the violent death of "Johann Lemberger, aged fifty-two and three-quarters years. This upright and virtuous youth was squashed by a falling tree."

The record of Michael Gerstner is even more succinct and convincing. He "climbed up, fell down and was dead."

Baseball Versus Cricket.

We have known only one big league ball player to partake both of baseball and cricket as a pastime. He was the late Harry Vaughn, who played cricket in his early English days and later on became one of the star catchers of the Cincinnati Reds. Remember Rhines and Vaughn?

We asked Vaughn one day what he regarded as the main difference between baseball and cricket.

His answer was the keenest we have ever heard to this query.

"The main difference," he replied, "might be summed up in the difference between the war cries of the two sports—between 'Well tried, old top, and 'Slide, you bonehead, slide!'"—Collier's.

SIBILANTS AND SONG.

A Combination That Does Not Produce Satisfactory Results.

"Writing verses for the printed page and writing 'words' to be set to music and sung," remarked a gentleman who has won laurels in both departments of industry, "are two very different matters. You can take liberties in the first case which you cannot in the case of 'lyrics,' as with these you have to consider the 'singableness' of the words used.

"To avoid sibilants like a pestilence and to use open vowels such as A and O wherever possible are the two golden rules. English has been called an unsingable language, and certainly Italian and French are more liquid and easier to vocalize in. Open vowels are very important. Compare, for instance, the word 'thee,' which is breathed out between the teeth, with its plural 'you,' which enables the singer to open the mouth widely. The relative singableness is apparent at once.

"An excessive use of sibilants produces a ludicrous hissing sound. (Read the last sentence aloud, and note the effect.) Nevertheless a well known dramatist was once careless enough to give an actor a speech in which he described 'Dick sitting still as a stone and steering the horse splendidly.'—London Answers.

BIRDS AND BRAINS.

The Canary Well Supplied, While the Poor Hen is Sadly Lacking.

Naturalists have arrived at the conclusion that the brain in birds is large in proportion to the body. If it is admitted that intelligence depends upon the weight of the brain then the goldfinch must be placed at the top of the list of birds. The brain weighs one-fourteenth of its whole body.

It must be remembered, however, that attempts to draw conclusions as to the intelligence of certain birds from a comparison of the weight of the brain with that of the body have been considered futile.

In man the brain forms from one-twenty-second to one-thirty-third of the whole body; in the canary, one-fourteenth; the sparrow, one-twenty-fifth; the chaffinch, one-twenty-seventh; the redbreast, one-thirty-second; the blackbird, one-sixty-eighth; the duck, one-two-hundred-and-fifty-seventh; the eagle, one-two-hundred-and-sixtieth; the goose, one-three-hundred-and-sixtieth; the domestic hen, one-four-hundred-and-twelfth.

By some the preternaturally cunning raven is supposed to be the most highly developed of birds. His courage is so great that the eagle respects it, and his intelligence prevents him from getting into unseen though suspected dangers.—London Spectator.

The Industrious Chinaman.

Of all oriental workmen the Chinese are undoubtedly the best, though there may be some with experience of both races who may be disposed to give the palm to the Japanese. A European who thoroughly understands his business, and who is able to impart his knowledge and his instructions in a clear manner to his Chinese subordinate, and who moreover is blessed with a little patience and tact, will find little difficulty in the management and control of Chinese labor of whatever kind. Speaking generally, they are good and conscientious workmen, and many indeed are very clever fellows. The quality of the work turned out by a good Chinese fitter, turner, or machine man varies little from that of the average good British workman of the same class, but the latter would beat him in point of time.—London Express.

The Fly's Stabilizers.

"On either side of the waist line of a fly is a stabilizer," says Dr. Bellesme, a famous entomologist. "This looks something like a base drum stick. These are extremely small, not more than one-fifteenth as long as the fly's wings, and while in flight they may be moved about, much as a tight rope walker uses a long pole for balancing himself.

"In experimenting with flies these little stabilizers have been removed. When released the fly begins his flight but without these stabilizers he describes a sort of semicircle and invariably lands on his back.

"Wasps and bees keep their balance while in flight by shifting the center of inflection of the abdomen and legs."—Exchange.

Would Have Made No Difference.

Sir Edward Cook in his "Life of Florence Nightingale" tells a story of a wounded soldier who picked up another wounded soldier and stumbled back into camp with him.

The rescued man turned out to be a general, no less, and when he went to see his rescuer in hospital the latter exclaimed:

"I'm glad I didn't know it was your honor. But if I'd known it was you I'd have saved you all the same!"

HINTS FOR MOTORISTS.

A Few Rules Which If Followed Will Make You Very Popular.

The Harrisburg News-Record prints eleven suggestions to be followed by all automobilists who desire to become popular with pedestrians and that unfortunate class which has to stick to the horse.

Here they are:

1. Take the corners on high speed—show people two wheels are all you need when you turn a curve. This stirs up a little excitement in the old town and gives the lazy but pedestrian some beneficial practice in broad jumping.

2. Come to a stop on a slide—select some spot on the curb and see how close you come to hitting it with your wheels locked. Buffalo Bill stopped his horses that way and made quite a hit with his Wild West show.

3. If you start on high speed you can make your rear wheels spin beautifully. This is a little tough on the tires but marks the place where you hit the road.

4. If you are the fortunate possessor of a particularly raucous-voiced squawker, don't forget what its for. It is a good plan to keep it out on all occasions because you might really need it sometime and find it out of order. If you have a horn also use both at the same time particularly when approaching a pedestrian. Much amusement can be obtained in this way by pretending to run down a woman and child, both of whom will be grateful for the little diversion.

5. You are entitled to half of the road—the law says so—you should take your rights. Take your half out of the middle and see to it that nobody else trespasses on our territory.

6. When passing horse-drawn vehicles or an electric driven by a woman don't overlook the opportunity to display your skill as a driver. Shave the hug or fender as closely as possible. When coming up behind a horse which shows evidence of nervousness it is a good plan also to try your squawker on him—he'll like it after he gets used to it.

7. A muffler is more or less a nuisance. Fortunately, most cars are provided with a cut-out. The object of this cut out is to enable the driver to show an admiring public his smoke. Moreover it sounds like business when you imitate a bunch of cannon fire crackers all exploding at the same time.

8. Jump in your car quickly put on the high speed—grab your wheel—throw in the juice with your free hand and let 'er rip. That shows you're a devil of a fellow and that you're in a hurry to get where you are going.

9. When your car is one of a long string that is held up by some obstruction, pull out of the line and get up ahead. Butt in ahead of the first car and stand crosswise of the road. When the obstruction is removed you will be able to show your dust to those others who failed to jockey you out of position.

10. When you come in your driveway late at night stop as near as you can to the window of your sleeping neighbor then open your cut-out and let your engine hit 'er up for about a half hour. You can tell when she's missing then and you might be able to tell what your neighbor thinks of you while he sits up in his bed and pours a line of earnest language in your direction.

11. A joke which is highly appreciated by most pedestrians is to have a driver skid a puddle of mud and throw dirty water all over their Sunday raiment. You can do this easily if you try and it makes a big hit, even with the man in overalls.

Tuberculosis Census of Churches to be Taken.

A Tuberculosis Census of thousands of churches in various parts of the country will be taken in September, under the direction of The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. The census will be part of the preparation for the Fifth Annual Tuberculosis Day to be observed during the week of November 29th.

The ministers of several thousand churches will be asked to report on the number of deaths from tuberculosis in the last year, the number of living cases in their parishes on September 1st, the number of deaths from all causes, and the number of members or communicants. These figures will be made the basis of an educational campaign, which will culminate in the Tuberculosis Day movement, for which occasion sermon and lecture outlines and other forms of tuberculosis literature will be distributed free to ministers.

Last year nearly 75,000 churches, schools and other bodies took part in the Tuberculosis Day observance. The movement had the endorsement of leading church officials of every denomination. More than 1200 anti-tuberculosis societies scattered all over the country will work this year to make Tuberculosis Day a success.

WIFE OF PRESIDENT DIES.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the President of the United States, died at the White House at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Death came after an illness of months and was caused by Bright's disease with severe complications.

President Wilson and her three daughters, Mrs. McAdoo, Mrs. Sayre and Miss Margaret Wilson were at her bedside when she died.

When the Wilson's entered the White House, Mrs. Wilson was in robust health, but her intense activity socially and among the poor sapped her strength and weakened her resistance against disease.

Thousands of telegrams and messages of condolence poured into the White House from the time of the announcement of her death.

TAKE HIS ADVICE.

The highest salaried editor in the world, Arthur Brisbane, says:

"As a friend talking to another about a certain kind of goods can influence a friend more than a stranger, so a country newspaper, standing on a footing of friendship with its readers can talk to them about goods for sale or any other topic, and impress upon them more strongly than the big metropolitan newspaper, which is really a stranger."

The judgment of an authority like Brisbane amounts to something. Take his advice, then, and advertise in THE CHRONICLE, the paper that is your friend.

FESTIVAL NOTICES.

Notices of Festivals, Church Entertainments, etc., will be charged for at the rate of Five (5) Cents a line for the first insertion and Three (3) Cents a line for each additional insertion. Ten (10) cents extra for black face heading, the first insertion; Five (5) cents thereafter.

Every Voter Must Register.

The fact that there will be a general registration throughout the State after the September primaries, the first in 18 years, will occasion unusual political activity, as in order to cast a ballot this fall every legally qualified voter in the State must see that his name has been placed on the registration books.

The New Meat Market.

From the various factories it is reported that the farmers will begin to haul corn this week, and that it is expected the three plants will then begin operations. It will not be until the latter part of next week that the three plants will be running to their capacity. At this time the corn over various parts of the county will be ripening and it will mean the beginning of the rush season.

At first the bones were set, but infection set in and amputation failed to save the man's life.

By an order issued by the State Tax Commission, one of the first things that will be done by County Tax Supervisor Howard Allnutt, will be to ascertain whether merchants, who under the laws are required to have a trader's license are paying the requisite amount based on the value of their stocks. This will be the first work taken up by the supervisors in the various counties of the state. This investigation will be carried on through a comparison of the license fees paid with the assessed values of the stocks carried as shown by their tax books.

Pinned beneath an automobile which had turned turtle two miles east of Ridgeville shortly after 7 o'clock Sunday evening, when a rear tire exploded, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Von Hohenhoff, two small children and a maid were imprisoned for nearly ten minutes until passing motorists came to their rescue. Two hundred and eighty Frederick countians spent Monday at Atlantic city.

Lightning struck and burned two barns in Middletown Valley on Thursday afternoon causing a combined loss of $6,000. The barns belonged to Mrs. John Boyer and Samuel Tritapoe.

Fire caused by lightning burned the bank barn of Vernon T. Smith, near Lewistown, on Sunday night. The loss is $4,000.

The Walkersville milk plant, owned by C. M. Oyster, of Washington, was damaged $1,000 by fire of unknown origin Tuesday morning. The main part of the plant was saved.

At the Manor picnic, the largest held in Frederick county, H. B. Albaugh, of Liberty, won the tournament, Maurice Mohler, of Point of Rocks, was second and Charles Bowers, third.

The ninth triennial reunion of Lutheran ministers born in Middletown Valley began in St. John's Lutheran Church, near Ellerton, Tuesday. The Rev. F. L. Rice delivered the address of welcome and the Rev. S. A. Hedges responded.

During the month of July there were thirty-eight deaths reported in Frederick county. The mortality was about equal to that for the month of June.

FABLES IN SLANG

BY GEORGE ADE

THE NEW FABLE OF THE HONEY-MOON THAT TRIED TO COME BACK.

Once there was an undivorced Couple that would get up every G. M. and put on the five-ounce Mitts and wait for the Sound of the Gong.

Each was working for the Championship of the Flat and proved to be a Glutton for Punishment.

Every time he landed a crashing Hay-Maker on her Family History she countered with a short-arm Jolt on his Personal Appearance.

Both would retire to the Corners breathing heavily, but still full of Combat.

He loved to start out the Day by finding in the Paper what a Professor connected with the University of Chicago had said about the American Woman being a vain and shallow Parasite with a Cerebrum about the size of an English Walnut.

She would retaliate by reading aloud a Special in regard to a Husband going after Wife with AX, while under the Influence of Liquor.

After which, for 15 or 20 minutes, the Dining Room would be just as peaceful and quiet as a Camorra Trial.

Sometimes he would get First Blood, but just as often she would fiddle around for an Opening and then Zowie!—right on the Conk and him Stalling to escape further punishment.

When Nightfall came they would still be edging around the Ring, whanging away, for each was too Game to be a Quitter.

Their Married Life, which started out with American Beauty Roses in every Vase and a long Piece in the Paper, now settled down to a Thirty Years War with all of the Attendant Horrors.

Put on the Five-Ounce Mitts and Wait for the Gong.

The only time the Dove of Peace really Lit was when they had Company.

Then they would Dear each other until the Premises became Sticky and she would even coax up a Ripple of Fake Laughter when he pulled some Wheeze that used to go Great the Year they were engaged. But the Moment the last Guest closed the Front Door the Dove of Peace would beat it and another domestic Gettysburg would drive the Servants to Cover.

After this had been going on for several Seasons he happened to get hold of a Powerful Work written by a Popular Novelist (Unmarried), who made a psychological Dissection of a Woman's Soul and then preached a Funeral Sermon over the Dead Love that once blossomed in the Heart of the Heroine.

After he read this Tragedy of flickered Romance he felt like a Pup.

He perceived that he had been in the Wrong.

The Novelist taught him that his Cue was to bear with the Weaker Vessel and to keep the Honeysuckle of True Affection pruned and watered by Devotion and Sacrifice.

Therefore, he made one large Vow to cut out the Rough Stuff.

Next Morning when the Queen of the Amazons put on her Paint and Feathers, and began to beat the big War Drum there was Nothing Doing.

He refused to enter the blood-stained Arena and when she came after him he fell over and took the Count before a Punch had been delivered.

Before starting for the Office he Kissed her a couple of times and gave her some Massage Treatment around the Shoulder Blades and called her "Toots"—a term of Endearment which had been rusting on the Shelf ever since they used it at Niagara Falls.

She was so dazed by this Reversal of Form that she peeked from the Front Window and watched him clear to the Corner, convinced that he was on his way to meet Another Woman.

He came home that Evening with a Jar of Candied Nuts and when Mrs. Simon Legree demanded the Name of the Hussy he simply pulled a Yearning Smile and invited her to go ahead and use him as a Punching Bag.

Next day she put a Newspaper around the Bird Cage and tied up the Geranium and took the unfinished Tattling and Blew.

When she walked in on her Own People, with the Declaration that all Bets were Off, they wanted to know how about it, and she said a Spirited Woman couldn't keep on rooming with a Guinea-Pig.

MORAL—Contempt breeds Familiarity.

THE NEW FABLE OF THE LIFE OF THE PARTY.

One Night a Complimentary Dinner was given to a Captain of Industry by some Friends looking for Orders.

The Chairman of the Arrangements Committee was a popular Wine-Pusher, consequently the volunteer Search Parties were out for Three Days after, gathering up the Dead.

Along about 10:30, when every Perfect Gentleman was neatly Stewed and each Chandelier was doing a sinuous Salome in time with the Hungarian Orchestra, a Man connected with the Jobbing Trade got up to say a Few Words.

He was keyed to Concert Pitch and the Audience was Piped and all the old sure-fire Bokum of a Sentimental Nature simply Killed them in their Seats.

When he Concluded, the hilarious Bun Brothers, with the mussed-up Hair and the twisted Shirt Bosoms, arose to their Feet and waved Napkins and gave the Orator what he described to his Wife at 2 A. M. as A Novation.

Another Good man was spoiled.

After Herman made this goshawful Hit with the Souses he became convinced that he was an After-Dinner Wit.

Gus Thomas and Simeon Ford had nothing on him. Whenever he found himself seated at a Table with other People and Food being served he began to suck Lozenges and classify his Anecdotes and try to appear Unconcerned.

All the time he was simply waiting for the Main Fluff to come up from behind the Chrysanthemums and say, "We have with us this evening."

Then for the quiet Introduction, leading up to the sparkling Mot and the Tremolo Stop pulled all the Way out on the Pathos and a couple of Depews to put them in a Good Humor, concluding with a Hypodermic of Hot Mush.

If the Bunch sat back and refused to Fall for the War-Time Favorites he would console himself by telling around that he was up against the Low-Brows.

He knew that he was a Dinger, because he remembered how the Magnificent Assemblage stood and cheered him for five Minutes.

Therefore his Voice sounded to him a good deal like the Boston Symphony Orchestra playing Rubinstein's Melody in F.

Whenever People sat down in front of the decorative Canape Caviar and got ready to endure the Horrors of another Hotel Gorge, they would glance across the Snowy Expanse of White, dotted with plump California Olives and cold, unfeeling Celery, and seeing Herman seated opposite, would remark, "Stung!"

He could not have been kept in his Chair with a Ton of Coal in each Tail-Pocket.

And if The Ladies were present that was where he worked in the Bird-Calls and ordered out the Twinkling Stars.

According to the Expectation Tables of the Insurance Actuaries, probably he will Stick Around for 32 years more and never find out that he is a Pest.

MORAL—Those who bemoan the Decline of Oratory should remember that Oratory never was known to Decline.

Entrancing Bird Melody.

I had dropped in at one of our big downtown grocery stores to buy the makings of a Welsh bunny when I heard from a gilded cage in the window the sweetest bird song in the world. I was reminded of all Wordsworth and Shelley had written about skylarks. The liquid melody rippled and trilled from the small throat as if the little captive was singing praises to the morning sun instead of to the grapefruit piled so fragrantly on the counter. The tiny warbler was certainly throwing his whole soul into the song. It conjured up visions of shady forests and of leafy glades. There was a certain tropical warmth in the lyric that was new.

"What a remarkable canary!" I observed to the proprietor.

"Oh, that isn't a canary," he replied. "It's an Indian thrush."

Kipling has described the music of the Indian thrush, whose song is the rarest of all tropical bird songs. Few of us in this climate, however, have had the exquisite pleasure of listening to such a madrigal.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

What mother of a little child could fail to like this frock? There are only two seams required for its making, yet it is dainty and pretty. In one view it is shown worn with a belt, and the older tots would like this treatment, but for the younger children the simple little dress which hangs straight and unhampered will be preferred.

In the large view the front is simply embroidered, and there is no prettier
