IMMIGRATION CONFERENCE

WILL BE DECEMBER 12

Will Consider Placing Immigrants on Southern Farms

LABOR DEPARTMENT APPROVES

Plan Will be Worked Out to Take Care of Freight Exodus After The War.—South's Peculiar Advantage to be Aired.

Senator Duncan A. Fletcher of Florida, President of the Southern Commercial Congress, has issued a call for state and local officials, representatives of the press, commercial and civic organizations, railroad officials, bankers, and real-estate and business men of the South to meet in Washington on Saturday, December 12th, to consider and devise methods of interesting and locating agricultural immigrants in the Southern States. The call is issued by the Southern Commercial Congress, with the approval of Secretary Wilson of the Department of Labor, at the instance of leading business men throughout the South to discuss the advisability of undertaking efforts for placing the agriculturally inclined immigrants now out of employment in our industrial communities on Southern farms, and to plan methods of caring for the horde of foreigners that will probably come to this country at the close of the European conflict.

Secretary Wilson will deliver the opening address at the conference. The Southern Commercial Congress will have the cooperation of the Department of Labor in this work, and Mr. T. V. Powderly, chief of the division of information of the Bureau of Immigration, has been designated to actively assist in arranging for the meeting.

The Conference is called, it is stated, to determine a Southern immigration policy, and to work out a practical plan by which the South can take advantage of existing opportunities. There are thousands of immigrant families in our industrial communities, either out of work or on short time, that have been working a saving for years in order to be able to return to Europe and purchase agricultural homes who are now prevented from leaving this country. Many of these people no longer desire to return abroad in view of the economic burden which the war has placed on the countries of Europe, and large groups can be placed on Southern farms if the proper efforts are made to secure them.

Large number of European immigrants, many of whom will be practically destitute, will come to the United States at the close of hostilities in Europe and must be cared for. The advisability of attempting to utilize this class of people on the farm lands of the South will also be considered.

Preparations are being made to have representatives of the foreign press in this country, and officials of the more important of the immigrant societies to attend the conference. In addition to Secretary Wilson, other high officials of the federal government will also be in attendance.

The fact that the South possesses peculiar opportunities and advantages in this instance is fully realized by the officials of The Southern Commercial Congress and they will see that the conference directs its attention to devising a system of financing agricultural settlements in the Southern States and to the task of establishing an immigration service capable of properly handling and directing this important work.

A large attendance is expected for the subject of immigration is now provoking considerable attention throughout the country, and is commanding serious consideration on the part of the Government. It is already being urged that postoffice officials, and the county agents of the Department of Agriculture co-operate with the federal immigration officials and state officials in effecting a proper distribution of immigrants to the agricultural regions.

Warned Against Fake Cattle Cures.

Warnings to cattle men to beware of men posing as representatives of the Federal Government in its fight against foot and mouth disease, have been sent out from the Department of Agriculture. Reports to the Department say persons who claim to represent the Government are appearing in infected States with so-called cures.

Officials say there is no specific cure for the disease and that the only way to prevent its spread is to keep well herds from contact with infected ones. The warning cautions farmers to make sure that men claiming to represent the department are actually Federal inspectors.

BICYCLE RACE LOWERS RECORD

Goulet and Grenda Cover 2,758 Miles Since Sunday Midnight.

Goulet and Grenda, with 67 points to their credit, won the six-day bicycle race, which closed last Saturday night in Madison Square Garden. Drobach and Lawson, six points behind the winners, were second. The distance for the 142 hours was 2,758 miles and 1 lap. The previous record was 2,751 miles, made last year by Goulet and Fogler. Outside of the sprint money made during the week Goulet and Grenda received $1,600 for their efforts, while the second pair got an even $1,000.

Instead of the usual last mile sprint, as has been the custom in deciding the ultimate winner in the past in case of a tie, the management adopted the European point system finish, such as was in vogue in the last six-day race on the Continent.

One hour before the finish the teams that were not on even terms with the leaders were withdrawn from the track. The leaders then took part in a one-hour race, a sprint every fifteen laps—points to count. This virtually meant sixteen distinct finishes. The team to win the dash was credited with six points and the second five and so on down to one. Goulet did most of the riding for his team and won eight of these dashes.

TWELVE KILLED IN FOOTBALL

Of These Only Two Were College Men.—All Young.

Football is still a game for the mature youth. As in past years it has gone hard during the season just closed for those whose bones and muscles have not been firmly knit or who have lacked in gridiron science. The season's death toll on the country's gridiron totals twelve and of these only two were college men, and one of those died of heart disease. The other succumbed in a class game, not being a member of the regular team.

Outside of the two the rest of those killed were either members of high school, preparatory, or free lance teams. All were young. No one was over 21 years of age. Tackling was responsible for more deaths than anything else and one fatality is charged up to blood poisoning. Here is how the casualty list reads:

Floyd McGinnis, Ada, Ohio; tackled. Ray Allen, Sapulpa, Okla.; tackled. Albert Wiseman, Sac City, Iowa; thrown.

Charles C. Hays, New York; tackled the runner.

Carroll Olson, Milwaukee; fractured skull in scrimmage.

Michael Kennedy, Pittsburgh; body paralyzed in line plunge.

William F. English, Troy, N. Y.; tackled.

Lester Lohler, Detroit; blow on head.

James Levery, Ambridge, Penn.; jumped on in scrimmage.

Fred Treece, New Brighton, Penn.; collided with another player.

Frank L. Wells, Dorchester, Mass.; blood poisoning from scratch.

T. G. Brown, Knoxville, Tenn.; heart trouble.

The Maryland Oat Crop for 1914.

The 1914 oat crop of Maryland will amount to approximately 1,161,000 bushels, compared with a total yield of 1,260,000 bushels last year, according to estimates given out by the Crop Reporting Board of the United States Department of Agriculture. The acre yield this year is 27.0 bushels and the product is bringing the farmers around 55 cents per bushel. Last year the average price was 46 cents per bushel.

The oat crop of Continental United States this year is estimated at 1,136,755,000 bushels, or about 15,000,000 bushels more than last season's yield. The average yield per acre in 1914 for the entire nation was 29.6 bushels and 29.9 bushels in 1913.

Will Spend $13,000,000 to Electrify Road

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad will spend $13,000,000 within the next four years in electrification work in the Rocky Mountain district, it was announced by C. A. Goodnow, in charge of construction, following the signing of a contract with the General Electric Company involving a preliminary expenditure of $2,000,000.

Page was practically unhurt when rescued.

It was announced at the White House that the Turkish Government had made a voluntary explanation of the firing on the United States cruiser Tennessee's launch in the Harbor of Smyrna last Monday. The explanation in the delayed dispatch was that the harbor had been mined and the port ordered closed that the American Ambassador had previously been informed of this, and that the Tennessee's launch was stopped by warning shots when she was passing through the mine zone. Government officials regard the explanation as satisfactory.

CATHOLIC ALUMNAE MEETING

Cardinals Approve Gathering in Gotham New York to Organize Federation.

Cardinals Gibbons, O'Connell and Farley have formally approved a plan to bring together alumnae of all Catholic colleges and academies for women, and a convention for organization began in New York today. The movement started a year ago in a small way at St. Joseph's College at Emmitsburg, Md., and has been indorsed and entered into by women educational leaders in every part of the country.

Aims of the proposed federation as announced are to put an end to religious prejudice as far as possible, both between competitive Catholic institutions and between Catholics and all others; to advance the social and social service life of Catholic women, and to bring women who are competent into the work of child-training on weekdays. Concerning the latter aim it should be explained that in some cities Catholic teachers have offered to give an afternoon a week to religious instruction of Catholic children who do not receive such instruction in public schools.

There are nearly 1000 institutions whose alumnae can be asked to enter the federation. These include a large number of schools of varying grades in charge of religious orders of women. It is reported that these orders are enthusiastic for the federation. So far more than 100 institutions, including some of the largest, have elected delegates to the organization convention.

OPERA IN HARVARD STADIUM

Metropolitan Company Will Present "Siegfried" in Open Air.

Under the auspices of Harvard University a mammoth outdoor presentation of Wagner's "Siegfried" will be presented at the Harvard Stadium on or about June 3, if weather permits.

Arrangements have been made to bring the entire Metropolitan Opera Company orchestra, augmented to 125 musicians, to Boston under the baton of the Wagnerian conductor, Alfred Hertz.

The cast will be composed of the world's most famous artists. Rudolf Berger will sing the title role of Siegfried, Johanna Gadske will sing Brunnhilde, Mme. Schumann-Heink, Erda; Alma Gluck, Waldevogel; Albert Reiss, Mime; Otto Goritz, Alberich; Clarence Wittich, Wotan, and Basil Ruysdael, Father.

In order to render the vast picture more realistic the stage decoration will, in a great measure, be composed of actual forest scenes.

To Help Maryland Hog Raisers.

The modern method of solving agricultural problems by investigating them, not only in the laboratory, but also on the farm in co-operation with the farmer, has given such admirable results that it is to be applied to the anti-hog-cholera crusade.

Congress has appropriated a half million dollars to carry on the work and experiments will be made in all parts of the United States. The aim will be not only to exterminate the disease in the test sections, but also to discover the most practical, efficient and economical methods for continuing the work throughout the country.

This investigation will fill a long felt want in Maryland, as the hog death rate in this State is 78 per 1000 head and hog raisers are losing an average of 26,000 hogs, valued at $265,000 from this disease annually.

Fourteen Voted to Death.

Because a popular election in Arizona decided against the abolition of Capital punishment, Governor Hunt declared that he would let 14 condemned prisoners die on the gallows on the dates originally set.

HOW DOES WAR TAX APPLY?

DOUBT IN MANY MINDS

Experts Called In To Interpret Measure

BOOK OF THE REGULATIONS

Some of The Questions That Have Arisen.—Tax on Perfumery, Documents, Freight Shipments, Telephone and Telegrams.

Interpretation of the emergency tax law is giving the law division of the internal revenue office plenty of work these days. Rulings on doubted points have been handed down by the commissioner, W. H. Osborn, at frequent intervals since the law was approved Oct. 22, until to date the regulations would make a book about an inch thick. A book of the regulations will be issued soon.

Schedule B, which provides a stamp tax on perfumery, cosmetics and similar articles, is causing the most perplexity. To begin with, the law in one place says that this schedule shall take effect 30 days after passage of the act, and in another place it says Dec. 1. This required a special ruling, the commissioner naming Dec. 1 as the date.

Orders for goods have practically stopped, the manufacturers say, because the wholesalers and retailers are waiting for Dec. 1, when the manufacturers will have to put on the stamps and pay the tax. Goods bought now would have to be stamped before sold if on hand Dec. 1. The wait is costing some manufacturers hundreds of dollars a day.

Manufacturers whose products are taxable under schedule B have been propounding all sorts of questions to the commissioner on points not clearly covered by the law. Some of these queries have resulted in prompt rulings, but in other instances the desks of the law clerks are piled high with correspondence as yet unanswered. Chemists, advertising specialists and experts in various lines have been called in to furnish advice on technical points to assist the commissioner in determining just how far the law intended to go.

To decide whether a product is or is not taxable is the most important work. A wide variety of preparations are just about on the line, making it difficult for the officials to make rulings with justice to the manufacturer and the government. In some cases the law gives no general basis for determining the taxability of a product and the commissioner has to decide on its reasonableness. The opening paragraph in schedule B contains the language upon the interpretation of which depends the loss or saving of millions of dollars to manufacturers. It follows:

"Perfumery and cosmetics and other similar articles: For and upon every packet, box, bottle, pot, phial or other inclosure containing any essence, extract, toilet water, cosmetic, vaseline, petrolatum, hair oil, pomade, hair dressing, hair restorative, hair dye, tooth wash, dentifrice, tooth paste, aromatic cachous or any similar material or article, by whatsoever names the same heretofore have been, now are, or may hereafter be called, known or distinguished, used or applied as perfumes or applied as perfumes or as cosmetics and sold or removed for consumption and sale in the United States, where such packet, box, bottle, pot, phial or other inclosure, with its contents, shall not exceed at the retail price or value the sum of 5 cents, (shall be taxed) one eighth of 1 cent." The tax is graded according to the value of the article.

Many questions are presented, which must be answered with the greatest care to establish precedents which will prove tenable as later questions arise. In general it is the purpose to make decisions on the basis of use, luxuries being taxable and necessities exempt. For instance a talcum powder that is distinctly a cosmetic is taxable, while (Continued on page 3.)

$75,000 For Deed 28 Years Ago.

A bequest of $75,000 is the reward which has just been given to Henry A. Bolles a Montville, Conn., man, for saving a little girl from drowning in the Thames river twenty-eight years ago.

The girl, the daughter of a Mr. Trumbull of New York City, had fallen from her father's yacht. Bolles, who was a boatman at the time, said he remembered merely that her father asked him, "What is your name?" Bolles heard nothing further.

Mr. Trumbull died within the last two weeks and Mr. Bolles has just been informed of the bequest by the executors of the estate.

EXPERIENCE has demonstrated that the most effective and economical means of placing your name, your goods and your wants before the people of Emmitsburg and Emmitsburg District is through an advertisement in their home paper--THE WEEKLY CHRONICLE.

A 25-cent "Want" adv. inserted in the CHRONICLE brought a dozen inquiries by telephone on the date of its appearance, and numerous replies were subsequently received. The ad. way is the only way.

SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Zentz, Popular People, of near Thurmont, Celebrate Event.

On Thursday evening, Nov., 19th, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Zentz, of near Thurmont, celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. Over one hundred and fifty relatives and friends from Creagerstown, Emmitsburg, Mt. Union, Waynesboro, Gettysburg, Frederick, Taneytown, and Thurmont assembled to congratulate the couple and help make the occasion one long to be remembered.

Mr. and Mrs. Zentz needed the testimony of the presence of their oldest child, Mr. Estee Zentz, and the good memory of their oldest friends to establish the fact that not only had they been married for twenty-five years, but that in truth they were that old themselves.

Mrs. Zentz in a plum colored suit, surrounded by her three children, Mr. Estee and two daughters, Miss Dorothea and Miss Beatrice, and with her husband, was the center of a charming picture. The background of this scene was beautified with floral decorations, palms, laurel, white carnations and smilax. The effect of the tasteful decorations was further heightened by the lavish use of electric lights, both within and around the house.

The guests were received by Mr. Ross Deleplane and Mrs. Frank Ditzbaugh, the latter of Frederick. They were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Zentz and Miss Dorothea Zentz by Mr. Estee Zentz. A dinner of sandwiches, oysters, chicken salad, potato chips, pickles, celery, fruits, cakes, coffee and ice cream was served in the dining room by Mr. Cleveland Hoke, of Emmitsburg. The tables were presided over by Mrs. Daniel Flory, Mrs. C. Osler, Miss Grace Warner, Mrs. Ohler, Mrs. Deleplane and Mrs. Cleveland Hoke. The table was splendidly decorated with flowers and ribbons, the color scheme being silver and green. Mrs. Frank Ditzbaugh and Misses Caroline Troxell, of Frederick, and Virginia Duttera, of Taneytown, had charge of the decorations of the dining room as well as of the rest of the house. The music was furnished by Mrs. J. T. Hays, of this place.

Many beautiful and valuable gifts were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Zentz, and a handsome sum of money was another expression of the high regard of some of their friends.

Altogether this was one of the most pleasing occasions of recent times. The hospitality of the host and hostess, the cooperation of the ladies and the occasion itself altogether made it such.

The WEEKLY CHRONICLE joins with all the friends in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Zentz many more years of happiness.

The above is a reproduction of this year's Red Cross Stamp. Help the Tuberculosis campaign by using these stamps on all your Christmas parcels.

ALEXANDER HOLLAND DEAD

Born in Baltimore, Well Known in Emmitsburg Where He Had Relatives and Friends.

Through the Kansas City Star comes the announcement of the death, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. A. Ritter in Kansas City, of Alexander Holland at the age of 91. Death was due to chronic bronchitis. Mr. Holland was president of the Holland Shoe Company. He came to Kansas City from the East in 1870.

For years he conducted an auction business at Fifth and Main streets and later at Seventh and Main streets, he branched into a general merchandise business. Later he sold shoes exclusively.

Retiring from business four years ago, he still maintained his civic and social activities. He was a member of the Commercial Club, the City Club and the Kansas City Historical Society. He was a former president of the Old Men's Association, too.

Mr. Holland was the first traveling man in the South, and probably in the United States. In 1853 he was in the hardware business in Knoxville, Tenn. He decided to visit surrounding towns and villages with his catalogue. Trains were scarce and most of the traveling done by stage coach. Mr. Holland made that first trip, up into the backwoods towns of Tennessee, on horseback. He was the oldest member of the Kansas City Commercial Club, which he joined when it was founded more than a quarter of a century ago. Rarely did he miss any of its luncheons. The same is true of the City Club luncheons, which he attended up to last week.

When he was a small boy, Mr. Holland's father took him to the corner stone laying of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad at Baltimore, his birthplace. That was in 1828. The "corner stone," which was merely a squared stone to be put into the roadbed, was laid by Charles Carroll, the last surviving signer of the Declaration of Independence.

Mr. Holland was a member of the famous Old Men's Quartet, a subsidiary organization of the Old Men's Association. The quartet originally consisted of Mr. Holland, S. M. Philbrook, F. M. Furgason and Dr. S. B. S. Wilson. After Mr. Furgason's death the quartet sang as a trio. Its membership then was reduced to two by the death of Mr. Philbrook. Doctor Wilson is now the sole survivor.

Besides his daughter, Mrs. Ritter, two sons survive: Charles Holland, an insurance dealer of St. Joseph, and Frank Holland, secretary of the Holland Shoe Company. His son-in-law is Dr. C. A. Ritter.

Mr. Holland married Susanna Smith, daughter of the late Charles and Barbara M. Smith, of Emmitsburg. Although a long time resident in the West he never gave up his allegiance to Baltimore, the city of his birth, and Emmitsburg which he loved and where he had relatives and many friends.

LOUISA PATTERSON.

Mrs. Louisa Patterson, wife of the late Miller Patterson, died at her home in Freedom Township on Friday, November 20. She was aged 79 years, 10 months and 11 days. Before her marriage, Mrs. Patterson was Miss Louisa Wolford and was most highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends. Several weeks ago she contracted pneumonia which resulted in her death. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Albert Smith, of Freedom Township, Mrs. George Byers, of Waynesboro, two sons, Albert M. and G. Meade Patterson, of Emmitsburg, one sister, Mrs. Mary Hollenberry, of near Taneytown, one brother, Mr. Thomas Wolford, of Martinsburg, W. Va., and eight grandchildren.

Mrs. Patterson was a remarkable woman endowed with traits of disposition and character which endeared her to a host of friends. Her cheerfulness was unflinching. She bore the sunny disposition and enthusiasm of youth down into the final days of a brief sickness—close to four score years.

She was the charm of home and ever interested in the welfare of others. She lived a Christian and answered the call from above in the comfort of her Christian faith.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at 10 o'clock at the Patterson home, by her pastor Rev. Charles Reinwald, D. D., pastor of the Lutheran Church. Interment in Mountain View Cemetery.

HIS EXCELLENCY,

MARYLAND COMMITTEE
Chairman:
HON. THEODORE MAREBURG,

Treasurer:
MR. ROBERT GARRETT,

Secretary:
MR. V. C. LEFTWICH,
of Baltimore.

To the Farmers and all People outside of the large cities the need of immediate help to Belgian women, children and non-combatants is evident.

You are earnestly requested now as you approach your Thanksgiving Day to send this aid at once. Above all send food or money with which food may be bought.

We suggest that a practical help would be to give wheat, rye, flour, shelled corn, beans, bacon, canned goods or other eatables that would stand transportation.

The railroads and steamboat lines terminating at Baltimore and the harbor lighterage companies have risen in a splendid way to meet this duty of the hour; they will bring to this Committee free of charge any food or clothing properly packed.

To facilitate this movement the agent at your Station will receive the same and furnish you with additional tags properly addressed that will insure its safe delivery. We plan to have a ship known as the "Maryland Ship" leave Baltimore to take your gift direct to the suffering people and place it in the hands of the needy.

Won't YOU join and help this work? Please ship your gift in accordance with the following instructions and notify the undersigned and your name will be registered and your contribution gratefully acknowledged.

Pack it firmly, mark on the package its contents, attach a tag marked "For Vivian C. Leftwich, acting Belgian Consul, Baltimore, Md., war relief donation," and deliver to your nearest railroad or steamboat station agent, and sign a release for any damage or loss of your gift in transit on the receipt given for your shipment by the railroad or steamboat agent. The Canton Company has generously offered to store Belgian supplies free of cost after their arrival in Baltimore.

Donations of money can be sent to ROBERT GARRETT, Treasurer, Garrett Bldg., Baltimore, Md. who will acknowledge them promptly.

Sincerely,
DeCOURCY W. THOM,
Chairman Committee on Appeals.

MOUNT SAINT MARY'S COLLEGE

Terrace Talk

Approximately 75 students spent Thanksgiving at home.

Both basketball squads had vigorous practice on Wednesday.

The latest addition to the register is the name of a Baltimorean.

The Mountaineer came out on Thursday, November 18.

The Senior Class Room is now wearing the colors of the class of 1915—Maroon and Gold.

The parents of several members of the class of '15 are visitors at the Mount.

A new member has been added to the faculty for the modern language department.

The Minstrel Show under the auspices of the class of '15 will be given on December 8, 1914.

Mr. John M. Gallagher, '12, of Philadelphia, was among the week's visitors to the Mount.

"Snake" Leary of 1915 fame is again proving himself one of the pillars of this year's quintet.

Studies will be resumed tomorrow. Students who spent Thanksgiving at home will return this evening.

The Ex-Juniors met the Junior quint in a basketball contest recently. The final score was 33-11 in favor of the Ex-Juniors. This was one of the most enthusiastic games played up to this date, because of the following of the two teams.

The students who did not spend Thanksgiving vacation at home were well remembered by their parents, judging from the number of boys conveying parcel post packages from the office to their rooms.

Six of the members of the Senior Astronomy class made observations of the Heavens on Wednesday evening. The class has been divided into sections for this work, so that each member of the class may make personal observations.

The Juniors have organized a basketball league. The appropriateness of the names of their teams composing the league may be noticed by the following names of the most prominent quint—All Stars, Out Laws, Bachelors, Little Bits, Coal Crackers, Tigers, Moon-Shiners and Athletics.

HOW DOES WAR TAX APPLY?

another kind, made especially for infants, may be exempt.

How much to tax their goods is a question being asked by manufacturers. The law levies the tax according to the retail price of the package. The supreme court in recent decisions having decided that the manufacturer cannot fix the retail prices of his products, or what basis is the manufacturer to affix the stamp? A 15 cent can of talcum powder should carry a 1/2 of a cent stamp; can a cut rate dealer charge 10 cents for it and use a 1/2 of a cent stamp? This is a point not yet decided.

In stocks already packed for shipment before Dec. 1 pre-canceled stamps may be affixed to the outside container. Where goods have been previously ordered, packed and marked for shipment, they may be delivered unstamped provided the purchaser is furnished with proper stamps to attach to taxable articles when opened.

Cased goods removed to warehouses prior to Dec. 1 may be regarded as in the hands of wholesalers and should be stamped by retailers before being sold.

A number of rulings have been made also on schedule A, the section providing stamp taxes on documents, car seats, etc., and on other features of the law. Motion picture places have been notified that they are taxable as theaters. Railroad and parlor car companies have been notified to report before the 20th of each month, beginning the first of January, 1915, the number of parlor car seats and sleeping berths sold, and to pay a tax of 1 cent each. A special form of report has been provided.

Newspaper publishers have been notified to report by the 15th of each month the number of newspaper shipments, and to affix to this report, in lieu of to each bill of lading, stamps to the amount of 1 cent for each shipment.

Deeds executed prior to Dec. 1, one ruling reads, must be stamped, whether or not actual transfer of the property occurs prior to that date. The bond accompanying a mortgage is taxable. Insurance companies have been advised that policy renewals made prior to Dec. 1, though the new policy does not take effect until after that date, are not subject to tax.

Building and loan associations are notified that all instruments issued by them, except the stocks and bonds specifically exempt by the law, are taxable. Persons, firms and companies liable to special tax under the act are advised that they are required to make returns on special blanks provided by the collectors. They will be assessed on a special bankers' list, as in 1898, and will not use stamps.

Railroads are advised that stamps should be affixed to bills of lading before being delivered to the shipper and that freight should not be accepted until the stamp is affixed. Telegraph messages on company business over company lines are exempt from tax, but messages not on company business must be taxed.

Regulations have been issued for monthly reports by telephone and telegraph companies, paying a tax of 1 cent for each message the toll on which is 15 cents or more. Leased wire business is exempt.

Western Business Good.

The business outlook is so good in Ohio that bankers are waging that the money market will be back to normal before February. Rollin H. Scribner, president of the Second National Bank, of Toledo, bet with a bond dealer that business by that time will have gained what it lost when the war broke out in Europe.

Banks in the Toledo Federal district have retired about $1,500,000 of the $8,000,000. Federal reserve currency issued several months ago, when the war scare hit the United States. The only reason more has not been retired is that farmers throughout Northwestern Ohio are making a heavy demand for funds to move their crops, said Scribner.

You can take chew after chew of PICNIC and get all the uplift without that after effect of heavy, dark tobacco.

Lewis Will Press Bill Taking Over Lines of the Country.

Representative David J. Lewis, of Maryland, has decided to make a hard fight during the short session of Congress for the passage of his bill providing for the Government to take over the telephones. He will likely have the moral support of Postmaster-General Bursleson, who it is understood, will again recommend such action by Congress in his coming annual report.

Mr. Lewis will employ the same parliamentary tactics he successfully used in the parcel post legislation. He will make a series of speeches explaining in detail the proposed plans for taking over the telephone system, and when he thinks Congress is informed on the problem he will make an effort to tack the bill on the Postoffice Appropriation bill as a "rider." This was the way he finally secured the passage of the Parcel Post act.

The Maryland Congressman and men who are co-operating with him on the telephone legislation believe the time is ripe for making the fight in Congress. They anticipate that a favorable report on the measure can be secured from the House Committee on Postoffices and Post Roads. If this is done no serious trouble is expected in getting the House to tack the bill on the Postoffice Appropriations bill when it passes the lower branch.

Maryland Will Send Europe Wheat.

The United States has approximately 300,000,000 bushels of wheat on hand this year for export and practically all of it will probably be sold to the warring countries of Europe. According to a report issued by the United States department of Agriculture the wheat production of the United States this year will be around 892,000,000 bushels and only 601,000,000 bushels will be needed for food consumption and seed purposes at home.

The per capita wheat consumption of Maryland for food is 5.0 bushels and the total annual requirement for seed and food purposes in this state is 9,455,000 bushels, leaving a surplus of production this year of approximately 3,703,000 bushels.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Union, and especially in the production of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scotch-Irish descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a valley of rolling lands lying between the Lingano Hills and the Catocin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river, and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and productive areas of the Union. The great crops are wheat and corn.—Maryland Manual issued by Board of Public Works.

EMMITSBURG.

In all Western Maryland—the beauty spot and the garden spot of the State—there is no town more attractive than Emmitsburg.

No people are more wide-awake, more knowable, more courteous to strangers than Emmitsburgians.

The location of Emmitsburg is ideal; the surrounding scenery is unmatched; the climate is notably healthful; its water—pure mountain spring water—cannot be surpassed. It is within easy access of Baltimore, Hagerstown, Frederick; eight miles from the National Battlefield at Gettysburg, near to the Mountain Resorts, and is surrounded by fertile farms and productive orchards.

Mount Saint Mary's College and Ecclesiastical Seminary—with an enviable reputation extending over 106 years—is located here; St. Joseph's College and Academy for young ladies—equally as noted during its 105 years of splendid achievement—is also here.

There are excellent Schools—Public and Parochial—in Emmitsburg; two sound Banks, five Churches, a live Newspaper, modern Hotel accommodations, adequate Fire Department, progressive merchants, splendid physicians, good liverys, auto garages, many fraternal organizations, good railroad accommodations. There are four or five mails a day, telegraph, express and telephone service connecting all points; electric light and power, oiled streets.

There is business to be had in Emmitsburg; there are Factory Sites available. If you contemplate changing your place of residence—come to Emmitsburg, Frederick County, Md.

WHAT ARE EMMITSBURG'S GREATEST NEEDS.

It is to be taken for granted that the people who live and who are in business in Emmitsburg are here because they like and believe in the town. Presumably they would live somewhere else if they did not like it.

It is quite reasonable to suppose, however, that these same people—being quite like people living in other places—believe in improvement, advancement.

Being normal, thinking, reasoning folks it is more than probable that many individually, and some collectively, have made a mental note of the town's limitations and have thought out plans by the adoption of which the town may be improved in various ways.

Suggestions, if serious, and made in good faith and based upon opinions arrived at after due consideration—are always helpful, and one good, practical idea followed up by cooperation is a step forward.

The first thing of importance then is the Idea. And in order to obtain an expression of opinion from the people of the town THE CHRONICLE prints in another column a coupon for that purpose.

Think the matter over, fill out the coupon, sign it and send it to this office. Your suggestion will be published but your name will be withheld, will not be published.

If you have at heart your own interest and the interest of the community in which you live year in and year out, you will take advantage of this opportunity.

BECAUSE HE IS A JEW?

Is it because he is a Jew that Atlanta wants to murder Leo Frank? There was a Dreyfus in France, a Beilis in Russia; both Jews. They were hounded, degraded and persecuted. One was banished in ignominy, the other was scourged, confined and sentenced to death. The tide of fanaticism receded from the shore of reason and the evidence against these unfortunates was reconsidered. They were proven innocent. Justice, tardy though it was, was done.

What about Frank? Is it possible that he, because he is a Jew, will forfeit his life solely on the flimsy testimony of a drunken, degenerate negro? It were better, for the reputation for fair play so much dwelt upon and boasted of by our people if the Frank case were re-opened, re-tried.

All who followed the trial must have formed an opinion. All who read the first-hand story of the case in the Baltimore Sun must have reached the conclusion that there is at least a decided element of doubt as to Leo Frank's guilt. Where there is doubt there can be no justice; where bias rules no jury can render a fair verdict.

The governor of Georgia now has an opportunity to show what fibre he is made of. The whole country is watching with keenest interest and with sympathy for Frank the final outcome of this case.

Fair-play and simple justice demand reconsideration of the evidence.

BLOOD MONEY.

The coroner system of New York City, by which a coroner's physician can with immunity ply his nefarious trade of graft, is now being investigated. For years hold-ups and extractions, of "blood money" have been going on in "little old New York," by the wholesale, and if some cases were brought to light it would be shown that coroners, their physicians and not a few undertakers have shared the plunder.

We have in mind one particular case in which $400 was demanded for the coroner's signature and $100 finally accepted as a compromise, the money paid being equally divided. The system is rotten to the core and needs thorough revision.

SENATOR LODGE condemns the Mexican policy of the President and at this time very undiplomatically, to say the least, criticizes Mr. Wilson's handling of the Turkish incident. Colonel Roosevelt—his finger ever on the hair trigger of controversy joins issues with Mr. Lodge in his Mexican views. Former President Taft, with his accustomed poise and far vision, upholds the present occupant of the White House and calls upon the people to be temperate in their judgment. As an ally we take it that Mr. Taft is the more valuable. He has poise, self-restraint and sound judgment. Sober minded folk trust this kind of a man rather than those of the volatile, bombastic and pugnacious sort. And it is well that they do.

"THERE is always room in a country as large as ours, and with such various conditions as exist in its different portions, for the pessimist to find some hook on which he can hang his mournful prophecies," says Secretary Redfield. If you have any mournful prophecies for heaven's sake do the hanging and then pray for some optimism to "get the hook." There are all kinds of opportunities springing up, but there are so many people wearing blue glasses that they can't see them.

THE earnestness with which society girls and debutantes in most of the cities have taken up work for the non-combatants and others made destitute by the war deserves hearty commendation. Apart from the actual relief brought about by this worthy movement there is a wholesome lesson being self taught—consideration, sympathy, charity. Charity in itself is commendable, but charity and helpfulness that is the result of real thoughtfulness and self-denial is everything.

It is one thing to be an idealist—another thing to be an idealist "with a will and a vision." Many will agree with the head of the University of Virginia that the latter qualification fits the character of President Wilson. His course has proved it.

THEY may say what they please about Mayor Preston, he has been "on the job" all the time. He has put Baltimore on the map, and if the people of Baltimore want to keep their city on the map they will keep Preston in office.

"ABOUT all that's left of the Progressive Party," says the Detroit Free Press, "is a memory." The memory of a party that progressed backwards.

If Rustem Bey were here we would know all about this Turkish situation. Even if Oyster Bay were on the job it would help some.

Where Beans Are Valuable.

Great interest is shown by the natives of Manchuria in the crops of the common soy, or soy bean. Mr. Clarence Poe, the author of "Where Half the World is Waking Up," says: "Bankers, merchants, farmers, even the ladies one meets in drawing rooms in the foreign concessions, not only 'know beans,' but can talk beans too. If the present rate of progress is maintained it will not be long until no one will enumerate the world's great crops—wheat, corn, rice, cotton, etc.—without including beans. In a very great measure the beans have the same properties as cotton seed, for an oil is extracted that is used for much the same purposes as cottonseed oil, and the residue, called 'bean cake,' is about the equivalent of cottonseed meal. My first acquaintance with the bean cake was in Japan, where I found it enriching the earth for vegetable growing. Japan imports an average of half a million tons a year to put under its crops. Manchuria also uses not a little for the same purpose."

Colors and Moods.

People to whom certain colors represent sounds or emotions have long been laughed at, but scientific work on the sun's rays is proving them to have justification for their theories. Red, it appears, is the most exciting and stimulating of all colors and has a special effect on the activity of the brain. Blue, which so many people in an age of great nervous strain and tension find soothing, is so in reality. Unless you are in a depressed and melancholy state sea blue curtains at your bedroom windows have a beneficial effect, especially if you face south and get the morning sun. Color indeed, especially in flowers, has an extraordinary effect on the mental condition. The sight of crimson, pink and amethyst rhododendrons growing in the open air has a curiously uplifting and joyous effect.—New York Sun.

A Day Will Come.

A day will come when the only battlefield will be the market open to commerce and the mind opening to new ideas. A day will come when bullets and bombshells will be replaced by votes, by the universal suffrage of nations, by the venerable arbitration of a great sovereign senate, which will be to Europe what the parliament is to England, what the diet is to Germany, what the legislative assembly is to France. A day will come when a cannon will be exhibited in public museums, just as an instrument of torture is now, and people will be astonished how such a thing could have been. A day will come when these two immense groups, the United States of America and the United States of Europe, shall be seen placed in presence of each other, extending the hand of fellowship across the ocean.—Victor Hugo

A Costly Dramatic Lesson.

Probably the most prominent manager in the United States was rehearsing an actor in one of his companies at the New Amsterdam theater. The particular line which the actor was trying to speak to the satisfaction of the manager was the familiar, "I love you!" But, although he spoke it fervently again and again, the manager was not pleased. "No, no, no," said he. "That's not right. Now say it the way I say it," and the manager, suiting the action to the word in a voice almost tremulous with sentiment, repeated, "I love you!" "Say it like that," he said. "It cost me $1,000,000 to learn to say it like that, while I'm actually paying you $200 a week to say it. I hope you can appreciate the difference"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

"A Splendid Charge."

There will be the full complement of backs broken in two, of arms twisted wholly off, of men impaled upon their bayonets, of legs smashed up like bits of firewood, of heads sliced open like apples, of other heads crunched into soft jelly by the iron hoofs of horses, of faces trampled out of all likeness to anything human. This is what skulks behind "a splendid charge."—Charles Dickens.

Balked.

"I saw her one time when she couldn't talk." "How was that?" "The dentist had a napkin in her mouth; also a wad of putty, a mirror, a roll of cotton and an electric drill. She couldn't talk, but she tried to."—London Telegraph.

The Brandywine River.

The Brandywine river was first named the Fishkill. Bunce says that the stream was renamed by the Dutch to commemorate the loss at its mouth of a vessel loaded with brandy. Another authority says the name was given on account of a famous distillery on its banks.—Exchange.

The Sole Factor.

"That fellow is hopeless. There is one person, and only one, who will ever have an uplifting influence on him." "Who is that?" "The elevator boy."—Baltimore American.

Very Kind.

"There goes a kind man. The last time I went to him I didn't have a cent, and he gave me all he could." "What was that?" "Thirty days."—Exchange.

It requires greater virtues to bear good fortune than bad.—Le Rochefoucauld

Dogs For Draft Work.

The use of dogs for draft work was prohibited in London in 1839, but remained legal in the provinces for another fifteen years. Sir Walter Gilbey, in his "Recollections of Seventy Years," notes as a feature of his boyhood at Bishop Stortford the numbers of dog carriages and carts on the Essex lanes and highroads. "All sorts and conditions of men used dog carriages, from small tradesmen to poorer people who could not afford a pony. Dog draft was abolished because certain people agitated against it as cruel, but I think that general" the dogs were neither ill treated nor overworked. There are probably many people living who can remember when the tugging propensity of the dog was utilized in England. Workingmen had their 'dogcarts,' in which they made Sunday and holiday excursions. The dogs employed were, as a rule, heavy half bred bull mastiffs with a touch of the lurcher in them. They thought nothing of drawing their masters fifty or sixty miles in a day."—London Sphere.

Do You Suffer From Tired Eyes?

If you suffer from tired eyes—and who does not at times?—you may be glad to try a French author's accidentally discovered remedy. It is a simple method of restoring the vision to freshness. One night when engaged in writing an article his eyes gave out before he could finish and he was compelled to stop. So, turning from his unfinished manuscript, his eyes fell upon some scraps of colored silk that his wife had been using for patchwork. These gay colors had a peculiar attraction for wearied optics. On resuming his work after gazing at them for several minutes he found them quite fresh. After several experiments he surrounded his inkstand with brilliantly colored striped silk material that his eyes must rest on every time he dips his pen into the ink. This brings instant relief.

How Perfectly French!

There is a prefect in the south of France who has a mania for his wife's hands, which are particularly beautiful. So that he may always have the object of his adoration under his eyes a model in bronze of one of the hands has been made and the prefect keeps it on his desk at his office.

An official in this prefect's district, anxious to secure his influence for political preferment, has devised a delightful way of paying him a delicate compliment. Every time he enters the great man's office he walks silently to his desk, takes up the bronze hand and kisses it respectfully.

The prefect is so much impressed by this act of gallantry that the tactful young man has already secured lucrative promotion.—London Mirror.

Rice Throwing at Weddings.

The origin of rice throwing at weddings is accounted for by a quaint Chinese legend. A great sorcerer, Chao, became jealous of another sorcerer, a woman, Peach Blossom, and thereby conceived a plan to destroy her. He persuaded her parent to give her in marriage to his supposed son and craftily chose the most unlucky day for the wedding—the day when the "golden pheasant" was in the ascendant—so that when the bride entered the red chair the spirit bird would kill her with its beak. Peach Blossom, however, prudently gave directions for rice to be scattered at the door, and thus she passed out unscathed, while the spirit bird was busy eating the meal she had provided for it.

To Set a Razor.

When a razor begins to "pull" and drag the hair instead of cutting it there is no need to send it to the barber to be set. There is a perfectly simple method by which any one can put it in trim. All that is necessary is to turn an ordinary sharp table knife edge upward and lay the razor flat on the edge of the knife. Then draw the razor along downward, pressing lightly all the while from heel to toe, as in stropping, turning and repeating the operation half a dozen times. If the razor is then stropped the keenness of its edge will be surprising.—Pearson's Weekly.

Gigantic Gas Tank.

The largest of the many huge gas holders in existence is one completed in 1910 for the Newtown Gas company, borough of Queens, New York city. The holder is 251 feet in diameter and 275 feet high. Such is the height of this vast cylinder that it is a familiar landmark for many miles around New York city.

Youthful Paradox.

Dorothy and her papa had only a short distance to go, and the latter said:

"Dorothy, shall we walk or take the bus?"

"Well, papa," replied the little girl, "I'll walk if you'll carry me."—London Standard.

Imperfect.

She—You love me like a novice. He—Do I? Then we are both imperfect. I should know more and you shouldn't know so much.—Boston Transcript.

Women Porters.

Women porters carry the luggage of tourists on the island of Capri. The men are occupied as fishers, coachmen and coral sellers.

American Restaurants.

What concerns the European in the great American restaurant is the excessive, the occasional maddening slowness of the service and the lack of interest in the service. Touching the latter defect, the waiter is not impolite; he is not neglectful. But he is too often passively hostile, or at best neutral. He, or his chief, has apparently not grasped the fact that buying a meal is not like buying a ton of coal. If the purchaser is to get value for his money he must enjoy his meal, and if he is to enjoy his meal it must not merely be efficiently served, but it must be efficiently served in a sympathetic atmosphere. The supreme business of a good waiter is to create this atmosphere. True, that even in the country which has carried cookery and restaurants to loftier heights than any other—I mean, of course, Belgium, the little country of little restaurants—the subtle ether which the truly civilized diner demands is rare enough. But in the great restaurants of the great cities of America it is, I fancy, rarer than anywhere else.—Arnold Bennett in Harper's Magazine.

His Unlucky Day.

Even the least superstitious are often struck by the misfortunes which attend some persons on certain dates. A large firm in the city has in its employ a living instance of the fact. On June 12 an employee lost his left arm by coming in contact with machinery. The accident disabled him for his then employment, and he was given that of a messenger. On another June 12 he was run over in the Strand while on an errand. Result, a broken leg. The next accident was a fall on the stairs in the firm's buildings—again June 12—the right arm broken this time. The fourth mishap on another anniversary broke three ribs. The firm took the case into consideration and issued an order that in future the employee was to take a holiday on that date, an order with which he has now complied for several years.—London Tit-Bits.

Helping the Poet.

Longfellow, the great poet, was noted for his fondness for children, and this extended to all little folks, whether of his family or not. There was one little boy of whom he was very fond and who came often to see him. One day the child looked earnestly at the long row of books in the library and at length asked, "Have you 'Jack the Giant Killer'?" Longfellow was obliged to confess that his great library did not contain that venerated volume. The little fellow looked very sorry and presently slipped down from the poet's knee and went away. But the next morning Longfellow saw him coming up the walk with something tightly clasped in his little fists. The child had brought 2 cents with which Longfellow was to buy a "Jack the Giant Killer" of his own.

Napoleon and Tobacco.

Napoleon, who tried to smoke once and then with dire results, instituted the French tobacco monopoly, which the German government now proposes to adopt so far as cigarettes are concerned. At a court function held early in 1810 the emperor remarked a lady wearing jewels of such magnificence that he inquired how her husband made his money. "He is a tobacco merchant," was the reply, which led him to seek further information as to such a profitable business. Before the year expired Napoleon issued a decree restricting the sale and manufacture of tobacco exclusively to the state. It has remained a monopoly ever since and for many years past has brought in an annual revenue of over $80,000,000.

The Fish in Crater Lake.

Originally there were no fish in Crater lake, one of nature's wonders on the summit of the Cascade range in southern Oregon. Rainbow trout were planted, and now they swarm the waters, ranging up to ten pounds in weight. The lake itself has an area of twenty and one-fourth square miles (water surface), which is situated in the caldera of an extinct volcano. It is surrounded by unbroken cliffs, which range from 500 to nearly 2,000 feet in height.—Argonaut.

Unpleasant to Have Around.

"Are you still engaged to Mr. Briggs?" "No, I broke it off last week. I was afraid to marry him. He knows too much. I gave him some ribbon to match. He found it in the first store he went to, and he bought it for 2 cents below the regular price."

Philosophical.

"Dear Charles," said Mrs. Flimgilt, "used to send me alimony every month without a murmur." "Yes," replied Miss Cayenne; "he says it's a great comfort to turn over a bunch of money to you without an argument because it isn't more."—Washington Star.

Russia's Baltic Ports.

Four out of the five great ports of Russia—Petrograd (formerly St. Petersburg), Reval, Libau and Riga—are situated on the Baltic sea. Of these only Libau is an open port all the year round, the others being ice bound for from four to five months each year.

Clever Cows.

"Much butter is imported from Denmark," wrote a schoolgirl, "because Danish cows have greater enterprise and superior technical education to ours."—London Standard.

Accuse not nature; she hath done her part; do thou but thine.—John Milton.

IN THE STATE

Chestertown—Rebecca Whaland, 4 years old, daughter of Mrs. Frank Hadaway was burned to death last Friday at her home in Cliff City, this county. The mother had left the child and a younger half-sister alone in the house for a few minutes while she went next door to her mother's house. When she returned the child's clothing was burned from her body. It is supposed the girl got too close to the dining-room stove.

Cumberland—After months of uncertainty, due to the financial depression following the European war, the $150,000 issue of Cumberland city paving bonds authorized at a special election was sold on Friday to Alexander Brown & Sons, bankers, of Baltimore. It was a 12-point flat-horn buck which weighed dressed 200 pounds. Spangler wounded the buck, which kept on running until brought down by a shot at 80 yards by Sease. H. E. Smith, of Good's Siding, while on a hunting trip, shot a 140-pound seven-prong buck at the Narrows, above Mount Alto. W. Earl McCardell, proprietor of the City Hotel, Hagerstown, and party have returned from a hunting trip in West Virginia with 11 partridges, 1 possum and many rabbits. Mr. Charles Eck, of Williamsport, Pa., a third year seminarian at Mount St. Mary's College, sustained a badly fractured leg on Sunday by being struck by an automobile as he was about to get over a fence to the College athletic field on the State road near Emmitsburg. A Ford runabout belonging to Mr. Meade Patterson, which was being driven by Howard Johnston, colored, was struck by a passing Overland touring car, driven by Mr. Ledlie Gloninger. The smaller car swerved to the side of the road and crashed into the fence striking the seminarian. The injured man was removed to a hospital in Baltimore where his leg was set and where he is now recovering.

ALLEGED HORSE THIEF CAUGHT

Deputy Sheriff Adelsberger Gets Man Near Slabtown.—Committed to Jail.

On Thursday deputy Sheriff Adelsberger, in response to a telephone from Deerfield, started out in pursuit of a man from York, who gave his name as Vernon A. Fogle, who, it was alleged, stole two horses. Several sheriffs and three other men were in pursuit, and it fell to the lot of Ross Smith of Hauvers district to locate him. Fogle had turned both horses loose and was making for a hiding place which was a secluded spot near Slabtown. The alleged theft of the sorrel horse which was taken from Thomas Saylor, of Walkersville, was on Tuesday night and on Wednesday night Fogle is charged with having taking a black horse belonging to Charles Garber, of York Road.

Accompanying deputy Sheriff Adelsberger in the hunt were Constable Victor E. Rowe and Harry Sprengle, of Emmitsburg, in whose custody the prisoner was brought to Emmitsburg.

A hearing was held before Magistrate M. F. Shuff on Thursday afternoon and in default of $500 bail he was committed to jail at Frederick.

THE WEEK AT THE COUNTY SEAT
Chronicle of Happenings at Frederick City and in the Courts.

A yield of more than 714 barrels of corn from a field of 42 acres was gathered on the farm of Edward Hobbs, near Liberty, tenanted by Millard Eyer. The yield averaged slightly over 17 barrels an acre.

Statements of election expenses filed by the Republican and Democratic county treasurers show that the former spent $1,001.41 and the latter $1,546.36 in this county.

Fire entailing a loss of about $5,000 destroyed the large bank barn on the farm of Lewis Putnam, near this city Tuesday morning. In addition to the barn, a large straw stack and fodder rick were burned. Consumed with the barn were more than 100 bushels of wheat, 25 tons of hay and two calves. The fire is supposed to have started from an engine which was threshing near the barn at the time.

In responding to the fire, the large motor driven engine of the Junior Fire Company ran into the rear of the store of F. V. Staub. The front of the engine crashed through the 12 inch brick wall and knocked over a lot of whiskey barrels kept in the building. The driver of the engine was not hurt nor the engine badly damaged.

Eugene A. Grove won a silver cup for the best display of barred rocks at the poultry show at Berryville, Va., last week. Out of an exhibition of seventeen Barred Plymouth Rocks, Mr. Grove took fifteen ribbons, three bronze medals and a silver cup.

Frederick county's batch of caveats to wills will be cleared away during the December term of Court, when it is thought the troubles of the heirs of Catherine E. Bentz, and Samuel L. Slagle, seeking to break the will of Eli Slagle, will be aired in Court. In the last year seven attempts have been made to break the testament of Frederick county people. The usual grounds on which the caveators based their petitions were "testamentary incapacity."

During the September term of Court two such cases were disposed of. The will of Ann R. Johnson was sustained and the jury failed to agree in the Groshon case.

The wills of Christian Smith and J. W. Lawson were sustained. Etta E. Houck has dismissed her caveat to the will of Theodore E. Bussing, after it had been moved from the Orphan's Court to the Circuit Court of the county.

The Court Square and West Second street paving job will be completed this fall. The Maryland Amiesite and Stone Company will bear the expense of heating the material because of the cold weather.

At a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen, Saturday night, the disposal of this paving question was left entirely to City Attorney Edward J. Smith and Alderman Lloyd C. Culler. The attorney and Alderman Culler have decided to permit the work to be completed this winter.

Edward Thomas, of Bartholows, has been awarded first prize in the Boys' Pen-Mar Under New Management.

It is rumored that Pen-Mar park will be under new management next season. William Libby who heretofore had charge of the amusement concessions will continue in that capacity and will in addition control the Pen-Mar hotel and the souvenir and lunch stands at the park. It is said that Jascn E. Crant, who has operated the hotel and other stands since the death of his father John Crant, has signified his intention of not continuing the business next season.

Another rumor that has gained circulation is to the effect that Mr. John Gibbons, proprietors of the Blue Mountain House at the time of its destruction, will succeed Mr. Crant as proprietor of the Pen-Mar hotel.

Chicken Pox Closes School. Because of chicken-pox the Mount Pleasant school has been closed. It is reported that there are about fifty or sixty cases of the disease in that section of the county. County Health Officer Dr. Ralph Browning says the outbreak is not dangerous.

Gettysburg:

Far superior to last year's display was this year's exhibit of the Boys' and Girls' Leagues of the County held at Gettysburg last Tuesday. The finest kind of yellow corn, huge potatoes, pop corn and other farm and garden products, the result of months of care and toil, were shown by the young people of the county.

The Adams County Millersville Club held their second annual banquet on Tuesday evening last at the Eagle Hotel. About twenty-five were present and an excellent supper was served. It was decided to make the banquet a regular feature of Institute week.

At the monthly meeting of the Parent Teachers' Association Friday evening these officers were elected for the coming year, president, Mrs. E. A. Weaver; vice president, Mrs. H. Milton Roth; corresponding secretary, Miss Blanche Stoops; financial secretary, Mrs. J. Harry Holtzworth; treasurer, J. Elmer Musselman.

General H. S. Hindekoper, chairman of the Pennsylvania Gettysburg Monuments Commission, was in Gettysburg recently in connection with arrangements for the erection of the three new statues to Generals Humphreys, Hays and Geary. During his stay he discussed the probability of the monuments being dedicated next Spring. He said, "we expect two of the statues to be here in December and the other in March. It is possible that they may all be dedicated on April 9, 1915. This is Appomattox Day and the fiftieth anniversary of Lee's surrender. It is likely that Grand Army posts all over the country will have some special service on that day and the dedication at that time would seem to be a fitting arrangement."

The unveiling of the Lincoln and Burns tablets in the Presbyterian Church on Thursday evening was a unique event. The tablets were the gifts of E. B. Cope and J. W. Johnston, of Rochester, N. Y.

CERTIFICATE OF QUALITY.
This is to certify that I have had charge of all the Seed Potatoes grown for J. Bolgiano & Son, during this growing season. I have been with them since April 15th; looked after the selecting of their seed and the treating of the same, have also had charge of the spraying during the growing season. There was nothing planted but the very best selected seed, and nothing has been left undone to have them right. The crop is now being harvested, and the results of my work are most satisfactory. We are harvesting one of the largest crops ever grown in Annapolis County, Maine, and of the finest quality, free from any disease and true to name. I spent some time in Washington, D. C., with the Horticultural Board before coming here and their ideas of producing FIRST CLASS SEED have been carried out to the letter for J. Bolgiano & Son.

THE COUNTRY'S WAR AGAINST THE FOOT-AND-MOUTH DISEASE

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Fourteen states have been quarantined by the United States government for foot-and-mouth disease—Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa and Kentucky. This disease is new to farmers of the United States, for there have been only five outbreaks in the history of the country and of these the first three were unimportant and the two others confined to a comparatively limited area. In Europe, however, it has long been a well known and dread scourge. Should it ever be permitted to establish itself as firmly here it would cause not only tremendous losses to stock but seriously interfere with the supply of meat for the people.

The foot-and-mouth disease affects particularly cattle, swine and sheep. It is characterized by sores in the mouth which make swallowing painful and frequently cause the animals to refuse all food, and by sores on the feet which cause lameness and in severe cases, occasionally result in the hoofs dropping off. The animals lose flesh with extraordinary rapidity and in the case of milk cows the milk supply is so seriously affected that it frequently dries up altogether. The first evidences of the disease are a chill followed quickly by fever, the temperature sometimes rising as high as 106 degrees Fahrenheit. Small vesicles or blisters about the size of a pea appear shortly after in the mouth and spread rapidly. As the disease advances rosy saliva hangs from the afflicted animal's mouth, which is opened and shut with a peculiar smacking sound. In a short time similar eruptions appear on the feet, which are red, tender, swollen and painful. In consequence the animal persists in lying down and bedsores soon develop. The udders of milk cows are also susceptible and the sores interfere with milking.

Most Contagious of Stock Plagues.

Although the mortality is, except in very severe outbreaks, comparatively low, foot-and-mouth disease is probably the most contagious of all stock plagues. The germ which causes it is so small that it is invisible under the microscope and passes through the finest filter known to science. It can be carried in any one of a hundred ways. In addition to direct contact with affected animals, the disease can be communicated by hay, straw, bedding, harness, ropes, in fact, anything that has even indirectly come in contact with diseased animals. Cats, dogs, and poultry have been known to carry the germ from farm to farm, and in particular this is frequently done by human beings. Already in the present outbreak cases are on record where the curiosity of farmers has led them to visit infected herds. On their return to their own homes these men have given the disease to their own animals. For this reason the authorities are urging upon every one the duty of refraining from such visits and of keeping strangers from visiting their stock.

The contagiousness of the disease is such that when one animal in a herd becomes infected it is considered useless to attempt to save the remainder of the herd. For this reason the federal authorities have adopted the only practical method of stamping out the disease, namely, the slaughter of all cattle, sheep and swine on an infected farm. When a case is discovered a deep trench is dug, the animals led into it, slaughtered, their hides slashed, and the carcasses treated with quicklime and then buried under at least five feet of earth. It is advisable to slaughter the animals in the ditch itself in order that the ground may not become affected by dragging the dead bodies over it. The hides are slashed partly in order to facilitate the action of

Didn't Believe in Tatting.

Marjorie, aged four, was in the library with her father, while her mother was superintending the preparation of dinner. The attention of the head of the house was attracted by a scratching sound, and he looked up to find his daughter at work with a pair of scissors on the top of a polished table. "Marjorie," he said, sternly, "go tell your mother what you've been doing." "I won't do it, papa," she said. "Do you think I'm a tattletale?"—Judge.

the lime and partly to remove any temptation to dig them up again and sell them. The entire farm premises are the thoroughly disinfected and no stock allowed upon them for a period of approximately sixty days.

Appraiser Values the Herd.

In order to compensate the owner of his property thus condemned in the interest of the public welfare, an appraiser is appointed by the state authorities to value the herd. The sum thus fixed is divided equally between the state and the federal authorities. In the last outbreak in 1908 in New England it cost the federal government, which was then paying two-thirds of the appraised values, approximately $300,000 for condemnation, slaughter and disinfection. The present outbreak is regarded as much more serious.

The inspectors engaged in this work are equipped with a complete rubber outfit which can be thoroughly disinfected after each exposure to infection. Persons who have not the advantage of this equipment should rigorously refrain from exposing themselves to the least risk of infection. As has already been said, the disease is frequently transmitted by human beings, and it is really a crime for any one to gratify his curiosity at the expense of his neighbors. In addition to this danger there are also a number of cases on record in which both children and adults have become infected themselves. Ordinarily the disease is not serious in men, but weakly children who drink contaminated milk suffer so severely that in a few cases death has been known to result. With adults the malady usually takes no more serious form than a slight eruption in the mouth similar to fever blisters and possibly a similar eruption on the hands and fingers. There may be also some fever and nausea, but there is comparatively little danger. In countries where the disease is prevalent many authorities believe that it is fairly general in human beings but that the consequent disturbances in health are so slight that they are not brought to the attention of physicians.

Started in Michigan.

The present outbreak originated in southern Michigan but how the germ found its way there is not yet definitely known. It seems probable that some cattle became infected, that their milk was sent to a creamery and the skim milk then returned to be fed to hogs. A herd of these infected hogs was then shipped to Chicago where they infected the stockyards before they themselves revealed any symptoms of the disease. Once this had taken place, every shipment of stock from Chicago to other parts of the country was likely to spread the infection. For this reason federal inspectors have for some time now been engaged in tracing, by the aid of bills of lading and other railroad records, each of these shipments to its destination and inspecting the stock there. This accounts for the discovery of cases in states as far removed from each other as Iowa and Massachusetts. The various quarantines already imposed have been designed to prevent the continued movement of cattle from infected or suspicious places. Once these movements have been halted and all the exposed cattle brought to a standstill, it will be possible for the federal authorities to locate all suspicious cases and by the slaughter of all exposed

The Oldest Handicraft.

The toy industry is one of the oldest industries in the world. The British museum can show us a doll (with strings of mud beads for hair) and others with movable arms, with which the children of ancient Egypt played on the banks of the Nile. Jointed dolls and dolls' furniture have come down to us from the days of Greece and Rome, and we know that balls, tops and toy animals were favorite playthings at an even earlier date.

cattle ultimately eradicate the disease. The federal quarantines are accompanied by state and local quarantines of individual infected farms. From these no produce whatsoever can be sent out. In many cases children are not even permitted to go to school, and the farmer cannot drive his horses on the public highways.

Stock Raisers Should Help.

The chief obstacle in the way of the successful prosecution of this campaign of isolation and extermination lies in the danger that there may be concealed sources of infection. Although the farmer receives the appraised value of his herd, it is inevitable that the summary slaughter of all his stock should cause him considerable inconvenience as well as indirect financial loss. To those who can see no further ahead than this and who do not realize what it would mean to the entire country if the disease were once to gain a firm foothold here, there is a natural temptation not to report suspicious cases to the authorities. This, however, is simply to cut off one's nose to spite one's face. The disease cannot be stamped out by ignoring it. The only possible way in which stock raisers can save themselves tremendous losses in the future is to co-operate now with the authorities by reporting every suspicious case of sore mouth or lameness among their stock and by assisting in enforcing the quarantines, both federal and local, which have been declared.

EXCELLENT POINTS CONCERNING SWINE

Alfalfa Recognized as of Greatest Value in Hog Feeding—Care for Sows.

(By C. S. MILLER.)

If you intend to plow your blue grass and clover pastures next spring, let the pigs have free range over them until the snow falls.

No other feed for small pigs ranks as high in value as skim milk. If you do not have plenty of it on your own farm, better arrange to get some from a neighbor, even if it takes trouble to do it.

In the West alfalfa is now recognized as of the greatest value in hog feeding. Give a brood sow plenty of cut alfalfa with a small ration of corn, say not more than two pounds per day, and she will come through the winter in fine condition.

A slop made of shorts and hot water, fed every other day, is an excellent thing for brood sows.

A good many men will tear themselves from close proximity to a hot stove, dash out into the storm, shovel a few bushels of corn on the ground for their hogs, and then leave them to shiver and freeze without adequate shelter during the night. These men are the fellows who are always sure there is no money in hog raising.

Since Doctor Moore's discovery of the hitherto unknown qualities of copperas, it has been used with great success to preserve the health of hogs. A very small portion, say a teaspoonful in a barrel of drinking water once or twice a week, is recommended.

FIND PLEASURE IN POULTRY.

Woman May Find as Much Enjoyment With Flock of Birds as She Does on Shopping Expedition.

The woman who finds herself possessed for the first time of a flock of poultry will soon learn that she may spend an afternoon working with her birds and be just as much amused as if she spent her time shopping, nor will she be nearly so tired as if she had been walking around on hard sidewalks.

Instead of being out of pocket—for most every woman will buy things that she does not need if she chances to see them—she will find that she has added to the possibilities for gain.

To be out in the open air and sunshine is to see more real life than does the woman who is always in the house.

Center of British Industry.

Within two or three hours by rail and linked to the River Humber by a network of canals, live 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 people, mostly engaged in manufacturing and mining, and largely exporting their products to foreign lands and receiving from abroad the bulk of their raw material and food supplies. Seed crushing, flour milling, oil refining, and the making of paints and other goods into which these oils enter, are the special industries of Hull, England.
