Chicago.—A plea that all the forces which are striving for the betterment of the human race join in an attack on low wages and "the resultant indecent standard of living" was voiced by Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the federal industrial relations commission, before a meeting of the City club of Chicago.

"Let us have a new declaration of war and a good mobilization," he said. "I hold that every organization we have for good should strike a blow at the

Turkish Capital Long Hungered For by Gzars.

Last Great Effort of Encroachment on Part of Muscovite Power Met With Disastrous Defeat at Hands of England and France In Crimean War. Ambassador Morgenthau Busy.

Washington.-With the capture of Constantinople our ambassador to Turkey, Henry Morgenthau, would become the busiest man in that country. He at present is busy enough taking care working for better social conditions of the various duties intrusted to him as our representative by the various enemies of Turkey. But with the occupation of the Ottoman capital by an enemy he must be ready to see that the United States is recognized in any reconstructive policy which the

> Once again Russia has set the feet of her soldiers toward Constantinople, and the prows of her battleships are pointed toward the Golden Horn. For eleven centuries the rulers of the greatest Slav nation in Europe have held the ambition to take that "window toward the sea" in the south as eight centuries after their first assault on Constantinople Peter the Great fought and won a "window to the west" on the Baltic.

> Time and again have Norse princes and Russian grand dukes and czars faced the south in boats and at the head of armies with Constantinople as their objective. Time and again they have been thwarted in their ambitions by forces ranging from the effect of a miraculous robe cast into the sea to Greek fire, military prowess of Byzantine and Turk and of the armies and fleets of her present allies, France and Great Britain.

Russia Wins In the End.

Traditionally Russia never abandons an objective. Historically she has made advances north, east, south and west, has taken lands and cities and has had-in the case of the Crimea and Manchuria-to give them back to ly won the Crimea for her own, and this lesson may be repeated some centuries hence on the littoral of the Pacific. To speculate on the outcome of her present campaign against the Turk and his last stronghold in Europe is idle. But one may well believe out of her past record of similar campaigns that another defeat will do nothing to conquer her ambitions to raise the cross of the Greek church above the crescent of Mohammed's principles or of the more practical outlet for her ships of war from the Black sea. There is something beyond patriotic and religious fervor in Russia's ambition to gain control of the key to the most ancient trade route in the world.

Crimean War.

In 1833 and again in 1841 the Russian ruler, after many attempts, chemed to take Constantinople, but England and France protested with such good purpose that Russia's designs on Czargrad were blocked once more. In 1852 Nicholas informed the British minister to his court that all Russia wanted was to be the "trustee" of the Turks in Constantinople and not its proprietor. His plans for the establishment of the "trusteeship" looked so threatening that England and France assembled their fleets, and the great Crimean war followed in 1854 told centuries there has prevailed the

AUSTRALIANS HUNT KANGAROO BY AUTO

Novel Sport a New Diversion With Fast Cars.

Sydney, Australia.-A new form of real sport has been discovered in Aus-MANY ATTEMPTS TO GAIN IT tralia—hunting kangaroos by motor.

> The mere chase alone is said to be productive of many thrills, calling for a fast car guided by an adept hand. To pilot a motorcar through the open country, over fields dotted with rabbit warrens and bunch grass bunkers at a speed of forty or forty-five miles an hour calls for steady nerves, a cool head and consummate skill.

As the shooting is done over the side of the car the man at the wheel is forced to maneuver his craft much after the fashion of a man-o'-war in order to give the rifles a chance. The hunters shoot from a bumping, sway- dier. ing seat at a target which moves as fast if not faster than the car. The range varies from fifty to 100 yards.

The fact that a prolonged drought had made the kangaroos a pest in the vicinity of water places caused the automobile owners to offer their services and their cars toward ridding the country of numbers of the troublesome animals. Heretofore it had been found exceeding difficult to bag the creatures without persistent and expert stalking. Kangaroos will run forty-five miles an hour with injuries that would stop a human being in his tracks. A wounded 'roo can easily outdistance the fleetest horse.

He says in part:

"In view of the indifference which we ourselves have shown toward the conservation of our own forest resources in the immediate past we should not wonder that the Filipinos, by which term I designate the Christianized-civilized residents of the archipelago, should still be utterly indifferent to the preservation of their forests as a permanent source of wealth.

In Trenches With Americans of Famous French Unit.

READY FOR FEAST OR FIGHT

There Are Men From Every Part of the United States and From the Higher to the Lesser Degrees In the Social Scale-Galveston Negro Serving as Cook Mourned by All When Killed.

London.—Always ready for a feast or a froic and the greatest fighting unit in the French army is the description applied to the French-American Foreign legion by one of its members, Phil Rader, Chicago writer, artist and sol-

Back on a furlough from the trenches, where sometimes waist deep in water the troops hide from the terrific artillery fire, the Chicagoan painted an intimate word picture of the type of men who have adopted the tricolor as their flag in the present

"There are Americans in the service from every part of the United States Rader. "I think the most interesting of the whole lot that I met was Eugene Jacob, whose wife is running his butcher shop in Pawtucket, R. I., while he fights for France. Both he and his wife were born in Belgium.

"Jacob is the most fervent German hater that I know of. Even during the Christmas truce he refused to lay his feelings aside, and just before we left our trenches to meet the Germans and exchange cigars and greetings he fixed his bayonet and declared that if we brought a single German into the trench he would kill him. And all day Christmas he sulked.

Fought, Then Shook Hands.

"Then, later, one day a German who was drunk wandered into our trenches and taunted us, but we respected his bravery and admired him. But not Jacob. He and the German had a dandy fist fight in the trench, but afterward they shook hands and became friends. Jacob told the camp if he had days without food or water until they. whined he would have killed him, but that he had found that he was a man even though he was a German.

He grew very hopeful that a reconciliation was coming during the Christmas truce. when we smoked, walked arm in arm and played with the Germans. The following day Street got out of his trench in the eary morning and waved his hand to a German friend in a trench fifty feet distant. A bullet went through his head and he dropped dead.

Missed Negro Singer.

"George Ullard, a Galveston negro, was our cook and a fine one. He was the best singer for hundreds of feet on both lines of trenches, and the Germans loved his songs. He taught them to sing 'Sailing Down Chesapeake Bay. but one day a shell blew Ullard' trench to pieces and he was killed. Next day the Germans yelled to us to have George sing. When we told them that he was dead they yelled back that they were sorry, as all of the riflemen in the trenches had agreed not to shoot the cheerful black man who sang s well. Rader was mentioned in dispatches for destroying a straw stack in which four German machine guns had been hidden. Rader and two companions fastened beet leaves to a gunny sack and, shielded by it, crawled to the straw stack through a beet field and set fire to it. For forty-seven days, Rader says, he was in trenches filled with water and mud.

HEROIC NURSES SAVE WHILE OTHERS FIGHT

Surgeon Tells How Nobly Soldiers Bear Suffering.

London.—So intently is the attention of the public concentrated on the deeds of the troops on the firing line that recognition of the valuable work performed by the medical service on the battlefields of Europe has been by no means adequate outside of official circles. Hourly the gallant army of physicians, surgeons, nurses and medical troops of all the nations involved in the titanic conflict respond to unexampled demands. In a recent letter published in the Edinburgh Scotsman a medical officer of the British service relates some of the interesting incidents which occur daily at the several receiving bases in France.

"We get the wounded here at practically first hand," writes the officer. "They are brought in with all possible speed, dealt with at once and sent out to the hospitals and into the hands of men and women of all nationalities, who nurse and doctor them.

"They're wonderful chaps, those soldiers. Great stuff; too good to lose. They are brought to us at all hours, exhausted, covered with mud, hastily but well bandaged on common sense and from every walk of life," said principles, and aye the quiet, plucky grin or the patient set of the jaw.

"'What price this little lot, doctor?" and the querist indicates where the bullet entered his thigh. 'And me futball leg, too!' growled another, brought in dripping one night. 'And who the (excision by censor) will do the scorin' fur the ould tame now? All the same, sir, I scored ag'in the man that did this or wan av his side.

"And so it goes on. It's a great experience this. As a surgeon, I know its value. But I wish it was over. It's awful. The stream of wounded seems unceasing, and sometimes I ask myself, when I have time to realize it at all, how long I shall be able to stand the strain. We must do our work, however, and I'm proud to do it for those grand men-the 'Tommies.'

railroad. The store was equipped like a department store in a city of 25,000. The company was formed in 1908, following the settlement of the surrounding country by homesteaders in the boom days. George E. Tivis, for whom the town, consisting of the store, was named, had been in the country many years and had conducted a small store on his ranch. Later he formed the Consumers' Supply company, with a capital of $50,000, and built a magnificent store, newspaper office and bank building. The store was stocked with everything from thrashing machines and traction engines to groceries. Tivis recently disappeared, and the appointment of the receiver followed. Had the homesteaders who occupied the surrounding region been able to raise good crops each year the "city store on the prairie" might have succeeded. Many of the homesteaders were unable to make farming pay and left the country.

SHOT, PILOT STUCK TO POST.

Guided British Warship Under Fire In Suez Canal Though Wounded.

Cairo.-A stirring little story of quiet heroism displayed during the battle against the Turkish invaders the other day has been told here.

The hero of the incident is a pilot named Carew, who was on board the warship Hardinge, one of the vessels engaged on the canal helping to repel the Ottoman attack.

The ship came under the heaviest fire, and Carew was severely wounded in the arm and leg. He would not, however, leave his post, although suffering terribly. "Bring me a chair and prop me up," he said to one of the crew. "I will see you through." The gallant pilot is now in the hospital. where it was found necessary to amputate his leg. MOTTER'S MARYLAND

DIES SUDDENLY

Expires at His Home in Lewistown. -Well Known Physician.

Dr. Thomas E. R. Miller, one of the best known physicians of Frederick county, prominent in Republican poli tics and a former member of the Maryland House of Delegates, died suddenly Saturday morning of neuralgia of the heart, at his home in Lewistown

1 r. Miller was born on a farm on Hunting Creek, in Creagerstown district, July 21, 1844, and was a son of George and Catherine (Harbaugh) Miller. He was reared on his father's farm and was educated in the public and private schools and began teaching in the public schools at the age of sixteen. During his leisure hours he read medicine under Dr. William S. McPherdson. Later Dr. Miller went to Baltimore and began the study of medicine under Dr. C. C. Bombaugh, attending lectures at the University of Maryland.

In 1868 Mr. Miller married Miss Margaret Delaplaine, of this county, who survives. One daughter, Mrs. G. Lloyd Palmer, wife of School Superintendent Palmer, also survives. Mr. Palmer had just returned from a meeting of school superintendents in Chicago and reached the residence shortly after Dr. Miller said one of the greatest thinkers this country ever produced.

"The Thinkers of the Country Are the Tobacco Chewers"-

Says the Judge:

"My brain grasps the points of a case more easily when I'm chewing PICNIC TWIST. I suppose it's because of the gentle stimulation that PICNIC TWIST gives without the after effects of "strong" tobacco.

"Have you ever noticed how many great jurists chew? Well, there's nothing better to oil the wheels of justice than PICNIC TWIST."

Have you ever wished for a tobacco that you could keep on chewing without feeling that you were over-chewing?

For a long time you've really been looking for PICNIC TWIST, with its lasting sweet taste, and true tobacco satisfaction with no "come-back."

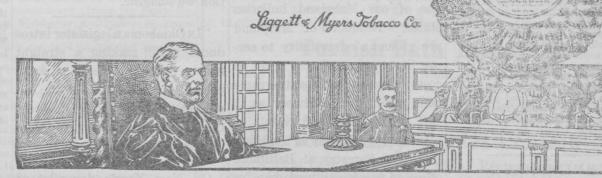

Compare PICNIC TWIST in taste, looks, convenience or any other way, with any dark "heavy" tobacco. Then you'll know the advantage of chewing the light, mild, mellow part of the leaf, the only kind that goes into PICNIC TWIST.

There are few better preservatives of the teeth than PICNIC TWIST.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Union, and especially in the produc-tion of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scotch-Irish descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a valley of rolling lands lying between the Linganore Hills and the Catoctin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river, and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and productive areas of the Union. The great crops are wheat and corn.—Mary-land Manual issued by Board of Public Works.

EMMITSBURG.

In all Western Maryland-the beauty spot and the garden spot of the State-there is no town more attractive than Emmitsburg. No people are more wide-awake, more knowable, more courteous to strangers than Emmitsburgians. The location of Emmitsburg is ideal; the surrounding scenery is unmatchable; the climate is notedly healthful; its water—pure mountain spring water-cannot be surpassed. It is within easy access of Baltimore, Hagerstown, Frederick; eight miles from the National Battlefield at Gettysburg, near to the Mountain Resorts, and is surrounded by fertile farms and productive orchards.

Mount Saint Mary's College and Ecclesiastical Seminary-with an enviable reputation extending over 106 years—is located here; St. Joseph's College and Academy for young ladies-equally as noted during its 105 years of splendid acheivement-is also here.

There are excellent Schools-Public and Parochial-in Emmitsburg; two sound Banks, five Churches, a live Newspaper, modern Hotel accommodations, adequate Fire Department, progressive merchants, splendid physicians, good liveries, auto garages, many fraternal organizations, good railroad accommodations. There are four or five mails a day, telegraph, express and telephone service connecting all points; electric light and power, oiled

LOOK ON THE BRIGHT SIDE

Afflictions and Complaints About Which So Many Worry Really Don't Amount to So Much.

Every now and then, however, we get the real measure of these tribulations. This neighbor is not worrying much about salary or rent, because the doctors have told him he must soon die. That neighbor finds no fault in his child, because it lies dead. The poor ventilation of our house seems quite tolerable in contrast with that other house where snow beats through the cracks and there is neither fuel nor food.

Before such comparisons we are dumb and contented for a day or a week. So in our national life; how manifold and poignant are the causes of complaint-until we look across at those places in Europe where death, wounds and beggary are the common

MORAL TRAINING THE BEST

Attempt to Cure Waywardness by Surgery Alleged to Be a Failure.

Few sensible persons will be surprised to learn that a recent surgical operation performed in the hope of making a decent man out of a criminal has resulted in failure, says the Philadelphia Inquirer. It is always possible that the weakness or the dullness of a boy or girl may be due to some curable physical or mental ailment, but to presume that mere waywardness can be reformed by use of the surgeon's knife is to presume too much on the credulity of human na-

The truth of the matter is that these stray lambs need moral training in their youth and their failure to get it is a handicap that is only too apt to remain with them through life. Nothing is more discouraging than the yellow streak that appears in some persons, and nothing seems more difficult to eradicate. Their cases should have the attention of the experts, but we feel sure that they stand in need of the punishment that fits the crime rather than sentimental experiments on the part of philanthropists who mean well, but who only encourage crime by their foolish toleration of wrongdoing.

Finding Noise That Least Annoys. In fact, the use of the siren has been prohibited in many European towns. He thinks that automobiles should have two kinds of signals, one a grave sound for city use which does not annoy the passers, and a loud and shrill sound for use in the country, which sound will carry to a long > Intelligence of the Beaver. The life history of the beaver discloses a succession of episodes in each of which a reasoning faculty is employed. Unlike other animals, the beaver's intelligence consists not only in doing the same things over and over again, but in the ability to deal understandingly with novel situations. Certain of its actions probably arise from the same instinct that governs the rest of the lower animals, but the orderly sequence in which they are performed leads many to believe that the beaver shares with man a claim to reasoning faculties.

for high-grade produce, just as the of the matter. It is only that. cattle. This will go a long way toward removing the suspicion that may butexist in the minds of the city housewives that farmers are always endeavoring to hoodwink them in some way or another. New York butter dealers send their representatives through the dairy districts in the West to bid for the output of creameries known to produce butter of a high grade, and a reputation for superior any individual or community, community preferably, because it lifts every individual and proves an attraction for buyers that one isolated individual never could prove.

As I have observed, there is great loss in marketing perishable products. The more directly you can market your products the more you can reduce this loss and the better returns you can enjoy. We often hear the question, "Does farming pay?" As long as we leave our marketing to other people we will have to take the prices they offer. We must not sit down, and wait for something to turn up; we must get busy and turn something up for ourselves. Then and only then, will we come into our rights.

"JOHN BAER" FIRST TOMATO PICKED THIS YEAR.
Mr. J. T. Wilson, Calvert Co., Md., August 19, 1914, writes: "John Baer" Tomatoes are the earliest I have ever naised. They would have been very much earlier but for the low; dry season which nearly killed them; even then I was the first in my neighborhood to pick tomatoes. It is a fine tomato for table use or for canning. It has not as many seeds as other tomatoes. You can recommend John Baer' tomato highly for early use."

CAME FOR TEN MILES AROUND TO SEE "JOHN BAER" TOMATOES.
Mr. Thos. Howe, Washington Co., Md., writes July 30, 1914: "John Baer' tomatoes done so fine for me I cannot say enough about them. I grew 1500 plants from the $1.00 package of seed. I picked fine ripe tomatoes from the last part of June to the last of July-300 baskets in all, selling them at $1.25 per basket and now the vines are still loaded with tomatoes. There were absolutely no cripples among them. Some of the vines had 105 tomatoes. People came for 10 miles anound to see them. If I had bought one-quarter pound of the seed I should have made several hundred dollars more off the crop. Solid first, second, and third pickinas. Picked every other day since starting to pick."

"JOHN BAER"--3 WEEKS AHEAD OF ANY OTHER TOMATO

Mr. R. T. Scott Nottoway Co., Va., August 24, 1914, writes: "John Baer' Tomatoes were ready for market three weeks before any other tomato in our locality. Thave been picking fine, large tomatoes of of them for over two months. I had a very successful crop."

Another Robbery At Pen-Mar.

Apparently there is no cessation to the robberies in the vicinity of Waynesboro and the Blue Ridge Mountain district. One morning last week robbers visited the home of Charles E. Howe, near Pen-Mar Park and carried off goods amounting to between $75 and $100, including sugar, coffee, tea, etc. The thieves dropped several packages of the groceries in their flight, two bags of coffee having been found on the porch, and a can of pepper in the yard.

Bolgiano's "Greater Baltimore" Tomato

Better Than Stone Ever Was Bolgiano's "Greater Baltimore" Tomato just doubles the yield of many of the best Canning Tomatoes you have ever grown. Smooth, well-formed and deep from stem to blossom. Ripens evenly to the stem and is entirely free from ridges, cracks and blight. Unrivalled shipper, due to its solidity and firmness, Fruits in large clusters at every second joint. Joints are short and sturdy. Vigorous, compact, healthy vines. Brilliant red color, one of the handsomest tomatoes you have ever seen.

"Itis largely the EARLINESS and UNIFORM-ITY with which the plants bear a LARGE NUM-BER of LARGE, SMOOTH FRUIT throughout the ripening season, that makes Bolgiano's Greater Ballimore' superior to Stone which has been the Standard canning variety for many wars." jears."

WHEN COUNTY FAIRS ARE LIABLE

What Precedent Has Required of Those Managing Agricultural Associations.

A great many country fair grounds are arranged with the judge's stand opposite the grandstand, and immediately on the outer boundary of the space, commonly known as the "field," inclosed by the track. Usually a small fee must be paid before visitors at the fair are permitted to enter this "field" and thus get a closer view of the various races and events. It has been held that a fair association is liable for damages to one who was injured while crossing the racetrack during a fair on its grounds, in obedience to an implied invitation of its servants to cross.

It is the duty of those managing the fair to provide sufficient barriers, watchmen and hitching posts to prevent the spectators from being injured by horses driven by other spectators. However, the mere fact that a spectator is injured by the running away of an unattended horse belonging to another spectator is not of itself sufficient to show negligence on the part of the association operating the race course.

And where a fair association, which is conducting a race, has provided suitable stands from which the race can be viewed and has surrounded the track with a substantial railing, it is not liable for injuries sustained by a spectator who, while sitting on the railing, is injured by one of the horses bolting WM. G. ZIMMERMAN......Cashier the track, and especially is this the rule SAMUEL G. DUVAL. Asst. Cashier where the injured person has been warned by employees of the association JOSEPH McDIVIT ..... Asst. Cashier of the danger of standing near the track during the race.

> Neither is an agricultural society liable to a visitor through the act of one who was allowed, at the close of the fair, to drive on the race course. and who carelessly whipped his team so that it ran away and injured such visitor.
