VICTOR MURDOCK AGAIN AN EDITOR

Sane and Adjectiveless Society Page One Feature.

NOTHING FLUFFY FOR HIM.

After Retirement From Congress Bull Moose Leader Returns to Home In Wichita, Kan .-- Makes Known Views lish Names of Passengers on Train.

Washington. - Victor Murdock of Kansas, who has just retired from congress, has begun the job of editing his Wichita newspaper.

congress, is bulging with ideas how to run a newspaper. He intends to introduce what he describes as a "sane and adjectiveless society page."

He is going to be a bear on Washington news and will print one page in big type, the "easy to read" kind, pleasing alike to the old, the nearsighted and the tired business man who wants to skim over his paper in a hurry. A page that a man can read at arm's length is his big idea.

He will also run a Saturday review of the stories and articles in the weekly and monthly periodical press.

Editor Murdock will insist on brevity in ediforial expression. He may have trouble in fastening some of his ideas on those who have been running his Wichita newspaper, but whatever else happens he will fight to the end for his "safe and adjectiveless" society page.

If ex-Representative Murdock has his way about it there will be, he says, no more items in the Wichita Eagle reading like this:

Murdock would thing to the imagination of the reader. According to the Hon. Vic. any fool reader would assume that Mrs. Dustin-Rocks was dressed "to kill," that flowers were on the premises of the Dustin-Rocks and that the affair was entirely pleasant all around.

"I don't know whether I'll be able to to be done. I get tired of reading sion on this point says: those fluffy society notes in the news-

Mr. Murdock has another idea. A transcontinental train passes through Wichita once a day.

"My idea," said he with enthusiasm, "is to print the names of the Pullman passengers on said train. How many times has the average fellow looked through a Pullman window and won dered if he knew anybody inside. believe I could make a distinctive fea ture of this with a heading something like this:

"'They passed through Wichita to day for the west coast."

The ceremony was performed in the safety deposit vault of the bank to insure privacy.

CALLS MEETING OF AMERICAN BANKERS

Promotion of South American Trade Object of Gathering.

Washington. - Announcement was made by Secretary McAdoo that President Wilson had set May 10 for the projected conference between leading bankers of the United States and the finance ministers and influential bankers of Central and South America. The meetings will be held in Washington, and the visitors will be entertained as on How to Run a Paper-Will Pub- the guests of this government, congress having appropriated $50,000 for the expenses.

This meeting will be the outcome of the most serious effort yet made to remove some of the artificial barriers which have obstructed the movement Mr. Murdock, after twelve years in of trade between this country and South America. Some of these difficulties were considered at a less formal conference held in this city last summer. At that time it was the consensus of opinion of the South American authorities that the great bar to closer business relations between the United States and the countries below the isthmus was the lack of banking connections. So long as the South Americans had to look to Europe for capital, it was asserted, the United States could not expect to capture any large share of business.

The European war brought a rightor Germany to furnish new funds, and coincidentally United States national banks received permission under the federal reserve act to open foreign branches. For this reason great importance is attached to the approaching

Roseburg, Ore.-"I hereby bequeath my entire estate, consisting of money in banks and property, to the children of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Nichols of Riddle, with the understanding that they are to care for my dog puppy as long as it lives," was the essential part of a will filed by James Rice of Riddle in the probate court here. Mr. Rice has lived in southern Douglas county for many years and is a great admirer of the Nichols children. Recently he decided that they should have his property and money following his death. The puppy of which Mr. Rice speaks in his will has been his constant companion for several months.

MONROE DOCTRINE

Shuster Discusses Her Attitude Toward Easiern Questions.

DOESN'T WANT PHILIPPINES

Says Views Are Identical With Those They Have Become Crystallized In Past Few Years and Began Immediately Following War With Russia.

Washington.-In testifying before the senate Philippines committee on the Jones bill providing for the ultimate independence of the Philippine Islands, W. Morgan Shuster remarked that the attitude of Japan toward far eastern questions was consistent with a well defined Monroe doctrine of its own. The phrase has attracted considerable attention. For that reason Mr. Shuster. who occupied for nearly nine years important government posts in the Philippines and later served as treasurer general of Persia, was asked to explain the phrase.

"In many respects Japan's attitude toward her sphere of influence in the far east and our policy as expressed about change in this situation, making by President Monroe are identical," it impossible for Great Britain, France said Mr. Shuster. "Both countries are very much in earnest in enforcing these policies.

"Japan's Monroe doctrine, as it may be called, has taken form within the past few years. It dates, I should say, from the close of the war with Russia, scarcely earlier. She dominates the far east much as the United States because of its wealth, size and power occupies the first place on the American continents. And, like the Americans, the Japanese are a very high spirited people. They have a pride of their own.

"Any encroachment upon this sphere by foreign powers would arouse much the same spirit of distrust or resent ment as we should feel at a similar encroachment in the western hemisphere. I have no doubt that Japan would back up her Monroe doctrine should affairs reach an issue exactly

Women of Nobility Aid In Raising All Kinds of Vegetables.

It is the consensus of opinion that the present war requires some such step.

To accomplish this purpose it is proposed to enlist the aid of all available truck farmers and agricultural experts and to get them to give instruction in vegetable raising and as far as possible assist in the actual work. It is expected that it will not be difficult to interest women in large numbers to carry on the work of feeding the people.

Women willing to assist, it is proposed, will first take a short free course at the Royal Gardening institute. The installation and preparation of courses are in the hands of the war committee on vegetable raising. Interested in the movement are such women as the wife of the minister of war, Frau Wild von Hohenborn; Countess von Brockdorff, the empress' chief lady in waiting; Fraulein von Gersdorff and Frau von Boetticher, the widow of the late minister of state.

Berlin is the scene at this time of numerous meetings, largely attended by women of every class, at which ways and means of more economical living are discussed by prominent physicians. The women are being urged to cut down the consumption of meat by at least 15 per cent and to resort more to the use of milk. The women are asked to think of the men in the field and the hardships they have to endure, if economy in eating seems to be too difficult.

SERVIANS MAKE HERO OF DR. E. F. RYAN

Visitor Tells of Fine Work He Has Done In That Country.

Philadelphia.-Mme. Slavko Grouitch, wife of the undersecretary of foreign affairs in Servia and special pleader for that country's relief in this city, told the story of what a hero Dr. Edward F. Ryan of Scranton, Pa., has become in her adopted country.

"He is quite one of the biggest men in Belgrade now." said Mme. Grouitch.

"We all call him Teddy over there-Teddy Ryan. He has made friends so quickly with every one, and people just look to him as a natural leader.

"When the Austrians first came into the city in the late autumn they were bent on violating all decent rules of war. Dr. Ryan stopped that. They had been hanging men quite indiscriminately without even pretending to give them a trial. The doctor said a stop was what. After that there was no further action of that kind.

"JOHN BAER" FIRST TOMATO PICKED THIS YEAR.

Mr. J. T. Wilson, Calvert Co., Md., August 19, 1914, writes: "John Baer' Tomatoes are the earliest I have ever assed, They would have been very much earlier but for the lon', dry season which nearly killed them; even then I was the first in my neighborhood to pick tomatoes. It is a fine tomato for table use or for canning. It has not as many seeds as other tomatoes. You can recommend John Baer' tomato highly for early use." CAME FOR TEN MILES AROUND TO SEE "JOHN BAER" TOMATOES. Mr. Thos. Howe, Washington Co., Md., writes July 30, 1914; "John Eaer' tomatoes done so fine for me I cannot say enough about them. I grew 1500 plants from the $1.00 package of seed. I picked fine ripe tomatoes from the last part of June to the last of July-300 baskets in all, selling them at $1.25 per basket and now the vines are still loaded with tomatoes. There were absolutely no cripples among them. Some of the vines had 105 tomatoes. People came for 10 miles around to see them. If I had bought one-quarter pound of the seed I should have made several hundred dollars more off the crop. Solld first, second, and third pickings. Picked every other day since starting to pick."
"JOHN BAER"--3 WEEKS AHEAD JOHN BAER"--- 3 WEEKS AHEAD

OF ANY OTHER TOMATO
Mr. R. T. Scott Nottoway Co., Va., August 24, 914, writes: "John Baer' Tomatoes were ready or market three weeks before any other tomato in ur locality. I have been picking fine, large tomasoes off of them for over two months. I had a very uccessful crom?"

Letters To The Editor.

Editor Chronicle:-

As you have through your paper given Mrs. Rosensteel had suffered a slight the history of the first Library organization of Emmitsburg dated 1815 which fore. She had started to recuperate certainly stopped with the act of Assembly, as no action further is known.

I contribute the facts connected with a Library Association inaugurated June

Toms Creek Church, Jan. 29, 1840. We the subscribers, having contributed for the purchase of books to form a library within the congregation of Toms Creek Church, have this day convened and adopted the following rules to be observed by us in the management of Adelaide, Margaret, John H., William those books, which constitute the Li-T. and George Rosensteel; and one sis- brary of Toms Creek Church, in which ter, Mrs. Theodore Burdner, all of this we have a joint and equal interest. Then follows the constitution.

The following persons are the memin getting up the library fund: Dr. David Gamble, Jane Annan, Margaret Witherow, Jane Williams, Rev. Robert S. Grier, Mrs. Rickenbaugh, Mrs. Joanna Grason, Ann Eliza Winter, Adam Epley, Mary Knox, Jane Rea, Henrietta Weagh, Mary Ann Thornton. All the congregation were interested as a long list of members were added.

At the first meeting the following officers were elected: President, Rev. Robert S. Grier; Vice President, James J. McKehan; Secretary, Adam Epley;

The number of books secured, is 302, amongst these, many of them valuable, first editions of standard works. The fire that consumed the church destroyed this old library.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Union, and especially in the produc-tion of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scotch-Irish descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a valley of rolling lands lying between the Linganore Hills and the Catoc tin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and productive areas of the Union. The great crops are wheat and corn.—Mary-land Manual issued by Board of Public Works.

EMMITSBURG.

In all Western Maryland-the beauty spot and the garden spot of the State—there is no town more attractive than Emmitsburg. No people are more wide-awake, more knowable, more courteous to strangers than Emmitsburgians.

The location of Emmitsburg is ideal; the surrounding scenery is unmatchable; the climate is notedly healthful: its water-pure mountain spring water-cannot be surpassed. It is within easy access of Baltimore, Hagerstown, Frederick; eight miles from the National Battlefield at Gettysburg, near to the Mountain Resorts, and is surrounded by fertile farms and productive orchards.

Mount Saint Mary's College and Ecclesiastical Seminary-with an enviable reputation extending over 106 years—is located here; St. Joseph's College and Academy for young ladies-equally as noted during its 105 years of splendid acheivement-is also here.

There are excellent Schools-Public and Parochial-in Emmitsburg; two sound Banks, five Churches, a live Newspaper, modern Hotel accommodations, adequate Fire Department, progressive merchants, splendid physicians, good liveries, auto garages, many fraternal organizations, good railroad accommodations. There are four or five mails a day, telegraph, express and telephone service connecting all points; electric light and power, oiled streets.

There is business to be had in Emmitsburg; there are Factory Sites availabe. If you contemplate changing your place of residence-come to Emmitsburg, Frederick County,

CHANGED OPINIONS.

Somehow or other the fire-eaters, the jingoists, the hot-heads and the "If that had been, etc." contingent are beginning to see the wisdom and reasonableness of Mr. Wilson's peace policy. While Congress was in session and the less than five.

The Meekly Chronicle war dispatches were the subject of cloakroom debate that sometimes overflowed to the floor of the Senate and House, and belligerency and anti-militarism gone mad, formed the bulk of the magazine output, possible international complications were frequently at the danger point. It needed a cool brain in the head of a calm, clear thinking man of poise to deal with these delicate situations as they arose. That brain was the President's and his course is now being applauded by the very ones who at first condemned it.

INSURANCE.

Now is the season for the farmer to look over his fire insurance policies, to see if the premiums are paid and if his insurance is sufficient to cover probable loss. In a short time he will be very busy; in a few months his crops will be under cover. Summer storms, accompanied by lightning, will follow and this hazard will be a source of great anxiety unless he is protected. There is no better investment than insurance and wise is the man, farmer or merchant, who carries a sufficient amount, fire, life and accident.

SHOVEL AND BROOM.

The "clean up" suggestion of last week seems to have met with general approval, judging from the comments heard on all sides.

The Burgess and Commissioners sanctioned it and they have asked the people to respond. Other places have adopted the plan and the result has been wonderful. Emmitsburg may be counted upon not to drop behind in a movement calculated to benefit the health of the community and to improve the appearance of the town.

In olden times everybody who was in the happy position of having personalty to bequeath was free to make a will verbally or by an unattested writing. This right, restricted by the Statute of Frauds, was abolished by the wills act of 1837, subject, however, to the reservation that soldiers on actual military service, and marines, on sea, were still competent to dispose of their personalty as they might have done before. Hence all the soldiers and sailors on duty have, so far as the disposition of their worldly goods is concerned, a larger freedom than that possessed by the king's subjects who are staying at home. As a rule, too, wills are valid only if the persons making them have reached the age of twenty. one. There is judicial authority for saying that even this restriction does not apply to soldiers and sailors on active service .-- Tit-Bits.

A Story of St. Paul's, London. There is an anecdote concerning St Paul's worth recording now that the cathedral's repairing is under consid eration, says the London Chronicle. Sir Christopher Wren tells it in the Parenalia: "In the beginning of the too. new works of St. Paul's an incident was taken notice of by some people as a memorable omen. When the sur veyor in person had set out upon the dome and fixed upon the center, a common laborer was ordered to bring a flat stone from the heaps of rubbish (such as should first come to hand) to be laid for a mark and direction to the masons; the stone, which was immediately brought and laid down for that purpose, happened to be a piece of gravestone with nothing remaining of the inscription but this single word in large capitals—'Resurgam.'

Thyme for Whooping Cough. According to a German medical journal preparations of thyme have long been advocated for whooping cough. Thyme grows in certain regions of the old world, and preparations of it have been sold in the United States at very high prices. One combination comprises herb of thyme and the so-called "pilka"-a herb which grows wild in the same parts of the world. Entombed Toad Lives Long.

While some repair work was being done at Yankton college a basement was opened to cut a door through, and a live toad was found in the air shaft. It had been entombed, without doubt, for 22 years, ever since Ward Hall of Science was constructed. The toad had resided in its brick tomb so long it was "brick red" on the underside. While grown to a large size it had no claws. It appeared to have worn off its claws in trying to get out. How it had lived is a mystery. Not a drop of moisture could have reached the toad in all the years it had been a prisoner.-Yankton (S. D.) Cor. New York World.

DESTINED FOR HIGH PLACE

Even as a Child Napoleon III Had Confidence He Was to Be a Man of Destiny.

"Being a boy" meant very little to Louis Napoleon, for he had it in his mind almost from the day he was born to be emperor of the French. In a moment of confidence he said to his bosom friend, Baron d'Ambes, who in turn confided it to his diary, now published as "Intimate Memoirs of Napoleon III".

"Can egg-farming be made to pay?" is an everyday query emanating from persons who possess a few hundred pounds to invest and think they will like such a pursuit. Without fully going into the pound, shilling, pence of our mammoth egg imports, statistics show that the number of eggs consumed in England in a week totals over 150,000,000. An average hen's egg weighs about two ounces or three ounces and varies in length from two inches to three inches. Good Heavens!

An elderly gentleman living in the North of England was passionately fond of parrots. Having both time and money at his disposal, he organized a parrot show, a five-pound note to be given to the owner of the bird which on the most auspicious day said the most appropriate thing. The show day arrived. All sorts and conditions of parrots were arriving. Just at the last moment a beautiful gray bird was his purpose-knives, razors, and so on. brought in. HER LESSON IN PROPORTION

Small Hearts, Too, She Found, Are to Be Found in Very Large Mansions.

There was a girl who was quite sure that when it came her turn to marry she could not live in a house any smaller than her father's. "Love in a cottage" was not her idea. Cupid, she thought, needed plenty of room to flap his wings and to practice his archery; he could not pine in a bird cage. So she must have an immense library with a fireplace that would take a sixfoot log: there must be a drawingroom with parquetry flooring and thick rugs sliding about on it; the diningroom must be able to hold a large table with an imposing bowl of flowers. She visualized herself ruling a salon, hostess to a brilliant coterie of people who would help her social ambition and her husband's business.

A school friend of hers came to see her a year and a half after she had married and found her in a little frame house on a side street, ridiculously happy with her husband and her baby. The back yard was just about big enough to hold a whirling clothes frame and a narrow flower bed against the fence; the piazza was as snug as a sailor's hammock; the largest room was about the size of the vestibule of the bride's girlhood home.

"I know what you're thinking," laughed the proud little housekeeper to her guest. "You're wondering how I could make up my mind to live in this tiny piano box. But I've made a discovery. I've found that it isn't the size of the house that matters; it's the size of the heart, and the biggest hearts can live in the littlest houses." -Philadelphia Public Ledger.

CRUDE, BUT DOES THE WORK

Primitive System of "Wireless Telegraphy" in Use Among Tribes of Amazon Region.

In the Juamara region of the Amazon the natives use a crude system of wireless telegraphy, which, it is claimed, has been in operation for thousands of years. The transmitter found by an explorer was a hollowed trunk of a tree suspended from a horizontal pole stretched between two stumps. Inside the transmitter had been arranged much like a violin, and it was explained that when the instrument was struck smartly with a small rubber hammer a vibration was created that carried for miles over the hills. The receiver is very similar to the transmitter, except that it is placed on a hardwood platform, the base of the hollowed tree trunk being grounded on the platform. When the message is struck in the neighboring village, sometimes thirty miles away, this receiver catches the vibrations, causing a jerky, singing sound. The sound system, it is said, can be read by the members of the tribe, and in this way news of victories and other happenings are told throughout the countryside.

Coupigny had supplied him with a "romance" to be set to music. Whenever the two met, Garat replied, "I have not hit upon an idea as yet." One day Coupigny was walking down the Rue Neuve-des-Petits-Champs. Hearing a sound of some one running behind him, he turned; it was Garat, who seized him by the arm, dragged him up the stairs of a neighboring house, and, halting on the first landing, exclaimed, "I've got it!" At once he began to sing the romance through at the top of his voice. The inhabitants of the house began to open their doors; heads were projected over the banisters; finally they began to approach: but Garat, having finished, tore down the stairs like a monkey, dragging the bewildered poet with him.-Youth's Companion.

Only Worse.

A Philadelphia school teacher has lately been instructing her pupils in Grecian mythology. It is the plan to have the children read the tales aloud, and the next day recount them in their own language. One lad, to whom was given the assignment to render in his own language the story of the Gorgons, did so in these terms:

"The Gorgons were three sisters that lived in the Islands of Hesperides, somewhere in the Indian ocean. They had long snakes for hair, tusks for teeth and claws for nails, and they looked like women, only more horrible." - Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

fauna and flora are unknown to an Englishman, save as strange Americanisms, e. g., raccoon, opossum, skunk, terrapin, chipmunk and moose; persimmon, chinquapin, alfalfa and yam. He seldom sees popcorn or an oyster stew; he knows nothing of oyster suppers, clam bakes and burgoo picnics. He doesn't buy either red lemonade or peanuts when he goes to the circus; the former he calls lemon-squash and the latter he doesn't know at all. The common American use of peanut as an adjective of disparagement, e. g., peanut politics, is incomprehensible to him.

Trustees of Methodist churches can sell property at will, and the clamor for change is to take away such power. It is claimed that religious bodies more careful in management hold onto downtown properties as Methodists do not, just because of this provision.

The other change for which some Methodists are agitating is the boundaries of conference lines. It has come about that not a few large cities are divided between two conferences. It is also the case that some States are split into two or more conferences. Now the proposition is to make conference and State boundaries the same as far as possible, and in particular to throw all Methodist work in any city into the same conference, making the city a centre. PERSONALS.

It is the aim of THE CHRONICLE to publish as many personal and social items as possible, but it frequently happens that those who have guests visiting them, and those who entertain, fail to send a list of their friends, or an account of these events, to this office. Readers who live at a distance are always interested in what is going on "at home," and for that reason, if for no other, this column should be filled every week. After months of pending litigation, the estate or the late James T. Hays, of Emmitsburg, is now ready for settlement, and $90,000 will shortly be paid out by the administrator, Thomas C.
