ALASKAN ROAD TO OPEN COAL FIELDS

Great Undeveloped Areas Invite Commercial Operation.

TO BUILD LINE BY CONTRACT

W. C. Edes Is Chairman of Commission In Charge of Big Government Enterprise—Alaska Northern Route, Seventy-one Miles Long, Bought by Government.

Washington.—The two greatest undeveloped coal fields in America, so far as is now known, will be surveyed in detail by the government this season, and a year hence it is expected they will be ready for commercial operations.

To one of these fields a railroad will be opened within the year, or as soon thereafter as possible. To the other a road will be opened just as soon as the examination of physical conditions shall make it certain that the terminal is satisfactory and the approach to the field satisfactory.

These will be immediate results of the action of President Wilson in signing the order under which construction of the government railroad system in Alaska will begin at once.

The president in signing the order designated that the Alaska Northern road shall be bought by the government and then extended up the Susitna valley to Fairbanks. This will make a total of 471 miles of road from tide-water at Resurrection bay to Fairbanks. A branch thirty-eight miles long will extend into the Matanuska coal field, which has been shown by careful tests to produce a high grade of semanthracite coal of excellent quality for use by the navy.

There were two routes competing for the selection at this time—one from Seward Island, which has been selected; the other going inland by way of the present Copper River and Northwestern railroad, up the Copper river and making available the Bering river coal deposits. It is understood that the decision in favor of the Alaska Northern route was settled by reason of the fact that the navy has tested coals of the Matanuska and Bering river fields and gave its verdict in favor of the former coals.

The government is going to reserve 5,000 acres of the best coal for its own development and use, thus insuring a naval supply for generations to come, no matter what may become of the remainder of the two fields.

In deciding to buy the Alaska Northern road, seventy-one miles long, and extend it up the Susitna valley to Fairbanks the government rejected the offer of the Copper River and Northwestern line, which is 196 miles long. It will pay $1,150,000 for the Alaska Northern, which is said to be less than the valuation fixed on it by the government appraisers, while it is understood that about $15,000,000 was asked for the Copper River line, a fine and complete road, built, however, in a difficult region and at great cost.

The president directs that the present Alaska engineering commission, composed of William C. Edes (chairman), Lieutenant Frederick Mears and Thomas Riggs, Jr., shall manage the construction of the lines. The work, however, will be done by contract in sections, instead of directly.

One reason why the Alaska Northern was taken over, as Secretary Lane explains, is that it opens up a generally good country for agricultural, livestock and mining purposes. It is the government's wish that there shall not be an untimely rush of ill equipped bonanza seekers to Alaska, and that is feared in spite of all warnings to the contrary.

Along the route that has been chosen lies the Susitna valley, which, to a large extent, is unknown in detail, though it contains much of gold and great areas of land available for agriculture and stock raising. Big gold strikes have been reported lately along this route and important finds of quartz in the Mount McKinley country.

Old Cures.

The antiquary took down a little gray book. "Here is a 'family doctor,'" he said, "that was published as far back as 1561. Talk about your quaint prescriptions!" The first prescription, a truly quaint one, ran: "If a man be greved with the falling sickness, let him take a he-wolves harte and make it to powder and use it; but if it be a woman, let her take a she-wolves harte." A 1561 jaundice cure was: "Take earthwormes and cut them small, and braye them with a little wyne so that ye may swallow it; drinke the same fasting." For toothache: "Seeth as many little frogges sitting upon trees as thou canst get, in water; take the fat fowynge from them, and when nede is, anoynt the teeth therewith."

TRADE OF ALLIES HAS SUFFERED MUCH MORE

Their Losses $43,000,000, Germany's $13,800,000.

Washington.—Great Britain has lost far less trade during the war than any of her allies, according to figures gathered by the department of commerce. France's sacrifice of American trade has been seven times as great as that of England.

During the last seven months, ending with January, the approximate decrease in the value of goods exported by the allies to the United States was Great Britain, $4,265,000; Belgium, $9,245,000; France, $29,600,000.

Germany's sales of goods to the United States in the same period fell off $13,800,000, as compared with the seven months ending with January, 1914.

Each of the four nations named experienced both gains and losses in their various lines of exports to the United States in the last seven months. Britain's gains were $13,630,000, losses $17,900,000; Belgium gained $930,000 and lost $10,200,000; France gained $1,000,000 and lost $30,600,000; Germany, gained $1,800,000 and lost $15,600,000.

The chief losses in England's export trade to the United States were in rubber, uncut diamonds, pig tin, tin plate, carpets, cocoa, copper, embroideries and trimmings, jute fabrics, linens, furs, hides and skins, iron and its products, gin, whisky and tea. Her chief gains were in exports of art works, opium, cotton and woolen goods, wool, leather and its products, paper and books, cut diamonds.

Germany's chief losses were in art works, embroideries, linens, furs, calf skins, crude rubber, leather gloves, printing paper, clover, silks and embroideries and wines. Her large gains were in leather and wool goods.

The net losses of the allies in exports to America as compared with Germany were: Allies, $43,000,000; Germany, $13,800,000.

There is practically no direct trade between Russia and the United States so no account has been taken of the figures.

FIRE SHOTS IN SLEEP.

His Dream of Stolen Chickens Frees Roumanian.

Kansas City, Mo.—Joseph Sharder, Roumanian, was discharged in the north side court as the result of an unusual story of somnambulism. He was arrested by Patrolman P. L. Savidge for discharging firearms near his home.

Sharder told Judge Charles Clark that he had been asleep and dreamed some one was stealing his chickens. He said he took his revolver from a drawer and began shooting at the chicken thieves and that he was not awakened until the officer arrested him, although the shots he fired awakened the entire neighborhood.

Sharder had to be overpowered by the patrolman before he could be disarmed.

ROYAL PORTRAITS FOUND.

Boston.—Four portrait heads of ancient Egyptian princes, discovered in excavation of the royal cemetery at Giza, will be sent to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, according to word from Dr. George A. Reisner, in charge of explorations for the museum in Egypt.

They are part of a group of eight unearthed in a pit previously examined by a European archaeologist and supposed to have been exhausted. Four will be placed in the museum at Cairo. Dr. Reisner writes:

"The importance of these portraits from the artistic, the historical and the merely human point of view makes the groups a find almost equal to the group of statues found in the Mycerinus temples.

"The men and women whose faces they show us had spoken with Cheops and Chephren and had seen the first and second pyramids in building."

Dr. Reisner thinks that some of these portraits support the theory that Egyptian rulers of the fourth dynasty, 2900-2750 B. C., had negro blood.

The Bright Side.

"What is you sorrowful about?" Brother Williams asked. "De harricane ain't blowed yo' roof tree down yet; de land is still here, an' yo' two foots is on it; yo' ain't too deaf ter hear de dinner bell, an' dar's plenty on de table. De only trouble is yo' is too ongrateful ter thank de Lawd for what yo' got an' ax a blessin' over it!"—Atlanta Constitution.

SUBMARINE PERIL SOLVED BY EDISON

Enables Craft to Remain Submerged 100 Days.

UNDERSEA RANGE 150 MILES

Potash Solution, Replacing Sulphuric Acid, Obviates Danger of Chlorine Gas Poison—Invention Will Be Installed in Vessels Soon to Be Launched at Portsmouth Navy Yard.

Portsmouth, N. H.—The United States government is building at its navy yard here a submarine of a type that will excel any boat of the kind in existence in the matter of undersea radius. It will be equipped with apparatus designed and built by Thomas A. Edison that will enable its crew to live for a period of 100 days at the bottom of the sea if the craft should meet with an accident similar to that which disabled the F-4 in Honolulu harbor.

This announcement was made by Miller Reese Hutchison, chief engineer and personal representative of Mr. Edison.

It is asserted that the new Edison batteries will give the submarine an undersea cruising range of 150 miles more than a third longer than that of any present submarine, and will eliminate the dangers to the crew of chlorine and sulphuric acid gas poisoning.

Mr. Edison and his staff are now working on the batteries for the new submarine, the L-S, and it was announced that Mrs. John Eyre Sloane daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edison, had accepted the invitation of Secretary of the Navy Daniels to name the vessel. This is the only submarine which the government has attempted to build in one of its own yards.

An agent of one of the powers at war had visited the Edison laboratories to negotiate for the purchase of a supply of the new batteries. Since the war began practically all of the belligerents have sought to equip submarines with Edison batteries, but the inventor has refused to deliver any until they should have proved that they could stand all of the most severe tests to which they could be subjected.

Mr. Edison has been experimenting on submarine batteries since 1910. One of the European powers now at war began three years ago to attempt to obtain batteries for its submarines from him. Mr. Hutchison said that the inventor had begun work on the submarine batteries for humanitarian reasons, hoping to protect crews from the risk of being killed by poisonous gases. He added that all navies would be allowed to use the batteries for their submarines.

Before the L-S is launched at Portsmouth another United States submarine will be equipped with the Edison batteries. This is the E-2, whose crew suffered severely from poisoning by chlorine gas when their craft was submerged near Newport last summer. When the E-2 was laid up after that accident it was decided to install the Edison batteries, and the E-2 probably will return to the water equipped with them in a few weeks.

"One of the greatest difficulties with submarines has been the danger from chlorine poisoning," Mr. Hutchison said. "The batteries at present contain sulphuric acid. If it is able to escape through the lead lining and the hard rubber jars, as frequently occurs at present, it eats its way into the inner steel skin of the submarine.

"The new Edison battery contains a potash solution and the only metal in it is steel and nickel. The submarine is of steel and it floats in an alkaline solution of salt water. Our new batteries are of steel and contain an alkali solution—so the principle is steel within steel and alkali within alkali. The cause of the generation of poisonous gases does not exist.

"The Edison submarine batteries will furnish power on which the submarine can cruise under water at the rate of between four and five knots for 150 miles.

"The L-S will have a cruising range on its surface engines of 2,500 miles and a total range of 2,650. It will carry six torpedoes, making a thirty two knot speed, with a range of between 4,500 and 5,000 yards."

Warrior Marries at Eighty.

Colfax, Wash.—E. D. Lake, aged eighty, a veteran of the civil war and a resident of Colfax for nearly forty years, after an absence of two years returned to Colfax with his bride. He married Mrs. Anna Wells of Port Orchard.

Farming in Belgium.

Berlin.—The German authorities in Belgium will try to make the country self supporting by raising corn, potatoes, etc., instead of sugar beets.

BIG LIVE STOCK YEAR FOR THE SOUTHWEST

Best in Half a Century, Say Government Experts.

Hereford, Tex.—This is to be the greatest year for stockmen of the southwest in half a century, according to Dr. George A. Lipp of the bureau of animal industry of the department of agriculture, who recently made a tour of parts of Texas and New Mexico.

"Taken as a whole, last winter was hard on both cattle and sheep," says Dr. Lipp, "but the loss has been comparatively small, less even than in less severe winters, because the stockman has learned how to take care of his stock. They have come to realize that they must feed; that winter range alone will not produce the income to which they are entitled.

"Cattle and sheep are worth too much these days to lose. Ewes are worth $6.50 a head and wool is likely to be worth 18 to 22 cents a pound this year. The prospects for a big spring crop of lambs is better than it has been for a long time. It would take a miracle to prevent the stockman of the southwest making some money this year. There is very little scab and little infection on the open range."

Conditions in the western part of New Mexico and in Arizona have not been good, particularly among the Moqui and Navajo Indians, who have been heavy losers of sheep from cold weather and deep snows. The government has begun the erection of windmills on the Indian reservations of New Mexico and Arizona to foster the livestock industry.

DEAF MUTE, FIVE, A WONDER.

St. Louis.—Ernest Smith, five years old, deaf, dumb and almost blind, was taken from the City hospital three years ago, after his mother deserted him, by the Missouri Branch International Sunshine society and is in a fair way of becoming as remarkable as Helen Keller, according to medical authorities, specialists and instructors in the Missouri School for the Blind.

The child, who three years ago was not expected to live and who was declared to be mentally defective, is an excellent proof of what care, the proper treatment and skilled attention will accomplish. At five years of age he displays a healthy devotion to the sports indulged in by boys of his age the world over and an alarming interest in the carrying out of mischievous pursuits.

Since an operation performed several months ago, which restored to him in a slight measure the use of his left eye, he has displayed a sense of touch and perception which has set his elders wondering and which has determined them to secure for him the best advantages obtainable to make himself other than an ordinary mute.

He recognizes colors readily, is able to distinguish his Sunday clothes from those of the everyday variety, he is quick to notice anything new in the wearing apparel or speech of the visitor in the home in which he is being cared for, and he makes known his likes and dislikes in an emphatic manner in everything, running the gamut from foodstuffs to persons.

HER "BABY" PAST SEVENTY.

Mrs. Breaux, 110, Believed to Be Oldest Mother.

Thibodaux, La.—Lafourche parish is boasting of the oldest mother in the south. She is Mrs. Paul Breaux, 110 years old. She has children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren. Her descendants in the direct line are so far estimated at from five to six generations and exceed 1,000, scattered over the entire state.

Her youngest child is in his seventies, and one of her children, still living, is more than ninety. The oldest mother still gets about her premises unassisted, and while her eyesight had been bad, it is now sufficiently good to permit the threading of a needle. She finds pleasure in getting out in her yard and feeding the chickens and poultry. She was married when thirteen.

Set No Bounds.

We need not be afraid that we shall go too far in serving others. There is no danger that any of us will ever go far in the walk of active love. There is no likelihood that any of us will become too bountiful, too kind, too helpful to his neighbor.—J. C. Hare.

Let 'Er Shoot!

"Allow me to introduce Mr. McKanonical, inventor of the letter chute."

"Glad to know you. But why do you inventors spend all your genius inventing war engines?"—New York Mail.

RUSSIA SEEKING AMERICAN TRADE

Manufacturers Are Advised to Go After This New Business.

NATION STRONG FINANCIALLY

Sazonoff, Minister of Foreign Affairs, Points Out Opportunities For Americans—Money Once Spent on Vodka Now Used For Agriculture—Bank Savings Make Record.

Chicago.—From its correspondent in Petrograd the Tribune publishes a dispatch quoting M. Sazonoff, the Russian minister of foreign affairs.

"Russia wants just two things of America, the first and most important being a permanent maintenance of the close and cordial relations between the two nations; the second, an enormous quantity of all kinds of manufactured articles," he asserted.

"Before the war Germany supplied from its workshops the greater part of Russia's demand, and as for commodities it could not supply itself acted as the middleman, exacting large profits.

"German merchants readily adapted themselves to Russian customs and had an added advantage of national good will.

"After this war Russia will prefer to buy elsewhere all the goods it used to buy in Germany upon comparatively equal terms.

"Now especially is the time for American manufacturers to send agents to learn the Russian ways in order to be in a position to fill the enormous demand on the part of the civil population when the war ends. The Russian government will lend cordial aid to all American firms wishing to trade with Russia.

"Even before the war Russia had established a line of steamers trading directly from Libau with New York. It will encourage more such Russian companies and will also encourage American companies trading to Russian ports."

The Russian government, the correspondent points out, is the largest single purchaser in the world. He also says that Russia offers not merely a market formerly monopolized by Germany, but an added market due to the abolition of the vodka traffic. The Russian peasant now has his vodka money to put into agricultural machinery. He has already become a more productive man, and even in this war time is a greater consumer of manufactured articles.

"The situation in Russia from the military, economic and political points of view is better today than it has been at any other time since the first retreat of the Germans from Russian Poland.

"The country outside the war zone has suffered astonishingly little materially from the war. The purchasing power of the rouble has depreciated very little, food supplies are plentiful, and the agricultural population, except in the immediate war area, has more actual money than ever before, owing to the prohibition of vodka drinking. This is shown by the January savings deposits, which were more for the one month than for the whole of the previous year.

"It is declared in Russia that any independent peace with Austria must involve the question of neutral trading with Germany, for at this time Austria as a neutral power friendly to Germany might prove more dangerous to the allies than Austria actively hostile, but disintegrating through defeat.

"A separate peace, it is said, must contain a clause giving the allies control during the war of the Austro-German frontier. In addition, the allies cannot guarantee weakened Austria against attack by Italy."

FRENCH HAVE NEW SHELL.

Said to Increase Tenfold Power of Cannon Used In War.

Paris.—The semi-official Bulletin des Armees says, "Without entering into details, which it is impossible to give, it is permissible to state that a new explosive has recently increased the power of French cannon tenfold."

The bulletin guards the details of manufacture and the composition of the new explosive, but says that it has been used with terrible effect in the French 75 centimeter (3 inch) field-piece.

Advices from the front recently said that the shell, in which the new French explosive is used, has caused enormous losses in German ranks, at times moving down trees and burying the foes in the debris. German prisoners have been driven to the point of insanity by the destructive effect of the new French shells.

COLORADO CONVICTS BUILD GOOD ROADS

Both State and Prisoners Benefit by New System.

Colorado Springs, Colo.—The Colorado Springs and Canyon City highway and the Pikes peak ocean to ocean road in Ute pass are two of the best mountain roads in the United States and two of the best examples of the results of convict labor.

The first named is a fine example of scientific road building. For twenty miles south of Colorado Springs the road winds around the foothills and mountains, practically the entire road having been cut out of the hillside and in many places blasted out of solid rock. For the remaining twenty-five miles the way is over foothills and through undulating country. Besides being a marvel in engineering, the road is one of the most scenic and picturesque in the west, passing, as it does, through Red Rock canyon, Dead Man's canyon and many other mountain beauty spots.

The road averages eighteen feet in width and is perfectly crowned and drained. Although it offers a succession of climbs, so skillfully was the engineering work done that heavy grades have been eliminated, and the motorist is confronted with only one grade as high as 6 per cent.

Under the Colorado system each convict is allowed ten days of his sentence for each month of labor on the roads. This is in addition to the usual reduction for good behavior. The cost of building many of the mountain roads would be almost prohibitive if the state were compelled to construct them under ordinary conditions.

The entire country has reaped the benefits of Colorado's pioneering because it has been able to open to travelers from all sections of the country some of its most splendid mountain scenery.

Thomas J. Tynan, warden of the state penitentiary, under whose supervision the work of the last three years has been done, says:

"Basing our figures on actual experience, we are confident that we can construct in the next ten years more than 5,000 miles of the very finest roadways for less than $500,000, and this without adding anything whatever to the burden of the taxpayers.

"The man who is allowed to leave the prison for the road camp has practically seen the last of prison life if he conducts himself properly. His food and clothing are better; his self respect is preserved. During the last three years we have had more than 1,000 unguarded individual prisoners in the convict camps. Less than 1 per cent have violated their pledges and made successful escape."

HUCKLEBERRY FINN AT 90.

Original of Mark Twain's Hero Tells How It Came About.

Portland, Ore.—B. F. Finn, the original Huckleberry Finn of Mark Twain's books, has just celebrated his ninetieth birthday at his ranch on the McKenzie river near here and is hale and hearty. He has a vivid recollection of Mark Twain, with whom he worked on a Mississippi steambot, but says Twain really didn't get much from himself of what he wrote about Huckleberry Finn except the name.

"We called Clemens Charley in those days," said Finn. "He and I both worked on the steamer Shotwell, running out of St. Louis. I was nicknamed Huckleberry, and Clemens seemed to take a fancy to the name. Tom Sawyer was my chum, but I was well grown before Clemens knew me." Finn has lived on the McKenzie river here for forty years past and seldom emerges from his retreat.

BUSTER QUILTS JINGLING.

He Used to Until Doctor Took Marbles From Stomach.

Chicago.—Buster is back at home again, romping and feeling much lighter in spirits and weight. Buster is a prize Boston terrier belonging to J. Nahser. One of the dog's tricks is to retrieve a ball thrown by four-year-old Earl Nahser.

Some time ago Earl and Buster began playing marbles. Earl would throw one and Buster would tear through the house after it. But somehow Buster never brought them back.

It was noticed that when Buster ran through the house he made an odd sound, like pieces of broken china jingling. One day Mr. Nahser rubbed Buster's stomach. It jingled.

Seagulls as Scouts.

London.—Seagulls, frightened by the sudden rising of a German submarine periscope, arose in a cloud and thus warned and saved a British cruiser and 800 men of the North sea fleet.

Mr. J. T. Wilson, Calvert Co., Md., August 19, 1914, writes: "John Baer" Tomatoes are the earliest I have ever raised. They would have been very much earlier but for the long, dry season which nearly killed them even to the first in my neighborhood to pick tomatoes. It is a fine tomato for table use or for canning. It has not as many seeds as other tomatoes. You can recommend "John Baer" tomato highly for early use." CAME FOR TEN MILES AROUND TO SEE "JOHN BAER" TOMATOES.

Mr. Thos. Howe, Washington Co., Md., writes July 30, 1914: "John Baer" Tomatoes done so fine for me I cannot say enough about them. I grew 1500 plants from the $1.00 package of seed. I picked fine ripe tomatoes from the last part of June to the last of July - 300 baskets in all, selling them at $1.25 per basket and now the vines are still loaded with tomatoes. There were absolutely no culls among them. Some of the vines had 105 tomatoes. People came for 10 miles around to see them. If I had bought one-quarter pound of the seed I should have made several hundred dollars more off them for over two months. I had a very successful crop."

THE NEW STANDARD. "It is largely the EARLINESS and UNIFORMITY with which the plants bear a LARGE NUMBER OF LARGE, SMOOTH FRUIT throughout the ripening season, that makes Bolgiano's 'Greater Baltimore' superior to Stone which has been the standard canning variety for many years." During our Picking Season from July 25th to October 1st, Bolgiano's 'Greater Baltimore' yielded nearly 22 Tons Per Acre. PROF. J. G. BOYLE, Dept. Hort. Purdue University, Indiana.

TRENDING CROPS YEAR AFTER YEAR - 1913 - T. A. SNYDER PRESERVING CO., Chicago, writes: "Enter our order for Thousand (1,000) pounds 'Greater Baltimore' Tomato Seed. Bolgiano's 'Greater Baltimore' produced the largest, the most Tremendous Tomato Crop we have ever had in our lives at Fairmount, Marion and Tipton, Indiana." - 1914 - T. A. SNYDER PRESERVING CO., Chicago, writes: "We have been so busy with our Big Tomato Crops, we have neglected writing you in regard to Thousand Pound Bolgiano's 'Greater Baltimore' Seed for our 1915 crop. We feel satisfied you are going to have a lot of good-sized orders this year from the canners of Indiana, because they have seen our fields of 'Greater Baltimore' growing." TWO TONS PER ACRE MORE. On January 30th, Mr. Wm. B. Plummer, of Kent Co., Md., writes as follows: "I have planted many varieties of Tomatoes, but have not found any other to do as well for me as the 'Greater Baltimore'. The past season we gathered over two tons per acre more than any other varieties. It is one of the best varieties that can be planted for canning purposes on account of firmness, standing through or wet weather. They are the first to ripen and continue firm and good-sized until frost." ORDER NOW - SUPPLY LIMITED. ### Needle Found in Baby's Side.

Irritable for a period of nine months, Robert Surguy, aged 11 months, was transformed into the best-tempered baby in Frederick one day last week in the fraction of a minute. While the mother, Mrs. Henry Surguy, was giving the little chap a bath she felt a sting on one of her hands, and glancing at the member discovered she had received a severe cut. Investigating she found a point of a needle protruding from the baby's side. With a pair of pliers she removed a good-sized needle. It is not known what part of the body the needle entered. It, however, came out from below the ribs. For months the physicians had laid the infant's cranky disposition to teething.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county.

EMMITSBURG.

In all Western Maryland—the beauty spot and the garden spot of the State—there is no town more attractive than Emmitsburg.

Mount Saint Mary's College and Ecclesiastical Seminary—with an enviable reputation extending over 106 years—is located here; St. Joseph's College and Academy for young ladies—equally as noted during its 105 years of splendid achievement—is also here.

There are excellent Schools—Public and Parochial—in Emmitsburg; two sound Banks, five Churches, a live Newspaper, modern Hotel accommodations, adequate Fire Department, progressive merchants, splendid physicians, good liverys, auto garages, many fraternal organizations, good railroad accommodations.

There is business to be had in Emmitsburg; there are Factory Sites available. If you contemplate changing your place of residence—come to Emmitsburg, Frederick County, Md.

ANOTHER VOLUME.

With this issue THE CHRONICLE enters upon its thirty-seventh year. It was founded in 1879 by Samuel Motter who in his "Introduction" said "our first aim shall be to present THE CHRONICLE as a medium through which the outer world may learn our aims, our hopes and high resolves."

Emmitsburg has had good aims and fond hopes and during the thirty-six years of its existence this paper has endeavored to make them realities, has tried to make these resolves materialize.

Whether or not it has succeeded is for others to determine. "To err is human," and being but human we have often erred; but may we say that our mistakes have been those of the head and not the heart.

And as the days go by may we still claim the good will, the kindly interest and the generous co-operation of our patrons in whose interest THE CHRONICLE has and shall ever labor?

HAS NOTHING ON MARYLAND.

In an old distillery out in Kentucky they make a brand of whiskey—so the owners declare—in which is imprisoned "the golden ray of sunshine," in which is incorporated "the succulent juices of the soil," in which is combined "the melody of the lark, and the fragrance of the rose."

Some pleasure potion, that; but it lacks many of the rare qualities characteristic of certain brands of Maryland joy juice. Properly mixed by an expert and served with plenty of that a la scenery, two draughts, so they say, will heighten the imagination to the extent of making a crow caw resemble the dulcet tones of a Geraldine Farrar, a hay stack look like a bride's bouquet and a clothes line full of blue overalls on a dull November day seem like a vivid rainbow after an April shower.

It is on record at Annapolis that folks after imbibing four measures of this amber fluid have claimed the authorship of the Declaration of Independence, recited the whole of the Koran, essayed to motor a seven-passenger car on the top of a fence rail and to put fifteen pool balls in the side pocket with a miscue.

As for dreams—a willing victim who had stunned his stomach with six Roman candle cocktails made of some of this Maryland corn essence was found in an ice house, so the story goes, fanning himself with a stove lifter and singing, "She's the gayest little stiff in the morgue." On being awakened he stated that he dreamed he was Captain Peary crossing the Delaware, in a taxi with Nero, Christopher Columbus, and Carrie Nation as companions.

Kentucky may lay claim to a whole lot, but there are many who put boast that the extract that put Bacchus and Tantalus in mythology is produced in Maryland.

AN UNPOPULAR DECISION.

The Supreme Court has reviewed the Frank case, and unless the governor of Georgia commutes the sentence this victim of "due process of law" will forfeit his life. "Due process of law" in this instance takes no cognizance of the evidence submitted during the trial, nor does it deal with the Georgia court's consideration of that evidence; hence the highest tribunal passed solely upon technical points, and technical processes and, in the intimidation of the dissenting justices, countenanced lynch law "practiced by a regularly drawn jury."

Says the New York Times: "Certainly procedure is form, it is not of the substance. Procedure may kill where the substance would give life. It is the prevailing opinion outside the State of Georgia that that is precisely what is happening in this case."

Outside of the State of Georgia public opinion coincides with that of Justice Holmes: the presumption is "overwhelming that the jury responded to the passions of the mob." The popular verdict is that Frank did not, and could not under the circumstances, have a fair trial; that the letter of the law and not the spirit of the law has been enforced; that the essence, the truth and the facts have been overshadowed, really effaced, by a mass of superficial technicalities.

FOREST FIRES.

Maryland, a State which yearly uses over 40,000,000 feet of lumber more than it produces, can ill afford the forest fires which for the past weeks have been burning over a large area of the mountain land in this section.

The forests must be protected if we are to have pure water, health, thriving industries and prosperity. The neighboring mountain fires will not be without some good effect, however, if they serve to drive home the great lesson of conservation of woodland. When the people learn the great work that forests do to make the world habitable, the ruthless destruction of timberland by the axe will be curbed, and the announcement of a forest fire will be the signal for instant and practical assistance from every quarter.

A campaign of education is necessary if any real result is to be obtained. Other States have accomplished much along this line. Maryland has made a start in the work and her progress is gratifying. More publicity would help it appreciably.

MONARCHS' thoughts—With shrapnel flying through the night and bombs a-mowing thousands down, true it is that "uneasy lies the head that wears a crown."

AFTER all there is only one type of man who can literally look down on the world—the aviator.

WHEN the war is over Mother Goose rhymes will have to put it: "I'm Captain Jinks of the Submarines."

In many ways the full "scout" doth reveal, the presence of the "bun" he would conceal.

Stale Bread or Fresh Bread. Most persons don't like stale bread so well as fresh, though many consider it more digestible. As a matter of fact fresh bread is just as digestible as stale, if it be chewed as much, but its very softness is a temptation to chew it too little, hence it is swallowed without the admixture of enough saliva to digest its starch.

Human Levers. All man made machinery runs with wheels. Yet there is not a single wheel in the human body.

Japan's Hokey Pokey Men. Japanese children are amused by the rice jelly molders, or amezakuya, as American children are by the hokey pokey ice cream itinerant.

Bagdad's Mysterious Scourge. An uncanny, pernicious pest called the "date boil" scars the face of every human born in Bagdad. Children invariably have this dreadful sore on their faces.

White men from foreign lands have lived years in Arabia, only to have this boil appear upon their return to civilization, where its presence is embarrassing and hard to explain.

Inca Relics. Before taking leave of Cuzco, Peru, we went to see the very interesting collection of Inca relics in the private museum of a Peruvian doctor who has devoted many years of his life to Inca research.

Fighting the Rat. The greatest enemy of man is man and next to him perhaps the rat. He is incredibly cunning. He can live in any climate. He sails the sea in ships. He forages in the open fields or burrows through walls and intrudes into the home.

War and Aeroplanes. The art of war has been robbed by the aeroplane of the element of surprise which afforded Napoleon dramatic opportunity for the display of his genius.

Heroic Mustache. Probably no dog has ever rendered such signal military service or been so honorably recognized as the celebrated poodle Mustache, who shared the victorious fortunes of the French army through most of the wars of the consulate and of the French empire.

Detecting Erasures. If paper upon which erasures of writing have been made is exposed to the vapor of iodine the roughened surface takes a different tint from that portion which has not been tampered with.

No Bargain. The strap had been applied to a five-year-old unruly. "Now, the next time I have to punish you," said the stern parent, "you will go to bed for a day in the bargain."

Tippling His Hand. Rankin—Uncle Sol Sodbuster pretends to be an experienced chauffeur, but I know he hasn't owned a machine very long.

Relieving His Feelings. "Father, don't men call themselves bachelors before they get married?" "Yes, my boy."

Your Own House. A man may be said to have done better than the average if, when he dies, the house in which he lived is in his own name and free from mortgages.

Husbands. There are two kinds of successful husbands—those who fool their wives and those who don't try.—Washington Herald.

There is never any good to be expected of young men who confess their sins and repent and straightway fall into them again. Baize.

THE ONE SURE WAY

To have money is to save it. The one sure way to save it is by depositing it in a responsible bank. You will then be exempt from the annoyance of having it burn holes in your pockets, and aside from the fact that your money will be safe from theft, the habit of saving tends to the establishment of thrift, economy, discipline and a general understanding of business principals essential to your success.

To those wishing to establish relations with a safe, strong bank, we heartily extend our services.

Dedication of New Pipe Organ.

Last Sunday morning the service in the Lutheran church centered in the formal dedication of the new two-manual pipe organ recently installed to replace the old pipe organ in use since 1889. This valued instrument crowns with deserving success the persevering efforts of the congregation, and especially the head of the committee on purchase of the organ, Mrs. A. M. Patterson. Recognition is also duly accorded the Carnegie Corporation for a donation of $575. The entire cost of the new organ was $1,600 exclusive of the electrical blower. Special music was prepared and rendered on this occasion by the choir under the leadership of their efficient organist, Miss Ruth A. Patterson.

Indian Scout Injured.

Joseph A. Walling, of Frederick, Md., a Spanish War veteran and a former Indian scout, who was on his way overland, riding a pony purchased in Emmitsburg from Patterson Bros., to the San Francisco Exposition, is in the Ohio Valley General Hospital, Wheeling, W. Va., with a leg broken in three places. Walling had just gotten the signatures of the Mayor and Chief of Police and was mounting his horse, when a street car frightened the animal causing it to stumble and fall. Walling's legs were caught under the pony, and one of them was badly broken in three places. An ambulance conveyed him to the hospital, and the physicians state that he will be confined there for at least six weeks.

Cheap Paint.

The cheapest paint is the one that goes farthest and wears best; there is most in a gallon of it.

What is a quart of milk worth? Depends on the milk.

So of paint; depends on the paint.

Devoe is worth the top price, whatever it is. Poor paint is worth nothing at all; you've got to pay your painter $3 or $4 a gallon for putting it on; and it isn't worth it.

Devoe goes twice as far and wears twice or three times or four times as long.

The cheap paint is Devoe at the top of the market.

FOREST FIRES RAGE IN COUNTY

During the past week damage to the extent of thousands upon thousands of dollars has been caused by forest fires in Maryland. Five thousand acres of woodland were burned over in a single Frederick county fire, which at times threatened nearby towns with destruction. It was the worst fire the county has experienced in 25 years. It is estimated that $12,000 worth of timber was destroyed.

The fire started Saturday near Edgemont and by midnight had extended nearly to Shookstown. Relays of from 20 to 50 men fought it all night, and the next day the force was increased to about 400. The fire extended in an almost unbroken line from Shookstown across the entire mountain side to Harmony, a distance of nearly seven miles. From the villages of Harmony, Shookstown, Edgemont, Yellow Springs and Rocky Springs the flames could be seen leaping from tree to tree, and at times a roar was heard that terrorized residents of the mountain side.

The fire has burned over the lands of William Wolfe, Charles Sanner, Vernon Feaga, Elmer Feaga, John Grove, Staley Doub, John Korrell, Jacob Feaga, Lewis Kemp, William Lortz, Arthur English, Nincent Crabbs, Nicholas Ricketts and others. Barns and outbuildings were threatened on the Lortz, Korrell and Crabbs farms.

Two fires near Urbana at the same time burned over a large acreage of mountain land. An overhead bridge on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad near Werverton caught fire Friday and after burning nearly an hour dropped on the rails. Traffic was delayed until railroad men, assisted by farmers, removed the debris.

Two fires on the Thropp property near Catactin Furnace burned over several hundred acres of land. A large force cutting timber stopped their work and fought the flames. Fencing was burned and a quantity of wood was consumed. The blaze came within a mile of Thurmont at one time.

Most of the fires are said to be of incendiary origin and, owing to the drought, gained rapid headway.

The fires had been partially checked, when the heavy rain extinguished them.

A woods fire near Port Deposit got beyond control on Monday and it was only by strenuous efforts of hundreds of men that the town of Perryville was saved. At Rock Springs, north of Port Deposit a raging forest fire illuminated the Susquehanna valley several nights.

Burning over hundreds of acres of woodland and seriously menacing the many bungalows and summer homes of Baltimoreans along the Magothy River, a large forest fire, which started about 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, near Robinson Station, on the Annapolis Boulevard, was gotten under control after several hours after it had consumed a number of boats and boathouses.

With the woods and fields as dry as tinder from the recent dry spell, the fire, which seemed small at the start, soon gained headway, and, fanned by a southwest wind, soon spread over the land of the Arundell Peach Realty Company, and down on the river along the shores of which are located the summer homes of hundreds of Baltimoreans.

An Interview with Mr. Ford

This is the most Important Advertisement I Ever Caused to be Published.--Read Every Word-- And then Marvel!

On a personal visit to Mr. Henry Ford I broached the subject of a possible August 1st Rebate.

(The Ford Company announced last year--as you well remember--that if their total sales reached 300,000 cars between August 1, 1914, and August 1, 1915, each purchaser during that period would receive back a refund of $40.00 to $60.00.)

"Mr. Ford," I suggested, "Is there anything I can say to our people with regard to the Ford Motor Company's 300,000 car rebate plan?"

"We shall sell the 300,000," was the quiet reply--"and in 11 months, a full month ahead of August 1st!"

"Then a refund is practically assured?"

"Yes--barring the totally unexpected. We are 50,000 to 75,000 cars behind orders to-day. Factory and branches are sending out 1800 daily."

I then said to Mr. Ford: "If I could make a definite refund statement we would increase our local sales 500 cars."

"You may say," was Mr. Ford's deliberate and significant reply to this--"You may say that we shall pay back to each purchaser of a Ford car between August 1, 1914, and August 1, 1915, barring the unforeseen, the sum of $50. You may say that I authorized you to make this statement!"

What can I add to the above? $15,000,000 cash coming back to Ford owners! And to prospective Ford owners up to August 1, 1915, it actually means--Ford Touring Cars for $490--less the $50 rebate! Ford Runabouts for $440--less the $50 rebate! What is there left for me to say?

Why grin and bear all these ills when Sloan's Liniment kills pain?

"I have used your Liniment and can say it is fine. I have used it for sore throat, strained shoulder, and it acted like a charm."--Allen Dunn, Route 1, Box 88, Pine Valley, Miss.

"I am a painter and paperhanger by trade, consequently up and down ladders. About two years ago my left knee became lame and sore. It pained me at nights at times till I could not rest, and I was contemplating giving up my trade on account of it when I chanced to think of Sloan's Liniment. I had never tried it before, and I am glad to state that less than one 25c. bottle fixed me up apparently as good as ever."--Charles C. Campbell, Florence, Texas.

Club Women Work to Clean Up and Paint Up Five Thousand Cities

CIVIC LEADERS PUT BAN ON PINK TEAS.

"Clean Yards, a Few Shrubs and Flowers, and a Little Paint, for a Better Hometown"—Mrs. Clarence Baxter.

THAT the club women of America are not waiting for full suffrage before taking an active part in civic betterment work is proven by the earnest efforts of thousands of women in local "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaigns in practically every state in the Union. "The men are too busy, or too chesty," said one of these women, "to see the need of or to do simple beautification and sanitation work. And yet that work is vital to the health of thousands and to the progress of the community in better living conditions to keep pace with increasing population."

"There was a time," she continued, "when pink teas and gossip characterized our local club meetings. But that time is past. There are a million things for the betterment of the town that we are able to do, and we are trying to do them as fast as we can get to them. The 'Clean Up and Paint Up' campaign, in which we are working shoulder to shoulder with the men, embodies a big batch of improvements we have had in mind. This campaign seems to be a fortunate combination of ideals, 'Clean Up' and 'Paint Up.' It gives us work to do now, with a definite program to start things off, and with absolutely no end of possibilities in permanent constructive effort. And the best of it is that this campaign simply forces the men to work with us. A successful campaign means an increased demand for many kinds of merchandise, means conservation of property, means increased realty values—it means a better business town and a better home town. Why shouldn't the men lend a hand?"

And this woman is not alone in her enthusiasm. Mrs. Clarence Baxter, chairman of the Women's Committee of the National "Clean Up and Paint Up" Campaign Bureau, St. Louis, has seen her home town, Kirksville, Mo., refurbished from the city hall to corporation limits entirely through the earnest work of a group of women. As chairman of the civic and health department of the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs, and as vice chairman of the civic department of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Baxter is inspiring and advising thousands of club women in similar work. She will be glad to write to and advise others.

Mrs. George Zimmerman, of Fremont, O., chairman of the civic department of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, heartily endorses the national "Clean Up and Paint Up" movement, and is a member of the advisory committee of the National Bureau.

The civic departments of several state federations of women's clubs have already arranged for state-wide "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaigns this year, with a definite week's program to start the ball rolling.

One man who always was harping on the old saw, "Woman's place is in the home," has not been heard from since a year ago when his wife led in a "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaign which practically regenerated the town. The good woman repaired and painted a piece of vacant property belonging to her husband, property that had been a drain on his purse for ten years. She had to fix the place up, she said, because she was preaching "Clean Up, Paint Up, Repair," to others, and she believed in practicing what she preached. After criticizing his wife for her public activity, and especially for spending real money on "that old shack," the husband was sorely chagrined one day to receive an offer of $600 more for the property than his former valuation. He made the sale, and shut up. This year he is the heaviest contributor to that local "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaign fund.

Clean Up and Paint Up to Reduce Fire Hazard

THE Indiana State Fire Marshal declares that every city and town should conduct "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaigns, to reduce fire hazards, if for no other purpose. And he declares that the application of paint to wooden buildings is quite as important a fire preventative as is the removal of rubbish from garrets and areaways. He is therefore strongly urging "Clean Up and Paint Up" weeks for every city in the state.

"Inspections in the larger cities," says the Indiana Fire Marshal, "show that about 10 per cent of all buildings and premises within business districts are being endangered by rubbish. Though the residence districts have not been inspected, the proportion, no doubt, is just as large. One of the most effective fire preventatives is clean and tidy premises, both in business houses and in dwellings."

The Fire Marshal is advising everywhere the painting of the shingle roof. "Paint not only makes shingles more durable," says the Fire Marshal, "but it acts as a fire preventative as well. By covering and protecting the fuzzy splinters that form on the outer surface of shingles, the paint greatly reduces the likelihood of fire from falling sparks."

Scores of Indiana cities are following the Fire Marshal's advice this year. A "Clean Up and Paint Up" campaign will reduce fire losses in our town.

Clean Up and Paint Up—Get Behind the Brush

SPRINGTIME has at last come to stay, to prepare all nature for summer's flowers and the autumn's harvest.

Even the abject stir about their wretched premises, plant morning glories and try their best to fix up the leaning pickets left from the kindling needs of the later frosty mornings. Good housewives tie towels about their heads, gird up their narrow skirts and chase the dust of winter from their rooms. The laziest pick and trifle with their belongings to fix themselves better to face the changing seasons.

"Clean up!" is the phrase. Why not enlarge it? Why not "paint up?"

And if "paint up," why not do it so it will LAST and PAY?

Painting is another "art preservative." Rightly done, it saves repair, adds to length of property-life, increases property-attractiveness, brings to the tenant's lips the pleased smile, to the righteous landlord the wholesome feeling of duty well performed.

Between ourselves, there's room for lots on lots of paint here in our town. Well applied, in colors judiciously selected, it would conceal a multitude of architectural and sanitary sins from the discerning eyes of tourists passing this way and from ourselves.

Look over your OWN house, or home, or business structure.

Don't YOU agree? Try our prescription—"Clean Up and Paint Up."
