HOUSTON AIDING FARMERS' WIVES

Extension Work Is Now Conducted on Broad Scale.

WOMEN TAUGHT EFFICIENCY

Value of Home Conveniences Demonstrated by Agents of Department of Agriculture—Data Show Amount Spent and Outline the Visible Results—Work Is Just Started.

Washington.—Secretary of Agriculture Houston is going to try to solve the problem of unrest among country women by improving their condition.

"The chief objections of women to country life," according to a statement issued by the department, "are usually the generally small returns from farming, the drudgery of farm work and the social isolation.

"Data taken from the records of the department and relating exclusively to work of this kind in the thirty-three northern and western states show the following distribution of funds: For meetings and movable schools, at which demonstrations are given in cooking, sewing, household conveniences and for the organization of women's clubs to study home economics, $81,555; for canning clubs to teach girls and women how to prevent many of the wastes of the farm by canning and preserving fruits, vegetables and meats by cheap and rapid commercial processes, $56,197; for county agents who help farmers and their wives to increase the net income of the farm and thus make possible the introduction of labor saving conveniences and other improvements $1,027,312.

"Extension work designed to be fundamentally helpful to farm women seems to include within its scope certain matters, as follows:

"First.—Plans to increase the net income of the farm. Farm women need more money for home purposes. The purchase of home conveniences, the installation of water, sewerage, lighting and heating systems, kitchen and other conveniences and the bringing of literature and music into the home are, in the majority of country homes, dependent upon greater net profits in farming. Knowledge of these conveniences and other desirable things is good, but money to buy these desirable things is a vital necessity if country life is to be made as acceptable to women as town life.

"Second.—Plans to teach and demonstrate efficiency in farm home management. These include such matters as wholesome food properly prepared and served in adequate supply and variety throughout the year, the care of the home and the family linen and wardrobe, the care and management of children and sometimes the handling of certain farm enterprises like poultry and eggs, milk and butter, the garden, small fruits, etc. Efficiency in farm home management contemplates the maximum of accomplishment with the minimum of effort to the end that the farm family may find satisfaction and contentment in the home and that the time of the farm woman may be conserved.

"Third.—Plant for leisure and development. The farm woman needs time for reading, self development, child teaching, social life and recreation.

"In the development of home economics demonstration work there needs to be kept in mind the point of view that the problems of country women must chiefly be solved by country women. The county agent movement in some sections of the north and west started out primarily as a city man's movement, but it has succeeded in exact proportion as the farmers of the county have taken hold of the work and made it their own."

BUILT TOWN FOR WHEAT.

Kansas Wanted a Market and Breton Became It.

Colby, Kan.—Because he raised 150,000 bushels of wheat in 1914 and needed a place to market it without a long haul Ben Foster, a large landowner, built a town of his own. He erected an elevator, lumber yard, coal yard and store; also residences for his employees.

He named the town Breton, and now it is getting away from his first idea.

Other people are moving there, and Foster is in a good way to become the proprietor of a thriving country town. He refuses to sell the lots, but rents them on long leases.

Wind and Rain.—The wind blows in a circle around a storm, and when it blows from the north the heaviest rain is east of you; from the south, the heaviest rain is west; from the east, the heaviest rain is south; from the west, the heaviest rain is north of you.

AID BELGIANS ON A BUSINESS BASIS

Elaborate Financial System Gets the Best Results.

ORGANIZED BY AMERICANS.

Commission Will Have Provided Foodstuffs to the Value of $65,000,000 by Middle of August—Profit Made in Cheap Bread—Belgians Have Done a Lot of Work Themselves.

London.—The American commission for relief in Belgium will have provided foodstuffs to the value of about $65,000,000 for the Belgian people by the middle of August. Charitable contributions from America will have amounted to about $5,000,000 and from other quarters of the world approximately the same total. The great bulk of the food supplies, representing the remaining $55,000,000, is being provided indirectly by the Belgian people themselves.

This is made possible by the elaborate financial machinery set up by the commission, enabling the Belgians to utilize their own energies and resources. Fully 75 per cent of the Belgian people are being supplied with food by the commission without recourse to charity. One result of the commission's operations is that bread is now cheaper in Belgium than in London.

When the commission was formed last October, under the chairmanship of Herbert Clark Hoover, it was estimated that the total imports required to keep the population of Belgium alive would amount in value to about $50,000,000 before the next harvest. The rise in the price of foodstuffs increased the necessary amount to $65,000,000.

The greatest problem in this connection was involved in the fact that foodstuffs sold in Belgium to those who still had resources were paid for in paper. The entire metallic currency disappeared early in the war, and national bank notes were so scarce that many communes were printing paper issues of their own.

This paper money had no value outside of Belgium, and in any event to have exported it would have denuded the country of currency. But unless this money were turned into gold it would be necessary for the commission to find in the outside world an amount of money which was out of the question. At the outset, therefore, the commission began to devise a method for effecting the exchange of these local currency obligations into gold.

Negotiations were opened with the belligerent governments for permission to set up a form of exchange whereby persons or institutions abroad owing money in Belgium should turn over to the commission the amount due in sterling or dollars. The commission undertook to pay their debts for them in Belgium out of paper money which it received from the sale of foodstuffs. The belligerent nations agreed to this after long negotiations, and there was thus set up a form of exchange. The commission is today the only institution which is doing a systematic banking business across enemy lines.

By degrees the commission has extended this exchange department of its organization, which has come to be the lifeblood of the structure. It has induced many well to do Belgians to pledge their credit for moneys handed over to the commission in gold, which in turn is paid to them in Belgium in paper. The commission also has advanced money to the communal governments, taking their obligations therefor, and by pledging these obligations abroad has obtained further resources. The communes have been enabled in this manner to procure money to pay communal officers, to maintain the schools and keep up municipal works, thus enabling the Belgians to carry on the details of civil government and saving the country from the danger of anarchic conditions.

One phase of these operations arose in connection with a number of Belgian concerns, which, while they had resources abroad, had exhausted their local resources in payment of workmen or in disbursements to depositors. A form of hardship had grown up through the inability of such concerns to make good their obligations to the public, and persons who had believed themselves well to do were being forced to the bread lines through inability to draw money due them.

Through the operations of the commission these concerns were enabled to hand over in London and New York funds they possessed abroad, and the commission in turn delivered paper money received from the sale of food. Thus the cycle of credit was re-established, and many thousands of

BRITISH WOMAN WINS HIGH MILITARY HONOR

Freed From Jail, She Builds Hospital For Wounded.

London.—Though Britain flung her into durance vile before the war, it is doffing its cap to Miss Louisa Garrett Anderson, who now holds authority equal to that of a major in the British army. Her work has to do with great things for the wounded.

She had been jailed for a suffrage demonstration, and in the early weeks of the war she and the British government felt mutually shy of one another. Her first hospital was opened under French authority.

The shyness having been dispelled, the war office asked Miss Garrett Anderson to come home and make a hospital in London. Out of her own resourcefulness, experience and initiative she is making her hospital. It has 500 beds. It is to be in working order in record time.

The family record is an extraordinary one. Her mother, Dr. Elizabeth Garrett Anderson, was one of the first of women doctors. She began her medical studies in 1860, and though the College of Physicians refused to admit her to their examinations, she obtained a license to practice from the Society of Apothecaries in 1865.

Paris had fewer prejudices than London, and, passing the medical examinations of its university, she received her M. D. degree. Later on, when England realized that she was not to be denied, honors were not lacking, and her daughter's degree is a London one. After a long career in London Dr. Elizabeth Garrett Anderson retired to her native town of Aldersburgh and was elected mayor.

NEWSPAPER IN AN EGG.

Clergyman's Wife Finds News Item Wrapped Around Yoke.

Sedalia, Mo.—That a hen may swallow a news item and live to immortalize the digested information in an egg memorandum was shown when Mrs. J. A. Jared, wife of a clergyman, who corroborated their sensational breakfast, wrecked a boiled one and read the truth, or at least read the truth as near as a newspaper ever gets it.

The fragment of newspaper, about a yoke and a half wide, was wrapped around the egg under the shell instead of the usual thin white shawl that protects the white of the egg in most instances. Mrs. Jared carefully removed the newspaper and found that every letter on it was readable and in fairly good English.

FINDS WIFE BY TAPE.

Worcester (Mass.) Scientist Declares Unhappy Marriages Need Not Exist.

Boston.—Incompatibility in marriage is soon to be a thing of the past, according to Dr. Max Baff, the Worcester scientist and former fellow in psychology at Clark university, who announces that he has discovered how to measure temperament.

With nothing more than a tape measure, he says, it is possible to find one's affinity and be positively sure that one is marrying the right man or woman.

Dr. Baff has had under observation Massachusetts' best known bachelor, Governor David I. Walsh. He recently announced the kind of a wife the governor should find in order to be assured of perfect happiness. Here are the specifications, the result of scientific observation:

She must be from five feet three inches to five feet six inches tall.

She must weigh from 141 to 146 pounds.

She must be tactful.

She must be cheerful at all times, especially before breakfast.

She must be sympathetic.

She must be ambitious.

She must be able to sing.

It is essential that she have a mezzo-soprano voice.

FAVORS STUDENT CAMPS.

Secretary Garrison Will Ask Congress For Appropriations.

Washington.—Secretary of War Garrison has not abandoned plans for the establishment of camps for the military instruction of college and university students.

Comptroller of the Treasury Downey has ruled that there was no warrant for the expenditure of government funds for regular officers and troops at such camps. A reconsideration has been asked by Secretary Garrison, and if this is unfavorable the secretary will urge legislation by congress authorizing appropriations.

HONEYMOONERS WALK ACROSS THE COUNTRY

Took Pair Two Years to Make the Long Trips.

Harrisburg, Pa.—Journeys across the continent twice on foot within a period of two years marked the unique honeymoon trip taken by Mr. and Mrs. John Broxman, who live near here. In the twenty-four months that they have been away the young married couple have traversed the parched sands of the semitropical countries of the south, the fertile valleys of the middle west and the rugged mountain paths of the far western states. They are happy and have returned to their home without reporting a mishap.

In making their long journey on foot Mr. and Mrs. Broxman have won both fame and fortune, for not only were they cordially welcomed in all the towns and cities through which they passed, but as the result of their long hike they have been presented with a large sum of money by a brother-in-law of Mrs. Broxman in California, and henceforth they will make their home on a farm which has been purchased by the bridegroom near Harrisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Broxman were married two years ago and had planned to spend their honeymoon quietly in the east. But Mrs. Broxman's brother-in-law in Santa Anna, Cal., told them that he would present them with a substantial sum of money if they would take as their honeymoon trip a "stroll" from Harrisburg to California and back again. They decided to try to win the prize held out to them, so immediately after the wedding ceremony was performed they started on their long hike.

DEAR FRIEND WAS MOTHER.

Girl, Given Away Because of Poverty, Now Knows Parents.

Lacrosse, Wis.—Hazel "West," fifteen-year-old girl, who was taken away from Fred West, her foster father, by Judge Brindley because he had neglected her, has found her mother in a woman she has known all her life as a dear friend. Mrs. Fred Green, the mother, appeared before Judge Brindley and told the remarkable story of how she had given Hazel to the Wests when she was a baby because of her inability to care for the baby.

A mysterious telephone call to the Home of the Friendless, where Judge Brindley placed Hazel, effected the reunion of mother and daughter. The message said that if Hazel would come to one of the downtown stores she would be given a heavy coat. Hazel went downtown alone and did not come back. Investigation revealed her at the home of Mrs. Green, who had met her in the store and told her the story of her parentage.

In explaining the case to the judge Mrs. Green said: "I was the mother of another child when Hazel was born, and we were too poor to care for both of them, and at Mrs. West's urgent plea I let them take her.

"Not a week has passed since that I have not seen her. The Wests were better able to care for her than I, and I have been happy in the thought that she was being brought up in the right way. But since Mrs. West's death I have been worried, and now that she has been taken away from West I intend to keep her."

Mrs. Green is the wife of a railroad engineer. Hazel's father is dead.

SAYS WOMEN DRINK MORE.

Fight Against Liquor Stronger Except With Them, Says Bennet.

Philadelphia.—In an address at the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the National Temperance union ex-Congressman William S. Bennet of New York, after describing the progress made by the foes of drink, said:

"The case of the girls and women constitutes the one point in which there has been retrogression. It is my observation that there is much more drinking among women than there was twenty years ago. As men are giving up the habit, women are drinking to a greater extent than they used to do."

Mr. Bennet said that in 1870 virtually every state was under the influence of the liquor interests, but that now only two, one eastern and one western, are so influenced.

"Drinking has decreased in New York. Now the men who refrain from drinking at a banquet are in the majority. Few men drink during their business hours."

Monument Set Up For Ape.

Summit, N. J.—The grave of a pet monkey which was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Humphreys of New York and was buried here a short time ago on the estate of Mr. Humphreys' mother, Mrs. T. St. John Gaffney, is now marked with a handsome headstone.

MONEY MIXUP IF AMERICA FIGHTS

Two Billions Owned by Aliens Here and In Germany.

SITUATION IS COMPLICATED

Forty-eight German Ships In American Waters Would Have to Flee or Be Seized—This Country Would Probably Give Them a Chance to Get Away and Land Where They Could.

Washington.—The precise legal status of many hundreds of millions, perhaps of billions, of property in this country and others would be brought into question if the United States were to become involved in the war in Europe.

Vast properties in the United States of European ownership would be liable to confiscation.

Great properties, though much less in aggregate value, owned by Americans in Europe would be in the same position.

American corporations would not be permitted, it is assumed, to pay dividends on securities held by citizens of the countries with which the United States was at war.

The German ships now interned in this country would be under the necessity of leaving American waters at the risk of being captured on the high seas or else being confiscated in the ports where they are now held.

In all the history of warfare there has probably never been so complicated a financial situation in international relationship as that which would ensue between the United States and Germany if the two countries by any chance should engage in hostilities.

Germans have long been large investors in the United States, particularly in securities of railroad and industrial corporations. It is now pretty well known that these investments were to a considerable degree liquidated in the last year before the war began. During that period Germany was systematically turning its investments into forms most available for quick use, and the conversion was made so skillfully and quietly that the world of business did not fully realize what was afoot until the war had actually broken out.

Consequently it is impossible at all accurately to appraise German holdings in this country today. It is believed, however, that they are largest in railroad securities, then in industrials and finally in real estate and miscellaneous forms of property.

On the other hand, American property interests in Germany are larger than is generally understood, because in recent years a number of American industrialists have been forced to establish plants in Germany.

It was estimated that $2,000,000,000 worth of various alien owned investments in both countries would be involved if the two countries should go to war. What would be their standing?

This question is decidedly important to people on both sides who have such holdings. But it is easier answered than the next one.

With the two countries at war unnaturalized Germans in this country would become, before the law, "alien enemies." No matter how loyal to this country or how determined that their conduct toward and in their adopted country should be exemplary, that would be their legal position.

This class of people own great aggregates of property in this country, and to involve them in any general confiscation measures would be so far-reaching in their effects that it is recognized as quite impossible that any such would be undertaken.

The declaration of war between two countries has the effect, under long established international practice, of suspending, but not wiping out, debts of a state or its citizens to the citizens of another state.

The reasons are manifest. In the first place, to pay debts to a foreign state during war would be to furnish the sinews of war to the enemy. In the second place, if the debtor declined to pay, there would be no chance to enforce collection, because the debtor, an enemy alien, would have no access to the country's courts to enforce payment.

The forty-eight German vessels interned in this country, appraised at worth nearly $200,000,000, are in a peculiar status. Interned here because the United States is a mutual friend, they would suddenly be found to be in the complete power of a new enemy.

It is explained that the peculiar obligation which the United States has assumed toward them raises questions not before broached—whether it would

GERMANS CONTINUE TO BUY AMERICAN HORSES

How They Send Them Home Is a Deep Mystery to Dealers.

Lincoln, Neb.—Representatives of all of the principal nations at war in Europe are combing the west for horses for the armies. Several of the horse buyers bear titles; the majority of them are men who have been at the head of great establishments in Belgium and France, which formerly supplied America with draft horse stallions. One who was recently in Lincoln was paid $2 a day and expenses for his work. Before the war he drew $10,000 a year as manager of a great breeding stable in Normandy.

How the few German buyers get their purchases through is a mystery, and they refuse to elucidate. They make it plain that that is their own business, and they keep on buying. Some of the largest dealers in this section have been asked to bid on a 25,000 head shipment for the German government payable by drafts on New York.

In the beginning speculators and business men jumped into the game, taking large contracts or subcontracts. The ruling prices for the grades desired were $150 and $175, subject to inspection, which was very rigid, and a large portion of each shipment was rejected. Rather than carry these back to the west the dealers sold them at the points of shipment for what they could get.

That there are horse traders in Europe and dealers with sharp eyesight was proved by the fact that a number of these rejected animals were shipped to Europe, the purchasers being government agents, who took this means of showing American dealers some tricks in horse buying, purchasing in the guise of contractors who desired the animals for the northwest.

The fact that the greater part of the supply in the west has already been purchased or is in the hands of speculators, holding for the raise they feel certain will come with a continuance of the war, has led to a letting down of the inspection bars. Hundreds of animals that formerly would have not received a second look are now going through. The stable boys say that the fat ones are given the preference.

White and gray horses are taboo because they are shining marks on the battlefield. The one thing the buyers are particular about is the wind. They require swift galloping for a block or two before the inspector decides.

HIS NAME NOT NEWLYWED.

However, He Wouldn't Fire at Burglar Lest Baby Be Waked.

Scottsdale, Pa.—Rather than waken the baby by firing his revolver, Frank Weiss, a tailor, sat on a stairway in his home and watched a burglar ransack the dining room. The intruder's movements were plainly visible through a transom.

When the burglar found a pocket-book in a drawer and transferred its contents to his pockets Weiss' grip on the revolver tightened, but his wife tugged at his sleeve and whispered to him not to shoot.

Mrs. Weiss, after four hours' siting with a fretful baby, had succeeded in getting it to sleep when the burglar came.

WATCHING THE SITUATION.

Chairmen of Committees on Foreign Relations Hold Important Posts.

Washington.—In the event of a controversy between this country and any foreign power Senator Stone and Congressman Flood will be two of the most important members of congress. They are chairmen of the committees on foreign relations, in the senate and house of representatives, respectively.

All international matters of any great importance are handled through these committees when congress is in session and of course congress will be called to meet if developments make this necessary.

Both Senator Stone and Congressman Flood have been in Washington a great part of the time since President Wilson addressed his drastic note to Germany and are in close touch with all developments.

Pet Collie a Hero.

Wallace, Ida.—Were dogs entitled to receive medals a six-month-old Scotch collie owned by Horace Langdon would be entitled to recommendation for such honor. The cabin occupied by Langdon and Charles Bare was destroyed by fire. Langdon was roused by the dog frantically clawing and scratching his neck and shoulders. He hastily broke a window and, grasping the dog, jumped outside and awakened Bare, who slept in an adjoining room.

persons were saved from the bread line.

Before this machinery was set up practically the whole population was dependent on the world's charity, paper money being of no avail. The initial appeals of the commission, therefore, were made on behalf of the 7,000,000 of people. With the success of these financial efforts, however, all of the people still able to pay for their food were made self dependent, and the appeals of the commission for charitable contributions were reduced to those made on behalf of the absolutely destitute.

be violating a very special and unusual faith to appropriate the ships now in this country and Germany were at war.

The procedure which the authorities believe correct would be to notify the vessels that they must leave American territorial waters and to give them a fair chance to do so. After that they would be liable to seizure by American war vessels or by the vessels of American allies.

Or, if the Germans preferred, they could decline to leave. The United States government could take possession of and formally confiscate the vessels and let the whole business be settled after the war's end.

Alumnae Chapter

Notes

St. Joseph's College

New York Chapter of St. Joseph's Alumnae Meets.

The New York Chapter of the Alumnae Association of St. Joseph's College, Emmitsburg, Maryland, held its regular spring meeting on Saturday, May 8, the hostesses being Mrs. Henry C. McLean and her sister, Miss Mary McConville, 678 Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn.

The meeting was called to order at 3 o'clock by the regent, Mrs. James J. Sheeran. The secretary, Miss Clara I. Cogan, A. M., read the minutes of the previous meeting and the communications from the Sisters which are always an interesting part of the program. After the business was disposed of, Mrs. Sheeran spoke of the wonderful work of organizing the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae which had been accomplished by the officers of the chapter during the past year, paying tribute to the enthusiasm and loyalty of the New York Chapter, whose members were the hostesses of the successful convention held in the McAlpin Hotel last November.

The regent thanked most cordially the two members of the chapter, Mrs. Samuel Hassell and Miss Elizabeth Welty, who sang so beautifully at the Sunday afternoon concert of the convention. Finally, Mrs. Sheeran spoke of the great honor that had come to the present secretary, Miss Clara I. Cogan, in being named first president of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae and of the appreciation of the chapter for this distinction. Mrs. Sheeran said in part: "We want you to know, Miss Cogan, that we not only rejoice in this triumph for you and for St. Joseph's, but that we have united to give you a substantial token of the International event and we take great pleasure in presenting you with the emblem of your office—this ivory and gold gavel."

The gavel came as a complete surprise to Miss Cogan, but the youthful president received it most graciously and made a charming response.

The election of officers for the coming year followed in regular order. Mrs. Francis Romeo, who has a record of perfect attendance, was elected regent, and Mrs. Edgar Criswell, secretary.

After the business was concluded, Miss Elizabeth Welty sang songs which have become dear to the chapter through her inimitable interpretation.

The hostesses, Mrs. McLean and Miss McConville, led the way to the dining-room and while enjoying the feast the members planned a visit to the general alumnae reunion at St. Joseph's College, Emmitsburg, Md., next month. The usual night letter telling of the events of the meeting was sent by the retiring secretary, Miss Cogan, to the Sisters at Emmitsburg. The next meeting will take place Oct. 20, the hostesses being the Misses Welty, of 500 Clinton street, Brooklyn.

Among those present were Mrs. James J. Sheeran, Miss Clara I. Cogan, Mrs. Francis Romeo, Mrs. Edgar Criswell, Miss Criswell, Mrs. Henry C. McLean, Miss Mary McConville, Mrs. C. L. Bruns, Mrs. Thomas Meehan, Miss Mary Meehan, Mrs. E. W. Phillips, Mrs. Henry J. Sayers, Miss Mary Welty, Miss Elizabeth Welty, Mrs. Henry S. Wood, Miss Mae Cassidy, Miss Emily Droogan, and Miss Florence Droogan, of Albany; Miss Margaret McManus, and Mrs. F. H. Hickey, of Troy.

Application for scholarships in the Department of Engineering established in The Johns Hopkins University under the provisions of the Laws of Maryland, Chapter 90, 1912, should now be made. If there is more than one applicant for a particular scholarship a competitive examination will be held at the University on the day following the September entrance examinations.

Each County of the State and each Legislative District of Baltimore City will be entitled to one or more scholarships in the Department of Engineering for the year 1915-16, in addition to those which have already been filled. There will be vacancies in the scholarships awarded to the graduates of Loyola College, Maryland Agricultural College, Mount St. Mary's College, Rock Hill College, St. John's College, Washington College and Western Maryland College, and in the scholarships "At Large," which may be filled in October 1915.

Applicants should address the Registrar, The Johns Hopkins University for blank form of application and for further information as to the examinations, award of scholarships, and courses of instruction.

EMMITSBURG LOSES FIRST GAME

Rally Comes at Close of Contest But Too Late to Win.—Final Score 14-10.

In a pre-season game on Firemen's Field on Monday, Emmitsburg lost to a composite team representing Woodsboro, 14 to 10. In Emmitsburg's lineup were three substitutes. The field was heavy from the recent rains and a down pour threatened several times during the contest. Arnold started out in the box for the locals and got along well with a slippery ball until the sixth, when 5 hits for eight bases yielded six runs. Rosensteel went in the box with the score 8 to 0. In the sixth and seventh innings he fanned seven of the opponents, a dropped third strike being responsible for 4 more runs for the visitors. In the meanwhile Emmitsburg found its batting eye, and aided by Hammond with a lot of free rides to first, started to cross the pan until they had ten to the good before the last man was out in the ninth.

Legore had a big day at the bat, driving out a double, triple and home run in five trips to the plate. Hammond stole home in the ninth inning.

The Emmitsburg season proper will not open until about June 15, when four or five regular members of the club will return from College. It is expected however that some more pre-season games will be played in the interim.

MISS MARY LOUISE GUTHRIE.

Miss Mary Louise Guthrie died at her home on East Main Street on last Thursday evening at 6 o'clock. Death was due to the infirmities of old age.

Miss Guthrie was born in Chester county, Pa., on June 8, 1834 and was the daughter of the late Adam and Margaret Guthrie, also of Chester county.

In early life, about the age of twenty, Miss Guthrie went to Davenport, Iowa, where she lived at the home of her uncle for 16 years. From Davenport she went to Helena, Montana, on a visit to her friends. She made this journey by a stage coach which consumed over two weeks. A circulation library had been established at Helena at this time and Miss Guthrie became the librarian at the request of her friends at that place. The library then became a state institution and the deceased retired from her duties there, after having served for nearly forty years. She lived at Helena ten years after her retirement, at the expiration of which time being in ill-health, she returned to Emmitsburg and up to the time of her death made her home with her sister, Miss Susan Guthrie of this place.

The deceased is survived by one brother, Mr. Clement Guthrie, of Spokane, Washington, and one sister, Miss Susan Guthrie, of this place.

The funeral services were held at her late home last Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. L. B. Hensley, her pastor officiating.

Interment was made in the Presbyterian cemetery.

THE NEWSPAPER'S COURAGE

Food for Thought for Every Reader of Local County Papers.

Once in a while somebody gets the idea that the reason the local paper does not report every scandal that comes to public knowledge is because the publisher is afraid. That's not the reason. The reputable newspaper, especially in a small town where everyone is a neighbor to everyone else, takes no delight in giving publicity to those things that have brought disgrace to some family or heartache to some wife or mother. It is much more pleasant to record the good things that happen, to tell about the incidents that tend to make life more endurable, and that uplift rather than tear down, that bring joy instead of sorrow, pride instead of heartache.

So if you don't always find in The Leader the delectable bit of gossip that would doubtless make "good reading," and if you are inclined to blame the editor because he "doesn't print all the news," consider that some home has had enough worry over unfortunate happenings, and that the gossips and scandal mongers of the community can and will gladly and ghoulishly give sufficient publicity to the details to satisfy the lowest tastes. Incidentally, it might be remarked here that the most complaint of censored news comes from people who have now or have had in their lives some things they were very glad were not given newspaper publicity.—From the Laurel, (Md.) Leader.

The Key Birthplace Monument and Its Dedication.

As has been previously announced, the Patriotic Order Sons of America, assisted by the Public Schools of Carroll and Frederick counties, will have the honor of erecting a monument at the birthplace of Francis Scott Key, author of the "Star Spangled Banner," on Saturday, June 12, at "Terra Rubra," the present home of Mr. Peter Baumgardner, near Keysville.

The monument will be a handsome piece of work, of Tennessee marble, and will occupy the end of the lawn fronting the public road. It is a special design, made for the occasion, and will be erected by Jos. L. Mathias, of Westminster. The dedicatory exercises will take place about 10.00 o'clock in the morning, after which a full day's programme will be rendered in Stonestifer's grove, nearby.

The program has not been completed in every detail, but the following speakers will be present: Wm. A. Granville, D. D., President of Pennsylvania College, Gettysburg; Prof. Wm. James Heaps, State Sec'y. P. O. S. of A., and William F. Williams, of Baltimore; Rev. W. L. Seabrook, State Pres. P. O. S. of A., and Prof. Geo. F. Morelock, Supt. of Schools, of Westminster; Prof. Palmer, Supt. of Schools, of Frederick, and perhaps others.

John Ross Key, of Washington, grandson of Francis Scott Key, over 80 years of age, will be present and give personal recollections of Francis Scott Key and the old homestead.

A great choir of school children, led by adult voices and an orchestra, will render a number of patriotic and appropriate selections. All pupils and patrons of the public schools are especially invited. It should be a great day for the children.

There will be one or more bands of music, and special features that can not now be announced. Refreshments of all kinds, also sandwiches and coffee, will be served. The event will be a "basket" picnic, and visitors are requested to come and spend the entire day.

Flags, badges, souvenirs, and post cards in great variety will be on sale for the benefit of the monument fund. This will be a great day for "the flag," and all will be expected to in some way wear "the colors," and for this reason a patriotic booth will supply all needs.

Many of the camps of the P. O. S. of A. will be present in uniform and regalia. A large delegation is expected from Baltimore, and the National body will be represented. Visitors will be present from many miles, to the extent that the outlook is for this to be the greatest outdoor event ever held

THE YOUTH AND THE SAGE

Copyright Puck

Once upon a time (says my Arabian author) there lived a Sage who was noted for his wisdom, from the city of Ispahan to the S. E. quarter of the N. W. quarter of the south half of township 22, range 49, east of the 96° East of Greenwich, and such a warm baby in Sagedom was he that he made his home in the sage-brush, and lived entirely on sage-tea.

As rumors of his wisdom spread abroad in the land, many people came to interview him and get tips on various things, as even yet the custom in Bagdad and Wall Street, for it is commonly considered easier to drop onto a ready-made pointer than to learn by experience. For experience is a heard teacher, and bastes his pupils with a halter-strap on the end whereof is a buckle.

Now, so great did the demand for the wisdom of this Sage become that he started a factory and canned wisdom of various kinds, all of which he sold for spot cash. And his prices were fourteen shekels per can in plain cans, and fifteen shekels with a can-opener, and he did a big business at the old stand, and advertised from Trebizond to East Orange.

Now, this Sage was wise on all subjects, and knew all things regarding the earth beneath, the heavens above, and the rapid transit subways under the earth. He knew why a hen goes over the road, and when a door is not a door, and when New York would have real rapid transit, and many other things too numerous to put on papyrus.

But it came to pass that in the days of Alkassan, Caliph of Bagdad, when the Sage was full of years, that he fell ill, his time having come, and he advertised his wisdom factory for sale cheap.

Now, there lived in the city of Yonkers, beyond the domain of Caliph, a youth who bore the name of John Smith; and, hearing of the approaching sale of the wisdom factory, the youth journeyed to the sage-brush, for he was in love with one Sally Jones, and he desired to set himself up in some good business and get married. And he said to himself, "If this old jay is not a fake his outfit will be a good thing to push along, and I will buy it and move the whole works to Harlem and wax rich, for I will be able to sell wisdom to many men. But if the old duffer is working a shell-game, I will proffer him the icy glove and pursue myself."

Therefore, the youth when he had entered the presence of the Sage, asked him but two questions and the Sage answered them truthfully. And the first question was this: "Do you really know everything worth knowing?"

And to this question the Sage replied: "I do."

Upon receiving this reply, the youth asked in an eager voice: "What, then, do you think of Sally Jones?"

To this the Sage was forced to reply in the following words: "never heard of the lady."

When the youth heard this he arose in wrath and pulled down his trousers, and put his hat upon his head, preparing to depart for Yonkers. But ere he went he spoke.

"You old jay," he said, "you are a hot Sage, you are, I don't think! You ought to have a leather medal, for fair! If I were you I would shut up my wisdom-shop and run a peanut-stand in Erebus until I cut a few wisdom-teeth. Any hayseed that claims to know everything worth knowing and doesn't know Sally Jones is a fraud, and his wisdom isn't worth two cents F. O. B. New York."

Here (says my Arabian author) ends the tale of the Youth and the Sage, and the moral is, that when a young man is in love all the wisdom in the Encyclopedia is as nothing compared to one hair from his lady-love's tresses. "As to what comes after marriage," (says my erudite author), "the gracious Allah has kindly spared me the misfortune of being able to write knowingly thereon."

NOT QUITE.

"Young man," inquired her father sternly, "will you give her a home like the one she has been used to?"

"No," replied the truthful suitor, "for there will be no grumpy father to come home and make every one miserable by his kicking over trifles and swearing at matters in general. There will be no mother to scold her from morning to night for wasting time merely because she wants to be neat. There will be no big brother to abuse her for not doing half of his work, and no little brother to make enough noise to drive her crazy when her head aches. There won't be any younger sister to insist on reading some trashy novel while she does all the work. She will not have with me a home like she has been used to, not if I can help it."

SCHOOLED BY EXPERIENCE.

Once upon a time a Politician, meeting a Living Issue, inadvertently took it up. But almost at once he dropped it. "Stung!" he muttered significantly.

His pains, however, were not devoid of profit. For henceforth he was a Practical Politician, and passed by on the other side.

ODDS AND ENDS

Plans have been made for the reunion of the Sunday Schools of the county at Braddock Heights on Wednesday, July 28

The barometer was invented in 1643. Russia has forbidden the export of poultry, dead or alive.

The general assembly that adjourned last Thursday passed more bills than any other legislature in the history of Pennsylvania.

Fire in Hagerstown on Sunday destroyed a row of houses and did damage to the extent of $4,000.

The United States is shipping large amounts of baled hay to Europe.

Omaha will spend $1,000,000 for new board of education buildings.

The total area of Russia is 8,505,000 square miles, and that of South America 6,851,000.

The average potential energy of Niagara Falls is about five million horse power. So far, the amount of power being used for industrial purposes on both the Canadian and American sides represents less than three per cent of the whole.

The annual gasoline demand of the United Kingdom is 460,000,000 gallons.

About 160,000 children between the ages of 5 and 16 enter the United States annually; 85 per cent of these come from non-English speaking countries, particularly from Southern Italy, Poland, Russia, Lithuania and other eastern and southern European and Asiatic countries.

The marvelous fibre of the mulberry tree, utilized in the Japanese paper called "Hashikirazu," is the basis of the material that Rear Admiral Yokoyama has proposed for collapsible lifeboats for submarines.

A tower higher than the Eiffel is in course of construction at Brussels, and is designed for use as a wireless telegraph station and for meteorological purposes. It will be 1,093 feet in height, while the height of the Eiffel tower is 984 feet.

A recent census of the Boy Scouts shows a membership of more than 100,000. There are 15,000 in New York, 12,000 in Pennsylvania. Ohio, New Jersey and Illinois have more than 6,000 each. There is no state without a representation. Even Alaska can boast 30 scouts. Hawaii has 140 and Porto Rico 125.

Boy Gets $9,000 for Loss of Eye.

The jury in the case of Walter H. Crowl, of Hagerstown, who sued the Mayor and Council of Hagerstown for $10,000 damages, late Saturday returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $9,000. The plaintiff, 10 years old, son of J. H. Crowl, lost the sight of an eye from mortar dropping from a building. It was contended that the city failed to see that a proper barricade had been placed in front of the building.

Blue Ridge League Opens.

The opening of the newly formed Blue Ridge league took place on Thursday. In the three towns in which the opening games were played large crowds turned out. Edison Invention Records Phone Talks.

That he has finished his thirty-eight years of labor on a new invention, which he has styled the "telescribe," was the announcement of Thomas A. Edison at his laboratory. The device will record telephone conversations even though speakers are 3000 miles apart, and a simple small box on a business man's desk will be his guarantee against misunderstanding language used by him to others, as well as an insurance that he got messages to himself accurately.

The contrivance consists of a sensitive telephone, arranged for desk use, with controlling buttons to operate the special recording device conveniently placed near it. Keen as the human ear and highly sensitized, the slightest vibration does not escape the recorder. The telephone receiver is placed upon a small amplifier and the sound is communicated to the wax cylinder instantly and accurately.

Memorial Day at Gettysburg.

Elaborate Memorial Day services will be held on the battle field at Gettysburg, next Monday. Many members of the Grand Army of the Republic posts are expected to attend. The parade will be in charge of Chief Marshal William McG. Tawney, and will form at 1.30 o'clock in the afternoon on Chambersburg street, with the right resting on Centre Square. School children will take an active part in the exercises this year. They will assemble in a body in the centre of the city and will proceed in advance of the main column to the cemetery. In the cemetery they will form in rows and will sing as the automobiles carrying the orator of the day, Col. A. A. Dale, of Bellefonte, Pa., and guests and members of the G. A. R. pass.

Large Graduating Class.

The members of the graduating class of the Gettysburg College, Gettysburg, number fifty eight.

Mr. Charles Gruber, of Philadelphia, is the Valedictorian of the Class and John Henry Leader Trout, of Pittsburg, the Salutatorian.

At the close of the Graduating Exercises the Alumni Collation will be served in Gladfelter Hall and last of all will be held the Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Union, and especially in the production of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scotch-Irish descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a valley of rolling lands lying between the Lingular Hills and the Catocin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river, and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and productive areas of the Union. The great crops are wheat and corn.—Maryland Manual issued by Board of Public Works.

EMMITSBURG.

In all Western Maryland—the beauty spot and the garden spot of the State—there is no town more attractive than Emmitsburg.

No people are more wide-awake, more knowable, more courteous to strangers than Emmitsburgians.

The location of Emmitsburg is ideal; the surrounding scenery is unmatchable; the climate is notably healthful; its water—pure mountain spring water—cannot be surpassed. It is within easy access of Baltimore, Hagerstown, Frederick; eight miles from the National Battlefield at Gettysburg, near to the Mountain Resorts, and is surrounded by fertile farms and productive orchards.

Mount Saint Mary's College and Ecclesiastical Seminary—with an enviable reputation extending over 106 years—is located here; St. Joseph's College and Academy for young ladies—equally as noted during its 105 years of splendid achievement—is also here.

There are excellent Schools—Public and Parochial—in Emmitsburg; two sound Banks, five Churches, a live Newspaper, modern Hotel accommodations, adequate Fire Department, progressive merchants, splendid physicians, good liveries, auto garages, many fraternal organizations, good railroad accommodations. There are four or five mails a day, telegraph, express and telephone service connecting all points; electric light and power, oiled streets.

There is business to be had in Emmitsburg; there are Factory Sites available. If you contemplate changing your place of residence—come to Emmitsburg, Frederick County, Md.

OUR FLAG.

"I give my head, heart and hand to God and my country. One country, one language and one flag."

That is the sentiment of every true American, and it is safe to say that during these troublous times it is in the thoughts of all who inhabit this Christian land of ours. The fact that we are at peace with all nations while other nations are at war among themselves, lends solemnity to these words. They seem to carry with them the added meaning, "Thank God we are a neutral power, a freedom-loving, peace-loving nation to whom war is abhorrent, yet a nation pledged to right, to justice, to honor and to principle, one that, to uphold these high ideals is not afraid."

The symbol of this attitude, the symbol of this dear land and of the sentiment of its people is the "Stars and Stripes"—the flag that "at the Revolution was the swaddling-clothes of the infant nation when it lay cradled in the lap of liberty," the flag that "during the Rebellion * * * was a rainbow spanning North and South declaring Liberty, Equality and Fraternity, the emblem that in the Spanish War was 'the cherubim with outstretched wings of protection.'"

What reverence we should pay to a flag that means so much. How careful should we be never to put it to improper use. There is good reason for saying this, for how often do we find it the chief decoration of the lowest amusement places, the ornate drapery at gatherings where principle is a word with little meaning, at roisterings where the very essence of patriotism is lacking? Too often is it used this way and far too often is it torn in shreds, trampled upon, thrown in the gutter or consigned to the ash heap by the thoughtless and the indifferent. Even is it stolen from the graves of soldiers who fought for all that this banner stands for—ruthlessly snatched from holy ground, to grace an orgie, perhaps, to lend color to a partisan parade, may be, to cap the tent of some ribald show, or lie in the dust of a stable.

What mockery! What base uses for a symbol that should be sacred—sacred, not because of any inherent quality of its own, but for what it stands: for home, church and country; for liberty, honor, bravery, duty patriotism—all that men hold dear.

Honor the flag, protect it—set it aloft in no ignoble cause, and never forget that it is the emblem of your freedom and the symbol of your love for your country.

THE REAL FAN.

To be a real "fan" is to be a "rooter," a loyal supporter of the "home team," a prop of encouragement, and not a cold-blooded critic with "value received" as a motto. This applies even to professional baseball. With especial emphasis does it apply to the game as played by amateurs. "May the best team win," is a fair hope, it is a broad-minded aspiration, it is sportsmanlike; but there is such a thing as standing-by the home team, encouraging the local club and manifesting confidence in it to such an extent that it will become the "best team." The "Don't-mind-that" spirit of the fan has helped to win more games than that which elicits such expressions as "rotten," "bone-head," etc.

Emmitsburg is full of "fans"—true-blues, loyal and overflowing with encouragement. They are fair, kindly in their criticism, but stand-bys to the last ditch. They believe in their team; they know that every player has his heart in the game and that there is no give-up until the last man is down. They know that baseball players are human, that the best of them have their "off" days and that there is always a "next time." All honor to the "fan"—all honor to those in Emmitsburg.

ONE of the last paragraphs Elbert Hubbard wrote was this: "Only twice in my travels have I bumped into anything that looked like trouble." And the third bump put him out for keeps, poor fellow.

AND Teddy had the delightful satisfaction of coming before the curtain and making the "thank-you-one-and-all" speech after being the hero in that Barnes-storming political melodrama in New York.

THE Chinese proverb, "a man thinks he knows, but a woman knows better" must have originated with Wu Ting Fang after his sojourn in the United States.

It's all right to "follow the flag," but it's a pretty good game to keep your eye on the fellow that's carrying it. Sometimes he gets up the wrong street.

IF Mayor Preston really wants an anthem for the Monumental city, why don't he revive that touching little ditty: "I've got a girl in Baltimore"?

"MARCONI has invented a device that makes stone walls transparent"—Thereby forcing the rubber-neck combine out of business.

AND the irony of it is that most of the ammunition now being used in the European War bears the "Made in America" label.

As the tired housewife gazes on her garden—her own labor, heaps she condemnation on the pesky peepies of her neighbor.

THERE are "jackpot" openers and beer openers. Both come in pretty handy at times. Also the "eye opener."

CRITICS in describing voices as "heavenly" sometimes overlook the fact that heavenly also means unearthly.

Relic of the Romans in England.

A farmer brought about the discovery of a mysterious house in Somerset, England. In plowing he turned up several pieces of pottery and some coins. Men were set to digging on the spot and uncovered the charred ruins of an immense house. It was about 180 feet long, 35 feet wide and contained nineteen rooms. The outer walls, still standing, are of heavy masonry, and the floors are of concrete. Some of them were formerly covered with tiles. Quantities of charcoal over the ruins showed that the building was destroyed by fire. The house has been examined by scholars, who say that it was built in the days when the Romans were in possession of England, about 2,000 years ago. The occupants have left many relics scattered about the ruins—pottery dishes and utensils, a grindstone, a small wheelstone and other objects. Buried in a corner were several pieces of window glass and the neck of a small glass vase.

A Record in Hard Work.

Lord George Bentinck's record of political work, as set out by his biographer, seems even more striking than that accomplished by Wellington in 1834. "It is very difficult," writes Disraeli, "to convey a complete picture of the laborious life of Lord George Bentinck during the sitting of parliament. At 9:30 began his elaborate and methodical correspondence, all of which he carried on himself in a handwriting clear as print, and never employing a secretary; at 12 or 1 he was at a committee, and he only quit the committee room to take his seat in the house, which he never left until it adjourned, always long past midnight and often at 2 a. m. His principle was that a member should never be absent from his seat. * * * Although he breakfasted only on dry toast he took no sustenance all this time, dining at White's at 2:30 in the morning."—London Chronicle.

Why the Prince Laughed.

When King George of England was in the navy, as a young man, an American of some consequence obtained permission to visit the ship on which he was serving. The ship was coaling at Halifax, and when the American clambered aboard a young officer, with a very coal grimy face, was told off to show him around. After making his tour of inspection the American roved back to shore in company with the captain of the vessel. "Well," he said, "I have only one complaint and that is that I did not see the prince." "But you have been talking to him for the best part of an hour," answered the surprised captain. "What?" said the American. "Was that grimy fellow the prince? Sakes alive, no wonder he laughed so heartily when I asked him if they kept his royal highness in cotton wool while the coal dust was flying about!"

Strategy in Tongue Inspection.

Every one who has ever tried to get a very small child to "put out your tongue" for inspection or to open her mouth wide that the suspected tongue might be viewed knows how hard a matter it is to really see either the condition of the tongue or tonsils because the baby will not straighten out her tongue or open her mouth wide enough. I have got around this difficulty by putting a drop of honey or molasses on the tip end of the child's chin and asking her to lick it off. The process of licking off gives me a good, unobstructed view of a straight extended tongue. It also causes her to open her mouth so wide that I can see her tonsils and the back of her throat, and all this without worrying the baby, for she thinks it is a game.—Good Housekeeping Magazine.

Pottery of Guatemala.

Remarkably good pottery is made by the natives of Guatemala. Many of the pieces show a high degree of skill and real artistic feeling, even in the making of the more useful pieces. This pottery is very palpably different from those pieces which are obvious imitations, yet are offered for sale in this country as Indian pottery. From the mounds and ruins of Guatemala, in cities and in ancient townships, many fine specimens of pottery have been found, and these show that back in the dawn of life on this continent the residents of what is now Guatemala were most cunning artisans with the clay and kiln. They have not forgotten the art by any means, as the latter day work demonstrates very clearly.

Barometers in Mines.

A little known phase of the anthracite mining industry is the use of barometers at the principal collieries of all the big companies, especially where the mines are gaseous. When the atmospheric pressure is decreasing gas is released more easily, and the fire bosses all look at the barometers before going into the mines to make their morning inspections. When the barometer is going down they look and test with extra care for gas.

Concession.

Speed of Railway Trains.

Among the fast records of railway trains for short distances are the following: New York Central and Hudson river, one mile in thirty-two seconds; Pennsylvania, five and a half miles in three minutes; Burlington route, two and one-fourth miles in one minute and twenty seconds; Plant system, five miles in two and one-half minutes; Philadelphia and Reading, four and eight-tenths miles in two and a half minutes.

The fastest time on record for a distance of over 440 miles was made by the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern from Buffalo to Chicago, in June, 1905, when the distance of 525 miles was covered in seven hours and fifty minutes. The fastest long distance run less than 440 miles was on the New York Central, on Sept. 11, 1895, from New York to Buffalo, 436½ miles, in 407 minutes. The average speed was sixty-four and one-third miles an hour, with two stops and twenty-eight slow-ups, and on Jan. 1, 1903, from Albany to Buffalo, 302 miles, in 295 minutes.—Philadelphia Press.

Girding Up the Loins.

In Biblical times the strong man "girded up his loins" when about to undertake some feat of physical endurance. And the custom is by no means obsolete among certain orientals at the present time. Thus in preparing for a fatiguing journey the oriental winds a piece of cloth about fifteen feet long and twelve to eighteen inches wide tightly around the abdomen and back. It is put on by having a person hold one end while the wearer winds himself up tightly in it, and the orientals believe that this girdle relieves fatigue and guards against intestinal troubles by preventing chilling. This explanation of the sustaining effect of the girdle is probably incorrect, although the good effects themselves cannot be doubted. In all probability it is the support given the abdominal muscles, rather than the protection to the skin, that explains the beneficial results.—Los Angeles Times.

Odd Sheets of Note Paper.

A good way to use up odd sheets of note paper for which you have no envelopes is to make them, with the aid of your sewing machine, into a package of correspondence sheets that need no cover. Cut the note paper into halves along the folded edge and fold each half again. Remove the thread from your sewing machine needle and carefully run the paper under the guide of the machine, leaving an accurate quarter of an inch margin on three sides. The fold of the paper should remain untouched. That makes a double sheet, three of the four edges of which are perforated. When you are ready to send a letter write on the inside of the folded sheet, then moisten the edges with glue, seal them and write the address on the outside of the folded sheet. The person to whom the letter is addressed can open it by tearing off the margins that seal it.—Youth's Companion.

Unquestioning Obedience.

Much trouble as well as much amusement was caused during the early stages of the Panama canal work by the inability of the Jamaican negroes to take any except a strictly literal view of orders. In unloading a vessel at Colon a rope in a pulley at the head of the mast got jammed, and a Jamaican was ordered to climb up and release it. He did as ordered. Some minutes later the boss of the gang missed him and asked with some impatience where he was. He was pointed out sitting calmly at the masthead. "What are you doing up there?" roared the boss.

"You told me to come up here, sah," the man answered, "but you haven't told me to come down!"—Joseph B. Bishop, Secretary of Isthmian Canal Commission, in Youth's Companion.

A Chicago Milk Story.

A family living in South Chicago found a good deal of cream on a bottle of milk which had been standing overnight, and when the driver called in the morning the pleased servant held it up to the light and said, "Look here; I have never seen anything like this before on your milk!"

The man looked at it for a moment, scratched his head and replied, "Well, I don't know what's the matter, but you can throw it out, and I'll give you a fresh bottle in its place."—Chicago News.

Ever Have the Feeling?

Who has not felt the sensation which the French call "déjà vu" or "déjà entendu," meaning that he is doing or seeing or hearing something he has experienced before?

"In a perfectly new situation," writes a physician in the Government Hospital for the Insane, in the Popular Science Monthly, "in a place which he has never before visited, a person believes that he has been a visitor there at some previous time. These feelings of having already experienced such situations are frequently due to memory defects.

"It is probable that what takes place is that one or several elements in the present situation are like those which had been experienced in the past, but that the dissimilarities in the situation are not observed. The individual has a memory defect in that he parallels or identifies a complex present experience with a similar complex past experience, although in the present experience the number of elements which are the same as those in the past may not be very great."

House Chimneys.

Chimneys were scarcely known in England in the year 1200. One only was allowed in a religious house, one in a manor house and one in a great hall of a castle or a lord's house, but in other houses the smoke found its way out as it could. The writers of the fourteenth century seemed to have considered them as the newest invention of luxury. In Henry VII's reign the University of Oxford had no fire allowed, for it is mentioned after the students had supped, having no fire in winter, they were obliged to take a good run to get heat in their feet before they retired for the night. Holinshed in the reign of Elizabeth describes the rudeness of the preceding generation in the arts of life.

"There were," says he, "very few chimneys. Even in the capital towns the fire was laid to the wall, and the smoke issued out of the door, roof or window."

In the year of 1639 a tax of 2 shillings was laid on chimneys.—London Strand Magazine.

Woods We Use in Our Toys.

"It must not be considered that dolls are the only wooden toys in the manufacture of which American industry has been progressing," says the Southern Lumberman. "Among the toys made in this country from American woods are toy animals, blocks, boats, cannon and forts, children's chairs, circus sets, dolls, doll furniture, games, Christmas tree holders, swing jumpers, children's pianos, pastry sets, babies' play yards, toy shooting galleries, hobbyhorses, poggons, toy wagons, toy autos and wheelbarrows. Basswood is the principal material for wooden toys and for wooden parts of metal toys. Next to basswood, sugar maple, beech, birch and white pine are the principal woods used for toys. The amount of woods used annually in the United States for toy manufacture is nearly 29,000,000 feet."

A Prohibited Inscription.

In the west cloister of Westminster abbey, in the oldest part of the building, imbedded in the pavement is a slab of marble marking the grave of John Broughton, who was a verger in the abbey for more than thirty years and before he obtained the situation was the champion prizefighter of Great Britain, holding the belt for more than twelve years. The guides who show people around the abbey say that when he was buried in the cloister some of his admirers wanted to immortalize him with an appropriate epitaph, and they indicated a blank space under his name which was left for the inscription. "For twelve years champion prizefighter of England," but it was prohibited.

"Landlady."

The distinction which the possession of land used to give is still exemplified in the titles of "landlord" and "landlady." Persons are amused at the colored washerwoman, for instance, who insists on the term "lady." But let the same woman run a rooming house of whatever description and she is not a "landwoman," but a "landlady."—Kansas City Star.

Exasperating.

"The phrase 'He hates himself' is intended for sarcasm when applied to an egotist, I believe."

"Quite right, but it's the unvarnished truth when applied to a man who starts to tell a funny story and forgets how it ends."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Self Protection.

"I always take my wife with me when I buy a new hat."

"That's considerate."

"No, it isn't. If I buy one by myself she blames me for the way I look in it. If she goes along I blame her."—Washington Star.

Too Familiar.

"I suppose you are familiar with the works of Bobby Burns?"

"Certainly, and also with the works of Billy Shakespeare, George Byron and Jack Milton."—Boston Transcript.

Don't Be Conceited.

If you make yourself the center of the universe all your perspective is skewed. There is only one moral center of the universe, and that is God.—Woodrow Wilson.

SPRING MERCHANDISE

that will be needful today and each day. Modestly speaking, we have never assembled such attractive assortments of choice and beautiful merchandise and we believe you'll find it advantageous to your purse and convenience to shop with us. Our variable climate makes a an urgent necessity. This is an undisputed fact. Our daily experience satisfies us that we are showing exactly what is wanted in Coats.

The models are on sensible lines. The tailoring is correct and the styles up to the minute. The materials—White Chinchilla Corduroy, Mannish effects. Many Checks—Fancy weaves and Chuddas—with or without belts, and prices one to three dollars under city prices. Test us out.

PRINTED COTTONS

are really fascinating this season. You wonder where the ideas originate. You are as unable to describe their beauty as you are the charming maid who will wear them. You'll simply experience an enjoyable content in saying "beautiful." Here are Seed Cloth, Crepe de Chine, Voile, Organdie, Crepes, all touched with the artist's hand in floral designs and figures—most reasonably priced.

BEAUTIFUL WAISTS

that are in a class by themselves. You have never seen such exquisite Waists for the money as we are now showing. At $1.00 we offer you a full dozen lovely styles made of Voile, Crepes, Dotted Swiss and real Silk—truly wonderful values—worth half more. A little more price and here are Strong Tub Silk, Elegant Crepe de Chine and Organdies. Avoid care wrinkles, buy our Waists.

Don't overlook the Suit Section. Some rare bargains in the newest of SPRING SUITS.

We are closing out some odd Suits at very attractive figures. If you are needing a Suit—here is a chance. Special Suits in elegant material, in Navy and Black, for full figures that are usually difficult to fit.

PARASOLS

will be timely this season of smaller head wear. Our South window shows some very fetching ideas. The color schemes will surely tone up the general effect for many users, don't you think? Some good lookers from $1.00 up, and a lot of pretty little Parasols for the children.

PERSONALS.

It is the aim of THE CHRONICLE to publish as many personal and social items as possible, but it frequently happens that those who have guests visiting them, and those who entertain, fail to send a list of their friends, or an account of these events, to this office. Readers who live at a distance are always interested in what is going on "at home," and for that reason, if for no other, this column should be filled every week. It is of course understood that anonymous contributions will not be published. Names of persons furnishing items will be withheld.

Section Foreman Killed.

Charles Edward Gall, Highfield, Md., a section foreman on the Western Maryland Railway, was run over by a freight train Sunday night near Guilford and killed. His body was found early Monday morning.

Mr. Gall had been working near Guilford. On his way home it is thought he sat down along the track and fell asleep. Coroner Macky, of Chambersburg, was notified and deemed an inquest unnecessary.

He had been a resident of Highfield practically all his life and for the last 15 years had been employed by the Western Maryland Railway. He is survived by his widow and three children.

Caught Violating Dry Law.

The first arrests since Carroll County went dry were made on Sunday, when State's Attorney Weant, accompanied by three officers and a justice of the peace, stopped the Westminster and Reisterstown bus on the outskirts of the city and captured four men and several suit cases full of beer and whiskey that had been purchased at Reisterstown.

They were given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Brown on Monday and each fined $50 and costs. Three paid their fines and the fourth went to jail for 60 days.

Congregational Meeting of Lutherans.

At the annual congregational meeting held at the Lutheran church on Whit Monday evening for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year, the following were elected: Messrs. E. E. Zimmerman and John Hospelhorn, Elders; Messrs. C. C. Springer and Ephraim Grimes, Deacons. At this meeting it was decided to increase the salary of the pastor, Rev. Charles Reinwald, to wire the parsonage for electricity and to install telephone communication.

Some Boat This.

Francis Gelwicks has just received from the factory a nine cylinder Pford car built after his own specifications during a strike. It has a kick starter and an alarm clock attachment, also a rain shield and gauntlets. In place of gasoline, the fuel used is Guernsey butter-milk and dogwood. The fenders are of the D type, 8 point lowercase, with cracked ice distributors to keep the tires from burning up. The motor is V shaped, navy plug spark, and an overhead umbrella gives acceleration on grades. The chassis when not on the ground is supported by four wheels.

Rural free delivery is being rapidly extended in the Dominion, but particularly in Ontario, where in 1911 there were 389 routes and 12,578 boxes and now are 1,391 routes and 72,940 boxes.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL
DRAMA BY AMATEURS

"Myra" or "Out of the Shadows Into the Light," Given by the Junior Children of Mary.

Last Friday evening the Junior Children of Mary presented a play entitled, "Myra" or "Out of the Shadows into the Light," to a large and interested audience that gathered in St. Euphemia's Hall. The youthful players acquitted themselves very creditably and each part was well assigned. Special mention must be made of the two colored characters, Aunt Mercy, Miss Gertrude Krise, and Hepsy, Master James Boyle, who with their funny witticisms provoked the audience to laughter.

Between the acts, musical selections were well rendered by Prof. Halm, Misses Estelle Codori and Mary Welty. The vocal selection, "God Bless You," was beautifully sung by the Graduating Class of 1915.

The cast of characters follow: Almyra Styles, orphan Olga, Miss Ruth Wivell; Aunt Kitty Styles, Miss Gertrude C. Ryan; Uncle Enos Styles, Mr. Frank Fitzgerald; Miss Sallie Styles, Miss Juha Topper; Violet Jameson, orphan, Miss Naomi Bowling; Mary Love, convent girl, Miss Bernadette Wivell; Madames, Directresses of Academy, Misses Viola Orndorff, Julia Roddy, Pauline Hobbs. Mrs. Stuart, Fashionable Lady, Miss Marguerite Saffer; Aunt Mercy, colored servant, Miss Gertrude Krise; Hepsy, colored child, Master James Boyle; Carrie and Bessie, Mrs. Stuart's daughters, Miss Gertrude Wivell, Miss Marie Kelly; Mme. Adelaide, French lady, Miss Elizabeth Mitchell; Pearl Adelaide, invalid, Miss Julia Dern; Charlotte, Pearl's maid, Miss Catherine Seltzer; Father DeJoie, Jesuit, Master Jacob Baker.

Civic League to Improve Fountain.

A special meeting of the Civic League was held in the Public School Building, last Thursday, May 20, to consider plans for beautifying and improving the fountain. It will be remembered that last year under the auspices of the Civic League this was done, and as the efforts of the League were greatly appreciated by the public the same plan will be followed this year. The improvements considered include, new water pipes, straightening all bent parts, painting, the raising of the coping and resodding the lawn. It is hoped that this will be accomplished before the Commencements so that Emmitsburg will present a pleasing appearance to the visitors.

NELSON SEABROOKS DEAD.

Mr. Nelson Seabrooks died on last Thursday, May 20, 1915, at his home in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, at the age of about sixty years.

Mr. Seabrooks formerly lived in Emmitsburg and had many friends here. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Seabrooks, who also resided in this place. Mr. Seabrooks was the nephew of Mrs. Michael Hoke and Mrs. John Tyson, both of Emmitsburg.

The funeral services took place last Saturday at Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

McCleaf-Hovis.

Miss Anna May Hovis, daughter of Mrs. Charles Hovis, of Rouzerville, Pa., and Mr. Frank McCleaf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McCleaf, of near Emmitsburg were united in marriage at the Presbyterian parsonage, Hagerstown by Rev. R. E. Boyle, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mr. McCleaf is a graduate of the Lancaster Business College, Lancaster, and is employed as a stenographer in Frick Co's offices, Waynesboro. Mr. and Mrs. McCleaf will reside for the present at the home of the bride's mother in Rouzerville.

WEAVER-GRUMBINE.

Miss Byrdie M. Grumbine, daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. J. Marshall Grumbine, of Frederick, and Mr. Ernest A. Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Weaver, formerly of Emmitsburg, were quietly married Sunday evening at the rectory of St. John's Catholic church, Frederick, by Rev. Fr. John Leo Collins. The bride is popular and attractive and the groom is a telephone inspector for the C. and P. Telephone Company, Frederick.

Rouzerville Has New Factory.

A company has been organized in Rouzerville, Pa., for the manufacture of canvas gloves under the management of Messrs. A. W. Boteler, Waynesboro, and Howard D. Leisinger, of Rouzerville.

MARRIED.

KLING-SMITH:—On Tuesday, May 11, 1915 Mr. Elmer D. Kling and Miss Margie M. Smith, both of near Emmitsburg, at the parsonage of the Reformed Church, Cavetown, Md., Rev. S. M. Hensch performed the ceremony.

WINEBRENNER-SMITH.—On Saturday evening, May 22, 1915, at the Presbyterian parsonage, this place, Mr. Moses V. Winebrenner and Miss Laura M. Smith, both of Woodsboro. Rev. L. B. Hensley performed the ceremony.

MCCLEAF-HOVIS.—On Saturday, May 22, 1915, at the Presbyterian parsonage, Hagerstown, Mr. Frank McCleaf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McCleaf, of near Emmitsburg, and Miss Anna May Hovis, daughter of Mrs. Charles Hovis, of Rouzerville, Rev. R. E. Boyle, officiating.

Youth Admits Murder.

After viewing the body of his step-father, Charles V. Harp, which had been exhumed for a post-mortem examination, Earl Harp, 20 years old, of Wolfsville, Md., broke down and confessed that he had shot and killed him. The confession was made to Sheriff Conrad. After telling of the crime the boy said he felt that a load had been taken from his mind. He declared that he alone was responsible for the act. This part of the story is not believed by the authorities. With the sheriff and State's Attorney Lewis, Harp was taken from the jail to the scene of the crime.

Typhoid At State Sanatorium.

An epidemic of typhoid fever has broken out at the State Sanatorium at Sabillasville, according to officials of the State Board of Health. Dr. John S. Fulton, secretary of the board announced that his office had received reports of 13 cases of the disease at the institution and he added that additional cases may have been discovered by this time. Dr. Rhorer, chief of the Bureau of Communicable Diseases of the State Board of Health, is at Sabillasville directing the handling of the epidemic.

Frost Damages Fruit.

Residents of the mountain section around Pen Mar, Cascade and Highfield, Md., experienced freezing weather Wednesday night and much damage was done to fruit and vegetables. Around Highfield the potato crop, tomatoes and beans are ruined. Damage to fruits and vegetables is estimated at hundreds of dollars.

Wreck Near Rocky Ridge.

A passenger train, which should have taken a siding at Monocacy, ran into a freight standing on the main track of the Western Maryland, early yesterday morning. The pilot of the engine was the only damage. No one was injured. The train was delayed about 50 minutes.

MOVING PICTURES TO-NIGHT.

To-night at 8 o'clock there will be moving pictures in St. Euphemia's Hall. The programme which promises to be very interesting will be as follows: "Cinderella" in three parts has most highly been praised by those who have seen it at the "Big" movie theatre's.

All music lover's love "Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata." Some may not know how it originated. This film gives the interesting explanation. The other two reels to be given will be the "Culture of Tea and Coffee."

As announced in these columns last week admission will be charged for this performance only. This is rendered necessary in order to made up a deficit occasioned, not by lack of patronage, but by lack of general contributions.

BALTIMORE'S BEST STORE

Hochschild, Kohn & Co.

Howard and Lexington Streets

Baltimore's Best Store Is The Store of Service

And it gives the sort of service that is most helpful to the woman who comes to Baltimore now and then to do her shopping.

That is because each section of this store is a specialty shop, and we have trained our people to a thorough and complete knowledge of the goods they sell.

We have specialists who will tell you just the proper model of corset that will best suit your figure. We have specialists who will help you to select and design your hats. We have specialists who will assist you in picking out your dress, your suit, your lingerie, your gloves, hosiery and shoes. We have specialists who will show you how to dress your hair most becomingly. And all these specialists are at your service, without charge. It means something worthwhile to be a customer of Baltimore's Best Store.

To My Friends and Customers

HAVING sold my stock of goods to Mr. Charles Slagle, a merchant who will keep an up-to-date store, I earnestly request my old patrons to give him a fair trial. You will find me in my new store-room in the same building and in a position to handle produce on a larger scale than ever.

Thanking you for your liberal patronage in my former business and soliciting a continuance thereof in the new, I remain,

Sincerely yours,
JOSEPH E. HOKE.

ACROSS THE LINE

Gettysburg:—

Twenty two students the largest graduating class in the history of Gettysburg Theological Seminary, received diplomas in College Lutheran Church, last week, when the baccalaureate sermon to the young ministers was preached by the Rev. J. A. Clutz. The presentation of the diplomas was made by the Rev. Dr. J. A. Singmaster, president of the seminary.

At the weekly meeting of the County Commissioners on last Tuesday it was stated that the annual inspection of the 115 bridges in the county would be started within the next ten days, and that the visiting of the various townships would be done rapidly, once the work is started.

Nearly 1000 carnations were sold with a net revenue for the ball team of $73.35. The prize of $1, offered for the girl who sold the largest number went to Miss Ruth Rupp while Miss Edna Zin-cand took the second prize of 50 cents.

Commencement this year at the Parochial schools will require two days instead of one, as heretofore. The exercises will be held on June 8 and 9. On Tuesday evening the pupils will give a three act play "Every Graduate." The commencement exercises proper will occur Wednesday evening, when four pupils Arthur Cunningham, Riley Dillman, John Becker and Nancy Slonaker, will receive diplomas.

A delegate of the Pennsylvania Catholic Beneficial League, consisting of members from Lancaster, Columbia and Lebanon together with all the grand officers of the order, instituted a local Chapter here recently in Xavier Hall.

A complete resurfaced road between Gettysburg and Cashtown and a similar construction on the ten miles to Littlestown, all to be finished as rapidly as the material can be procured, is the promise of District Engineer W. R. Wolfinger, who personally inspected the roads in the county.

The probable towns that the Liberty Bell will pass through on its trans-continental journey are Abbotstown, New Oxford, Seven Stars, McKnightstown, Cashtown and Gettysburg. The plan proposed for by these towns is to decorate and to gather as many conveyances as possible to give a business like appearance.

SOY BEANS WELL SUITED TO MARYLAND.

Excellent Yields of Both Hay and Seed—Plant After Corn.

NICHOLAS SCHULTZ,
Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station.

In Maryland the soy beans are just beginning to receive serious consideration as a general farm crop in a few locations. They are well adapted to Maryland climate and soil. They will grow anywhere corn will grow, and like corn, thrive best on rich, loam soils. It is, however, on soils too poor to grow corn profitably that soy beans will bring the greatest net profit. On soils of this character, when inoculated and fertilized with a little inexpensive fertilizer, they will produce nearly as much forage and as much as or more seed when grown on rich land.

Generally speaking, soy beans require the same kind of preparation of the seed bed as corn; and, as in the case of corn, it is better to thoroughly prepare the seed bed before planting, than to have it poorly prepared and depend upon cultivation for getting the soil into proper condition.

Where seed production is the object, soy beans should be planted in rows 24 to 36 inches apart to allow for cultivation. When planted in this manner, one bushel of seed is enough for 2 or 3 acres. The planting may be done with a corn planter or with a wheat drill regulated for planting 2 bushels of oats or cow peas per acre and having the proper number of seed holes closed so as to give rows the desired distance apart. The aim should be to get the plants about 2 inches apart in the row. The cultivation and the implements for doing this are the same as for corn.

For hay production the beans should be sown broadcast at the rate of 1½ bushels per acre, and for this purpose there is no implement better suited than the wheat drill. The seed should never be covered more than 1 inch deep except in very sandy soil, where it may be covered 2 inches.

Soy beans may be planted from any time after corn planting is finished until July 15th, depending, of course, upon the variety, location and for the planted. From June 1st to 20th is the ideal time for planting. For hay and seed it is best to plant the forepart of June to insure good curing weather for the hay and to insure plenty of time for late varieties to mature seed before frost. For late fall hog-pasture and for turning down as a green manure crop they may be planted as late as July 15th, if an early variety is used.

Few Maryland soils are naturally inoculated for soy beans and since these beans will not thrive well, without being inoculated, except on very fertile soil, it is necessary to inoculate whenever planting for the first time. To accomplish this, 2 or 3 hundred pounds of soil taken from a field which has grown them successfully should be broadcast over the land before seeding the soy beans and harrowed in immediately. Inoculating with artificial cultures has given but little success when the material is applied and the beans allowed to dry for sometime afterward. Much better results are secured when the beans are planted before the inoculating material is dry on the seed.

HOGS SHOULD BE PROTECTED AGAINST ATTACKS OF HOG CHOLERA.

S. S. BUCKLEY,
Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station.

Hog cholera is highly infectious. After it once gains entrance into a herd, very few if any escape infection, though all may not die. For the outbreaks are not of equal virulence; in some of them all or nearly all of the hogs that are attacked die of the disease, while in others comparatively few of the hogs die, although all may become sick. There is also a difference in the length of time hogs linger with the disease, in some outbreaks the disease is very rapid in developing and runs a very acute course, the animals dying in a few days after they become sick. In other outbreaks the disease runs a chronic course, hogs remaining sick for many weeks, and finally recovering. Even in the acute outbreaks some of the individuals may show this chronic form of the disease. But in these chronic cases where recovery does finally occur the animals are never thrifty. If they were young when they were affected they remain stunted, if they were full grown when attacked they never fatten properly. It is to be recommended that there should be as little communication as possible between any place where hog cholera is known to exist and all neighboring places.

The disposal of the carcasses of all hogs that have died of hog cholera is also a most important matter. Every hog cholera carcass should be burned or deeply buried, and in the latter case the carcass should be thickly covered with quick lime before the dirt is shoveled in the pit. But burning is the most efficacious and is easy to do.

PRODUCE HARD-SHELLED EGG

Strong, Heavy Shell Is Not Nearly So Likely to Be Broken by Rough Handling as Weak One.

(By EUGENIA ST. MARTIN, Bloomington, Minn.)

The feeding of hens for the production of hard-shelled eggs, not easily breakable in handling, is possible and demands attention. Shells vary greatly in strength. A strong, heavy shell is not nearly so likely to be broken by the jars, jolts and rough handling incident to ordinary shipment as a weak one.

Chemical analysis shows that the shell of the egg is largely carbonate of lime, but that it also contains carbonate of magnesia, mineral phosphate and some organic matter. If strong shells are to be produced, the mineral elements must not be lacking. Grains that are ordinarily fed do not contain these mineral elements in sufficient proportions, and an additional and separate supply is necessary. Fortunately, these mineral elements are available in much cheaper forms than in grains. Lime is the principal ingredient of oyster shells, which may be procured for about twelve dollars a ton. Iron, magnesia and often phosphorus in many kinds of artificial grit may be procured for about the same price, while these elements in grain would cost at least double these figures.

Bone meal contains phosphorus in appreciable amounts, besides lime, magnesia, etc., and while expensive, it is effective in giving the shell an evenness and fineness of texture which adds much to its strength. It is, therefore, often used as an ingredient for dry mashers for laying flocks, usually in amount varying from three to five per cent.

Eggs that won't break give the poultrymen greater profits than eggs that will. Make your hens lay the nonbreakable kind.

GETTING MOST FROM TURKEY

Do Not Encourage Fowls to Come to Kitchen Door for Tit-Bits—Exercise Is of Importance.

Turkeys should not be encouraged to come about the kitchen door for tit-bits. The health of this fowl requires that it exercise. Far better have a flock of turkeys that come up only at roosting time than a flock hanging around the kitchen door. Feed regularly twice a day when the range food is gone, and give all the sour milk that can be spared. See that they have no lice, and that their roosts are free from mites. They should be sheltered in an open shed, but better housed in the trees than in the chicken house unless conditions are unusually favorable and ventilation good. Turkeys are very susceptible to bad air and poor ventilation. They will come down with roup if allowed to roost over damp droppings in a dirty house.

Do not try to fatten in confinement. If they are to be marketed, let them eat corn with the pigs, and see that they have all they can eat for the three or four weeks just before Thanksgiving. A dose of epsom salts given once a month is good for the flock. Give a teaspoonful to every two birds in the mash. Provide plenty of grit and charcoal and all the onions available—tops and bulbs as well.

Profit in Broilers.

Difficult as is the lesson, it is nevertheless true that profit in raising broilers or first-class roasters comes only to him who uses pure-bred males, broad, deep, full-breasted birds; yellow in skin and legs. The scraggy little barnyard hen, with mongrel male as the sire of her chicks, is incapable of producing a chick that will reach three pounds weight long before it is matured, at which period of its existence it ceases to be a broiler. It is the use of good breeds that gives success and profit.

Poor Stuff Goes Begging.

It is a fact that in market plump chickens, neatly dressed, free from pin feathers, with unsoiled skin, and with perfectly clean legs, will find a ready sale, while poor stuff goes begging.
