U.S. PLANS WORLD TRADE CAMPAIGN

First Step in Commercial Preparedness Is Taken.

AGENTS WILL INVESTIGATE.

Department of Commerce Proposes to Aid Americans in Taking Advantage of Wonderful Opportunities Now Before Them—Officials Certain Trade Supremacy Struggle Will Follow War.

Washington.—Elaborate plans for a worldwide campaign for trade by the United States are revealed in the estimates of the department of commerce expenditures for the next fiscal year to be presented to congress this winter. Through the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce the department proposes to aid American merchants and manufacturers in taking advantage of wonderful opportunities now before them and in preparing for the struggle for trade supremacy which commercial officials are certain will follow the European war.

Reorganization of the staff in Washington and an increase to about twice its present extent of the foreign commercial service are contemplated, according to a statement discussing the new estimates recently made public by Dr. E. E. Pratt, chief of the bureau. Appropriations will be sought to provide for extensive investigations of commercial conditions abroad and for tariff inquiries by the cost of production division.

"As a part of the general program of 'preparedness,'" said Dr. Pratt, "the secretary of commerce will request congress to make a very largely increased appropriation for the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. Secretary Redfield believes that commercial preparedness should not be overlooked; that the United States is facing a great and unusual opportunity for increased world commerce.

"The commercial agent service is the backbone of the trade promotion organization. It is anticipated that under the appropriations asked for it will be possible during the fiscal year 1916-17 to make investigations of the possible foreign markets for cotton textiles, motor vehicles, railway supplies, boots and shoes, agricultural implements, furniture, machinery of all kinds, electrical power equipment, structural material, wearing apparel, investment possibilities, etc. No large increase will be asked by the bureau for the establishment of branch offices in the United States, but the bureau hopes to extend this service through the co-operation of the local commercial organizations.

"The commercial attaché service has been in existence just about a year. It has proved so useful that an addition of ten commercial attachés will be recommended. These attachés, it is intended, will be stationed in such important countries as Japan, India, South Africa, Spain, Scandinavia, Italy, the Netherlands, the Balkan states, Central America and Venezuela and Colombia. With the present organization the commercial attaché service will then cover practically the entire world.

"A similar increase in the bureau's work in promoting trade with Latin America will be requested. This will enable the bureau to conduct a number of special investigations there.

"It is also planned to take up a series of market investigations abroad for the purpose of placing producers of raw materials and staple products in closer and more intelligent contact with foreign markets. There is a constant demand for information with reference to foreign markets for lumber, coal, fruit, cotton, wheat, flour, rice, etc., and congress will be asked to make a special appropriation to enable the bureau to supply the markets for these products abroad."

FORTUNE FOR MAIL CARRIER.

Changes Living Cost Problem to How to Spend Income.

Kenosha, Wis.—Raymond Morehouse, a mail carrier here, has joined the "silk stocking" class. The other night he went to bed wondering how to meet the high cost of living. The next morning he received a letter announcing he was heir to $150,000 from the estate of his uncle, Louis Morehouse, at San Leandro, who left here more than fifty years ago to seek his fortune in California.

A Hundred Rattlers on String. Tucumcari, N. M.—One hundred rattlesnakes is the record of C. T. Taylor of Gesbia, who claims to be the champion snake killer of eastern New Mexico. He now has 100 rattlers on a long string which he calls his "devil's rosary."

BIG BENEFICENCE IS PLANNED BY GAMBLER

Nicholas de Szemere, Hungarian, Proposing Aid to Soldiers.

Vienna.—Out of the ruck and roar and miseries of war varied suggestions have come, many of them bearing on the best way to deal with the soldiers at the front who may come back alive and whole or be permanently disabled.

It has remained for a Hungarian noble to help in solving the problem. He is a man who a few years since started Austro-Hungary by winning more than $800,000 in a single session in the Vienna Jockey club from Count Joseph Potocki. It took only four plays at baccarat in the fashionable gambling resort of this city to transfer this immense sum from the young count to the pockets of the sportsman and gambler for high stakes, Nicholas de Szemere. For Herr de Szemere owns one of the most famous stables in the dual empire and has won many of the classic races with his horses. Now, for the time being at least, he has chosen to forget the fascination of the race track and to dedicate some of his enormous winnings on the turf and at the gaming tables to caring for some of the soldiers when they return from the war. Incidentally, it may be stated that Herr de Szemere is well known in fashionable circles in New York city, where he visited a dozen years ago.

Herr de Szemere proposes to present Hungarian, German, Austrian and Turkish soldiers of his own selection with shares in a property consisting of thousands of acres of land which he will donate to the men lucky enough to be chosen by him to live and work upon it. He hopes by the inspiration of his gift to induce other large landowners of Hungary and Austria to follow his example. His letter announcing his intention has stirred the people. Herr de Szemere's proposal can in a measure be better understood in America by identifying it with the "back to the land" movement in the United States.

MEDALS HAVE THEIR DUTY.

Hiawatha (Kan.) Resident Uses Them as Paperweights In Office.

Hiawatha, Kan.—Gold medals for prize crops are so numerous with S. G. Trent of Hiawatha, who has just been designated at the Panama-Pacific exposition as champion corn grower for Kansas, that he uses the prize medals as paperweights in his mill office.

Trent has no formula of secret practice that enabled him to raise the 117 bushels to the acre and win the prize. The corn was grown on his father's farm, five miles southwest of town. In a field of eighteen acres Trent measured off an acre, planted Boone county white corn, cultivated it just as he would an ordinary crop and gave it no special attention of any kind. The corn grew and made him 117 bushels.

PREACHER PAID IN EGGS.

Circuit Rider's Story Told at M. E. Conference.

St. Louis.—The hardships of a Methodist circuit rider were brought forcibly to the attention of the city ministers attending the St. Louis conference of the Methodist Episcopal church when one country preacher reported that in the last two months he had received half of a hog and a great many eggs, but no money. He had sent twelve dozen eggs to the district superintendent, he said.

Another circuit rider said he had received $19 in two months, and a third that he had received no money, but that his parishioners had promised to buy him a horse before winter and had entertained him liberally in their homes.

DOG SAVES WOMAN'S LIFE.

Carries Note Which Brings Help After Girl Has Died.

Dallas Tex.—A report from Cisco, Tex., tells of the feat which a dog performed in getting relief to an aged victim of ptomaine poisoning on a farm nine miles from that place.

Miss Bettie Alexander, twenty-two years old, had died and Mrs. Eliza Powers, seventy-two years, was dying when she wrote a note which she tied to the dog's neck and bade him "go home." The dog made its way to Cisco through a rainstorm, and relatives of the victims, hastening to the farm, found Mrs. Powers unconscious.

Possum In Hen Nest.

Dawson, Ga.—Recently when Mrs. Fred L. Lasseter was making the rounds of hen nests for the purpose of gathering up the eggs she was startled to find a good size opossum curled up in one of the nests as if it was his home. Mrs. Lasseter promptly placed Mr. Opossum in captivity.

ARKANSAS NOW HAS PEARL DIVERS

Are Just as Picturesque as Those of the Orient.

ONE OPERATOR EARNS MUCH

Sheriff of One of White River Counties Has Made Perhaps More Than Any Other One Man—Wife Has Necklace of the Small Gems, and Its Value Is Placed at $6,000.

Newport, Ark.—On account of continued high water this year's output of the White river pearl fisheries has not been nearly so large as that of last year, with one exception.

During the dry season, when mussel beds are uncovered and mussel men are descending the shallow water for more than 500 miles are exposed to view, it is impossible to look either up or down the stream and not see as many as a dozen pearl fishers at work. Under every cool, cedar clad bluff there are always from one to a dozen camps.

The fresh water clam, once good only for fish bait, has in recent years become a big commercial commodity, and the principal industry of its kind in this country is that of the White river fisheries.

Jesse I. Wilson, former sheriff of one of the White River counties and now known as the "pearl king," has earned perhaps more than any other one man from the waters of White river. Three years ago, with his wife, he made his first attempt at pearl fishing.

Last year, a dry season, Wilson had several helpers and he cleaned up about $7,000, in addition to nearly 200 small but very beautiful pearls turned out to the growing collection of his wife.

This year things looked rather gloomy for awhile. A few miles from Newport, where lies one of the finest mussel beds in the river, Wilson constructed a sort of wharf, upon which he laid a miniature railroad track from the high bank to a rocky islet near the middle of the stream. On this track he placed a dump car. The small steamers belonging to the button factories could "lay up" to the end of this wharf, no matter at what stage the water was, and the shells could be dumped into them easily.

Having disposed of the problem of loading the shells, Wilson then put into operation his plan of securing the mussels from beneath the deep water. On account of the depth the tongs were no longer feasible, so he constructed several rafts and two boats resembling Chinese sampans. Then he hired twenty or thirty negroes, mostly boys, as divers, and operations began. The negro boys along the White river are regular "water rats" and are at home even in the swiftest current.

Wilson treated his men and boy divers well, paid them good wages and saw that they had every comfort. In addition he allowed them 5 per cent of the proceeds of the shells.

Ropes were attached to all rafts, and when one was loaded it was drawn to the shore, the mussels were carried to the cooking vat, the meat was extracted and carefully examined for pearls and the shells were piled near or dumped into a car ready for loading into a steamer.

Wilson's success this year is the talk of the river folk. He had a practical monopoly of the shell industry, as the high water prevented all others from earning more than a bare living. He sold nearly $1,000 worth of shells and $3,000 worth of pearls, in addition to one fine gem of splendid luster, weighing 126 grains, for which he received $2,700.

Besides all this, Mrs. Wilson secured enough medium sized gems to complete her necklace, which she is now wearing. It is valued at $6,000. It is comprised of 500 pearls, in seven strands, and ranging from little larger than a pinhead to five ball shaped gems of forty grains each.

Incidentally, the ex-sheriff a short time ago captured an escaping bank robber from Oklahoma, who had wandered into the White river fisheries, and got $1,000 reward for it.

Hugo Steer For Fair.

Klamath Falls, Ore.—George Watt, manager of the Klamath Packing company of this city, intends to send to the exposition at San Francisco what is believed to be the largest steer ever produced in the state of Oregon. He is a six-year-old range fed animal weighing 3,000 pounds and has never been in a stall.

Nests Under Buggy Seat.

Cleveland, Ga.—When Wesley Nix of Etris arrived at camp meeting he discovered while assisting his family from the vehicle a hen sitting on eggs under the seat of his buggy. He prevented Biddy from attending meeting and returned home with the sitting hen still on duty.

BLAMES HIGH MEAT COST FOR PELLAGRA

Says Poor in South Eat an Excess of Fats.

Washington.—The spread of pellagra in the south in the last seven or eight years is largely due to the high cost of fresh meat, which has led the poorer classes to eat too large an amount of carbohydrates and fats. This is the conclusion announced by Edgar Sydenstricker, statistician of the United States health service.

"In the northern states," he says, "the average family was found to consume between 1,000 and 1,100 pounds of protein, while in the southern states the protein consumption averaged between 700 and 800 pounds. "The southern family consumed nearly a pound a week less of fresh beef, nearly half as much milk, very much less of other meats and hardly any salt beef, as compared with northern families.

"While families in northern states were found to consume larger quantities of butter, families in southern states consumed over 60 per cent more lard and nearly three times as much salt hog products."

The lower wages in the south, even in the mill districts, put the people down there at an economic disadvantage with the west and north, he asserts.

SUGAR FOR BRAIN TUMOR.

Experiment at U. of P. Proves Hundreds of Operations Are Needless.

Philadelphia.—Dr. Alonzo E. Taylor, professor of physiological chemistry at the University of Pennsylvania, and forty-five medical students are on a sugar diet and daily undergoing blood tests in an endeavor to establish a sugar index by which physicians may positively ascertain before recommending operations whether blindness in a patient is or is not due to a brain tumor.

So far the experiment has proved, it is said, that hundreds of brain operations have been performed needlessly.

The method of "diagnosing" brain tumor up to date has been based on the assumption that a person suffering from that disease could take sugar continually, the belief being that all of it was absorbed by the tumor. Many medical men regard this test as deficient. Now it is shown that perfectly healthy and normal young men can assimilate just as much sugar without harmful effect to their systems.

HIS FIRST TRAIN RIDE AT 79.

Oldest Pioneer of Knoxville, Ia., Had Peculiar Dread of "the Cars."

Knoxville, Ia.—Joseph Fee, seventy-nine years old, the oldest pioneer of Knoxville, where he has lived since 1849, recently took his first ride on a railroad train, going to Tracy, a fourteen mile trip.

Mr. Fee has resided within a mile of the railroad for forty years, a branch line passing through his land, but he has always had a peculiar dread of "the cars."

A few years ago his friends threatened to rope the old man and take him to the state fair. They abandoned the plan when he vehemently declared he would kill every man in the crowd if such a thing was ever attempted.

BLIND MAN BASEBALL FAN.

John Moore of Decatur, Ill., Seeks Championship Prize.

Decatur, Ill.—John Moore has entered a competition for the distinction of being the most confirmed baseball fan of the country. Moore is blind, but is not depending upon that infirmity to bring him any advantage over his rivals. The prize is a ticket admitting the holder to all ball games between professional teams in this country or Canada.

Moore has not missed a game at Decatur, which is a member of the Three I league, in eight years.

LETTER ON WAY THREE YEARS.

Addressee Gets It With Twenty-three Postmarks on Envelope.

Los Angeles, Cal.—A registered letter mailed three years ago from Vancouver by J. A. Fitzsimmons to D. C. Kling, Ocotlan, Oaxaca, Mexico, was received recently in Long Beach. Twenty-three postmarks showed the trail of its travels.

From Vancouver to Mexico and back it went. The second time the letter was received in Mexico Postmaster Gomez directed it to Los Angeles. Finally it reached its destination at Long Beach.

Father of 22 Dies at 99.

Marinette, Wis.—Peter Benedict, aged ninety-nine, the father of twenty-two children, the oldest of whom is seventy-eight, died here recently. He was the father of four pairs of twins.

PARIS TALK ENDS TEN YEARS' WORK

Carly Says Many Experts Labored Decade on Apparatus.

ALL OF THEM AMERICANS.

Captain Bullard, Head of Naval Radio Service, Declared That Wireless Telephony Holds Many Additional Advantages—Powerful Current For Latest Achievement.

Chicago.—John J. Carly, the American Telephone and Telegraph company's chief engineer, who directed the long series of wireless telephone experiments that recently reached a climax in the talk between the Eiffel tower in Paris, said at the University club that this latest scientific achievement was all American.

"The great staff of distinguished scientists and employees of the telephone company who have furnished their brains for the development of the inventions, are graduates of American colleges and universities," said Mr. Carly. "We have worked in secret to add this laurel to America's scientific crown. The achievement is American from the ground up. It is rooted in America and will be written on the pages of American history.

"Wireless telephony is the product of American genius, the labor of a staff of American scientists and others. All I did was to direct the work. The men under me did the rest.

"In this wonderful achievement there is glory enough for all. Two of the principal scientists who labored on the problem and whose researches and discoveries were of great value were F. B. Jewett and H. D. Arnold, both young men.

"Ten years ago the American Telephone and Telegraph company decided to test the possibilities of wireless telephony. There are approximately 500 eminent scientists in the employ of the company. During the last ten years at least fifty of these men have devoted their time largely to the apparatus needed."

"How would a message be sent by your telephony apparatus?" the interviewer asked.

"There is a common telephone at the base of the wireless towers," Mr. Carly explained. "You enter the building where it's housed and take off the receiver, placing it to your ear. The current that flows through the wire from this telephone has little power. It is not severe enough to more than cause your tongue to tingle, providing power of that strength were applied to your tongue.

"Electrical waves caused by the sound of the voice as they pass along this wire reach an electrical apparatus, which is one of the keys to the invention. This weak current is so developed as it runs on and upward that when it passes out along a high tension wire and is shot into the air in the form of electrical waves the voltage would kill a man. This is accomplished by an electrical generator of between fifty and seventy-five horsepower. In other words, this apparatus which develops electrical currents that will pass around the globe develops the same horsepower as the average automobile driven by a business man.

"The waves are sent out in all directions and not in a straight line. They reach everywhere."

Captain W. H. Bullard, superintendent of the naval wireless system, is reported as saying that telephonic communication between the navy department and war vessels at sea was only a question of installing the necessary apparatus.

"We are able to communicate with battleships now by means of wireless telegraphy," said Captain Bullard, "but wireless telephony holds many additional advantages. The person calling knows exactly to whom he is talking, direct contact is established and a reply comes back immediately."

SHE WAS HUNTING, AT THAT.

Miss Leland Merely Asked For Wrong Kind of License.

Selinsgrove, Pa.—Miss Hilda L. Leland of Herndon appeared at the office of County Treasurer Graeber and asked that official, "Is this the place to get a license?"

"What kind?" he asked.

"A hunter's license," she said.

She got one and after paying for it remarked with apparent satisfaction, "Now I am free to hunt a husband, since I have a legal permit."

It finally developed that she really wanted a marriage license.

Why is there so much water in a watermelon? Because it's planted in the spring.

RETURNS FROM NOME WITH 1,353 WALRUSES

Although Monsters, Hunting Them Is Unexciting.

Seattle, Wash.—The steamers Corwin, Captain J. R. Healy, in from Nome, Alaska, brought 1,353 walruses, by far the biggest catch on record, according to Captain Healy and Oscar Annevik, the chief hunter.

The Corwin left Seattle on May 1 with passengers and freight, reaching Nome on the 21st, being the first boat to reach the far north last spring. Using Nome as her base, the Corwin made two trips among the ice floes. On the first trip 841 walruses were killed and 522 on the second.

The boat carried twenty-five armed native hunters. They approached the ice floes in a gasoline launch, while the steamer stood by.

A walrus must be hit in the head. The hide on the body is so tough that it will stop any bullets. If not instantly killed the walrus flops off the ice and sinks in the sea.

Captain Healy says that walrus hunting is tame and would not attract keen sportsmen. A walrus, he says, will hardly ever fight. Sometimes, of course, accidents happen. A walrus may flop against the boat and smash it, or it may drive its tusks through the planks of the bottom and rip them open. But the steamer is never very far away, and you can swim to it—if you don't freeze to death on the way.

Having killed the walrus, the steamer comes alongside the ice, and the carcass is hoisted aboard and stripped of tusks, hide, whiskers and blubber.

The Corwin brought down 338 barrels of walrus oil, worth 31 cents per gallon, or $5,070, and four tons of the tusks, about $4,000 worth, as the ivory is worth 35 to 50 cents per pound.

The whiskers are used in China for toothpicks, and the Corwin brought enough to make a valuation of $500.

The hides, of which there were 1,352, will go to tanneries in London to be made finally into trunks, valises and other leather things. The hides ought to fetch $88,700. That makes a total of $49,270 for the season.

Next to elephant and rhinoceros hide, walrus hide is the toughest leather. The allies use it to polish big guns just out of the foundry.

The Alaska waters offer the finest field in the world for walrus hunting, but there are no tanneries in this country equipped to treat the hides.

REWARDED FOR HER KINDNESS

Entertainment of Aged Man Results in Her Getting $15,000.

Columbus, Mo.—Miss Gretchen Detchemendy, twenty, of Carthage, Mo., has sold for $15,000 a one-fourth interest in a zinc mine which she received from J. A. Langston, seventy-five, a wealthy resident of Springfield, Mo., because she was kind to him and entertained him while at a summer resort last year in Colorado.

Miss Detchemendy and Langston became fast friends during their stay in Colorado, and when she returned home he sent her a deed for the interest in the mine near Commerce, Okla.

She began receiving dividends on her interest in the mine last March and was getting $100 a week when she sold because "you never can tell," she says, "when the price of zinc is going down or the ore deposit is going to go 'blind.'"

CELL KEY DID THE TRICK.

Escaping Prisoner Thought It Was a Gun and Raised His Hands.

St. Louis, Mo.—Using a tin spoon and a shoestring to open the door of his cell in police headquarters, J. J. Hartwell, bandit suspect wanted in Butte, Mont., was subdued by a guard using a brass key as a pistol and put back into his cell.

Hartwell had picked the jail lock and opened the door and was about to make for a rear window when he was captured by Parker Thompson.

As Hartwell left the cell Thompson pounced upon him, pointing his big brass key at the prisoner and ordering him to hold up his hands. The prisoner thought he was "covered" with a revolver and raised his arms.

CORNSTALKS STOP PHONE.

Interferes With Service in Kansas, Causing Short Circuit.

Leavenworth, Kan.—The cornstalks are so tall in some parts of Leavenworth county that they are interfering with the telephone service.

South of Lansing, at Dan Monroe's place, stalks pressed against the telephone wire and caused a short circuit. The linemen had considerable trouble in discovering what was wrong.

The wires were on low poles. Two rows of corn had to be cut on each side to keep the wires clear of short circuiting at Mr. Monroe's place.

MOUNT SAINT MARY'S COLLEGE

Terrace Talk

Tuesday was the Feast of All Souls Masses were celebrated for the dead, special mementoes being made for alumni and friends who have passed away.

Daniel P. Costello, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Albert Mamauz, the League's celebrated pitcher, visited the Mountain to witness the laying of the corner stone of the new junior building.

Thomas Rohrback '09 and Mark Golibart, of Frederick, were the guests of the college on Sunday. Mr. Rohrback is an enthusiastic Mountaineer and came over to congratulate Coach John L. Day on the showing made by his gridiron warriors in the game with Western Maryland.

The Alley was the scene of unusual animation on Wednesday when it was announced that John L. Sheridan, '16, whom parental objection had kept out of the football game, was to enter the field again.

Monday was the Feast of All Saints. Mgr. Bernard Bradley celebrated a solemn mass of jubilation at 8:30 at which Rev. Mr. Cassidy was deacon and Mr. Shea subdeacon. The choir, under the direction of Prof. Braun, rendered the music with animation and art.

October was a busy month at the Mountain and a profitable one. The boon of the spiritual retreat doubtless accounted for the boon in class work, evidences of which elicited words of appreciation from the president when he read the monthly marks.

Western Maryland Beaten, 12 to 0. Mount Saint Mary's football upset the dope of the sporting writers on Saturday when they defeated Western Maryland College at Emmitsburg.

MR. SMITH ATTAINS ENVIABLE POSITION

Nephew of the Misses Smith of Emmitsburg and Son of Former Resident Makes Rapid Rise.

One of the younger men in the telephone business to attain an enviable position with a big operating company is Melville W. Smith, nephew of the Misses Smith, of Emmitsburg.

Mr. Smith is a son of I. M. Smith, of Lemaster, Penna., a former resident of Emmitsburg. In 1912 he entered the service of the American Union Telephone Co., under the then Auditor Edward M. Frisk, who afterward became general manager of the Consolidated Telephone Co., with headquarters at Hazelton, Pa., where he still directs the affairs of that live company.

dent of a victory and were completely taken back at the stiff opposition of the Mountaineers. The game was fast and well played, each side being obliged to withdraw good men on account of injuries.

The day was ideal for the game, and although a swift wind came up across the field, much punting was done on both sides. Cashman, who has done practically all the kicking for the Mountaineers this year booted the pigskin 63 yards, the longest punt on record at the Mountain.

Mt. St. Mary's made both their touchdowns in the first half. Shortly after play was called for the second quarter, Sheridan took the ball across the line for the first score of the game.

PARISH HOUSE DEDICATED.

Rev. Luther De Yoe D. D., Formerly Of This Place, Is Pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Germantown.

Many very interesting services were held during the past week incident to the dedication of the Parish House of the Trinity Lutheran Church, of Germantown, Pa., of which the Rev. Luther De Yoe, D. D., is pastor.

The movement to build a Parish House had its inception at a meeting of the Men's Club, on April 20, 1911, when a committee was appointed to raise $5,000 for that purpose.

Valley Echoes

The energetic zeal enkindled among the collegians upon the assumption of a basket ball team is a forerunner of the ardor and enthusiasm which this year will produce. St. Joseph's has the services of Miss Agnes Hunter, of Baltimore, as coach for this season.

The senior class attended the Mount Saint Mary's versus Baltimore City College football game last Wednesday afternoon. They congratulate the young Mountaineers on their excellent friendly—hostile spirit and sincerely hope they may be the victors "Viridis Coronae."

The new class schedule has necessitated a change of period for the lectures on Science of Religion given by Very Rev. J. O. Hayden, C. M.; the time being advanced from 2 P. M., Wednesday to 10.30 A. M. Tuesday.

During one of his recent informal visits to the college, Very Rev. J. P. Cribbins, C. M., narrated several incidents of the present war and dwelt upon the lamentable condition of Europe, inspiring the girls with a more eager desire to pray for the unfortunate victims especially the cripples, the widows and the orphans.

A handsome floral tribute was sent by Mrs. T. F. Galvin, of Brooklyn, Mass. for the grave of her much beloved teacher, Sister Caroline Eck. The Directress of the College, accompanied by a few children whose mothers had known Sister Caroline when "girls in the Valley," repaired to "God's Acre" in the silence of the evening that same day and pilloved the flowers on the bosom of mother earth which holds in fond embrace the remains of our dear departed. Requiescat in pace.

There is no musical instrument to compare with the human voice; no expression like that of the human face—a fact emphasized by the Great Reader, Mr. C. E. W. Griffith, of Chicago, who sang a sympathetic rendition of Dante and Shakespeare, for the student body of St. Joseph's within the past month. Mr. Griffith's art is a plea for the perfection of the spoken word and proves that the reader is the greatest of all artists because his best art appeals not only to the fancy as that of the musician but because his work appeals more strongly than any other to the intellect, to the soul.

The regular October Concert was held recently in the Commencement Hall where the entire program was carefully and artistically arranged. The students taking part delivered their individual efforts with grace and evident skill manifesting the endeavor to make the affair one of educational pleasure.

The order of the evening was as follows: Piano Solo, Fantaisie Brillante from Oberon, Leybach op. 86, Mary Vickers; Vocal Solo, Telltales, Carter, Rose Wright; Reading, Whisperin' Bill, Nan Gable; Mandolin Solo, Valse Capricieuse, Wekerlin, Pauline Connor; Vocal Solo, A Song of the Hills, Jacobs-Bond, Margaret Cain; Piano Solo, Etude, L. Schytte op. 75, Marion Flanagan; Our Lady of the Angels, The Gift of the Fortiuncula in Five Scenes Illustrated by The Students of Private Elocution; Vocal Solo, The Mighty Deep, Jude, Elise Kalbach; Violin Solo, Berceuse, Godard, Nan Miller; Piano Solo, Gavotte in A Minor, Sgambati, Major Miller; Solo and Chorus from "Cendrillon," Rossini, Solo, Gertrude McManus; Chorus, The Vocal Class.

Mrs. Charles Morgan, of Roland Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland assisted by her daughter, Miss Elizabeth R. Morgan, A. B. Class of '15, gave a benefit card party at Hotel Emerson, Baltimore this week. The proceeds will be added to the "Gymnasium Fund."

Build Your Own Ice House--of Concrete

There's many a comfort that you can enjoy during the sweltering heat of the summer if you have a good and well filled ice house.

Why not build one now and be prepared?

Ice houses built of concrete are especially good, since they are heat-resisting, do not rot from the continual dampness of the ice, never require repairs and are fireproof.

Our Bulletin, "Concrete in the Country," tells you just how to construct one. Send for it. It's free. Concrete For Permanence "SECURITY," The Permanent Cement

Theoretically Your Argument's Great. But—

ABSOLUTE prohibition is one of the biggest boomerangs ever conceived. The man who really works for real temperance is the maker of mild beer. He's the man who fights drunkenness.

Two ounces of alcohol is food and beneficial to the system. Ordinary light beer contains about 3% of alcohol. To consume two ounces a man would have to drink at least four bottles of beer a day. You don't find the drunkards in the ranks of the beer drinkers.

Prohibition would close your beer saloons but it wouldn't stop men from drinking. It simply takes away the relatively harmless beer from those who advocate temperance by drinking it and makes them drink stronger stimulants in the secret, unlawful dives which prohibition fosters.

PROPER FILLING PREVENTS SPOILING OF SILAGE.

Silo Should Be Air-Tight and Silage Well-Packed.

G. E. WOLCOTT, Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station.

As the season for filling the silo is now here, there are a number of facts which the farmer should bear in mind if he expects to make silage of good quality, with a minimum loss of food material.

In the first place, the silo should be air-tight. Wherever air is admitted after the silo is filled, the silage will spoil. Cracks in the wooden silo can be covered with tar paper and made air-tight. The joints around the door can be made air-tight by the use of tar paper. At the Experiment Station, the doors are covered with one or two layers of tar paper, then forced into place. By taking such precautions, a considerable loss can be prevented.

IMPROVED CEMENT SILO.

Field corn is ready for the silo when the lower leaves begin to dry out and the kernel begins to glaze. At this stage, the husk will also begin to turn yellow. The knives on the cutter should be kept sharp and the corn should be cut so that the pieces will be about one-half inch long. But cutting in small lengths, the silage will pack better and a greater quantity can be placed in the silo. It is also very important that the silage be well-packed. Two or three men should be kept in the silo. By packing well, the air will be forced out and considerable silage, which would otherwise be lost, will be saved. If the corn is too dry to pack well, water should be added. If it is found necessary to add water, it should be run in as the silo is filled.

Sweet corn should be allowed to stand a little longer than field corn, in order to make a good quality of silage.

While the silo is being filled, it is well to start the blower before any one enters the silo. If all the doors are in place, the heavy gases which are formed cannot escape and accidents may be prevented by taking precautions to blow out any gas that may be present.

When the filling is finished, it would be a good plan to cover the silage with straw, then pour water on the straw, so that it will pack. This will prevent the loss of silage at the top. As the silage settles, it should be packed each day.

SEED CORN SHOULD BE SELECTED NOW.

Fall Selection Of Seed Corn From Well-Developed Stalks Gives Best Results.

NICHOLAS SCHMITZ, Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station.

The only proper way to select seed corn is from the standing stalks. As soon as the crop ripens go through the field with a basket or bag hung across the shoulder and husk the corn from desirable stalks that have produced good-sized ears without having any special advantages of air, moisture and fertility. Avoid very large ears on stalks standing single or with a large amount of space around them. Preference should be given those plants that have produced well in competition with a full stand. Late-maturing plants with ears which are heavy because of an excessive amount of sap should be passed by; sapiness is likely to destroy quality. Everything being equal, short, thick stalks are preferable. They are not so easily blown down, permit thicker planting, and in general are more productive than slender stalks. The position of the ear is also important. It should not be too high, as the higher the ear is placed on the stalk the more apt the stalk is to blow down in case of a storm. The ear should also have a tendency to droop rather than to point upward, because of the danger of water getting into the husk and causing sprouting or molding. It is an inherited tendency of corn to produce suckers; therefore, other things being equal, seed should be taken from stalks not having suckers.

The same day the seed corn is gathered the husked ears should be put in a dry place where there is free circulation of air. They should be placed in such a manner that they do not touch each other, such as tying them in strings with binder twine or hanging them up in bunches with a few husks left on the end. Good seed is often ruined because it is thought to be dry enough when gathered and is left in sacks or in a pile for some time before putting away to dry. During the warm fall weather with excessive amount of moisture in the cobs and kernels the ears will heat or mold in a remarkably short time.

TO BE EIGHT NEW CARDINALS.

Six Italians, One German, One Frenchman. — New Major Domo Handsome and Very Rich.

Pope Benedict XV has, much against his desires it is said, advanced the date for a consistory, and will name at it eight new cardinals, six of whom will be Italians. One will be a German, the other a Frenchman. The wish of the pope has been to see the war ended before holding a consistory. His reason for the wish is the delicate problem of selecting new cardinals from nations at war, and avoiding jealousies of those nations. The eight prelates said to have been selected to be advanced to the Sacred College are the following Italians:

Mgr. Gavotti, Archbishop of Genoa; Mgr. Gusmini, Archbishop of Bologna; Mgr. La Fontaine, Patriarch of Venice; Mgr. Sbarretti, secretary of the Congregation of the Holy Office; Mgr. Bartolomasi, the head chaplain of the Italian armies; and Mgr. Rannuzzi de Bianchi, the major domo. The French cardinal will be Mgr. Touchet, Bishop of Orleans, and the German, Mgr. Fruhwirth, nuncio at Munich. It is possible that some others of the curia, not now of cardinal rank, will be advanced to the Sacred College, deaths having recently depleted the administrative force of the church to a considerable extent. It is believed, however, that no other foreign cardinal than those named will be created.

Bishop Touchet of Orleans gets his honor in part because he happens to be head of that diocese from which came the Maid of Orleans. A further step in the canonization of Joan of Arc is to be taken at the Orleans cathedral, and the bestowal of the pallium on the bishop will occur at the same service. Mgr. Fruhwirth was long head of the Dominican order, and is the first German for centuries to be sent as papal nuncio. Usually nuncios are Italians. When Mgr. Rannuzzi de Bianchi is promoted he will be succeeded in the place of major domo to the pope by Mgr. Sans de Samper, a young and handsome Brazilian, who is now master of the chamber. This monsignor is very rich, and has had a romantic career.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county.

EMMITSBURG.

In all Western Maryland—the beauty spot and the garden spot of the State—there is no town more attractive than Emmitsburg.

No people are more wide-awake, more knowable, more courteous to strangers than Emmitsburgians.

The location of Emmitsburg is ideal; the surrounding scenery is unmatched; the climate is notably healthful; its water—pure mountain spring water—cannot be surpassed.

Mount Saint Mary's College and Ecclesiastical Seminary—with an enviable reputation extending over 106 years—is located here; St. Joseph's College and Academy for young ladies—equally as noted during its 105 years of splendid achievement—is also here.

There are excellent Schools—Public and Parochial—in Emmitsburg; two sound Banks, five Churches, a live Newspaper, modern Hotel accommodations, adequate Fire Department, progressive merchants, splendid physicians, good liverys, auto garages, many fraternal organizations, good railroad accommodations.

There is business to be had in Emmitsburg; there are Factory Sites available. If you contemplate changing your place of residence—come to Emmitsburg, Frederick County, Md.

NOW FOR THE FULFILLMENT.

The votes have been counted and, as was to have been expected, Mr. Harrington, Mr. McMullen and Mr. Ritchie, the Democratic candidates for Governor, Comptroller and Attorney-General have been elected. The platform upon which they stood was one that appealed to the people, embracing as it did a series of clear-cut, straightforward businesslike and constructive policies formulated with care and in a spirit of earnestness that could not be doubted.

These gentlemen have, by winning, assumed a responsibility, a grave responsibility, and they owe it to themselves and to the people of Maryland to fulfill every provision enumerated in that series of pre-election pledges put forward by the Democratic party of which they are now the head.

The task of doing this will soon begin. It is a task that will call for executive ability, for earnestness of purpose, for thoroughness, patience and unflinching energy and determination.

Believing in the men elected, being aware of their ability and their rugged conscientiousness and their firm desire to do their full duty, we predict that they will not seek to evade that duty nor will they falter nor fail in any particular.

JOHN McCLOSKEY FOREMAN.

With truly keen regret did the people of Emmitsburg hear of the sudden death on Monday night of Dr. John McClosky Foreman, a good citizen in every sense of the word, a firm friend, a kindly Christian gentleman.

During his short incumbency of the office, Dr. Foreman was a postmaster of whom the district could well be proud. In that capacity he was obliging, efficient, painstaking and exact, a public officer who knew and performed his whole duty.

His manner was ever courteous and, albeit he was almost a constant sufferer from physical pain, there radiated from his personality a cheerfulness that endeared him to all with whom he came in contact—that impressed one with his rare unselfishness in refraining from the infliction of the slightest part of his burden upon others.

Dr. Foreman fought life's battles bravely; unflinchingly did he meet the fate so briefly forecast, and few were better prepared for this sudden call—not many are fated to leave pleasanter memories behind them.

UNCERTAIN THINGS.

One Jude Johnson, according to a story in the Bel Air Aegis—it was published during the primary—became a candidate for dog catcher because his friends said he could be elected without any effort at all, and at least 2000 men promised to vote for him. On election day Jude got 84 votes. This is, in part, Jude's post election opinion: "Don't let any man get it into his head that there is a loud call for his services and that the people can be trusted.

He said something more, but all of his utterances only go to prove the wisdom of the gentleman who long ago remarked that "politics and horse racing are a—n uncertain things."

SCOTCH superstition has it that Hallowe'en is "the time when witches, fairies and other imps of earth and air hold annual holiday." We don't know what happened in Scotland on Saturday night, but the people of Emmitsburg are quite cognizant of the fact that the stranger passing through this town on Sunday morning might well have thought that our population was either orthodox Pagan or that it was about to celebrate the birthday of the late Rhadamanthos.

KING GEORGE of England fell off his horse the other day and got a "shake up." Many think a shaking up was about due his Majesty, and not a few are of the opinion that if some of the House of Lords and the Commons were to receive a swift kick from a 6 cylinder army mule England might wake up to the fact that it is about time for her to do something worth while in this ally business.

A CRITICIZER is one person; a critic another. The first, almost always ignorant, speaks from a wrong motive or from prejudice. Condemnation, actuated by jealousy, is the prime consideration in the thought of the criticizer, whereas the critic passes judgment which is based on knowledge, sympathy and honesty—sympathy being predominant.

MAN is but a fitful billow, tossing ever to and fro; fancy bends him as the willow bends, when zephyrs softly blow. Slave is he to love and sorrow, minion of a fleeting hour; born to work, to beg or borrow—always in another's power.

Smokeless Powder. A great advance in firearms was made when smokeless powder came into the field. Many kinds of the smokeless variety have come and gone, and from the elimination of the unfittest the nitrocellulose and the nitro glycerin powders have survived.

His Redeeming Trait. A young man was sitting in a barber's shop looking at a magazine when an old farmer, with little knowledge or appreciation of literary people, stepped up behind his chair and looked over his shoulder.

Big Trees. People generally associate ideas of the California big trees with the Mariposa grove, near the Yosemite, and yet it appears that there are in the Sequoia National park 1,166,000 trees, 12-100 of which exceed ten feet in diameter.

A Memorable Ride. The most memorable ride in English history was that of Sir Arthur Owen, which placed the Hanoverian dynasty on the throne of Great Britain. The act of settlement by which in 1701 parliament elected the house of Hanover to the British throne was passed by only one vote, and this casting vote was given by Sir Arthur Owen, the member of parliament for Pembroke-shire.

WAKING DREAMS.

A Long Series of Events Can Be Crowded Into a Few Seconds.

It is more than likely that the great majority of dreams belong to the few moments when we are falling off to sleep and the equally brief time we take to wake up. In fact, nothing is more fully established than the fact that an apparently long dream can unfold itself in an infinitesimal space of time.

Alfred Maury relates how he had a long and vivid dream of the reign of terror in France, which included his trial before the revolutionary tribunal and his execution. He actually felt the guillotine fall. Yet that dream from beginning to end was actually caused by the fall of a curtain rod which struck him on the neck and woke him up.

A well known writer in London was sitting up late writing something he much wished to finish. Suddenly some one came into the room and announced that he was called to go to Manchester. He went out and packed his bag and went to that city, where he stayed several days and saw innumerable people.

Yet when he woke with a start and found it was all a dream the ink of the last word he had written was as fresh and needed the blotting paper as much as if it had only just been written. He could not have dozed longer than ten seconds.—Pearson's.

SPOILED HIS FISHING.

An Angler's Abrupt Departure From an Uncongenial Visitor.

An easterner was spending his first summer in Montana, says the Washington Star, where he had a good opportunity to indulge in his favorite sport of trout fishing. One afternoon he had been unusually successful, but just as he was setting out for camp with a heavy string of fish he caught sight of a great pine that had blown down and was lying with its top in the water—just the place for hooking a monster trout.

Pushing along to the fallen pine, he climbed upon it by dint of hard scrambling, holding on as best he could with his rod in one hand and his string of fish in the other. The tree was close to the bank, and the stream was running bank full. He was in the midst of the branches, crowding onward, when suddenly an immense bear rose up close beside him.

There was no hesitation. To run was impossible. On the impulse of the moment the man dashed his string of trout full in the bear's face. In doing so he lost his balance, and the next instant there was a tremendous splash, and he disappeared in the rushing water.

The fisherman emerged some distance farther down the stream and, scrambling to the bank, looked back. There on the pine sat the bear, intently watching the hole where he had disappeared. He did not go back to inform her that he was not there, but made for camp at good speed.

A Plank's Inside and Outside.

There is an inside, also an outside, to every plank or board, the outside being the side farthest removed from the "plth," or center, of the tree from which the plank was cut. The careful workman always bears this in mind when fixing boards. He leaves the outside exposed to the air. If the inside is exposed to the atmosphere the earlier layers will ultimately shell out in shreds and strips owing to the action of the air destroying the timber's cohesive properties.

Origin of Comets.

Professor Ellis Stromgren, director of the Copenhagen observatory, has carried out, with the aid of J. Braae, an investigation to determine whether comets come originally from interstellar space, as has been commonly supposed, or originate within the solar system. His method of research involves the backward computation of planetary perturbations for eight comets. The conclusion reached is that all comets heretofore observed have originated within the solar system.

An Unfortunate Accident.

"Goodness, little boy!" exclaimed the kindly old gentleman to the weeping youth; "what on earth is the matter?" "I had a terrible accident," bawled the boy.

Imprudence.

The only cure for imprudence is the suffering which imprudence entails. Nothing but bringing him face to face with stern necessity and letting him feel how unbending, how unyielding, it is can improve the man of ill governed desires.—Herbert Spencer.

Candid Analysis.

"Can you dance?" "Yes," answered the self approving man. "I ain't much for style, but I've got wonderful endurance."—Washington Star.

None For Him.

"Why did you quit your last place? Wasn't your work congenial?" "Lady, no work is congenial."—Detroit Free Press.

Fidelity in small things is at the base of every great achievement.—Wagner

Refraction of Light.

R-refraction plays many magical tricks with men's eyes. It is responsible for the extraordinary phenomenon called mirage, which has excited the wonder of mankind in every age. Owing to differences of temperature, barometric pressure, etc., in adjacent parts of the atmosphere, the refraction is sometimes capriciously varied so that the most abnormal sights are seen. Parts of the earth seem detached and set afloat. Ships are visible, upside down, in the sky; objects lying behind hills are beheld apparently lifted above them; lakes of gleaming water, surrounded by palm trees and refreshing vegetation, spring into view in the midst of sandy deserts; unknown cities, with towers and pinnacles, make their appearance suspended in the air; aerial animals appear, browsing in illusory pastures; processions of men and horses are seen, marching or galloping where no foot has ever trod—such are some of the recorded marvels that the mirage has produced.—New York Journal.

In Old Porto Rico.

In the vicinity of Mayaguez, Porto Rico, are several historically interesting places. The little village of Rio Guanroba, near Anasco, was the scene of the unique experiment by which the Indians in 1511 endeavored to discover whether the Spaniards were immortal. After holding a Spanish nobleman under water six hours they were assured that those intruders were just as subject to death as themselves.

About seven miles from Mayaguez, across a rough mountainous country, is the famous sanctuary of Monserrat, which is visited every year by many pilgrims.

Situated conspicuously among its wild surroundings, its large stone church is visible for many miles. From the mountain top we obtained a delightful view of the beautiful plain through which flow the Boqueron and Guanajoba rivers.—New York Telegram.

Carried It Through.

A teacher was one day explaining to her class the degrees of comparison of adjectives. To make sure she was understood she called on each pupil in turn to give comparatives and superlatives of adjectives which she named and got good answers until she asked one little fellow to name the comparative degree of "sick."

After thinking a moment he said "Worse." The answer puzzled the teacher, because, although it was not the one she wanted, the pupil had given a comparative. She decided she could best show him his error by letting him go on and asked sweetly, "Well, if 'worse' is the comparative of 'sick' what would you give as the superlative?"

"Dead," came the answer without a moment's hesitation.—New York Times

The Things That Count.

What, when our time comes, does it matter whether we have fared faintly or not, whether we have worn soft raiment or not, whether we have a great fortune or nothing at all, whether we shall have reaped honors or been despised, have been counted learned or ignorant as compared with how we may have used that talent which has been entrusted to us for the Master's service? What shall it matter, when eyeballs glaze and ears grow dull, if out of the darkness may stretch a hand and into the silence may come a voice: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant. Thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things. Enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."—Henry George in Social Problems.

No Alleviation.

A belted earl was in the habit of playing golf daily at Musselburgh. This gentleman had contracted some ailment which made his head always shake a little. Frequently he had had occasion to rebuke his caddie for excessive indulgence in alcoholic liquors, and one day he spoke to him very sharply. "Robert, you are drunk to-day. It is a disgrace. You are very drunk!"

"Drunk!" replied the caddie. "I know I am drunk, but I'll be sober tomorrow. You're daft, and you'll never be right!"—Dundee Advertiser.

Right Up to Date.

Mother—Are you sure you can give my daughter all the luxuries and privileges enjoyed by the married women of her set? Suitor—I can give her town and country houses, motorcars, a string of polo ponies and dancing lessons at once, and a divorce and alimony within two years.—Life.

The Inevitable Thing.

"Did you get any stock in that balloon line project?" "Yes, but I think I paid for it more than it was worth."

"That is what was to be expected. An air line would naturally have inflated stock."—Baltimore American.

A Chance Yet.

Tom—Is it true that you proposed to Alice and were rejected? Jack—Not exactly rejected. She said when she felt like making a fool of herself she'd let me know.—Boston Transcript.

Those Uncaught Fish.

Maud—Don't you think there are just as good fish in the sea as ever were caught? Marie—Well, they're certainly smarter.

All He Has.

"He has a fortune in his own name." "Worth a lot, eh?" "No. But his name is Rich."—Detroit Free Press.

DEVILED HAM.—The very best way to use up the fragments left from a boiled ham is to grind them very fine, throwing away hard parts and most of the fat, and to each tumbler add two hard boiled eggs, boiled a long time, so that they will be mealy. Melt a big piece of butter and season the whole liberally with pepper, mustard and salt. Chop the eggs fine, and if there seems to be too much white leave some of it out. Pack down firmly into tumblers and seal, with melted fat over the top if you wish to keep it awhile.

Boiling Soft Shell Clams.—Wash the shells clean and put the clams, the edges downward, in a kettle; then pour about a quart of boiling water over them, cover the pot and set it over a brisk fire for three-quarters of an hour; pouring boiling water on them causes the shells to open quickly and let out the sand which may be in them. Take them up when done; take off the black skin which covers the hard part, trim them clean and put them into a stewpan. Pour over them some of the liquor in which they were boiled, add butter, pepper and salt to taste and reheat them. Serve with cold butter and rolls.

Codfish Wiggle.—Pick up a cupful of codfish, place in saucepan with enough cold water to cover, let come to boiling point; drain and cover with cold water again; turn off as before; thicken a pint of milk as for cream toast, seasoning well with pepper, salt and butter; now add the fish and half a can of peas and let all boil up. Have ready some nicely browned French fried potatoes and turn the cream, fish, etc., over them.

Fricassee Rabbit.—Clean two young rabbits, cut into joints and soak in salt and water half an hour. Put into a saucepan with a pint of cold water, a bunch of sweet herbs, an onion finely minced, a pinch of mace, half a nutmeg, a pinch of pepper and half a pound of salt pork cut in small thin slices. Cover and stew until tender. Take out the rabbits and set in a dish where they will keep warm. Add to the gravy a cupful of cream or milk, two well beaten eggs stirred in a little at a time, a tablespoonful of butter and a thickening made of a tablespoonful of flour and a little milk. Boil up once, remove the saucepan from the fire, squeeze in the juice of a lemon, stirring all the while, and pour over rabbits.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SUNDAY SUPPERS.

FRIED FROGS' LEGS.—Place two dozen frogs' legs in an earthen dish containing a marmalade composed of two tablespoonfuls of olive oil, the juice of a small lemon, a small onion sliced, a branch of parsley, two bay leaves, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-quarter teaspoonful of paprika. Let stand for one hour, turning frequently. Drain, sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper, dip in milk and roll in flour. Fry in smoking hot oil until colored a light brown. Garnish with parsley and serve with lemon sauce.

Lemon Sauce.—Put the juice of a large lemon in a double boiler with one-half cupful of butter, a dash each of salt and pepper and beat until it becomes thick and hot, but do not allow it to boil. Stir in the beaten yolks of two eggs and remove from the fire. Serve hot.

Chicken à la Newburg.—Make a sauce of four tablespoonfuls of butter mixed smoothly with a tablespoonful of flour, add a cupful of cream and heat in double boiler. When thickened and free from lumps add a pint cold chicken meat cut in small pieces and the hard boiled yolks of two eggs mashed to a paste with a tablespoonful of cream. When hot stir in one-quarter cupful of sherry wine and season with salt and a pinch of cayenne. Serve with strips of buttered toast.

Scalloped Oysters.—Drain the oysters and butter the bake dish. In the bottom have a light layer of crushed cracker crumbs; season with paprika and salt, drop bits of butter upon them and wet with oyster liquor and milk mixed in equal quantities. Now comes a layer of oysters similarly seasoned, next a layer of crumbs. Go on thus until the dish is full or the materials used up. The top layer should be crumbs, with a double allowance of butter. Cover closely and bake half an hour; then uncover and brown slightly.

Oyster Pie.—A quart oysters drained; pepper, salt and butter to taste. One quart flour, two tablespoonfuls lard, one tablespoonful salt; mix with water for pie crust. Butter plate; then line the pie plate with crust; fill with oysters seasoned; put over a crust and bake.

COUNTRY LIFE TRAINING THROUGH CLUB WORK.

School Teacher is Logical Leader in Boys' and Girls' Clubs.

J. E. METZGER,

Maryland Agricultural College.
The boys' and girls' clubs, like other clubs, should be considered as a means to an end. The club work should result in greater vocational efficiency. If the club has for its purpose the study of literature or history, as is the case of reading clubs, we should naturally expect greater proficiency from its members in these lines. Likewise, if the club is organized for the study of agricultural problems, we would expect of its members advancement in farm pursuits. Or, if it is a club organized in a manufacturing town to further its own products, it should result in greater skill and efficiency in the factory. The history of boys' and girls' clubs, where they have been run successfully, shows that their desired ends have been accomplished.

These clubs will necessarily differ in purpose and scope of work undertaken. As has been said, the ultimate end of this organized effort should be greater efficiency. The club work must be vitalized. It must pertain to the industries of the locality. In the locality where a rural high school exists, the club need not concern itself with the study of the elementary principles of agriculture, but may devote its time to more scientific problems and their applications. However, in the many localities of this State, where such advantages do not exist, the initial work of the club would be to teach the elements. The end of this type of club would be to have the local school assume the responsibility of the elementary instruction work as soon as possible. In either instance, the club is composed of individuals in the adolescent period, and in order to be effective, its educational feature must be its strongest argument.

Since the clubs are educational in their character, the logical place for their organization is at the school building. The teacher should call the meeting and form an organization. To begin with, it might run as simply a school club, but eventually, it should reach all of the young people of the community. All that is needed is some one to take the initiative. Leaders who will keep the movement going will soon be developed. It is advisable to have some older person, who may act in an advisory capacity, as a member of the club.

Probably the easiest time of the year to form a club of boys and girls is the autumn when the school opens. At this time the children are eager for companionship, and are readily organized for special work. It is, however, not essential to wait until the opening of the school year to organize. Get together a group of boys and girls who are willing to devote a definite amount of time to study, and you will have the basis of a successful club.

THE KEEPING OF HERD RECORDS PROVE OF GREAT VALUE.

G. E. WOLCOTT.

The value of keeping herd records is clearly demonstrated by the increased productions that have been made in the Harford County Dairy

HIGH PRODUCING HERD.

Improvement Association each year since 1912. The following table gives the average production per cow each year for the last three years:

Year	Lbs. Milk	Lbs. Fat	Cost of Feed	Profit over cost of Feed	Returns for $1 Expended for Feed
1st	4,786	234	$42.19	$54.86	$2.35
2nd	5,248	264	43.80	68.38	2.56
3rd	5,778	276	44.77	76.80	2.71

It will be noted that the average cow produced 30 pounds more butterfat the second year than the first. Of the 420 cows in the association the first year, some were found that were not paying for the feed they consumed, and were discarded. The cows that were making a profit were fed according to their ability to convert feed into milk, and consequently yielded more milk and fat for a dollar's worth of feed.

The third year the increase over the second amounted to 12 pounds of butterfat. During the third year the increased production was brought about by better methods of feeding and better management. Practically all the cows that were not paying for their feed had been sold before the third year of record work began.

These records demonstrate the necessity of keeping records of production and feeding each cow according to her production.

The highest type of County Agent Work is that which brings about the organization of the boys and the organization of the farmers into clubs for definite purposes, and then see to it that these purposes are accomplished.

PERSONALS.

It is the aim of THE CHRONICLE to publish as many personal and social items as possible, but it frequently happens that those who have guests visiting them, and those who entertain, fail to send a list of their friends, or an account of these events, to this office. Readers who live at a distance are always interested in what is going on "at home," and for that reason, if for no other, this column should be filled every week. It is of course understood that anonymous contributions will not be published. Names of persons furnishing items will be withheld.

Mr. Edward Eckenrode, of Hanover, Pa., spent several days here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Eckenrode.

Mrs. Alfred Lepore and children, of Baltimore, are visiting Mrs. Lepore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Elder.

Midnight Hallowe'en Frolic.

After the town officer went off duty at midnight last Saturday, a crowd of persons revived a custom the right-thinking people of this community believed had happily died out about five or six years ago. The fountain at the Square was piled high with fodder, cans, trash, etc., while several large wagons, a sleigh and several other vehicles were left standing in or near the basin. The whole spectacle was certainly a sorry one Sunday morning and there can be no doubt as to the impression strangers must have gained as they passed through the town. The authorities with the help of some boys returned the wagons to the owners and cleared up the debris on Sunday.

TOWN NEWS NOTES

Every reader of THE CHRONICLE is invited to send news to this office. The management of THE CHRONICLE will take it as a particular favor if patrons will telephone or write to this office concerning matters of general interest. By sending personal details of improvements to town or farm property, accounts of accidents and fires, the reports of meetings, particulars of deaths and weddings and mention of all social events, they will make this THEIR paper—truly representative of the community.

DR. FOREMAN DIES SUDDENLY

Postmaster of Emmitsburg Succumbs To Heart Attack on Monday.—Funeral on Thursday.

Dr. John McClosky Foreman died at his home on East Main Street, Monday night at 10.05 o'clock. The cause of death was an attack of the weakening of the arteries of the heart. He was in his forty-second year.

The announcement of Doctor Foreman's death was a great shock to the community, in which he had made his home for nearly twenty years and in which he had a host of friends. Dr. Foreman was always actively identified with the Democratic party, and last April was appointed postmaster at Emmitsburg. He had served scarcely seven months of his term when death called him away. He was also president of the Emmitsburg Electric Company. Although a sufferer from a series of indispositions for several years, Dr. Foreman had lately been in his usual health and on Sunday was feeling well. However, as he arose Monday morning, he suffered a heart attack, and although for a time he seemed to be improved, in a few hours his condition grew worse and the decline was marked.

Dr. Foreman is survived by his widow and his mother. His father died about six years ago. There are no children. At the time death occurred, the wife, the mother, and Miss Estelle Codori, a sister-in-law, were at the bedside.

Dr. Foreman was a son of the late Dr. Edwin K. Foreman, of Littlestown. His mother was, before marriage, Miss Genevieve Brawner, of Thurmont. One brother and two sisters survive: George Foreman, Hanover; Mrs. W. S. Alleman, Hanover, and Mrs. Frank Stavely, of Littlestown. Dr. Foreman married Miss Rose Codori, daughter of Simon J. Codori, of Gettysburg.

The funeral services were held in St. Joseph's Catholic Church yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. A uniformed detachment of the Vigilant Hose Company, of which Dr. Foreman was a member, marched in the funeral cortege, carrying the floral tributes which were numerous and handsome.

The honorary pall-bearers were: Dr. B. I. Jamison, Dr. J. B. Brawner, Dr. D. E. Stone, Messrs. H. S. Boyle, John A. Horner, C. T. Zacharias, Annan Horner, Andrew Annan, F. H. Gross, Prof. J. J. Crumlish, Prof. F. J. Halm and Mr. Sterling Galt. The active carriers were: Messrs. J. William Rowe, John H. Rosensteel, Jr., Guy J. Topper, James McGreevy, C. Edgar Dukehart and J. Ward Kerrigan. Practically every family in the community was represented in the concourse at the church, bearing evidence to the popularity Dr. Foreman enjoyed and the high esteem in which he was held by all.

Rev. John N. Codori, of Johnstown, was celebrant of the Solemn Requiem Mass. Rev. P. A. Coad, of Mt. St. Mary's College was deacon, Rev. L. Augustus Reudter, of McSherrystown, subdeacon, and Rev. Dr. E. B. Jordan, of the College, master of ceremonies.

In the sanctuary were also Rt. Revs. Monsignor Bernard J. Bradley and John J. Tierney, and Rev. John C. McGovern, all of Mount St. Mary's College, Rev. Joseph Malone, of Birmingham, Ala., Rev. T. F. Boyle, of Gettysburg, Rev. G. H. Traggesser, of St. Anthony's, and the Revs. J. O. Hayden, W. C. Maddock and C. J. V. Eckles, of this place.

There was no funeral sermon. Father Hayden in a few words conveyed to the family and relatives of the deceased the condolences of the parish and the community in their bereavement. Rt. Rev. Mgr. Bradley read the burial ritual and blessed the remains, after which they were laid to rest in the cemetery adjoining the church. Father Hayden officiated at the grave. The resident choir was augmented by Miss Elizabeth Robinson, of Bel Air, Messrs. Hogan, Stock, Krichten, of the College, and Mr. Sterling Galt.

Those from out of town who attended the funeral, and are not named above, were: Mrs. W. S. Alleman and daughter, Miss Catherine Alleman, Mr. George Foreman, of Hanover; Mrs. Frank Stavely, Mr. John Horneberger, Mr. John Shorb, Dr. Hickey and Mr. Joseph Livers, of Littlestown; Mrs. Frank Eberhart, Mr. George Eberhart, the Misses Carrie and Marie Codori and Mr. Edwin Codori, Miss Mary Ramer, of Gettysburg; Miss Elizabeth Dellone, of Harrisburg; Miss Beatie Gallagher and Mrs. Catherine Cassell, of Baltimore; Mr. Leo Codori, of Ingram, Pa.; Mrs. Elizabeth Foreman and son, William, Mrs. Hattie Landers, Mrs. R. L. Woesche and Miss Daisy Woesche, of Thurmont.

As a mark of respect to Dr. Foreman the Postoffice was closed during the funeral.

HARRINGTON NEXT GOVERNOR

Beats Weller By Small Plurality of 3500.—Republicans Have Landslide in Frederick County.

GOVERNOR-ELECT EMERSON C. HARRINGTON.

The election in Maryland is over and Emerson C. Harrington will succeed Phillips Lee Goldsborough as Governor of the State. Harrington's running mates, Hugh A. McMullen, for comptroller, and Albert C. Ritchie, for attorney general were also successful. The Democrats will have control of the next assembly, having 17 of the 27 Senators and 55 to the Republicans, 47 Delegates.

Harrington's victory by a plurality of 3,500 was due to the vote he received in Baltimore City which he carried by 4,724. Baltimore county, always a Democratic stronghold, broke all precedents, by going for Weller by 43 votes. The other 22 counties as a group, netted the Republican nominee a plurality of 1,200, which deducted from the city's plurality gave Harrington the election.

For city offices in Baltimore, the following were elected: Chief Judge of the Supreme Bench—Morris A. Soper, Rep.; Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas—Adam Deupert, Dem.; City Surveyor—Edward V. Connan, Dem.; State Attorney—William F. Broening, Rep.; Register of Wills—Howard W. Jackson, Dem.; Clerk of the Circuit Court—Charles R. Whiteford, Dem.; Sheriff—Thomas F. McNulty, Dem.; Clerk of the Criminal Court—Sam W. Pattison, Dem.; Judges of the Orphans' Court—Myer J. Black, Dem.; William M. Dunn, Dem.; Harry C. Gaither, Dem.

In the County.

In Frederick County the Republicans had nearly a complete victory, electing every one of their candidates with one exception—George Edward Smith, Democratic nominee for judge of the Orphans' Court, who was the only man of his party to win. The county will send a solid Republican delegation and a state senator to Annapolis.

The successful candidates on the county ticket and their pluralities according to the latest returns, were as follows:

- For State Senator—George L. Kaufman, 56.
- For Clerk of the Circuit Court—Eli G. Haugh, 1,000.
- For Register of Wills—Albert M. Patterson, 159.
- For State's Attorney—Aaron R. Anders, 1,030.
- For Sheriff—William C. Roderick, 548.
- For County Treasurer—Roger G. Harley, 318.
- For Judges of the Orphans' Court—Charles H. Butts, George Edward Smith, John L. S. Aldridge, Rep., 5,479.
- For County Commissioners—Harry B. Whitter, George C. Huffer.
- For House of Delegates—Edward S. Delaplaine, Millard Rice, D. Charles Flock, Howard D. Kefauver, R. Gassaway Molesworth.
- For County Surveyor—Emory C. Crum, Rep., without opposition, polled a vote of 6,383.

The total vote cast in Frederick county was about 11,250, out of a total registered strength of 13,427; both parties agree that this is the largest percentage of the vote that has ever been cast in the county.

The smallest majorities for any of the winners were for George L. Kaufman, who defeated H. Dorsey Etchison for State Senator by 56 votes, and Albert M. Patterson, who defeated Francis J. Newman for Register of Wills by 159 votes. Because of the closeness of these totals, it is reported that these candidates will ask a recount although no decision will be reached until after the official canvass of the vote has been made.

It may be a mistake of the publisher in thinking he has been done a favor, but as a rule whenever a newspaper loses one subscriber on account of pique there are usually two or three others gained for the very reason that the one feels aggrieved.

The broad-minded and intelligent subscriber will recognize the fact that it is only the negative quality in life that never crosses the feelings of anybody.—Jennings (La.) Herald.

ARTHUR FERGUSON.

Miss Carrie Eisdley entertained a number of her friends at her home at Zora on last Friday night at a Halloween party. The house was very artistically decorated for the occasion, autumn leaves, jack-o'-lanterns and other designs were used lavishly. An oyster supper was served to the following guests: Mrs. Thomas Taylor, Shamokin, Pa.; the Misses Helen Shuff, Mary Hollinger, Mary Weant, Bessie Eyer, Annie Longenecker and Grace Rowe, Messrs. J. William Rowe, Ross Harbaugh, Lucien Beam, Clay Shuff, Herbert Gingell, Francis E. Rowe and J. W. Kerrigan.

Beards were once taxed in England.

Arthur Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ananias Ferguson, of Friend's Creek, about four miles west of Emmitsburg, dropped dead at Sabillasville Sanatorium Wednesday morning. Mr. Ferguson was 32 years of age. Death was due to a stroke of apoplexy.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ananias Ferguson, two brothers, Amos of Mountandale and Russel at home, also three sisters, Mrs. Joseph Stouter, of near Emmitsburg, Mrs. Myrtle Holtz, at home and Miss May Ferguson, of Parkersburg, W. Va.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Rev. Father Traggesser officiating. Interment will be made in the Old Cemetery on the Hill.

A Beautiful Fairy Appeared.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Fairy Queen's New Year's Visit.

"ONCE upon a time," commenced daddy, "a grand ball was given on New Year's eve by all the elves and brownies. It was held in a beautiful park, which was lighted with Japanese lanterns, and there were a number of little flower booths in the corners of the park where the elves and brownies could drink pink lemonade when they felt hot and thirsty from dancing. The elves were far prettier dancers than the brownies, for they were graceful and dainty, and the way they could twirl on their toes and spin around filled the brownies with envy. The brownies looked very cunning in their little brown suits and quaint brown hats, but they were much too fat to be good dancers. Often they would topple over in dancing, and how the elves would laugh and how mad it made the brownies feel!

"Toward the latter part of the evening they forgot all envious feelings and joined together in doing square dances and Virginia reels.

"When they were almost ready to drop from dancing so much and playing so hard they decided it was about time to stop. So they all sat down on the grass for the most marvelous supper you can ever possibly imagine. First they had broiled gillybirds' tongues on toast, then some fried ants with mushroom sauce, delicious small salad and for dessert pink ice cream to match the pink lemonade, for they voted on pink as their favorite color. Of course they had nuts and raisins and bonbons of all colors to pull with each other. In the bonbons were all sorts of little toys, whistles, paper caps and mottoes, wooden soldiers and toy animals."

"Suddenly a most beautiful fairy appeared, dressed all in white, with a silver crown on her head, a silver wand and silver stars glittering on her dress.

"The queen of the fairies!" said they all breathlessly. And at this moment a far distance were heard the sounds of bells ringing in a new year.

"Happy New Year to all the elves and brownies!" said the queen.

"Happy New Year, beautiful fairy!" said all in reply.

"The fairy queen waved her wand and in the loveliest, most musical voice said, 'I wish you all good luck!' at which she vanished, and in the lap of each little elf and brownie lay a glittering round gold piece with 'Good luck from the fairy queen' engraved on it.

"Never had the elves and brownies had such a marvelous surprise, and a visit from the fairy queen, to have actually seen her—oh, it was wonderful! And they knew how lucky they were, for if the fairy queen wished them luck it would be sure to follow them all their lives. And you may be sure all the little elves and brownies were the happiest creatures in existence as they crawled into their flowery beds very, very early that New Year's morning."

Dressy Afternoon Gowns

Designed by Lane Bryant, New York.

WORSTED and metallic embroideries are being used everywhere, and yet with all this display one does not get too much gorgeousness, for it is used discreetly. In one of the pretty models shown above worsted embroidery adds an exquisite note of color to a marine blue satin frock. The odd bodice is a loose bolero effect, with a surplus closing at the front. The vestee is of very fine point lace. Long embroidered tabs on the skirt conceal a pocket on one side and closing on the other. The gown is completed by a touch of wolf fur on collar and cuffs. Thin materials, such as chiffons, are selected for the waists of many afternoon frocks because they make up pretty and can be conveniently worn under heavy winter coats. Black chiffon and ecru lace are here used as a top to a two tier skirt of plaited satin charmeuse. The upper part of the waist is black chiffon and ecru lace, and chiffon over muslin de soie forms the top of the sleeves. Ecru lace is used below the elbow. The waist is also beautifully embroidered front and back with self color floss and silver thread. The flaring collar of satin goes out sharply from the neckband and reaches to the top of the ears. ANNA MAY.

Butterflies on the Wing.

Dewey, Okla.—Millions of butterflies, presenting a kaleidoscopic spectacle of colors, flew for hours toward the south over this city recently. The butterflies flew at an average height of 100 feet.

Origin of "Argonaut."

The term "argonaut" comes from the legend of Greek mythology relating to the celebrated expedition headed by the hero Jason in search of the golden fleece. Naut is Greek for ship, and the vessel which bore Jason and his party was called the Argo; hence the gold hunting expedition was called the argonautic expedition and Jason and his followers argonauts, for the legend says the vessel was the first that ever sailed. Her name, Argo, has been given to one of the constellations of stars in the southern hemisphere.

Funny to Her.

"Is he really a humorist?" "He certainly is," replied the sweet young thing. "He actually asked me to marry him."
