Valley Echoes

Dr. Samuel B. Riggs, of Reading, Pa., visited his little daughter, Dorothy, over Sunday.

Mr. J. F. Barry, Jr. and Miss Elizabeth Barry, of Lancaster, Pa., were the guests of Miss Alice Barry from Saturday until Monday of this week.

Mrs. John M. Miller, Jr., of Richmond; Va., spent several days in Emmitsburg last week giving much pleasure to her two daughters, Misses Major and Nan both students at the Valley.

During this week Rev. Father Elder, C. M., chaplain of Mt. Hope Retreat, a guest at the Valley, erected a throne of gold over the main altar which is to be the permanent place of honor for our Lord in the Blessed Sacrament during Benediction.

Vast progress in the 'examination world' has encouraged the members of the collegiate classes during November; senior and sophomore Latin, junior Rhetoric and freshman Logic, all prove that 'eternal vigilance is the price of good style' No,—of good units.

Mr. R. M. Reilly, of Lancaster, Pa., recently surprised his niece Miss Alice Barry, a member of the sophomore class, by a short trip to St. Joseph's. As generosity is a chief characteristic of Mr. Kelly, its influence was felt by all the class in the shape of an auto ride through the mountains and a treat of candy.

Hoc opus, hic labor est, murmured the seniors who took their first Latin examination for this semester on November second, but 'tis sweet to think of labor's past when once the harbor's gained at last.—Later report—No failures—Excelsior.

Thanksgiving for past favors is the best means of acquiring new ones, says the venerable St. Vincent de Paul; let us, then, bear this in mind as the season of Thanksgiving is drawing near. A little reflection will cause us to be most grateful to the Giver of every perfect gift.

A word to women the queen of the domestic realm—As the Domestic Science Course at St. Joseph's now includes graded work in dressmaking, cutting and fitting, and designing it is a praiseworthy effort to induce many of the students to avail themselves of such useful training in the necessary art of sewing.

Love for Alma Mater is evinced by the frequent return of her children to spend a few days within the sacred precincts; during the week just passed Miss Mary A. Rodgers, A. B., Baltimore, Md., and Miss Helen F. Layton, Pittsburgh, Pa., rendered this testimony of filial devotion.

The rainy weather on November 11 was not a hindrance to the pleasure of the girls who accompanied by their teachers participated in the delights of the fair held by Rev. J. O. Hayden, C. M., for the benefit of St. Joseph's church. Various games were indulged in after which all enjoyed a palatable oyster supper. These socials are much approved for 'Omne tulit punctum qui miscuit utile dulci.'

From the Register: Mr. A. V. D. Watterson, LL. D., Miss Helen Frances Layton, Mr. Albert L. Mameaux, Mr. Daniel F. Costello, Mr. Charles W. Wymard, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mr. John F. Cogan, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Miss Mary Agnes Rodgers, A. B., Mr. C. Reubel Goldsborough, A. B., Mr. George J. Goldsborough, A. B., Mrs. F. W. Waterman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harley, Baltimore, Md.; Mr. M. H. Sexton, Mr. John D. Kelly, Wilmington, Del.; Miss Helena M. Hartnett, A. B., Dover, Del.; Mr. Leo P. McManus, A. B. Philadelphia, Pa.; Miss Madge Corkran, Centerville, Md.; Mr. Sidney O'Donohue, Emmitsburg, Md.; Mrs. Smith and friends, McSherrystown, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Flanigan, Shamokin, Pa.; Miss E. DeLone, Harrisburg, Pa.; Miss M. Ramer, Gettysburg, Pa.; Mr. J. A. Baecher, Norfolk, Va.; Mr. George A. Rick, Reading, Pa.; Mrs. John M. Miller, Jr., Richmond, Va.

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" thought the Class of '18, as they planned to be hostess for the Halloween festivities; "when ghosts stalk forth, and graves give up their dead." As the guests crossed the threshold of the senior recreation hall they stepped at once into ghostly realms. Blue shades toned the lights to a mysterious vagueness while numerous candles eked out the uncertainties and illumination yielded by pumpkin Jack o'lanterns gave a truly eldritch appearance. Forlorn cats and weird owls peered from corpse like walls; sheaves of yellow grain and autumn corn stood in graceful groupings; in a secluded corner Dame Fortune prophesied the fate of the future.

With the first figure in the list the Halloween frolic began. Every one set to work "Bobbing" for the elusive red apple which Tantalus-like eluded the most skilful diver; in each feature of the evening the true flavor of Halloween mystery was in evidence. When the quaint superstitions provided for the guests were exhausted delicious refreshments were served and the evening wore on until Morpheus announced the slumber hour.

On November eleventh the annual Charity Bazaar was conducted under the auspices of the Ladies of Charity of St. Joseph's College. As a result of special interest and skilful effort on the part of the junior class the various booths exhibited to the beholder a picture extremely artistic. Roses, chrysanthemums and carnations were sold in abundance and the scent of their presence was wafted here and there filling the hall with delicate perfume. The fancy work counter held its usual enticing mien and dainty frocks and frills served to attract the attention of many generous customers. To the smaller girls a brilliantly decorated Christmas Tree standing in the corner of the room proved a great magnet; dolls, games and toys of every description were at the demand of the purchaser, while candies, cakes and ices tempted all. Following the busy round of the enthusiastic shopping was a delicious supper. The students wish to express sincere gratitude for the many donations received which so generously aided in making the Charity fair a success.

The New York chapter of the Alumnae Association of Saint Joseph's College, Emmitsburg, Maryland, held its sixth meeting on Wednesday, October 27, at the home of Mrs. Samuel Hassell at Great Neck, L. I. In the absence of the regent, Mrs. Francis Romeo, the meeting was called to order by a former regent, Mrs. James J. Sheeran. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Edgar G. Criswell, secretary. After the regular business of the day the matter of the coming convention of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae, in Chicago was discussed. Probably a number of New York women will attend. Mrs. Hassell and Miss Elizabeth Welty, who sang so charmingly at the recent convention of the federation in New York, will sing at the Chicago convention. The question of the seal competition was discussed and all the art members promised to submit designs. This season's plans of the New York chapter include a mid-winter card party under the supervision of Mrs. Hassell and Mrs. John M. Alvarez of Brooklyn and of Sayville, and Mrs. Alvarez will also act as hostess for the chapter's meeting next spring, probably in April.

IF YOU WANT CUSTOMERS Let Them Know What You Have To Sell.—Invite Them To Your Store.—Advertise.

Now and then a merchant advances the argument against advertising that everyone knows where his store is and what he has to sell. He is WRONG. Everyone does NOT know what he has to sell. If he doubts this let him compare his present stock with that of five years, three years or even one year ago and note the many new things he has on his floors or shelves, new things that are the product of inventive genius or of changing fashions. He keeps abreast of the market changes but all his customers do not, hence they do not know what he has to sell.

And there are object lessons nearer home, i. e., THE LARGE AND PROSPEROUS CITY DEPARTMENT STORES THEY REALIZE THE POWER OF ADVERTISING AND MAKE LIBERAL USE OF IT. These city concerns are taking advantage of the inactivity of the local merchant along advertising lines and the space he declines to buy in local newspapers is being bought by them.

"Afterwards." After the day has sung its song of sorrow, And one by one the golden stars appear, I linger yet, where once we met, beloved, And seem to feel thy spirit still is near. The flow'rs have fled that blossom'd in that springtide, The birds are mute that sang their songs above, And though the years have drifted us asunder, Time cannot break the golden chain of love.

Still we can love, although the shadows gather; Still we can hope until the clouds be past. Come to my heart and whisper through the silence, "Hope on, dear heart, our lives shall meet at last."

Sometimes my heart grows weary of its sadness Sometimes my life grows weary of pain; Then, love, I wait and listen for your whisper Till fears depart and sunshine comes again. It cannot be that we should part forever, That love's sweet song is hush'd for us away; I hear it yet, although its theme be alter'd, 'Twill reach thy heart and bring thee back some day.

Love, we can love, although the shadows gather; Still, we can hope until the clouds be past. Come to my heart and whisper through the silence. "Hope on, dear heart, our lives shall meet at last." —Mary Mack Lemon.

Delaware Concern Buys East Berlin R. R.

Real estate, rolling stock, including a locomotive and several cars, a quantity of rails and other equipment used in the operation of the East Berlin railroad were sold recently in York by the executors of the will of the late William G. Leas and William D. Himes, receiver of the East Berlin Railroad company to the Henry Foster Company, Baltimore, Md. The Henry M. Foster Company is a Delaware Corporation that deals extensively in railroad equipment. It is not the intention of the purchaser, it is understood, to operate the road but through them the purchase by the citizens of the rolling stock and equipment will have to be made since it has passed out of the hands of the Leas estate. When the road discontinued operation the charter was forfeited and when the tracks of the road were recently torn up the right of way reverted to the property owners.

The Real Author of Crime and Misery

—is he who seeks to destroy the benefits of temperance by depriving mankind of its privilege to drink healthful beer moderately, openly.

Many a fruitful idea has been born from a glass of beer which never would have come from the water jug of the prohibitionists. Many a severe headache has been softened by a cup of hot coffee. Many a trouble and care has disappeared in the smoke of a good cigar. Many a man has found pleasure in the social environment of a well-run beer-saloon.

Enjoying this world is the result of practicing temperance in all things. The constant pursuit of the almighty dollar soon would pall on mankind could he not find an occasional oasis of relaxation and good fellowship.

MOUNT SAINT MARY'S COLLEGE

Terrace Talk

At a meeting of the Sophomore class on Thursday, the members selected an appropriate class pin and class motto. The pin is to be of solid gold, and the inscription is taken from Seneca. "Veritas nunquam perit," it reads.

Among the visitors at the Mountain during the week were: Messrs. Sydney Sappington, Sr., Sydney Sappington, Jr., Jean Hammond and Sydney Hammond, all of Libertytown, Md.; and Mark Gollibart, Paul Gollibart, and Thomas Rohrbach, of Frederick, Md.

Rt. Rev. John J. Tierney, professor of Latin and Greek, was the celebrant of the solemn high mass on Sunday, Nov. 14. Dr. Tierney addressed the large congregation of students and visitors and emphasized the importance of doing well the little things of life. The sermon was particularly applicable to the students, whom the preacher exhorted to make good use of their time and talents, as the safest means of insuring their progress in later life. Father Delihant, S. J., who preached the retreat a month ago, laid similar stress on the value of performing one's ordinary actions extraordinarily well. The effects of the retreat are apparent in the good work of the classes, and Mgr. Tierney had a word of encouragement to say to the students on that account.

The fields and grounds about the college present a picture of bustling activity at this time. Masons at work on the new building whose completion is so eagerly awaited, farmers and gardeners gathering in the harvest to be stored away for winter use, gridiron warriors practicing daily on Echo Field under the direction of Coach Leonard Day, Coach Cogan's midgets on the junior field vying in pigskin performances with the 'Varsity eleven,—this is the work of the "busy season" at Mount Saint Mary's, and everyone is contributing his share to augment the resources of the college, and make it better known and appreciated. By Thanksgiving Day preparations will be completed for a long winter of profitable school work, to be done under conditions of country life that are nowhere surpassed.

The Purcell Lyceum, composed of members of the Freshman and Sophomore English classes, has been reorganized after a suspension of two years, during which plays of an entertaining and educational value were substituted. The purpose of the society is to enable its members to develop the gift of expression and to cultivate the art of public speaking. Daniel J. Kelly, of Wilmington, is the president, John L. McCarthy, of New York, vice-president, Paul Cogan, of Brooklyn, secretary, and Harold Durkin, of Scranton, treasurer. The moderator of the society is Daniel J. Boyle, '14, of Mount Carmel, Penna. The board of governors consists of Messrs. Thomas H. Greeley, Thomas Hannigan, John N. Cody, and Robert McCormick.

Mount St. Mary's football team held the final scrimmage of the season today in preparation for the Gettysburg game at Gettysburg on Saturday. All of the regulars, with the exception of Cahill and Dwyer, indulged in the scrimmage. Both of these men are nursing bruised knees, but it is expected that they will be in good condition for the game on Saturday. Two changes have been made in the lineup this week. Cashman, the star punter, was moved from end to fullback, and Cahill and Allen were given a trial at end.

The Mountaineers are determined to close the season with a victory. They fully realize the strength of their old rivals, but will fight like demons until the final whistle blows. A victory over the battlefield eleven would bring to a satisfactory conclusion a season whose beginning was so inauspicious for the Mountaineers.

After being decisively defeated in the first two games of the year, the Mt. St. Mary's team took a decided brace and their work in the past three games has been marked by a gradual return to their erstwhile form.

The contest with the fast Delaware College team last Saturday showed that the Mountaineers rushed the pigskin forty eight yards more than their opponents; but two fumbles at critical moments gave Delaware the victory by a small margin. The new men on the team this year have developed rapidly and they seem to display better form every day.

The Mount Saint Mary's lineup for the Gettysburg game will be as follows: Capt. Carroll, R. E. Stohman, R. T.,

Miller, R. G. Zitzman, C. Mulhearn, L. G., Dwyer, L. T., Allen or Cahill, L. E., Kilgallen, Q. B., Sheridan, L. H. B., Mullaney, R. H. B., Cashman, F. B.

Delaware College defeated Mount St. Mary's at Emmitsburg on Saturday, Nov. 15. The score was 13 to 6. The game was hard fought throughout, honors being practically even until the 4th quarter, when Delaware's backfield, as though awakened from a trance, started a march down the field and annexed their second touchdown. This score practically settled the game, as but five minutes of play remained. The bright feature of the contest was a spectacular 35 yard run by Sheridan in the last quarter. Mullaney, Sheridan and Kilgallen in the backfield did excellent work, while Allen, Stohman, Mulhearn and Capt. Carroll proved veritable towers of strength on the defense. For the visitors Captain Handy, Taylor and Fidance played an excellent game.

Shortly after play had begun in the first period, the Mountaineers scored a touchdown on Mullaney's 20 yard run, which was followed by a forward pass to Carroll, who carried the ball over for the initial touchdown of the game. The rapidity with which the Mountaineers annexed this first touchdown surprised the spectators and gave them to believe that the victory would be a decisive one for Emmitsburg. The tide changed almost abruptly, however, for Delaware, after recovering a fumble on the home team's 15 yard line, sent Taylor over the line, tying the score. Both teams' attempts at goal proved abortive.

Throughout the second and third periods the ball seesawed up and down the field in a regular "pugna puntorum." At one time in the second quarter, Delaware worked her way to Mt. St. Mary's 5 yard line, but in four rushes was unable to carry it over. The Mountain linemen held for downs, taking possession of the ball practically one foot from the goal line. Cashman then punted out of danger. A punting duel followed in which Cashman worsted his opponent. One of his punts, a beautiful spiral, soared high in the air and got away from the Delaware backs on the visitors' 10 yard line; but on the next rush Taylor advanced the ball 20 yards on a run around left end.

Both teams attempted a field goal but neither was successful. Fidance, the plucky Delaware quarterback, essayed a drop in the second quarter from the 25 yard line, but almost the entire Mountain team was through and the kick was blocked. Kilgallen tried a drop for the home team from around the 40 yard line, but the kick fell short of the goal posts.

In the fourth quarter Delaware, receiving the ball in midfield, began a triumphant march down the field, Fidance scoring their second and last touchdown of the game. Shortly after this Sheridan enacted his spectacular 35 yard run around right end. Cahill here entered the game for the Mountaineers at left end, and immediately pulled down a forward pass for a 10 yard gain. The game ended with the ball in Mount Saint Mary's possession on the visitors' 35 yard line. Follows the lineup:

Basketball practice at Mount Saint Mary's College will start in earnest on Monday next. Already a large number of candidates have been reporting twice a week since Nov. 1, but the squad will be increased considerably on Monday when many candidates who were on the football squad will report.

Prospects for a championship team were never brighter at the Mount. Lally and Miller, guards of the last year's star quint, did not return to college this year. While the loss of both these men will be keenly felt, some splendid material is available from the reserve squad, and from the number of new men who have reported. The quint will be captained by James P. Leary of Philadelphia, Pa., star forward, who successfully piloted the team that divided the State championship honors last year. Leary is a very capable leader and will have as a nucleus—Haltigan, at center and Donovan and Rodgers who alternated at forward last year.

Mount Saint Mary's College has always held an enviable position in the basketball world. Last year the team annexed seventeen out of twenty contests and tied for the State's Championship with Loyola. The two teams failed to agree on a third game. In the last two seasons the Mountain quint has won thirty-four out of a total of thirty-five games on its own court, and the one reverse was suffered by a one point margin. Of the three reverses suffered last year all were on foreign courts and Mt. St. Mary's quint defeated these teams by a larger percentage on the home floor.

"The Thinkers of the Country Are the Tobacco Chewers"—said one of the greatest thinkers this country ever produced.

Says the Judge: "My brain grasps the points of a case more easily when I'm chewing PICNIC TWIST. I suppose it's because of the gentle stimulation that PICNIC TWIST gives without the after effects of "strong" tobacco.

"Have you ever noticed how many great jurists chew? Well, there's nothing better to oil the wheels of justice than PICNIC TWIST."
Have you ever wished for a tobacco that you could keep on chewing without feeling that you were overchewing?
For a long time you've really been looking for PICNIC TWIST, with its lasting sweet taste and true tobacco satisfaction with no "come-back."

Thanksgiving

By VICTOR BURR.

Thanksgiving Day is a day for solemn as well as for joyous thoughts. Living in a land especially favored, we are under obligation to make use of the opportunities crowding upon us. Supreme Wisdom judges men not by what they have done, but by what they have manfully tried to do; for Supreme Wisdom is but another name for Infinite Justice. Perhaps the best use that can be made of Thanksgiving Day is to devote it largely to self-investigation. Blessed is he who knows himself—and rare. Men, the vast majority, carry through life a splendid capacity totally undreamed of. Treasure is lost; masterpieces go uncreated; human progress is held in leash because the man recognizes not his divine possibilities. There is deep joy in self-knowledge. Locked away in that wonderful storehouse we call the mind are prizes more noble than the trophies of empire, wings that would bear us to a throne above the stars. It is for us to open the door, to enter into the full glory of possession. Why do we daily; why stand idly by; why, like the soulless savage of Atolizar, exchange our priceless pearls for the gleaming trumpets that Reason passes with contempt? Thanksgiving Day is our national advertisement of the fact that prosperity has not made us arrogant, nor material riches deprived us of our richer heritage of faith. We have retained our disposition to be reverent and grateful, while giving a new emphasis to the necessity of human cooperation with the divine. Our pride is not based upon the delusion that we are omniscient, but rests upon the fact that we have preserved our self-respect. In public Thanksgiving America testifies that she has much to be thankful for. Her people as a whole have used the resources so abundantly given, and built out of the wilderness an unapproachable commonwealth. Have we as individuals earned the right to be thankful? Have we cultivated those latent powers that make men useful, and developed that character without which the man is but a myth? Mind we have had, and the means to make it mighty. Hands have been ours to train in useful ways. While we rejoice in the knowledge that we have been a favored and triumphant people, let not one of us be forgetful of the things he has left undone.

The First Thanksgiving Proclamation Issued by a President of the United States.

Whereas, it is the duty of all nations to acknowledge the Providence of Almighty God, to obey His will, to be grateful for His benefits, and humbly implore His protection and favor; and

Whereas, both Houses of Congress have, by their Joint Committee, requested me "to recommend to the people of the United States a day of public thanksgiving and prayer, to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many signal favors of Almighty God, especially by affording them an opportunity peaceably to establish a form of government for their safety and happiness.

Now, therefore, I do recommend and assign Thursday, the 26th day of November next, to be devoted by the people of these States to the service of that great and glorious Being who is the beneficent Author of all good that was, that is, or that will be: that we may then all unite in rendering unto Him our sincere and humble thanks for His care and protection of the people of this country previous to their becoming a nation; for the signal and manifold mercies, and the favorable interpositions of His providence in the course and conclusion of the late war; for the great degree of tranquility, union, and plenty which we have since enjoyed; for the peaceable and rational manner in which we have been enabled to establish constitutions of government for our safety and happiness, and particularly the national one now instituted; for the civil and religious liberty with which we are blessed, and the means we have of acquiring and diffusing useful knowledge; and, in general, for the great and various favors which He has been pleased to confer upon us.

And also that we may unite in most humbly offering our prayers and supplications to the great Lord and Ruler of nations, and beseech Him to pardon our national and other transgressions; to enable us all, whether in public or private stations, to perform our several and relative duties properly and punctually; to render our national government a blessing to all the people, by constantly being a government of wise, just, and constitutional laws, directly and faithfully obeyed; to protect and guide all sovereigns and nations—especially such as have shown kindness unto us,—and to bless them with good government, peace, and concord; to promote the knowledge and practice of true religion, of virtue, and the increase of science among them and us; and generally to grant unto all mankind such a degree of temporal prosperity as He alone knows to be best.

Given under my hand, at the city of New York, the third day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-nine.

—GEORGE WASHINGTON.

President Wilson's Proclamation.

"It has long been the honored custom of our people to turn in the fruitful autumn of the year in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for His many blessings and mercies to us as a nation. The year that is now drawing to a close since we last observed our day of national thanksgiving has been, while a year of discipline because of the mighty forces of war and of changes which have disturbed the world, also a year of special blessing to us.

"Another year of peace have been vouchsafed us; another year in which not only to take thought of our duty to ourselves and to mankind, but also to adjust ourselves to the many responsibilities thrust upon us by a war which has involved almost the whole of Europe.

"We have been able to assert our rights and the rights of mankind without breach of friendship with the great nations with whom we have had to deal, and while we have asserted rights we have been able also to perform duties and exercise privileges of succor and helpfulness which should serve to demonstrate our desire to make the offices of friendship the means of truly disinterested and unselfish service.

"Our ability to serve all who could avail themselves of our service in the midst of crises has been increased by a gracious Providence, by more and more abundant crops; our ample financial resources have enabled us to study the markets of the world and facilitate necessary movements of commerce, which the war might have otherwise rendered impossible. And our people have come more and more to a sober realization of the part they have been called upon to play in a time when all the world is shaken by unparalleled distresses and disasters.

"The extraordinary circumstances of such a time has done much to quicken our national consciousness and deepen and confirm our confidence in the principles of peace and freedom by which we have always sought to be guided. Out of darkness and perplexity have come firmer counsels of politics and clearer perception of the essential welfare of the nation. We have prospered while other peoples were at war, but our prosperity has been vouchsafed us, we believe, only that we might the better perform the functions which war rendered it impossible for them to perform.

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the twenty-fifth of November next, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and invite the people throughout the land to cease from their wonted occupations, and in their several homes and places of worship render thanks to Almighty God.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington this 20th day of October in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fifteen and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and fortieth.

"By the President. WOODROW WILSON.

"ROBERT LANSING, Secretary of State."
