Former Wife of Prince William of Sweden Active in War.

HAS ACTED WELL AS SPY.

Grand Duchess Marie Was Considered a Light Hearted Girl and Cared For Nothing but a Good Time-After Doing Espionage Work She Returned to Russia--Now Charitable Worker.

Petrograd.-Prince William of Sweden (the Duke of Sudermania), the king's second son, has presented a collection to the museum at Stockholm which is associated with great political events as well as with the shattering of the romance of his marriage. The collection was made on a hunting expedition in East Africa, partly in company with W. N. McMillan of St. Louis, and Nairobi, whither he went a few years ago, after the divorce from his wife, the Grand Duchess Marie Pavlovna of Russia, a cousin of the czar The marriage was dissolved by the Russian council of state March 20, 1914, negotiations having been made between the governments at Stock holm and Petrograd. It had been celebrated at the Russian capital in May 1908, and the wedding was one of the most magnificent ever known in the Russian court. All difficulties between the two countries of a political nature were thought to have been settled by a treaty signed at this time.

The Grand Duchess Marie, the daugh ter of the Grand Duke Paul, the czar's uncle, was considered a light hearted girl who cared for nothing but a good time and was not afraid of occasion ally shocking her relatives by jumping over the taut traces of court etiquette As a young lady she had spent a great deal of her life in Paris with her father, who had made a morganatic marriage with Countess Pistolkors after an unsavory scandal and had been exiled by the czar, but the grand duchess had been brought up by her aunt, the Grand Duchess Serge, the czarina's sister, and had been educated to be come a domestic, dignified wife of a

ROCKS HIGH TOWER BY HAND.

California University's Campanile Oscillates Under Man's Pressure.

Berkeley, Cal.-Elmer E. Hall, associate professor of physics of the University of California, stood at the foot of the 300 foot campanile on the campus and with one hand shook the giant structure.

Professor Hall has seismograph records, photographs and a lot of data to prove that he moved the huge granite needle and is prepared to lecture to his students as to how the trick is done. He savs:

"I placed a delicate seismograph like those used to record earthquakes on the top of the tower. Then I went down to the ground and about once in a second pushed my hand against the granite shaft. By applying this pressure in time with the natural period of vibration of the campanile I set the whole mass in motion so that its vibrations were clearly recorded by the seismograph."

The campanile is regarded as a masterpiece of earthquake resistive con-

MOTHER FINDS SON AFTER LONG SEARCH

Father Stole Him, Then Was Adopted From Home.

Webster City, Ia.—Stolen from his cradle by his own father thirty years ago, later placed in a children's home in Des Moines and adopted by a fam ily at Lehigh, David Brundage now finds himself the heir to an estate, all because his mother during all these thirty years has never once ceased her search for him.

Mr. and Mrs. Brundage adopted the baby in 1887. He was a healthy youngster and grew up with the other Brundage children. Many people in and about Lehigh did not even know he was an adopted child. Every attention was lavished upon him. While young Brundage is anxious to learn all he can of his mother and other blood relatives, yet he signifies his intention to remain with his affectionate foster

NEW GROUNDHOG YARN.

Did Not Re-enter Hole Because It Was Frozen to Death.

Norwich, Conn.-Byron P. Fox, an Uncasville farmer, appeared in Norwich recently with a story that may go to show why Mr. Groundhog failed so miserably as a weather prognosticator this year. According to Mr. Fox, who admitted that until recently his confidence had never been shaken in the groundhog prophecy, a fine specimen of the woodchuck was found frozen to death near Glasbrenner's livery and she would develop into the most astute garage in Uncasville recently.

"It must have been layin' near the government could employ in the land road there for over a week," said Mr. tion. Fox. "Cose, it didn't see its shadow the day it came out, and I suppose the tache and the Russian minister at critter was too blamed proud to crawl back afterward. Anyhow, it stayed out and was frozen. No wonder we've freezin' weather."

PLUMBERS MUSTN'T RIDE. Union Forbids Them to Go on Bicy cles For Short Tasks.

Elkhart, Ind.—"We walk!" has been the slogan of Elkhart journeyman plumbers since the passing of a rule by the union forbidding the use of bicycle or motorcycle in going to and from "short jobs."

The penalty is a $5 fine. Men are permitted under the rule to ride to work for all day tasks and to use wheels at the noon lunch hour, but they must not make intervening trips on wheels. They may be passengers at any time in vehicles provided by their regular employers.

The rule was the result of a boast at a union meeting of one of the men that he had completed an unusually large number of "short jobs" during that particular day because he used a bi

DIDN'T KNOW HE WAS RICH.

Mother Left $50,000 to Fireman Four Years Ago, but He Wasn't Curious.

Philadelphia.-John T. Lammon, for more than twenty years a member of the Philadelphia fire department, learned for the first time he had inherited a fortune from his mother, who died four years ago here.

The exact amount has not been definitely ascertained, but is estimated at about $50,000. Most of it is in bonds, deeds, mortgages and bank deposits, besides a large amount of cash in a safe deposit box in the vaults of the Fidelity Trust company.

"John never was curious," said several of his brother firemen afterward "It is likely that when his mother died he just moved into her home and never bothered about going through her personal effects."

RILEY WALKS IN AT HIS OWN FUNERAL

Body of Accident Victim Said to Be His.

Cincinnati.-Edward Riley of Detroit walked into the home of his sister, Mrs. Charles Becker, in East Fifth street, the other day and put a stop to his own funeral.

His weeping relatives at first stared. Then followed embraces, and the body of a man killed in an automobile accident in Detroit and sent here as that of Riley was removed to an under taker's parlors.

Riley declares that the stranger whose burial as his came so near happening was Fred Ellis, a derelict, to whom he gave an old coat not long ago. At Detroit, according to the police. The Wayne county coroner at Detroit will be asked to direct the disposition of the body that was turned aside.

Sag Harbor Watch Case Factory Men Aid Inadequate Force.

Sag Harbor, N. Y.-Fire drill in the watch case factory of Fahys & Co. is believed to have saved the village from destruction by fire. Nine business buildings were destroyed at a loss estimated at $75,000.

The village water supply proved inadequate, so the alarm at the watch case factory was sounded, the operatives hurried from their homes, organized as taught in the fire drill, manned a big pump in the factory, helped the firemen with hose and saved the rest of the village after a hard four hour fight.

Water froze on the firemen's clothes, and several were overcome by exposure. Women and girls made huge kettles of coffee and served cups to the

SINGING PRAISED

President's Daughter Margaret to Be a Professional.

HAS ALL IN HER FAVOR.

Her Teacher, Ross W. David, Who Has Been Instructing Her Four Years, Declares Miss Wilson Has Made Singing Her Life's Work-She Will

New York .- Many persons have asked Ross W. David, singing teacher to Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the president of the United States, why she has decided to become a professional singer. To them he has replied, because it gives her the greatest opportunity for expressing herself. He said:

"Miss Margaret Wilson has made singing her life's work. To her, singing is her very life. I have been her teacher for four years, and I think I know her. She puts her singing above everything else, and I can truthfully say that in all my eighteen years of teaching I have never known any one who has worked as hard as does the daughter of the president. Miss Wilson has a lyric soprano voice, with a dramatic tendency. She sings with perfect breath control, and in the studio takes high D with ease. In public, however, she has sung only up to B flat. She is able to sustain her high voice, which is growing every day. She is essentially a lieder singer. and it is her ambition to become one of the greatest lieder singers in America. Her German is perfect, and she has good command of French and Italian. Of course she sings in English too.

But, what is more remarkable, Miss Wilson has the mettle to stand up to deliver her message. She has the pow er of concentration and the proper amount of "nerve" to become a suc cessful singer.

While her private recitals had at tracted considerable recognition it was the success which attended her firs public appearance at the Syracuse music festival last May that determined her to become a professional singer. Subsequent concerts in Cleveland and Buffalo, where she won the unstinted praise of all the musical critics, conrinced her that she had decided wise Wilson G. Smith, an influential Cleveland critic, publicly announced before the concert that if she did not 'deliver the goods" he would send her back to the White House. But the following day he wrote:

"There were no efforts at vocal chicanery to catch the audience. Her attitude toward her art and her auditors was one of genuine earnestness to interpret the musical language she loves, without self exploitation.

"The sincerity of her artistic predilection was evidenced in her selection and sympathetic interpretation of two of Robert Franz's too much neglected songs, models of classic purity. If Miss Wilson had done nothing else she would have won my critical esteem."

With criticisms of such a nature it was only natural that Miss Wilson should feel encouraged to sing at other festivals. She will appear at several events in April and May, and next fall she will begin an extended concert tour, singing in New York as well as in the principal eastern and southern

BECOMES BRIDE AFTER PHONE INTRODUCTION

Theater Party Culminates In Bachelor Girl's Marriage.

Boston.-Whatever may be the status of the telephone introduction in books of etiquette-formal, informal or distinctly bohemian—it has led to at least one recent betrothal and marriage in high social circles. Recently Alfred Borden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Borden of Fall River, was content with his bachelorhood.

That was before he had heard over the wire the sweet voice of Miss Susan

B. Ellis of Surrey, England. He came to hear it in this way: One night he had "called up" from his father's cotton mills his friend, Mrs. Humphreys, and asked her to go with him to a theater. Mrs. Humphreys had a headache, or a previous engagement, or something of equal importance, and couldn't go. It was a pity, though, to leave Mr. Borden a prey to the ennui of a lonely bachelor evening, and then the seats too! Mrs. Humphreys would do her best to fix it.

Not many moments later Mr. Borden was being introduced through the receiver to Mrs. Humphreys' sister, Miss Ellis, whom Mr. Borden had, strangely enough, never met, in spite of her success as "the bachelor girl" of Southampton, N. Y., last summer.

To make a long story short, Miss Ellis and Mr. Borden went to the theater, taking Cupid along as a supercargo in the taxi. The little fellow did the work well. Only a few weeks later their engagement was announced, and the couple were married in the chapel of St. George's church, Stuyvesant square, New York.

The bride's father was present, having come over from England for the ceremony. After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Borden will live at Short Hills, N. J.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Union, and especially in the produc tion of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scotch-Irish descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a val-ley of rolling lands lying between the Linganore Hills and the Catoc-tin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river, and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and produc-tive areas of the Union. The great crops are wheat and corn.-Maryland Manual issued by Board of Public Works.

EMMITSBURG.

In all Western Maryland-the beauty spot and the garden spot of the State-there is no town more attractive than Emmitsburg.

No people are more wide-awake, more knowable, more courteous to strangers than Emmitsburgians.

The location of Emmitsburg is ideal; the surrounding scenery is unmatchable; the climate is notedly healthful; its water—pure mountain spring water-cannot be surpassed. It is within easy access of Baltimore, Hagerstown, Frederick; eight miles from the National Battlefield at Gettysburg, near to the Mountain Resorts, and is surrounded by fertile farms and productive orchards.

Mount Saint Mary's College and Ecclesiastical Seminary-with an enviable reputation extending over 106 years—is located here; St. Joseph's College and Academy for young ladies-equally as noted during its 105 years of splendid acheivement-is also here.

There are excellent Schools-Public and Parochial-in Emmitsburg; two sound Banks, five Churches, a live Newspaper, modern Hotel accommodations, adequate Fire Department, progressive merchants, splendid physicians, good liveries. auto garages, many fraternal organizations, good railroad accommodations. There are four or five mails a day, telegraph, express and telephone service connecting all points; electric light and power, oiled

The local news page is one of the most important features of a newspaper. It is the mirrored reflection of home activities, the register of the thought, habit, ideal, aspiration, sentiment of one's locality-the metric barometer of the life and energy of one's place of residence.

Speaking for this paper, your paper, THE CHRONICLE, let us ask the cooperation of every reader of it. Let us request, in behalf of home interests, for the sake of the good effect it will have outside of Emmitsburg, that each resident in this big and important district send to this office every bit of local news that can be obtained.

Try it—the telephone is at your very elbow-and note the increased interest you will take in this, your paper, the one medium that 52 weeks in the year loyally upholds you.

Here's to him who has some thought for others, who looks upon his fellowmen as brothers; who strives to keep his tongue from speaking guile, and for a friend will go the extra mile; who though he be maligned, misunderstood, still holds that most of men at heart are good; who, conscious of his weaknesses, is kind, in that to those of others he is blind; who when misfortune comes and ills assail, does not lose faith, does not his lot bewail; who feels the sorrows others have to bear, and helps to dull the edge of their despair; who sees the beauty in both hill and glade, in sky, in flower, in all that God has made; who goes the even tenor of his way, and does what good he can from day to day.

Big Guns Not New.

Modern howitzers and siege guns are giants of destructiveness, yet, making allowance for time and exxperience, we must still admire the good old burghers of Ghent, who 500 years and more ago turned out an iron "bombarde" that weighed thirteen tons. This prototype of the up to date siege gun had a bore twenty-five inches in diameter. Out of it was projected a granite ball that weighed 700 pounds. Bronze guns as big were cast half a century later at Constantinople. And when only a little over 100 years since an earlier British fleet was fighting its way into the Dardanelles these big guns crippled six of the English menof-war and killed or wounded 126 of those on board. One gun of this type weighed eighteen and three-quarter tons, had a twenty-five inch bore and fired a 672 pound stone shot.-New York World.

Origin of the Gypsies. When the gypsies first appeared in England in the fifteenth century the name gypsy was given to them by the English people, who believed them to have come from Egypt. The French, by a similar mistake, called them Bohemians. But a careful study of this race, and especially of their language, shows that they came originally from India. The gypsy language is derived from the Sanskrit, as are the other Aryan languages of India. A similar error was made by the English when they called a distinctively American bird a turkey, under the impression that it was an importation from the Ottoman empire, and by the French when they called the same bird coq d'Inde, believing that it came from India .-Christian Herald.

Curious Manx Custom. On July 5 every year all the officials of the Isle of Man, including the clergy in their surplices, walk to the top of Tynwald hill, and from the top of it the laws made during the year are promulgated in Manx and English. This promulgation of the laws on Tynwald hill is as necessary as the royal assent to the validity of all laws passed by the Manx legislature. This is Norsemen left behind, and it dates so far back that its origin is lost in the mists of antiquity. - Liverpool Mer-

Baking a Watch.

Only the best made chronometer would ever survive the tests made at the Royal observatory, Greenwich. Usually there are about 200 watches un der examination for use in the royal navy. On certain occasions there is a complete trial of chronometers open to all makers who have sufficient confidence in their watches being able to withstand the severity of the tests. During the competition the watches are exposed to every possible variation of temperature. They are baked in furnaces sufficiently hot to cook a joint. In fact, so great is the heat that a badly made watch has been known to tumble to pieces during the baking test. The moment a watch is taken out of the oven it is plunged into mixtures registering 40 degrees of frost. To such perfection has the manufacture of some chronometers at tained that even the most stringent tests fail to cause the slightest variation.-London Telegraph.

Making Pastel Colors.

The lack of permanency of paste pictures is largely due, according to Birge Harrison, to the bad quality o the materials employed. Unscrupulous manufacturers dip sticks of white chall into liquid baths of brilliant but ephem eral dyes, and pictures produced with these soon fade. Writing in Art and Progress, Mr. Harrison says artists should make their own pastels, a proc ess that is very easy

"The materials used," he says, "are precipitated chalk mixed with the best dry powdered colors in the proportions ssary to produce the various tints desired. This impalpable powder is moistened to the consistency of a thic paste by the addition of an extremely dilute solution of gum tragacanth and water. It is then very thoroughly kneaded and finally pressed or rolled into sticks of the desired size.'

Dogs In Moccasins.

After the first severe freeze at the beginning of winter a band of pros pectors working in northern Canada found themselves on the wrong side o a lake over a hundred miles wide, or the other side of which was the winter headquarters.

They were without any means of transportation other than a boat in which was stored all their belongings and provisions. Hiring a halfbreed with his dog team, they put runners under the boat and made their way easily and safely across the smooth miles of frozen water, helping along the dogs by setting a sail on the boat To protect the feet of the dogs from the hard surface of the ice small mod casins of buckskin, well padded, were provided for each.

Greece Only an Oligarchy.

Greece, as many people do not know is a country managed by 500 families who hate one another like poison in true classic Greek fashion. The peas ants, the hack drivers and the fisher men talk radical politics all day long, but when election day comes they vote for a member of one of these big aristocratic-namely, "best" in the Greek sense-families. A republic for Greece would mean anarchy, chaos.-World's Work.

Industrial Courts.

As long ago as 1806 France created industrial courts, and the example has been followed by Germany, Switzerland, Italy and Belgium. A president, who represents the public, and an equal number of workers and employers sit as a jury rather than as a court. Lawyers are barred. The parties to the dispute take turns relating grievance and defense, and in consequence of this simplicity 90 per cent of the cases are adjusted without formal hearings. In event of threatened strikes or lockouts the courts have the power to sit as boards of arbitration, and it is only in rare cases that satisfactory agreements are not reached.

Compare the simplicity of this procedure with the American method of frequent trials, frequent appeals, reversed decisions, remanded cases, court costs, lawyers' fees and months of delay, a gantlet that no poor man dares to run. The dollar out of which an alien is cheated may mean to him the difference between a bed or a park bench, and certainly his sense of injustice will not inspire him with respect for democratic institutions-George Creel in Century

A Thief's Answer.

The secretary of the New York Prison association tells of the answer a thief gave to the question, "Is honesty the best policy?" It was in the Elmira reformatory, where a class was undergoing instruction. A young man asked permission to answer the ques-"I believe honesty is the best policy," said he, "because of a case where I knew it to work that way. See? There was two young fellows in New York, and they was crooked. See? And they didn't succeed. They went to Philadelphia, and they turned over a new leaf and agreed to be square and honest. They opened a clothing store. See? And they prospered. They got everybody's confidence, and they borrowed $100,000 to enlarge their business, and then they failed and got away with every cent of the money, which they never could have done if they hadn't been honest. Fussiness In Architecture.

A great vice that is creeping into American architecture of interiors today is an exaggeration of tiny details. Moldings are multiplied until they become liney and disturbing. Every little plain surface is paneled in most tiresome fashion. It is as if draftsmen had come to hate a white spot on a piece of paper or a blank space on a wall and to feel obliged to cover every bit of their drawings with something, preferably mere lines. Henry James, the novelist, born an American citizen, but who was naturalized a Britain last year, died in London on Monday. He was the son of a clergyman, Henry James, who gained fame as a writer on philosophicotheological subjects, first from the Sandemanian, and afterward from the Swedenborian standpoint. The novelist, known until his father's death as Henry James, Junior, was educated under his father's guidance in New York, Geneva, Paris, and Boulogne. He lived in Europe with his parents during the years 1855-9, and guidance in New York, Geneva, Paris, after his return to the United States studied in the Harvard Law School in 1862. He began his literary career about 1865 as a contributor to American magazines, and soon afterward publish aug 23-1yr ed "The Story of A Year," a tale of the American Civil War.

He produced close to 100 novels and tales, together with some critical essays and some play writing. Mr. James' work was never as popular in America as it was in England, although he had many admirers in his native country, and even some of his critics ranked him as among the most masterful writers of his generation. His writings were of the analytical and metaphysical school of novelists and their full understanding was a matter of endless controversy. Notwithstanding this fact, and his indifference as to what the public wanted, he had, particularly among the English people, a host of readers, who virtually formed a cult known as the Jamesites.

🔆 PERSONALS. 🔆

It is the aim of THE CHRONICLE to publish as many personal and social items as possible, but it frequently happens that those who have guests visiting them, and those who entertain, fail to send a list of their friends, or an account of these events, to this office. Readers who live at a distance are always interested in what is going on "at home," and for that reason, if for no other, this column should be filled every week. It is of course understood that anonymous contributions will not be published. Names of persons furnishing items will be withheld.

Items of Interest From All Points.

Condensed to Paragraphs.

By purchasing a large motor bus the Frederick Baseball Club figures that it can save at least $500 in travelling expenses. Some of the directors who have figured up the transportation expenses, are in favor of resorting to the automobile, calculating a saving of several hundred dollars. If the squad would travel in an auto bus, the players would not have to remain over night in other towns so many times and not as many meals would have to be taken at the expense of the club management.

Considerable agitation for the repeal of the household furniture exemption of $500 which went into effect last year and cost the county a tidy revenue loss has developed according to a member of the board of county commissioners. On the heels of this movement there is talk of repealing the tax on mortgages, and also the tax on judgments.

WHY PRINCE ALBERT WINS

Patented Process Is Responsible For Its International Popularity.

Smokers so much appreciate the flavor and coolness and aroma of Prince Albert pipe and cigarette tobacco that they often marvel that this one brand could be so different from all others.

The answer to this question is to be found on the reverse side of every Prince Albert package, where you will read: "Process Patented July 30th, 1907." That tells the whole story. Prince Albert is made by a patented process that cuts out the bite and parch, which makes the tobacco so mighty agreeable and satisfying to men of every taste of every civilized nation on the globe.

Smokers should realize that this patented process cost three years' continuous work and study and a fortune in money to perfect. But the result has proven to be worth all that was expended upon it, because it has set free men who believed they never could en joy a pipe or a makin's cigarette.

Prince Albert makes it possible for every man to smoke a pipe or to roll his own cigarettes. And, no matter how tender the tongue, Prince Albert cannot bite or parch. That is cut out by the patented process, leaving for the smoker only the joys of fragrant to-

It is a fact that since Prince Albert 'arrived," just about six years ago, it has made three men smoke pipes where one smoked a pipe before!

A handsome monument, now in the course of erection, will be unveiled at Shepherdstown, on July 4, to the memory of James Rumsey, who in 1783 built and operated the first steam propelled vessel in the United States.
