COURAGE WINS HER

Stand Made by Suffragists Impresses Pearl White.

ONCE SCORNE THEIR FIGHT.

Her Views Changed When She Saw How Bravely the Women Marched in a Parade in New York Despite a Cold, Miserable Day.

New York.—"You see, it was like this," said Miss Pearl White, curling her slender figure up on a corner of her couch. "I was one of those who found suffragettes funny. They handed me a laugh many a time just because I thought they were pulling a speech off to get themselves heard. But I tell you I didn't think that after their October parade. It was on an awfully cold, mean day, if you recall it, and the way those women came up the avenue beating against the wind, with their white dresses on, fairly gave one a thrill. There they stood, hour after hour, waiting to get into line, and there weren't six of them that 'beat it for home,' I'll make my guess.

"I like to see women who dare to do things. There are hundreds of women working for their living, and most of them don't dare say what they think. But those suffragettes, they've got their courage right with them, all the time," went on the plucky, daredevil "movie" star.

She it was who took up the dare when some one said no girl could be a steeplejack, and on April 15, dressed in the part of a sign painter in overalls and cap on which "Votes For Women" gleamed across the visor, Miss White let herself down an electric sign twenty-two stories above Broadway.

Miss White is as lithe as a panther. She can twist her pliant figure into more curves than most women. Half Italian and half Irish, she comes from Missouri, and so she adds keenness to her Celt and Latin traits. "I pay taxes," said she thoughtfully. "Why shouldn't I say something about what is to be done with my tax money? I pay income tax, too, just as if I were a man. I earn money too. In my profession a woman star earns more than a man, yet I have nothing to say about the income tax law nor about any other law. Why shouldn't I vote? Women are doing every kind of work men do, and over in Europe they are suffering as much as men suffer. If war should come to America they would suffer here. I want to vote for president of this country, for I know who I think ought to govern us. But I shan't have anything to say about the president. I'll have to abide by the decision of men, who may not care half as much as I care."

WIND IMPRISONS WOMAN.

Locked In Closet and Near Collapse When Rescued.

Bridgeville, Del.—Imprisoned in a closet by the wind slamming a door fast, Mrs. Mollie Cordery, who lives near Bridgeville, had a narrow escape from death and when discovered was nearly overcome by the shock.

Mrs. Cordery was cleaning the attic, and while she was looking in an old closet a gust of wind slammed the door and locked it from the outside. There was no one but herself in the house, and it was nearly an hour before Mrs. Cordery's screams happened to be heard by a gang of men who were repairing the road. With all the doors locked downstairs, Harley Rickards climbed to the second floor and got through by a window. When Mrs. Cordery was found she was in a pitiable state. She is still seriously ill from the shock.

GIRLS TOO BASHFUL.

Make Inquiries Over Phone Regarding Man Wishing to Wed.

St. Paul.—"Ambitious, but bashful," is the characterization Joseph Mounts, secretary to Chief of Police John J. O'Connor, made of a St. Paul young woman after a day of telephone calls regarding Elmer Johnson, rancher, of Sidney, Mont., who wrote to the chief making an offer of matrimony to a suitable St. Paul girl.

"Many girls," said Mr. Mounts, "called me asking about Johnson, but none would give me her name. I think the girls are passing up a good thing, because I think the man is on the level."

Johnson has 320 acres of fertile Montana land, two miles from a railroad, and says he is "well fixed."

"Some of the girls talked real fine, too," added Mr. Mounts, "and if Johnson had heard them maybe he would have liked to look them over. It's too bad they are so bashful."

Gets Shortest Letter.

Elyria, O.—The shortest letter ever known in this section was received by James Penrod, constable in Sheffield township, from C. A. Johnson of Youngstown. It says, "As I have nothing to do I shall write, and as I have nothing to say I shall close."

CONSTRUCT HOUSE IN OHIO IN TWELVE HOURS

Toledo, O.—Seventy-two carpenters began to build a house from the ground up at 4:30 a. m. At 4 p. m. the same day it was completed in every detail and Mrs. Emma Plessner-McCann was serving tea in it to Mayor Milroy and others.

The house and lot were a wedding present from the Toledo Real Estate board and contractors. Mrs. McCann was Miss Emma Plessner until a few hours before the house was finished when she became the bride of John J. McCann. She was assistant secretary of the real estate board for several years.

After the carpenter work had progressed a short time plumbers, gas fitters, painters, paper hangers, electricians and other workmen got busy and did their share of the building work within a given time. More than 200 workmen helped build the house. It is a five room house, with a bath room, costing $4,000. Ordinarily it takes two or three months to finish such a house.

Thousands watched the construction work. Three hundred gallons of hot milk and a cartload of sandwiches were served.

In addition to the lot and house, built in less than twelve hours, considerable furniture was presented by friends.

FAITH IN DIVINING ROD.

Shreveport, La.—Having discovered evidence of what he believes is buried treasure or a gold mine on a piece of ground on Fairfield avenue and owned by Dr. J. M. Comegys in the most exclusive residence district of the city, a Shreveport contractor named Farmer spent all day and part of a night digging in the plot for hidden wealth. Farmer claims he was led to the spot by a divining rod, and he further maintains that his divining rod hasn't played him false because it leads him to the exact spot every time he moves.

Farmer, with the assistance of three negro helpers, labored far into the night in search of the treasure or mine or whatever it is, and spadeful after spadeful of dirt had been removed without results. Late bulletins from the scene indicated that no treasure had been disclosed as yet, though the hole measured four feet deep and as many feet in width when the search was concluded temporarily.

Shreveport is too far inland to have been the haunt of Captain Kidd or any other of our well known pirates, and the next best guess is that it is a gold mine. Farmer won't quit until he is either convinced to his own satisfaction that his divining rod has pulled a "bone" or that there is really a treasure at the spot.

HEN 29 YEARS OLD LAYS EGG.

Spanish Annie Breaks All Records, Delighting Her Owner.

Hartford.—Spanish Annie, the grand old hen of twenty-nine years (duly authenticated), owned by Colonel James Blanchard of Dayville, is quite content to die because recently she performed what is probably her last labor in this world, something beyond "all the king's horses and all the king's men," for she laid a nice brown egg.

Spanish Annie, called because she is of the black Spanish variety, hasn't laid an egg in years. However, within a year she got her name in the newspapers and her picture in many of them when she hatched out a fine brood of chickens and was hailed as the world's champion Biddy.

Colonel Blanchard, who is proud of his famous hen, has discovered from his poultry records that Spanish Annie was hatched July 4, 1887, and for years contributed generously to the Blanchard daily egg supply. Some years ago her shiny jet black feathers began turning white and her eggs were fewer. Then she lost her quick, dashing gait, and at present her feathers are a mottled gray.

FINDS DIAMOND IN TOBACCO.

Railroad Engineer Discovers Gem in Tin of the Weed.

St. Mary's, Pa.—Patrick Fehley, an engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad, stationed here, considers himself a very lucky individual.

A few days ago he bought a ten cent tin of tobacco. While replenishing his pipe he was surprised to see a ring imbedded in the weed, and examination proved it to contain a setting which looked suspiciously like a diamond. He took his find to a jeweler, who appraised the stone to be worth at least $50.

STARTLED BY KISS

WRONG FELLOW IS HUGGED.

Victim Utters Incoherent Words of Inquiry When Prospective Husband Comes Along, and After Apologies He Hurries Her Off to Minister.

Parsons, Kan.—Marcella Howland kissed the wrong man. And inasmuch as Marcella at the time of her osculatory performance was engaged to be married and the man she kissed was not her prospective husband, she found herself in an embarrassing situation when the real groom hove to and made anxious inquiry as to her affection for another man. If it had been in the good old days of rapiers and swords perhaps there would have been a duel, with much blood, but there was none of that, and only a few people at the Katy station were aware of the near tragedy.

The story of the kissing and Marcella and the man she kissed and the man she should have kissed adds another chapter to the volumes that have been written about long distance love making. This episode might have been labeled "Courtship by Mail, or Wooing by Correspondence." The story is this, duly attested and sworn to by at least one of the parties concerned:

Marcella lives near Joplin and is a helper in a grocery store. A year ago she found the name of James Vandyk in a case of eggs, the said James not being a barber, as his name might indicate, but a raiser of chickens and corn near Anadarko, Okla. Marcella wrote to James, and James replied. Then followed a correspondence with each succeeding letter ripened into love. A month ago it was decided to meet in Parsons and have a minister here perform the ceremony, an element being considered the proper thing to do.

James arrived and spent a restless afternoon waiting for his bride, who was to come from Joplin on the evening train.

Came 7:45 o'clock, and with it the train from Joplin and Marcella. James was a bit confused in time and was not at the station. Marcella, wearing a pink carnation by prearrangement, went to the waiting room and sat down to await the arrival of her husband to be.

Now enter the other side of the triangle, whose name for the present is unknown, as he absolutely refused to divulge his identity. His name will be John Doe for this occasion. John entered the station and gazed over the crowds. Marcella saw him, and after giving him time to discover her tripped across the room and stood enraptured before the astonished man.

"Well, here I am, James," she said demurely, waiting for her fiancé to take her in his arms, etc., etc.

John gasped, but made no move toward her.

"Why, you bashful thing," the girl exclaimed, and with that bounded over to the man, threw her arms about him and planted a kiss upon his lips.

John extricated himself as best he could—or would, and was mumbling some incoherent words of inquiry when in came a breathless Vandyk, who had come up just in time to behold the performance, and, convinced that some one was making away with his bride to be, rushed up to thwart him.

As he approached misgiving sprang over Marcella's face. She had a faint suspicion that she had kissed the wrong man, and this suspicion grew with each step of the excited Vandyk. He stood before her. She looked at Doe and then at Vandyk. Yes, the last man was certainly the one she had come to meet. How could she have mistaken the other fellow for him, although their resemblance was quite marked?

Then apologies, explanations, assurances by Doe to Vandyk that he was an innocent party and had no intention to "cop" Marcella, and then Marcella kissed the right man, right there in the station, with a score of people watching her.

The couple decided to take the 8:22 train back to Joplin and be married there. They hurried to a telephone, made an appointment with a minister there and left.

Pushes Junk Cart Miles.

Holton, Kan.—Sherman Crawford, an industrious junk gatherer of this city, loses none of his profits to the railroads. He loads his cart with 800 pounds of material and when weather and roads are good pushes the cart to Topeka. By leaving Holton at 8 o'clock in the morning Crawford can make the thirty-two miles to the capital city by sundown.

In youth we learn, in age we understand. To grow old is to receive sight.—Von Ebner Eschenbach.

SAVED THE DAYLIGHT IN INDIANA THIRTY YEARS AGO

Cement Mills Started at 6 A. M., and Men Got in Ten Hours a Day Even in Winter.

New Albany, Ind.—Germany, Austria and other war rent countries of Europe which have begun to conserve daylight, are thirty years behind Indiana. A cable dispatch from Berlin recently spoke of the daylight conservation idea as having been adopted there. The tenor of the dispatch created the impression that it was something new, when, in fact, the idea was adopted thirty years ago at the Speeds Cement mills, north of this city.

It was about 1886 when David Cook, manager, who still has charge of the plant, which produces Portland cement, realized it was a sin to waste the fine daylight which permits work at 6 a. m., even on most winter days. He studied the matter, and soon the whistle for going to work sounded at 6 in the morning. It took some time for the men to get used to the change, but now they would not swap back to the old system. They begin an hour earlier and quit an hour earlier, and even during the winter the ten hour day can be made.

GIRL GOES FIFTEEN MILES ON SKIS TO MARRY

Los Angeles, Cal.—Skiing fifteen miles over deep snowdrifts to be a bride, Miss Helen Skinner, eighteen-year-old daughter of P. C. Skinner of Pine Knot Lodge, Big Bear valley, arrived recently in Los Angeles and was married to Wesley P. Turner, a young business man.

Miss Skinner, who passed last summer at Big Bear valley, had intended to leave there for Los Angeles earlier in the season, but was detained until all roads down the mountain had been washed out by the rains and lost under many feet of snow. When she learned that none of the roads would be opened until nearly summer she declared her intention of walking down to Los Angeles, no matter how far the snow extended.

It was then learned that a stage could make its way to Dobbie, a dead mining camp on the crest of Big Bear, hanging 6,800 feet above the Mohave desert. So the dauntless little bride elect, accompanied by her mother and father, donned skis and walked from Pine Knot Lodge to Dobbie, fifteen miles, over snow that lay an average depth of three feet. At Dobbie the party was met by a stage from Victorville.

PEARL 5,000,000 YEARS OLD.

Found on the Seacoast and Sent to Stanford University.

Stanford University, California.—A pearl estimated to have been formed 5,000,000 years ago and to be the oldest specimen of its kind in the world was found by Stanley C. Herold, a Stanford student, six months ago. The pearl will be presented to the Stanford museum.

The pearl and the cockleshell in which it was imbedded came to Stanford in a consignment of geologic material from the coast of the state of Washington.

According to university authorities the pearl is of little value as a gem but the oyster in which it was found originated, they said, probably in the paleozoic period.

"We have no record," said Herold "of pearls having been formed before the time this one was created. It retains considerable luster and when thoroughly polished will regain more, but its 5,000,000 years of existence has taken out about 50 per cent of its luster."

"At the time this pearl was made the dinosaur, mastodon and sabre toothed tiger were in existence."

ROBINS ACCEPT HUMAN AID.

Man Replaces Fallen Nest and Birds Occupy It.

Seattle, Wash.—"I had always understood," said Crawford E. White, the attorney, who lives at 4203 Mead street, "that birds would invariably abandon a nest which had been disturbed by human hands."

"Something that happened in my yard the other day is a distinct exception to this rule. Two robins had a nest in the branches of a cedar tree. The cross limb which held up the nest fell away and let it down on the ground."

"I thought that would be the end of that nest. But the two birds stayed near it all the next day, and finally I got the idea of rebuilding it. I took a foot ladder and fastened the nest back securely in place with some ordinary hay baling wire."

"The robins apparently liked the rough job I made of it, for they came back and have been working together rebuilding the old nest."

BIT OF GALLANTRY WINS HIM $200,000

Frank H. Canning, Who Protected a Woman in Fight, Remembered in Her Will.

Philadelphia.—As a result of a bit of gallantry to a woman more than three years ago Frank H. Canning, formerly of this city and later of Clarksboro, N. J., is to receive $200,000.

Mrs. J. T. Elkins of Detroit, widow of a wealthy ranch owner, died several weeks ago, leaving an estate of $400,000. Half of the money goes to Mr. Canning, the remainder to a charitable institution in Detroit. Mrs. Elkins was formerly Miss Irene Chadley of this city.

Miss Chadley was returning to her home on a trolley car late one night. She was the only woman on the car, the other passengers being half a dozen intoxicated men and Mr. Canning. Suddenly a fight started, and one of the men brushed against Miss Chadley and threatened her. Mr. Canning placed himself in front of the woman and, with the aid of the conductor, managed to overcome the rowdies.

Miss Chadley was so upset that Mr. Canning called a cab and rode with her to her home in West Philadelphia.

LIGHTNING STRUCK HOUSE.

Russell, His Wife and Baby Have a Narrow Escape.

Brady, Tex.—Bob Russell, his wife and baby, who live six miles west of Brady, had a narrow escape recently when lightning struck their home, giving them a severe shock and setting the wall paper and bedclothing afire.

The electric bolt passed across the roof and came down the wall inside the room where the family were asleep and passed to the ground by way of a telephone wire and two shotguns standing near a bed.

Russell was rendered unconscious, and when he recovered he found the bed clothing and wall paper afire. He was able to extinguish the blaze with but little difficulty. The barrels of both guns were melted, as was also the telephone ground wire.

SEEKS REMEDY FROM SEA.

Physician Dips Thirty Fathoms For Pure Salt Water.

San Francisco.—To save the life of a patient in St. Winifred's hospital Dr. Winslow Anderson, accompanied by fourteen doctors and nurses, went out to sea in a Crowley launch for thirty-six gallons of the purest of pure sea water.

The ailment from which the patient is suffering will give way only to a treatment in which pure salt water from the sea forms the chief element.

The party carried twelve three-gallon jugs with heavy lead sinkers, by means of which the water was lifted from a depth of thirty fathoms. The launch went nearly to the Farallone islands, and the party did not return until late at night.

BIG ROOSTER CRIPPLES MAN

Resents Intrusion of Angler, Who Was Crossing Barnyard.

Pendleton, Ore.—L. A. McClintock, local implement dealer, is among the wounded and helpless as a result of an encounter with an angry rooster.

While he was crossing through a barnyard near the Furish dam, en route to the river with an angling outfit, a big Buff Cochon rooster, resenting the intrusion, flew at him. Unable to pierce his rubber boots with its beak, the rooster jumped into the air and drove his spurs home just above McClintock's knee, one on each side.

The spurs struck a tendon and crippled him. He was helped to an auto and brought home.

GETS BACK HIS SIGHT.

Philadelphia.—Unable to see for eight years, Edward Claycomb, a painter, of Altoona, Pa., is recovering his sight by degrees.

In 1908 he fell from a house he was painting, and in addition to his other injuries he detached the retinas of both eyes. He became blind. Specialists of a dozen cities were consulted, and they all told him his case was hopeless.

For the last several weeks his sight has been returning, and now he can see and read large letters and distinguish between colors. Physicians are puzzled. Claycomb is hopeful that his sight will become normal.

Sells Hidden Money With Potatoes.

Manton, Cal.—W. A. Cleland placed $320 in $20 gold pieces in a potato bin for safe keeping. Forgetting about the money, he sold some potatoes. Later a search for the coin proved unsuccessful. Cleland now thinks banks are a safer proposition than potato bins.

CITES U. S. GROWTH

SHOWS AGE IS NO HANDICAP.

Says Uncle Sam Is Two and One-half Times Bigger Than When He Broke Into Congress—Has Retained Subtleness Despite His Eighty Years.

Washington.—Reclining on the sofa in his office just off the chamber of the house of representatives, his well known cigar at the proper angle in his mouth, Uncle Joe Cannon, who recently celebrated his eightieth birthday, told a correspondent on that occasion of some of the changes which have occurred in the United States during the forty-four years he has been in public life, forty of which have been spent in congress.

Taking his cigar out of his mouth, Uncle Joe squinted at the end of it a moment, and then, replacing it most carefully at its accustomed angle, he said:

"I suppose you want to know something about the changes which have taken place since I first entered congress back in 1873. Why, my boy, the changes have been like those of an infant growing into a stalwart man or a sapling into a tree.

"Uncle Sam is two and a half times as big as he was when I broke into congress. I mean by that in physical stature as measured by population. In other ways the country has multiplied four, five and even ten times.

"We had thirty-seven states and less than 40,000,000 population when I came to congress. We now have forty-eight states and 100,000,000 population at home, with ten or fifteen millions more in Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines. Our total wealth then was given at $24,000,000,000, gold basis, or $30,000,000,000, without any distinction as to the unit of measure.

"This enormous wealth is not in Wall street or within a thousand miles of it. It is not gathered into banks or trust companies, but is scattered over the broad land—the prairies, the plains and the mountains as well as in the factories and commercial centers. In fact, there is more of this wealth west of the Mississippi river than in New York and New England combined. So you can see that Uncle Sam has grown, and it has been something of a job for congress to keep up with the development of the country."

"What do you think has been congress' most far-reaching act during this period?"

"I would hardly call it an act. I would call it a discovery," replied Uncle Joe. "It was the discovery of the general welfare clause of the constitution. We used to have long constitutional arguments against any kind of internal improvements by the federal government, but now we just read the general welfare clause of that old document and appropriate money for any scheme that may be proposed.

"This change of sentiment is pretty general, but it is marked in the delegations from the south."

The correspondent met with this answer when he mentioned legislation: "I am not going to discuss politics." Getting up from the couch, he stretched his arms, and then, just to show he is eighty years young, Uncle Joe kicked as high as his chin.

"Can you do that, young man?" he asked. And then in reply he said:

"No, and there aren't ten other men in the house who can."

The correspondent expressed the belief that when a person reached the fourscore milestone it was time to take it easy, and Uncle Joe replied:

"Well, I do take it easy. I'm entitled to it, am I not? I have things just about as fine as any man could wish. I have lots of friends, no enemies that I know of, and lots of hope and ambition."

Although he has been mixed up in every great political fight since the election of Lincoln in 1860, Uncle Joe declined to discuss politics in the concrete.

"It would be hardly fitting," he said. "People insist I am a partisan. I am a Republican, but this isn't a time for me to talk party politics. My friends are in all of the parties."

Sentences Himself to Jail.

Visalia, Cal.—Ernest Stevenson, a Visalia laborer, sentenced himself to a year in the county jail in Judge Knox's court after pleading guilty to a charge of drunkenness. The verdict was set aside by the judge as excessive. In passing sentence on himself after the judge had asked him to do so Stevenson said treatment in hospital did no good and perhaps he could "sober up right" in a year.

RELIGIOUS PLATTSBURGS.

Summer Training Camps for Those Interested in More Efficient Church.

The unrest in the world and the spirit of preparedness for any eventuality have awakened an unusual interest in the various training camps conducted by the different churches of this country.

Advance notice is given of the time and place of these conferences or camps supported by the Reformed Church in the United States. They are so placed as to meet with the requirements of that church and are to be maintained as follows: Vermillion, Ohio, July 10-17; Pen Mar, Md., July 17-24; Ridgeview Park, Pa., July 31-August 7; Mt. Gretna, Pa., August 5-12; Collegeville, Pa., August 7-14; Mission House, Wis., August 19-27; Indianapolis, Ind., August 30-September 3.

These camps are conducted especially for the lay members of the church and the programme promises education, inspiration and recreation in a manner pleasing to both young and old, and at a minimum expense.

H. Dorsey Etchison Submits Accounts.

H. Dorsey Etchison, Democratic candidate for congress from the Sixth Maryland district, has filed with the clerk of the House of Representatives a statement showing that this primary campaign for the nomination cost him $227.51.

Of this amount, $125 was paid to the election supervisors in Frederick, Montgomery, Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties, for nomination certificates. The remainder was expended for traveling expenses and advertising.

Mr. Etchison will begin his campaign about June 1, when he will go to Western Maryland.

Highway Superintendent Issues Proclamation.

Good Roads Day, May 25, will be observed generally in Adams county with road work. Rural supervisors are planning to have gangs repair dirt roads in their districts and reports of these men would indicate the farmers have generously consented to lay aside other work on that day, to labor on the highways.

Throughout the state Good Roads Day activities this year will surpass 1915 in every particular. In various sections of Adams county farmers have selected bad stretches of roads on which to work, and as was the case last year, the result will be evident in highways that are improved greatly over their cut-up spring condition.

PUTS IT OVER VILLA NOVA

Mt. St. Mary's, in a Very Spectacular Game Wins From Its Old Rival - Corgan Knocks Two Home Runs.

Not for many seasons has a more spectacular game been played on Echo Field than that in which Mt. St. Mary's and Villa Nova crossed bats last Friday. It was nip and tuck from start to finish and the fans were treated to many hair raising feats.

Corgan, Mt. St. Mary's catcher, the steady and reliable little player who can always be counted on to do the right thing at all times was there with his trusty willow and fattened his batting average by knocking two home runs. McHugh was at his best and became stronger as the game advanced. He struck out eight men and made a cracking two base hit.

Every man on the home team was "on his toes" at every stage of the game and when not touching up the ball was scooping it in, throwing them out at bases or lapping the course for a tally. The score and summary follows:

St. Mary's Juniors Win.

The Mt. St. Mary's Juniors easily defeated the Hagerstown high school in a one sided contest Thursday at Echo Field. Elliot, who pitched for the Juniors, allowed but one hit and held his opponents safe at all stages of the game. The Hagerstown pitcher was touched up for 7 safeties by hitting at opportune times the Juniors piled up the seven runs. Hagerstown never had a chance to score and game was uninteresting. This game was played in the morning on account of the game between the Varsity and Gettysburg College in the afternoon.

Must Sell Key Relics.

It is rather singular that a granddaughter of the author of "The Star Spangled Banner" should find herself compelled to sell the last scraps of the writings of the patriot poet which she possesses in order to provide herself with the necessities of life. Mrs. A. Macdonald Blair, of Washington, who was a Miss Key, of Baltimore, inherited from her father, who was the youngest son of Francis Scott Key, a number of letters and other writings of the author of the national anthem.

One by one these have gone, and all she has left of them are lines to Margaret Taylor Lloyd, who was his sweetheart and afterwards his wife; a letter to his son Charles expressing thoughts and sentiments appropriate from a father to his youngest son at college, and a Greek testament with his name, "F. S. Key," inscribed on the flyleaf and sundry passages in the text marked by him.

All of these are in Key's handwriting and have historical as well as sentimental value. The necessity of shelter, food and clothing now compels Mrs. Blair to dispose of these, her most cherished possessions.

Lewis' Fight Cost $8,617.38

The campaign made by Representative David J. Lewis for the Democratic Senatorial nomination in Maryland cost $8,617.38, according to the statement of expenses and contributions filed. Of this total, Mr. Lewis personally contributed $5,270.63.

Practically all of this money was expended through various county treasurers. The report shows that approximately $250 was sent into each county.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE--ACADEMY

Valley Echoes

The following account is printed by special request as it arrived too late for THE CHRONICLE last week. It is an exact account of the games and was submitted by Miss Hunter, Baltimore, the Physical Culture Instructor.

Physical culture was closed for the year at St. Joseph's on Wednesday, May 3rd at 3 P. M. The exercises were held on the campus in the presence of the faculty and a few friends of the girls.

The programme was a review of the various activities of the year, and was as follows:

Grand March, College, Academy, Preparatory; Oxdausen, (Swedish) college; Ribbon Dance, (English) Academy; Circle Gallop, Preparatory; Rope Jump Relay, College; Basket Ball Relay, Academy; Snatch the Handkerchief, Preparatory; Song Ball, Academy; Captain Ball, College

The first and second academies defeated the third and fourth in long ball. The older girls played well but the younger players showed the better team work. The game of captain ball was a very close game in the first half, ending with a tie score of 3-3. In the last half the Sophomore and Freshmen team added 5 points to their score and shut the Senior and Junior team out entirely, ending with a score of 8-3 in favor of the lower classmen. On the Senior team Rose Martin made several splendid passes. Gertrude McManus, Mary Rogers and Rose Rogers also did some fine work. K. Gloninger playing captain for the winning team did remarkably good work and was well supported by A. Barry, M. L. Pattison and M. Cain.

Gettysburg Defeats Mount St. Mary's.

Yesterday's game at Mount St. Mary's evened up the series being played between the Mountaineers and Gettysburg College. The score was 7 to 2. Two bad innings by the Mountain nine gave the visitors all their runs.

McHugh and Hoar engaged in a splendid pitchers' battle, each allowing seven safeties, but McHugh's unsteadiness in the eighth inning, coupled with two bad errors by his team mates in the fourth, caused his defeat.

Gettysburg was first to score when, in the fourth inning, it made three tallies, all resulting from Camino's two successive errors, when he had easy chances to retire the side on a double play. Gettysburg added four more runs in the eighth, when McHugh allowed two bases on balls and two hits.

The locals scored first in the seventh, when McHugh singled, went to second on a sacrifice hit and scored on Camino's single. Another run was made in the ninth, when Corgan hit to deep centre for a homer. It was his fourth circuit clout of the season.

The features were the splendid work of Hoar, Mahaffee, Corgan and Sadler. Another game will be played in Gettysburg on June 5, which will decide the contest.

E. H. S. Students Win Prizes in Athletic Contest.

On Thursday, May 11, the local High and Public Schools attended the Athletic Contest in Frederick.

In this contest the High School had three representatives. Each contestant won a bronze badge, and one of them a bronze medal. In the Boy's Contest, William Byers received a bronze medal for having ranked third in the 80 yd. dash; Harry Dubel and William Byers each received bronze badges for having run 60 yards in 9 seconds. Each of the above contestants will be entitled to compete for the silver medal next year. In the Girls' Contest, Alice McNair received a bronze badge for having thrown a 15 oz. basket ball 25 feet.

New Name In Supervisors List.

The county commissioners Monday afternoon decided to submit a new list of names to the State Tax Commission from which list one person is to be selected as the supervisor of assessments for Frederick county in the place of the late J. Howard Allnutt.

The list submitted is composed of Alfred W. Gaver, Spencer N. Stup and Thomas S. Lee Horsey, Democrats, and Joseph W. Smith and Lincoln G. Dinterman, Republicans.

The only change made in the present list from that submitted to the Tax Commission some weeks ago is that the name of Charles R. Harper was dropped and Mr. Gaver substituted in his place. Other than the one change the list remains the same.

A special committee composed of Miss Gertrude Renill, Miss Clara I. Cogan, and Mrs. Clara Douglas Sheeran appointed in charge of Federation details, reported the issuing of a circular letter relative to general plans. At first it was deemed advisable to ask the Chapter members for a $5.00 subscription. Discussion proved the majority were in favor of mentioning no specified sum—and decided that subscriptions of $1.00 and over would be welcome. By this means, the Chapter hopes to raise $50.00 towards the Baltimore Convention fund which is in charge of Mrs. Loretto Muth Paul, Regent of the Baltimore Chapter and Treasurer of the Maryland Chapter of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae. All money collected above $50.00 will form nucleus of the New York Chapter treasury.

Upon the motion of Mrs. Henry Sayers, seconded by Mrs. John Alvarez it was unanimously voted that the Chapter institute regular dues of $1.00 a year, beginning next November.

Mrs. May O'Brien Hassell, made a strong plea for attendance at Chapter meetings urging all to consider it an obligation. Mrs. Hassell said in part "we all have other engagements, yet we know the Chapter date six months beforehand. We must learn to break the other engagements and make ourselves feel that such is the importance of our meetings that the Chapter must come first."

Mrs. Romeo sent a special request that it be made a matter of record that Miss Margaret McManus, of Troy, and Miss Gertrude Rehill, of White Plains, attended the Chicago Convention last November in answer to her request that the Founders, Mrs. Clara Douglas Sheeran and Miss Clara I. Cogan be accompanied by a suitable New York delegation.

The Chapter passed a resolution of sympathy for its good friend Mrs. Mary Wade Kalbach and her bereaved family in the death of her daughter, Mrs. Julia Kalbach Foster.

The New York Chapter.

The New York Chapter of the Alumnae Association of St. Joseph's College, Emmitsburg, Maryland, held its regular spring meeting Wednesday afternoon, May the tenth. The hostess was Mrs. Louise McSherry Alvarez of 905 Sterling Place, Brooklyn.

In the absence of the Regent, Mrs. Marie Uilo Romeo, the meeting was called to order by the Past Regent, Mrs. Clara Douglas Sheeran. After the reading and formal approval of the minutes, the Secretary, Mrs. Nella Skinner Criswell, read communications from the Faculty of the College and from Sister Augustine, Foundress of the Alumnae Association and Miss Stella McBride, its Secretary. These letters of greeting are always the looked-for feature of the meeting and actually the most effective means of creating a strong desire to return to the Valley and the dear friends of school days.

The chairman then delivered the message of the Regent, Mrs. Romeo, namely—that as the New York Chapter members had put themselves on record as the hostesses of the great New York Convention of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae, they should

After the regular business of the day was disposed of a rising vote of appreciation was given the hostess, Mrs. Louise McSherry Alvarez and her gracious assistant, Mrs. Edgar Keator. The next hostess will be Mrs. Edgar Criswell who will entertain the Chapter the second Wednesday of November. Refreshments were served while the members recalled the dear old days of their Valley home.

Among those present were, Mrs. Louise McSherry Alvarez, Miss Juanita Alvarez, Mrs. Edgar Keator, Mrs. Nella Skinner Criswell, Miss Clara I. Cogan, Mrs. Clara Douglas Sheeran, Mrs. Carmelite Bowling Shuers, Mrs. Mary Schieffelin Sayers, Mrs. May O'Brien Hassell, Mrs. Mary Baker Jones Wood, Mrs. Agnes Duffy McGrann, the Misses Stuart, Miss Gertrude Rehill and Miss Letter of the Philadelphia Chapter.

Father Riordan Named.

The Rev. M. J. Riordan, formerly pastor of St. Charles' Catholic Church, Pikesville, Md., and now stationed in Washington, Wednesday was elected president of the alumni association of the American College, Rome, at the thirty-second reunion of the alumni, held in New York. The reunion next year will be held in Baltimore.

The election of Father Riordan to the presidency of the association is a very high honor. Among the alumni in this country of the American College, at Rome, are many of the foremost clergymen of the Catholic Church; distinction among these men is distinction indeed. However, those who knew Father Riordan during his pastorate at Pikesville are not surprised. He impressed himself upon them as a man of unusual talent, learning and force.

Pen Mar Reunion Late.

The Odd Fellows will hold their annual reunion at Pen Mar this year a little later than last year. The date is Thursday, August 10. Last year the date was August 7. Secretary Chester A. Geesaman, of the executive committee, will soon begin active preparations for the event, which it is expected to make an even larger success than those that have preceded. The executive committee will be called into session some time next month, when all arrangements will be mapped out.

Catholic Schools to Abolish Hyphen.

A fight to eliminate the "hyphen" in American school life was inaugurated in Chicago last Friday by the Catholic Parochial School Board. At a meeting of the board it was voted to establish the English unified system in 240 parochial schools next season, involving a complete change of text-books and methods of teaching. This will affect 2,500 teachers and 115,000 pupils in the Chicago diocese alone.

The purpose, as announced by the board, is thoroughly to Americanize the Catholic school system of Chicago—to take the hyphen out of the schools and to eliminate "Irish-Americans, German-Americans, Polish-Americans" and all other double-barrelled nationalities from American school life.

C. W. Boyer Resigns.

Charles W. Boyer, former president of the South Atlantic League, who last year and so far this year was the head of the Blue Ridge Baseball League, Tuesday tendered his resignation as president of the league at a meeting called by himself. The reason for his resignation was because Chambersburg charged him with influencing games against them. All other clubs of the league wanted Mr. Boyer to withdraw his resignation, but he would not. J. Vincent Jamison, a well-known manufacturer of Hagerstown was then chosen as president.

THE HOMELIKE STORE

There is a ring of genuineness and sincerity to the greetings of Baltimore's Best Store to its visitors.

That is one of the many reasons why it is the most popular shopping place, not only for residents of Baltimore, but for the thousands of visitors who come to Baltimore to shop during the year.

YOU should make yourself acquainted with the Hochschild, Kohn & Co. Store the next time you visit Baltimore. You will find it not only a pleasant, but an economical shopping place—for it sells only dependable goods, and, in most cases, sells them at a price no higher than is ordinarily asked for inferior articles.

Bear in mind, too, that whatever you buy here is returnable, for exchange or refund, without question or argument, if it does not prove entirely satisfactory.

Miss Mary B. Mordecai Dead.
Miss Mary B. Mordecai, a well-known society woman of Baltimore, and secretary to Col. E. Austin Baughman, died at Mercy Hospital, Wednesday night from a bullet wound through her brain and a fractured skull.
Miss Mordecai was found lying on the floor of her room in her suite in the Walbert Apartments, Baltimore, after 3 o'clock Tuesday morning. She had shot herself in the right temple with a small 22-calibre revolver, which was lying by her side. The bullet passed through her brain and fractured the back of her skull. It is thought that over work and a nervous breakdown caused her to commit the act.
Since the creation of the office of Automobile Commissioner in 1910, Miss Mordecai has served as secretary to the Commissioner. She was unusually competent and held her place during all changes of administration.

Injured When Au to Runs Into Fence
Returning from Baltimore Wednesday in the new automobile of ex-State's Attorney Scott M. Wolfinger, City Tax Collector William Logan, Hagerstown, was thrown from the car and badly injured near Frederick. Harry E. Baker, who was driving, induced Mr. Wolfinger to take the wheel and learn to drive. In passing a large touring car Mr. Wolfinger lost control and sent his new car into a fence. Mr. Logan took a flying dive over the heads of those in the front seat and fell into a field.

The Maryland legislature passed 714 bills in three months.

THE FORUM

"Between the points of difference usually lies the truth, and open discussion never harms it."

(The Editor would have it understood that he is not responsible for the views expressed in communications addressed to him and published in THE CHRONICLE.)
No attention will be paid to anonymous communications.

To the Editor:

It is not often I find myself in dissent with your editorials, but the one about the noise and slapdash created by locally owned cars stirs my bile. As to my own car (no matter what the make is) some folks say it makes as much noise as a road engine and trailer. This of course I can't help, and should not be blamed therefore; so with others. But the insinuation that anyone of us goes maliciously through Emmitsburg pell-mell I repudiate. Just think of the bumpers from the station to the fountain, then to the New Slagle, and finally at the end of Gettysburg street near the creek. Why, we have to pussyfoot all the way, and the careless citizens of the town seem to enjoy the way we bounce up and down like jumping jacks. As regards that stone quarry called Gettysburg street, above referred to, the corporation ought to be ashamed of such a blot on the landscape. Saving the pike there is not an ordinarily good entrance into this town, and yet the merchants complain that buyers go elsewhere to market. Thurmont in respect of roads is not much better, but surely we don't want to go to Thurmont for our examples. When one thinks of the insignificant amount required to put a few hundred feet of roadway in permanently good condition, it is difficult to understand why this necessity has been allowed to go on so long neglected. My experience is the auto people are just as careful and courteous as others; moreover, in many respects. Drive a little yourself and find out. As in many other cases a small percentage of thoughtless and hare-brained give a bad name to the whole body. I rarely see machines running empty hereabouts. They gladly pick up pedestrians when they can, and I'm inclined to believe some of the croakers have enjoyed, and are still anxious to enjoy such privileges. Now give us, you kickers, some views and comments on the condition of our wretched thoroughfares and maybe we'll call it quits.

U. OTTO.

To the Editor:

Equity has shifted the subject from Billy Sunday to clowns and Simple Simon, just what some of us expected. And as some of us expected they've been gun to call hard names, but they couldn't help it because Billy the greatest evangelist excepting the Master gave the example and we're wondering why they held off so long and used so few when they did get started. Well, he (they) has said that ALL I wrote was liberty with berty cut off. Now that's mighty clever. I'd hate to face him in an argument if he had together with his present great powers a course in the Thurmont High. We give his words so you make no mistake, "we stroke off berty from the name of our distinguished and erudite master of letters and say that is what it ALL is." Now the fun of the thing is that the most important part of my communication had to do with words taken from Equity about Mr. Cooper's dictum that Billy is the greatest evangelist since Christ and I said there were other evangelists with big records in history, Calvin, Luther, Wesley, etc. If it is all wrong and lying, and Equity now says so all that can be said is, with malice towards none, but charity to all (Pres. Lincoln at Gettysburg) I accept the apology about Cooper and hope the aforesaid E. wont do it again. No, I'll take the last part back. Give us some more from Cooper. He's funny without knowing it, but that doesn't spoil the fun. Only get him away from sacred subjects because they were never intended for an Ohio politician of his make-up. But hold up. Let's get at Equity's words again. Here they are: "Our minds were in such an unfortunate state of bewilderment that we stroke off the b-e-r-t-y," etc. Will Equity and the fellows he represents tell us what they think when their minds are not in that unfortunate state, if that ever happens? Stop talking about vacuum cleaners, but use one on your noodle, though I doubt if a cleaning will do a vacuum any good. Get a lucid interval, and if not consult Liberal about that doctor mentioned who charges a fee as Billy does for his services. Also speak for yourself and not for the universe, as long as some of us differ with you.

FARMERS' DAY PREPARATION

At The Maryland State College Of Agriculture, College Park, Maryland, May 30, 1916.

Extraordinary preparations are being made for the annual celebration of Farmers' Day at the Maryland State College of Agriculture. Farmers and their families from every section of the State are expected to throng the College and Experiment Station grounds where every possible effort will be made to contribute to their entertainment and instruction in the activities of their institution. In view of last year's record attendance and the increased interest which has resulted from the successful campaign of the friends of the College for adequate appropriations, fully double the attendance of previous years is anticipated, at this year's celebration will be the opening of a new era in the history of the usefulness of the Institution to the farming people of the State. The fact that the College is now entirely State property under the recent acts of the Legislature will tend to draw even a larger number of those who have never been well acquainted with its purposes or its obligations to the agricultural interests of the State. Maryland farmers and farm women are more than ever inclined to look upon their State College of Agriculture as the future educational center for rural Maryland and the agency through which their interests will be conserved and protected as well as their possibilities for production increased. Realizing that the fullest appreciation of the benefits of the Institution can only come from a close acquaintance with its work and the receiving of direct benefits from the information given, the authorities in charge are urging each visitor to bear in mind certain definite points regarding which information is desired, so that at the end of his visit he will have succeeded in carrying home with him some lesson of real, practical help in his daily work in addition to his general survey of the activities of the College. Guides for the purpose of directing visitors will be stationed in every part of the grounds so that those points of special interest to them can be easily and conveniently reached. It is hoped that every farmer within reasonable driving distance will avail himself of the advantages of the good roads of the State to give himself and his family a day of real benefit and enjoyment by visiting, an becoming better acquainted with, his State College of Agriculture.

C. L. Valentine Auto is Wrecked.

The Ford touring car of C. L. Valentine, Creagerstown, was badly wrecked on Saturday night when it crashed into a wire fence along the Emmitsburg pike, half a mile north of Frederick. Although it was impossible to obtain any information relative to the manner in which the wreck occurred, the machine dashed into the fence with terrific force.

The accident occurred near the home of Samuel J. Gittinger, north of Frederick. Several span of wire fencing was damaged by the machine.

Fairfield Merchant Looted
Some of the loot which was stored in the cabin of the Toms' brothers at Sykesville, was taken from Adams county. This was discovered last week, when George Neely a Fairfield merchant, went to that place and identified some articles stolen from his general merchandise establishment last fall. The stolen merchandise identified by Mr. Neely consisted of a half roll of linoleum and some calico.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Union, and especially in the production of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scotch-Irish descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a valley of rolling lands lying between the Lingonore Hills and the Catoctin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river, and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and productive areas of the Union. The great crops are wheat and corn.—Maryland Manual issued by Board of Public Works.

EMMITSBURG.

In all Western Maryland—the beauty spot and the garden spot of the State—there is no town more attractive than Emmitsburg. No people are more wide-awake, more knowable, more courteous to strangers than Emmitsburgians. The location of Emmitsburg is ideal; the surrounding scenery is unmatched; the climate is notably healthful; its water—pure mountain spring water—cannot be surpassed. It is within easy access of Baltimore, Hagerstown, Frederick; eight miles from the National Battlefield at Gettysburg, near to the Mountain Resorts, and is surrounded by fertile farms and productive orchards.

Mount Saint Mary's College and Ecclesiastical Seminary—with an enviable reputation extending over 106 years—is located here; St. Joseph's College and Academy for young ladies—equally as noted during its 105 years of splendid achievement—is also here.

There are excellent Schools—Public and Parochial—in Emmitsburg; two sound Banks, five Churches, a live Newspaper, modern Hotel accommodations, adequate Fire Department, progressive merchants, splendid physicians, good livery, auto garages, many fraternal organizations, good railroad accommodations. There are four or five mails a day, telegraph, express and telephone service connecting all points; electric light and power, oil streets.

There is business to be had in Emmitsburg; there are Factory Sites available. If you contemplate changing your place of residence—come to Emmitsburg, Frederick County, Md.

GRAY DAYS AND MEMORIES.

They must come—those gray days and drear when shadows lengthen and memories of other times arise. "What might have been," "ah, would it were," "if only"—these are the thoughts that come to all some time. They come when the day is overcast, and, being so, the mind has touched a minor chord that sends its rhythm to the soul. Full long have they waited in that far corner of the heart where intimate sadness dwells—too kind to crowd upon the brain when sunshine within is holding sway. But they come, ah yes, they must come, and to everyone, and then—well we give over, reluctantly, we'll confess, till soon the past, first faintly, then clearly limned, spreads its picture on the curtain of our mind, and film and film unfold, and linger and then fade away, as though prompted by sighs unbidden or by the falling of a tear that cannot be restrained.

A mother's face, sweetly solemn in its tenderness, smiles at you from out the past. Age has dealt leniently with her—so you think at least because, though many years have passed since she was here, you still love her—and you see in the expression of her dear eyes the one same calm kindly glance that greeted with approval some little act of yours; or mayhap they sparkle with the same arch-gleam by which so often she showed her appreciation of a merrie tale you told about a trifling incident that gave you pleasure.

It is rose-time—you see her in the garden, as of old, the garden where you played in care-free childhood. You know every flower that brightened it, every vine that sheltered bird. The lemon verbena you loved to press still stands in the corner on the left; up the walls the stately ivy climbs; and from the beds by sweet alyssum bordered still comes the scent of many a fragrant bloom. The sward is greener and more velvety than any you have known, and in the urn that marked its center yet grow the flowers you thought so beautiful.

A plaintive hum comes from her lips as, with a grace that belongs only to her, she gathers the blossoms, oh so many of them and so sweet, and twines them in the dainty basket upon her arm—red roses and white jessamine, pink buds and tender green.

In your day dreams you see her many, many times, and under many various shades of circumstance—and she is always the same friend and counsellor, the guardian angel and protector, solicitous for you in everything. Your joys are still hers, your disappointments, too.

No wonder the poet wrote, "Oh for the touch of a vanished hand and the sound of a voice that is still." Was there ever a hand so soft and caressing? Did any hand ever smooth the troubled brow like hers? Was there ever a voice so sweet? Surely God answered the childlike prayers you said at her knee and the prayers she said for you, for the very soul of faith was in those petitions and her good night kiss was a benison indeed.

Gray days and memories! Let them come, and welcome, for they center about her. There are no dearer memories and man never breathed a sweeter word than Mother.

WHERE REST THE DEAD.

In a few days squads from the G. A. R. Posts and many others whose departed rest beneath the sod will go as of yore to the cemeteries and strew flowers and place wreaths of remembrance upon grave and tomb. With some this will be but an annual and perfunctory custom; with others it will be still another friendly visit—one of many during the year—to the earthy bedside of friends dear in life and unforgotten in death.

The graveyard tells many a story. It recalls upon white tablets the virtues of the dead and by the aspect of its moss-grown, mouldy stones, the indifference of the living. Far too often is the latter made plain to those who enter "God's acre." Unkempt lots, slanting and broken monuments, sunken graves, overgrown with weeds and tangled grass—these speak louder than words of the apathy of those whose turn to lay them down in the last long sleep has not yet come.

Think, you who seem not to care, of what they whose earthly bodies now rest in hallowed, but untended ground would have done for you. Pay even the respect that decency suggests, and give attention and better still, some thoughtful care to the place where lie your dead.

We do not know what the exact legal punishment is for deliberate attempt at auto-tire destruction, but it is to be hoped that it is severe enough to put a stop to the dastardly practice. The "fun" experienced by the men who threw large sized tacks on the road between Thurmont and Emmitsburg Tuesday—a little "diversion" that injured the tires of several motor cars belonging to local men and put the owners to unnecessary expense and a vast amount of trouble—ought to be well paid for. No sympathy should be shown the guilty when caught, nor should the authorities rest until these men are convicted.

BEWARE of the person who profits by technicalities and sharp practice, who gains personal advantage by managing always to be just "within the law." Trickery is the basic principle in such an one's make-up. There is an old darkey saying—"face a mule in front and an ox behind, but a rascal nowhar; he aint got no safe place."

THAT little surface show of patriotism in New York the other day—150,000 from one city demonstrating their sentiment in a single parade—must impress hyphenated Americans and those across the water with the fact that "in case of fire" the people of the United States are ready to respond.

To simply drift idly along—even if the direction be forward—is to live without seriousness of purpose. Many are drawn into the suction caused by those who thus idly float. But there is a worse suction—the kind that is created by those who drift backwards.

THERE'S bitter myrrh in the wine of life that each must drink sometime, and many a discord mars the rhythm of lives erstwhile sublime. Yet even to be deceived at times is experience worth the price, for it keeps a fellow from being the very same kind of a dam fool twice.

THE bacchic mood has produced more heroics than heroism, and lots of after-the-banquet soldiers have become civilians with the dawn.

"SHOT in Heart, Recovers"—A far-spent cupid's dart, no doubt.

America's Appalling Fire Loss. Every man, woman and child in the United States pays $3 a year for fire waste. If on a certain day of the year a government official should go to the average family of five persons and present a bill for $15 as the annual fire tax of the family, there would be a universal protest against the tax and against the carelessness which makes possible a yearly fire waste of $250,000,000 in this country. Big manufacturers and big merchants know that the fire expense to which they are subjected is a drain on all the people, but because it is indirect the average person is not conscious he is paying a tax. Let the masses once realize that every time they buy a hat, a pair of shoes or a suit of clothes or anything which goes through the regular channels of industry, production, distribution and exchange, they are paying a part of the country's enormous fire tax, and fire prevention would become the order of the day.—Leslie's.

The Duck. A little schoolgirl in Michigan has written the following essay on the duck: "The duck is a low heavy set bird. He is a mighty poor singer having a coarse voice caused by getting so many frogs in his neck and he likes the water and carries a toy balloon in his stomach to keep from sinking in the duck. The duck is a low heavy set bird. He is a mighty poor singer having a coarse voice caused by getting so many frogs in his neck and he likes the water and carries a toy balloon in his stomach to keep from sinking in the duck. He has only two legs and they are set so far back on his running gears by nature that they come pretty near missing his body some ducks when they get big curls on their tails are called drakes and don't have to set or hatch but just loaf and go swimming and eat everything in sight if I were to be a duck I would rather be a drake they have a wide bill like they use it for a spade they walk like a drunk man they bounce and bump about from side to side if you scare them they will flap their wings and try to make a pass at singing."—Detroit Journal.

Browning's Peculiar Eyes. Browning's eyes were peculiar, one having a long focus, the other very short. He had the unusual accomplishment (try it and prove) of closing either eye without "squinting" and without any apparent effort, though sometimes on the street in strong sunshine his face would be a bit distorted. He did all his reading and writing with one eye, closing the long one as he sat down at his desk. He never wore glasses and was proud of his microscopic eye. He often wrote minutely to show off his powers. When he left the house to go for a walk he shut the short eye and opened the long one, with which he could see an immense distance. He never suffered with any pain in his eyes except once, when as a boy he was trying to be a vegetarian in imitation of his youthful idol, Shelley.—Boston Transcript.

Objections to Seriousness. If everybody were able to see clearly, think straight and reach sound conclusions there could be no objection to seriousness except its mortal monotony. But, inasmuch as about 90 per cent of what serious people think and know and say is incorrect, the evil effect upon the social body is tremendous. It may be, probably is, equally true that 90 per cent of what nonsensical people think and know and say is incorrect, but as nobody takes them seriously, no harm is done to the community, and these nonsensical ones have at least added to the sum total of enjoyment. The people who take themselves seriously ought to be carefully selected by law and their number rigidly limited.—Life.

The Spitting Snake. A snake found in Africa is called the spitting snake by the Boers. It is between two and three feet long and is especially bold and active, readily attacking every one who approaches it. In confinement it is very savage, opening its mouth and ejecting its fangs, from which the poison may be often observed to drop and even sometimes to be forcibly ejected, whence the name given it by the Boers.

Discernment. "I don't think women have a sense of humor," said the man with opinions. "Most of us," replied Miss Cayenne, "have the very highest sense of humor. We know when not to laugh."—Washington Star.

Using Rope as Spare Tire.

When a blowout occurs on the road and no spare tube or shoe is on the car and the blown tube or casing is beyond further repair, the usual method of procedure is to run to the nearest garage on the rim. In every case this means positive destruction of the rim. If the casing is removed, and serious damage of the rim or the destruction of the shoe, if it is left on. Recently a motorist was in this predicament and he procured some rope from a farmer and wound it tightly around the rim, felloe and spokes. The first few turns of rope were wound circumferentially; the remainder was wound crosswise, so that holding places were obtained at four or five spokes. Sufficient rope was used to make the thickness of the novel tire equal to that of the rubber casing.

If properly wound the rope tire will not make riding very uncomfortable. In any event it is better than destroying a rim.—Popular Science Monthly.

Steadiness in Business.

Why plugging beats dash in the business world is explained by a business man in the Woman's Home Companion. "One thing that is hard for a young man to learn is that the race in business is not to the swift, but to the steady," he says. "It was not until after marriage that I learned that. Before I was looked on as a man of ability, but unreliable. I held half a dozen jobs, one after another, and was proud of the fact that I could apparently make good anywhere. I went to business every day with a kind of chip on my shoulder. As long as my boss was good to me I would condescend to work for him, but—I was as free from responsibilities as the wind. There was as good a job for me in Butte, Mont., as in Chicago. So, while employers paid me well because I delivered the goods, no one of them regarded me as a man to be built into his organization."

Old Time Toast Drinking.

There used to be an old superstition that it was bad luck to drink a toast with a person standing behind the drinker. The reason for the superstition is this: Edward the Martyr by the contrivance of his stepmother, Elfrida, was stabbed in the back as he was drinking. It is said that from this affair arose the custom of having the man on either side of the toast drinker pledge him. According to William of Malmesbury, it was the usage when a person was about to drink a health to ask a neighbor at the board to pledge the toast. If the neighbor answered "Yes" he held up his knife or sword to guard the drinker as he quaffed. For while a man is drinking he is necessarily in an unguarded posture and exposed to a treacherous stroke.—New York Sun.

Not as Bad as That.

Early one bright spring morning a ragged tramp called at a country vicarage, where the lady of the house had the name of being very charitable. "Kind lady," he began whiningly as he doffed his cap politely, "I ain't 'ad a bite to eat since my supper yesterday, an' termorror will be the third day." "Poor fellow!" said the kind hearted woman. "You must be hungry! But you look strong! Why don't you look for work?" "Ah, mum, ye see I'm a little bit silly"—began the man in explanation. "Yes, but silly people can often get work," interrupted the lady. "But I'm not that silly!" finished the tramp quickly.—London Telegraph.

Father of Astronomy.

Hipparchus, the father of astronomy, established the fact of the precession of the equinoxes—that is, that the sun crosses the equator about one minute farther westward each year—150 years before Christ was born, and it is consequently believed that he knew the earth was spherical in form. He catalogued 1,000 stars and invented an instrument for calculating latitude and longitude.

As Good as New.

The Browns were always on the outs. High words were heard coming from their flat one day, and a neighbor said: "Oh, dear, have the Browns had a new quarrel?" "No," answered another neighbor, "but they've patched up the old one till it's as good as new."

Thrifty Actors.

The economy of a stock company offered interesting instances here at the old Boston museum. Some of the actors had no intention of letting grass grow under their feet. One player was a barber by day; another, the beloved "Smitty," was a tailor—very properly, the tailor played fops. I had a particular friend who was a cab driver. Who shall point the finger of scorn that these had two strings to their bow? Their example might be well followed. An honest barber or, for that matter, an honest cab driver may be the noblest work of mankind be multiplied a thousandfold by the scraping of innumerable chins or the driving of the accidental wayfarer from the cradle to the grave. Who could better take man's measure than the tailor, dissect him to a hair than the barber or consider his final destination than the cab driver?—"My Remembrances," by E. A. Sothern in Scribner's Magazine.

Bettering the World.

If the world we live in is unsatisfactory you may say it is the will of God that it should be so. That gets you nowhere. You may say it is the law of nature it should be so. That gets you nowhere, either. But when by accurate measurement of lengths and weights and temperatures and modes of motion you understand that everything is what it is because of process then it comes to you that what process has made process can make over. Then if you like not the fashion of this world you can alter it. It may well be that the possession of a small, round grain of faith enables one to say unto this mountain, "Be thou removed and be thou cast into the sea," but if you want it done you lay down tracks, put locomotives and gondola cars on them, install steam diggers at one end and barges at the other and make Goethals superintendent of the job.—Eugene Wood in Century.

Rings on Oyster Shells.

A popular theory about rings on an oyster shell being an indication of its age is not supported by the careful investigation of Miss Ann L. Massy, who tested specimens from the oyster station at Ardfry, at the head of Galway bay. It has been supposed by many that each ring, or group, on the oyster's deep valve stood for a year's growth. But Miss Massy says that this deduction is not reliable. After a patient scrutiny of over 600 samples of various ages, from eighteen months to six years, she says: "An oyster of eighteen months or two summers appears to possess at least two rings, but may have as many as five. One of three summers has at least two rings and may have six. A four-year-old oyster may have only three rings or may possess seven or eight."—London Mail.

Life of an Arctic Sealer.

The arctic sealer has a very hard life. Sealing does not consist only of scrambling over ice fields in search of prey and battling breathlessly and fiercely when it is found. There are many incidental hardships to endure. The usual type of arctic weather is a dense, lung clogging fog, with cold that is enough to freeze a glowing furnace. This fog, strange as it may seem, is oftentimes mixed with cruel blizzards of heavy snow, made more terrible by high and constant gales. The passing of the snow is usually accompanied by sleet and rain that are more penetrating than snow. Misery, therefore, is not an unfamiliar visitor to the crews of arctic sealers.—Detroit Free Press.

Known by Their Walk.

A man's walk is as peculiar to himself as his personal appearance is. So much a part of himself is a man's way of walking, indeed, that it is most difficult to disguise. Many a fugitive from justice who has completely altered his ordinary appearance has been betrayed by his walk. The peculiar gait of many people often indicates their occupation. The policeman, the soldier and the sailor each has his peculiar walk which betrays him.—Pearson's.

BUDGET OF COUNTY NEWS

If Frederick's bank deposits continue to grow as in the past four months of this year, the aggregate amount of money in the keeping of the financial institutions will exceed ten millions. At the close of business May 1, according to the published statements, the banks had on deposit $9,911,039.78. This is a gain of $285,357.76 since December 1, 1915.

More than 200 guests attended the annual ladies' night and drill exhibition by the drill corps, A. LeRoy McCardell, commandant, which was held in the Masonic Temple, Frederick, Friday night by Jacques de Molay Commandery, A. F. and A. Masons. It was the most successful and brilliant reception ever given by members of this commandery. One of the features of the evening was the presentation of Past Commander's jewel to Harry J. Kefauver. The presentation address was made by Past Eminent Commander Frank B. Sappington, Sr., Mr. Kefauver responding. The reception was ended with a dance. Refreshments were served.

Although the enrollment in schools throughout the county for the past term, the spring term as compared with a like term of a year ago is as large, there are just 31 more children on roll in Frederick schools this year than during the same period of 1915. The difference in total enrollment for the spring term of 1916 as compared with that of 1915 is slight, it being a matter of but four children.

According to the figures compiled by E. Russell Stockman, clerk in offices of the county school officials, 10,447 children, white and colored were enrolled during the spring term, 1916. For the same term of 1915, 10,451 children were enrolled.

It was announced Tuesday morning that the corporation of P. L. Hargett and Company succeeds the partnership of that name, which for years has been conducting the hardware store on South Market street, Frederick. The corporation is capitalized at $10,000.

Charged with committing an assault and battery on his wife and with failing to support her and the two minor children, John D. Fitez, of near Thurmont, was on Monday found guilty on the assault charge by Justice Maulsby and fined $10. He was also held in $150 bail for the action of the grand jury in the desertion case.

THE LAW OF SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Newspaper subscribers are probably ignorant of the law protecting the publisher, and what follows will no doubt be news to many people in some respects. As will be seen by a careful perusal of the decision of the United States Courts on this subject, as recently compiled by Dr. Tuckerman, editor of the Workman, at Cleveland, much trouble may be avoided and money saved. Here are the decisions:

1. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their periodicals without paying all that is due, the publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid.

2. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher and the papers are sent to the former address, they are held responsible.

3. The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for is evidence of intentional fraud.

4. If subscribers pay in advance they are bound to give notice at the end of the time if they do not wish to continue taking it.

5. The latest postal laws are such that newspaper publishers can arrest any one for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it. Under this law the man who allows his subscription to run along for any length of time unpaid and then orders it to be discontinued, or orders the postmaster to mark it "refused" and have a postal card sent notifying the publisher, leaves himself to arrest and fine, the same as for theft.

IMPORTANT—It will be seen from this that not owning property does not excuse a man from the payment of the debt that he owes a newspaper publisher. The man who refuses to pay such a debt, thinking to escape paying because he has no property that can be levied on by a constable, justice of the peace or sheriff, is liable to a criminal prosecution on the charge of willful fraud and may find himself in serious trouble. tf.

Big Forest Fire at State College.

More than 10,000 acres of state forest reserves in the vicinity of State College, Pa., have been destroyed by fires which have burned uncontrolled for a week. Despite the efforts of hundreds of State College students, led by the forestry school contingent, and assisted by a fire warden and his four rangers, the fires have swept across three mountain tops in the range of the seven mountains. The fire fighters were headed by Professor J. A. Ferguson, director of Pennsylvania state's forest school.

Narrowly Escapes Stray Bullet.

While working on the new Gelwicks building, near Flat Run, Harry Bowling came within an ace of losing his life.

A stray bullet, fired from a pistol in the hands of some unknown person struck his shirt perforating it in two places.

Bowling heard the shot but could not tell from what direction it came. He considers himself very fortunate in having made the escape, which was narrow indeed and had his body been in a different position, he would undoubtedly have been killed.

WILL OIL THE STREETS

Attendance And Earnestness at Monday Night Meeting Augurs Well For The Success of The Plan.—Ladies Interested.

The earnestness of purpose manifested by those who attended the Town Meeting Monday night practically assures the oiling of the streets of Emmitsburg. In point of numbers the meeting was not large, but from the viewpoint of responsiveness it was big. Nearly everybody there represented some absentee and it took but a few moments to obtain pledges for a substantial sum.

There were ladies present, too, proving that they are quite as much interested as are the men of the community. And, realizing that they are thorough and painstaking and systematic in whatever they undertake, the Burgess, who presided, exercised his usual good judgment by delegating to the ladies the work of collecting the funds this year.

Mr. Annan appointed Miss Estelle Codori chairman of the soliciting committee. Miss Codori will ask the cooperation of others, and it is expected that within a few days the necessary amount of money will have been pledged. Judging from the keen interest shown at the meeting and from many expressions made outside, the people of Emmitsburg want the streets oiled as quickly as possible. But the desire and the fulfilling of that desire are two different things. The Burgess and Commissioners stand ready to respond to the wishes of the people, but on the practical response of the citizens rests the whole matter. If they cooperate, if they contribute in proportion to the benefit they derive there will be no trouble whatever—the streets will be well oiled and every household will experience freedom from the intolerable annoyance caused by the dust and grime of the streets.

The Burgess and Commissioners earnestly request everybody to aid in this campaign for town betterment, by welcoming the soliciting committee and by joining others, when the day comes, in having the streets cleaned for oiling.

Anti-Saloon League Busy.

Rev. Dr. Hare and Rev. J. Welty Fahney, the former Superintendent of the Maryland Anti-Saloon League and the latter, in charge of the League's affairs in this county spent a day of this week in Emmitsburg in the interest of the campaign for a dry State.

Unusual May Weather.

The weather so far this month has kept the people guessing. The thermometer has seen-sawed from 85 to 50 in a few hours. Snow fell in Cumberland on Wednesday and from some sections of Washington county fruit buds are reported damaged by the cold. Local gardeners are fearful for their crops and in some instances replanting will be necessary.

"REBECCA" TRULY TRIUMPHS

The Senior Children of Mary have once more made it evident that they possess histrionic ability in a very marked degree. "Rebecca's Triumph," presented last week at St. Euphemia's Hall, met with a splendid reception. There was a capacity house, and applause, discriminating and hearty, was not wanting throughout the evening. Rebecca indeed triumphed, as it was intended she should, but her triumph in this instance was shared by the big and efficient cast that intelligently enacted the charming three-act drama replete with telling lines and interesting situations and followed by a very satisfactory climax.

The heroine, Miss Valerie Welty as "Rebecca," at once ingratiated herself into the hearts of the big audience by her naturalness of manner, her second-nature appreciation of her part and the smoothness of her lines. It was as impossible for the people in front not to be in happy sympathy with Miss Welty's interpretation of the lovable character she portrayed as it was for her coterie of friends in the "book," each of whom fairly idolized "Rebecca."

In the character of "Mrs. Delaine," former nurse in the family of "Mrs. Rokeman," and foster mother of "Rebecca," Miss Helen Knouff, equable in temperament, the embodiment of kindness and ever imbued with the spirit of justice and wholesome solicitude for her ward, brought out to the fullest the forcefulness of her part, as did also Miss Mary Welty the almost "impossible" "Clarissa Codman" who doted on love letters and one "Theophilus Montague." By insinuating gesture, with parasol and monocle, and with love-lorn intonation and facial expression, Miss Welty enlivened inimitably the more sober situations and lent zest to every act.

The comedy roles—an Irish servant "Katie Connor," and "Gyp," the colored maid of-all-work were delightfully impersonated respectively by Miss Anne Codori and Miss Rose Hopp. These two, constantly at odds and forever sending forth volleys of Celtic wit and "nigger sass" at each other, were a constant source of delight to all.

Miss Louise Sebold interpreted the unempathetic part, "Mrs. Rokeman," the rich and haughty widow, consistently. Her acting was dignified and graceful and she spoke her lines with ease and marked effect.

To the difficult part, "Meg," "crazy Meg," Miss Estelle Codori essayed a delineation that lent strength to the many semi-tragic lines entrusted to her. The gradual development from a being with reason unhinged to one whose brain has been cleared by association of ideas, and the subsequent re-assumption of the disordered mental state to cloak design and gain her point was a bit of acting that all through paralleled the realistic.

The head of the cooking club, Miss Bernadette Eckenrode, "Dora Gaines," made much of a minor part. Miss Eckenrode did not "act," she was simply having a happy hour with a lot of natural, joy loving and very pretty girls who as "Our Club" were out for an innocent, jolly good time. Her and there abandon in the beautiful woodland scene in the second act was nature itself—nature within a very entrancing setting.

Whoever the stage manager was deserves unstinted credit, for each scene and costume was excellent; unusual as to correct detail and perfect in ensemble, features not always noticeable even in professional productions.

St. Euphemia's Symphony Orchestra, Mrs. Welty, Miss Sebold and Mr. Lanning, and Miss Eloise Gross, the latter at the piano, furnished the music for the occasion. Each number was a distinct feature and added greatly to the effectiveness of this splendid and thoroughly enjoyed production.

LIABLE TO BE COSTLY JOKE.

State Road From Lewistown To Emmitsburg Strewn With Large Tacks.—Many Automobile Tires Punctured.

Had they been caught red-handed in the act, the men who on Tuesday strewn tacks on the State Road from Lewistown to Emmitsburg, would have been handled in no gentle manner, for the owners of automobiles that were damaged were up in arms over the dastardly trick and even now are determined to see that the men are "run down."

Among the local people that were victims of the "practical joke" were: Register of Wills, Albert M. Patterson, M. R. Sheets, J. Brooke Boyle and the Emmitsburg Motor Car Company. Messrs. Patterson and Sheets had several tires punctured, Mr. Boyle had four tires made flat and two tires of the Emmitsburg Motor Car Company were ruined.

It is understood that John Roddy picked up a cigar box full of tacks in front of his store, near Mt. St. Mary's.

On Wednesday the deputy sheriff investigated the matter and, it is understood, interviewed those who are alleged to have distributed the tacks. Their claim was that the whole thing was an accident and that they cleared the road way, brushing the tacks into the side drain. This explanation has not met with favor locally and it is understood that a further investigation will be made.

ACROSS THE LINE

W. H. Carbaugh, the energetic proprietor of the Carbaugh Brick Manufacturing plant, at Berlin Junction, is the loser of about 200,000 bricks. In taking the shale, from which the brick is manufactured, from the quarry, the men struck an old lime kiln, and of course there were many limestone spalls connected with the material. These were passed into the brick in the usual process. In burning the brick the limestone portion was also converted into lime, and the finished brick crumbled. Some had been delivered to customers.

From June 20 to August 1, a summer school will be conducted at Gettysburg college by Prof. K. J. Grimm and Prof. F. G. Troxell. The school will be conducted in two divisions, the first for those having to take some work to reach the college entrance standard and the second for students who have to make up deficiencies in their work, which came about during their college year, in order that they may attain their degrees at the proper time.

A band of waving American flags, stretched across the continent from New York to San Francisco—a salute of rifles and cannon that will reverberate from coast to coast—the national hymn from thousands of voices and instruments—these are the plans that are being promoted for celebrating Flag Day June 14th, along the route of the Lincoln Highway.

Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh will preach the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of Gettysburg College on Sunday, June 4th. On commencement day, June 7th, the addresses will be made by Hon. J. Hay Brown, chief justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, and Isaac Rusling Pennypacker, of Ardmore, author, journalist, and lecturer.

Next Thursday, May 25th, has been set by Burgess Eicholtz as Gettysburg's annual clean-up day. Preparations will be made to have the observance as popular this year as ever before and to put the town in good condition for the summer.

Gettysburg merchants and those engaged in other lines of business have been interviewed in an effort to interest them in a proposition to conduct a thoroughly equipped foundry in Gettysburg for the purpose of doing a general line of work, naturally the output of such an establishment, and to engage in the manufacture of war munitions if such an extension is deemed feasible.

Pen Mar Park To Get Ready For The Summer.

A number of W. Md. Ry. officials, included among whom were General Passenger Agent Stewart and Division Engineer Agent Friend, made a tour of inspection of Pen Mar Park, in company with General Manager R. D. Sefton, C. G. and W. Rwy. Co.

The condition of the buildings and grounds was carefully inspected and the necessary repairs will be made before the summer season starts.

Probably a new Ferris wheel will be erected on the ground to take the place of the old and smaller one. The railroad men believe the attendance at the park this summer will be a record breaker.

General Manager Sefton usually makes this tour of inspection yearly to assure them of the proper conditions of the park lights.

Students Fight Forest Fire

The mountain fire that broke out at White Rock, north of Pond Bank, last week was extinguished after a hard fight in which the 30 students of Forestry Academy were assisted by some 45 conscripts from White Pine, Caledonia and other points. The fire burned over an area of 200 acres, mostly scrub oak. There have been three fires in Waynesboro in less than 48 hours, the worst since the spring of 1913.

"Advertising is the life-blood of all business enterprises, large and small. If you have a small business advertise. If you have a big business advertise" tf.

With earnings for the period from July 1 to May 7 nearly $2,000,000 ahead of last year, the Western Maryland Railway Company will probably close the current fiscal year ending June 30 next with the greatest gross revenue record of its history.

CROW BLACKBIRD
 (Quiscalus quiscula)

Length, twelve inches. Shorter by at least three inches than the other grackles with trough-shaped tails. Black, with purplish, bluish, and bronze reflections.

Range: Breeds throughout the United States west to Texas, Colorado, and Montana, and in southern Canada; winters in the southern half of the breeding range.

Habits and economic status: This blackbird is a beautiful species, and is well known from its habit of congregating in city parks and nesting there year after year. Like other species which habitually assemble in great flocks, it is capable of inflicting much damage on any crop it attacks, and where it is harmful a judicious reduction of numbers is probably sound policy.

It shares with the crow and blue jay the evil habit of pillaging the nests of small birds of eggs and young. Nevertheless it does much good by destroying insect pests, especially white grubs, weevils, grasshoppers, and caterpillars. Among the caterpillars are army worms and other outworms. When blackbirds gather in large flocks, as in the Mississippi valley, they may greatly damage grain, either when first sown or when in the milk. In winter they subsist mostly on weed seed and waste grain.
