Families Divided on Politics.

This year may bring strange things to pass in the American home, says the Pittsburgh Press. Present political issues are such that some families already are being divided on them. For instance, Gifford Pinchot is for Hughes and a militant national defense policy. Amos Pinchot, his brother, is a member of the American Union Against Militarism, and will support Wilson. Representative William Kent, of California, is heading a Wilson non-partisan league, while Mrs. Kent is a member of the Woman's party and will stump for the defeat of Wilson. George Middleton has allied himself with the group of writers who have announced themselves for Wilson, while his wife, Fola La Follette, is one of the members of the Congressional union who will hold Wilson responsible for the defeat of the Susan B. Anthony amendment. Meredith Nicholson is a Wilson supporter, but Mrs. Nicholson will stump against the President on account of his attitude toward the federal suffrage amendment. Mrs. Louis F. Post is a member of the Woman's Peace party and an ardent Tolstoyan pacifist. Louis F. Post, assistant secretary of labor, of course is for the administration's "preparedness" program.

ington L. Slaughter, from a nervous breakdown. She was 54 years old, while her husband was 66.

Singer, Pentz & Co., have been awarded the contract for the erection of the new station at Edmondson avenue bridge, Baltimore, for $37,000, and work will be started on the structure at once. It will be south of the bridge and west of the tracks and will be an attractive and commodious building. The plans call for a story-and-a-half building of brick, stone and terra cotta, with artistic trimmings, and an attractive marquis around the entire front. It will be a distinct addition to West Baltimore and will add much to the railroad facilities of that section. The present station at Lafayette avenue will be torn down.

Mrs. Helen M. Scott, 57 years old, wife of Dr. J. McPherson Scott, Mayor of Hagerstown, died Monday morning after a short illness. About a week ago Mrs. Scott returned to Hagerstown with her husband from a sanatorium in New York State where Mayor Scott had been taking treatment for several months. She was taken ill shortly after her arrival home. Mrs. Scott was a daughter of William R. Beal, of Cumberland. She is survived by her husband, her mother and four children.

The celebration of Labor Day was the silver jubilee of organized labor in Allegany county. Twenty-five years ago the first parade was held under the auspices of the Cumberland Typographical Union. Four years later the Allegany Trade Council was organized and it took over the celebration which has been held annually since.

Harry Bishop, an employee of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, was struck by a train Monday and killed one mile east of Hancock while working along the tracks.

Between 8,000 and 10,000 persons from Baltimore and other places in Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania gathered at Pen Mar last Thursday to celebrate "Everybody's Day."

Two Maryland men were killed and their wives were seriously injured as a result of an accident at the Centerville grade crossing on the Pennsylvania Railroad, about sixteen miles south of York Tuesday afternoon. The dead are: Messrs. Theodore Logue and David Wareheim, both of Westminster.

Baltimore is to be the home of a large moving picture producing concern which in time will turn out large feature productions, using the scenery found in and around Baltimore city according to an announcement made Tuesday by Robert Stirling, a moving picture director and actor. He says that a studio will be built in the city. Two actresses he states, are on their way to Baltimore from Los Angeles, and other actors and actresses of prominence will locate in Baltimore and act for the company. Mr. Stirling also says that he has plans to use 30 young people of Baltimore city in the production of comedies which do not require actors of long experience.

The monument which Congress erected at Point Lookout, Md., to the memory of the 3,550 Confederate soldiers who died in the Federal prison there is falling into decay, and Representative Linthicum, of Baltimore, stated that he would ask Congress for a small appropriation to restore it if there are no funds which can be used for that purpose. Mr. Linthicum's attention was directed to the condition of the monument by Col. George W. F. Vernon, of Baltimore.

Petitions containing 2,657 names of voters of Carroll county were filed Tuesday with the Supervisors asking for a vote as to whether "this county shall continue to be anti-saloon territory." The dries are preparing to make a vigorous fight to keep the county as it is.

Mrs. Mary J. Shriver, 76 years old, widow of H. Wirt Shriver, a cousin of T. Herbert Shriver and an intimate friend of Cardinal Gibbons, died at her home at Union Mills, Md., Tuesday. Mrs. Shriver had been failing for quite awhile. The funeral took place at her home at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon and interment was made in Silver Run Cemetery. Cardinal Gibbons who was visiting at the home of T. Herbert Shriver attended the services.

PRESIDENT WILSON ACCEPTS THE LINCOLN HOME

Forty Thousand Attended the Ceremony.—Speaker Calls Martyr the Embodiment of Democracy.

"We are not worthy to stand here unless we ourselves being in deed and in truth real democrats and servants of mankind, ready to give our very lives for the freedom and justice and spiritual exaltation of the great nation which shelters and nurtures us."

With these words President Wilson closed a tribute to the memory of Abraham Lincoln before the humble log cabin in LaRue county, Ky., where the civil war president was born.

A crowd of 40,000 people, massed under the hot sun on the hillside about the cabin, cheered the president as he spoke of Lincoln as the embodiment of democracy. Before delivering his address, the president entered the granite memorial building housing the cabin, and for several minutes stood reverently examining the crude log structure. As he walked up the granite steps leading to the cabin a band played patriotic airs and the crowd cheered again and again.

The President and Mrs. Wilson, Secretary of War Baker and Senator Williams, of Mississippi, signed the register outside the cabin, and then walked to the temporary stand at the bottom of the path. More than 10,000 motor cars from near and distant points almost covered the fields. The crowd was said to be one of the largest ever assembled in that section.

The president's address was frequently interrupted by applause, and as he closed there was cheer after cheer.

The speakers of the ceremonies incident to the transfers of the cabin to the federal government included, with the president, General John R. Castleman, of Louisville; Secretary Baker, Senator John Sharp Williams, of Missouri; Joseph W. Folk, former governor of Missouri, and Robert T. Collier, New York.

The Lincoln homestead was acquired by popular subscriptions through the Lincoln Farm association.

Toys sent by mail from New York are believed to have carried infantile paralysis germs.

"THE OTHER SIDE" OF LOCAL OPTION FOR FREDERICK COUNTY VOTERS TO THINK ABOUT.

My Frederick County Voting Friend, you were told in this column last week that eight distinguished gentlemen in Baltimore City, wrote an open letter to the people published in The Sun, June 27, 1916, asking them to go slow in forming a final judgment on the liquor question. That letter with the names attached, was given you in full. Perhaps you would like to know something more about the men who wrote it, especially, when the Anti-Saloon League in Maryland claims to possess all the brains and respectability of our general citizenship. At a glance, you can judge for yourself if that claim is wrong. This public letter was signed first by four clergymen, James Cardinal Gibbons, and about him no comment is necessary. Arthur B. Kinsolving, Rector of Old St. Paul's P. E. Church, Baltimore, and recognized as the leading Episcopal clergyman in the Maryland Diocese, next to Bishop Murray. C. A. Rubenstein, Rabbi of Har Shai Temple where he has been for twenty-five years and looked upon as the leading Jewish Rabbi in the City. Pastor Julius Hoffman, of Zion German Lutheran Church on North Gay Street, Baltimore, perhaps the oldest church at its original location, and of course he is at the head of the German Lutheran ministers of Baltimore. Surely, these men are interested in the morals and spiritual welfare of a great city, and yet, they say to its people over their signatures, do not be too hasty on the liquor question. But this public letter was signed by 4 other splendid men, who if anybody does or can, represent the public health of the State. By Dr. William H. Welch, the leading bacteriologist and pathologist of this country, occupying the chair on these subjects in Johns Hopkins University, also on the same work in Johns Hopkins Hospital. And this is not all. HE IS PRESIDENT OF THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH OF MARYLAND and has been for a number of years, and just recently was selected by the Rockefeller Foundation for the presidency of the School of Public Hygiene now being established in conjunction with Johns Hopkins University and Hospital for which purpose the Rockefeller Foundation has contributed a fund of $3,000,000.00. By Dr. Lewellys F. Barker, Chief of Medical Staff at Johns Hopkins Hospital having succeeded Doctor, now Sir, William Osler who some years ago removed to England. Dr. Barker is looked upon as one of the leading nerve specialists in America. By Dr. William S. Halstead, head of the surgical department of the Johns Hopkins Hospital, and regarded as a world leader in inventive surgery. By Dr. Hugh H. Young, one of the world's leading specialists, and member of the staff both in Johns Hopkins University and Hospital. And so these last four distinguished doctors who have the public health of the people at heart, likewise ask the voters of a big city not to act with haste on this liquor question. Are their opinions worth anything? If they are not, then they ought to resign their positions, leave Baltimore, and turn their places over to the preachers and quacks in the Anti-Saloon League. For my part, I think I prefer to follow the advice of these eight men, rather than be carried away by an "a la Sunday" brain storm. As a tax paying, interested and well meaning supporter of good government, I believe from a practical standpoint, these men are right, and any man who thinks about his environment, will say they are safe and sane. And before Election day, we will attempt to show you, if you too will think for yourself, that morally, physically, governmentally and financially, you will be better off as a county if you will vote Local Option down. If you want to make a man drink a gallon of whiskey where he now takes a single drink, vote with the Anti-Saloon League. If you want to put something in his hip pocket which he never carried before, vote for Local Option, and if you want him to have a traveling bar on his person away from home and a rum counter in front of his wife and children, when he is at home, vote for Local Option. MAKE LIQUOR HARD TO GET AND YOU WILL MAKE IT ALL THE MORE DESIRABLE TO WANT. Vote for Local Option, and in this day of automobiles, good roads and other twentieth century accomplishments and a dry Frederick County midway between a wet Baltimore and a wet Hagerstown, will be a nice place to live in indeed. This is not a pipe dream, but it is just what is going to happen if Frederick County people vote dry on November 7. There isn't a chance in a million of Baltimore going dry, and Washington County is just about as sure. So listen to the warning my voting friend these eight thoughtful men, four clergymen and four doctors, have given their people. It is a warning to you—do not be hasty—but think. Remember the deadline between "wet" and "dry" is easily crossed. The boy or man who will want booze will start his new career with a valise. Then he will get tired of his burden, and he will use his own hide instead of a suitcase. Ask Montgomery County if this is not so? Ask Carroll County ask Garrett County and especially Oakland its county seat that now has on its streets about eighteen standing drunks, ask them if this is not so. Vote for Local Option, and you will start the biggest factory of Desire that Frederick County has ever known. No wonder these four clergymen and four physicians of Baltimore City, asked six hundred thousand people to stop and think before they act. If it is a warning to our State's metropolis, it is a warning to the voters of Frederick County. And so I say, from the angles of morals and health, heed what these eight men in Baltimore have said, and before you vote "dry" on November 7, next, think about the harm your vote may do. Your ballot is yours and let us hope you will cast it right.

ONE INTERESTED IN FREDERICK.

LETTER FROM A LOCAL BOY WHO IS AT EAGLE PASS.

S. McNair Annan Tells of the Life of a "Rookie" in Camp Ord, Down in Texas, by the Rio Grande.

Life on the border is real life, but in no department is it easy. Even in daytime during the hours of recreation, old "Sol" relentlessly shines, making it most unpleasant. It is dark when our regimental band sends melodious notes from tent to tent proclaiming time has come to rise. While standing in line answering roll call twenty minutes later a new sun appears in the East with little or no warning of its coming. Immediately upon its arrival it is daylight, not one minute before, and it is also hot. After calisthenics breakfast is served in the Mess Hall giving us our pleasure until seven-thirty when the call to assemble assures us of a hard morning's extended drill somewhere within a radius of three miles of camp, going through many different maneuvers such as one regiment defending camp Ord, another offending, or one battalion locating and capturing another. If they are unsuccessful in their charge the counter-attack causes much excitement—all of this happening some where on the desert.

My squad was on combat patrol this morning which is very dangerous but interesting and requires much alertness as well as endurance. These movements continue until eleven, allowing time to get dinner at twelve which I assure you is quite acceptable. Until four time is our own, then we report for close-order drill which lasts for one hour. In every drill each man carries full equipment excepting blanket and half shelter. Many different inspections take place during the course of one week and this equipment must be worn for the majority of them. Again we go to mess with our kit; later retreat is sounded and is the prettiest spectacle of the day. Guard-mount follows shortly after. Until ten we are allowed to go to Eagle Pass or where ever we wish, excepting men who went on guard. There are many other things to be done such as kitchen work, police, charge of quarters, etc. These men are detailed daily and when so acting do not report for drill. Wood is cut and cinders are hauled by men who are punished for being disorderly. These men are not allowed to leave until the expiration of their time. "Taps" are sounded at ten, all lights are off and everyone in quarters or on extra duty. Night brings forth a very pleasant breeze that requires a blanket for comfort. The stars are beautiful and as thick as the holes in the top of a shower bath. Really the nights are so delightful after the long hot day that I hate to turn in. It is a great sight to watch an approaching storm which occurs daily but does not always break. They come quickly and in many different forms.

Some of the fellows have captured snakes measuring from five to eight feet. Rattlers seem to be the most numerous. Lizzards and huge centipedes are very disagreeable. They are both very poisonous and much larger than the ones down East. The Westminster Contingent has been the only successful one in bringing down an eagle.

The International bridge which spans the Rio Grande from the town of Eagle Pass to Piedras Negras, a Mexican city, is guarded heavily by our soldiers, searching everybody that goes back or forth. American citizens are allowed to cross but a soldier cannot. Of course the Mexicans are guarding the other end of the bridge just the same. From our camp we can see far into Mexico. It is hard to look at that beautiful land knowing that I cannot set foot thereon, but like a few others I hope to before we are recalled. It is however dangerous and several who have tried it have failed to return.

The great majority of the boys are homesick, but as I stated before some are as overly anxious as I to penetrate Mexico.

Conditions in Mexico have about reached a climax, I believe; especially the food question. When coming from mess we are confronted by Mexicans with buckets and pans to take the rations we leave on our plates.

With its creeping animals, its blazing sun, its terrible storms, its shadeless acres and its starry nights things are alright as they are, in Texas down by the Rio Grande.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Union, and especially in the production of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scotch-Irish descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a valley of rolling lands lying between the Ligonore Hills and the Catoctin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river, and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and productive areas of the Union. The great crops are wheat and corn.—Maryland Manual issued by Board of Public Works.

EMMITSBURG.

In all Western Maryland—the beauty spot and the garden spot of the State—there is no town more attractive than Emmitsburg. No people are more wide-awake, more knowable, more courteous to strangers than Emmitsburgians. The location of Emmitsburg is ideal; the surrounding scenery is unmatched; the climate is notably healthful; its water—pure mountain spring water—cannot be surpassed. It is within easy access of Baltimore, Hagerstown, Frederick; eight miles from the National Battlefield at Gettysburg, near to the Mountain Resorts, and is surrounded by fertile farms and productive orchards.

Mount Saint Mary's College and Ecclesiastical Seminary—with an enviable reputation extending over 108 years—is located here; St. Joseph's College and Academy for young ladies—equally as noted during its 107 years of splendid achievement—is also here.

There are excellent Schools—Public and Parochial—in Emmitsburg; two sound Banks, five Churches, a live Newspaper, modern Hotel accommodations, adequate Fire Department, progressive merchants, splendid physicians, good liveries, auto garages, many fraternal organizations, good railroad accommodations. There are four or five mails a day, telegraph, express and telephone service connecting all points; electric light and power, oiled streets.

There is business to be had in Emmitsburg; there are Factory Sites available. If you contemplate changing your place of residence—come to Emmitsburg, Frederick County, Md.

A LEGACY TO WILSON.

The Boston Post refers to the Mexican situation as a legacy to Mr. Wilson. The facts seem to confirm the Post's characterization.

In the time of President Pierce Mexico committed wrongs upon American citizens. Was there an invasion of Mexico?

President Buchanan urged Congress to authorize a military expedition into Mexico to redress injuries to American citizens. Did Congress comply?

In the time of President Lincoln, among other atrocities, a member of the American Legation was murdered. Was there war?

President Grant submitted to scores of border raids. Did he declare war?

While Theodore Roosevelt was president a number of Americans were killed and, although urged to do so, the administration refused to send troops over the border.

Under President Taft Americans lost property in Mexico; they were murdered in Mexico during his administration. Americans were killed by Mexicans on American soil during his term of office. Was there intervention?

No, they all side-stepped it when they had the chance to do the "noble," "brave," "righteous" thing in upholding "the honor of this great country." They left "the Mexican trouble" a legacy to Mr. Wilson and, very inconsistently, the Republican party now condemns him for not doing what those presidents and that party itself did not do.

Says Thomas A. Edison, the great Electrical Wizard, who has come out strongly for Wilson: "With reference to Mexico, I think the President has acted wisely, justly and courageously. It was right that the United States should not have recognized such a murderous personality as Huerta. I do not believe that we should have intervened, nor do I believe we should intervene now. Mexico is a troublesome neighbor now, but a war of conquest is not going to make her a better one."

ANOTHER SESSION.

With the reopening of the schools the parent, the teacher and the scholar naturally look forward, or ought to look forward, to the responsibility that devolves upon each. There is a devout hope in the mind of the parent that the child will labor earnestly in the pursuit of education. The teacher ardently wishes that the scholar will, for his or her own sake, take advantage of the educational opportunities offered, and the ambitious seeker after knowledge plans how that knowledge may be made useful.

Truly there is a very decided obligation resting upon this trinity of parent, teacher and child. It is an obligation that implies cooperation, service and application. No parent can expect results who does not uphold the teacher, who does not take a deep, personal and sympathetic interest in the child. No teacher, however capable, tactful and willing, can make a finished product out of a human raw material without the moral support and encouragement from the parent and sincere endeavor on the part of the pupil. By no short cut, by no single act can education be poured into the child mind—it matters not how receptive that mind may be. Nor can one receive education by proxy.

Education means conscientious application, supported and inspired by real ambition. It involves perseverance, thoroughness, obedience to discipline, and a sincere determination to succeed. Scholars who begin and continue through the session with this purpose in their minds will reap success. To those who simply "go through the motions," who only "put in time," the session will amount to naught.

THE CHAUTAUQUA.

From the viewpoint of the pleasure and satisfaction derived from it the Radcliffe Chautauqua which closed on Monday, was a decided success. All who attended the uplifting, broadening and exceedingly enjoyable performances during the four days seem to have only this to say: "It was fine." The Radcliffe attractions have a reputation that is enviable. Every feature is refined, high-toned, and from an artistic standpoint, finished and assuredly there is "value received." The personnel of the business and working staff and that of the talent is liberal, polite, considerate and dignified—a combination hard to excel.

COLONEL T. R. and his followers, for political purposes only, allude to Mr. Wilson as one who "changes his mind." These same are forever referring to the greatness and stability of Lincoln. If there ever was similarity between any two characters, that between Lincoln and Wilson is so marked that everyone refers to it. It was the great Lincoln himself, by the way who said, that it was the foolish and the dead alone who did not change their minds. And, incidentally, was there ever a mortal who could change his mind quite as frequently as the Colonel?

HONESTLY, now, do you really follow the European war closely? Have you the remotest idea where nine-tenths of the places are in which battles are being fought? Isn't it a fact that you really want to know who is winning? Well, here's the answer—the Allies.

THE Frederick baseball team is all right. It simply failed to get its real stride until late in the season—too late to be a trophy contender. All this snappy aggregation will have to do next season will be to begin with the form it left off with.

"BREAK the Pork Barrel."—For sure. But let's have it broken right here where we can all get a crack at its contents. Item: Why not a granite Customs House for Tom's Creek and the deepening of the Flat Run Channel?

"LINGERIE is now seen in lemon yellow crepe de chine, wash satin or any silk that will launder."—Perfectly true. There's no necessity for calling attention to it, however.

There are some who carry their passion of strict economy to such a point that they refrain from using the truth for fear of wearing it out.

"SMILE at least a few times a day."—That's just what the majority of men are doing; hence the Prohibition movement.

WOULD it not be more to the point to keep the Ten Commandments rather than change them?

ALL the sharks are not on the sea coast.

An Optimist's Essay.

A pessimist is a son of the man who didn't believe there was any such thing as electricity.

He is an offspring of the man who was sure that the horseless carriage would never come, and a nephew of the man who was willing to bet money that men would never fly.

A pessimist is a direct descendant of the man who was sure that wireless telegraphy was a fool's dream and a submarine merely the creation of a fiction writer's brain.

The pessimist's ancestry scoffed at the telephone, the typesetting machine, the twenty story building, anaesthetics and every forward step the optimists have taken for the betterment of human life.

If the pessimists of the past had been right men would still be living in caves and trying to get their meals with clubs and flint arrows. And evidently they died without publicly confessing their mistakes, for their pessimistic children continue to prophesy dimly that everything that is surely going to be cannot possibly come to pass. They seem to be born with the habit and cannot get over it.—Detroit Free Press.

Houses in Bagdad.

A Bagdad house in the summer is a fiery furnace, and no one, unless his name be Shadrach or Meshach or Abednego, could live within its four walls with comfort, and yet the natives have made a brave attempt to overcome the difficulties of their situation. Deep in the ground they have built cellars, or serdabs, and these serve as cooling chambers. The cellars are kept pretty dark. "The light enters," says one who has lived there, "through small windows, or openings, where, instead of glass, is placed a lattice of palm filled with a prickly camel's thorn. Several times a day the occupants sprinkle water on these thorns, and the moisture cools the hot wind as it passes through the rooms and gives a comparatively refreshing breeze. But toward night these cellars become unbearably close, and then the entire city mounts to the flat roofs, where it dines and sleeps."—Boston Transcript.

Warships in Battle.

In the days of wooden war vessels two frigates, or line-of-battle ships, might be lashed together and fire shot into each other's interiors for an indefinite period. When Paul Jones was summoned to surrender he replied that he had not yet begun to fight. At a distance of eight miles there would not be much conversation between hostile commanders, even by signals, and after a vessel is hit there isn't much question as to its future. A vessel may be injured by gunfire and get away, but if a floating steel fort is hit below the armor belt by a torpedo or has its deck penetrated by a fifteen inch shell which meets expectations in the promptness of its explosions it does not remain in sight many minutes, and the crew can't float around on spars until they are picked up, for there are no spars. In ten minutes the formidable warship goes under and carries everybody on board.—Philadelphia Record.

The Title "Engineer."

It is unfortunate, according to the Engineering Record, that in America most people associate the word "engineer" with a man who runs an engine or a boiler. Even the man who operates the boilers of an apartment building is called an "engineer," although the name is entirely a misnomer when applied to him. He may be a good mechanic, but he is not an engineer. The gray-haired man who drives the locomotive of a transcontinental limited and who holds the lives of hundreds of human beings in his care belongs to the very highest type of mechanic, but he is not an engineer, except in the United States and Canada. All foreign languages have words that properly designate the work these men are doing. In our country there is no word to distinguish them from the bridge builder, the sanitary expert, etc.

Speed of Bullets.

The rate of fall of the bullet from the line of projection is fixed by the laws of gravity, hence the more rapidly the bullet is made to pass from the rifle to the target the flatter will be this curve or "trajectory," the less accurate the estimation of distance required and the less the chances of error through an inaccurate estimate of distance.

The normal velocities of our sporting rifles, in black powder days, were about 1,300 feet per second. The first of the small bore, high power, smokeless variety raised this to 2,000 f. s. for bullets of military length and 2,200 for shorter sporting bullets. Now it has gone up to 3,100 f. s. The burning questions asked again and again by the rifleman are, "Where will we stop?" "Will the 4,000 f. s. bullet come next?"

High Tide.

The feminine naïveté that is so amusing to the nautical man has a good illustration in this question asked by a young woman who saw a monitor lying at anchor in Boston harbor. She turned to her escort and said: "What makes that boat lie so low in the water? Is it high tide?"—Sailors' Magazine.

Pope's Preference.

The Prince of Wales of Pope's time once said to the poet:

"Mr. Pope, do you not like kings?" "Sir," replied the poet, "I prefer the lion before the claws are grown."

How the Trouble Began.

It was a bright, sunny Tuesday morning and Mrs. Brown was on the roof preparing to hang out her wash, when Mrs. Jones appeared on the scene carrying a basket of clothes.

"What are you doing here?" demanded Mrs. Jones. "Monday is your day for hangin' out clothes."

"I know it is," replied Mrs. Brown, removing the clothespins from her mouth so she could articulate more clearly. "But it rained yesterday, an' I'm hangin' 'em out today instead. Tuesday belongs to the fourth floor back, an' that's vacant, so I guess I've got as good a right here as anybody else. What is it to you, anyhow? Wednesday is your day."

"Wednesday is my day, all right," admitted Mrs. Jones. "But the paper says it's goin' to rain tomorrow, an' I ain't takin' any chances. You take them rags of yours downstairs again, or I'll throw 'em off the roof!"

And that's how the trouble began.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Lock Canals.

The Egyptians had canals before the days of St. Paul, but the lock canal which made it possible to cross mountains in a boat came only a few years before Columbus discovered America.

To be told that Raphael in his spare moments when not painting a Raphael was constructing a locomotive would scarcely surprise you more than to be told that Leonardo da Vinci was a pioneer canal lock builder.

But the hand that put upon the walls of that historic church in Milan "The Last Supper" also designed the locks for Milan's canal.

That was just five years before another Italian from the nearby town of Genoa sailing a Spanish ship came to anchor at San Salvador. Before the lock system was born canals had to be on level ground, although in China they had them on slight inclines.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Green Flash of Sunset.

One of the most rarely witnessed of natural phenomena, but one that has often been discussed at scientific meetings and that always awakens wonder when seen, is the so called "green flash" occasionally visible at the moment of the disappearance of the sun behind a clear horizon. The observer's eye must be fixed upon the rim of the sun as it disappears in order to catch the phenomenon. One authority tells us that he has seen the green flash, although rarely, at the instant of the setting of a bright star. Among the explanations offered is one based upon the optical principle of complementary colors. If one looks at the sun and then closes the eyes a green disk will be perceived. A sensitive eye might be similarly affected by a brilliant star.

Theft in Ancient Wales.

In some ways which might nowadays be called "sentimental" the laws of ancient Wales were in advance of those of today. J. E. Lloyd in his "History of Wales" mentions that in some of the codes (which were, as a rule, very severe on theft) a remarkable provision exempted from punishment "the starving man who, after begging for three days and receiving nothing, helped himself to the food which he needed in order to keep him alive. That every man had the right to live was a principle of the law, and the sentiment of the country demanded that every person of substance should keep open house not only for ordinary travelers, but also for the destitute and the friendless."

African Grosbecks.

The social grosbecks of South Africa live in large societies. They select a tree of considerable size and literally cover it with a grass roof, under which their common dwelling is constructed. The roof serves the double purpose of keeping off the heat and the rain, and 400 or 500 pairs of birds are known to have the same shelter. The nests in this aerial dwelling are built in regular streets and closely resemble rows of tenement houses.

Sure Bait.

"How did you manage to sell that piece of goods that's all out of date to Mrs. Hill?" Clerk—I told her it was a great bargain, but I thought Mrs. Richcote had had it laid aside for one of her daughters. Then she took it right off.

Happiness.

"There is an instinct in the heart of man which makes him fear a cloudless happiness. It seems to him that he owes to misfortune a title of his life, and that which he does not pay bears interest, is amassed and largely swells a debt which sooner or later he must acquit."

Only on the Outside.

"Why, Ethel, you don't mean to tell me you want to marry that baldheaded Professor Wiseman?"

"It is true he is bald," said Ethel, "but think how many young men of today are bald on the inside of their heads."

Its Risk.

"A kiss may often have deeper meaning than appears." "Perhaps, but it is a thing you have to take on its face value."—Baltimore American.

More Noticeable.

The more rare a man's qualities are the more he will be found fault with. Dust on a diamond is always more noticeable than dust on a brick.—Josh Billings.

The manner of saying or doing any thing goes a great way toward the value of the thing itself.—Seneca.

A Boost For Barley.

"Barley is strangely neglected by the cook of today," says a writer in the Woman's Home Companion. "As it contains more starch and sugar and less gluten than wheat, it might well take the place of the potato on our tables and this with benefit to purse and health."

"One cup of barley will swell to five times its original size when cooked, and its uses are wonderfully varied."

"As a breakfast dish with sugar and cream it is rich and satisfying; for dinner, as a garnish for meat or with rich meat gravy, it makes a savory entree; at tea time cold steamed barley cut in slices and browned in hot butter, then served with maple syrup, is delicious."

"Combined with dried or fresh fruits it makes as wholesome desserts as rice. Indeed, there is no way in which rice may be prepared in which barley cannot be cooked with just as good results. Barley requires a long time to cook properly, but now we have the cereal cooker and the fireless cooker and with them the opportunity to have the perfect cereal."

Queer Use For Cordite.

Some years ago Lord Haldane startled the house of commons when replying to a remark made by another member as to the danger attached to the use of cordite by saying that he himself possessed a walking stick made of cordite which he sometimes brought down to the house and left in the cloakroom. An uneasy look stole over the faces of the members present, but in a scientific and highly technical speech his lordship explained that cordite was a perfectly innocent substance until brought into contact with dangerous allies, and without certain ingredients necessary to convert it into an explosive it might be handled with impunity. At the same time it was noticed that Lord Haldane's stick was given a wide berth when it was seen in the cloakroom.

Japanese Translations.

A writer in a Tokyo journal reports the struggles of Japanese writers to translate English idioms into their own tongue. We cite several of these howlers. "We put our heads together" (We collided). "He could not find it for the life of him" (He could not discover it till his death). "He is a great loss to his country" (He is a great calamity to his country). "He hung his head for shame" (He committed suicide by strangulation). "He takes things easily" (He is a deft thief). "She sat over a cup of tea" (She sat upon a teacup). "I shudder at the bare idea" (I shudder to think that the man is naked). "The bare idea" is evidently translated into "the idea of bareness." "Spare me five minutes" (Spare my life—only for five minutes).

Horses in the Time of Homer.

The horses used in Homer's time were war horses. The warriors were drawn in chariots. The art of riding was known, but it is alluded to as something unusual. Ulysses at the time of his shipwreck "bestrode a plank, like a horseman on a big steed." There are reasons for believing that the practice of riding was much later than that of driving, and the myth of the centaur, where, according to Shakespeare, "man is incorporated and dematerialized with the beast," probably originated at an early period when the appearance of a man on horseback was a novel sight.

Too Costly.

At one of the Boston theaters recently there was shown on the screen a picture of a stock exchange. The brokers were hurrying about, pushing, waving their arms, gesticulating and to the uninitiated acting like a lot of insane men. Two young ladies in the balcony watched them with breathless interest for some time, then one asked: "Why in the world don't they sit down and rest once in awhile?" "My dear," was the enlightening answer, "don't you know that a seat in the Stock Exchange costs thousands of dollars?"—Harper's Magazine.

Two Kinds of Joy.

The joys as well as the burdens of life are pretty evenly divided between the sexes after all, and probably a little girl derives as much innocent pleasure from being a flower girl at a wedding as a little boy does from going to school with a live garter snake in his trousers pocket.—Ohio State Journal.

The Man Behind the Message.

The value of a thing depends largely upon who says it. Words may be bullets, but character must be the powder at the back of them to give them projectile force. The man behind the message is as important as the man behind the gun.

He Told Her.

"What is it, do you suppose, that keeps the moon in place and prevents it from falling?" asked Araminta. "I think it must be the beams," replied Charlie softly.

Keeps Him Busy.

The Skeptical Aunt—What does he do, Dolly, for a living? Dolly (greatly surprised)—Why, auntie, he does not have time to earn a living while we are engaged!

Unusual.

"He's different to most men anyhow." "In what way?" "He even knows all the words in the second verse of 'America.'"—Detroit Free Press.

The way to wealth is as plain as the way to market; it depends chiefly on two words—industry and frugality.—Franklin.

of this Act nor operate to prevent its taking effect.Sec. 2. And be it enacted, That the proposition above mentioned shall be so printed as to give each voter a clear

in a square opposite the words "for the political units herein designated,

Governor shall forthwith issue a pro-

participate in such election voting on this question in such election, have voted "for prohibition," then he shall forthwith issue his proclamation to this effect, and on and after the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eighteen, it shall be unlawful for any person, persons, social club, firm or corporation to manufacture for sale, sell or purchase for sale, transport for sale,
dispense or otherwise dispose of any alcoholic, spirituous, vinous, fermented,
distilled or malt liquors or intoxicating liquors or liquid mixtures or preparations, whether patented or not, which will produce intoxication in such political unit or units so voting for probi-
bition, except for medicinal, pharmaceutical, scientific, sacramental or mechanical purposes, as may be allowed under the provisions of such acts as the General Assembly of Maryland shall pass at its regular session held next after the date of such election or any subsequent session allowing such sale for such purposes only. And any person, persons, social club, firm or corporation manufacturing, selling, transporting, dispensing or disposing of any alcoholic, spirituous, vinous, fermented,
distilled or malt liquors within such political unit or units so voting for probi-
bition shall be liable for all the penalties now or hereafter prescribed for manufacturing, selling, dispensing or disposing of alcoholic, spirituous, vinous, fermented, distilled, malt and intoxicating liquors without a license; and any place used for purposes in violation of this section, such use is hereby declared a nuisance and shall be abated as such.Sec. 6. And be it enacted, That any qualified voter of any political unit herein designated may contest the election
on this question hereby submitted to the voters of such political unit or demand a recount of the ballots cast on such questions in any election precinct or district of any such political unit, by filing a petition setting forth the grounds of such contest or recount, verified by affidavit with the Clerk of the Circuit Court for the county or the Clerk of the Superior Court for Baltimore City, as the case may be, within not more than five days from the date of the canvass of the returns by the Election Supervisors, and upon the filing of bond for the costs in the penalty to be fixed by the residing Judge or the Judge at that time presiding over the Court in which the contest is instituted, with surety
or surties to be approved by him, a summons shall forthwith issue from such court addressed to the Supervisors of Election for or having jurisdiction
over such political unit or for the City of Baltimore in which such contest is instituted, notifying them of the filing of such petition and directing them to appear in such court with the ballots and ballot boxes of the precinct or precincts
in which irregularities are charged, at the time named in such summons, which shall be not less than five nor more than ten days from the filing of such petition. The procedure in such cases shall be the same as that provided by law for contesting any election for public office
so far as the same is applicable.In case of a contest of election in any precinct of any political unit herein designated or the City of Baltimore, as the case may be, the Board of Supervisors of Elections shall withhold the certificate of such election returns for such political unit or the City of Baltimore in which such precinct is located
until the court decides such contest.
Immediately following such decision of the court the Board of Supervisors of Elections shall make the returns as herein provided; such decision shall be made by the court not later than six months from the date of election.The said court shall have final jurisdiction to hear and determine the merits of such cases, and if the said court shall discover that fraud has been committed in any precinct and the legal votes cannot be separated from the illegal votes or ballots so that the correct result can be ascertained, then the whole number of ballots cast in such precinct on such question so submitted to the voters of the political units herein designated shall be rejected by the said court and not counted and the Supervisors of Elections shall not make any returns of the votes cast in such precinct, and the rejection of such ballots shall in no wise render invalid the result of such election.Sec. 6A. This Act shall not apply to nor prohibit the manufacture for sale
of alcoholic, spirituous and vinous, malt and intoxicating liquors by persons and corporations now engaged in the manufacture thereof or the transportation thereof by said persons andcorporations where such liquors are manufactured for sale and sold only for delivery for shipment to places beyond
the State or to places within the State where such sale is not now or hereafter prohibited by law.Sec. 7. And be it enacted, That this Act shall take effect from the date of its passage.Approved March 17, 1916.
AND WHEREAS, Section 1 of the above
recited Act requires that the Governor of the State shall give notice by publication in two newspapers published in each of the political units designated in said Act, and if only one newspaper be published in such political unit then in that newspaper, and if no newspaper be in a newspaper published in the county

in which such political unit is located;
and in three newspapers published in the City of Baltimore, one of which shall be printed in the German language.NOW, THEREFORE, I, EMERSON

said Section 1 of said Chapter 30 of the plete and correct text of said Act, be

following provisions:

Sub-Section A:

Every appropriation bill shall be either

Sub-Section B:

First. Within twenty days after the convening of the General Assembly (except in the case of a newly elected Governor, and then within thirty days after his inauguration), unless such time shall be extended by the General Assembly for the session at which the Budget is to be submitted, the Governor shall submit to the General Assembly two budgets, one for each of the ensuing fiscal years. Each budget shall contain a complete plan of proposed expenditures
and estimated revenues for the particular fiscal year to which it relates; and shall show the estimated surplus or deficit of revenues at the end of such year. Accompanying each budget shall be a statement showing: (1) the revenues and expenditures for each of the two fiscal years next preceding; (2) the current assets, liabilities, reserves and surplus or deficit of the State; (3) the debts and funds of the State; (4) an estimate of the State's financial condition as of the beginning and end of each of the fiscal years covered by the two budgets above provided; (5) any explanation the Governor may desire into two parts, and the first part shall be designated "Governmental Appropria-

estimate of the appropriations: (1) for the General Assembly as certified to the Governor in the manner hereinaf-

to the Governor by the Comptroller; (4)

and interest of the debt of the State of Maryland in conformity with Section 34 of Article III of the Constitution, and all laws enacted in pursuance thereof; (5) for the salaries payable by the State under the Constitution and laws of the State; (6) for the establishment and maintenance throughout the State of a thorough and efficient system of public schools in conformity with Article

The Governor may, before final action thereon by the General Assembly, amend or supplement either of said budgets to correct an oversight or in case of an emergency, with the consent of the General Assembly by delivering such an amendment or supplment to the presiding officers of both houses; and such amendment or supplement shall thereby become a part of said budget bill as an addition to the items of said bill or as a modification of or a substitute for any item of said
bill such amendment or supplement may affect.The General Assembly shall not amend the budget bill so as to affect either the obligations of the State under Section 34 of Article III of the Constitution, or the provisions made by the laws of the State for the establishment and maintenance of a system of public schools,
or the payment of any salaries required to be paid by the State of Maryland by the Constitution thereof; and the General Assembly may amend the bill by increasing or diminishing the items
therein relating to the General Assembly, and by increasing the items therein relating to the judiciary, but except as hereinbefore specified, may not alter
the said bill except to strike out or reduce items therein, provided, however,
that the salary or compensation of any public officer shall not be decreased
during his term of office; and such bill
when and as passed by both houses
shall be a law immediately without further action by the Governor.Fourth. The Governor and such rep-

be their duty to appear and be heard with respect to any budget bill during the consideration thereof, and to answer inquiries relative thereto.Sub-Section C: Supplementary Appropria-

Article II of the Constitution an appropria-

First. If the Budget Bill shall not have been finally acted upon by the Legislature three days before the ex-

during such extended session except a provision for the cost thereof.Second. The Governor for the pur-schools as provided by law.Third. The Legislature may, from time to time, enact such laws, not inconsistent with this Section, as may be necessary and proper to carry out its provisions.In the event of any inconsistency between any of the provisions of this Section and any of the other provisions of the Constitution, the provisions of this Section shall prevail. But nothing herein shall in any matter affect the provisions of Section 34 of Article III of the Constitution or of any laws heretofore or hereafter passed in pursuance thereof, or be construed as preventing the Governor from calling extraordinary sessions of the Legislature, as provided by Section 16 of Article II, or as preventing the Legislature at such extraordinary sessions from considering any emergency appropriation or appropriations.If any item of any appropriation bill passed under the provisions of this Section

shall be held invalid upon any ground,
such invalidity shall not affect the le-

authority aforesaid*, That the said Gov-amendment to the Constitution shall at the next ensuing general election, be-

Governor shall present to the Legisla-

ing clearly any surplus or deficit in State funds. In these estimates he shall make provision for the interest and sinking funds of all State debts, for all salaries as fixed by law, and for the public schools as fixed by law. With regard to most other matters he may revise the estimates presented to him either by State Officers or State-aided institutions. The Legislature may not increase the estimates presented by the Governor or pass any additional appropriation act except by a majority vote and must make provision by tax for such increase or additional appropriation. The Legislature may not alter in an appropriation act the provision made by law for the State debt, or for the judiciary, but may reduce all other items in the Governor's estimates; and the words "for the Constitutional Amendment" as now provided by law, and immediately after said election
due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against the proposed amendment, and further pro-

THE CHAUTAUQUA WAS A SOURCE OF PLEASURE TO MANY

Every Feature Furnished by the Radcliffe Attractions, of Washington, Made a Decided Hit With the People.

Last Monday the three days' Chautauqua—consisting almost exclusively of the excellent features furnished by the Radcliffe Attractions, of Washington—closed with one of the best performances on the diversified programme offered on this circuit.

The amusements started Friday afternoon with vocal and instrumental numbers by the Hawkeye Glee Club, a male quartet of merit. This aggregation which has travelled together for years not only sang well, but played with splendid effect on saxophones, mandolins and guitars. Every number was generously applauded and generously given were the many encores.

Dr. W. T. S. Culp, an authority on child paralysis and eugenics, lectured both afternoon and evening.

Miss Gertrude Paynekinski, the Polish pianist, opened the second day's program (Saturday) in the afternoon session. Her selections were highly appreciated as was indicated by the number of encores. The Spragues, interpreters of plays, presented "Esmeralda" and "Rip Van Winkle" on Saturday during the afternoon and evening.

At 10 o'clock Saturday morning Dr. C. W. Stiles, professor of zoology in the U. S. Public Health Service, spoke on "Public Health and Rural Hygiene." This lecture was intensely interesting and touched on points in connection with community health that were timely and of value to everyone present.

At 3.30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Dr. W. H. Nation delivered an oration on "Community Life."

On Monday afternoon and night Dr. W. H. Nation was again the orator, sharing the programme with the Ernest Gamble Concert Party. This company lived up to its reputation by making classical music popular and popular music classical. This was the star feature of the programme.

All meetings were held in a large tent located in the Firemen's Park. They were well attended and the whole program highly appreciated.

A Surprise Party.

The many friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. John Harner gave a very pleasant surprise party at their home on Thursday evening, August 31, in honor of their daughter Estella.

It was a complete surprise as Miss Harner was spending a few days with her sister and did not arrive home until that evening when some of the jolly crowd had already gathered at her home.

The evening was spent very pleasantly with music and playing many different games. About 10 o'clock all were invited to the dining room to partake of the delicacies of the season which were served in abundance. The visitors then departed wishing Estella many more such happy events. Over one hundred guests were present on this enjoyable occasion.

FRANCISCO MADERO FOUND DEAD IN HOME IN NEW YORK

He Was One of The Largest Land Owners in Mexico.—Well Known in Emmitsburg.—A Student of the Late Professor Lagarde.

Francisco Madero, father of the late President Madero, of Mexico, was found dead in bed at his home in New York from heart disease on Sunday. Mr. Madero, who was in his sixty-eighth year, was one of the largest land and mine owners in Mexico.

After the assassination of his two sons, Francisco, Jr., then President of Mexico and Gustavo, who had been financial agent for the Revolutionist Madero fled to New York.

Francisco Madero, Father of The Late President Madero, of Mexico.

In a news story from New York it was stated that the family estates, said to have been valued at $6,000,000, including large holdings of land in Northern Mexico, were confiscated by the Huerta government, but three weeks ago the Carranza government informed Mr. Madero that his property would be restored to him. Julio Madero, a son, is now in Mexico arranging with the authorities for the transfer of the estates.

Mr. Madero, who was born in Parras, State of Coahuila, accumulated his fortune through investments in farm lands and in mining and banking. The Banco Mercantil de Monterey was one of his best known financial institutions.

Gustavo Madero was killed February 19, 1913 and his brother, President Madero, on February 21—two days later.

The Madero's were well known in Emmitsburg where Francisco Madero, Sr., was a private pupil of the late Professor Ernest Lagarde of Mt. St. Mary's College.

SYMPTOMS INFANTILE PARALYSIS.—IMPORTANT "DON'TS."

Instructions Sent to All Local Health Authorities by the State Health Department.—Parents' Responsibility.

The State Health Board has sent out to local health authorities in all sections of Maryland directions and "Don'ts" concerning Infantile Paralysis. From this circular the following are taken: "Don't look to the state and local authorities to do what you should do yourself. Practice the same caution that you would naturally observe in an epidemic of scarlet fever."

Don't wait until you are certain that the child has infantile paralysis; get a physician at once.

Don't raise up dust in or around the house; dust is likely to carry the germs of the disease. When you sweep, dampen the broom or floor or pavement.

Don't be careless in the matter of letting flies in the house; flies also carry the germs.

Don't coop children up in dark and badly ventilated rooms; sunshine and fresh air are the worst enemies of poliomyelitis.

The circular which Dr. Jones has sent to local health authorities states that the following are the symptoms of the disease:

1. Child irritable and "out of sorts."

2. Temperature 101 to 103 degrees Fahrenheit.

3. Stomach disturbed, as evidenced by (a) loss of appetite and (b) vomiting.

4. Appearance of paralysis after 24 to 48 hours, with tenderness and pain about body.

The severer types show, in addition to the above, such characteristics as are commonly found in acute meningitis.

1. Stiffness of neck and head retracted.

2. Temperature may be higher than 103 degrees Fahrenheit.

3. Muscles more or less rigid.

4. Coma in some cases.

These severer symptoms are then followed in two to four days by death, if the centres in the medulla are involved, or by paralysis, with flaccid muscles.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms— which vary widely but may include pain in the back, head ache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatic pains, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right the danger is overcome. Doan's Kidney Pills have proven an effective kidney medicine.

Mrs. Charles Hartdagen, Emmitsburg, says: "I was troubled by rheumatic twinges and had severe pains in my back. My eyes were weak too. Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cured me of kidney trouble and rheumatic pains."

ACROSS THE LINE

Andrew J. Smith one of Gettysburg's oldest business men, and a highly respected and esteemed gentleman, died suddenly at his home on York street, Gettysburg, Sunday evening about 10 o'clock, aged 73 years, 11 months and 19 days.

Of the nineteen men who passed the examination to fill vacancies in the State Constabulary, one Gettysburg boy was selected. He is Paul R. Fox, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Fox. Fox will be stationed at Greensburg, with troop A.

Melancholy because of family discord, it is said, Mrs. Samuel Baublitz, of near Abbottstown, attempted suicide last Friday morning before any other members of the family were awake, when she swallowed the contents of several bottles of drugs. Mrs. Baublitz is confined to the York hospital, where physicians say she will recover. The reaction of these various drugs against one another, it is believed, will save her life.

John Herr died last Thursday evening at his home in Freedom township from tuberculosis. He was aged about 70 years. He leaves one son, George Herr, at home; one brother, Ephraim Herr, Freedom township, and a sister, Mrs. John Hull, Fairfield.

David R. Miller committed suicide at his residence, on Fairview avenue, Waynesboro. He had been ill for several years and was compelled to give up his position several weeks ago, as stenographer for the Frick Company. He then engaged in popcorn making. He grew despondent and hanged himself in the cellar of his home.

Taken suddenly ill while eating dinner, Prof. William Lambert Gooding, who has occupied the chair of philosophy and education at Dickinson College for 18 years, died of heart disease at his home in Carlisle Monday afternoon. He was about 65 years old.

Miss Valeria B. Penrose, a cousin of United States Senator Penrose and a leading antisuffragist, died at Carlisle, Monday. She was the daughter of William M. Penrose, an attorney, and Valeria Merchant, a daughter of General Merchant.

Bernard Kohler, 17 years old, son of J. W. Kohler, of North Hopewell township, near Stewartstown died Monday evening of infantile paralysis. This is the first death in York county caused by the disease. The youth had been sick only two days.

The tobacco crop now being harvested will be the largest that has been produced in York county for three years and the prices will make it extremely profitable as compared with the crop of three years ago, since which time little has been grown in the county. Little damage was done the crop by hail, according to Samuel H. Herrman, a tobacco packer, who has completed a tour of the county inspecting the fields.

The Lincoln Memorial in Washington—the plan for which secured the defeat of the original plan for a memorial highway from Washington to Gettysburg—is to be completed in just two years from the present month. It is to cost $2,000,000 and is now under construction in Potomac Park. The cornerstone was laid February 12, 1915. Henry Bacon, architect of the memorial, in speaking of the progress of the work says: "Before the winter is over the Lincoln memorial will be roofed and the building will be completed and the statue of Lincoln in place two years from now."

ST. ANTHONY'S.

The Autumn festival held at St. Anthony's on Saturday evening was largely attended. The evening being fair and cool, hot coffee and sandwiches were in great demand. The country store and fruit stand reported good sales. But the chief feature of the festival was Miss Romona the little Indian fortune teller. This little maid dressed in her robes of red, and purple and wearing many beads, arrived at the grove in early evening and directed the erection of her tent near the pavilion. Her tent being erected she entered at 6 o'clock and began telling fortunes, she was kept very busy until the festival, closed in fact many who were in line were disappointed by not being able to get in. This was Miss Romona's first visit to Frederick County to engage in her profession. She told several of her friends, she had with her, partner Ethelberta who had worked extensively in our neighboring counties but never before in Frederick. The treatment she received while on her visit here has from her promised a return in the near future. In speaking of the crowd she said never before has she had such an attendance at a church festival. She also stated she was very sorry the evening was so short and so many had to be turned away. Miss Romona spent Sunday with some of her friends. Monday she left for another county. She said she hopes to meet many of her friends at the different fairs.

Daddy's Bedtime

The Good Story — And the Bad Rooster

The Bad Rooster Got Into a Fight.

JACK and Evelyn's favorite uncle had just arrived from Japan, and they had been begging him to tell them a story.
"But I thought daddy always did that," said uncle.
"Oh, he does usually!" answered Jack. "but we'd like to hear one of yours this evening."

"Well, now," said daddy, "it's come to a pretty pass. Here I've been telling you a story every night for ever and ever so long, and now uncle comes along—almost a stranger—and you desert old daddy and ask for one of uncle's stories."

"Oh, we love your stories, daddy!" said Jack and Evelyn.

"You see," said uncle, "it's the new thing we all like."

Daddy laughed and said, "Well, I'll listen anyway." So uncle began:

"Once upon a time there were two little chickens. One was very good and always did what old Mother Hen told him to, but the other chicken was very bad—would tease his little sisters and fight with his neighbors. His mother warned him, saying, 'Now, if you aren't good some harm will surely come to you.' But the little chicken paid no attention and strutted around, thinking he knew everything there was to know."

"Time went along, and the chickens grew up into roosters. The good chicken turned out to be a very beautiful rooster, with a fine red tuft and perfect feathers. The naughty chicken was not nearly so fine looking, as he had been in so many fights he looked quite scratched and scrawny, and as he had always wandered off and eaten anything he pleased his plumage was not nearly so nice as his brother's."

"One day the bad rooster got in the most awful fight, in which he lost an eye. Oh, how he then yelled for his Mother Hen and his brother, and they bathed his wounds and tried to comfort him."

"After a few weeks the bad rooster had fully recovered, but he now only had one eye, and he missed ever and ever so many worms that his good brother was able to see and pick up, nor could he run very fast, as he was so apt to stumble and fall. But what made him feel most ashamed was that all the little chickens were shown the difference between the rooster who had always done what his mother had told him to and the bad rooster with only one eye who had always been disobedient."

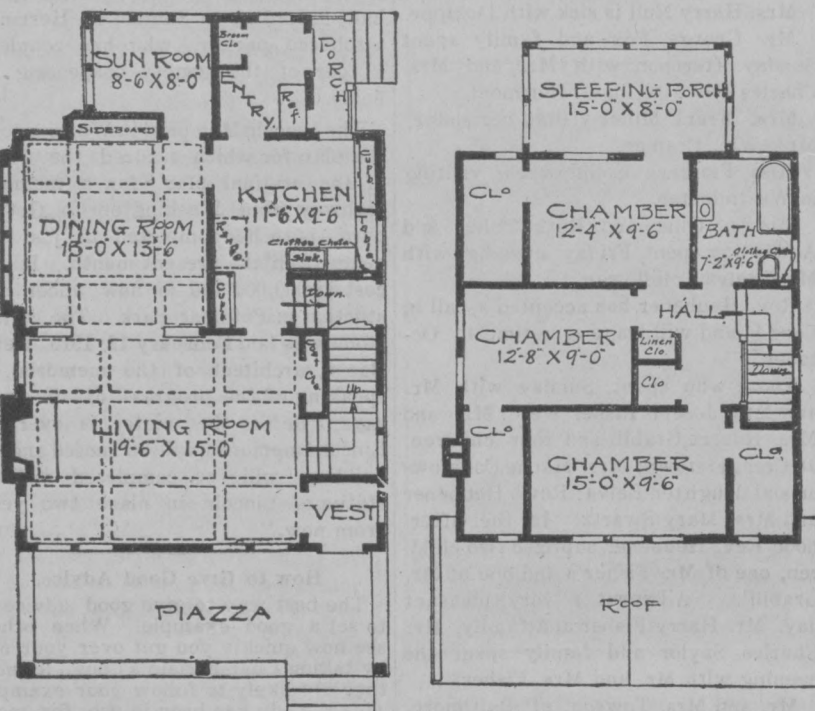

"The bad rooster was a much older and sadder rooster than his brother, who, of course, still looked fine and young. But he became very kind, and all the little chickens would get him to tell them stories. But they could never forget that he had lost one eye in a fight, and a very peaceable and fine set of roosters resulted from the naughty rooster's sad experiences."

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Potomac Poison.
"Potomac is a scientific name for food poison," says a physician in Farm and Fireside, "and, although all potomacines are not dangerous to health, there is no simple test for telling the dangerous ones from the others. Dr. Charles K. Francis, a noted chemist, gives the advice, 'When doubtful about a food do not eat it.' This applies especially to meat which has a peculiar odor or taste, canned goods, especially when they have been opened for some time, and other foods which do not seem just right. Taking a chance may be taking your health or life. Safety first!"

THE THINGS YOU HAVE.

Think not so much of what thou hast not as what thou hast, but of the things which thou hast select the best and then reflect how eagerly they would have been sought after if thou hadst them not.—Marcus Aurelius.

He Told Her About It.

Eugene attended the wedding of his Aunt Nan, which took place in church. The bridegroom and best man were waiting at the altar for the bride, who was slowly advancing up the aisle to the strains of the wedding march, when Eugene's childish treble sounded clearly: "Hurry up, Aunt Nan! Mr. Abbot's waiting for you!"—Pittsburgh Press.
