TRAGEDY IS CLEARED UP

Sheriff And State's Attorney Made Investigation And Came to Conclusion That Michael Shot His Aunt And Then Killed Himself.

State's Attorney Anders and Sheriff Roderick last Friday afternoon made an investigation of the shooting of Mrs. Daisy Marshall and Charles Michael, who were found dead in the formers' home at Legore last Wednesday afternoon, and came to the same conclusion as did the coroner's jury, which decided that Michael shot his aunt and then killed himself. The second floor of the home was torn up and the direction of the one stray bullet was traced. This indicated that the shot was fired from the couch, where the two bodies were found, and not from the doorway by a third party. Jealousy is given as the cause of the tragedy.

The funeral of Mrs. Marshall was held Friday afternoon from the home of her mother, Mrs. James Wood, near Rocky Ridge. Services were held at the Union church by Rev. Ibaugh, new Lutheran pastor at Union Bridge. Interment was made in the adjoining cemetery.

Besides her mother, Mrs. Marshall leaves the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Annie Long, Mrs. Effie Renner, Mrs. Iva Marshall, Miss Alice Wood, Charles Wood, Ross Wood and George Wood.

The funeral of Michael was held Saturday morning from the home of his father, John Michael, near Mt. St. Mary's. The services were held at the Rocky Ridge church of the Brethren.

FREDERICK COUNTY IS DRY

Frederick City For Prohibition by Nine Votes.—Wets Claimed City by 500.

Complete returns from every district in Frederick county shows that prohibition won by a majority of 851. The vote was: For prohibition, 6,156; against, 5,305. The wets carried seven districts—Liberty, Creagerstown, Petersville, Emmitsburg, Johnsville, Mt. Pleasant and Brunswick. The dries carried the remaining 19 districts. Emmitsburg with a majority of 264 was the banner wet district. Jackson, with a majority of 180 did best for the dries. In the latter district but 80 wet votes were cast, while 264 went for prohibition.

The dries carried the city by nine majority. The vote was: Dries, 1,433; wets, 1,424.

About midnight the chimes in Trinity steeple, Frederick pealed forth "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow." This was to announce the dry victory.

WET AND DRY VOTE ELSEWHERE

The Result Will Be That From Cumberland To Ellicott City There Will Not Be a Saloon After May 1, 1918.

From the reports that were received Wednesday morning Washington County voted dry by a majority of 475; Hagerstown, though, gave a small majority for the wets. Carroll County will remain dry with a majority of about 600. Allegany county voted wet by about 800 majority. Prince George's county also voted wet by a comfortable majority, probably about 500. Ellicott City, Annapolis and Havre de Grace voted as separate units and all went wet. It was at first thought that Havre de Grace would go dry.

Baltimore City voted wet by an overwhelming majority, probably more than 40,000. Baltimore County also voted wet by about 6,000.

With Wednesday's results, there will not be a saloon along the National Pike after May 1, 1918, from Cumberland to Ellicott City. Those are the two places nearest Frederick County that will remain wet.

Fish For Monocacy.

Some fine fish have arrived for the Monocacy. They were secured through the efforts of the Frederick County Game and Fish association. Reno S. Harp, president of the organization and W. Harry Haller took the shipment to Deer's and placed the fish in the Monocacy. They consisted of 400 Mississippi cats. These were about 6 inches long. They grow to a very large size and it is expected they will furnish fine sport in time for the fisherman. The cats are active and are a beautiful fish. Besides the cats the Bureau of Fisheries sent 75 crappie, which are said to be a new fish for this section. They are a white fish with black spots.

The government also sent a consignment to Emmitsburg, consisting of 400 bass. Fifty of these bass were eight inches long.

Total investment in film concerns, moving pictures and accessories in this country is said to be more than $2,000,000,000.

FROM THE COUNTY.

About 1,500 persons made up largely of school children, of Frederick, marched Friday afternoon in a dry parade which was undoubtedly the largest temperance demonstration ever held in Frederick county. With the children appeared school teachers, all of the ministers of the city and several from the county, delegations from Women's Christian Temperance Unions of the county, and automobiles carrying men and women from the city and various county centers.

Gross and net earnings of the Hagerstown and Frederick Railway Company are considerably ahead of last year. For the nine months ended September 30 the gross equaled that of the entire 12 months of 1915. Taking a period of 12 months ended August 31, 1916, the gross totaled $492,000, which for the same period of 1915 it was $433,000, a gain of $59,000. The net for the same period of 1916 was $198,000, as compared to $172,439 for 1915, an increase of $25,561. August 1916, was a record breaker as regards gross, and September was second only to that period. With a gross of $49,250.10, as against $42,658.91 of 1915, a gain of 15 per cent. September net, applicable to interest, was $22,332.50, as compared to $18,921.62 for the same month of 1915, a gain of about 17 per cent.

Corn and potatoes raised by the boy entrants in the Frederick county-wide competition for the $100 in prizes offered by the Central Trust Company of Frederick are on exhibition at the Frederick financial institution. It was announced that Earl Remsburg, of Buckeystown, was awarded first place on corn. On one acre of ground he raised an average of 90 bushels at a cost of 16 5/9 cents. Earl Ahalt, of Middletown, was first on potatoes. On 1/8 acre of ground he raised an average of 35 bushels at a cost of 30 cent per bushel. These two young men are also awarded the place as Frederick county's representatives in the Home State Tour. They will leave for Baltimore on Monday and the trip will consume about a week. Announcement of all the winners and the distribution of the prizes will be made shortly.

Amid cheers from crowds that numbered nearly 5,000 men, women and children, and the ringing of church bells, chimes and fire bells, Company A, the crack unit of the Maryland National Guard returned to Frederick on Saturday evening at about 8.30 o'clock from the Mexican border, after being mustered out of the Federal into militia service at Baltimore. Nearly six months ago the company was cheered when it marched from Frederick to Camp Harrington at Laurel. They were cheered in fact given an ovation, when they returned. A parade was held after which a banquet was given by the Ladies' Auxiliary of Company A. The efficiency of the company was praised by Maj. D. John Markey, who said that Company A was among the best units in the Maryland National Guard service. "The morals of Company A men is without blemish," declared Captain Munshower during his address. He said that not a charge had been made against the men. He not only rated the company as the best in the First Maryland Infantry, but as the best in the State and of the United States. Captain Munshower said that the company was called to arms with 59 men, and had recruited to 65 on day of the trip to Laurel was begun. Later the company was recruited to 81 men. He said that not a man had dropped out. Captain Munshower was given an ovation.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Miriam Wilson, of Braddock Heights, to Mr. Walter Feely, of Washington, D. C. The ceremony will take place at St. John's Catholic church on Monday morning at 9 o'clock November 20, by Rev. Fr. Kane.

Miss Hester Ann Posey, 94 years old, died Tuesday at the Home for the Aged, Frederick. She was born in Baltimore, December 28, 1822, and came of an old Maryland family. Her father was Nathaniel Peter Posey, of Virginia and her mother, Margaret Kemp, daughter of the Rev. Peter Kemp, a pioneer clergyman of Frederick county.

Scheme of World Statesmanship.

Makers, interpreters and administrators of law in the Southern States have put themselves on record in favor of a constructive scheme of world-statesmanship intended to insure peace with justice for the nations after the present war is over. A number of Southern Senators and Representatives in Congress have written to Wm. H. Taft President of the League to Enforce Peace, endorsing the program of that organization; the governor of Alabama and all the seven justices of the Supreme Court of that State have become members of the organization and are giving it their active support.

Must Fertilize Business Too.

I have yet to hear of an advertiser who has persistently judiciously and intelligently advertised for any considerable length of time, and has supported that advertising in the proper conduct of his business in other directions, who has not succeeded. Loss through advertising is largely due to inadequate support, indifferent or useless extravagance. Your business, like your soil, must not be robbed. It is a law of nature that where we receive much, we must give something in return. Your soil will wear out if you do not fertilize and properly care for it. Your business will run down, if you do not advertise and keep it in a healthy state of cultivation. It is activity that causes growth and development; in fact, it is activity that makes us strong. An active advertising campaign will make your business healthy and strong.—Frank B. White, Managing Editor, Agricultural Assoc.

Forty-Six Deaths in October.

Despite high prices and war taxes, deposits in Russian banks have increased $30,000,000 as a result of the ban on alcohol, says a Petrograd dispatch to the Petit Parisien.

DAVID J. LEWIS DEFEATED BY DR. JOSEPH I. FRANCE

Preston Organization Assassinate Democratic Candidate.—Frederick City was Carried by Lewis by 156.

David J. Lewis, for six years congressman from the Republican Sixth district, was defeated by Dr. Joseph I. France, Republican, for United States Senator, by a majority running into the thousands. Suffering from the knifing administered him by the Mahon and Preston forces in Baltimore city, Congressman Lewis fought against great odds.

President Wilson's sweep of the State caused no surprise, while the defeat of Congressman Lewis did. Democrats before the election declared Lewis was unbeatable, but the unexpected happened. The "little giant from Allegany" was the victim of circumstances and lost.

In the State it is likely that the Democratic delegation to the National House of Representatives will be reduced by one, Zihlman, Republican, replacing Lewis, Democrat. In the Fifth district, Sydney E. Mudd defeated Jackson H. Ralston, Democrat. Charles W. Main, a former Frederick citizen, was defeated in the Third district by Congressman J. Fred C. Talbott, the veteran of the House of Representatives, was re-elected over William H. Lawrence, Republican, in the Second district. Jesse D. Price, Democrat, defeated Robert L. Duer for Congress in the First district, while J. Charles Linthicum, who formerly taught school at Braddock, this county, was re-elected to Congress in the Fourth district over J. Frank Fox, Republican.

Maryland's delegation in Congress will consequently be made up of four Democrats and two Republicans, when the new Congress convenes after the inauguration on March 4. Also there will be one Democratic and one Republican Senator to replace the present two Democratic Senators, John Walter Smith and Blair Lee. The latter's term will expire shortly, and he will be succeeded by Dr. France, Republican. Senator Smith was last Fall elected for a six-year term.

Frederick city was carried by Lewis by 156, his vote being 1327 and that of France 1171. Etchison came out of Frederick with nearly a thousand majority over Zihlman, the Frederick man getting 1814 as against Zihlman's meager 855. President Wilson also carried Frederick city by 113 majority, his vote being 1498 and that of Mr. Hughes being 1385.

Throughout Frederick city and the county the election was hotly contested. The State organization people of the Democrats were out in full force Tuesday. The Republican organization was likewise active. Out in the county some of the Lee people were also busy, but in other quarters it is said that Lewis was cut by them.

CATHOLIC ALUMNAE AT WORK

Making Elaborate Preparations for International Federation Convention to be Held in Baltimore Nov. 23.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the entertainment of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae, which will hold its biennial convention at Baltimore November 23 to 26, inclusive.

Miss Agatha Byrne, A. B., stopped in Pittsburgh, recently enroute to Chicago where she will spend the winter with relatives and friends.

of the Rosary illustrated in Tableau Vivants by the students of Dramatic Art, was the central feature of the evening.

Miss Margaret Mahoney, '17, spent Wednesday and Thursday of last week visiting her sister, Miss Marion Mahoney at Immaculate Seminary in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. John N. Miller Jr., of Richmond, Va., spent a few days in Emmitsburg last week, visiting their daughters, who are students in the Collegiate Department.

Last Tuesday afternoon the Seniors and a few friends took a most delightful ride to Frederick. The day was delightful and the autumnal beauties were greatly appreciated.

Miss Lucile Morgan, '19 paid a flying visit to her home in Baltimore last Wednesday evening, returning to the Valley Thursday evening, refreshed and stimulated for further study after the little interruption.

Miss Florence Smith, '14, motored to St. Joseph's last Sunday afternoon, accompanied by her brother. After a few pleasant hours with her sister, who is a student of the Academy, she returned to her home in McSherrystown, Pa.

The Misses Rose and Mary Rogers, of the class of '16, spent an afternoon last week with their little sister Anna on the occasion of her thirteenth birthday. The Misses Rogers are frequent and ever welcome visitors to the Valley.

Bishop Shahan's holiday last Tuesday afforded a good opportunity for the Valley girls to indulge in the pleasure of a long auto trip before the cold weather set in. It is useless to add that it was a most pleasant day.

Miss Mary A. Rodgers, of Baltimore, left Monday evening for Pittsburgh, Pa., to attend the funeral of Miss Helen Frances Layton, which took place from the family residence, 5629 Wellesley Avenue on Wednesday morning.

In the home of the regent, Mrs. Loretta Muth Paul, the Baltimore Chapter of St. Joseph's Alumnae, last week held the meeting which was postponed from the last week in June. Federation questions were the chief discussions.

Among the visitors to St. Joseph's during October were Mrs. O. M. P. Sullivan, of Hartford, Conn., and her two sons, Daniel and William Sullivan, who are both registered as students at Mt. St. Mary's College for the coming year.

Mrs. Nellie Skinner Criswell has issued invitations for the fall meeting of the New York Chapter of the Alumnae Association of St. Joseph's College, to be held at her home, 129 Columbia Heights, Brooklyn, N. Y. on Saturday November eleventh.

Rev. Edward B. Jordan, A. M., S. T. D., a member of the faculty at Mt. St. Mary's College, has formed his class in Pedagogy with the senior and junior students at St. Joseph's. The time appointed is from three to four o'clock every Tuesday.

At the meeting of the T. S. S. held last Tuesday several new members were initiated into the mysteries of the sorority. After they had been subjected to many amusing but harmless rites, the usual luncheon was served. The evening was a complete success.

Cornell and St. Joseph's pulled straws recently and the favor was cast on the latter; consequently the many friends of Miss Anna Hall rejoice at her return to continue her studies at St. Joseph's. Miss Hall is a member of the junior class.

A sumptuous banquet was recently given to the seniors by the sophomore class. The table was attractively decorated and bounteously supplied with all the delicacies of the season. Many original toasts were offered by the sophs, to which Miss Margaret Mahoney, '17, graciously responded.

Rev. Heinrich Schumacher S. T. D. of the Catholic University, Washington, D. C. gave a much appreciated lecture to the faculty and student body during October. The subject chosen was "Who is Jesus?" The development was both historical and deeply philosophical. Dr. Schumacher's clear enunciation and exceptional oratorical powers added much to the dignity of the occasion.

Word was received at The Valley Sunday afternoon of the death of Miss Helen Layton which occurred after a few days illness of pneumonia. Miss Layton was in New York attending the wedding of a St. Joseph's friend Miss Marie Christina Crespie, when the fatal disease made its appearance. Mrs. Jane E. Layton, her mother and Mr. James H. Layton, her brother, accompanied the remains to Pittsburgh on Sunday evening. Requiescat in pace!

Recently the students and faculty were delightfully entertained by the reputed elocutionist, Mr. C. E. W. Griffith, of Chicago. The readings were divided into two parts, the first embracing the heavier works and the second dealing with a lighter vein. King Lear formed the climax of the first lecture and proved a fertile field for the exquisite interpretative powers of the reader. Thompson's Hound of Heaven was unusually well rendered and the subtlest passions by which man seeks the ideal were marvelously portrayed. Selections from Shakespeare's historical plays were the subject of the second period and the most delicate shadings in the characters of Falstaff, Henry VI, and Cardinal Wolsey were emphasized by this masterful genius.

MT. ST. MARY'S LOSES GAME WITH WESTERN MARYLAND

Captain Sheridan in the Backfield and Mulhearn on The Line Did Good Work For The Mountaineers.

In the only state championship game of the season that was played at Westminster, Western Maryland Saturday defeated the strong Mt. St. Mary's eleven 40 to 3 in a fiercely contested, but hopeless game so far as the Mountaineers were concerned.

The Western Maryland line was a veritable stone wall, and time and again its tackles, Mayor and Langrall, and Nicholson, at centre, threw the man carrying the ball for a loss. At no time and on no rush did the Mount team gain over three yards so hard and low did the Western Maryland forwards charge.

Mount St. Mary's won the loss and elected to defend the south goal. Sheridan received Keller's kick-off and brought the ball back five yards. On three downs St. Mary's gained two yards and was forced to punt.

In bringing the ball down the field, Garrett and Wingate alternated in the carrying for substantial gains and the line, especially the tackles, opened up wide holes in the Mountaineers' defense. Mount St. Mary's elected to receive the kick and the Westminster team promptly held for downs and immediately began a march to the goal line, 70 yards distant. On off-tackle plays and short-end runs Keller, Garrett, Wingate, and Dent alternately made gains of five to 15 yards and with a touchdown to make Garrett catapulted through the left side of the line for another score and Keller kicked the goal.

The scoring for Mt. St. Mary's was done by Sheridan, who kicked a beautiful goal from placement from the 35-yard line. In the punting Western Maryland gained about 10 yards on every exchange, as Keller, by clever dodging, always ran the ball back for a good distance, whereas Grace and Johnson made life for Quarterback Euker miserable.

Western Maryland used nothing but straight football and was never called upon for any open work or trick playing. In the second half St. Mary's tried the open game, but Western Maryland smeared that even more easily than the line-bucking. For Western Maryland the entire team played bang-up football, while for Mount St. Mary's Captain Sheridan, in the backfield, and Mulhearn, on the line did good work.

A MERCILESS JUDGE.

One Who Shows No Favor.

A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Hagerstown resident has withstood this sternest of all tests.

Mrs. A. Harrison, 325 Liberty St., Hagerstown, Md., says: "I had a very bad back, which pained me persistently. I couldn't sleep, no matter how tired I was, on account of the misery and pain across my back. I could do little bending but what my back pained me and I couldn't do my housework. The passages of the kidney secretions were annoying. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me."

OVER TWO YEARS LATER, Mrs. Harrison said: "I am glad to confirm my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Harrison has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props. Buffalo, N. Y. Advertisement.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

CHOICE SALADS.

ORANGE MINT SALAD.—Peel ripe oranges, selecting large, firm ones, remove the pulp and sprinkle with sugar, using a tablespoonful for each two oranges and the same proportion of chopped mint. Add sherry wine and lemon juice to taste. Pack in ice and salt and serve in sherbert glasses. Place a sprig of fresh mint on top of each glass and serve with Swedish wafers.

Pear and Roquefort Salad.—Pare ripe, juicy pears, cut them in halves lengthwise, remove the cores, brush with lemon juice to prevent discoloration and place on heart leaves of lettuce. Fill the centers with small cubes of Roquefort cheese and halves of olives stuffed with peppers and dress with mayonnaise made delicate by the addition of whipped cream.

Japanese Salad.—A cupful of rice, a tablespoonful of onion juice or finely chopped onion, a tablespoonful of chopped parsley, two tablespoonfuls of chopped green pepper, a teaspoonful of curry powder, half a cupful of French dressing. Line bowl with lettuce leaves. Wash, boil, drain and blanch the rice as usual; when cold put into bowl. Pour over the French dressing in which you have the curry powder, onion juice, parsley and pepper. Garnish the top with fine strips of green pepper and serve.

Sardine Balls in Cucumbers.—Remove the skins and tails from a box of sardines, rub the sardines to a paste, add a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce and form the paste into balls the size of an English walnut. Peel a good sized cucumber and cut it into half inch slices, remove the seeds and soak the cucumber in cold water without salt for one or two hours. At serving time put a sardine ball on each slice and place the slices in a nest of lettuce leaves. Serve with French dressing.

Whipped Cream Dressing for Cabbage Salad.—Half a cupful of whipped cream, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar, two rounding tablespoonfuls of sugar, salt and pepper, half a head of cabbage. Half an hour before the meal cut the cabbage very fine and sprinkle with salt, pepper and sugar. Pour the vinegar over this and mix thoroughly. When ready to serve pour off all of the liquid possible and fold in the cream beaten to a stiff froth. This is a delicious dressing and is liked by many people who do not care for other dressings.

Cocoanut Pudding.—A cupful of milk, a quarter of a pound of grated cocoanut, three tablespoonfuls of bread-crumbs, three tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, a cupful of stoned raisins, the grated peel of a lemon, the well beaten whites of two eggs. Beat all until well mixed. Butter a cold pudding dish and pour the mixture in. Bake slowly for an hour, then turn out on a flat dish and shake pulverized sugar over it. Serve hot or cold with cream, custard or fruit.

Orange and Apple Pudding.—Moisten three cupfuls of bread-crumbs with one-half cupful of melted butter. Peel and cut into dice enough well flavored apples to make two and one-half cupfuls. Butter a baking dish, fill with alternate layers of crumbs and apples, sprinkle with three-quarters cupful of sugar, the juice and grated rind of one orange and one-half cupful of water, finish with a layer of crumbs and bake one hour in a moderate oven. Serve with cream and sugar.

Apple Pudding.—Four tart apples peeled and sliced, one pint stale bread-crumbs, two-thirds cupful sugar, butter size of walnut and cinnamon. Butter pudding dish, put in layer of apples and layer of crumbs, sift over some sugar, little dots of butter and little cinnamon. Repeat until all is used, having top layer of crumbs. Pour over one cupful of water. Bake until apples are soft. Serve with cream and sugar.

Steamed Pudding.—One cupful of sour milk, a little butter, one egg, salt, little spice, one-half cupful sugar, two cupfuls of flour, soda. Steam one hour. Serve with hard sauce.

WINTER RATIONS FOR DAIRY COWS

Suggestions Offered For Making Up Economical Feed Mixtures.

LEGUME HAYS ARE IMPORTANT

Dairymen Are Urged To Consult Their County Demonstration Agents In Selecting Available Feeds.

College Park, Md., October 26.—In response to many inquiries received from dairymen regarding rations for their cows, G. E. Wolcott, of the Extension Service, has prepared a series of rations to suit different conditions. Dairymen are urged to consult their County Demonstration Agents in planning rations for their cows. Mr. Wolcott says, "The season for winter feeding is at hand. In order to produce milk at the lowest possible feed cost, the dairyman should exercise a great deal of care in the selection of his feeds. The crops grown on the farm should be supplemented with feeds that will make a balanced ration, which will be bulky, palatable and have a good physiological effect on the system. The farmer who has a supply of good legume hay is fortunate, since it will not be necessary for him to purchase large amounts of high protein feeds."

The grain mixtures are given in three groups according to the percentage of protein they contain:

GROUP 1—Grain mixtures to be fed with low protein roughages, such as corn silage, corn stover, timothy hay and millet hay.

Mixture 1—Percent of digestible protein, 18.4.

500 pounds corn meal.

400 pounds dried distillers' grains (corn).

200 pounds gluten feed.

300 pounds linseed meal (old process).

Mixture 2—Percent of digestible protein, 19.8.

100 pounds corn meal.

100 pounds cotton-seed meal.

100 pounds linseed meal (old process).

200 pounds wheat bran.

GROUP 2—Grain mixtures to be fed with high protein roughages, such as alfalfa, clover, soy beans, vetch or other legume hay.

Mixture 10—Percent of digestible protein, 14.1.

400 pounds corn meal.

100 pounds cotton-seed meal.

100 pounds gluten feed.

100 pounds wheat bran.

Mixture 11—Percent of digestible protein, 15.6.

400 pounds corn meal.

200 pounds gluten feed.

200 pounds linseed meal (old process).

100 pounds oats (ground).

GROUP 3—Grain mixtures to be fed with a combination of high and low protein roughages, such as clover or other legume hay and silage, corn stover and clover or other legume hay, mixed hay, etc.

Mixture 14—Percent of digestible protein, 16.3.

400 pounds corn meal.

300 pounds dried distillers' grains (corn).

100 pounds gluten feed.

100 pounds linseed meal (old process).

Mixture 15—Percent of digestible protein, 16.1.

500 pounds corn meal.

100 pounds cotton-seed meal.

100 pounds linseed meal (old process).

200 pounds wheat bran.

Why Feed Expensively?

College Park, Md., October 26.—Poultry keepers are facing a serious problem in feeding their laying hens economically, owing to the high price of whole grain. Poultryman Roy H. Waite, of The Maryland Experiment Station, gives the following timely advice regarding the feeding problem: "There is no excuse at the present time for feeding poultry on corn alone. Wheat prices have gone out of sight for poultrymen. At least it does not pay to feed the good grades, especially if it has to be bought. Corn is nearly as high, but is about the only grain that one can afford to feed. I was very much surprised a few days ago to find that I could purchase ingredients with which to mix a good poultry mash cheaper per hundred pounds than corn."

Corn was $1.05 per bushel, retail. Bran was $1.50 per hundred pounds. Middlings were $1.50 per hundred pounds. Beef scrap was $3.00 per hundred pounds.

At these prices, I paid $1.87 per hundred for corn and but $1.80 per hundred for a mash containing 20 per cent beef scrap and 80 per cent of wheat by products. There is no good reason for not feeding mash when it is cheaper than corn.

Hens cannot lay on corn alone. They must have more protein than corn will furnish. Hens that eat, but do not lay, are a complete loss, no matter how high prices of eggs are. Why not turn them into a profit? Commercial meat scrap, table or butcher scraps, skim milk, etc., will furnish protein in a good available form."

Hiawatha Literary Society.

On Friday afternoon, October 27, the Hiawatha Literary Society of the Emmitsburg Public School, held its first monthly meeting.

The following interesting programme was arranged for the occasion: Song; Reading of the Minutes; Business; Quotations from Longfellow, School; Treasurer's Report; Recitation, October, William Hays; Instrumental Solo, Margaret Hays; Theme on Education, Extemporaneous, Esther Agnew; Recitation, Selected, May Rowe; Chorus, selected, William Hays, Richard Biggs, Sheridan Biggs, Esther Agnew and Ethel Annan; Literary Discussion, School; Extemporaneous Talk on Infantile Paralysis, Annie Houck; Extemporaneous Talk on the Eighth Grade Method of Making a Fireless Cooker, Ethel Annan; Critic; Song; Committee, Virginia Eyster, Esther Agnew, William Hays.

On November 17th, there will be a debate held by the pupils of the School. The question to be decided is "Which is More Beneficial to Emmitsburg, Prohibition or the Sale of Intoxicating Liquors?" Those who will argue for Prohibition are: Virginia Eyster, Margaret Hays, William Hays and Sheridan Biggs. Those who will argue against Prohibition are: May Rowe, William Byers, Richard Biggs and Ethel Annan.

Now Lookout.

When a cold hangs on as often happens, or when you have hardly gotten over one cold before you contract another, lookout for you are liable to contract some very serious disease. This succession of colds weakens the system and lowers the vitality so that you are much more liable to contract chronic catarrh, pneumonia or consumption. Cure your cold while you can. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a great reputation. It is relied upon by thousands of people and never disappoints them. Try it. It only costs a quarter. Obtainable everywhere.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Sleeplessness.

The inability to sleep is frequently caused by nervousness—the strain of the day's work. Fatigue, too, keeps one awake, for many there are who are too tired to sleep. If the food eaten during the day has been insufficient one should eat sandwiches of bread and cheese or ham and drink a glass of hot milk at bedtime. Sometimes an apple or two or some figs or raisins will be enough to satisfy the craving (unrecognized) for food. Drinking water is needful, too, to promote the absorption of the food. Two or three glasses of either hot or cold water at bedtime will be of service.

Restlessness or nervousness is always relieved by a hot bath before going to bed. This, too, takes away the tired feeling. The night clothing should be loose at the neck and wrists and roomy, and none of the daytime garments should be worn to bed.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Union, and especially in the production of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scotch-Irish descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a valley of rolling lands lying between the Lingoore Hills and the Catoctin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river, and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and productive areas of the Union. The great crops are wheat and corn.—Maryland Manual issued by Board of Public Works.

EMMITSBURG.

In all Western Maryland—the beauty spot and the garden spot of the State—there is no town more attractive than Emmitsburg.

No people are more wide-awake, more knowledgeable, more courteous to strangers than Emmitsburgians.

The location of Emmitsburg is ideal; the surrounding scenery is unmatched; the climate is notably healthful; its water—pure mountain spring water—cannot be surpassed. It is within easy access of Baltimore, Hagerstown, Frederick; eight miles from the National Battlefield at Gettysburg, near to the Mountain Resorts, and is surrounded by fertile farms and productive orchards.

Mount Saint Mary's College and Ecclesiastical Seminary—with an enviable reputation extending over 108 years—is located here; St. Joseph's College and Academy for young ladies—equally as noted during its 107 years of splendid achievement—is also here.

There are excellent Schools—Public and Parochial—in Emmitsburg; two sound Banks, five Churches, a live Newspaper, modern Hotel accommodations, adequate Fire Department, progressive merchants, splendid physicians, good liveries, auto garages, many fraternal organizations, good railroad accommodations. There are four or five mails a day, telegraph, express and telephone service connecting all points; electric light and power, oiled streets.

There is business to be had in Emmitsburg; there are Factory Sites available. If you contemplate changing your place of residence—come to Emmitsburg, Frederick County, Md.

HOSPITAL DONATION DAYS.

The generosity of the people of Frederick county to the Frederick City Hospital indubitably attests the high value they put upon the charitable work which that institution has always done, not only for the citizens of Frederick city but for those of every district in the county. Though its location is at the county seat—the logical place for it—its invaluable services have ever been at the demand of the county as a whole. Upon its register may be found names of patients from nearly every town within the county. And of that large number Emmitsburg has furnished its quota. Indeed no people have a better knowledge of the liberal, wholesouled, painstaking policy of this splendid institution than have the residents of this community. Therefore is it that when the annual "donation days" come 'round the good folk of Emmitsburg respond liberally to the appeal.

The opportunity is again at hand—Thursday next, Nov. 16th is Emmitsburg day and Mrs. A. A. Annan who is a member of the Hospital Board, will gratefully receive, as heretofore, the donations from this district. These should be delivered to Mrs. Annan's residence on or before Wednesday, the 15th instant.

The appeal is for money, flour, groceries, salt meats, fruit and vegetables in jars or cans, eggs, potatoes, wines, cordials and the like.

All can, and surely all will gladly, respond, and all will feel better for having responded to the call of an institution that has always done its full part to the people.

MR. LEWIS' DEFEAT.

Well may David J. Lewis' defeat be called an assassination. The little Congressman who served the State and the whole country so efficiently was knifed by those within his own party—purely and simply for spite. It was a costly sacrifice that rounds to the discredit of the faction that was behind the deed and that throws a stigma upon those who call themselves Democrats.

"The defeat of David J. Lewis is," as the Baltimore Sun correctly puts it, "a distinct loss to Maryland and to the country." Continuing the Sun says:

He has done more to restore Maryland's political prestige and standing than all the politicians and alleged statesmen who have represented her at Washington for the last generation. In making the parcels post a part of our Federal machinery he accomplished something for which every household and every business man in Maryland and the United States owe him an inestimable amount. Reckoned alone in the money which he has saved and will save the people, they owe him what is equivalent to a huge national debt. Reckoned in moral and political values, in the effect of his fight for public emancipation from the control of the express corporations, he performed a no less extraordinary service. And yet his own State has dismissed the man who has conferred these lasting benefits upon her and crowned her with honor and glory.

Allowing for the honest Democrats who were unnecessarily apprehensive of his Government-ownership theories, he would still have won but for the assassins of his own party. And the question arises, did they sacrifice him simply from factional spite and revenge or were they hired assassins who made factional divisions the cover for a profitable business transaction?

At all events, a political murder has been committed, which the grand inquest of the Democratic party of Maryland is called on to investigate.

THE BUDGET.

The good sense of the voters of Maryland was shown by their carrying the Budget through.

The glaring reproach of every Legislature has been wanton over-appropriation. The new system will put a stop to this extravagance and each department of the State will the more carefully prefigure its requirements. This is proper. It is business-like—and the injection of business methods into the veins of those who sit in the councils at Annapolis has not too early begun.

Doctor France,
"Sonny's" lance
And his "braves" in scalping dance,
And "green" medicine, perchance,

Were the aids to you to prance
To the Upper House, expanse.—
That's the story at a glance.
But we'll not look askance
At you, dear Doctor France,
When we waken from our trance.
All we'll ask is just a chance—
Not a handout, Doctor France,
From the office you'll enhance.
And here's your health, Dr. France.

Famous Aztec Runners.

Communication (among the Aztecs) was maintained with the remotest parts of the country by means of couriers. Posthouses were established on the great roads, about two leagues distant from each other. The courier, bearing his dispatches in the form of a hieroglyphical painting, ran with them to the first station, where they were taken by another messenger and carried forward to the next, and so on till they reached the capital. These couriers, trained from childhood, traveled with incredible swiftness; not four or five leagues an hour, as an old chronicler would make us believe, but with such speed that dispatches were carried from 100 to 200 miles a day. Fresh fish was frequently served at Montezuma's table in twenty-four hours from the time it had been taken in the gulf of Mexico, 200 miles from the capital. In this way intelligence of the movements of the royal armies was rapidly brought to court, and the dress of the courier denoting by its color that of his tidings, spreading joy or consternation in the towns through which he passed.—From Prescott's "History of the Conquest of Mexico."

Picardy Names.

Whence come the names of the Picardy villages, strange even in France? Among the names of places are Bray, which is of Celtic origin and signifies a swamp or morass. Fay is from the Latin "agus," meaning a beech tree. Hem is a home or habitation. Estree is from the Latin "strata," meaning route. Pins is from "finis," signifying the limits. Combles means vales or valleys. The termination "oy" is applied to a plantation—Quesnoy, Tilloy, Autnoy, Rosoy. The name of "Bois des Trones" is simply "the wood of the thrones." The name of the city of Albert was formerly the same as the name of the stream, Ancere. It was changed when the lordship passed to the house of Albert de Lyne of the family Alberti, originally of Florence. Peronne, noted because of the captivity of King Louis XI. at that place, was for a long time called La Fucelle. "the maiden."—Indianapolis News.

Hard to Kill.

An alligator's tenacity of life is remarkable. "I remember one time," says an English traveler in India, "I was with a shooting party on the Ganges when the natives brought in a six foot alligator. They hoped some one would want to buy it, but no one did, so it was determined to kill the creature. It was hauled out of the tank and tied to a tree. Bullets from a small rifle or an ordinary twelve bore gun seemed only to irritate the saurian, and he did not seem to care very much when a native thrust a spear down his throat. Finally they were obliged to get axes and chop off its head. Even then the tail thrashed around, and the body was almost cut to pieces before all movement ceased."

A Brassy Cheek.

"You," exclaimed the indignant old gentleman—"you want to marry my daughter! Why, sir, it is only a few years ago that you were caddying for me."

"Yes, sir," said the young man, "but I don't intend to let that stand in the way. I hope I am philosopher enough to realize that a very bad golfer may make a fairly good father-in-law."—Boston Transcript.

White Specks In Butter.

White specks in butter are sometimes simply fine particles of milk curd, resulting from lack of care in skimming. Sometimes they are small specks of dried cream, having been scraped from the sides of the pan and being too dry to thoroughly soften and mix with the rest.

Lost and Found—a Heart.

Nothing seems so hopelessly lost, when it is lost, as a heart, yet nothing, when it is lost, is by the experience of the centuries so absolutely certain of recovery.—Puck.

The Turk and the Crescent.

The crescent was not originally an emblem of the Turk. It was first used by the primitive Christians of Constantinople and the eastern provinces of the old Roman empire as an emblem of the growing influence of Christianity. It was not until about the year 1453, after the Turks had overrun Asia Minor and parts of southern Europe and had captured Constantinople, that the Turks adopted the crescent as their national emblem. The Koran prohibits the use of images and symbols in the religious ceremonies of the strict Turk or the internal decorations of their temples and mosques, the rule being so strict as not to allow the martial or civic decoration of their greatest generals or pashas, successful commanders or other distinguished persons. The adoption of the crescent by the Turk as a national emblem is an oddity which has so far remained unexplained.—Philadelphia Press.

Easily Amused.

When Professor Chumpleigh's hat blew off he made no effort to retrieve it. Instead he leaned against a lamp-post and watched half a dozen pedestrians join in a mad chase.

"I could have picked it up myself," he murmured, "but I knew from my studies of human nature that everybody within sight would endeavor to get it for me."

So he remained, chuckling cynically, as the hat dashed this way and that, and the kind people grew hot and frantic in their efforts to capture it.

At last a boy made a fine long jump and held it with both feet. When he returned it to the professor it had eleven holes in it, eight ounces of dirt and was minus the brim.

"Ah, well," murmured the savant, as he tendered the boy threepence for his trouble, "I suppose one must pay for one's pleasure!"—London Mail.

A Ballet Averted a Revolution.

When Bonaparte put the Duke d'Enghien to death all Paris felt so much horror at the event that the throne of the tyrant trembled under him. Sir John Sinclair wrote. A counter revolution was expected and would most probably have taken place had not Bonaparte ordered a new ballet to be brought out with the utmost splendor at the opera.

The subject he pitched upon was, "Ossian, or the Bards." It is still recollected in Paris as perhaps the grandest spectacle that had ever been exhibited there.

The consequence was that the murder of the Duke d'Enghien was totally forgotten and nothing but the new ballet was talked of.

The Largest Islands.

Australia has long been classed as the least of the continents and not as an island. The largest islands are graded downward in the order of their size, as follows: Greenland, 850,000 square miles; New Guinea, 312,000; Borneo, 280,000; Madagascar, 230,000. In the absence of exact surveys these areas are rough estimates and must be considered only as approximations, but it is not likely that careful measurements will introduce corrections so large as to change the order of the four. Australia is but slightly smaller than the continental United States excluding Alaska.—Exchange.

A Child's Quick Wit.

It was a very pretty reply Roger Sherman's little daughter made to George Washington. The general had been calling on her father, and the young miss opened the door for him as he was leaving.

"You deserve a better office, my little lady," remarked Washington, smiling at her.

"Yes, sir," she replied, with a courtesy—"to let you in."

Different Routes.

Philanthropic Visitor (to jailbird)—My friend, may I ask what brought you here? Jailbird—The same thing that brought you here—the desire to poke my nose into other people's business, only I used generally to go in by way of the basement window.—London Tit-Bits.

Damp.

"The climate is pretty damp there, isn't it?"

"I should say so. It's really so damp, the people can't raise anything but umbrellas."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Holding a Wake—Ditto a Girl.

Miss Leyelevich. The professor was telling us today about the moon. He says the moon is a dead body. Jack Spooner—That so? Then suppose we sit up awhile with the corpse.

Raised by Machinery.

"A mechanical age, truly!"

"How now?"

"I just saw an incubator baby being lulled to sleep by a graphophone."—Kansas City Journal.

Different.

"I hear you bought a bungalow on a bluff."

"Oh, no; the real estate man sold it to me on a bluff."—Florida Times-Union.

Saved Is Earned.

"I earned a penny today, papa!"

"Brave boy! And how?"

"Mother gave me ten, and I saved one!"—Puck.

The Brute's Retort.

Mrs. Prissims—Oh, but I got taken in when I married you, you wretch! Mr. Prissims—Yes—out of the cold.

A cheerful look makes a dish a feast.—Herbert.

Start of a Big Fire.

How a terrible fire that gutted an entire New York tenement house was caused by a combination of a milk bottle, a lamp and a peaceful tabby cat is told by Charles T. Hill in St. Nicholas. The cat in question was reposing in an open back window of a first floor flat in the tenement occupied by a spinster who was called into the front room just at the moment when an irate lodger in the house at the rear, exasperated by the nocturnal concert of two undomestic tabbies on the rear fence, shied a milk bottle at them which landed wide of its mark and crashed against the tenement window sill. The spinster's tabby, dazed with fright, gave one fearful leap, clutched at the table cover and overset the lamp, while the open door into the front room created a perfect draft for the flames. A more summary destruction of an immense building has seldom been known to the New York fire fighting force than this one, which is described in the official records simply by the curt phrase, "Explosion of a lamp."

Mosquitoes Among Snowbanks.

In both the Rocky mountains and Alaska the geologists and engineers of the United States geological survey have as part of their regular equipment mosquito nets for their heads. Even when working in deep snow head nets and gauntlets are necessary to protect the field men from the bloodthirstiness of the pests.

The mosquito does not vanish with increasing altitude. At 11,000 feet or timber line he is as prolific as at sea level, and smoke, no matter how dense and pungent it may be, will not eradicate him. The only sure relief lies in the net. In some sections of Colorado the mountain natives' systems become thoroughly inoculated with their poison. After this they are bothered no more. The first advice given to the "tenderfoot" by the old timer is, "Let 'em bite; they won't keep it up long."—Popular Science Monthly.

Old Postal Rates.

The high postal rates that prevailed in the earlier years of the last century made the transmission of a letter or parcel a matter of serious moment.

"A packet weighing thirty-two ounces was once sent from Deal to London," writes Mrs. Eleanor Smyth in her life of Sir Rowland Hill. "The postage was over £6, being * * * four times as much as the charge for an inside place by the coach. Again, a parcel of official papers small enough to slip inside an ordinary pocket was sent from Dublin to another Irish town addressed to Sir John Burgoyne. By mistake it was charged as a letter instead of as a parcel and cost £11. For that amount the whole mail coach plying between the two towns with places for seven passengers and their luggage might have been hired."—London Chronicle.

Tin Can or Canteen?

Popular etymology is always more interesting than the learned explanations of philologists. For instance, take the barrack room derivation of the word "canteen." It is no use trying to convince Tommy Atkins that it comes from the Italian "cantina," a small cellar. He had his own derivation, which he finds quite satisfactory. "Canteen" is simply "tin can" said backward. To justify this theory he simply invites one to look around. Certainly tin enters largely into the utensils and furnishing of the average canteen. The drinking vessels are tin, the counter is tin, and in many cases the tables also are covered with block tin. No wonder Tommy holds that the word has some connection with the metal that is so much in evidence.—Manchester Guardian.

Antiquity of Stockings.

Stockings were known among the Romans more than 1,800 years ago, as is proved by paintings found in the ruins of Pompeii. They were considered more ornamental than useful. In the colder climate of northern Europe they became a necessity, and the manufacture of them became a recognized employment in the twelfth century, when they were fashioned chiefly of cloth. In the reign of Edward II. they assumed a resemblance to those now worn. At the courts of Spain and Italy they were fashioned of silk and were made enormously large.

Sarcastic.

Mrs. Nexdore—My daughter plays the piano. Perhaps you've heard her. Mrs. Newcome (with great self restraint)—I've heard the piano. Mrs. Nexdore—Yes, my daughter Mary is very musical. Mrs. Newcome—Ah, you have two daughters then!—Musical America.

One Was Enough.

Milton was one day asked by a friend whether he would instruct his daughters in the different languages.

"No, sir," he said; "one tongue is sufficient for any woman."

She Knew.

"But do you think I could deceive my own little wife?"

"No, I know you could not, but I believe you are silly enough to try."

Checked.

"Dad, what do they mean by a checked career?"

"Always on the move, I reckon."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

He Heard Her.

"My daughter's piano lessons have been a great expense to me."

"That so? Did some neighbor sue you?"

It is wise while you are still exempt from trouble to guard against it.—Sophocles.

Early Panama.

The first permanent settlement in the new world was established at Panama Aug. 15, 1519, by Pedrarias, the Spanish governor. In exploring the Pacific coast along the isthmus the Spanish adventurers found a small fishing village called Panama, and on the date given above the governor established his capital there. Two years later, by royal decree, Panama was made a city and the seat of a bishop. Panama became the center for Spanish explorations in North and South America, and many expeditions were sent out from there in search of gold. It was from Panama, in 1524, that Pizarro began the voyage which ended in the discovery of Peru. After that a highway was established across the isthmus, following much the same route as the Panama canal, and over this the wealth of Peru was transported to the Spanish treasure ships in the Atlantic. To this day small sections of paved road are to be seen as relics of the old Spanish highway over which so much treasure was carried.

Very Set in His Ways.

The people of Fitchburg in the eighteenth century resented Joseph Palmer's beard. He was the only bearded man in that part of the country, and he was persecuted for it. When he resisted the attack of several neighbors who proposed to shave him he was put in jail on a charge of unprovoked assault. He far outstayed his sentence, said his son, because he had to pay for all his food, drink and coal for heating and he refused to go. The sheriff and jailer, tired of having him there, begged him to leave. Even his mother wrote to him "not to be so set." But nothing could move him. He said that they had put him in there and they would have to take him out, as he would not walk out. They finally carried him out in his chair and placed it on the sidewalk. The neighbors were irritated not only by Joseph Palmer's beard, but by his general attitude of mind—he was "so set."—Atlantic Monthly.

When Chocolate Was Denounced.

Strong passions were roused in the seventeenth century among those who thought chocolate was an invention of the devil. A formidable treatise was written in order to denounce the use of the beverage by monks. The treatise appeared in 1624, but the monks saw to it, by destroying every copy that came their way, that its circulation was small and brief. Chocolate houses succeeded coffee houses in London as centers of a supposed greater refinement, although Roger North described them as centers for the benefit of "rakes and cullies of quality, where gaming is added to all the rest" and where plots against the state were hatched by idle fellows.—London Graphic.

Shorthand Pioneer.

That the ancients were thoroughly conversant with shorthand is an undisputed fact. It subsequently became a lost art until revived or rediscovered toward the end of the sixteenth century. At this time there lived William Lawrence, who died in 1621 and was buried in the cloister of Westminster abbey. There the visitor may read his epitaph, which includes the following lines:

Shorthand he wrote. His flower in prime—
Aid fade,
And hasty death short hand of him hath made.

—London Standard.

Crust of French Bread.

There is one precious quality which distinguishes French bread from all the other breads in the world, the quality, namely, of an extraordinarily thick crust.

French bread has a thick, crisp, appetizing crust because it is baked with a fuel composed of poplar branches. The light poplar wood gives an intense heat, which for some reason makes crust as no other fuel will do.—Exchange.

A Novelty.

"When I went home the other night," said Mr. Meekton, "Henrietta mistook me for a burglar."

"It must have been an unpleasant experience."

"I rather enjoyed it. It was the first time in my life Henrietta was ever afraid of me."—Washington Star.

Eager to Practice.

"My boy, you want to practice thrift."

"I know, dad, but I haven't got the tools."

"What do you mean by that?"

"If you'll let me have the $5 I need I'll see how long I can make it last."—Detroit Free Press.

Bad Habit.

"I'm going out, Maria, to get a little ozone in my system."

"I do wish, James, you would stop taking them dangerous drugs."—Baltimore American.

England's Army Rifle.

The English rifle, the Lee-Enfield, fires thirty-four shots a minute. It is made in ninety-four parts, involving over a thousand operations.

Could Help Her.

Fussy Lady Patient—I was suffering so much, doctor, that I wanted to die. Doctor—You did right to call me in dear lady.—London Opinion.

Directly Over It.

Bacon—What is that watchmaker doing at his bench at night? Egbert—Oh, he's working over time.—Yonkers Statesman.

"Time is money"—yet lots of people with plenty of time on hand try to borrow money.

Expert Advice For the Automobile Owner

Queries and Replies Covering Matters of Importance to the Man Who Runs a Car

What is the difference between semi, three-quarter and floating axles?
Ordinary motorcar nomenclature gives us three types of live rear axles, called respectively floating, three-quarter floating and semifloating.
The floating axle, as the name implies, is one that floats—that is, it turns around, but it does not carry any weight. It is used to gain rotary motion only. The semifloating axle, however, not only turns the wheels, but takes some of the weight of the car. The difference between these two types of axles is in the position of the wheel bearings. In the floating axle the wheel bearings are outside of the housing. The rear wheels of the car rest upon these bearings. It can be seen plainly that if the wheels rest upon the bearings and the bearings upon the housing the housing must support the weight of the car.
The end of the axle shaft has some form of jaw clutch which fits into depressions in the wheel hub. In the floating axle this connection between axle shaft and wheel is flexible, but in the three-quarter floating type the end of the shaft is permanently attached to the wheel, being held usually by bolts. In the semifloating type of rear axle the inside bearing occupies the same position as previously, but the bearing for the wheel, instead of being outside the housing, is inside. In other words, each axle shaft rests upon two bearings, one at each end of the shaft. The wheel is placed on the axle and held there by a key. Sometimes the ends of the axle shafts are square and the inside of the wheel square, so that no key is necessary. With the wheels on the axle shafts, nuts are screwed on the ends of the shafts to prevent the wheel from backing off. The nuts are locked with cotter pins.

What can we do to remedy the trouble we are having with a two cylinder car? The engine has about forty pounds compression on front cylinder and thirty-five pounds on rear. When it is running slowly it will fire regularly, but when spark is advanced and throttle opened it will hit irregularly. Ignition seems good. We have tried new coils, timer, etc.; also have bored holes in intake manifold and put in priming cups. If we open up cup on rear cylinder and give mixture more air it seems to run better.
The trouble apparently is with the carburetion, and from the symptoms you give it is probable that the trouble is due directly to a poor adjustment of the air valve. While the motor is running and misfiring open the air valve a little at a time with a pencil, and if the misfiring stops because of the additional air admitted, then reset the air valves so it will open sooner. It also would be a good plan to cut down on the fuel supply slightly by closing the needle valve a little. Do this while the motor is running and misfiring. Turn the valve slowly until the misfiring stops. If it does not stop then get it where it was before and attend to the air valves.

Can you tell me the disadvantage of meteor wire contact points in a magneto as compared with platinum points? Platinum usually is not used alone for magneto interrupters, there being a percentage of iridium added to give the points greater resistance to hammer action which they must withstand when in use. Platinum-iridium is better than meteor wire for this purpose. Meteor metal is a steel alloy with great resistance to heat and gives good results.

Why should my motor be so hard to turn over? The bearings are loosened up and the pet cocks opened, but I am still unable to turn it over.
In all probability the pistons are tight, although the trouble may be caused by a drag on the flywheel. If the motor has been overhauled recently the pistons may have been fitted improperly.

What advantage has the high tension magneto over the low tension, if any? It is simpler, not requiring an outside coil. This makes installation easier and wiring easier to understand. It is not so liable to get out of order, because there are fewer parts. It makes a cleaner installation because of the absence of extra wiring, dash coils, etc., and is said to be more efficient because of the reduction of lag in the whole system.

What spring is best, three-quarter elliptic or the cantilever, for cars under 3,000 pounds?
The main advantage of the cantilever spring over the three-quarter elliptic is that it will give the same carrying capacity with the proper flexibility and with less rebound. Another advantage lies in its slow period of vibration and the ability to eliminate rebound to a great extent. The weight of a cantilever is nearly all unsprung weight.
In the disadvantages the principal one is that a stiff frame is necessary and that a roll is given to the body when the car turns corners. The cantilever costs more than the semielliptic and absorbs the same or slightly less than the three-quarter elliptic, considering tiltings, etc.

What advantages and disadvantages has the automatic spark advance to the type varied by hand?
In such a system the driver is not required to manipulate a spark lever, and hence he is relieved of work. The advancement of the spark automatically in proportion to engine speed makes correction for mistakes on the part of the operator. Many claim, however, that with no hand control of the spark the maximum efficiency is not obtained at certain speeds, for many drivers keep the spark advanced all the time and retard it only when the motor begins to knock. Those who do not favor the automatic advance claim that when the motor is carbonized the spark must be retarded considerably, otherwise the motor will knock. This is not taken into consideration in the automatic system. It also is stated the mechanical difficulties may come up and that the system does not take into account the loads imposed on the motor.

Is it possible for a car to climb a 60 per cent grade?
A gradient of 66 per cent, which is equal to an angle of about thirty degrees, is considered the maximum grade a car will overcome. On a grade of this kind gravity overcomes traction.

What is the difference between a reversible and an irreversible steering gear?
With the reversible type steering gear it is possible to steer front wheels by applying power direct to them; whereas, in the irreversible type, it is impossible to move the front wheels without applying power to the steering wheel. Most heavy pleasure cars are equipped with irreversible steering gears, since they often travel over rough roads at a high rate of speed. The irreversibility tends to do away with the back lash in the wheel that would be felt in a car equipped with a reversible steering gear under the same conditions.
Most commercial vehicles, on the other hand, have a reversible steering gear. In making deliveries they often hit the curb at an angle unless driven very carefully. The reversible type often prevents the bending of the steering knuckle arms.

Are quarter elliptic springs in front best for easy riding for very light cars, and are semielliptic springs on the rear the best?
The advantages and disadvantages of the various types of springs depend upon weight distribution and the design of the car. One form of semielliptic spring may be superior to a certain form of elliptic or three-quarter elliptic, and vice versa. The spring problem is solved best if examples are given—that is, take three cars of given weight distribution and design and then the matter may be thrashed out. However, disregarding design, etc., many arguments are set forth usually in upholding or condemning certain spring types.
Spring suspension has been a great problem to motorcar engineers because the car must of necessity travel over rough roads and at slow and high speeds. If the object of the springs is understood clearly the relative advantages and disadvantages of the various forms will be understood more readily. Springs must support certain members of the car; they must absorb the shock transmitted to the road wheels. Springs to be efficient must prevent the body of the car from side swaying. In other words, the springs of a motorcar must be strong to support a load and resilient to make the car riding easy.
The semielliptic spring is used in the majority of vehicles in the front and, in many, also in the rear. This type reduces sway greatly and yet is not hindered in its movement. This type is adapted to carry great weight without the tendency to permit side sway. If semielliptic springs are made to be exceptionally resilient they must be made long. This adds to the cost and at the same time increases the tendency to side sway. One great objection to the semielliptic spring is that, if made sturdy to support great weight, much of the power of the motor is lost through the springs. It is quite evident that when the car strikes an object on the road the power to overcome the obstacle is absorbed by the spring. Stiff, semielliptic springs are not to be desired when shock absorbing qualities are factors, for when a car with such springs strikes an obstruction on the road the tendency is for the wheels and axles and perhaps a portion of the car to leave the ground for an instant.
In the elliptic spring the tendency to side sway is unusually great. This type of spring, if made to be as strong as the semielliptic, will perhaps lose much of the resiliency. Average design shows that the elliptic spring is far more resilient than the semielliptic and better able to absorb road shock.
In the three-quarter elliptic type the problem is more a manufacturing problem. If this form is used the overhang is lessened, which calls for a longer wheel base.

Donation Days for Frederick City Hospital.

The four Thursdays in November have again been designated as Donation Days for the Frederick City Hospital. Committees for the institution have been named and already considerable interest has been taken. In past years, these donation days have been very successful and it is the aim this year to even exceed this record. As the Frederick City Hospital is a free hospital it is hoped that the people of Emmitsburg will contribute liberally as they have done in preceding years.

Bettering Rural Schools.

Looking forward to the ultimate centralization of many of the rural schools, Miss Nan L. Mildren, School Supervisor of Frederick County Schools, is launching a special course of study in the rural schools this year. Four centers have been chosen in the county for working out ideal school conditions. This means not only reaching the school but reaching the community as well with patrons' meetings and finally by establishing strong social centers.

Realizing its great problem as far as the rural schools of the county are concerned, the School Board is planning to most effectively and efficiently give to the rural children and communities the best opportunity for growth possible.

"To do this," Miss Mildren said, "it is necessary to concentrate energy and attention upon a smaller group, each year widening its influence until the circle has expanded, taking in the whole body of rural schools. This means for the rural school improved buildings, modern equipment, best methods and all that is vital to both communities and school."

OCCUPYING NEW BUILDING

Business of Emmitsburg Savings Bank Resumed in Handsome New Building on the Square.—Formal Opening Later.

Although a few little details yet remain to be completed, the new Emmitsburg Savings Bank building was occupied by the officers of that institution this week, and the business transferred from its temporary location in the E. E. Zimmerman building. The bank calls its patrons attention to the transfer to the new building in its regular advertising space in this issue of THE CHRONICLE, announcing that a formal opening will be held on a date to be announced later.

OBITUARY

MRS. ELLEN J. RIDER.

Mrs. Ellen J. Rider, wife of Mr. George M. Rider died at her home on Frederick street, Monday afternoon, Nov. 6. She was aged 68 years, 10 months and 16 days.

Mrs. Rider was born in Littlestown, December 21, 1847, but spent the greater part of her life in Emmitsburg.

She is survived by her husband, George M. Rider, of this place, two daughters, Mrs. George McLaughlin and Miss Gertrude Rider, of Baltimore, and seven sons, Messrs. Clarence and Charles, of Emmitsburg, Harry, of Wilkes Barre, Pa., James, of Altoona, Pa., Howard, of Philadelphia, Pa., Edward, of Hagerstown, Md., Frederick, of Baltimore. Two sisters, Mrs. Jane Eckenrode, of Wilkes Barre, Pa., and Mrs. John T. Long, of this place, also survive.

A Requiem High Mass, was celebrated by Rev. J. O. Hayden in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Thursday morning, for the repose of her soul. In the sanctuary during the Mass was Rev. James H. Neck, C. M., of the Immaculate Conception Church, Baltimore. Interment was made in the adjoining cemetery.

FELIX A. DIFFENDAL.

Felix A. Diffendal, a highly respected citizen of Emmitsburg, died Monday evening after a short illness, at St. Agnes' Hospital, Baltimore, where he had been a patient for a week.

Mr. Diffendal was born in Frederick county in 1841 and had lived in Emmitsburg for over fifty years.

The deceased is survived by one brother, Samuel Diffendal, of Smithsburg.

The funeral took place from the residence of his nephew, Dr. Harry N. McDivitt, Charles and Twenty Fifth streets, Baltimore at 7 A. M. Wednesday. His remains were brought to Emmitsburg and services were held in St. Joseph's Catholic church at 10 o'clock, Rev. Charles Eckels officiating. Interment was made in the cemetery adjoining the Church.

WILLIAM H. MARTIN.

William H. Martin died on Wednesday evening, November 1st., at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William J. Ebbert, near Union Bridge, Md.

He was born March 16, 1841, near Emmitsburg, Md., and spent his life in Frederick and Carroll counties, having resided near Union Bridge for the last 30 years. His wife, who was Miss Elizabeth Stansbury, died 17 years ago. He is survived by five daughters and two sons—Mrs. Annie Zentz, of Thurmont; Mrs. Nettie Eckard, of Taneytown; Mrs. Emma Ebbert, Charles Joshua, Miss Irene, and Mrs. Gertrude Hessler, of Union Bridge. Also one sister, Mrs. Emma Anders, of Medford, and two brothers, John and Joseph, of Douglas, Kansas.

The funeral services were held at his late home on Saturday afternoon by his pastor, Rev. Paul Yoder. Interment was made in Mountain View cemetery.

JOSEPH E. KELLY.

Joseph E. Kelly, a veteran of the Civil war, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Miller, near Flohr's church, Adams county, Monday evening. He was aged 80 years and 19 days.

Mr. Kelly was born in Germany township, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kelly.

Mr. Kelly was married to Miss Annie Starner, of Adams county and she survives him together with five children as follows: Mrs. Edward Oyler, Gettysburg; Mrs. Charles Flohr Fountain Dale; Mrs. Eva Barton, Highfield; Mrs. Edith Miller, of near Flohr's church, and Irvin Kelly, Gettysburg.

MOTHER'S REMEDY

FOR BRUISES

Children's Bumps, Sprains and Minor Hurts Quickly Relieved by Sloan's Liniment.

It is the very nature of children to hurt themselves—to come crying to mother with little fingers bruised, with heads bumped, with sprained ankles and wrists.

They are painful hurts, too. But their pain and sting can't survive the gentle use of this liniment. A single application of Sloan's Liniment and—the little fellow's bravely kept back tears give way to smiles. His hurt is relieved.

In every home where there are children a bottle of Sloan's Liniment is a necessity.

Aching muscles, rheumatism, lumbago, stiff neck, backache, chilblains, etc., can be effectively relieved with Sloan's Liniment. Cleaner than mussy ointments or plasters.

Sloan's Liniment can be obtained at all drug stores, 25c., 50c. and $1.00.

ACROSS THE LINE

Fire destroyed the new bungalow of Louis Steppy, along the Pen Mar road, near Pen Mar, Saturday morning. The loss is $2,000.

Lee Reinberg, Sr., of York, for 33 years identified with the shoe business, died suddenly at his home in York late last Friday night.

A church for the use of the colored people who are found in such large numbers at Blue Ridge Summit and other of the nearby mountain resort regions will be erected at Blue Ridge Summit, through the liberality of a number of the summer residents.

Rev. F. J. Foin, of Lancaster, has been assigned to the St. Ignatius pastorate in Buchanan Valley, succeeding Rev. P. F. Sullivan who goes to West Shamokin.

With appropriate exercises the marker for the site on which will be erected $30,000 Y. M. C. A. building at Gettysburg College was unveiled last Thursday. At the exercises there were present representatives from the ten woman's leagues of the institution, now meeting in Gettysburg in annual convention. The college boys were there with their band and it proved a delightful occasion.

Ten York and Adams county physicians are planning to open at York within the next two weeks the "Poly-clinic Hospital"—the third private institution to be opened in that city within the past few years. The institution will include an operating room, waiting room, and bacteriological and pathological departments. Treatment of diseases of the eye and ear will be a specialty. Accommodations will be provided for the care of 16 patients at one time. A corps of nurses will be appointed within the next few days.

Work on the trackless trolley line to be constructed between Dover and Rossville, York county, will be started soon. The line will cost about $4000 a mile, and will run twenty miles. It will be the first system of this kind in the state.

Charles Kappes has received notification that all the statues for the Virginia memorial have been shipped. Their arrival is expected this week and they will be placed by Mr. Kappes immediately, under the direction of F. William Sievers, the sculptor. The statues are of bronze and include a group for the base of the pedestal, and the equestrian statue of General Lee. It is believed the monument will be dedicated in May.

Thirty-five hundred barrels of Adams county apples are at the bottom of the sea. Of these 2,000 barrels went down with the Rowanmore, sunk in midocean by a German submarine, and 1,500 barrels were sunk with the steamer Alaunia, which was torpedoed off the coast of England.

Robert M. Wirt, president of the Hanover Savings Fund Society since 1885, died Tuesday at Hanover at the age of 63 years. He was promoter of the Hanover Improvement Company and president of the Hanover Agricultural Society for 20 years. He was also instrumental in giving Hanover an opera house and market house. He was organizer of the Arcadia Club, director of the Public Library and ex-postmaster.

Timely Suggestions For Preventing Loss From Disease.

College Park, Md., Oct. 19.—With the coming of fall, most laying hens will be kept in closer quarters as a result of which the danger of the spread of disease is much increased. In this connection, Poultryman Roy H. Waite, of the Maryland Experiment Station, says, "There are hundreds of diseases and ailments that affect poultry, but they can be divided into two general classes.

First. Those caused by faulty management, improper feeding, poor housing, neglect, etc.

Second. Those caused by an infection which is passed from bird to bird or from flock to flock.

While it is interesting to know the name of the disease, this is not so essential before treatment is begun. It is hardly necessary even to know into which two of the above classes the disease falls, before treatment is begun. General treatment is very much the same for all diseases. There is some doubt about many of the specific remedies recommended for disease doing much more than ease the mind of the poultry raisers. There are, however, three things that should be done in all cases.

A. Take the sick birds out of the flock and put them by themselves.

B. Remove the source of infection (even if the disease is not infectious, no harm will be done by following these directions).

1. Destroy, by burying deeply or by burning, all fowls that die of the disease.

2. Prevent the birds from working among or picking at the droppings from the flock.

3. See that the feed is eaten from a clean place. If fed outdoors, change the feeding place often. If fed inside, it may be necessary to feed in troughs or on boards which can be cleaned readily.

4. If droppings from sick birds are abnormal, go through the house and yards often, collect such droppings and destroy them.

5. If practicable, spray the floor and feed troughs occasionally, with some good disinfectant.

C. Give careful attention to care and feeding:

1. See that there are no red mites under the roosts or in the cracks about the house. If any are found, they may be exterminated by applying kerosene oil at frequent intervals.

2. Provide good wholesome feed.

3. See that the birds have plenty of fresh air to breathe.

Bulbs For Indoors

College Park, Md., Oct. 19.—Varieties of bulbs for growing indoors are recommended by B. W. Anspen, of the State College of Agriculture. Prof. Anspen says, "Every garden lover should have a few of these bulbs in bloom during the winter. These bulbs are so easy to culture that with little attention, everyone can have success. Secure the bulbs now and plant them in pots sufficiently large to accommodate them. They can be planted singly or a number in a pot, depending upon the size of the bulbs. Do not push the bulb into the pot or soil, in so doing, the soil is compacted under the bulb and as the young roots form, they have a tendency, in such cases, to force the bulb out of the pot. It is best to partially fill the pot with soil and then place the bulb on this and fill in with more soil. Slightly firm the soil over the bulb.

In hyacinths, the bulb should be placed at least two inches from the top of the pot. Tulips can be shallower. After the bulbs have been potted, place them outdoors in a well drained place; cover with a few inches of sand, after first watering the bulb and seeing that all pots are well moistened. Leave outdoors until the root system is well formed. This insures good flowers. It generally takes from eight to 10 weeks for the bulb to produce a good root system outdoors. Bulbs can then be brought indoors, gradually given more light and a higher temperature. Where one does not care to place the bulbs outdoors, they can be kept in a cool cellar until thoroughly rooted, when they can be gradually brought into the light.

An easy method of growing Hyacinths is to secure hyacinth glasses. Fill the jar with water up to the shoulder and place the bulb in the jar. It is well to add fresh water every 10 days; placing a piece of charcoal in the glass will tend to keep the water sweet. Water should just touch the edge of the bulb, as shown in illustration. Place in a cool, dark place until roots are well formed, when they can be brought into the living room. In a short time, flower buds will open up, giving a grand display.
