President Wilson took his oath of office at the public ceremony at 12.45 P. M., and delivered his inaugural address. Immediately afterward the President's escort of cavalry from Fort Meyer arrived and formed in column platoons in the Court of Honor, with flank riders in the centre. Daddy's Bedtime

Spud Coon's New Year's

MUST tell you," said daddy to Jack and Evelyn, "about Spud Coon's New Year's resolutions. Spud Coon had been a very naughty raccoon during the Christmas holidays. He had been stealing a great many of Farmer Wells' chickens. He had given a number of chicken feasts and had also gone to many dances. He had always come home very much exhausted and stayed in bed late every morning.

"Of course too many dances, too many chicken feasts and such late hours | Straight began to make Spud Coon feel wretched. He got extremely worried about Line. himself, and one evening-it was New Year's eve, by the way-Spud Coon decided he would go to see Dr. Red Fox.

"Now, Dr. Red Fox had been very naughty when he was a little fox, but age had given him a great deal of common sense, and he was as clever as a fox can be, which is pretty clever, you know.

"Spud Coon found him all alone in his office, which was about a mile through the woods from where Spud Coon lived. Dr. Red Fox was seated on a wooden stump reading an enormously big book, and he looked very wise with his spectacles on his nose.

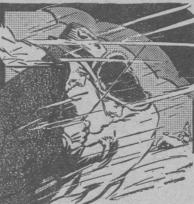

'How do you do, Spud Coon?' said Dr. Fox as he looked up from his book. "'Oh, very poorly! I am afraid I am going to die,' replied Spud Coon.

"'Why, what's the trouble?" "'Oh, doctor, I've very bad pains in my head, and my legs ache, and I don't know what is the matter with me! "Dr. Fox took his spectacles off his nose and, leaning back on the stump, sighed heavily. "'Well, I know what the trouble is, Spud Coon; you've been eating too many chickens, and too much of anything is bad for you. Then you've stolen them, and your conscience is troubling you, for you really are a good coon at heart, and late hours-they are awful for you. You should get up early, go hunting for your food in the right way, and then you'll feel well. But if you keep on like this,' and Dr. Fox looked very grave, 'you'll be all doubled up with rheumatism so that your joints will get stiff and you will not be able to walk without limping and no one will care for you.' "Spud Coon felt for a few moments that he could never give up dances and chicken feasts, so accustomed to them had he become, and he had greatly enjoyed his lazy and gay life. But he realized how dreadful it would be to grow. old and infirm before his time, so he bravely decided that his New Year's resolutions would be to do as Dr. Red Fox had said so he could once more be a good and strong coon."

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertilto Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Union, and especially in the production of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scotch-Irish descent, the progeny mostly of the descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a valley of rolling lands lying between Linganore Hills and the Catoctin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river, and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and productive areas of the Union. The great crops are wheat and corn.—Maryland Manual issued by Board of Public Works.

EMMITSBURG.

In all Western Maryland-the beauty spot and the garden spot of the State-there is no town more attractive than Emmitsburg.

No people are more wide-awake, more knowable, more courteous to strangers than Emmitsburgians.

The location of Emmitsburg is ideal; the surrounding scenery is unmatchable: the climate is notedly healthful; its water—pure mountain spring water-cannot be surpassed. It is within easy access of Baltimore, Hagerstown, Frederick; eight miles from the National Battlefield at Gettysburg, near to the Mountain Resorts, and is surrounded by fertile farms and productive orchards.

Mount Saint Mary's College and Ecclesiastical Seminary-with an enviable reputation extending over 108 years-is located here; St. Joseph's College and Academy for young ladies-equally as noted during its 107 years of splendid acheivement-is also here.

There are excellent Schools-Public and Parochial-in Emmitsburg; two sound Banks, five Churches, a live Newspaper, modern Hotel accommodations, adequate Fire Department, progressive merchants, splendid physicians, good liveries, auto garages, many fraternal organizations, good railroad accommodations. There are four or five mails a day, telegraph, express and telephone service connecting all points; electric light and power, oiled INDIVIDUAL THRIFT.

Ht Means to the Man What Conservation Does to the Nation.

The movement to encourage the people of this country to curb extravagance and to save money is rapidly growing, and it is a good thing that it is so. We need such a campaign and its gospel of thrift should b spread broadcast throughout our land. The American people must save. They can no longer afford to waste.

It was the tremendous natural wealth of this country that made Americans a nation of spendthrifts. Now the end of nature's bounty is actually in sight. All of the better public lands have been taken up. The government is carefully estimating our resources of coal and oil. Water power is being developed and husbanded. Wealth is not half so easy to create as once it was, and for that reason there is a ration wide appreciation of the necessity for conserv ing it. Thrift means to the individual life exactly what conservation does t

This movement for saving money means a good deal more than the curbing of individual extravagance. It means more capital available for the uses of commerce. It means that when you have saved $1,000 you will find i a good deal easier to borrow another $1,000 if you have a good investment in

CLOTHES ON THE LINE.

Putting a Bit of Poetry Into a Very Prosaic Task.

A ride along the interurban cars on a fine Monday will show you line after line of snowy clothes fluttering in the breeze, and if you are a woman who has ever tried her hand at the washing game you'll envy the woman who has the bright afternoon before her to do as she pleases since she has spent her morning so profitably.

Did you ever pin freshly washed clothes on a line out in the sunshine and breeze-clothes that you washed with your own hands?

You haven't? Well, you needn't say it with such a scornful tilt to your nose. You're to be pitied more than envied, for you've missed one of the joys of being a woman.

Maybe the real work of it, the scrub bing and boiling and rinsing part couldn't be called pure joy, but hanging the pieces up, clean and sweet and white, then standing back to view proudly the whole long row-ah, then you taste the glory of real achievement and it gives a satisfaction that few achievements give.

It's such a worthy work, making the world a cleaner, more wholesome place, by beginning on your own soiled raiment.—Indianapolis News.

Big Chains Are Handmade.

In this day of machine manufacture it will perhaps surprise some to learn that the making of big chains is large ly, if not entirely, confined to method: dependent on hand labor, says the Scientific American. There are probably no big chains being made in the United States by the use of machinery There are various appliances employed, but these are hand operated or per sonally controlled. This situation appears to be due to two things. First, as the proverbial expression has it, "a chain is no stronger than the weakest of its links." A handmade chain is naturally made link by link. If the workmen are not only careful, but conscientious as to details, there is considerable opportunity for attention equivalent to continuous inspection. The making of big chains is largely an old time blacksmith's job.

Wasted Power.

Professor /Charles Baskerville, head of the department of chemistry in the College of the City of New York, stated in a recent interview regarding the work of modern chemists:

"In any chemical problem there is no telling where the chemist will stop. Just now there are many chemists working on the problem of free gas. An immeasurable lot of power is wast ed in the dumps of our coal mines. If this waste were reduced to gas by the retort process enough ammonia might be produced as a byproduct to pay fo the whole cost of the operation, making the gas free. The gas could then be used to generate electric power. Really, one big railroad ought to be running or the power it is now throwing away in these supposedly worthless dumps."

SOWING MINES IN THE SEA.

How These Ship Destroyers Are Laid and Anchored.

Mine laying and mine sweeping are two important subordinate functions in a modern navy, and both of these occupations are fraught with danger to those engaged in them.

A mine is really a metal globe containing anything from 200 pounds to 290 pounds of trinitrotoluene, or T. N. T., an extremely powerful high explosive, calculated to make things very unpleasant for any ship that runs against one of the little horns on top of the mine.

Before the mine is put into the sea the globe squats, as one might say, between four metal uprights upon a round, flat weight, to which it is attached by a short length of wire rope, the greater part of which is coiled round a drum inside the weight.

When the mine is put into the water the whole contrivance sinks at once to the bottom. As soon as it touche ground the bump releases a little catch, which sets all sorts of wheels revolving, with the result that the four uprights fall outward. They grip the sea bed, and the contrivance is anchored. Then the globe begins to rise, while the rope unwinds until it has reached a fixed length.

Thereafter woe betide the unfortunate ship that runs upon it.-London

EXPENSIVE FISHING.

Why the Angler Dressed in Oilskins Was Not Hired.

An ardent fisherman was President Cleveland, and a writer in the New York Sun says of him that he enjoyed angling for the fish that would not bite quite as much as he did for those that would. While fishing one day, dressed in oilskins and a slouch hat, he was addressed by an angler garbed in the height of piscatorial fashion

"Hello, boatman! You've certainly got a good catch. What will you take for the fish?"

"I'm not selling them," replied the man in oilskins.

"Well," continued the persistent angler, "what do you want to take me out fishing tomorrow?

Mr. Cleveland, who was plainly enjoying the joke, replied: "I can't make any engagement except by the season Will you give me as much as I made last year?

"You're a sharp fellow," replied the angler, "but a good fisherman, and I'll accept your terms. What did you make last year

"Oh," replied Mr. Cleveland, "about a thousand dollars a week! I was president of the United States."

Strength of the Condor.

The enormous strength of the condor is equaled by his voracity and boldness. This immense bird often pounces upon small animals, but from the shape and bluntness of his claws it is unable to carry anything very heavy, so he contents himself with fixing it against the ground with one of his claws, while with the other and his powerful beak he rends it to pieces. Gorged with food, the bird then becomes incapable of flight and may be approached, but any attempt at capture is furiously resisted. An American traveler in the Andes encountered a large condor just after it had finished a hearty banquet on a young sheep and foolishly attempted to seize the bird, with the result that he received a gash from its claw. Then he called up his two guides, and the three men maneuvered to take the bird alive. But every attempt was frustrated, and in the end one of the men killed it by a blow with a hatchet.

Thrifty Geese. The solan geese are so fond of col-

Off the coast of Scotland one day patches of straw bedding were seen floating, and, although the birds were on the eve of departure, they gathered up every wisp, as though they had their nests to build, and in the same place they were seen collecting seaweed every day.

ENDED THE ARGUMENT.

How Dewey Settled an Ugly Native Official at Manila.

Frank Lombard of San Francisco, who was in Manila during the winter of 1898-9, tells this story of the late Admiral Dewey:

"In Cavite, you know, there are no dockage facilities. Vessels lie at anchor, and native freight boats called 'cascoes' carry things to and from the shore. One of the native officials contracted with Admiral Dewey to carry stuff to the flagship. After doing his duty he dressed himself in the latest European fashion to visit the admiral, silk hat, white shirt, cravat, cuffs, etc.

"When he presented his bill Dewey remarked that there were many overcharges which he could not pay. The freighter captain protested that the admiral was wrong and that he had agreed to the terms. Dewey politely replied that he would pay the original bill, nothing more.

"Mistaking the quiet, gentlemanly manner of the admiral, the freighter became insulting in his manner and insisted upon payment. With a slight movement of the hand the admiral remarked to the watch, 'Drop that man overboard,' and in a minute the plug hat was floating in Cavite bay, while the insolent native was swimming to his vessel."-Exchange.

HIGH COST OF SHOES.

It Sends the Dealers on a Hunt For Substitutes For Leather.

"Years ago the shoe dealers' cry was 'beware of substitutes for leather!' Now our cry is 'give us substitutes so that we can sell shoes more cheaply to the masses.'

Thus spoke A. H. Geuting, Philadelphia retailer, secretary of the National Shoe Retailers' association. "I'm wearing a substitute sole now," he added.

"Substitutes wear longer than leather-they give greater satisfaction and save the wearer money," Geuting continued. "Shoes for which we paid a wholesale price of $5 in 1915 now cost us $8, $3.50 shoes now cost us $6, and shoes for which I paid $2.25 formerly now cost me $4.25.

"Not long ago the highest priced shoes in our stores sold for $8; now they sell for $18 and $20. A shoe store on Fifth avenue, New York, is selling shoes at $35 a pair.

"With sole leather costing 90 cents a pound, kid skins $1.30 a square foot and with the insurance and freight on imported goatskins from the orient alone costing 40 cents—as much as the skins formerly cost—the high cost of shoes is explained."—Cincinnati Times-

Andean Knowledge of the World.

Knowledge of the world is not one of the strong points of the Andean natives. Harry A. Franck, wandering through Colombia on foot, had this fact thrust upon him by a certain barber. "Last year another Meestear"-in the rural Andes the native form of this word is used as a common noun to designate not only Americans and Englishmen, but Germans, Swedes, Frenchmen and even Spaniards-"stopped here," he began. "You will perhaps know him. His name was Meestear Giuseppe.

We doubt it. "But surely you must know him," persisted the barber, "for he was a for eigner also.' The rural Colombian conceives of the world as made up of two countries, his own, the chief one, and a smaller one, perhaps only a city, that lies out-

POINTED LINES OF SPEECH AT WILSON INAUGURAL.

This is not the time for retrospect. It is time, rather, to speak our thought8 and purposes concerning the present and the immediate future.

We have been deeply wronged upon the seas, but we have not wished to wrong or injure in return.

We have been obliged to arm ourselves to make good our claim to a certain minimum of right and of freedom of action. We stand firm in armed neutrality, since it seems that in no other way we can demonstrate what it is that we insist upon and cannot forego.

The greatest things that remain to be done must be done with the whole world for stage and in co-operation with the wide and universal force of

There can be no turning back. Our own fortunes as a nation are involved, whether we would have it so or not.

Peace cannot securely rest upon an armed balance of power. The seas should be equally free and safe for the use of all people under rules set up by common agreement and consent. National armaments should be limited to the necessities of national order and domestic safety. The shadows that now lie dark upon our path will soon be dispelled, and we shall walk with the light all about us, if we be but true to ourselves.

These cards are curiously copied from the old Spanish playing cards designed in the seventh century. The Apaches erations with large contracts booked used them for gambling purposes. The figures representing kings, queens and jacks are original, and the markings of the smaller cards are also unique; but tin plate will mean that they will find the modern game of poker can easily be steady employment at Sparrows Point played with the human-hide deck when once the players understand the Apache markings. - Philadelphia Record.

GUARANTEES THE VALIDITY OF THE TITLE AFTER ITS REG-ISTRATION.

NAMED AFTER ORIGINATOR

Was First Introduced In This Country In 1897 and Has Been Adopted By Twelve States.

College Park, March 1 .- The farmers of the State are having their at-Bomberger of the Division of Rural Economics of the Maryland State College, to the fact that there is much to be desired in our present system of land title registration and transfer. Professor Bomberger in a recent address said that our present system of transfer of title to land involves a constantly recurring expense for the case, and that even the expenditure of time and money under our present system cannot produce a guaranteed title.

The Torrens' System of Land Title Registration eliminates each one of these faults found to be present in our system. This system originated in Australia and is named after its inventor, Sir Robert R. Torrens, an Englishman, engaged in the Customs Service in Australia. The system having been adopted in South Australia in 1858 it was carried to England in 1862; to Canada in 1870-'85, and to the United States (in Illinois and Massachusetts), in 1897-1898. Twelve other States of the United States have adopted the system in recent years. There are six important steps in the operation of the Torrens' System. First, the title is examined by a judicial official specially appointed to do this work. This gives to the title examinations what they do not now have—the stamp of official, judicial approval.

Second, the title having been examined and found good, it is registrated in the books of the Registrar of Land Titles. This official registration makes the validity of the title a matter of public record. Thereafter, it is not necessary to examine the title behind this official registration. In case of contest, an opportunity is offered for judicial determination of the legal rights of all claimants; but once the questions are settled the title is recorded and is as binding from that date as is any other decree of Court.

Third, a copy of the certificate of registration is made out by a public official, which copy is given to the owner. If there are more owners than one, each receives a copy of the certificate as evidence of his title.

Fourth, whenever the property changes hands thereafter, a new certificate of title is made out in the held Tuesday night, in the Southern poor people. Many with incomes of name of the new owner and recorded. from $50,000 to $100,000 are today poor A copy of this certificate is given to Baltimore's latest industrial achieve- or on the way to poverty because of the new owner as in the first instance. Fifth, any incumbrance against the estate existing at the time of the registration of the title is entered on the certificate and on the owner's copy. In like manner the releasing of any incumbrance or the creation of a new one is noted on the certificate and on the Owner's Copy. Thus at any time, a glance will show the status of the owner's title and the expense and delay incident to our present system are eliminated. Ordinarily the whole matter of examination of title and transfer of title can be affected in a single day.

Sixth, it is usually required that a small fee (usually one-tenth of one per cent. of the value of the land to he registered) be charged upon the original registration, but not afterward. This is to accumulate an indemnity fund out of which to make good any losses which may occur to individuals as a result of faulty administration of the system. Such assurance funds are to be regarded purely as insurance protection.

The operation of the system requires little machinery. Clerks of Court or Recorders of Deeds may be made Registrars of Titles also. Court consisting of two or more judges, may be provided to have jurisdiction over questions arising out of the Registration of titles just as our Orphans Courts have charge of matters testamentary; or such questions can be carried to the regularly established Circuit Courts of the Counties. Examiners and Registrars can be paid by salaries or by fees based on the services which they perform.

The system may be voluntary, compulsory or mixed. In the voluntary system only those titles are registered whose owners desire it. In the compulsory system, all titles are required to be registered after a certain date. In the mixed system, which is most common, those who desire may have their land titles registered; and, in addition all changes of title resulting from judicial decree (as in foreclosure of a mortgage) and titles derived by operation of law as in case of takthat the completed unit will begin op- ing title by will or by descent, are required to be registered. The invariable rule in all systems is that land once registered must always thereafter be registered.

Professor Bomberger declared that the Torrens' System, in practical operation, has eliminated everyone of the principal defects of our present
