AN INTERESTING INSIGHT INTO RUSSIAN PEASANT LIFE

Charles Young, Born There, Corrects Erroneous Impressions Of That Country.

In the opinion of Charles C. Young, an American born in Russia and who has traveled extensively in that country, an entirely erroneous idea of peasant life in Russia exists in the minds of Americans. Mr. Young, who is now visiting in Washington says: "Practically everything written on the subject exaggerates the worst condition. Even Tolstoy did not help to create an un biased view of the Russians. I have traveled over Russia, and it is always field position, more than likely shortpleasant to recall a typical country scene. The level land is divided into narrow strips, sown with barley, rye, wheat, corn and flax, and presents a checkerboard appearance, interspersed with low-housed villages. In southern Russia these generally consist of squat one-story adobe houses, gorgeously painted in all the shades of blue, red and yellow and often pure white, while in northern Russia the dwellings are quite presentable frame houses.

Just a fraction less than 42 inches of snow is the visible evidence at the home of Frederick's weather observer that Frederick has had its share of winter since December 1, 1916. The precipitation of this winter has broken all snowfall records for four years, the winter of 1913-14 being second with a 33 inch precipitation.

FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Unit ranks among the first in the Union, and especially in the production of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scotch-Irish theorems, wetly of the descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a valley of rolling lands lying between the Linganore Hills and the Catoctin Montain. This splendid valley tin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river, and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and productive areas of the Union. The great crops are wheat and corn.—Mary-land Manual issued by Board of Public Works.

EMMITSBURG.

in all Western Maryland-the beauty spot and the garden spot of the State—there is no town more attractive than Emmitsburg.

No people are more wide-awake, more knowable, more courteous to strangers than Emmitsburgians.

The location of Emmitsburg is ideal: the surrounding scenery is unmatchable: the climate is notedly healthful; its water—pure mountain spring water-cannot be surpassed. It is within easy access of Baltimore, Hagerstown, Frederick; eight miles from the National Battlefield at Gettysburg, near to the Mountain Resorts, and is surrounded by fertile farms and productive orchards.

Mount Saint Mary's College and Ecclesiastical Seminary-with an enviable reputation extending over 108 years—is located here; St. Joseph's College and Academy for young ladies-equally as noted during its 107 years of splendid acheivement-is also here.

There are excellent Schools-Public and Parochial-in Emmitsburg; two sound Banks, five Churches, a live Newspaper, modern Hotel accommodations, adequate Fire Department, progressive merchants, splendid physicians, good liveries. auto garages, many fraternal organizations, good railroad accommodations. FIND YOUR COURSE.

Tread the Road Leading to the Goal

"a Life Well Lived." There is only one best conduct of life for you, and that is the one that s best for you. Those who wander aimlessly in quest of the single right formula for existence grope in a maze through which they must thread their way endlessly in search of the center which does not exist.

There is, no one recipe which will serve for all mankind. Each must learn not his neighbor's but his own best way of living. To one it may be the routine task, the daily round, to curb the wandering will and bring content. To another it may be the fortitude to escape the sheltering care of habit or the lassitude of sloth. To one it should be the abandonment of phi osophy or introspection to rub elbows with his fellow men; to another, the willingness to let the soul awaken and breathe amid the sky rimmed prarie and under the deathless stars; to one, hearthstone and slippers; to another. the seven seas, the aurora borealis and the Southern Cross; to one, society; to another, solitude; to one, the quiet which stills the passions; to another. the eternal restlessness which brings achievement.

The best rounded life contains something of each and all. There are but two attitudes to avoid—the level line of least resistance and the rigidity of self distrust which denies every imoulse simply because it is impulse. omewhere between the two lies your course. Many are the thickets to be hewed down, many the crags to be scaled. But beyond stands the Inn in the Clearing, where faithful travelers may find the refreshment, the rest and the kindly words of welcome which form the goal and reward of life well lived.—Colher's Weekly.

UNIQUE AMONG ANIMALS.

Raccoons Have a Curious Habit of Washing Their Food.

Few American wild animals are more widely known or excite more popular interest than the raccoon, which occupies most of the wooded parts of North America from the southern border of Canada to Panama, with the exception of the higher mountain ranges.

Its diet is extraordinarily varied and includes fresh water clams, crawfish, frogs, turtles, birds and their eggs. poultry, nuts, fruits and green corn. When near water raccoons have a curious and unique habit of washing their food before eating it. Their fondness for green corn leads them into frequent danger, for when bottom land corn tempts them away from their usual haunts raccoon hunting with dogs at night becomes an especially favored sport. Raccoons are extraordinarily intelligent animals and make interestng and amusing pets.

They began to figure in our frontier literature at an early date. Coonskin caps, with the ringed tails hanging like plumes, made the favorite headgear of many pioneer hunters, and coonskins were recognized articles of barter at country stores. Now that the increasing occupation of the country is crowding out more and more of our wild life it is a pleasure to note the persistence with which these characteristic and interesting animals continue to hold their own in so much of their original range.-National Geo-

Learn to Be Thrifty.

Thriftlessness seldom if ever is able to seize and detain opportunity or to drive advantageous bargains.

What men call luck generally is a combination of foresight, industry, pluck and thrift in the lucky man.

To save is to have, to own is to pos sess power. Property speaks loudly and largely sways the commonwealth. The thrifty contribute most to the welfare of the state.

The purchaser on credit pays not only for the property, but for the time it takes to complete the purchase. It seldom is the thrifty way to finance deals. The extra expenditure is equivalent to the loss of so much interest on one's principal.

SEVEN WONDERS OF TODAY.

They Will Probably Become the Commonplaces of Tomorrow.

Not a great many years ago a spectacled and skeptical old scientist wrote a long thesis in which he claimed that the world's great discoveries all lay in the past, that the future had no new wonders to disclose and that all the really fundamental inventions, discoveries and researches had already been

"For," said the pessimistic philosopher, "there are no more strange lands to explore, no more conceivable inventions for the benefit of mankind. The telegraph, electac light, telephone and electric motor are already here. The camera and microscope, telescope and linotype, printing press and sewing machine, airship and steamboat are already discovered. What else is there left that is really new?"

But Mother Nature seemed to have kept her most wonderful secrets for just such an occasion. As if deliberately to disprove the foolish scientist the next ten years brought out the most astounding collection of new inventions and discoveries the world has ever known, for, in the period imme diately following the bold claim of this doubting Thomas, Hertz discovered electric waves, Marconi invented wire less telegraphy, Roentgen stumbled upon the X ray, Mme. Curie isolated radium, Sir William Ramsay found five new chemical elements, Edison made his first moving picture machine the Wright brothers conquered the air and countless greater or lesser discov eries astounded the scientific world.

So the seven great wonders of today will become the commonplaces of to morrow.-J. S. Newman in St. Nich-

MOST COMPLEX ART IS MUSIC

In the Key of "C" Alone There Are 382 Distinct Scales.

With 382 separate and distinct scales in the key of C alone, it is no more than natural that the realm of harmony should be considered as infinite. Yet few laymen are familiar with this, ac cording to Carl W. Grimm of Cincinnati, speaking on "The Realm of Scales." Mr. Grimm lamented the ignorance of the millions who persist in the contention that music is no longer susceptible of a single original notethat in a short time no new tunes will appear because every possible variation will have been made use of.

"No great composer"-Mr. Grimm paused a moment and then repeated by way of emphasis-"no really great composer, I say, has yet complained that the resources of music have been exhausted. The present day composer fails to realize that any scale may be turned into a monstrosity through improper treatment, which explains the great majority of our popular music Scales are not the product of imagina tive inspiration; each must be consid ered as a scientific achievement, and its pitch should be carefully and exactly determined through the application of certain fixed laws which form the backbone of all true music.

Mr. Grimm made it clear that music instead of being the most primitive has evolved into the most complex ar known to twentieth century civilization.-New York Post.

Grayfish as a Food.

It used to be called the dogfish and was looked upon as a worthless nuisance. Now, through the efforts of Uncle Sam's bureau of fisheries, it is called the grayfish and is in great demand as a valuable food product. The grayfish contains a little less protein and a little more fat than the salmon, but in digestibility, richness and whole someness it equals, if it does not excel many of our popular fish foods. One interesting result of the analysis thus far made by the government is that the grayfish is entirely free from uric acid, which is not true of meats, poultry or other fishes.

Sift flour and baking powder and salt together. Rub in the butter with floured fingers, mix with the milk, add a dessertspoonful of sugar, make into rolls, bake at once Brush over with milk when half baked and then finish.

To Know Good Linen.

know how to distinguish between the two qualities of linens. A microscopic examination of the two qualities shows that the needle cutting through the chemically bleached linen leaves broken and ragged threads. A punc ture of the needle in the grass bleach ed linen shows that the needle simply separates the threads by passing between them. In one case the threads are bent, and in the other the threads are broken. The fibers of the chemically bleached linens are uneven, brittle and inferior; the fibers of the grass bleached linens are practically unimpaired, so that when the needle is withdrawn and the cloth rubbed and pulled the threads of the latter resume

COMMUNITY THOUGHT.

How Live Commercial Organizations Seek Active Help of Members.

Live commercial organizations over the country are striving more and more to serve not only the community as a whole, but to perform this service urged to work together for the general good, secretaries more and more are coming to call upon their membership for individual suggestions as to definite undertaken. The means employed to rendered. learn the community thought in this way are always interesting and incidentally indicate methods being followed to arouse the active, working interest of members.

Plans along this line have recently been put into effect by the chamber of Commercial clubs of Boise, Ida. Under the title of "Spend Five Minutes to Help Your City" the Marietta chamber put out a large return postcard. On this card was printed an appeal to all members to give definite thought to the chamber and its work. On the card appeared a list of thirty-five suggestions for work offered by the members' council, and each member was asked to check off what appealed to him as the ten most important of these
