THE COUNTING OF OUR DEAD

RECORDS OF ALL MEN

Statistician Always On Firing Line.

ALL MAIL REPORTS SENT WEEKLY

The War Department's Statistical Division Has Been Given The Whole Task Of Reporting The Casualties.

With American soldiers in the first-line trenches, the time is at hand when the United States will receive reports from the front of men dead, wounded and missing. Notwithstanding the fact that our men in khaki are occupying what hardened militarists call a "quiet sector" of the French front, casualty reports are expected; perhaps few at first, but surely more and more frequent.

The War Department's statistical division, which has been organized since we entered the war, has been given the task of reporting the casualties. The division, which is a bureau of headquarters at best, is ready for the task ahead of it. An enlisted statistician is on the firing line sharing the same dangers as the active fighting men. If one or more of the soldiers is wounded or killed, the statistician will ascertain the man's name, his company and regiment. The report will be handed to a messenger, who will carry it to the divisional headquarters, always within motorcycle distance of the firing line. Not more than two days at the most should pass before the message is received in this country.

Major Jones, in charge of the statistical division, will lose no time in notifying the relatives of the man. In his office is the record of practically every man in France—ninety-five per cent accurate. The record of the man wounded or killed can be found a minute after the report is received. This record contains all of the information about the man, including his next of kin.

For every half a million of men who go to France there will be approximately seven hundred statisticians. Representatives of the division will be stationed in general, divisional and regimental headquarters, with each organizational unit in France, at ports of embarkation, in field and base hospitals, even in prison camps. Three enlisted statisticians will be assigned to wounded, the statistician will indicate in a word or two how severely the man has been hurt. He will say "probably fatally," "severely," "moderately," "slightly" or "very slightly."

Only the first notice will be called. Two or three weeks will elapse between the time the telegram has been received and the letter, giving more details, has come to hand. The weekly reports will be made out in triplicate. One will be sent to Washington, one to General Pershing's headquarters, and one to the general statistical headquarters which have been opened "somewhere in France." The mail report will tell whether the soldier is gaining or failing whether he has been removed from one hospital to another, whether he is in a convalescent hospital, or whether he will soon return to America to recuperate. Everything possible is being done to make the records as complete and accurate as possible. Plans are being made now to handle all inquiries relative to prisoners of war held by the United States and to Americans who will be taken by Germany as prisoners of war. The officials are doing everything they can to make the trials of those at home as easy as possible.

Extending Age Limit of Nurses.

According to announcements from Red Cross headquarters about 2,000 Red Cross nurses are already in Europe. Fifteen thousand nurses have been enrolled, a number estimated as sufficient for an army of 1,500,000 men. Approximately 100 nurses are being added every month.

In order to meet the demand for more nurses, if it should become necessary, there has been a slight modification in the requirements. The more important change contemplated is a lowering of the age limit for specially qualified persons.

License For Shipment to North Pole

The first license issued by the exports administrative board for a shipment of foodstuffs to the North Pole reads as follows: "Permission is hereby granted to Raoul Amundsen of New York, N. Y., to export two hundred and ninety-two (292) cases (5 per cent more or less) of foodstuffs from the United States to Raoul Amundsen at North Pole."

Y. M. C. A. TO FURNISH PROTECTION DURING LEISURE HOURS

National Universities Established to Which American Youths Are Being Sent.

The work of the National War Recreation Commission is divided into three parts. To the Y. M. C. A. has been assigned certain duties within each camp, especially the establishment of their famous recreation buildings which have been so successfully carried on by them in camps on the Mexican Border and in the military and prison camps of Europe. There will be one such building for each brigade, with books and magazines, provision for writing letters, lectures, church service, singing, games, moving pictures and other educational and recreational activities. There will be five men in charge of each building. The second branch of the work will be to aid in the exclusion of vice and vicious resorts from the neighborhood of each camp. The third branch of the work is of a more positive sort. It is the belief of the commission that a purely negative policy as regards conditions outside of the camps would come very far from meeting the needs of the situation. The underlying cause of the great and obvious evils which have attended the establishment of training camps in this country and in Europe—the real disease of which these evils have merely been the symptoms—has been the result of the separation of the men in the camps from normal associations of life.

Moreover the commission does not consider it enough that a great educational enterprise in this country—such as the establishment of these training camps for young men represents—should barely avoid the wholesale propagation of physical disease and moral deterioration. America demands something more than that. We must make these men stronger in every sense—more fit, morally, mentally and physically than they have ever been in their lives—or it will have to be said of us that, like every other nation that has encountered the problem of the training camp, we also have failed in its solution.

These camps are national universities—training schools to which a substantial fraction of American youth are being sent—and it is by their results not only in technical military efficiency but in those qualities on which military and all other efficiency in the long run depends that they must finally be judged.

FROM THE COUNTY.

Seventeen boys from the Maryland State School for the Deaf solved the labor problem for R. Rush Lewis Thursday when they went to his farm and husked his corn. Last spring Mr. Lewis plowed and prepared a large patch of ground at the school for the boys to cultivate.

Nearly 2,000 persons marched in the parade of the third annual Sunday school demonstration of Frederick city and county Sunday afternoon. Immediately following the parade mass meetings were held in the City Opera House and Empire Theatre, which crowded both buildings to capacity. Rev. Charles Brubaker, Dayton, O., and Hon. Frank L. Middleton, Washington, were the speakers and both thrilled their audiences with messages of hope and inspiration appropriate to the occasion.

Word has been received here of the death of Harry N. Emmert, U. S. A., retired well-known in Frederick, which occurred at the Government Hospital in Washington. Mr. Emmert has been ill for some months and was removed from his home at Beverly, N. J., to Washington in the hope that his condition would improve.

On Tuesday afternoon forty nine men draftees—four from Frederick city and forty-five from the county left for Camp Meade. The men voted before leaving and were accompanied to the train by the officials of both draft boards and a number of friends.

A delegation from Frederick city and county made a pilgrimage to Camp Meade on Wednesday and spent the day entertaining the home boys. Hood College dramatic students presented a French comedy in the Y. M. C. A. building. Vocal and instrumental selections were rendered by the College Glee Club.

Pro-Germans As Conductors.

Ament the trouble in Batimore over the failure of Dr. Karl Muck to have the Boston Symphony Orchestra play the Star Spangled Banner the following is of interest:—Fritz Kreisler cancelled an engagement in the exclusive suburb of Sewickley, owing to opposition of society women. He said he would give his concert in Pittsburgh. The women charged that Kreisler is an Austrian officer on furlough and that his earnings are going to aid the Teutonic arms.

On Friday Lieut. William Thaw, of Pittsburgh was placed in command of the Lafayette Escadrille. He has succeeded Captain Thennault, the French officer, who was placed in command of the unit when it was originally formed.

The first court martial sentence for desertion was imposed at Camp Custer, Mich., Friday. Frederick J. Hagin of Midland county, Mich., was sentenced to ten years at Leavenworth Prison.

The United States government, to show its confidence in the Russian government has extended another credit of $31,700,000.

Premier Kerensky says the Russians are now out, but will not quit. The United States government and the other Allies will give all aid possible to the Russians.

A German uprising is in progress in Southern Brazil, completely paralyzing railway traffic, according to private reports received in railway circles in Buenos Aires Friday.

Notwithstanding the rainy weather on Friday night and early Saturday, the German batteries again displayed more activity than normal on the part of the French line occupied by the American troops. German shells were distributed impartially among the trenches, the American batteries replying in the same fashion.

Pure Americanism is being taught in the National Army cantonments. The War College announced Saturday that officers from all the draft army divisions had just completed a series of 10 lectures on patriotism given at the Army College and had been sent back to their commands with instructions to give the men in the selective army the War College's views of why America is at war.

Canadian officers are forbidden hereafter to offer their services to the American Government for instructional or other purposes, either directly or through the British Embassy at Washington, it was learned in Montreal, Saturday.

Gen. Challe Davis Onal, commander and formerly chief of staff of the Seventh Army Corps, was killed at Avocourt on October 11 it became known in Paris Saturday.

Nine men gave their lives when the transport Finland was torpedoed by a German submarine as she was returning from foreign waters.

On Sunday Berlin reported the capture of some American soldiers by a German reconnoitering expedition on the Rhine-Marne Canal.

Machine Used to Plant Trees.

A machine which plants from 10,000 to 15,000 forest tree seedlings a day is being used at the Letchworth Park forest and arboretum, in Wyoming county, N. Y., according to officials of the forest service who are acting as advisers in the work. Previously the planting has been done by hand at the rate of 1,200 to 1,500 trees each day per man.

The machine was designed to set out cabbage and tomato plants, but works equally well with trees. It is about the size of an ordinary mowing machine and is operated by three men and two horses. One man drives the team while the other two handle the seedlings.

All the measures recommended to the Congress by President Braza's reprisals against German aggressions have been agreed to by the Chamber of Deputies of Brazil. These included annulment of contracts for public works entered into with Germans; prohibition of new land concessions to German subjects; control of German banks and the eventual annulment of their licenses; extension of these measures to German commercial firms; prohibition of the transfer ownership of German properties, and the internment of German suspects. In addition the committee action authorizes the Government to nullify all contracts with Germans.

On Monday armed forces under the American flag had their first clash with German soldiers in an attack which the Germans made on first-line trenches, where the United States troops had been taken for instruction and three Americans were killed, five wounded and twelve captured or missing.

The drawing of numbers to determine the order in which the men registered for military service shall be called to fill Porto Rico's quota was held Monday. In all there will be 12,854 men called.

On Tuesday Maryland placed in the field at Camp Meade her final contribution of selected men to the State's first call quota. In all there were five hundred and eight men.

In preparation for the manning of all army transports with naval crews, the Navy Department on Tuesday began special efforts to recruit and train men for fire-room service. Physical ability to stand the work is the only qualification required.

Japan and the United States have reached a complete agreement in regard to China and at the same time have arrived at a clear understanding as to the military, naval and economic co-operation in the war against Germany. This momentous development was announced Tuesday by Secretary Lansing, who made public notes exchanged by him and Viscount Ishii, the special Japanese Ambassador, formally recording an agreement recognizing that Japan has a special interest in China, but pledging the independence and territorial integrity of the great eastern Republic and reaffirming the doctrine of the "open door" for commerce and industry.

General Verkhovsky was formally relieved of his office as minister of war Tuesday and M. Gnrmanikovsky named as minister ad interim. No explanation was made of the change.

NOVEMBER MONTH OF METEORS

The Leonids and The Andromedes Due the 14th and 15th of This Month.

The present month is famous in astronomical circles for its displays of meteors or "shooting stars." These are not, of course, actual stars, but merely small bodies which in their travels through space have entered the earth's atmosphere. The heat generated by friction with the air speedily burps them up. Occasionally one is large enough to reach the earth before it is entirely consumed. Such bodies are called meteorites. Several are seen to fall yearly, while many more doubtless reach the earth unobserved.

Occasionally we have what is called a meteoric shower. At such times not only are the shooting stars more numerous than usual, but they seem to come from a certain region of the sky, the so-called radiant point. This is probably due to the fact that the small bodies which produce the shower are moving in parallel orbits before encountering the earth. We see only the projections of these paths on the sky, and the parallel lines appear to us to meet in a point, the vanishing point of perspective. The meteor itself may be seen some distance from this point, but the trail if extended backward will be found to pass near the radiant. The nearer the trail is to the radiant the shorter it will appear. November has two of these showers, the Leonids and the Andromedes. The Leonids are so called from the fact that the radiant point is within the sickle of the constellation Leo. This shower is due on the 14th or 15th, but one must get up in the early morning hours to see it, as Leo does

LITERARY WORKS INCREASE FAST.

Account Showing Number of Books Published in the United States During the Year.

One year ago, Mr. Frederick E. Woodward, head of the book department of Woodward and Lothrop, booksellers of Washington, D. C., made use of a chart showing the number of books published in the United States during the year 1915. Today he presents the following one for 1916:—Fiction still holds the highest place. 932, a slight increase of 13 titles over the previous year, although the percentage of Fiction to the whole is less than 9 per cent.

Poetry and Drama occupies the second place, with 860, a remarkable record, as it is within 72 of equalling the number of Fiction.

Sociology and Economics occupies third place with 767. Religion and Theology is in the fourth place, with 755, and History in the fifth place with 754. Science, 639; Education, 324; Law, 274; Agriculture, 383; and Music, 113, all show an increase. A decrease is recorded in Religion and Theology, 755; Geography, 354 and Biography 463.

A new class was formed in September, 1916, called "Military and Naval Science," and 94 books were recorded in the remaining four months of the year.

The relative position of the remaining classes is not materially changed from the previous year. The total number for the year was 10,445, an increase of 711 over the total for 1915.

STATE CONDENSED.

Baltimore friends of Lord Fairfax were gratified Saturday to learn that he had been elevated to the British House of Lords by the vote of his Scotch peers. He is well known in Baltimore. For many years Lord Fairfax was associated with the banking house of Baring, Magoun & Co. in Wall Street, and in 1902 he went to England as the representative of an international banking concern. He remained in England until 1904, taking his place among the other Scottish peers at King Edward's coronation.

George W. Eyerly, a retired merchant, died in Hagerstown, Sunday afternoon after a lingering illness. He was engaged in farming until 1890, when he removed to this city and with his son, Charles H., established the dry goods firm of G. W. Eyerly & Son.

Former State Senator Charles W. Jones, well-known all over Baltimore and the State, died Saturday at the Maryland General Hospital from intestinal trouble.

County Farm Agent Thomas L. Smith reports an exceptional yield of corn by Lance Dayhoff, a member of the Smithsburg Boys Club, on an acre of ground. He raised 111 bushels of seed corn.

William J. Forsythe, former sheriff of Harford county died very suddenly in Bel Air, Saturday morning of heart trouble at the age of 60 years.

Orble B. Boughton, president of the Allegany County Teachers' Association, has issued a statement to parents pointing out the injury the schools are liable to suffer through the loss of experienced teachers. Within the last five years many have gone to other states and some have entered other occupations, owing to the salaries paid in Maryland.

Alonza L. Miles, former counsel to the Baltimore Board of Police Commissioners, died at Salisbury.

Prof. Francis A. Soper, of Baltimore one of most prominent educators in Maryland, died Friday morning at the Union Protestant Infirmary. For some years he was principal of the Baltimore City College and later superintendent of education in that city.

Herbert Dagenhart, who for the last 22 years has run a freight transfer business between Boonsboro and Hagerstown, has retired and moved to Hagerstown. He made three trips a week, traveling in all kinds of weather. In that period he traveled about 60,000 miles.

The numerical strength of the Allies is three times as great as that of the central powers.

ARCHITECT FOR THE WAR

NEW CAMOUFLAGE UNIT

Translate Photographs Into Maps

GERMAN PRISONERS PUT TO WORK

The Institute Is Ready To Furnish A Specified Number Of Men For Service In This Country And In Europe.

Correspondence from Washington says that architects throughout the country have been mobilized for war service by the American Institute of Architects. The summons to duty on as well as behind the lines of battle was prepared in the same historic hall in the Octagon Building in which the Treaty of Ghent, terminating the War of 1812, was signed. Some are now in France supervising the building of the aviation bases to be used by America's air forces, others are in training in this country, notably in the Camouflage Battalion at the American University camp grounds, while still others are awaiting the call of the War Department, the Navy Department and the United States Shipping Board. Three thousand experts in building construction are at the disposal of the Government.

The first call was issued some months ago by direction of John Laurence Mauran, of St. Louis when he offered President Wilson the services of the architects of the country whose technical training made them peculiarly valuable to the country. The offer naturally was appreciated, as the army was in need of officers in the Engineer's Corps and Quartermasters Corps, in which branches of the service an architect's training and knowledge made him particularly useful. In France many architects are engaged in translating photographs from aeroplanes into maps.

Four thousand and more architects and draftsmen declared that they were willing as a patriotic duty to give up their private practice and serve in Europe or in the war-making bureaus of the Government. One of the first members to be commissioned was Everts Tracy who received the rank of major. At first he was placed in charge of the camouflage work in the United States, organizing the first unit at the American University. Since then he has gone to France, leaving Captain Omar Embury to develop additional camouflage units whose personnel includes many architects and draftsmen. These men will have charge of building the aviation bases in France, directing at least sixty thousand French laborers and German prisoners of war.

The actual selection of the number of men and their dispatch to the point of service is left entirely in the hands of the War or Navy Department, as the case may be. Broadly speaking, it is on this basis that the Institute can serve the nation. In volunteering for the service the architect is asked to bear in mind the general principle that each man is to find his place—that place to be the one he is best fitted to fill by education and experience, and that as a rule, confirmed by the experience of England and France, the architect is more valuable in some position utilizing his special qualifications than as a volunteer for straight military service.

Xmas Sweets Will be Short This Year.

It begins to look as if there is going to be decidedly less candy than is usual in the Christmas stocking this year.

Candy-making for the Christmas trade begins late in August or early in September and continues right up to the end of November as a rule. Some of the manufacturers, however, have gone almost their limit already and they doubt that from now on they will get anything like enough sugar to make the filling of nearly all Christmas orders possible.

American Troops Leave Flag Behind.

The Stars and Stripes will not lead the Sammies' first assault upon the German trenches—probably some time this month.

It will be the first time American troops have gone into battle without Old Glory leading them.

Every man will go as a fighter, with bayonet or bombs. And instead of heralding their coming with trumpets and waving standards, they will be as inconspicuous as possible, to make their arrival more effective.

Cat Skins In Demand.

Fifteen thousand house cat skins are among the million-odd pelts to be auctioned at a fur sale in New York. So Tabby's hide also is in demand for fur creations!

First War Kitchen Opened.

In a little whitewashed cellar beneath a once aristocratic dwelling at Fifteenth and K streets, Washington, America's first war kitchen is going full blast. It is the foundation for a whole army of war kitchens which will spring up in towns and cities throughout the land within the next few months to help America's housewives conserve the war foods—wheat, meat, fats, sugar and dairy products.

This program worked out, the Food Administration will establish war kitchens from coast to coast, with graduates of the Washington war kitchen course in charge.

Whale Now On The Menu.

Whale steak is now being served to partons in the New York Hotels. Its appearance on the menu caused some speculation among the diners but it was explained as a means of aiding the food conservation plan. Steak is not the only way in which whale will be served. It is to be used in a kind of soup and the chefs are confident that curried whale on toast will become very popular. Then there is to be a whale stew, whale bouillon and whale pot roast. Cutlet and salads made from the big fish are also to be introduced.

Mrs. Ledié Gloninger invited and chaperoned the seniors and Misses Lucile Morgan and Hilda Kelly to the Lebanon Valley game at Mt. St. Mary's, Saturday afternoon. After the game the party motored to Emmitsburg for refreshments.

Many students display unusual interest in the science of Philately. Daily the members gather at "The Round Table" assorting and studying the valuable collection made since September 1917.

Mr. H. Suter Morgan, Roland Park, Md., visited his sister, Miss Lucile Morgan, '19, this week. In April 1917 Mr. Morgan enlisted in the U. S. Navy. He has now applied for a transfer from the Naval Department to the Aviation Signal Service Corps and will soon be sent to an Aviation Camp, "Somewhere in America."

On Friday evening a Halloween masquerade was given by the freshmen. The senior recreation hall was transformed into a realm where corn shocks, black cats, witches and pumpkins abounded. Prizes for the best costumes were awarded to Marion Flanagan, '18, representing "The Ghost of Kaiser Bill"; Gertrude Moran, '21, "The Silent Master"; Bobbie Hall, Preparatory Department, "Red Riding Hood"; Misses Mary Cofer and Caroline Gable, '19, represented Lord Kitchener and a Red Cross Nurse; Margaret Brady, Ichabod Crane. The college preparatory added enjoyment by making their appearance through the windows dressed as the Klu Klux Klan.

The October Concert took place on Thursday evening and was a source of delight to the audience. Miss Margaret Cain in Bassini's Salva Regina, displayed a knowledge of vocal technique and rendered the composition remarkably well. Miss Lucile Morgan sang Pizzi's Ave Maria with much feeling; her rich legato tones sweetly blended with the violin obligato. The piano selection from Mendelssohn was excellently rendered by Miss Mary Vickers. ## November Month of Meteors.

not rise until about midnight. These meteors were especially numerous in 1833 and 1866, but encounters with the planets Jupiter and Saturn have so changed the orbit of the swarm that we no longer encounter large numbers. It is still, however, a shower worth watching, the meteors being very swift, generally of a bluish green tint, and frequently leaving brilliant trains behind.

The Andromedes seem to come, as the name implies, from the constellation Andromeda. The shower is due in the early part of the night of the 24th. The Andromedes are slow moving as a rule, generally reddish in color, and do not leave brilliant trains.

No small part of the abundant scorn and ridicule that old Ben Butlers' military operations elicited all the way from New Orleans to Fort Fisher, Big Bethel and Petersburg, was visited upon him for using anchored observation balloons in the war for the Union. With all our advance in flying, the observation balloon is still part of the equipment of both Army and Navy.

MOUNT SAINT MARY'S COLLEGE

Terrace Talk

Mr. E. F. Sweeney '21, recently visited his brother who is an officer stationed at Camp Meade.

The class of 1917 lately placed a beautiful persian rug in the Senior Hall as one of its contributions to keep up the artistic appearance of the room.

Mr. H. S. Morgan '16, Baltimore, Md., spent Sunday at the college. Mr. Morgan was recently discharged from the U. S. Navy that he might enter the aviation corps.

Manager Doran of the basket ball team is rapidly completing his schedule. Many fine teams have been booked to play here and some good games are expected.

The Senior Hall is a place of merriment these days. The class of 1918 recently purchased twenty new victrola records and music is continually heard thereabouts.

Private J. L. McCarthy, ex '18, who is in a division of the new National Army stationed at Yaphank, L. I., writes that he is very much pleased with his new surroundings and soon expects to leave for France.

The Senior class gave an entertainment on Halloween. C. P. Schmidt proved to be the big "hit" of the night and a large bouquet was presented to him during the performance. The affair was repeated on Thursday afternoon for the benefit of those who were unable to attend the first presentation.

Sunday morning two teams composed of the smallest youngsters in the Minim department fought tooth and nail in a football game played on Echo Field. The outcome was not decided until near the end of the game when little LeBron Kinchley ran through the opposing team for the only touchdown. Captain Fesencmeier played best for the losers.

The inter-class track meet, held on November 3rd, was a marked success. It showed that there is considerable track material in the College and no doubt a team will be entered in some indoor meets this winter. As is the custom, the Preps made off with the honors of the day, but only after they had been given a close run by the Junior class. Daniels, Chapman and Miley were the individual stars, the latter scoring all of the team points.

Purcell Lyceum has again resumed its activities and regular weekly meetings will be in order. The following officers were elected for the present scholastic year: Honorary President, Rt. Rev. Monsignor B. J. Bradley; President, C. W. Presey '20; Vice President, P. L. Nolan '20; Secretary, J. J. Kealy '21; Treasurer, C. P. Schmidt '21; Sergeant-at-Arms, L. J. Welsh '20. Board of Governors, J. J. O'Brien '20; B. F. McCann '21; J. T. Greene '20; J. G. Sullivan '21.

Considering the fact that it is only his second year in college football, Willard Preston is putting up a remarkable game at his center position on the "varsity." Preston, who is a member of the Junior class, has improved wonderfully under Coach Thompson and should make a strong bid for a place on the All Maryland eleven this Fall. The remaining games on the football schedule are: Nov. 10, St. John's at Annapolis; Nov. 17, Gettysburg at Gettysburg; Nov. 29, Delaware at Newark.

Sunday morning C. C. Coyle '18, received notice that he had been drafted and ordered to report immediately at Camp Ayer, Mass. He left the same afternoon and was given an enthusiastic send off by his classmates who held American flags in their hands while they cheered him on his way. "Charlie" goes with the best wishes of all and his name will add one more to the already long list of Mountaineers who have answered their country's call.

An interesting debate took place in Purcell Lyceum last Sunday night. The subject of the debate was: "Resolved, that foot ball is more beneficial than base ball." The affirmative side, represented by Messrs. Scanlon and Door, was the winner. The negative side was upheld by M. A. Roche and F. L. Miley. The judges selected for the debate were Messrs Cassidy, Bradley and Cain. Mr. R. C. Leatherman read an interesting essay on "The Life of Washington" and current events were detailed by Mr. E. F. Sweeney.

The officers of the Athletic Association for the year of 1917-18 are as follows: President, Francis L. Donahue '18; Vice Pres., Manuel Lafferty '18; Secretary, John D. Sadler '18; Treasurer, Harry A. Kearns '18; Mgr. Baseball Team, C. F. Carroll '18; Mgr. Football Team, T. Hannigan '18; Mgr. Basketball Team, T. P. Doran '18; Mgr. Track Team, John D. Sadler '18; Mgr. Tennis Team, J. M. Ryan '18; Captain Football, Leo K. Drury '19; Captain Baseball, John D. Sadler '18; Captain Basketball, J. M. Hagerty '21; Asst. Mgr. Football, W. F. Culhane '19; Asst. Mgr. Baseball, J. J. O'Leary '19; Asst. Mgr. Basketball, P. P. Cogan '19; Asst. Mgr. Track Team, T. P. Regan '19; Asst. Mgr. Tennis, A. G. Cotter '19.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

The squad is not in the least discouraged over the defeat administered to them by the Lebanon Valley team and they have begun the week with hard work in preparation for the Gettysburg game next Saturday.

At times the team showed wonderful strength in last Saturday's game though they were up against opponents who greatly out weighed them. There had been much talk going the rounds about the wonderful ability of the Lebanon Valley team and this could account for the poor showing the locals made in the first quarter of play when their opponents scored nearly all of their points. It does not do a team much good to continually hear about what a great aggregation they are about to face.

For the most part the players came out of the game in good shape and save for a few minor injuries the team is starting this week's practice in first class condition.

Last year the Mountain boys were beaten by the battlefield eleven by the score of 12 to 3, a beautiful field goal by Captain Sheridan averting a shut out. Sheridan is not here this year to repeat the trick but in Saul, Coach Thompson has a man who can repeat the Sheridan trick if called upon.

Captain Drury, who has been out of the game all year because of injuries, may break into the line-up Saturday and he too can boot the oval with considerable ability besides being an excellent man on the defense.

Preston, star center, has been granted a couple of days rest. He has been playing an excellent game and working very hard and no doubt a little rest will put him on edge for the big game on Saturday.

Gettysburg is known to have a very formidable team on the defense having held St. Johns scoreless last Saturday, and the Mountain backs will have to perfect their interference if they are to gain any ground worth mentioning. In Daniels and Chapman the Mountaineers have men who possess extraordinary ability in carrying the ball and if they are given good interference will make the Gettysburg line hustle to check them.

Daniels is also very proficient in hurling the forward pass and with such men as Hagarty and Sours on the wings to receive them there should be quite a bit of ground gained by this style of play.

The team, accompanied by Coach Thompson, managers and trainer will leave here early Saturday morning so that the boys will have an opportunity to rest up before starting the game.

Juniors, 39; Seniors 6.

In the annual Barbecue struggle, the Junior Varsity routed the Seniors by the score of 39 to 6. The youngsters showed great improvement in their offensive, much of which was due to the cool and masterly manner in which Malascalza handled the team.

Two minutes after the first whistle Slattery intercepted a forward pass and went forty yards before being downed on the twelve yard line. Captain Hollern made a first down in one plunge off tackle; then Sullivan crashed thru guard for the first score. From then on the ball was continuously in the Seniors' territory.

Regan scooped up a fumble and went forty yards for another touchdown. Fisher pulled in a forward pass, hurled by Malascalza on his forty yard line and easily scored. Slattery went through tackle on the forty six yard line, and, shaking off would-be tacklers, went over for the last score of the half.

In the second half, Slattery scored again after a series of clever forward passes and end runs had put the pigskin on the eleven yard mark. In the last period, Alfred broke thru, blocked a punt and scooping up the ball on a dead run, carried it over for the final tally.

For the Seniors, Lally scored in the third period after a pretty run from the thirty yard line. With this single exception, the Seniors' offensive was utterly powerless. The speedy ends of the Juniors repeatedly threw their opponents back for a lost, while the forwards showed real class for the first time this season, charging in and upsetting the plays before they even reached the line.

Slattery proved the greatest ground gainer, Captain Hollern has rounded in to his true form (enough said.) Sullivan, the powerful full-back, seems to have found himself, and proved a worthy man to round out the backfield.

The line-up:

Juniors	Positions	Seniors
Miller.....	L. E.....	Menko
McNalley.....	L. T.....	McGuinness
Pepper (Regan).....	L. G.....	Young

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

BY "MIKE" THOMPSON.

Due to the war conditions the football season did not get under way as early this season as usual, last Saturday, however brought about some good tests and the most part the teams that were picked to win came through. In the East the squads went along as expected although there was some doubt in regard to the West Point-Notre Dame game. The Westerners came back again as a few years ago and unexpectedly took the Army boys into camp. Anticipating that they would again spring the aerial game, which made West Point play that style of defense, the Notre Dame contingent just fooled them and played a straight game and got away with it.

It might be said that the while the Eastern teams were at loggerheads over the forward pass and would not use it as they could not see any benefit to it, the West Point team superior at that time to any in the East, met these boys from Indiana for a practice game before their encounter with the Navy. What they did to the West Pointers is a matter of football history. West Point learned a lesson and it was by this experience that they were able to win from the Navy the first year at the Polo grounds by the overhauled performance.

The greatest upset of Saturday was that of Minnesota. They were looked upon by all to take the Western conference championship, but the University of Wisconsin which they looked upon as easy prey just denied them or that privilege. Coach Harry Williams a former Yale man had his heart set on taking the Western championship this year as he had a number of his last year's team intact.

The Brown Syracuse game proved to be a little upset to some of the experts as Brown has trimmed Colgate a week or so ago, and from the record of the New Yorkers last year this win put the little State College in the running. Syracuse evidently were preparing as Colgate is always a bone of contention for President Day's boys and the up Staters went to Rhode Island prepared to show up their rivals and went back with a victory. This victory will tend to make the annual Syracuse-Colgate game at Syracuse all the more popular this year.

Although Yale, Harvard and Princeton are not participating in inter-collegiate football the game so far is going along nicely. True with these three big ones out of it the interest is not as intent, however the American public desire it and the games on other fields are drawing large crowds so far. Some have the opinion that these three large institutions keep away from the game another year due to internal causes that game will be lost. I doubt it very much, as it is the only true American amateur sport that we have and I am sure that it will still live with the American school and college boy.

Coach Rush is on the job at Princeton but only in the way of coaching an informal team as it is called. They are only allowed three days a week to practice, the other days being turned over to military practice. Rush claims that he cannot assemble a representative eleven unless some of the men that are not eligible were allowed to participate. It is the general belief that the committee will finally be won to his point of view.

Charley White, without a doubt the best referee that ever stepped into a prize ring is reported as dying at his New York home. If there was ever a square third man to enter the ring Sir Charles was that man. He loved the sport and although the money consideration was something to him it was only a secondary thought on his part. He would never be a party to anything that had the least suspicion to it, as sometimes the ring game had developed into. He said to the writer only a short time ago that he was sorry to see the great game under such adverse criticism, but the ones connected had themselves to blame as they were mercenary inspired. Charley was a great follower of inter-collegiate sports and he was always an important spectator at the bigger football games. Charley was one true sport and his type will be greatly missed.

It is rather hard at this time to pick the leading combination foot ball team. Many experts have given out advance dope but it is a difficult proposition to see how they gather their ideas. A great many agree on the University of Pittsburgh and rightly so as they have a wonderful outfit. The Navy has also been putting up a great game although their opponents are numbered among the smaller colleges but the large scores that Coach Dobie has been running up shows the caliber of team he has. It is too bad that he did not have a stronger schedule. Georgia Tech of the South is a team that has to be given some attention. They are a husky lot and have a wonderful back field. So it is a matter of opinion of the writers. It is up to some one to travel the different sections and get a line on the teams before deciding on the one best bet.

"The Million Dollar Kid" That's what Benny Leonard is. He is only 21 years old, very young to be called the lightweight champion of the world, but such he is, and his asset in money is more than any other man that ever held that title.

His services are in immediate demand all over the country where the square ring sport is in vogue. Leonard can go along and grab from $2,000 to $5,000 every week or so boxing less formidable contenders. However he is in the service of Uncle Sam at one of the cantonments giving boxing instructions and propably will be content as a good American citizen to help the boys get in shape.

This Saturday should bring out some good foot ball as the teams are more nearing into shape for their important games. During these crucial times the coaches have a hard time as the material is not at hand as in former years, but as Secretary of War Baker said at the Inter-Collegiate meeting in August, "It is the time for you men in charge of athletics at the different institutions to pick out, not the big men as you were accustomed to, but to prepare the boys that you would otherwise overlook if these big men were not called to the service."

Besides Benny Leonard doing his bit in the service, Dr. Joseph E. Raycroft has arranged to have Kid McCoy, Battling Levinsky, Richie Mitchell and Packey McFarland to instruct groups of men in the training camps. These groups in turn will teach the other men. In addition the recruits will be shown the relation between boxing and bayonet fighting by motion pictures. The boxing film shows Kid McCoy, James J. Corbett, Benny Leonard and Johnny Kilbane in action.

Germany, has thus far wrung $16,000,000,000 in cash from stricken Belgium.

BUICK

BUICK

YOU show good judgement in interesting yourself in a Buick. It proves you want to enjoy motoring with the minimum expense. For here is a car that will meet with your approval in every way possible. It will do anything any other automobile will do and it will do it at less expense.

First of all you want mechanical dependability. You want a car you can be proud of. A good looking car. This car has style; individual style, the kind of style that counts for something unequaled in its price class. Comfort is all important in motor car satisfaction, convenience for driving, also of the starting and lighting system, which has proven to be the best in the world, the Delco.

Some prospective purchasers are a little nervous about operating a car. The safety of a car depends upon its sturdiness of the units employed in its construction. Sturdy wheels, steering gear that can be depended upon at all times, ample brakes, places the machine under complete control of the driver. The safety of a car depends largely upon its ability to stop and start instantly.

The lines of the body are composed of flowing curves. No sharp angles and breaks. Notice the unbroken stream line of the Buick. Not an angle anywhere. Only curves that melt into each other.

If we were to undertake to explain to you in the these columns the Real Beauty, the Flexibility; Economy, Style, Comfort, Safety, Durability, Convenience, Easy Riding, Etc., as well as the excellent service you receive at the hands of the Buick Motor Company, as well as from the Ideal Garage Company, Inc., at Frederick, there would be no other room for the usual news. ## FREDERICK COUNTY.

Frederick is next to the largest of the counties of Maryland. In population and wealth it ranks next to Baltimore county. In the fertility and productiveness of its lands it ranks among the first in the Union, and especially in the production of wheat. The area of this great county is 633 square miles. The great body of the people are of German, English and Scotch-Irish descent, the progeny mostly of the early settlers. The land is mostly of fine limestone quality, and the greater part of the county is a valley of rolling lands lying between the Linganore Hills and the Catoctin Mountain. This splendid valley is drained by the Monocacy river, and is one of the best farmed and most highly improved and productive areas of the Union. The great crops are wheat and corn.—Maryland Manual issued by Board of Public Works.

EMMITSBURG.

In all Western Maryland—the beauty spot and the garden spot of the State—there is no town more attractive than Emmitsburg.

No people are more wide-awake, more knowable, more courteous to strangers than Emmitsburgians.

The location of Emmitsburg is ideal; the surrounding scenery is unmatched; the climate is notably healthful; its water—pure mountain spring water—cannot be surpassed. It is within easy access of Baltimore, Hagerstown, Frederick; eight miles from the National Battlefield at Gettysburg, near to the Mountain Resorts, and is surrounded by fertile farms and productive orchards.

Mount Saint Mary's College and Ecclesiastical Seminary—with an enviable reputation extending over 108 years—is located here; St. Joseph's College and Academy for young ladies—equally as noted during its 107 years of splendid achievement—is also here.

There are excellent Schools—Public and Parochial—in Emmitsburg; two sound Banks, five Churches, a live Newspaper, modern Hotel accommodations, adequate Fire Department, progressive merchants, splendid physicians, good livery, auto garages, many fraternal organizations, good railroad accommodations. There are four or five mails a day, telegraph, express and telephone service connecting all points; electric light and power, oiled streets.

There is business to be had in Emmitsburg; there are Factory Sites available. If you contemplate changing your place of residence—come to Emmitsburg, Frederick County, Md.

THE DIFFERENT BRANDS.

Not all of us may join the khakiéd throng
Of those who answer and go forth to stem
The tide of war. But we can all be strong
And steady in our loyalty to them!
Not with unfettered thought, or tongue let loose
In bitterness and hate—a childish game!
But with a faith, untroubled by abuse,
That honors those who put the rest to shame!

Slacker! A word heard very often now-a-days; unfortunately too often found in the bright lexicon of youth. One who shirks his duty; one who retards the progress of the many; who does not bear his share of the public burden but slips along letting others do his bit—that's a slacker.

There are quite a number of species under this head. The first and most deserving of consideration is the young man, independent and physically fit, who does not join the ranks because of his fondness for his own comfort. Small towns and big cities would feel strange without the usual quota of idlers to hold down the street corners and support the lamp-posts.

Then, that unhappy class of pseudo-patriots who glance mournfully over the morning paper bemoaning the way the authorities deceive the public. Say they the Allies are really being beaten at the front and the world crusade of civilization is hastening to the bow-wows. They are convinced that the President could be captured, the capitol burned; yet the censors would keep it out of the papers. Theirs is no enviable lot.

The slacker having the most baleful influence, however, is the head of the family who sits at the table and unreservedly permits the movements of the government to be criticised, derided or condemned. The affairs of the state are sacred. We should treat them as such. The men guiding our ship of state are intelligently and systematically giving their life's energy for our well being, yet the slacker would pit his petty opinions against their well-weighted decisions.

Men who permit wanton waste, women who allow food stuffs to be wasted are slackers in that by utterly disregarding the government's instructions and entreaties they deplete supplies and retard the movement for conservation. Finally there are those who obstinately fail to understand the significance of this struggle, the aim and ideals of our chosen leaders, and the urgent call of a threatened civilization.

Perhaps through our country's blood-baptism—it is coming now—there will be an awakening; the ignorant will be enlightened, calamity howling will cease, the aimless will find their niche, the coward his manhood, and each will do his bit. Hasten the day!

HOSPITAL DONATION DAY.

The people of Emmitsburg district have always had a warm spot in their hearts for the Frederick City Hospital. There's a reason—that institution has always done its full part for Emmitsburg. Every patient from this place will give testimony to that effect. The whole county, for that matter will do it. In justice it must do it; for to all, regardless of creed or circumstance, the consideration of patients is the same, and the splendid work it has accomplished in the interest of people from every district stands as a noble public record of its efficiency.

Every year there are several days set aside for special donations to this Hospital. Emmitsburg's day is Thursday, November fifteenth. On that date the good people of this community are asked to contribute either money or something for the larder, salt meat, canned goods, coffee, sugar, fruit, flour,—groceries of all kinds.

The response in the past has been most liberal—Emmitsburg is always liberal in every good cause—and it goes without saying that there will be no diminution in interest this year. Donations may be left with Mrs. A. A. Annan on or before Thursday, November fifteenth.

HERE'S TO YOU MR. McMULLEN.

Out of the turmoil, with its personal grudges, its knifing, its three-cornered fighting, its misrepresentation and stabbing in the back, comes Hugh McMullen, victor.

As we have said before, Maryland never had a better Comptroller.

We congratulate the State on Mr. McMullen's re-election; we congratulate the Comptroller on his victory and add, with pride, that Emmitsburg was one of the few districts in Frederick county that gave him a majority—the biggest of all.

Now it came to pass that the polls were open at an early hour; neither were they closed until towards evening.

But there was apathy abroad in the land and from the places where sat the receivers of ballots much people stayed away; for it was husking time.

And although chariots and messengers were sent into the fields where the workmen were the laborers came not; for they were sore afraid that the crops which they had tilled would not be ready for the garner.

"EUROPEAN chemists have developed a method for distilling alcohol from chicory roots."—Nothing on American stills (mountain, of course) where it comes right out of the stump in bottles.

THOSE were some skids the G. O. P. in Frederick County put under the Democrats.

"KAISER Praises Below."—Glad he is pleased with his future home.

PATRIOTISM running a-Muck in Baltimore!

ZOWIE! What a slam!

Stop Hoarding Small Coin.

Penny hoarding and small coin savings banks were placed on the official taboo list by Raymond T. Baker, director of the mint, who declared the country is threatened with a severe shortage of cents, dimes and other small "change" for the approaching holiday shopping season.

He appealed to persons who collect small coins as a savings hobby to exchange them for coins of a larger denomination or for currency to relieve the shortage. Children, particularly, were asked to do their bit.

Cotton Aids Red Cross.

The first bale of the new 1917 crop of cotton that was sold at auction in New York last July for $2585, is now traveling in England, where it has raised $14,065 for the British Red Cross, according to information received by President G. M. Schutt of the New York Cotton Exchange.

Billions Spent By Government.

Total October expenditures by the government have swept past the billion dollar mark by $43,925,235, and indication is that the grand total for the entire month will approximate $1,200,000,000, of which $470,000,000 is represented by loans to the Allies.

Fortunate Man.

Hobo—Say, mister, would youse mind stakin' a pore man wot ain't got no home, ter a few pennies?

Enpeck—What! You ain't got no home? Say, old chap, you are playing in great luck. Why, you can stay out all night every night if you want to—and never get a call-down.

Palms the Waiters Have.

"I'm sure I don't know why they call this hotel the Palms. Do you? I've never seen a palm anywhere near the place?"

"You'll see them before you go. It's a pleasant little surprise the waiters keep for the guests on the last day of their stay"—London Tit-Bits.

Had the Cop Guessing.

"Officer, why did you arrest this motorist?"

"Suspicious actions, your honor. He was within the speed limit, sounding his horn properly and trying to keep on the right side of the street."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

His Position.

"I've traded some worthless stock for a Mexican farm."

"Seen it yet?"

"Nope, and I don't want to see it. I'm happy now in the belief that I couldn't have lost anything and may have gained."

World Politics.

"Someone told me you were out of politics."

"I'm like a number of other men in political life," replied Senator Sorghum. "I'm here; but events have made politics such an enormous proposition that I am scarcely discernible."

UNANIMOUS JUDGMENT.

Miss Footlight—What do you mean by sayin' I ain't competent to fill this part? All the critics speak of me as a finished actress.

Manager Grout—Do you doubt it at all? I can see your finish now.

Mobilization.

Every man in all the land,
Rich or poor, unschooled or wise,

Got Something You Want to Sell?

Most people have a piece of furniture, a farm implement, or something else which they have discarded and which they no longer want.

These things are put in the attic, or stored away in the barn, or left lying about, getting of less and less value each year.

WHY NOT SELL THEM?

Somebody wants those very things which have become of no use to you.
Why not try to find that somebody by putting a

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

CLOUD KING'S GRANDCHILDREN.

The King of the Clouds had promised the fairies that he would give the birds some fresh, cool water very soon.

The birds had been crying for it, for the days had been so hot and
dry. "Chirp, chirp," they would call. "Water,
please, some water."

Now the King of the Clouds was feeling very badly because he had promised the fairies he would attend to this matter for them, and yet he had so many engagements.

It just seemed as if he could not find a free day. And when he did find a little time, he would put a shawl over Mr. Sun and then he would decide that as long as Mr. Sun was so willing to work it seemed wrong to discourage him!

Now one day the little tiny children
—the grandchildren the King of the Clouds calls them—said:

"Oh, granddaddy, listen to the birds."
The King of the Clouds had a guilty conscience and he pretended not to hear. You see a guilty conscience is a feeling deep inside of a grown-up, a child, or an animal, or the cloud king, which says that we know we have done wrong and yet hate to admit it.

But the grandchildren of the King of the Clouds insisted upon his listening.

"The birds are crying for water," they said. "Shall we give them some?"
We hate to hear them cry, and the fairies called on you several days ago to ask you if you wouldn't give them water."

"I know it, but I have been very busy," said the King of the Clouds, in rather a cross, impatient voice, that creatures use sometimes when they have put things off and made other people miserable and yet do not want to own up to it. Then it is that they make excuses like the cloud king did.
"But you haven't been too busy to hear the sad chirps of the little birds?"
asked the grandchildren.

"I have been busy," repeated the King of the Clouds.

"But we're not busy," said the grandchildren. "May we do a little work?"
"You are too young, too frail," said the King of the Clouds. "I will get to it very soon."

"But, granddaddy, you have kept saying that, and the birds want water —and still don't get it."
"Oh, dear," said the King of the Clouds, "what a nuisance you children are. Very well, go ahead. Give them drinks, but they won't get much from you children. Tell them I will be down
soon."

The grandchildren of the King of the Clouds hurried away. Now perhaps you do not know that the cloud king's grandchildren are the little drops of mist—or rather the mist which is made up of tiny raindrops that come down to the earth. It is the grandchildren of whom we speak when we say there is a mist outside that is almost like rain—but so fine a rain that it can hardly be seen from the windows. You see, they are only very little, very young raindrops.

But oh, how glad the birds were to see them. The moisture they gave did not amount to a great deal, but it cooled the beaks and hot feathers of the little birds, and the dry, dry throats.

When the King of the Clouds saw what wonderful work the grandchildren were doing, it put him to shame, and he gave up all his engagements and went right down to the earth.

Such a fine rain as the birds had then, and the flowers lifted up their heads and thanked the cloud king until he felt ashamed of his great selfishness.

But the little birds were more grateful to the grandchildren of the cloud king than to the cloud king himself, for they were the first to come—the first to quench their thirst and dampen their little dry throats.

And as a special reward the grandchildren were allowed to play with the grown-up raindrops, and the earth people said:

"Oh, what a mist there is in the air!"
But it was really the grandchildren of the King of the Clouds helping the little birds and the summer flowers and the dry grass on the earth.

Conscientious Scruples.

Hubby—My dear, I won fifty dollars playing poker last night and you may buy the dress you've been wanting.
Wife—It makes me shudder to think of using money gained that way.
Now, promise me that after you've won enough to buy me the hat to go with the dress you will never again touch those awful cards.

Better to search the fields for health

PRESERVING FRUITS AND VEGE- TABLES FOR WINTER.

To save cans for fruits it is wise to dry corn and many prefer the flavor to that of canned corn.

Select young ears, husk and plunge into boiling water and boil five minutes to set the milk.
Slice from the cob and arrange on the drying trays, spreading as thinly as possible, put into the oven or around the stove to dry as quickly as possible. Corn should be put in the trays for drying within an hour from the time it is pulled from the stalk. This insures a fine sweet flavor. The corn is soaked and cooked in the same water until tender, then dressed with cream and a dash of salt and pepper, making a dish that may,
but never has, been equaled.

Salted Beans.—Take young tender string beans, preferably in the fall, string and cut them as for the table.
In a stone crock put a layer of coarse salt just covering the bottom. Then put in a layer of raw beans about an inch deep, another layer of salt, just covering the beans and so on, ending with the salt. Tie a piece of muslin over the top of the jar and in a day or two they will settle, and more beans, and more salt may be added.
Crock holding several quarts are set in the cellar, where the beans will keep their color and flavor. When wanted, remove a few and soak them over night changing the water occasionally until they are right for eating.

Canning Tomatoes.—Scald the tomatoes and remove the stem end carefully, plunge in cold water to hold the coloring matter near the surface, then remove the skins and pack whole in jars, adding a teaspoonful of salt to every quart of the tomatoes. Place on a rack in a boiler and cover the jars to the depth of an inch above the highest jar. When they begin to boil count the time and cook thirty minutes for quarts and twenty for pints. The tops should be screwed down tight. When removing them be sure to tighten the tops, pressing down the edge of the cover with the handle of a knife to be sure that there is no way for bacteria to enter. To further secure the fruit dip the can tops into hot paraffin and place in a cool dark cellar.

COMMON CROW

(Corvus brachyrhynchos)

Length, nineteen inches.

Range: Breeds throughout the United States and most of Canada;
winters generally in the United States.

Habits and economic status: The general habits of the crow are universally known. Its ability to commit such misdeeds as pulling corn and stealing eggs and fruit and to get away unscathed is little short of marvelous. Much of the crow's success in life is due to co-operation, and the social instinct of the species has its highest expression in the winter roosts, which are sometimes frequented by hundreds of thousands of crows.
From these roosts daily flights of many miles are made in search of food. Injury to sprouting corn is the most frequent complaint against this species, but by coating the seed grain with coal tar most of this damage may be prevented. Losses of poultry and eggs may be averted by proper housing and the judicious use of wire netting.
The insect food of the crow includes wireworms, cutworms, white grubs, and grasshoppers, and during outbreaks of these insects the crow renders good service. The bird is also an efficient scavenger. But chiefly because of its destruction of beneficial wild birds and their eggs the crow must be classed as a criminal, and a reduction in its numbers in localities where it is seriously destructive is justifiable.

This remedy has been in use for many years. Its good qualities have been fully proven by many thousands of people. It is pleasant and safe to take.

TO FURNISH ROOMS FOR LOCAL BOYS

Drive for Donations to Equip Places of Recreation for Soldiers.

Two rooms will be fitted up for the Frederick city and county boys at Camp Meade, according to the plans of the Home Comfort Committee recently named by Mrs. C. H. Conley, Frederick, chairman of the Woman's Auxiliary for the drafted men. One of the rooms will be in the barracks of Company I, 313th Infantry, where the Frederick selects are located and the other in Company H's headquarters, the camp home of the county soldiers. The officers of Camp Meade have granted this privilege to the boys and it now remains for the people here to provide the comforts to make the home-like quarters a reality.

Any article suitable for furnishing a room such as chairs, tables, sofas, rugs, sofa pillows, pictures, games of all kinds, books and magazines or any other article that will give, the now lacking touch of home, is what is desired.

Through the courtesy of Mr. M. F. Shuff all articles brought to him will be properly labeled and taken to Frederick free of charge.

Hagerstown, Maryland, is the largest and most progressive city in the great Cumberland Valley. It is spending over ONE MILLION DOLLARS on its new SEWER SYSTEM. This work is now beginning and will last several years. The contractors for this big improvement are The H. C. Brooks Company. They are paying top wages and giving regular work the year round. Boarding and living in Hagerstown are very cheap, and much less than in most other communities. The contractors on this work could use some good men as laborers and rock men at this time. Anyone wanting regular work at excellent wages, combined with cheap living, should go to Hagerstown at once or write the H. C. Brooks Company, Hagerstown, Maryland.

ACROSS THE LINE

Prospecting has been started by the Bethlehem Steel Company on the land of John H. Bittenger, a few miles northwest of Hanover. It is the hope of the steel company to discover a stone which can be used extensively in fluxing purposes. Should the mineral be found in sufficient quantities operations will be started which will give employment to about 1,500 hands.

George McCullough, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen McCullough, of Wrightsville, York county, was a member of the medical corps assigned to steamship Finland, which was torpedoed by a German submarine. Young McCullough made two trips to Europe on the Finland before it was torpedoed. Since the steamship was hit no word has been received from the Wrightsville lad.

Announcement was made of the great increase of business of two Hanover plants the W. F. Kintzing Co., and the General Gas Electric Co. The latter concern is building what is known as the Genco light plant, a miniature plant for the economical lighting of residences, most especially rural residences and farm houses, also electric power for farm machinery, where they do not have the advantage of public service plants, as the towns and cities. Besides making shipments to big points throughout the South and West, also Canada, the Hanover plant has established an export trade in Australia, Africa, and Porto Rico. Last month 82 plants were shipped from the Hanover factory.

Dr. Robert S. Stahle, a physician and former chairman of the York county Republican party, died Friday in New Market. He was 59 years old.

Sixty-one drafted men, comprising 30 per cent. of the quota in the First and Second city districts and in the First York county draft district, left Monday for Camp Meade, Md. The contingent included five drafted men from York and 56 from the First county district.

HOT WATER FRUIT AND VEGETABLE DRYER

This is the cheapest, simplest, most durable and effective dryer for domestic use that has ever been invented. It requires very little space and is used on top of a range or stove when not used for cooking, and when it is removed from the range to make room for cooking it still continues to dry on account of the hot water, which requires some time to cool.

This dryer is especially adapted to drying sweet corn and with very little attention can be dried off twice in one day. There is absolutely no burning or scorching which is one of the essential features of a dryer. It has a dry surface of 18 by 26 in. and weighs six pounds. PRICE $25.00.

CATHEDRAL AT HAVANA TO BE PRESERVED BY GOVERNMENT

Place Where The Bones Of Columbus Reposed Until The Spanish-American War.

The proposed sale of the historic Columbus Havana Cathedral by the ecclesiastical authorities, and its consequent destruction, have aroused such a storm of opposition that the edifice, which is 213 years old, probably will pass soon into the ownership of the Cuban Government as a permanent national monument. The cathedral, which was completed by the Jesuit fathers in 1704, and to the crypt of which the bones of Christopher Columbus were removed from Santo Domingo in the following year, long has been a landmark for tourists, both on account of its historical associations and because of the beauty of its interior decorations. Towering at the foot of San Ignacio street, on a spot which witnessed the arrivals, battles, ravages, and departures of invader and conqueror during four centuries, the cathedral occupies a site which never, from the earliest recorded history of Spanish occupation of Havana, has been other than a place of worship. The original cathedral was a modest hut of timber and straw, mentioned as "thatch" in the ancient archives in Seville. It was burned and rebuilt, first during the regime of the early Bishop Ubtie, next by the French in 1555, five years after it had been rebuilt of stone by the Spanish governor Perez de Angulo, and lastly, in its present beautiful form, by the Jesuits, of the peculiarly hued stone which is a characteristic of Cuban architecture.

The crypt where the bones of Columbus reposed is still to be seen by visitors. The interior walls of dark marbles the columns of highly polished mahogany with gilt-bronze capitals, and the choir stalls of beautifully carved mahogany are of such enduring construction that Dr. de Paula and President Menocal are convinced that with proper care and maintenance the cathedral will endure for centuries. The high altar is of marble from Carrara, and the walls and ceiling contain many beautiful paintings which enhance the desire of the Government to retain them as they have been. The chief art treasure is a small painting by Murillo, one of the few such extant in Latin-America, depicting the Pope and the Cardinals celebrating mass preparatory to the sailing of Columbus on his voyage of discovery.

Underwear For The Soldiers.

Plans to produce and sell to the Government without profit approximately 120,000,000 suits of underwear annually, or enough to supply each soldier in the Allied armies with four sets of light and four of heavy garments each year, have been worked out by Louis Steinfield of New York and probably will be laid before Government officials for consideration.

An Old Man's Stomach.

As we grow older and less active, less and less food is required to meet the demands of our bodies. If too much is habitually taken, the stomach will rebel. When a man reaches the advanced age of 35 or 40, you will find that he is a light eater. Be as careful as you will, however, you will occasionally eat more than you should and will feel the need of Chamberlain's Tablets to correct the disorder. These tablets do not contain poison, but strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. They also cause a gentle movement of the bowels.

CLOTHES OF MANY COLORS OFFERED

Average Woman Confused by Kaleidoscope Run Before Her Eyes.

MIDNIGHT BLUE HOLDS OWN

Dark Green Is Popular but Is Shade Women Must Use With Care—Burgundy Red and Artillery Gray Prominent.

New York.—These are stirring times in clothes. The manufacturers and shops have prepared for a rush season. It is their own expression that they are actually scrambling for a supply to meet the demand.

The French gowns are here. New American gowns are not only exploited, but tremendously admired and approved. The effects of those who have taken the French silhouette and built gowns in their own workrooms, made of American materials, should be commended in an entire chapter.

Some of the best houses in this country have tried out experienced designers and colorists in producing several hundred gowns that are first cousins to the French in that they express the adopted Paris lines. Each of the designers gives full tribute to the fact that Paris has laid down the laws for the season; but every designer boasts with honest pride that the clothes are the product of American study and workmanship.

In every case, the houses that showed these American gowns called upon their experienced French workers to produce them, and the only ones that were successful were the gowns that had been given into the hands of those who had studied the Paris methods with reverence and earnestness. The result was that the clientele of these houses saw extraordinarily good drapery, the combination of alluring colors and an excellence in tailored suits that we are led to believe is purely American.

The Colors That Prevail. The silhouette has been established. Every woman now knows that her skirt is to be narrow and her coat long or short, provided it clings to the figure. She knows that top coats are as important as frocks and that some of the best tailors offer only sport suits and top coats to wear over thin one-piece gowns.

She also knows that soft materials take precedence over stiff ones; but she has not exactly classified the various colors, fabrics and accessories that she must accept or avoid.

These are vastly important matters to the average shopper. True, there is a class of women who go to expensive houses that handle only a few of the most fashionable pieces of apparel and offer nothing that can lead one into the wrong path; but this class remains an exclusive one, and what they do or do not do is not always a guide to the mass of women who must fight out the battle of clothes in their own way and to whom victory is vital.

Take colors. Who does not feel perplexed and confused on entering a shop where hundreds of colors are dashed upon the vision and offered as the latest thing? One feels that a gigantic kaleidoscope has been run before the eyes. The brain refuses to work. The judgment is suspended. One goes out of the shop with a feeling that it is futile to try to buy clothes and with a desire to let the season slide.

It is this discouragement that assails three-quarters of the women who go out to get their new apparel, so that they are really in fashion, and not many are available for the woman who has not many social opportunities to display a variety of clothes.

To begin at the beginning of the color scheme: Midnight blue holds its own.

Black is in demand by those who want to dress well in the afternoon and evening, but it does not hold a high place for street suits or frocks.

Dark Green Rivals Blue. Dark green is a serious rival to dark blue, and the French dressmakers who exploited it last year are now reaping a reward because the public is accepting it. Know yourself well, however, before touching any tone of green. If you're picturesque, you can wear it in any one of the shades that are variously known as jade, Egyptian and lettuce.

This Helmet of Navarre is made of tete de negre velvet, with visor faced with white satin. It is trimmed with two large silver buckles.

The woman who can wear jade clothes and jewelry has a successful season before her, for many of the best materials are woven in this alluring but difficult tone, and the Oriental shops are filled with bits of fine jade made into earrings, hair combs and necklaces. There are fans of peacock feathers with jade sticks and also buckles of the Chinese quartz for slippers. Soft gold-tissue gowns are embroidered with jade beads, in the Byzantine fashion.

Red flickers through the color scheme or bursts upon the vision like the flame from the artillery at the front. It is against the accepted psychology that the colors of war should be exploited while war is on.

It is better to be sane than foolish when one approaches the subject of red in clothes. The scarlet danger sign should be put over all the counters where red fabrics are placed, and it should be worn by the mannequin who parades in a red gown. It is the color of conflict; it is not the color of peace. The woman who can wear it well is thrice blessed, sartorially speaking, and she is apart from her neighbors, because she is a rare type.

None of this applies to dark red. No danger sign is needed against the rich wine surface that brings out what is best in a woman's complexion and eyes. These well-known burgundy shades are offered. They come in duvety, serge, satin, velvet and and Rodier's weave of the so-called Bolivia cloth, which the American weavers are imitating in a successful way.

An Epidemic of Gray. The world has gone on for a century or two feeling that gray is the tone of sadness and that its Quakerish ugliness must be avoided. It has been a difficult color for decades. Women have adopted it only when the silver sheen on its surface made it possible.

This season, however, all doubts are dispersed by the superior tones which the dyes have imparted to the various fabrics grouped under the elastic name of gray.

There is moonlight gray, which may spell peace, but it is in close proximity to artillery gray, which stands for death. There is the gray of granite and the gray of London smoke. There is the gray of a New England sea mist, and there is the tone that one gets from the glitter of cut steel.

These grays are not used alone this season. They are combined with horizon and Chinese blue, with jade and Egyptian green, with incense red, Mandarin yellow and amethyst purple. The silver gray tissues are loaded with rhinestone, jet, cut steel and periwinkle blue beads. An artistic dressmaker can do anything she pleases with gray today. She regards it as a neutral foundation for whatever color scheme, Florentine or Futuristic, that she cares to work out on its surface.

Serge is good, if it is soft; otherwise, it should be barred. The fundamental thing is to get the fabric that clings to the figure. All others must be put on the opposite side of the scale. Nothing must have any chance to flare. Even though the bustle is an accepted fashion—and by the way, it is an American production that has met with an unusual success—it must be arranged in a soft fabric that merely drapes itself over the end of the spine and does not show any ambition to project itself into space. ## A Good-Hearted Man

By ALAN HINSDALE

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

My brother Jim and I inherited enough money from father to go into business and we set up a hardware store. Not having any custom to start on I went out beating up trade, leaving Jim in the store to do the inside work. I was a pretty good salesman, if I say it myself, but Jim made a mess of his part of the business. He did not keep at the financial part of it at all. He would trust any one, and the consequence was that we were soon loaded down with bad debts.

One evening after business hours we figured up and found that we couldn't go on. Jim had advanced money to certain parties who had played upon his feelings. He agreed to go out of the concern, assuming those debts and leave me to try to wind up the concern. He took himself off to a neighboring town and I went to work trying to get in the bad debts he had made.

There were so many of them, large and small, that it would take me a lifetime to run them all down. So I hired a collector. I paid him a hundred dollars a month and at the end of the first month he turned in $75. This was not paying, so I dismissed him and hired another collector. He made a worse failure than the other man. I hired five men in succession, then switched off and a woman having applied for the position I engaged her.

Since Miss Julia Sparks had a winsome way with her I believed she would succeed where others had failed. And she did. The first month she worked for me she got in $960, the second month $1,600 and the third $2,800. She continued her work till she had got in every outstanding debt.

Jim's assuming the loans he had made didn't help me at all. He could neither collect them nor pay them himself. I was sued as his partner on one of them and the case went against me. So I was liable for them all.

"I wonder," said Miss Sparks one day, "if I couldn't collect those debts for your brother, so as to enable him to pay them to you."

"If you can and will," I replied, "I will grant you any favor you ask."

"Well, I'll try," she said. "Can you give me a list of them?"

I gave her the list and she started out to see what she could do. She found it very hard work. The debtors were mostly "dead-beats," who had imposed on Jim's good nature, and some of them had no money to pay with. Those who had the money were skinflints, who never paid until they were compelled to at the end of a lawsuit.

Miss Sparks started out on her work. The first day she succeeded in getting three dollars that Jim had loaned a young sport who got rid of it the same day at pool. I think he must have gone sweet on the collector, or he never would have paid the loan in the world. Miss Sparks averred that he had won some money at poker the night before and she caught him in the nick of time. Three days later she got in two amounts totaling eight dollars. The amounts she collected were sometimes paid to her, but these were small ones. All the large ones were paid to Jim.

At the end of three months' hard work Miss Sparks told me that she had got in 50 per cent of the amount, 25 per cent having been paid directly to Jim. The remaining 25 per cent was uncollectable, either because the debtors were without any means whatever or could not be found. The amount Miss Sparks had collected—sixteen hundred dollars—she turned into me. She asked me, should Jim turn in the amounts paid to him would I, upon his promise to turn a deaf ear to applicants for loans and sell only good buyers, take him back into the firm. After refusing for some time I at last gave in. I was puzzled to understand why she was interested in Jim's reinstatement.

She came into the store the next afternoon with a pair of red eyes, showing that she had been weeping. When I asked her what was the trouble she told me that she had gone to Jim for the amounts paid him and found that he had loaned or given away every cent that had been paid him.

Her interest in Jim and her connection with this matter remained to be cleared up. She and Jim were old acquaintances. He had loaned her money, so that she was one of the debtors. She had fallen in love with him, and knowing of his difficulties resolved to get him out of them. She had collected all the slow debts he had made for the firm, and then had to get to work on the amounts he had loaned. She was much crestfallen at the result.

"If you hadn't got stuck on Jim," I said, "I would ask you to marry me. You've not married Jim, have you?"

"Yes, I have," was the reply. "Well, you and Jim come in here. Jim can be salesman under you, you to decide whom to trust. I'll be outside man. How does that suit you?"

She threw her arms about my neck and cried some more. The firm was reorganized and turned out a great success.
