Obsolete Warship Vindictive Sunk Across Channel in Brilliant Exploit by Daring British Forces.

OSTEND HARBOR IS CLOSED.

Venture Is Accomplished in Perfect Secrecy-British Losses Are Light. Zeebrugge Still Barred Against Passage by Submarines.

London.-German submarine operations from the harbor of Ostend have been stopped for a time, if not rendered impossible, by a daring raid made on the harbor by the British. An official statement issued by the British admiralty says the channel leading out of the inner harbor has been completely blocked by the hulk of the old cruiser Vindictive, which was manouvered into position under heavy fire and then sunk by bombs.

The German official statement concerning the raid says the attempt was a failure and that the hulk of the old cruiser lies outside of the navigation channel. This report may be compared to the one issued on April 24, on the day following the raid on Zeebrugge, which said that no damage was done to the mole or harbor there. Subsequent events have proved that the damage done by the raid on April 23 was of a serious nature.

It is stated that the obstruction in the channel at Ostend will tend to eventually close the harbor through the action of the tides and the rapid silting up of the harbor.

If Ostend and Zeebrugge are removed as ports from which the U boats may be operated the Germans apparently will be compelled to withdraw their submersibles to their home ports. In this connection it is interesting to note that a week ago it was announced that the greatest mine field known to naval operations had been planted in the North sea to combat the submarines. It was officially stated that the area of this mine field would be 121,-782 square miles and that it would be completed by May 15. Some months' ago Admiral Jellicoe of the British navy announced that the submarine menace would be met by August 1, blocking of the harbors of Zeebrugge and Ostend and the laying of an immense mine field in mind when he

The French made a notable advance at Grivesnes, where they took the part of the town which had been in German hands for three weeks. Along the front to the north there were scattering engagements, notably at Aveluy wood, north of Albert, where the contending armies are striving for the strategic ground. There were also small operations in the Kemmel front, southwest of Ypres.

London's Tea Houses.

The death of Sir Joseph Lyons reminds us what a modern institution the teashop is. You need not be very old to remember the time when practically the only places where a cup of Capelle Tells Reichstag War is Betea could be obtained in London were the old fashioned coffee houses, with their boxed-in compartments and narrow, uncomfortable seats.

The customers were exclusively men, and if a woman required light refreshment she had to search for a confectioner's shop, where tea and coffee were sometimes grudgingly served, at famine prices, at little round marble tables tucked away in dark corners .-London Chronicle.

WAR BULLETINS

The British navy in another daring raid sinks the old cruiser Vindictive in the channel, blockading at least partly the submarine route to Ostend. The losses were light in an attack made at night.

LLOYD GEORGE UPHELD BIGGEST

British Line Extended at French In- Steel Corporation to Build Biggest sistence Before Council Discussed It.

London,—Premier Lloyd George beat even all his own records as a crisis master in his counter attack against the offensive of Gen. Frederick B. Maurice in the house of commons. The house by a vote of 293 to 106 rejected the motion of former Prime Minister Herbert H. Asquith that a select committee of that body should investigate General Maurice's charges that the war cabinet had deceived the nation A confirmed report says there is a as to the condition of the army in

The vote involved the fate of the government, since Mr. Asquith had evidently concluded that he would be able to form another cabinet if he could overthrow Mr. Lloyd George.

There was no crisis left when the premier was half through his speech, and before he had ended there was nothing of General Maurice left ex-Asquith refrained from prejudicing the house of commons in any way and on the whole adopted a very gingerly tone, but, having leaned on a broken reed, he came down with it.

But who could have thought that an able, cool headed, highly experienced soldier official would have impugned the accuracy of statements which he himself was responsible for supplying; which he never thought of impugning until he was superseded in his post, although he was in daily contact with the premier in the course of his duties at the war cabinet, or who would have stated that he was present at the Versailles council when the decision to lengthen the British line was taken, whereas that decision was agreed between Haig and Petain before any Versailles council ever met, and on the occasion when the decision was ratified there Maurice was not present

These were incalculable improbabilities, seeing the career and the reputation of Maurice. He seemingly lost nis head when he lost his job.

The premier has greatly strengthened his position by his handling of this apparently thorny matter. When the premier began to speak it was evident he faced a house largely dubious, if not suspicious, but before he sat down he had it cheering vociferously.

PITH OF THE WAR NEWS

West of the second seco There are many indications that Hindenburg is preparing for another blow in the wet, which is likely to involve a wide front, while the allies are using the lull to improve their positions. General Foch is confident his line will hold.

The Germans deluge American front at Seicheprey with machine gun builets.

By the capture of Monte Corno, 6,000 feet high, the Italians have gained command of the approach from Trent and Rovereto, through which the Austrians were threatening to descend to the plains. Schemes to discredit Maj. Gen. Sir Henry Wilson, British chief of staff, because of personal enmity were behind the Maurice letter, sald the London Observer.

Germany has sent troops from the Flanders front to the Ukraine because of the threatening situation there, say dispatches in London.

American batteries near Montdider have bombarded the German lines very heavily, two villages in the rear of the enemy's trenches having been set afire by brusting shells.

British casualties during the week were 40,004.

#ssssssssssssssssssssss German-American War

A decision to hold the great American army intact until it is a complete, powerful organization, capable of delivering the knockout blow to the Germans, has been reached, according to a war review by the British war office. The allies express themselves as confident of being able to hold back the foe until the Americans are ready to take the field in force.

London newspapers are enthusiastic in their unstinted praise of the United States National Army, following the parade of a New York regiment there Saturday.

Secretary Baker delays action on request for a military inquiry into the air craft situation, contending that a third investigation might hinder the other two.

The war department announced it had arranged with the United States Steel Corporation to build and equip a modern ordnance plant for the manufacture of the largest guns and heavy projectiles at the expense of the government.

An American warship sank a German submarine, the shell lifting the U boat out of the water and then breaking her in two.

While a senate subcommittee was attacking what it termed a shortage in gun production worse than that in aircraft Mr. Baker declared that the production of Browning guns was up to estimate.

Running over a sloppy track, W. S. Kilmer's colt Exterminator, ridden by Knapp, won the forty-fourth renewal of the Kentucky Derby, worth $15,000, by a length from K. D. Alexander's Eseoba. Viva America was third. The time was 2:10 4-5. Two dollar mutual tickets paid $61.20.

Columbia athletes triumphed over Brown in an annual dual track meet.

In spite of advancing years, Cobb at thirty-two still is in his prime. He is easily the greatest ball player of alk time, and he is worth the $20,000 salary which the Detroit club has been paying him since 1914. As a drawing card Tyrus Raymond stands at the head of the class.

There is nothing the matter with baseball in New York city. So far the games played by the Giants and Yankees have drawn paying crowds. Shortstop Eddie Mulligan, formerly of the Cubs, is now in the medical service in the army. Mulligan was with

Kansas City last season. The new International League clubs are carrying many young players of unknown ability. It's a good scheme to dig up as many as possible, inasmuch as the big leagues will need plenty of material next year. The American League race is much closer than the wise men have expected.

Johnny Evers is in luck, even though he is not playing major league ball just now. He is under contract to the Red Sox and is drawing his salary. He was signed last February after turning down an offer from the Cardinals that was $1,000 more than he will receive from President Frazee.

GERMANS USING RESERVES.

Pershing Is to Have Time to Form Strong, Self Sustaining Army-Allied Line Now Rests on the Northern Slopes.

London.—The American army now in France will not be used to repel the next German drive. The War Committee of the British cabinet has officially announced that, so confident are the allies of smashing the coming German blow, that the Americans will be held back of the lines until they are a complete, self supporting fighting force. At the same time the War Committee issues warning that Hindenburg's drive will be in terrific force, all Germany being denuded of soldiers to give it power. The committee's statement is explicit that the allies were offered the present American forces to use as they prefers to hold them as the nucleus of a great reserve, to be used when the allies counter attack is launched. On the fighting front the allies have;

saw fit. Presumably General Foch

again forced the enemy back slightly. Driving into the enemy's line north of Kemmel, in the Ypres sector, the French, in vigorous local fighting, regained more ground and held it despite strong German counter attacks. They captured 100 prisoners.

With the French advance in this important sector the allied armies carried forward what is apparently their plan to outflank the German positions there and make them untenable. The allied line now rests against the northern slope of Kemmel's dominating height. Hill 44 fell to Petain's attack ing troops.

In an attempt to regain the ground lost to the French in Saturday's fighting along the Somme salient the Germans counter attacked near Mareuil Wood, northwest of Orvillers-Sorrel, in the sector east of Montdidier. They were driven back, with heavy losses in wounded and prisoners. British forces attempted no major exploit, contenting themselves with small raids and ever growing artillery bombardment. Following up their capture of Monte Corno on Saturday, the Italian forces in the mountains on the southwest front stormed an enemy post on Cor dell Orso and destroyed its garrison in hand-to-hand fighting. Vienna claims the recapture of Monte Corno.

Elsewhere between the Piave and Brenta valleys the Italians repulsed enemy reactions. The activity of General Diaz's army appears to be a "defensive offensive" for the purpose of sealing the northern valley mouths against the menace of the promised Austrian drives.

Nineteen entente airplanes were downed on the western front in the last two days, Berlin announces. In the aerial fighting of Thursday and Friday British aviators downed 35 Hun planes, says an official report. German aviators who have been taken prisoners say they have lost some 700 pilots and observers since the beginning of the offensive on Amsterdam.—A shortage of 750,000 small dwellings exists in Germany, Lieut. Paul Goehre, Socialist, has told the Reichstag. He said that in most large towns no empty houses remain and that young married couples had to live in furnished rooms, rents having increased 50 per cent.

The house adopted a recommendation that $125,000,000 be advanced for the construction of family barracks.

Pershing Dines U. S. Labor Men. Paris.—The American labor mission returned from a three days' visit to the front, where they saw Rheims and Verdun and dined with General Per-

TO THE PEOPLE OF FREDERICK COUNTY:

During the week beginning May 20th, 1918, the patriotic and loyal citizens of our County will be asked to contribute to the Second Red Cross War Fund of $100,000,000. In making your contributions, please bear in mind that you are contributing to an organization that is doing more at the present time to relieve suffering humanity than any organization has ever done at any time in the history of the world.

It is supporting 50,000 French children.

It is sending supplies to 3423 French military hospitals.

It has open a long chain of warehouses stocked with hospital supplies, food, soldiers' comforts, blankets, etc., all the way from the seaboard to the frontier.

It is made up almost entirely of volunteer workers, the higher executives being without exception men accustomed to large affairs, who are in almost all cases giving their services without pay.

It is today bringing relief to suffering humanity, both military and civil, in every war-torn Allied country.

All the expenses of the campaign in Frederick County, including meetings of committees, speakers' expenses, public meetings, etc., have been provided for by private subscription, so that every dollar that is contributed by our people will go directly into the work.

Let's not go to sleep any night feeling that we might have saved an American soldier's life by being a little more liberal, a little more patriotic, a little more self-denying; by making it possible to have had at his bedside the one thing necessary. And let's not wake up in the morning wondering if in the night's death toll there was any casualty that by the farthest stretch of possibility might have been charged against our individual selfishness. Above all, let's not be haunted by the fear that some bleeding mother heart is due to our close-fistedness.

Let everyone do his or her patriotic duty and Frederick County's quota will be prompty subscribed. In behalf of this great organization we ask the aid of every patriotic citizen in this movement to put Frederick County once more "Over the Top."

If Swift & Company Made No Profit

The cattle raiser would receive only 1/8 cent a pound more for his cattle

So small is Swift & Company's profit on any single transaction that if it were turned over to the cattle raisers of the country, they would receive only 1/8 cent a pound more for cattle than they receive now.

Swift & Company pays for live cattle about 90% of the amount received for dressed meat and by-products. The remaining 10% pays for packing-house expense, freight to market, operation of distributing houses and profit. Swift & Company's actual figures per head for 1917 on over two million cattle were as follows:

Receipts

$24.09

From Meat

$68.97

Total

$93.06

Payments From By-products Cattle $84.45 Total $93.06

* This net profit of $1.29 per head averages 1/8 cent a pound live weight.

And out of this small net profit dividends must be paid to shareholders.

MR. WINCHESTER'S LETTER.

Baltimore, Md. May 17, 1918.

While the merits and demerits f the various prospective and actual candidates for congress and nominations for State offices next year, are undergoing discussion from day to day, the fact is not forgot ten that in less than a year from the rerhape. If he is wounded will you not national resource now largely wasted the the state of the resource now largely wasted the the state of the resource now largely wasted the state of succeed Mr. Preston, and also for the other elective officers who will have USE CEMENT IN FOUNDATIONS charge of the municipal affairs for four years-and to many people here the control of the city government and the Saving in Feed and Food Products vast patronage which goes with it, are of much greater importance than the control of affairs which radiate from the State House at Annapolis The city employes number thousands, while the State employes are few in number compared with them; and the city expenditures greatly exceed the expenditures of the State governmentexceed all the revenues of the State, in fact, by many millions of dollars. Hence the importance of the control of the City Hall and all that pertains to it. And it is not to be forgotten that the effect of the city election, taking place as it does six months prior to the State election, is of great weight in determining which party shall win in November. The people of the entire State are therefore greatly interested in the municipal election, and politicians of both parties from all sections of Maryland are diligent in their inquiries about the local situation of Baltimore, and show great interest in all discussions as to the outlook, and also about the prospective candidates for Mayor of both parties. And the feeling is prevalent among democrats of all classes and to a certain extent among republicans, that Mayor Preston will be renominated and re-elected notwithstanding the fact that he has frequently said that he will not be a candidate again. The real city leader, at the head of whom is Mr. John J. Mahon, appears to be ready to support Mr. Preston, and no other name is mentioned by them in connection with the office. Apparent ly they believe that the demand for him will be so great among citizens generally that he will be compelled to yield, to it, and that his election for a third term will follow as a matter of course. Many people, it is true, object to Mr. Preston's personality. They do not like the forceful and, at times, arrogant way he has of doing things, but all admit that he does things, and whatever he does, is well and thoroughly done, and is done with an eye single to the public interest. He has made the city over; he has changed it from a mere town to a great and thoroughly up-todate city which is really metropolitan in all respects, and he has done all this without graft and scandal, and has secured for the public a dollar's worth of improvements for a dollar in taxes. When officials whom he appointed did not size up to their jobs, others who did size up were put in their places, and the work was well and satisfactorily done. In all this he has made enemies. Revolutions in municipal affairs always arouse hostility and antagonism, and Mayor Preston has revolutionized Baltimore. The old easy going shiftless way of the officials in the City Government has been rudely and effectively changed, and Municipal affairs are managed in the same way that the affairs of a prosperous and efficient corporation are managed, and "business is business" at the City Hall, just as it is in a well managed bank or trust company. And there is not much doubt that he can be Mayor of Baltimore for another term if he will agree to take the job. As he secured the great extension of the City limits, many people look about it as a duty incumbent upon him to remain where he is until all plans necessitated by the enlargement of the municipal boundaries are well under way to completion.

There is more uncertainty as to the probable republican nominee for Mayor, but the impression is very strong that ex-Mayor E. Clay Timanus will secure the honor. Mr. Timanus will retire Most Effective Foes Are Calosoma from the Public Service Commission Beetle and Minute Four-Winged next month. He is popular with both factions of the republican party, and will have much strength as a candidate. The belief is general that he will be nominated without opposition. He was the candidate against Mayor mies of the gypsy moth and brown-tail Preston when he was elected the first moth is now being done by the bureau time, seven years ago, and the fight of entomology of the United States de was close and warm; and it will probably be of the same character next year, if those two gentlemen are pitted against each other again. Both have records in the same office, and neither of them has any reason to be ashamed of his record. The Mayors of Baltimore, no matter what party they belong to, have all been men of character and have done the best they could for the interest of the city, but the superior energy and force of Mayor Preston, and the result that he achieved, stand out far above those of all his predecessors, and place him on a pedestal all his

FARM BUILDINGS MADE RAT-PROOF

Large Quantities of Grain, Food stuffs and Poultry Destroyed by Rodents.

Will More Than Repay Farmers for Expense of Construction-Exclude Sparrows.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) Because of the large quantities of grain, poultry and foodstuffs destroyed by rats and mice on farms, it will pay farmers well to rat-proof their buildings, says a Farmers' Bulletin, "House Rats and Mice," recently issued by the United States department of agri-

Granaries corncribs and poultry houses may be made rat-proof by a liberal use of cement in the foundations and floors; or the floors may be of wood resting upon concrete.

Inverted Pans Unsatisfactory. The common practice of setting corncribs on posts with inverted pans at the top often fails to exclude rats, because the posts are not high enough to place the lower cracks of the structure beyond reach of the animals. As rats are excellent jumpers, the posts should be tall enough to prevent the animals from obtaining a foothold at any place within three feet of the ground. A crib built in this way, however, is not very satisfactory. For a rat-proof crib a well-drained site should be chosen. The outer walls, laid in cement, should be sunk about 20 inches into the ground. The space within the walls should be grouted thoroughly with cement and broken stone and finished with rich concrete for a floor. Upon this the structure may be built. Even the walls of the crib may be of concrete. Corn will not mold in contact with them, provided there is a good ventilation and the roof is water-tight.

Wire Netting for Cribs. However, there are cheaper ways of excluding rats from either new or old corncribs. Rats, mice and sparrows may be kept out effectually by the use of either an inner or an outer covering of galvanized-wire netting of halfinch mesh and heavy enough to resist the teeth of the rats. The netting in common use in screening cellar windows is suitable for covering or lining cribs. As rats can climb the netting, the entire structure must be screened, or, if sparrows are not to be excluded, the wire netting may be carried up about three feet from the ground, and above this a belt of sheet metal about a foot in width may be tacked to the outside of the building.

The most effective enemies of the gypsy moth and brown-tail moth are the Calosoma beetle, a tachina fly, and a minute fourwinged parasite. Two tiny parasites of the eggs of the gypsy moth also have been colonized and are valuable additions to the natural enemies of this insect. The records at the gypsymoth laboratory at Melrose Highlands; Mass., indicate that all of the species of insect parasites mentioned have been gradually increasing in the field If you buy War-Savings Stamps, you and that the results of their work are very noticeable in certain restricted

A FAIRYLAND BALL.

The pine trees were singing songs to the fairies, and the fairies one by one were going to sleep. The big moon came out, smiled as he saw the fairies sleeping and whispered to the New Location 18 E. BALTIMORE ST. pine trees: "Is Fairyland going to be very quiet tonight?"

"No, my dear moon," said the pine trees, "these fairies are the daytime fairies-the ones whose dresses are like the sun, only more dazzling so that people can't see them. They will sleep so soundly though that they will not awaken-and, too, the ball is being given in yonder glade.'

"Are there other fairies coming to the ball?" asked the moon.

"The night fairies are coming—and hush-here come the fairies of twilight, headed by Fairy Twilight Bell." said the pine trees.

Now the fairies of the twilight come out just after Mr. Sun has gone to bed and at the hour of day which people call twilight. Fairy Twilight-Bell was named because the twilight fairies voted for her as their queen. Her voice always sounded like a beautiful silver bell and so they named her Twilight-Bell.

The moon was so glad he had decided to get up early. "I just love a party," he said, grinning. "There is nothing I like so much. And I hope you'll choose hide-and-go-seek as one of your games before you begin the dancing.'

"We will, Mr. Moon," the twilight fairies shouted, and from away in the woods an echo sounded:

"We will, Mr. Moon." But it was really not an echo at all. The sound Gawker. came from the voices of the night fairies who were just hurrying along to the ball. They wore gowns of very dark purple with wonderful starshaped sashes and crowns and wands. They came along singing:

"We're here, we're here,
"Let's be of good cheer,
"And dance and play

"Mr. Moon will beam, and the Pine Trees will sing,
"Let the joy-bells of Fairyland, Happyland, ring!"

The pine trees joined in the singing and Mr. Moon beamed. For they did as he had hoped and played hide-andgo-seek with him behind the pine trees.

He was so delighted and appreciated what the fairies did to amuse him so very much that he sent them a joyous surprise!

He told the moonbeams to play with the fairies, and then he asked the shadows from Shadowland to attend the ball, which they did.

The shadows danced with the fairies and the moonbeams, and all through the night the pine trees sang and made wondrous, soft music. And Mr. Moon chuckled to himself and said: "Certainly fairyland is not quiet tonight. The pine trees were right. It's a ball, a real ball, and what is more, it's a real fairyland ball—the best kind in the world.' And as Mr. Moon smiled and grinned and talked all the time of how happy he was, the shadows, moon-

Trouble in Colored Man's Case Most Certainly Did Not Induce Insomnia.

Representative Carter of Oklahoma was telling some of his colleagues in the cloakroom of the house the other day a story of a negro in his state who, under persuasion perhaps, had forsaken the Republican party and cast his fortunes with the Democrats, says the Washington Post. He gained a local reputation and soon his former associates in the old organization began to talk among themselves. Finally they determined to get the deserter back, if possible. A committee went to the re-'calcitrant and urged him to come back, but the Democrat was stubborn.

"Well, if you don't give up the Democrats we're goin' to tie your hands and feet, put a gag in your mouth and take you down to the old cave you know about and drop you in," they threatened.

The threat had its effect to the extent that in confidence the deserter told a white friend, a lawyer, of what he had been told. "Don't pay any attention to them," advised the lawyer. "They wouldn't attempt anything like that." But the negro wasn't satisfied. He continued talking about what his brethren were going to do to him.

"If they were to do anything like that," said the lawyer, "they would be arrested, and if you should be found dead they would be hanged."

"That's all right," said the negro, "but it wouldn't do me no good to have 'em hanging if I was dead."

"I knew there had been something wrong with you," said the lawyer. "I have seen you brooding for some time, and if you don't stop it the first thing you know you will go out and commit suicide over your troubles."

"Naw, indeed," said the negro, "'tain't no chance of dat! Whenever I gits to worryin' 'bout mah troubles I jes' nachilly goes to sleep."

Woman Might Better Have Refrained From Attempt to Relieve an Embarrassing Situation.

The conversation in the lobby of a Washington club turned to the way in which we occasionally sink deeper and deeper trying to extricate ourselves, when Senator William P. Dillingham of Vermont recalled a little incident along that line.

One of the features of an entertainment that was given for charity some time since was a vocal selection by a woman. Midway in the audience a meek-looking little man listened attentively.

"That is the most atrocious singing I ever heard," remarked a woman to the meek little man. "I wonder who the vocalist is?" 'She is my wife," was the startling rejoinder of the meek little man.

"Oh, I beg your pardon!" responded the other, greatly flushed. "The fault may lie with the music, which is really barbarous. Have you any idea who composed it?"

"Yes, madam," replied the other, administering vet more embarrassment. IF there's anything that takes "I did."—Philadelphia Evening Tele-

Fish Wear Out Bridge Piles.

John Shafer, Jr., deputy in the office of County Surveyor Frank Haycock of Hennepin county, New York, says that fish have butted and rubbed up against the piles of the bridge at Orono, Lake Minnetonka, until that aged edifice has become weakened, necessitating its closing.

Shafer and Edward Terrell, another deputy, were sent out to inspect the

WANTED TO THANK DONORS

After This, It Would Be Folly to Say That Sallors Do Not Appreciate Gifts.

Mrs. Anna Steese Richardson writes in the Woman's Home companion: "As for knitted garments, I wish you could have been with me one day at a certain naval base near New York, when the crew of a ship which had been accidentally sunk in our very harbor entered the chaplain's office to receive their fresh supply of knitted garments. They had all lost their clothing, barely escaping with their lives.

"The boys lined up like the welltrained sailors they were, tucked their supplies under their arms and marched out again, headed by an officer. But the moment they broke ranks outside headquarters each boy became absorbed in his own particular package of knitted garments and comfort bag, turning the sweaters, the helmets, the wristlets and even the bags inside out, poking inquiring fingers into every cor-

JOKE ON DESTROYER CAPTAIN

Spent Hours Searching for Convoy Which It Turned Out Never Had Been Lost.

Humorous stories as well as tragic tales comes from the seas, even in war time. A British naval officer was relating with great glee to his friends at the club a story about one of his majesty's destroyers which was detailed to escort a transport filled with troops.

This transport, it seems, was commanded by a captain who, unlike most of his class, was meek and mild. The night was dark and dirty and naturally no lights were showing. In the storm and darkness the destroyer lost sight of her convoy. Her commander, who was one of the nervous, peppery sort, dashed up and down and around and about but could not pick her up. Of course the naval officer blamed the captain of the convoy for not keeping in touch and said things about the seamanship of the convoy's captain that would not read well in print.

Finally after several hours vain search the destroyer's commander thought his best plan would be to run for the nearest port and there see if he could get any news of the missing transport. The destroyer thrashed her way through a heavy sea at a speed of 20 knots. Just as she entered the harbor she picked up a plaintive wail from the convoy: "Need we follow you any

Art in a Butcher Shop. When hotels have anniversaries or department stores end half centuries of service flowers are always present in abundance and a butcher uptown had observed this. Yesterday, when he noted by his calendar that the next day would end ten years of faithful service, he decided that flowers were in order. So, fearing that others would not remember the date he ordered. They came and the butcher arranged them as artistically as his art in dangling sausages allowed him. But when customers began to come in later he noticed smiles. At first he took this for commendation and smiled back, but later he walked all the way around the wreaths and inspected them more carefully. And then it was that he decided flowers could never, never become his friends. For resting in a cluster which was supported by the sausages was a banner reading, "Rest in Peace," and the ribbon which upheld the standard of the roses and was propped against the liverwurst, "We will meet you over there." Which brings to mind the immortal inscription by the reporter who interviewed the champion schweitzer cheese devourer of the world .- New York

Bit of Finnish History.

Finland, which has declared its independence from Russia, has long been a buffer state between the latter and Sweden. After Peter the Great conquered Finland in 1721 and annexed its easternmost province, Viborg, Sweden made repeated but unsuccessful efforts to regain this province. Finally Alexander I, in 1809, brought all the Finnish territories under the Muscovite yoke. Since about 1890, however, Finnish liberties have been greatly curtailed. The powers of the Finnish diet were cancelled and its constitution practically abrogated. In 1903 a Russian dictator was appointed and the country flooded with Russian spies; arbitrary arrests and banishments became daily occurrences: no means of Russification was left untried. The Finns are of Mongolian extraction and number about 3,000,000. -The Marine Journal.

UNABLE TO UNDERSTAND IT

Frenchmen Gathered in Groups to Watch American Who Was Actually Drinking Water.

William Allen White tells in the Book News Monthly how thirsty he became for water, just common, plain water, on a motor journey through France, where it was not safe, for sanitary reasons, to drink the water of the region. The coffee did not taste vinegar and looked like pokeberry ink. It seemed only good to put in fountain pens. Finally, at the end of a week he and his party stopped at a about five acres hotel where there was bottled water brought from the American commissary department. When he came to the table he ordered a bottle and this is what he says of it:

"Try going seven days on pokeberry ink and boiled coffee yourself and note the reaction. Your veins will be dry; your stomach will crackle as it grinds the food. The water in that bottle, a quart bottle, evaporated. They brought another, it disappeared. They brought a third. The waiters in the hotel were attracted by the sight. No Frenchman ever drinks water with his meals, and the spectacle of this while he ate was a rare sight. The waiters gathered in the corner to watch me. Henry saw them, and motioned toward me, and tapped his forehead. They went and brought other waiters and men from the bar. He was a rare bird; this American going on a big drunk on water. So they peered indoors, through windows and insane and had to be kept confined by stood in the dining room corners to watch the fourth bottle go down. And when at the end of the meal the American rose, and walked through the crowd they made way for him. A desperate man at least commands respect, whatever his delusion may be."

WHAT WRINGS FRENCH HEART

Noxious Weeds Growing in Former Highly Cultivated Fields Cause of Real Agony.

Agricultural loss is not confined to northern France. The very high level of intensive productivity of the soil in general was everywhere due to two factors which war has largely eliminated; human labor and chemical fertilization. Indeed, the spectacular features of agricultural destruction in the departments evacuated last springgaping shell holes, crumbling trenches barbed wire trailing like some rusty snake across the fields, even the fruit trees cut down to the level of the soillook less sinister to the French eye than the miles and miles, the thousands and thousands of acres of rich wheat and beet sugar land untouched by fire and sword, yet grown waist high with the thistles, brambles and every other sort of pestilential weed: the apple trees full of great bunches of mistletoe. Before the war a French farmer was haled into court by his neighbors and fined for allowing thistles in his fields and the mistletoe in his orchard-remember this and you will get an echo of the tragic resonance that the phrase "terres abandonhas in the French heart.—New Republic.

Bank Responsible for Error.

An interesting decision has been made by the Missouri court of appeals, relative to holding the sender of a telegram reponsible for a mistake in transmission. A Wyoming bank telegraphed a brokerage house, offering a carload of potatoes at $1.35 a hundred pounds. The telegraph company's mistake in transmission made the price 35 cents a hundred. The supposed offer was accepted by the brokers and the potatoes were shipped. When payment was tendered at the rate of 35 cents a hundred the Wyoming bank refused to accept the money and brought suit for the full amount. The Missouri court of appeals ruled that the bank had made the telegraph company its agent in forwarding the telegram and that as the brokerage house acted in good faith it could not be compelled to pay more than the amount quoted in dren. The real problem before the the message.

State Protects War Gardens.

The supreme judicial court of Massachusetts held, in the case of Commonwealth vs. Gallata, that where a landlord terminated a tenancy at will of city lots, the tenant was entitled to growing crops as against the landlord and a subsequent lessee with knowledge of the first tenancy.

The court said: "The general principle is that where a person is in possession of land under a title that may be determined by an uncertain event not within his control, it is essential to the interests of agriculture that such a termination of his lease shall not prevent him reaping what he has sown and we see no reason why a tenant should be denied the right to emblements by the act of the landlord where the crop is raised on a city lot rather than on a farm."

Labor-Saving Devices. Whether conditions after the war will be better or worse, for the average man in the United States, than they were before the war is a question that cannot be decided until the war has been over for some time, says the Christian Science Monitor. Ominous signs are, however, appearing here and there. For example, somebody has invented a device which enables one man to do two men's wood sawing. This does not look encouraging, but perhaps it will be compensated for by the invention of a device which will enable two patient and industrious men to fill out one man's income tax

IDEAL PLACE FOR SOLITUDE

Bird Island, in Gulf of St. Lawrence, One of World's Most Desolate Spots.

Bird island, most northerly of the Magdalen islands, holds the world's record for wrecks. The whole group, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, is exceedingly dangerous, but Bird island stands first. More like a huge rock than an island its walls rise grim and gray in good and the wine tasted like diluted | the path of the mariner. The island has no beach or coast, only a steep irregular cliff rising abruptly from the water. The top is a barren plateau of

The principal inhabitants are birds. Gulls, gannets and murres come in thousands to nest and rear their young. The roar of their thousands of wings drowns the noise of the waters. The Indians say that they are the souls of shipwrecked sailors.

The human tenants of the plateau are the lighthouse keeper and his wife, doomed to solitary existence except about once or twice a year when a ship brings provisions. Sometimes, perhaps in about every three or four years, an enterprising naturalist comes to study the bird life on the island.

Ships can approach Bird island only American sousing himself with water in the calmest weather. The slightest ripple and the craft keeps a respectful distance. The lighthouse is reached by a rope and windlass. The hardiest mountain climber would hesitate before attempting to scale its rough gray walls. The keepers of the light have been singularly unfortunate. The first went his wife and assistant until the provision boat arrived. The second was borne away by a floating piece of ice when seal hunting in the early spring. His wife maintained the lighthouse alone until help came from a neighboring island.

Painted Designs on Lingerie Give Opportunity for Unlimited Display of Originality.

Now that the hard-hearted hosiery manufacturers have decided to reduce their manufacturing costs by cutting out the fancy colors and startling designs of the ladies' lines and limiting the output to plain somber shades that cannot be heard coming, that portion of femininity that demands novelties in dress that fairly scream will have to fall back on the new fad in underwear.

Oil paintings, done to suit the individual taste, on the lingerie, each piece to follow the same design and make up the set, and a mosquito net overdress will put a spiderweb stocking in the shade when it comes to startling scenic Possibilities? Why! A pair of silk ones never began to offer the possibilities for effective display of the artistic temperament that this new fad does. All struggling artists whose productions are not in demand since the war economics have put a quietus on the picture market will rise en masse and call the originator of the new idea blessed.—Brockton Times.

French Labor Shortage.

The lack of labor has become more acute in almost all the vital industries of France. There are many soldiers of the old classes in the French army, men 40 years of age or more, whose usefulness at the front is a question open to debate. Agitation has been going on since the time when American participation in the war made the demand for men less acute at the battle front to relieve the old Poilus. Early in 1917 the doubtful privilege of an honorable discharge was granted to carefree fathers of six or more chilchamber of deputies is whether to take up the question of the old classes in a large spirit or whether to continue to make slight concessions to the demands of their constituents.

Adjustable Support for Broken Limbs. "Tests of a new limb support which have been made in a hospital in this country have proved so satisfactory that a Red Cross unit will take one of the devices to France, together with specifications for making others, if desired," says Popular Mechanics Magazine. As described and illustrated, it consists of "a hammocklike sling suspended from a steel arm that can be attached either to a bed or a wheel chair. Its special feature is the freedom of movement that is affords the patient. By means of a rope and pulleys the sling can be raised or lowered, while the supporting arm permits it to swing from side to side."

A New London Drink.

An American in a public bar in London was mystified recently when a customer entered and sang out: "1,035 hop, please." At first the man from the States believed the newcomer was seeking to telephone, but the bar maid put out a drink, the thirsty one drank and paid for it and then left without saying another word. Of course, American inquisitiveness had to be satisfied. Investigation developed that the

LAUNCH DRIVE TO SAVE WHEAT FROM STRAW PILE

Washington (Special) .- Poor threshing has been sending an average of three bushels too much wheat into the strawstack out of every hundred bushels threshed in the United States. In some places in the Central West the loss has been nearly ten per cent., from which large quantities of market able grain was recovered last fall by rethreshing.

The national loss last year is figured at over 20,000,000 bushels.

The Food Administration announces the creation of a special grain threshing division to head a campaign against such enormous preventable wastage. This division, acting under the Grain Corporation, has already arranged to have county threshing committees carry the educational and mechanical activities planned to every threshing machine owner and operating crew in the United States. A typical county threshing committee will consist of the county Food Administrator, the county Agricultural Agent and a retired thresherman representing the state or local Council of Defense.

Each committee will maintain open headquarters and devote attention to threshing operations within the county, endeavoring through mechanical assistance and emphasis on methods of conservation to secure a high quality of work.

Other activities of the Grain Threshing Division and its branches include plans for insuring prompt repair service, co-opeation with the Department of Labor and with the Fuel Administration for securing adequate amounts of labor and engine fuel. The National Implement and Vehicle Association has already pledged its co-operation and with the hearty response now being received from other branches of industry and agriculture a large saving in food is expected.

USE YOUR HOE ON THE HUN.

SOMETHING ABOUT SOY BEANS. Soy beans yield more seed per acre and are more cheaply harvested than any other bean, and they are very rarely attacked by weevils. Their fat content is so great that they do not need pork to be cooked with them. Soy beans are the most economical as well as the most nutritious, wheat substitute on the food list. And they

The only reason they are not more widely grown here is that they haven't been; and that shouldn't stop an upto-date war-winning agriculturist. The Maryland Food Administration is so impressed with the value of the soy beans from both the producer's and the consumer's standpoint that it of fers in Class G of its Produce Contest prizes of $25, $15 and $10 for the best average showing made in each county from a tract of not less than two acres. SOW THE SOY!

EVERY GARDEN COUNTS.

Said President Wilson just a year ago, "Everyone who creates or cultivates a garden helps, and helps greatly, to solve the problem of the feeding of the nations." Today that is doubly true. Every pound of food grown and consumed at home liberates its equivalent for overseas. Three or four pounds of potatoes, beans, onions or sweet corn save a pound of beef or a pound of flour. Enter your patch in the Food Administration's contest and share in the $12,600 prizes for war gar-

"Wheat imports are not arriving in quantities sufficient to meet our weekly requirements," was Lord Rhondda's final cable to this country before a temporary breakdown compelled him to tender his resignation of the British Food Controllership.

As Mr. Dooley might say, "It's a lot better for us to be eating American rice and corn and barley and oats and pertaties than to have the Kaiser feeding us German crow at the point of a sixteen-inch gun."

Sugar is in demand to keep soldiers At and to make civilians fat. Shortage requires that one of these demands be eliminated. Patriotism won't take long to decide which.

A big tire factory in Akron, Ohio, has issued a report of the production on the 265 war gardens taken up by its workmen last year. After deducting the cost of seeds, plowing, etc., the net value of the crop from each plot was $41.60. A time clock in the tool house registered how much each employe worked-an average of two and one-half hours a week. The net value of the produce paid for this time at the rate of 73 cents an hour. Naturally the war garden movement has taken hold in Akron and new ground will be broken this year on many factory sites and in many back yards.

Spare time gardening netted the employes of a big factory in Akron, Ohio, over 73 cents an hour, after deducting expenses for seeds, plowing, etc. A time clock kept accurate record and showed that on an average each worker put in two and a half hours a week Other factories are following suit and back yards are being dug up to by amateur gardeners who have seen this example of how to combine patriotism, profit and pleasure.

For three years the Southern States got along without wheat and put up a fight that still commands the admiration of the world. They can and will do it again if need be.

"She also serves who only stoops and weeds" is a good motto for the girls who are not in a position to do all the work of a war garden.

PROCLAMATION

INASMUCH as the funds derived from the First Red Cross Drive, held almost a year ago, have become practically exhausted because of the enormous appropriations which the Red Cross has had to make for the welfare of our own military and naval forces, as well as those of our allies, both military and civilian;

AND INASMUCH as the Red Cross, from its past wide experience, is so able to take care of this great humanitarian work, regardless of nationality, creed or language;

AND INASMUCH as many of our own Emmitsburg boys are either now or soon will be in camp or at bat-• tle front, where at any moment that Red Cross, with its merciful work, may be of service to them, even to the extent of saving their lives;

AND INASMUCH as the American Red Cross War Council has set the week of May 20 to 27, 1918 as the time for raising these funds;

Now, therefore, by virtue of my office as Burgess of Emmitsburg, Md., I, J. Stewart Annan, do hereby proclaim said week beginning May 20, to be "Red Cross Week," during which the people of this community will be asked to contribute generously and without stint, that our boys who have been sent to fight the enemy may feel that they are being properly supported by those left in charge of affairs at home.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF I have hereunto set my hand and seal.

Done in the Town of Emmitsburg, this 15th day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eighteen.

STRAW FOR FEEDING CATTLE

Indiana Experiment Station Conducted Experiment to Test Value-Various Rations Given.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) In an experiment conducted at the Indiana experiment station to test the feeding value of oat straw it was found that a ration of corn silage, corn, and cottonseed meal was just as valuable for economy and extent of gains when used with oat straw as when fed with clover hay. As such a ration is extensively used in various parts of the United States its practical value can readily be seen. Straw and stover are especially valuable for the wintering of breeding herds of beef cattle, and should form a large part of their feed. Rations suitable for different classes of beef cattle are as follows: Rations for Breeding Cows.

Ration 1: Straw, 10 pounds.
Silage, 20 pounds.
Cottonseed or linseed meal, 1 pound

Straw, 20 pounds. Cottonseed or oil cake, 2 pounds.

Shock corn, 10 pounds.
Cottonseed meal or linseed meal, 1 pound.
Ration 4:

Stover, 35 pounds.
Cottonseed or linseed oil meal, 1 pound.

Rations for Feeding 1,000-Pound Fattening Steers.

Ration 1: Straw, 5 pounds. Silage, 18 pounds.

Corn, 12 pounds. Ration 2: Straw, 8 pounds.

Legume hay, 6 pounds.
Cottonseed cake or linseed cake, pounds.

Stover, 10 pounds.
Silage, 15 pounds.
Corn, 12 pounds.
Ration 4:

tion 4: Straw, 5 pounds. Stover, 15 pounds. Corn, 6 pounds. Cottonseed meal, 3 pounds.

In these rations various other feeds may be substituted. In the rations given for wintering breeding cows definite quantities of straw and stover are given. In actual feeding such figures should be somewhat disregarded and the cattle given as much roughage as they will consume. Yearlings may be fed three-fourths the ration for breeding cows and may be expected to come through the winter in fair to good condition.

For fattening animals straw should always be within reach so that the animal may eat at will. They will usually eat from three to five pounds daily.

ATTENTION TO COLT'S FEET

Examine Them Carefully Whether on Pasture or in Barn-Keep Toes Properly Trimmed.

Look frequently at the feet of the colts, whether on the pasture or in the barn, and remedy things before they get bad. Keep the toes trimmed down to the proper length and do not allow the heels to run over and get round. If the feet are kept rounded on the toe and of the proper length, the tendency to split and crack will be reduced to a minimum. In the stable the feet should be frequently cleaned and trimmed and the frog kept in its
