McAdoo Recommends Revenue Measure Which Strikes at Big Earnings and Unearned Income

NEW WAR PROFITS TAX.

Says We Will Spend 24 Billions Next Year and Should Limit Loans to 16 Billions—Should Wipe Out Inequalities and Raise Rates.

Washington.—Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo made his recommendations concerning the new war revenue bill. They virtually have the approval of Congress in advance, for members of the house and senate charged with framing the new law have been working on lines identical with those laid down by Mr. McAdoo. In a letter to Chairman Kitchin of the Ways and Means Committee he said that the new bill should contain the following provisions:

1—Double the revenue from taxation, so as to raise $8,000,000,000 by taxes of the $24,000,000,000 he feels the government will need next year.

2—Make the taxes on corporate investments high enough to bring them "more nearly on a parity with the return from government bonds," and thus to make Liberty Loan purchases the normal investment of war profits.

3—Tax away the excessive profits on war contracts, to make profiteering impossible.

4—Lift the rate on so called unearned income from securities, etc., from 4 per cent. to more than 12 per cent., while retaining the 12 per cent. as the rate on earned incomes above the exemption figure.

5—Impose heavy taxation on all luxuries. Congress, in advance of Mr. McAdoo's recommendation, has been studying the English system of war taxation, which levies heavy taxes on war profits and unearned incomes.

Definitely committed to the policy that the greater burden of the new war taxes should be imposed upon luxuries, war profits and incomes, the Ways and Means Committee of the house is holding meetings to frame the $8,000,000,000 measure.

The members of the committee are firmly of the opinion that consumption taxes on articles such as coffee, tea and sugar should be imposed only as a last resort. Every effort will be made to raise at least three-fourths of the $8,000,000,000 by means of taxes on war profits and incomes. Incomes in excess of $20,000 will bear the brunt of the increase. To make up the balance the rates on all other articles now included in the taxation measure will be doubled or trebled.

In a general way, the rates will be raised to the point of diminishing returns, beyond which there should be no profit in collection.

To simplify the collection and computation of income taxes the law of 1916 and the law of 1917 will be repealed, and the income tax provisions will be entirely rewritten.

The treasury department's estimate of the amount that will be collected on income and excess profits is $2,775,185,000. Members of the committee thoroughly understand that from these two sources almost three times this amount must be collected.

It is not likely that any attempt will be made to change existing tariff rates. Republican members of the committee will offer modifications of the tariff law to raise a large part of the necessary revenue, but the majority members are opposed to opening up the tariff question at this time.

INDICT SEVEN AS HUN SPIES.

Face Death on Charges of Attempted Espionage and Treason.

New York.—Jeremiah A. O'Leary, the Irish-American agitator, and six others were indicted by the federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy to commit espionage and treason. Punishment, upon conviction, can be death. The other six indicted with O'Leary were: John T. Ryan, Baroness Maria K. de Victoria, Carl von Rodiger, Willard Robinson, Albert Paul Fricke and Emil Kipper.

IRON AND STEEL FOR WAR.

United States and Allies Will Require Total Output.

Washington.—Nonessential industries were cut off from steel and iron by action of the War Industries Board in agreement with the American Iron and Steel Institute.

The order is effective to take place at once. No manufacturer not producing for the war will be permitted to have iron or steel unless every war requirement has been satisfied.

WAR BULLETINS

East of Sempigny, near the base of the salient, the enemy crossed the Oise river. The French took 100 of those who had crossed prisoners and killed the rest.

Admission has been made by the military correspondent of the Berlin Vossische Zeitung that the German offensive is spent and that the German armies cannot be expected to proceed at present against the newly strengthened allied lines. There seems to be no doubt that the allied line has been sufficiently strengthened to withstand the shock troops of the Germans.

The British steamship Harpathian was sunk 100 miles off the Virginia Capes by a torpedo. All of the crew were rescued.

British expected German submarines to appear off American coast, but are confident naval forces will make venture costly.

German military correspondents admit that the drive is spent. Details of the part of the Americans in combating the German attacks on Chateau Thierry and on the line northwest of that city emphasize their coolness and bravery under fire.

Further violent German attacks in the valley of the Ourcq, near Corcy, east of Domiers, and in the region of Chezy broke down, with sanguinary losses.

The great battle for Paris gains considerable interest, now that Foch has reported that Americans are helping the French block the way to the capital.

Thousands of American women who married German or Austrian titles and others who established residences in neutral countries will lose their property holdings in the United States under the President's proclamation extending the "enemy" list.

The food administration imposed a fine of $20,000 on Jaburg Brothers for profiteering in sugar.

DOOR TO FRANCE TO STAY OPEN, DANIELS' DEFI.

Washington.—Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, voiced the spirit of the American sea forces with this defiance of German submarines, no matter where they may attempt to operate:

"The great duty of our navy is to keep open the door to France—to carry our men and munitions to the great battle front and to guard food supplies for our co-belligerents."

"That has been accomplished thus far and we will continue to keep the road open."

U BOAT SINKS NEUTRAL

Unarmed Norwegian Ship Vinland Bombed Off Virginia.

Armed French Merchantman Reports Fight With Submarine Off the Virginia Capes.

Washington.—Two more unarmed merchantmen have been sunk in American waters by the U boat raiders, bringing the total number of victims up to 18. One was the Norwegian steamer Vinland, sunk within 65 miles of the Virginia Capes. The other was an unidentified oil-tanker, sunk within 100 miles of Cape Henlopen.

A French armed merchant ship raced into an Atlantic port during the day, reporting an encounter with one of the raiders off the Virginia Capes.

The sinking of the Vinland indicates that the U boats have not put out to sea or have returned to their secret base, believed to be somewhere in southern waters. Their continued activity in harrying and destroying shipping in the coastwise lanes was regarded as proof they are receiving supplies from a mother ship.

Destroyers, submarine chasers and vessels of the coast patrol are combing the waters in such numbers that it is only a question of time when the raiders will be destroyed or forced to abandon their murderous campaign off this seaboard. No relaxation of vigilance, however, will follow even when the raiders have been driven away.

It is believed that the U boats are receiving information of the movements of ships, and Byron R. Newton, collector of the port of New York, issued an order forbidding any communication with ships in the harbor.

The torpedoing of the British steamer Harpathian showed the reluctance of the raiders to expose themselves to any possibility of attack, and in practically every instance their victims have been unarmed.

One explanation advanced for this is that the raiders were sent here to secure information and that the commanders have been ordered to take back their reports without risking their vessels. The information already in their possession, it was said, would be of value if it was planned to send similar craft out from time to time to harry the American coastline, always with the possibility that a laden transport could be caught.

ALLIES HALT THE FOE

Americans and Other Reserves Play Important Part.

Failure to Advance and Attention of Local Action Show Weakness of Foe.

London.—Definitely checked in their great rush for Paris from the Noyon-Rheims base, the Germans, according to many portentous signs, are preparing for a resumption of the offensive on a still wider front—probably from the Marne to Montdidier.

Numerous dispatches from the front indicate that the crown prince is moving his big guns and fresh reserves up to this extended battle line.

In the last few days the infantry fighting has been more or less of a local character, with the enemy delivering assault after assault for tactical advantages.

The great weight of the present German pressure is against the two bulges of the line where the invaders have driven salients into the allied left flank.

But, despite continued and most vicious attacks, the Germans have failed to gain ground. The allies not only have held firm at all points, but in several instances have taken the aggressive and rewon positions from the invaders.

PITH OF THE WAR NEWS

German cities are in a frenzy of fear as the result of air raids by the British, letters taken from German prisoners indicate.

American marines have advanced two and two-thirds miles in a dashing attack that has thrilled the French officers and staggered the Huns.

Archibald S. Hurd declared the suggestion of German air raids on American cities is absurd.

A wild dash by an American ammunition train on the day of June 2 helped save the day for the Americans blocking the road from Chateau-Thierry to Paris.

American marines attacked at dawn in the Chateau Thierry sector and advanced two and a quarter miles over a two and a half mile front. They captured 100 Germans and now hold all the important high ground northwest of the town. The Germans have been forced to hurl three of their best divisions into the line in three days.

Another attempt by the Germans to gain Mount Rouge, on the Lys salient, failed. It was directed against Loore, where the Germans captured the hospice southeast of the village, but failed the latter.

WASHINGTON

Director General McAdoo was directed by a senate resolution adopted to inform the senate what action is contemplated for assuming control of the stock yards and their railroad terminals as a part of the railroad administration.

It is expected that action will be taken shortly by Director McAdoo to remove from office vice presidents and financial officers of railroads under government control.

Heavy German troop movements are reported in Lorraine and may foreshadow an offensive in an entirely new sector, perhaps against the Americans, near St. Mihiel.

General Pershing reports that the American patrol in Lorraine holds off the enemy, although outnumbered two to one.

Americans stopped the rush of the Huns across the Marne at Chateau-Thierry, where they now guard the streets south of the river, the northern part of the town being No Man's Land.

Despite increasing activities of the navy department to run down the German U boats, the commerce raiders are still eluding their pursuers and continuing on their course of destruction.

General Pershing reports that Americans have penetrated enemy positions in Picardy and Lorraine, inflicting losses in killed and wounded.

Shots fired at a U boat about 100 miles off Barnegat light are believed to have hit the submersible, according to the captain of an Italian vessel which arrived at an Atlantic port.

MARINES ADVANCE OVER ENEMY DEAD

Americans Advance 2 1/2 Miles Over a Front of Six Miles in Chateau Thierry Sector.

300 GERMANS ARE CAPTURED.

Men After Going Over Top With One Wave Hasten Back in Order to Get a Share in Later Assault.

With the American Army in Picardy.—As the result of the two attacks by the Americans upon the enemy in the second battle northwest of Chateau-Thierry 300 prisoners have been captured and the Americans have extended their line over a front of about six miles to a depth of nearly two and one-half miles.

While the losses of the Americans necessarily have been heavy, owing to the nature of the fighting, the German dead are piled three deep in places.

A number of machine guns have been added to the American booty.

The night fighting raged with great fierceness for five hours. The Americans captured Bouresches and entered Torcy.

Twenty-five Americans in Torcy engaged and drove out 200 Germans, and then withdrew to the main line on the outskirts of the town.

The importance of the operations of the Americans on the Marne sector may be realized when it is recalled that only the day before the Americans entered the line the Germans advanced about ten kilometers.

The Americans are now holding the Paris road near Le Thiolet for a number of kilometers.

A remarkable story is told of a company of marines, #1 the officers of which, including the sergeants, were put out of the fighting. A corporal then assumed command, and the men pushed on and obtained their objective.

Private John B. Flocken of Olney, Ill., one of the first men to reach Torcy, said:

"I never saw such wonderful snifft. Not one of our fellows hesitated in the face of the rain of machine gun fire, which it seemed impossible to get through. Every German seemed to have a machine gun. They fought like wildcats, but the Americans were too much for them."

Private Carl B. Mills of Visalia, Cal., was in the first wave of Americans to go over the top in Veully Wood to smoke out the Germans remaining there. He said that after his unit attained its objective, many of the men went back and filled the ranks of their advancing comrades. All moved like clockwork, he said.

The favorite slogan was, "Each man get a German; don't let a German get you."

The German prisoners taken, many of whom are mere boys, have only been in the line for two days. Some wore the white bands of the Prussian Guard.

Many instances are related of the heroism of the Red Cross workers in braving shells in No Man's Land and gathering in or aiding wounded.

HUNS DEMAND VON RINTELEN.

Washington.—Secretary of State Robert Lansing, in a note which bristles with defiance, has refused a demand from the German government for the release by exchange of Capt. Lieut. Franz von Rintelen, master spy and plottier.

She was launched in 1906 on the Clyde.

Washington.—The return of Maj. Gen. William Crozier, chief of ordnance, from an extended visit in France, England and Italy, where he made an exhaustive study of artillery, is expected to result in further extension of the artillery program of the American government.

COOK--MILLER

Of wide interest is the wedding of Miss Mallie Floyd Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Miller, Jr., to James Douglas Cook, son of the late James Cook and Mrs. Nellie Minson Cook, of Richmond, Va., which was celebrated Friday evening at 6.30 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents, 907 Floyd Avenue. Only the immediate families and a few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony and a reception followed at 7 o'clock, to which additional guests were invited. The house was decorated everywhere in ferns and palms and summer flowers of pastel shades. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father A. J. Van Ingelzom, of St. James Catholic Church, West Falls Church, the day being also the wedding anniversary of the bride's parents.

The bride entered the drawing-room with her father, who gave her away. She wore a wedding gown of soft white satin trimmed very simply in tulle and silver bands and her veil of illusion was fastened with a silver band and sprays of natural orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley and wore a set of rare old pearls that have adorned four generations of brides in the family of the bride's mother. The pearls were originally a wedding gift from the bride's great-great grandfather to his bride.

Mrs. Bruce Poole Rial, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mrs. Charles Rivers Carroll, were dames of honor, and the bride's sisters, Misses Major and Nan Miller, were maids of honor. They wore similar dresses of organdie in rainbow shades, made with ruffled skirts and surplice bodices, and all four carried silver baskets filled with blossoms of pastel shades. Two little girls, Mary Miller and Thelma Clayton, the latter a niece of the groom, held the ribbons. They wore white muslin frocks with pink sashes and carried French baskets of flowers in pastel shades. George B. White of Richmond, was the groom's best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook left later in the evening for a wedding journey North. Among the guests were Dr. and Mrs. B. P. Rial, Pittsburg, Pa., and Mrs. R. N. Ellis, New Orleans, La.

FARM STOCK

CHEAPER RATIONS FOR SHEEP

Corn Stover and Oat Straw Form Important and Economical Part of Animals' Feed.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Breeding ewes consume comparatively large quantities of roughage and need but little grain. Of this roughage corn stover and oat straw may well form an important and economical part, but they should be supplemented by other feeds containing more protein. Sheep will eat about 25 to 35 per cent of the total weight of the stover, leaving the stalks. Wheat straw is not so valuable for sheep feeding as oat straw, while rye straw has practically no value in sheep rations.

This type of roughage should be used as a supplement to leguminous hay, and the whole ration would be improved by the addition of a succulent feed such as well-kept silage or roots. If but little leguminous hay is available the use of some protein-rich concentrate such as meal from cottonseed, linseed, soy beans, or velvet beans will usually be economical and profitable. Cottonseed meal may well be used to balance up a ration lacking in protein either for breeding ewes or for fattening lambs or wethers. It has been fed to breeding ewes up to one-half pound per head per day without apparent injury, but four ounces a day will usually be found sufficient. Care should be taken to see that it is of good quality and free from mold.

The following rations should give good results when supplemented by whatever small quantities of grain may be necessary for the health and thrift of the flock:

- Ration 1:
Corn stover 2 pounds (amount eaten not amount fed).
Legume hay, 2 pounds.
- Ration 2:
Oat straw, 2 pounds.
Legume hay, 2 pounds.
- Ration 3:
Oat straw or corn stover, 1 pound.
Silage, 1/2 pounds.
Legume hay, 2 pounds.

Coffey, at the Illinois experiment station, found that when fed to yearling wethers with corn and corn silage, corn stover and oat straw gave practically the same daily gains per head. A third lot getting alfalfa as the dry roughage gained slightly more.

Satisfactory gains have never been made in fattening lambs when corn stover or oat straw has formed the sole roughage. When used with leguminous hay (or leguminous hay and silage) and the usual grain ration, the gains have been slightly smaller than those obtained when nothing but leguminous hay was used, while the cost of the ration has been considerably decreased.

SHEEP FIT IN WITH FARMING

Produced More Economically Than Any Other Live Stock--Graze on Noxious Weeds.

Sheep, in proportion to the value of their products, are produced more economically on the farm than any other live stock; the feed and labor requirements are less. They fit in with practically every kind of farming; get much of their subsistence from forage, from grazing weeds and grass that would not support other stock. They eat almost no feed that has a value as human food, and need less grain than other animals. They add materially to the farm revenue, but add very little, relatively, to the farm expense.

BEST FOR BUSINESS FARMER

Fact Remains That Purebred Animal is Best Suited for Utility Purposes on Farm.

Farmers used to think that purebred animals exceeded common stock only in show qualities, and that for utility purposes they had no additional value. But it has been proved that every show point has a vital connection with utility qualities, and after it is said about the uselessness of the points, the folly of fine pedigrees, the absurdity of high priced stock, the fact remains that the common-sense method is the common-sense method for the business farmer.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

PETER GNOME'S CLUB.

A great many of the new members of Peter Gnome's club, which was called the Every-Day-Is-Nice club, did not know just how the club had been started in the first place.

They all knew Peter Gnome and Billie Brownie were the very best of friends, and that as soon as Peter had started his club, the brownies had been the first to join.

They knew that Peter Gnome hated weather grumblers and since belonging to the club they thought weather grumblers were very foolish. They had found that there never was a day upon which one could not enjoy something.

And they had discovered how much happier they always were to like every day as it came along. Yes, they thought the club was splendid and they were happy to belong to it.

Still they were new members and they did want to find out how the club started in the very first place of all. And so they asked Peter Gnome if he would tell them.

He agreed and they called a meeting to make sure that all members would hear of the first days and of the starting of the club.

"You are right," said Peter, "when you say that Billie Brownie and the other brownies were the first members. And I will tell you the story I told them. It holds the reason for starting the club."

Peter Gnome cleared his throat, put on his spectacles and with one foot upon a low stump and the other on the ground he began: "I once had a talk with the King of the Clouds," he said, "and this is what he told me:"

"Peter," he said, as the rain drops fell over me, for he can't talk unless it rains--that is he can't talk outside his home in the clouds. 'Peter,' he said again, 'I feel very sad at times.'"

"Why, Cloud King? I asked.

"Because Peter," he said, 'they don't like me down on the earth. Now the sun is popular. He's a jolly, warm-hearted old fellow and they like him. But they don't care much for me.' And then I was frightened, for I thought the King of the Clouds was going to sob and I only had my green rain coat on which isn't so very heavy, you know. The water has been known to go through it.

"Oh, Cloud King," I Said, "You Mustn't Be Discouraged."

"Oh, Cloud King," I said, 'You mustn't be discouraged. And you mustn't be unhappy. What would the farmers do without you? Think how you help the crops. And think too, how the flowers love you. You make them grow. You give them drinks of water. And the grass, and the moss in the woods, the shrubs and the trees--how hot and dry and thirsty they would be all summer long if it weren't for you. 'How often too I have heard the birds chirp for water. Their little mouths would be so dry and they would open their beaks and beg you to look after them. What would the streams and lakes and ponds do without you! Lots of things love you, Cloud King. Don't weep too much. Weep tears of joy but not tears of unhappiness.'"

"For of course," Peter Gnome continued, "it would not have been polite of me if I had asked him not to weep at all! Then he would have felt far sadder than ever.

"He felt better after this and said, 'Peter Gnome, you have done my damp heart good. I am glad you think I am of use in the world and that I am liked. For sometimes I feel no one likes me at all. They complain of the rainy days and they call it bad weather. And oh, dear me, I'm not bad, and it hurts my feelings to hear them call me bad!'

"Dear Cloud King, you must cheer up," I told him. 'You must remember that your work is appreciated even if there are some folks who don't like you. But they're the weather grumblers, Cloud King, and you simply mustn't pay one scrap of attention to them.'"

"He really felt quite joyful after this and pattered down to the earth with his army of raindrops and his grandchildren, the Mist family, quite merrily. But I thought I would have a club which would please the old weather man, the sun, the moon, the clouds, and it would make all of us happier if we went right ahead and enjoyed each day as it came along--for we must have weather of some kind or other!"

"So that is how the club started. All the rules and regulations you know." "Yes, indeed," said all the members, as they proudly patted their badges which read, "Every-day-is-nice."

Appreciated the Thrill of Intricate Aerial Maneuvers Performed by Experienced Pilot.

Thomas D. Schall, the blind congressman from the Tenth Minnesota district, made flights with Col. Charles Lee of the British royal flying corps in Washington recently. It was the first time he had been up in an airplane.

Congressman Schall was not satisfied with the plain "joy ride" Colonel Lee had given him. When they returned to earth after circling over the city at an altitude of about two thousand feet, the blind representative asked for more thrills.

"Fine! Fine!" he exclaimed, as the machine came to a halt. "But, Colonel Lee, if you wouldn't think me a nuisance, I would like to go back up and turn over."

The biplane was wheeled into position again, and off it shot on a trip of real sensations. Climbing rapidly to about two thousand feet, Colonel Lee started the machine into a series of dips and dives, spirals and other aerial antics calculated to make one's hair stand on edge. To complete the thrills, the airplane was made to roll over sideways and then drop into a beautiful nose spin.

The passenger's sightless eyes were blinking with delight when his wife ran onto the field to assist him from the machine.

Conservative Muse of History.

It is the unhappy usage of our schools and universities to study the history of mankind only during periods of mechanical unprogressiveness. The historical ideas of Europe range between the time when the Greeks were going about the world on foot or horseback or in galleys or sailing ships, to the days when Napoleon, Wellington and Nelson were going about at very much the same pace in much the same vehicles and vessels. At the advent of steam and electricity the muse of history holds her nose and shuts her eyes. Science will study and get the better of a modern sickness, in spite of the fact that it has no classical standing, but our history schools would be shocked at the bare idea of studying the effect of modern means of communication upon administrative areas, large or small. This defect in our historical training has made our minds politically sluggish.—H. G. Wells in New Republic.

PLAN AIR POSTAL SERVICE

Is Expected by Englishmen to Be One of the First Innovations When Peace Is Declared.

Airplane postal service will be one of the first innovations of peace in England. The problem is already being worked out in detail, even to the cost of postage and hours of collection and delivery. It is also said that within the first few months after peace a transatlantic airplane service will be established. Airplane engineers say that the problem of constructing a machine for transatlantic flight has been solved in theory, and machines which would cross the Atlantic could be built to-day if it were not that the long distance busses of war time must also be heavy weight carriers. The most interesting result of these peace plans is that it has been found possible to arrange the collection and delivery of letters between London and Glasgow with such dispatch that a correspondent in London will be able to receive a written answer within the working day. Applied to the middle West, an exchange says, this means that a Kansas City business man will be able to send a document to St. Louis, Chicago, Madison, Minneapolis, Sioux Falls, Omaha, Oklahoma City, Fort Worth, Texarkana or Little Rock when he reaches his office in the morning and receive it back duly signed before he goes home. The estimated postage for this service works out at 8 cents per ounce.

British Rural Life Changes.

With women taking the place of men workers, conditions in many parts of the country are undergoing a remarkable change. This is most noticeable in parts where woman land workers are making their homes.

The Woman's Institute is largely responsible for the movement, which is gradually revolutionizing village life, making it more attractive and stimulating a sense of citizenship. In conjunction with the food production department, a parliamentary meeting is called which elects a democratic committee representing farmers' wives, cottagers and landed women, who thereafter manage affairs, arranging for monthly social gatherings where useful lectures are given, exhibitions of housecraft or gardening skill held, and old, treasured recipes and household hints exchanged.

Several hundred villagers already have their committees and the food department is inundated with demands for organizers and lecturers.

KEEPING HENS TO AID FOOD SUPPLY

Poultry Constitutes Military Resource Not to Be Ignored in War Times.

MORE CHICKENS ARE NEEDED

What 100 Fowls on Every Farm in United States Would Mean to Nation's Food Stock—War Emergency Program.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

There should be 100 hens on every farm in the United States. We should obtain 100 eggs from every hen. With approximately 6,000,000 farms, that would mean 600,000,000 hens and 60,000,000,000 eggs per year. That number of eggs constitutes a military resource not to be ignored.

One hundred hens on every farm is not a particularly big contract. There is hardly a farm in the United States but could support that number of hens practically on its waste materials and without materially added cost. One hundred hens to a farm is considerably less than the average number of hens to a farm in many of the better poultry-producing sections of the country. It is an average that could as easily be maintained in the sections of the country where the average per farm is now lower than 100 hens. One hundred eggs from every hen, while far below what could be obtained with proper encouragement of fowls, is considerably more than the average egg production of the country over.

These two items are the basis of the war emergency poultry program for 1918. The carrying out of that program is an important part of the war against barbaric domination.

Two causes combine to bring the necessity for a special effort to secure the raising of more poultry this year. One is that the war needs of the nation make larger average stocks of productive poultry important. The other is that the number of fowls on farms has, from a multiplicity of causes, been reduced during the past year.

A succession of sharp advances in prices of poultry feeds in 1917 and uncertainties in supplies of feeds, be-

Little Frocks for Parties and Weddings.

Just how early in life a satisfaction in pretty clothes dawns on the eternal feminine mind, is one of those interesting questions that no one has taken the trouble to get definitely answered. But we know it is one of the earliest of our joys and the most lasting. In the picture above a little maid of five seems to be discovering her party frock. Life is one continual round of more or less dainty clothes for her, and she finds herself on a special occasion in something more flimsy and frilly than she has noticed before.

This little party frock is made of fine white net and trimmed with a little narrow Val lace insertion and edging. The skirt is full, finished with a hem and tucked at the bottom, and no other trimming. It is set onto a very short waist having many fine tucks running from shoulder to waistband and a flounce extending below the waistband. This flounce is finished with a row of Val insertion finished with a scant frill of Val edging. The square neck is finished in the same way.

Little dresses of this kind are sometimes decked out with gay ribbon rosettes, but they have been left off of this one; perhaps this accounts for a strand of small pearl beads that make the little wearer very splendid. The dress is worn over a lace-trimmed petticoat, with several rows of Val insertion set in a fine lawn skirt and a frill of Val edging at the bottom. Now that the requirements of flower girls and other youthful attendants on the June bride must soon be considered, this little net frock is especially interesting. It can be worn over a colored silk slip where color is important—as it is in a wedding procession.

Another little frock of net has a skirt made in the same way as this one, with hem and tuck at the bottom. It is set on, with smocking to a short silk yoke. The yoke is cut with low, square opening in the neck at the back and front and extended at each side, under the arms to the waistline. The net sleeves are full and elbow length, finished with a flaring cuff of the silk. For the flower girl in a wedding procession this ought to satisfy the most exacting taste.

A Pretty Dimity Blouse.

A smart blouse of striped dimity is cut upon tailored shirt lines, with two narrow box plaits at either side of the opening in front. At each side of these, and also separating them, are inserts of wide heavy heading. The straight rolling collar has lines of heading inset in the same fashion, and is finished by an inch-wide hem of double dimity. Smart little cuffs of alternating bands of dimity and lines of heading finish the tailored sleeves.

Practical Petticoats at Little Cost.

While silk petticoats are preferable for comfort to those of other materials, it sometimes happens that the shadow-proof variety of petticoat, made of white sateen, gives a greater sense of security when worn with a diaphanous frock than that of the more luxurious silk.

Keeping Chickens Does Not Tax Farm Labor Problem—Any Member of the Family Can Do Most of the Work Required by the Flock.

cause of congested transportation, caused many poultry keepers to curtail production or reduce stocks on hand. As was inevitable under the circumstances, the sections of the East where poultry keeping was most highly specialized were most affected. Shortage of feed in drought-stricken areas in the West and Southwest also led to reduction of poultry stocks on general farms in those areas.

Elsewhere flocks appear to have been maintained at about normal numbers, and in some places slightly increased. Reports of heavy selling in sections where feed is sufficient have in many cases failed to take into account the disposition of the stock sold. It has usually been assumed that all stock sold went to slaughter. Some reports, however, state that many hens and pullets sold by poultry keepers who were short of feed or of capital passed to others who were in a position to hold them. The volume of receipts of eggs at certain markets seems to bear out this statement.

TO BUY WAR SAVINGS STAMPS IS TO SERVE YOUR COUNTRY AND BRING PROFIT TO YOURSELF.

Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps are miniature Government Bonds. They are investments; they represent principal put out at interest.

In nominal, fractional amounts lend your money to the Government and your Government pays you for the use of it; you get back the principal—the original sum you lend—and an additional amount for lending it.

The Government asks you to lend it money because the Government needs it. It needs, to use a common-place expression, "every cent it can scrape together" in this, the greatest crisis it has ever known.

It would be a very easy matter for the Government to demand and take from the people by extra taxation whatever amount it required; but, feeling that an appeal to patriotism in the matter of War Savings Stamps would meet with as ready response as did the appeal for Liberty Bonds, the Government has relied upon that patriotism and is now calling upon Men, Women and Children, upon EVERYBODY, to share in the big enterprise now on foot.

This to the stay-at-homes: "You cannot crawl into the horrors and filths of No-Man's-Land to find a mangled boy (your own brave son may lie there groaning now), but your MONEY can."

"Thousands of volunteers have splendidly surrendered opportunity, left families and dear ones behind, abandoned profitable engagements, are contributing all of themselves—risking youth, health, existence, to glean after battle—to speak God's neutrality on the fields of anguish."

How much will those here for whom the brave men across the seas are fighting, making every sacrifice, even the sacrifice of life and limb—how much (not how little) will the stay-at-homes contribute, in loans, to the cause of freedom?

Our men are now "going over" by thousands. The more we send across the more demand there is for money to equip them; to care for them, to sustain them. That demand is greater than ever; but so considerably, so thoughtfully have the plans of the Government been worked out that not the few but the many may participate in this campaign of sustenance and alleviation—not the few but the many may invest their money in small as well as large amounts and thereby do a doubly good deed: help the Government and bring profit to themselves.

The case is up to the people of this district as well as to those of other districts. Emmitsburg cannot evade or shirk its responsibility. The stamps are in this Post Office, ready to be delivered, and in amounts to fit the state of any pocketbook.

How Many Do You Want?

PATERNAI INFLUENCE.

Companionship, association, contact—these influence our lives either for good or evil. Every action leaves its impression. An honorable and patriotic father; a loving and trusting mother; a manly and noble brother; a sweet and gentle sister—each one produces an undying influence; each elevates and inspires to higher and better things, each leaves an indelible mark. Be he rich or poor, learned or unlearned, there is so much that a father can do to help his son.

He has been successful, maybe; has made mistakes; has learned many of life's hard lessons; has gained a varied knowledge of the world; has met with those striving, with those shirking; has passed through the school of tedious experience. He can impart to his son the benefits derived from such experience if he can gain his son's confidence. He can do this only by grasping the thought, feeling and imagination of the receptive mind before it has reached maturity. There must be sympathy; there must be earnestness; there must be companionship.

Every father should be the guiding influence of his son's career; his mentor, his elder brother, his pal. And therein lies a heavy responsibility, for either he can be a master-hand to mould and perfect a brave and noble character, or he can shape the keel and plan the chart that eventually will make of his own flesh and blood a derelict.

It is well to remember that no local committee made the Allotment for Emmitsburg district in the matter of War Savings Stamps. The appeal comes directly from the Government; not from any individual or set of individuals. Success or failure, then, rests with the people here, all the people in this district. The amount to be raised (pledged between now and the last of December) is large; but it can be put across.

The local Post Office has these stamps for sale (these little interest-bearing bonds) and the Government asks you to buy them. There's the whole story.

TONIGHT the proceeds from the sale of tickets for the movies (it will be the last movie presentation of the season) will be used in buying War Savings Stamps. Another opportunity for showing patriotism—and enjoying a splendid performance.

FAMOUS FOREST QUITE GONE

Absolutely Nothing Left of the Once Beautiful Woods That Were the Pride of Verdun.

Lovers used to stroll arm in arm through the well-ordered forests of Verdun. To stroll arm in arm where these forests once stood is no longer possible. Gouverneur Morris writes in Collier's. You must go alone. If there has been rain you should have nails in your boots. The smooth convolutions of the hills have been tortured and turned into ridges and hollows like the Atlantic ocean during the equinoctial gales.

I doubt if there is to be found one single square yard of the original forest floor. I doubt if there is to be found one single perfect example of a shell crater. One crater breaks into the next, and there, merged into one shocking hollow, are a dozen which at the first moment of looking appeared to have been but one.

It has been well but truly "worked," that forest floor; but not for 100 years can it ever again be worked by man in any peaceful and profitable pursuit. Rich soil (doubly rich now). It will be shunned by the farmer with his plow; a prospect very rich in copper and iron, the prospector will shun it, for here, buried and half-buried, the shells, great and little, which did not explode at all, are as thick as temptation in the life of every man.

York Road Set Free.

The final step in clearing old York road of its toll gate incumbrances was taken recently and six toll gates between the city line and Harboro will hereafter cease to vex the users of this important highway. Philadelphia abolished all toll gates within her limits some years ago, but these nuisances still continue to maintain a state of siege about this city except on the Delaware river front, where the ferries perform a similar part. The ferries will remain until the Delaware is bridged, but the toll gates must go, and are going.—Philadelphia Press.

"Tell T. R. It's Mike."

From New York comes the story of a former resident of Belleville who was kept busy night and day answering telephone queries regarding the health of Theodore Roosevelt during the latter's recent illness at Roosevelt hospital.

The man had a telephone number similar to that of the hospital.

The limit of his patience was reached, however, when a man called and said: "Tell the colonel that Mike Hicks called. He'll remember me. I'm the fellow that shook hands with him at the depot the day he came to Allentown."

TOOK PHOTOGRAPHS OF CZAR

Movie Operation Was Privileged to Get "Close-Up" Views of the Imprisoned Former Russian Ruler.

In "Donald Thompson in Russian," the movie photographer tells how he succeeded in getting a picture of the czar after the revolution had begun. He went out to Tzarskoye Selo, the palace near Petrograd where the royal family were confined, and from a distance saw the czar and his son walking in the yard. "The servants must have told him," writes Mr. Thompson, "for the czar sent word to me to come saying that he would allow me to make a picture as close as I wished. I told him that I had met him before in 1915, and had made pictures of him then at the front and at Lemberg. He remembered and immediately spoke of Meuse, the English photographer. While I was making pictures and the camera was being re-loaded so that I could put in some new film, several of the soldiers came up close, while the czar was watching how the camera was loaded. They were smoking. One of them elbowed the czar away and at the same time blew smoke directly in his face. But the czar didn't show that he was annoyed by this. After I had made some motion picture films of him and his son, and also some still photographs, I saluted and said 'good-by.' He answered 'good-by.' While walking away I glanced around. He was still looking after me and talking to his son."

"Strafe" Made Prize of War.

The British have taken "strafe." In an announcement from the Oxford University Press the fact is officially made known. The captured word has been included, not to say interned, in the latest volume, Volume IX, of the Oxford dictionary. And as a trophy of war it has been treated after a characteristically British fashion. Its flat Teutonic "a" has been changed to the long English "a" as of "safe," and from two syllables it is reduced to one, so that it may rhyme with "chafe."

MOLLUSKS MAKE GOOD SOUP

Thrown Up on Florida Beaches by the Waves They Are Collected and Sold to Hotels.

Along the Florida beaches a very common and familiar kind of rock is wholly composed of the shells of a small species of mollusk, oval in shape and half an inch long. It is called "coquina," and is hard on the feet if one walks over it without shoes.

In beds below the line of low tide are mollusks of the same kind, alive. Their bivalve shells are pink, blue and of other colors, quite brilliant, so that in places the beaches are beautiful to the eye, great numbers of them being thrown up by the waves along the shore.

Under such circumstances they soon die, of course, leaving their pretty shells to adorn the strand. But there are always plenty of live ones at the water's edge, and these are gathered in quantity at some of the winter resorts by boys who collect them with rakes and carry them in baskets to the hotels for sale.

They are used for soup, being pressed to a pulp in order to extract their juice. The latter, strained and heated, affords a very delicious table beverage known as "coquina broth." It is particularly recommended for invalids and persons with weak digestion.

Wartime Footwear in Holland.

The manufacture of slippers with wooden soles and cloth tops is a wartime industry which has sprung up in Holland, reports the United States department of commerce. The upper and inner parts of the slippers are formed of twill, corduroy and woolen stuffs. All these materials are relatively cheap, and yet make comfortable and durable slippers. The cloth parts are made by hand and the wooden soles by machinery.

In view of the mounting prices of leather footwear, these combination slippers, which retail for the equivalent of $1 a pair for the best quality, are selling rapidly. It is claimed that they are entirely satisfactory for wear in the home and are practicable for women engaged in indoor occupations.

Government Finds Fathers.

The death rate among children born out of wedlock is notoriously and universally far higher than that among legitimate offspring. In the borough of Hampstead, London, it is 197 as against 60, and in New South Wales it is 162 against 67. Norway, however, has reduced the death rate to normal through the government assuming the responsibility of finding the father or of acting the father in case he cannot be found.

DIFFER OVER ORIGIN OF DOG

Whether All Kinds Had a Common Ancestor Has Long Been a Matter of Dispute.

The ancestry of the dog has been the occasion of much controversy, according to Leo S. Crandall's book, "Pets." Many naturalists have considered that it is descended from a single ancestor, such as the common wolf of Europe. Darwin, however, leans toward the theory of multiple origin in support of his belief. It is widely known that many savage tribes have dogs, which appear to be simply half-tamed representatives of the particular wild doglike animals inhabiting the same regions.

The dogs of the American plains Indians closely resemble the small prairie wolf, or coyote; the husky of the north country is plainly not far removed from the gray wolf; the German sheep dog and the Samoyede are strikingly wolflike in appearance. Whether our present dogs are the result of crossing these many simple derivatives of wolves and jackals among themselves, or whether there was an original ancestral dog, now extinct, with which the blood of other species has become mingled, we have not yet been able to determine, though so many primordial animal remains have come to light.

According to St. George Mivart, the dingo is the only wild dog still existing which meets the requirements of an ancestor of our modern breeds. This species is found throughout Australia and fossil bones which have been found show its presence there from very early times.

Surgical Dressing Work.

Some skeptical people, who usually aren't doing anything themselves, think that the production of surgical dressings by patriotic women is being overdone. If they could see conditions in some of the French villages, where not a single able-bodied man remains, they would not feel so.

In these colossal battles, where hundreds of thousands of men are engaged, all previous wars and needs are outclassed. A great many men are wounded in these battles. With prompt care and abundant material handy, the vast majority of the wounded are saved.

Vast storehouses should be filled in France at all times for this need. A Red Cross doctor who recently returned from France reports a case of a soldier so badly wounded that it took a whole case of dressings to save him. Under the strain of such demands, a great mountain of supplies will quickly melt away.—Virginia Enterprise.

WHAT SCOTLAND IS DOING

This Little Country Has Already Cheerfully Done Very Much More Than Her Share.

We are pretty well acquainted in this country with the part Canada is taking in the war. We have been advised from time to time of the individual sacrifices being made by the people to the north of us. We know only in a general way what other people are doing. So it comes as refreshing news to hear from the lips of such a man as Harry Lauder the heroic work and sacrifices of the Scots.

More than 300,000 Scotchmen are under arms, or have given up their lives in the struggle. And Scotland is a small country. In the cities and towns there are no more eligible men—no more men fit to bear arms. They have all departed. Scotland is a land of old men and women and little children—and crippled soldiers. It is not the Scotland of three years ago, with a husky set of strapping young fellows tilling the fields and working in the mines and mills.

Not only that, but the people do not complain. There are no murmurings of the conditions—no murmurings against their fate. The war is on; the Scots will fight it out. That is the spirit one finds in Scotland, among those old men and women and among the little children. It is the spirit one finds out in the trenches, where the Scottish soldiers stand on guard and meet the enemy face to face.

The history of Scotland is too well understood to call attention to it here. The record of the Scots, made in the long ago, still is fresh in the mind of every one who knows history. So it isn't necessary to state that the Scots are born fighters, that they are not going to give up. They have done in this war exactly what those familiar with Scottish history expected them to do. And they will not fall at any time in the future.—Columbus Dispatch.

This Swindler Up to Date. Thought reading was the method claimed to have been employed by a man in Bengal, India, to win large sums of money on the race course. It turned out to be a very ingenious form of swindle. Finding a man who is interested in racing, the confidence man produces a roll of money, and states that he won this by his fore-knowledge of the winners on the track. He then suggests that his friend test his knowledge. He induces his victim to hand him sums of money to be placed on the horses, and then vanishes. Investigation has proved that this Bengal had swindled a number of people of large sums of money in this way.

The KITCHEN CABINET

CORN, THE AMERICAN FOOD.

As we wish to save every ounce of white flour possible in our food in these days of pressing need, it is well for us to remember that our foremothers had little else but corn for bread in the early days. In 1588 Harlot in his account of the Virginia colony writes of maize as follows: "The graine is about the bigness of our ordinary English pease, it yeelde white sweete flowre; being used according to its kind, it maketh a very goodde bread."

As cornmeal or corn flour lacks the tenacious substance (gluten) present in wheat it is impossible to make a good yeast bread from it alone; but by using the flour in the sponge, cornmeal may be used as substitute from one-fourth to a third of the flour used in kneading, in this way saving a large amount of flour for our country's need. Bread which has corn flour or cornmeal added should be longer baked to be palatable.

Fifty-Fifty Biscuits.—Take two cupfuls of white flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, two teaspoonfuls of salt, three tablespoonfuls of shortening and two of sugar, liquid to mix to the proper consistency, about one to one and a half cupfuls. Milk, potato water or other vegetable water of little flavor may be used, in this way much mineral matter is taken into the body.

Fifty-Fifty Griddle Cakes.—Take one cupful of sour milk, three-fourths cupful each of flour and corn meal, a half teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful of baking powder, a half teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of molasses and one beaten egg. Get a few pounds of flank fat, try it out, saving the scraps, mix the fat while hot with lard and it will keep it soft as butter. Use the scraps finely chopped to stir into a cornmeal mush, well seasoned with salt, and a few dashes of cayenne. Pour into a bread pan to mold. Unmold and slice, fry in the hot flank fat, for a most fitting breakfast dish.

Nellie Maxwell

Smart Frock for the Business Girl.

In the drama of fashions, the part of the one-piece frock has grown in importance for three seasons. It made a triumphant entry this fall and has held the center of the stage ever since. The advent of the "bustle dress" (which hardly deserved its name), and the furor for velvet portends a brilliant finish for this season of a style that is sure to reappear in the spring.

The bustle dress is given its name because it is caught up in drapery below the waistline at the back and merely suggests the bustle of other years. It is prettiest in velvet or heavy satin or crisp taffeta; best of all velvet. In the latest models skirts are narrow and drawn back from the front by the back draping. They have long, close-fitting sleeves and high necks.

One-piece frocks of serge and other durable cloths have proven themselves the smartest sort of frocks for business women. This term includes about everyone these days when it is unthinkable that any well woman should be idle.

The frock of serge shown in the picture is enough to reconcile the most inconsequent of idlers to a business life. Consider its good points and remember how entirely practical it is. In addition to being good looking it is new and original. The sleeves are set on to an underbodice and finished on the forearm with neat straps of the material. The overbodice fastens over a separate vestee of washable white satin, which may be varied with vestees of other materials by way of change. A wide fold, instead of revers, on the bodice is placed high enough at the back to provide an unusually becoming neck finish, and a big trench buckle shows the resourcefulness of the designer in providing a unique fastening.

The skirt has two box plaits at the back and front and cascaded drapery at the sides to lend it shapeliness and interest. Trim rows of bone buttons on the plaits at the front consign this frock to the ranks of the tailor-made.

The Hair Ribbon. To make children's ribbons stiff wash them well with soap and water, rinse in sugar and water, then from while damp.

Buster Brown Collar for Girls. Buster Brown collars of pique are a favorite neck decoration among the younger women.

OBITUARY.

MRS. CHARLES ROTERING.
Mrs. Charles Roterling died suddenly at her home on West Main street, Saturday, June 8.
Funeral services were held Monday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Rev. J. O. Hayden, C. M. officiating. Interment was made in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Intent on High School.
An enthusiastic mass meeting of those interested in the reestablishment of a high school in this place was held in the public school building last Tuesday evening. As a result of this meeting the following delegates met the Board of School Commissioners in Frederick on Wednesday morning: Mesdames—A. A. Annan, Hensley, M. Gillelan, W. White, G. S. Eyster, Robert Annan, M. F. Rowe, G. T. Eyster, J. T. Hays, Franklin; the Misses E. Horner, Zacharias, Belle Rowe, Anna Rowe, Eva Rowe and M. Frailey; Messrs. J. S. Annan, E. F. Ohler, Colliflower, A. Ohler, A. Patterson, J. R. Ohler, J. Horner, Warrenfeltz, Hensley, Reinewald, Fox, W. Hays and Higbee.

The delegation felt encouraged after its hearing and hopes for an early report on the matter. Emmitsburg was most ably represented by Rev. Dr. Reinewald, whose plea made the justice and worth of Emmitsburg's case very apparent to the school authorities; and they in turn announced that they fully understood the situation and promised to give it all the attention possible.

Killed In Auto Wreck.
Theodore Murray, aged about 20 years, of South Locust street, Hagerstown, was killed, and William Markell, also of Hagerstown, was slightly injured in an automobile accident on the Frederick-Emmitsburg State Road near Lewistown, Wednesday, about 4 a. m. The accident occurred on a sharp curve on the road, near the church just north of Lewistown. The men evidently were unacquainted with the road, and their machine, instead of rounding the curve, ran across the space beside the highway, struck a ditch along the fence, and overturned, and threw the occupants out. Murray was caught beneath the machine, and it is believed was internally injured about the stomach and back. He died before he reached the Frederick City Hospital where he was being taken by Dr. E. D. Neighbours, who had been hurriedly summoned.

Emmitsburg Boy in Aviation.

Walter J. Florence son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Florence, of near Emmitsburg, recently completed the course of instruction for an aviator, at San Diego, California, with the rank of Sergeant.

Sergeant Florence has been away from Emmitsburg for a number of years, six of which he has spent in California where he enlisted. The following is a quotation from one of his letters: "Nothing much new in San Diego, since I wrote you last. Business is quiet although there is a lot of building going on on the island. I am not at the post much of the time for I am on special duty in the city, which is just across the bay from the Aviation Field. I have finished the instructions at the school for mechanics, although I am not flying. I have been changing around a lot but I am still in the States. Was with the 14th and 215th and am now with the 132nd. Some of the boys that left the island some time ago have been killed in France, most of them I knew personally."

New Canning Factory.
Myersville, one of the leading trucking communities of the county, is to have a canning factory. Within a few weeks the Catoctin Valley Canning Company, recently organized, will be open for operation. Machinery is now being installed.

The new canning establishment was organized with Charles W. Summers, president. Raymond Beachley is secretary and treasurer. Mr. Beachley will be general manager of the plant. It is estimated that the company has put out something like 40,000 tomato plants, besides contracting from the surrounding truckers for their yield. The concern will can principally tomatoes and beans.

COOL-TOPPER.

Miss Alice Topper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Topper and Mr. George Cool, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cool, both of near Emmitsburg, were united in marriage in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Tuesday morning, June 4th at six o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. O. Hayden, C. M., and was followed by a nuptial Mass.

The attendants were Mrs. J. D. Funk, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid and Mr. J. D. Funk as best man. The bride wore a gown of light blue taffeta combined with shadow lace. After the ceremony the young couple were given a dinner at the home of the bride's parents. They were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents of silver, cut glass and linen. For the present they will reside at the home of the groom's parents, near Emmitsburg.

Bumper Crops for Maryland.

Bumper crops in wheat, oats, tomatoes, corn, vegetables and fruits are in sight in Maryland, according to the observations of Senator Orlando Harrison, of Worcester county, leading farmer and agriculturist of the state.

The following notes were made by him: "The strawberry crop has been about normal, wheat, which was hampered by a cold spring, is showing great improvement. Oats is all right. More corn has been planted in Maryland this year than in any other year in the history of the state. It has a good start. Farmers have been shy on potatoes. There was an overproduction last year. Prices were low. Because other farmers are dodging potatoes, I have just ordered 500 acres to be planted in potatoes. The tomato crop is good in many sections and below the normal in others. The peach and apple crops will probably fall off one-half as compared with last year, but there will be no shortage. Railroad transportation is slow and deficient. We are arranging to establish motor-truck service for nearby points. Of course, there is a labor shortage, and the high prices for labor are cutting deep into former profits."

Washington County Tax Rate.
The County Commissioners for Washington county fixed the levy for 1918 at 90 cents, which is one cent less than the year previous. The State tax rate this year is 36 3/4 cents, a slight increase over the rate of the year before.

HOT WATER FRUIT AND VEGETABLE DRYER

This is the cheapest, simplest, most durable and effective dryer for domestic use that has ever been invented. It requires very little space and is used on top of a range or stove when not used for cooking, and when it is removed from the range to make room for cooking it still continues to dry on account of the hot water, which requires some time to cool. This dryer is especially adapted to drying sweet corn and with very little attention can be dried off twice in one day. There is absolutely no burning or scorching which is one of the essential features of a dryer. It has a dry surface of 18 by 26 in. and weighs six pounds. PRICE $2.50.

Cholera Morbus.
This is a very painful and dangerous disease. In almost every neighborhood someone has died from it before medicine could be obtained or a physician summoned. The right way is to have a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house so as to be prepared for it. Mrs. Charles E. Yearst, Huntington, Ind., writes: "During the summer of 1911 two of my children were taken sick with cholera morbus. I used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and it gave them immediate relief." —Advertisement

Flour Stored in Case of Famine.
Emergency reserves of flour, totaling 500,000 barrels, are piled in more than 20 cities throughout the United States for use in case of bread famine, it was learned at the Food Administration Tuesday. These stores, equivalent of 2,250,000 bushels of wheat, have been held by the Food Administration at great industrial centers since early last winter. With the present flour and wheat stocks practically exhausted, it is possible that these reserves will have to be drawn upon. They constitute a two-week supply for the centers in which they are stored.

Industrial centers where the populations would be most helpless in case of bread famine were selected as reserve centers. They include Boston, Memphis, Dallas, Birmingham, Detroit, Chicago, Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Buffalo; Springfield, Mass.; New Haven; Charleston, S. C.; Scranton and Indianapolis.

Big Wheat Crops This Year.
A bumper wheat crop, big enough to smash the 10-year-record, has been predicted by Food Administration officials on receipt of favorable reports from all parts of the United States.

Actual yields of both winter and spring wheat will exceed the Department of Agriculture's estimates. Warning was sounded that wheat must be saved. The direct threat at trans-atlantic shipments made by German U-boats this week, emphasized Food Administrator Hoover's determination to pile up reserves of wheat abroad. His plan is to stock Europe against temporary cutting of the line across the Atlantic by raiding U-boats.

Building Material in German Hands.
Millions of dollars' worth of building material imported from America by Miss Anne Morgan's committee to rebuild French villages was engulfed in the last German offensive, according to the Paris edition of the New York Herald. A certain amount of the material had been hurriedly removed to the south, but the bulk is now in the hands of the Germans, as also are most of the 43 villages for which it was intended.

ANNEXES ANOTHER VICTORY
M. S. M. Easily Defeats Soldiers from Fort Myer.

Mt. St. Mary's added another victory to its string last Saturday when it defeated the Fort Myer team by the overwhelming score of 20 to 3. The visitors were a huge disappointment and after the locals scored five runs in the first inning it was evident that the contest would be a one-sided affair. Hagerty on the mound for the locals allowed the soldiers only four hits and incidentally registered his seventh victory of the year. Both teams played rather poor ball in the field, dividing twelve errors between them. With perfect support, Hagerty would have scored his second shut out of the season. The Mountain batsman fattened their averages considerably, especially Captain Sadler, Carney and Chapman, each of whom had four clean hits. Coach Thompson used a number of substitutes in the closing innings and each gave a good account of himself. The lineup:

Draft Lists Are Ordered Revised.
A general revision of classifications under the selective service act has been started by Provost Marshal General Crowder when he telegraphed to the governors of all states ordering investigations to determine the reason for the small number of registrants in class 1 in some localities. The lists of some boards show an average far below the national average of 28.7 per cent. registrant in class 1. Some boards even have fallen as low as 10 per cent. Thousands of men now in class 4 should be put in classes 1 and 2, the provost marshal said. The instructions also ordered investigations to determine if any men have been erroneously put in the upper class when they should have been placed in those lower down.

Provost Marshal General Crowder announced that the class of 1918 registrants will not be allowed to enlist in the Navy or Marine Corps, and that no voluntary inductions will be granted until order and serial number have been assigned. After numbers are assigned registrants may enlist if they obtain certificates from their local boards stating they are not within the boards current quota. It is expected the rearrangement will bring into class 1 more than 500,000 men.

JUST GOT OVER A COLD.
Look out for kidney troubles and backache. Colds overtax the kidneys and often leave them weak. For weak kidneys—well, read what this grateful man says:
G. L. Bowers, retired sergeant U. S. Army, 78 Liberty St., Westminster, Md., says: "Almost every spring and fall I have had a slight attack of kidney trouble. I have caught colds which have settled on my kidneys. I have had pains through the small of my back which have been so bad I couldn't bend over. Many times during the night I have been forced to get up to pass the kidney secretions and at times they have been scanty and then again profuse. Whenever these spells have come on, I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and they have immediately relieved me."

WHEAT IN A NUTSHELL

Wheat in sight until next harvest—
58,000,000 bushels.

Wheat to meet minimum requirements of our army and allies—30,000, 000 bushels.

Wheat left for maximum home use
—26,000,000 bushels.

Wheat that would be used here in normal year between now and harvest—80,000,000 bushels.

MAKE THE MOST OF THE SPUD.

Germany has over one thousand factories for crushing and drying potatoes and turning the product into flour for man, flakes and cubes for animals, alcohol for the chemical industry, and also as a substitute for gasoline. After being reduced sixty per cent. in weight and thirty per cent. in volume, potatoes can be kept indefinitely as a food reserve. Germany's population now practically lives on potatoes and is this year producing two-and-one-half billion bushels or over one-third of the world's total crop.

With a record wheat crop still enough must be saved to insure against a possible bad year. Herbert Hoover, in issuing that warning, follows the footsteps of Joseph who gained fame as a food controller in ancient Egypt.

Famine has cleaned Petrograd shops out of flour, sugar, potatoes, cheese, milk and grain. Such is the fate of the quitter in a fight with Germany.

BEER IN BRITAIN.

The amount of material used in Great Britain for alcoholic beverages has been cut since the war from 1, 856,000 tons to 512,000 tons. No manufacture of spirits for human consumption is now permitted.

No unmalted barley is now in the hands of the brewers or maltsters, it is officially announced. The whole of the existing stocks of unmalted grain has been requisitioned for breadstuffs.

Twenty-five pounds of cabbage will dehydrate to two pounds. That means twenty-three pounds of useless water the railroads won't have to carry.

The United States Government has given a Buffalo firm an order for 375, 000 pounds of dehydrated carrots for the army in France.

Messages sent out by Herbert Hoover to local and State Food Administrators urge every housewife to supply her table from the home garden so far as it can be done.

SWEETBREADS A LA NEWBURGH.

(Official recipe.)

Parboil, cool and cut the sweet-breads into cubes. There should be sufficient to make one and a half cupfuls. Have ready half a cupful of sauteed mushrooms and add them to one cupful of cream that has been heated in the blazer of the chafing dish. Cook for a couple of minutes, stir in the sweetbreads, and as soon as they are heated add the beaten yolks of two eggs, half a teaspoonful of salt, paprika to taste, and a quarter of a cupful of sherry. Stir constantly until the sauce is well thickened (do not boil it or it will curdle) and serve immediately on rounds of hot toast.

Twenty ounces of meat per week, including chicken and game, is the present ration in England, except to those engaged in very hard labor.

Buffalo's Thrift Kitchen began by collecting outside stalks of celery which would have been thrown away in the city markets. Then the stallholders tasted the soup made in the kitchen and decided to sell the soup-celery themselves. This is just one element of food waste which the war has taught the Bison city to eliminate.

Sweetbreads are now at their cheapest and best. They are wonderfully digestible.

The list of competitors in the Maryland Produce Contest is an official record of those who were willing to wield the spade and the hoe for the sake of Uncle Sam.

A cable has been received from the British Ministry of Food thanking this country for the exports of meat which have made possible a return to the normal meat ration. There must be no let-up, however, in our shipments, or else another dangerous crisis will have to be faced.

On a visit home French High Commissioner Tardieu has been telling how the American people by voluntary restrictions raised the supply of grain for export from 130,000 tons in January to 3,120,000 tons. That is a proud record which must be maintained.

On the basis of cost, cheese is almost twice as nutritious as meat. A pound of cottage cheese gives tissue-building material equal in amount to one-and-one-fifth pounds of sirloin steak and as much energy as eight and-one-third ounces.

His clothes do not dominate him, but are a part of him.

BOBBY BURNS SAID:

"It's not the clothes that makes the man." (And this is equally applicable to women.) But you'll admit they help some. Have you seen some of these garments that help so in the better enjoyment of a vacation? Everything for sports, semi-dress and formal affairs, in styles that are so different and new they at once win you admiration. Garments appropriate for town, country, mountain and seashore.
