LET'S HAVE SOME ACTION NOW

There is not a vestige of doubt in my mind as to whether the majority of local residents feel as I do about the need of greater police protection here in town. I can safely say they do, after seeing the great reception my recent article on local police protection received. As a matter of fact, I was amazed at the almost unanimous approvals displayed by nearly every one who read the article.

Since there is so much insistence that the town be provided with ample police protection, those on the Town Board who are responsible for this unpleasant situation had better take steps to remedy same. Remember, your offices are by election and election only.

BASEBALL GETS ANOTHER CHANCE

Once again baseball can breathe freely. It has undergone a complete restoration and is ready to do its duty by the people during the coming season. This was veritably a reprieve from death for baseball in the town.

The installation of a business manager is a marvelous innovation. Heaven only knows that there are a million and one little essentials in a club like ours that have to be attended to and a business manager is the one to do it. Norman Flax, who was elected to hold down the job, will, in my estimation, prove to be quite adept in that capacity. Fluxie loves baseball for the sport that it is and will have the best interests of the game at heart.

Likewise the Board of Directors that was recently nominated, with its newly-named president, Dr. Beegle. And with Jack Bubrick to manage the team. Well, I believe we're just about all set.

Tonight the local American Legion Post will play host to its male members in the form of an honest-to-goodness stag party. "Wimmin" are not allowed for your information, so I guess that leaves me out in the cold. (And you may take that absolutely literally).

CARDINAL MICARA PAYS VISIT TO ST. JOSEPH'S

Papal Prelate And
Other High Dignitaries
See Mother Seton Tomb

Clements Cardinal Micara, prefect of the Sacred Congregation of Rites in Rome, dean of Papal Nuncios and papal legate to the Eucharistic Congress in Cali, Colombia, was welcomed to St. Joseph's College by the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent DePaul and the students recently.

As the cars bearing the distinguished ecclesiastics drove up the avenue leading to the college, the students in academic attire formed a guard of honor and intoned Ludwig Bonvini's Sacredros. The Most Rev. Dr. Lawrence J. Shehan, auxiliary bishop of the Archdiocese of Baltimore, speaking in the name of Archbishop Keough, of Sister Isabel Visitatrix and of the Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent DePaul, extended a welcome to Cardinal Micara. The Rev. Elwood S. Berry, represented Mt. St. Mary's Seminary and the Rev. Charles G. Stouter and Rev. James T. Twomey, the Vincentian fathers in Emmitsburg.

En route to Rome after having represented Pope Pius XII, at the Eucharistic Congress in Colombia, Cardinal Micara spent a night at the Apostolic delegation in Washington, where he expressed his desire to visit Mother Seton's tomb at St. Joseph's College. Arrangements were made by the Right Rev. Msgr. Joseph McShea, secretary to the Apostolic Delegation, who accompanied him.

Other members in the Roman party were the Right Rev. Msgr. Silvio Romania, secretary of Apostolic Signatura; the Right Rev. Msgr. Adone Terrorelli, papal master of ceremonies and one of the Swiss guards. After imparting his blessing to the Sisters and students and granting a holiday to the collegians, Cardinal Micara was accompanied to the tomb of Mother Seton by Sister Visitatrix and the Sister Officers.

The Roman prelates showed intense interest in all that pertained to Mother Seton, her life, her works and her spiritual children. After dinner the Roman delegation paid a visit to the archives of the community. The final stop was at the Stone House, Mother Seton's first home in the Valley in 1809.

COUNTY DIAL PHONES GIVE BETTER SERVICE

With the completion of a dial telephone exchange in Thurmont, making a total of seven communities throughout the county that have the dial system, Robert L. Keyser, Jr., manager of the Frederick office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, said this week that the program of dial phone installation has worked out splendidly in the county.

Most of the subscribers have accepted the new setup in their community and have been pleased, Mr. Keyser said. Some of the older people have been a "little leary" about using dial phones but it seems to be only a matter of becoming accustomed to the arrangement.

Through installation of dial phone exchanges, the company has been able to cut down on the number of patrons on a party line, Mr. Keyser explained. Cutting down on the number of call rings and lessening of the number of persons on each line allows calls to be placed more satisfactorily, it was said.

The communities now using dial phones are Braddock Heights, Brunswick, Buckeystown, Myersville, New Market, Walkersville and Thurmont.

Installation of the dial system in Emmitsburg is slated for mid-summer, it was stated.

TOLERATION ACT TO BE OBSERVED WEEK OF APRIL 17

Three Hundredth
Anniversary Of Religious
Act To Be Celebrated

Marylanders will observe the 300th Anniversary of the Act of Religious Toleration in numerous and varied statewide ceremonies during the week of April 17 to 23, chairman of the anniversary committee, revealed this week.

Climax of the celebration will be the expected address by President Harry S. Truman in Baltimore on April 21. Invited to this mass meeting will be the general public, the diplomatic corps, governors of every state, judges of the Supreme Court, members of Congress and the mayors of every Maryland community.

Leading up to this climax will be a brief ceremony at St. Mary's. Here, near the historic spot where for the first time, freemen assembled approved a law granting any degree of religious toleration, churchmen and state officials will reaffirm the long established American principle of religious freedom.

Supplying a setting for the presidential address and the reaffirmation ceremony, schools, churches, libraries, museums and historical societies, throughout the week of April 17 to 23, will participate in the observance with plans, lessons, exhibits and lectures. To augment these activities a brochure on the Toleration Act is being prepared by Dr. Gerald Johnson, well-known Baltimore author, and the Enoch Pratt Free Library and the Maryland Historical Society are compiling a reading list of books on the subject. Both of these publications will be available to responsible institutions for free distribution.

A radio play depicting events leading to the passage of the Act will be broadcast in Baltimore during the week and will be made available to stations outside the city by transcription. President Truman's address will be broadcast nationally.

Postoffice officials have been asked to issue a commemorative stamp. Gov. Lane will mark the week by proclamation and the current legislature will be asked to approve a resolution of rededication.

Seven witnesses for the prosecution had been subpoenaed, but only three, including Richardson, were called to testify. Others were Warren Danaley, proprietor of the Inn, and Clyde Musselman, of Fairfield Route 1. The defense offered no testimony.

MENINGITIS PRESENT; SCHOOL IS FUMIGATED

Public schools at Littlestown, which is just over the Maryland line in Adams County, Pa., were closed Monday for fumigation after two cases of spinal meningitis developed, according to dispatches.

School buses were also fumigated Monday and the schools were reopened Tuesday.

What's Your Name?

By JULES CHRISTIAN

ANNAN

Annan is the first name drawn this week. A brief look at the record shows that the name of Annan occupied a place of great distinction in the history of Emmitsburg. This family, held in such high regard by all, has a beautiful name with a beautiful meaning.

Coming from Scotland in colonial times the name was derived from the royal burgh of Annandale, located on the River Annan. Perhaps the royal town and river derived their names from the distinguished family of Annan rather than vice versa. So we look behind the place from which the name came for its meaning.

The name of Annan is derived from one of the most beautiful stories of the Bible. That is the story of Hannah, mother of the Prophet Samuel. By dropping the first and last letters of Hannah we have Anna. One of the Scotch forms of Anna is Annan. It means "full of grace, blessed of God."

In almost every country some form of this name has become famous. It has become one of the popular names in legend, history, literature and song. In the Apocryphal Writings, St. Anne is represented as being the mother of the Virgin Mary.

From Greece the name was brought to England by the Crusaders. In Puritan England and Scotland it became one of the most popular of all names. It has been a name clothed with religious devotion still revealed in the character of those who bear it.

Thus the name of Annan, from the royal town of Annan in Scotland, where the River Annan flows, is one of the Scotch forms of Hannah, beautiful and devout mother of the great prophet of the Lord, Samuel, and means "Full of grace, Blessed of God."

Our Surnames

The story of how people choose family names for themselves, is an interesting chapter in modern history. Bits of this story will be included in this column from time to time. In the ancient world there was no such institution as the modern family name. True, some of the nobility sometimes added their honorary titles to their given name as a matter of individual distinction. But this was not a family name in the modern sense.

To France belongs the honor of inventing the modern family surname. By the Eleventh Century the population of that country had increased so much that some device became necessary whereby to distinguish each person from all the rest. Therefore, the government invented surnames by which each family would group themselves together under one name. Father, mother, and all the children, would bear this name as well as their given name.

But Cadwallader was a name too long, and perhaps too awkward to pronounce to suit American taste. So, in common usage, it has been contracted into short-cut and better sounding forms, several of which are found in Emmitsburg. One among them is Cadle, meaning "Mighty in Battle, the Warrior of Great Skill."

Look for this column next week. Your name may be drawn at that time.

Those who spent Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner were, Mrs. Maurice Moser and daughter, Shirley, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Blair and daughter, Bonnie, of Thurmont.

Rev. and Mrs. Adam Grim of Thurmont spent Wednesday afternoon and were supper guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner.

The Emmitsburg Women's Club will hold a bingo party in Firemen's Hall tomorrow, Saturday evening at 7:45 p. m.

Thursday evening dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Moser were Misses Ruth and Rhoda Gillelan, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Frailey, Miss Ann Codori, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner, J. Miskell of Emmitsburg and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Blair and daughter, Bonnie, of Thurmont.

MOVES

Mr. and Mrs. James Houck and family moved from the property of Harry E. Weant, near St. Anthony's, to a farm near Taneytown. Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Gardiner, Mt. St. Mary's College moved to the Weant property.

name. This would greatly simplify the matter of personal identity. But this plan was not popular. It was generally ignored for a long time except by the nobility.

A century later this French plan spread to England. In the Twelfth Century Britain began to urge people to choose one name for the whole family as a surname. But only the nobility did so. Later the gentry began to respond. But the common people persistently ignored the request. Till this day, in certain parts of England, there are people who have not yet adopted a family name for themselves.

One of the slowest of all western countries to take a family name, were the Germans. In 1782 Austria had to pass a law compelling all families to choose surnames. The same occurred in Frankfurt in 1809, in Prussia in 1812, and in Bavaria in 1813.

Numerous people came to America without surnames ever having been chosen. Here they found that fact a handicap. It interfered with new opportunities and business and placed them at a distinct disadvantage. So they took surnames here. One such family lives not far from Emmitsburg.

CADLE

The next name drawn for this week's column is Cadle. Dr. Cadle, the popular and well-known physician. Youthful in appearance, handsome in looks, and genial in disposition, has a very interesting name. It is one of the forms of the English Cadwallader, modernized and Americanized Cadwallader, surnamed the blessed was one of the most illustrious kings in early Britain. The name means "Battle Arranger or Skill in the Strategy of Battle."

The heroic exploits of this famous king became legendary. So illustrious did the renowned hero become in the veneration of the people that a legend grew up about him. Some day he would return to the earth and drive from the land the enemies of his country.

The renowned Cadwallader surnamed the Blessed became the source of numerous family names. No mother could heap a greater honor on her son than give him that glorious name. And no family could choose a greater honor than select such a name for itself.

But Cadwallader was a name too long, and perhaps too awkward to pronounce to suit American taste. So, in common usage, it has been contracted into short-cut and better sounding forms, several of which are found in Emmitsburg. One among them is Cadle, meaning "Mighty in Battle, the Warrior of Great Skill."

NORTH COUNTY YOUTHS' ARRESTS SOLVE ROBBERIES

Pair Is Apprehended
Tuesday By Police;
Most Of Loot Recovered

Two Creagerstown boys between 16 and 17 years of age, were being held this week for the action of the Juvenile Court as State Trooper Bond and Deputy Sheriff Buhrman reported clearing up a series of breaking and entering complaints in the northern section of the county.

The boys, they reported, admitted to participating in a series of petty robberies at Thurmont, Lewistown, Woodstock, Creagerstown and Frederick.

Articles Mostly Recovered

Most of the articles reported stolen have been recovered, the officers said. Most of the articles were found hidden in a hay mow and elsewhere at the home of one of the boys.

The officers picked up one of the boys Tuesday, they said, and he supplied information that led to the arrest of the other. Their statements were taken Tuesday afternoon.

Among the robberies charged to them are entry of the Thurmont High School on Feb. 7, when a sum of money was taken from the cafeteria and a dozen new baseballs were taken.

They are also charged with thefts from Fisher's Garage at Creagerstown, Bussard's Implement and the N. Z. Cramer stores at Woodstock on Feb. 9. A battery, auto heater and hack saw were taken at the garage in Creagerstown. A tool box, tools, two hydraulic jacks and heater were stolen at Bussard's.

Many Charges

The boys are also charged with theft of money and candy from the Arcade Bowling Alleys in Frederick. Other charges include the theft of about $10 from the Thurmont Canning Co. office, gasoline from Howard Late's garage and Beall's Transfer Co., Thurmont and a water bucket from the Lewistown Service Center. The charges also include theft of gasoline from the rear of Fogle's Garage in Thurmont and theft of old papers from the old schoolhouse at Creagerstown.

FIRST DISPLACED PERSONS ARRIVE IN FREDERICK COUNTY

Family Of Five
Named Tokar; Plan
To Work On Farm

The first family of displaced persons to come to Frederick County arrived here on Tuesday morning.

The family, according to dispatches, is composed of Mychajlo Tokar, 38; his wife, Theodosia, 36, and their three children, Myron, 13, Wlodjmyr, 17, and Eugenius, 5 years old.

They are to go to the farm of Miss Mary Crane, Ijamsville. According to reports, the family was originally scheduled to go to a Carroll County farm. The order was cancelled and arrangements were then made to have the family placed on the Crane farm.

There are 86 displaced persons, including the Tokar family, to be placed at this time. They were scheduled to arrive at Boston Sunday, where they were to be met by William F. Laukaitis, chairman of the Maryland Displaced Persons Committee, and David L. B. Fringer, director of the Employment Service of the Department of Employment Security.

All are Ukrainians and most of them are farmers, it was announced. Two other families are due to be placed in homes at West Friendship and another family goes to Sykesville.

The sponsors of the families will pick them up at the Fifth Regiment Armory in Baltimore on Tuesday.

Approximately 30 applications for displaced persons have been filed by Frederick County farmers. Some seek single persons and others will take families. It is anticipated that a number of these applications will be filled in the near future.

GRAND JURY WOULD REPEAL SUNDAY BEER

Files Resolution
With Maryland
General Assembly

Concluding its deliberations late Monday evening after being sworn Monday morning, the February grand jury made these recommendations to the members of the General Assembly:

1—A curfew preventing minors from entering the premises of an alcoholic beverage licensee after 9 p. m.

2—Legislation to ban the sale of alcoholic beverages in Frederick County on Sundays.

Approves Changes

In its report, the jury approved the present method of trying criminal cases on information without waiting for grand jury action.

Among nine indictments returned were three naming Melvin James Leiby, of Pennsylvania, charged with breaking and entering, grand larceny and receiving stolen goods. The defendant was arrested some time ago in process of investigation of frequent robberies at O'Toole's Garage in Thurmont.

Names of others named in indictments were withheld pending apprehension.

The jury reported progress on improvements at the jail and conditions at Montevue "very good."

Text of Report

The report, signed by Arthur V. Myers, foreman, and submitted to Associate Judge Patrick M. Schnauffer about 6 o'clock Monday evening, follows:

"On the first and only day of our session we visited the Frederick County Jail and Montevue. At the jail we found 7 prisoners. Improvements at the jail are progressing and the treatment of the prisoners was found to be as good as could be expected under the existing conditions.

"At Montevue we found 110 inmates and 44 patients at Emergency Hospital. Prior to our inspection of Montevue and Emergency Hospital we were served a delicious dinner by Mrs. Wachter and her aides. We found several outbuildings in need of minor repairs, but found conditions at Montevue proper to be very good.

"At Emergency Hospital we were met by Dr. B. O. Thomas, Jr., and we wish to commend him for the excellent job he is doing with the available facilities at this hospital.

"We wish to recommend to the Frederick County delegation to the General Assembly at Annapolis that this body go on record as endorsing the bill recommended by the States Attorneys Association of Maryland, placing a curfew preventing all minors from entering the premises of any holder of an alcoholic beverage license in this state after the hour of nine p. m.

"We feel that the passage of this legislation would be a contribution towards curbing juvenile delinquency.

"The body further recommends to the Frederick County delegation at Annapolis to pass appropriate legislation to ban the sale of any alcoholic beverage in Frederick County on Sundays.

"We further recommend that a copy of this report be forwarded to the county delegation to the General Assembly by the clerk of the Circuit Court for Frederick County.

"This body desires to go on record as approving the innovation of the Criminal Information system in Maryland whereby parties accused of crime can be tried upon information filed by the state's attorney without the necessity of grand jury action, and we feel that it is indeed a great innovation towards speedy justice in the state of Maryland and saves the state and county a great deal of expense in expensive investigations in many instances.

"We wish to express our appreciation for the assistance and co-operation rendered this body by Mr. Edwin F. Nikirk, our state's attorney."

THE PROPER COURSE—OUTRIGHT REPEAL

One of the first bills placed before the Eighty-First Congress as it convened a few weeks ago, was a proposal to repeal the Taft-Hartley Law. Upon its referral to the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, and when brought up for consideration by the House Committee on Education and Labor, a division over procedure to be followed, developed.

Labor's position that the law should be repealed outright, restoring the provisions of the Wagner Act before amendments are considered, has received support from various members of both the Senate and House Committees.

Ohio's Senator Taft and other committee members were seeking to develop and prolong committee discussion and debate as a prelude to submitting amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act with the hope of presenting to Congress a more restrictive labor law. This would, of course, add to the legalistic confusion attending the floor discussions in both Houses of the legislative branch.

Outright repeal of the undemocratic and vicious slave law is the proper course. It will then be timely to consider the need, if any, to effect changes in the provisions of the Wagner Act.

The opinions of those who have been most affected by the action of the Eightieth Congress should be made known to those who are now responsible for correcting the most flagrant of its many errors and omissions.

Farmers should understand price support program. Every effort should be made to minimize the harm which can follow unfounded rumors or faulty interpretation on price trends, declares Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the PMA state committee at College Park. Farmers should know the basic facts of our price support program and use them to appraise developments in connection with the marketing and price situation.

Blandford points out that under the agricultural act of 1949 the department of agriculture (PMA) is directed to develop and make available to farmers programs aimed at supporting price of basic commodities at 90 per cent of parity. This has been and is being done.

He explained that non recourse loans on wheat at 90 per cent of parity were available to all producers, within the limits of satisfactory storage facilities, from harvest time through last Dec. 31. In addition, purchase agreements were available to the same date. As of Dec. 31, 1948, 235 million bushels of wheat had been placed under the loan program and 108 million bushels under purchase agreement.

Non-recourse loans on corn, within the limits of satisfactory storage facilities and acceptable condition of the grain, have been available at 90 per cent of parity for all producers in the loan area and will be up to June 30, 1949. Corn purchase agreements can also be signed up in this area until June 30. In addition, corn producers in the areas where loans are not available can sign up for purchase agreements at any time until March 31, 1949.

Corn producers with acceptable facilities therefore have ample time in which to avail themselves of these support measures, rather than selling at prices below support levels. As of Dec. 31, 1948, 85 million bushels of corn had been placed under the loan program, and 10 million bushels under purchase agreements.

Blandford reminds farmers that the Commodity Credit Corporation has ample authority and finances to carry out all loan program commitments, as well as any other approved price support operations for agricultural commodities. In addition to this capital stock of 100 million dollars, the CCC has borrowing authority up to four and three-quarters billion dollars.

Although 1949 is only about one and a half months old, with County Agricultural Conservation Assn. offices busy finishing up the 1948 ACP and with farmers just getting started on the 1949 ACP, work on the 1950 program already is underway.

According to Mr. Blandford, the time of the year when recommendations for the next year's program are made. The program for each year is developed from suggestions and recommendations from each of the nation's 3,030 agricultural counties which in turn reflect the needs and experience of farmers in the counties.

Every farmer is invited to make recommendations, says the chairman. In developing the program, he explains, only the most essential and practical practices can be included and final decisions must be based upon available funds.

Mr. Blandford explains the procedure as follows. Recommendations from each county are considered along with the recommendations of all the other counties in the state by the State Production and Marketing Administration Committee and the agricultural specialists who make up the State Technical Committee. The recommendations from each State are sent to Washington for consideration in the national program.

Recommendations fall into three general categories, Mr. Blandford said:

1—Changes in the current program—changes in practices or specifications and the amount of assistance for practices now in the program.

2—Elimination of practices or provisions. When a practice is sufficiently established so that it will be carried on without assistance or there is no longer a need for it, the policy is to take it out of the program.

3—New practices. As science finds new and better methods of conservation or as changing conditions make new practices necessary, the recommendations for practices are made.

SUBDIVISION PLATS MUST BE REGISTERED WITH HEALTH DEPT.

"It should be more generally known that a Maryland law requires all builders and land developers to file subdivision plats of their various developments with the State Board of Health, together with plans to provide water and sewerage facilities for the proposed houses," according to a recent statement by Dr. R. H. Riley, director of the State Department of Health. "Failure to comply with this legal requirement has caused considerable difficulty, for in many cases housing has been erected without provision for adequate water supply and sewerage disposal."

"The law as stated in the 1939 Annotated Code (Article 43, Section 381) makes it obligatory for corporations, companies or individuals to file plats before subdivided land is put on the market for sale and before permanent buildings are erected. Plats must be accompanied by a statement as to proposed methods for supplying water and sewerage needs. The State Board of Health is empowered to order preparation and submission of plans and specifications. The Board also has authority to order the installation, within a specified period, of the whole or any part of the water supply and sewerage systems considered necessary for the preservation of public health."

"Failure to carry out such orders of the State Board of Health is punishable by fines, as set forth in Article 43, Section 390 of the State of Maryland, ranging from $10 to $500, with an extra fine of from $5 to $50 per day."

"The State Department of Health is making every effort to acquaint the public, especially groups immediately concerned with real estate development, with these sections of the law. Notices have been sent to real estate operators, land surveyors, clerks of courts, planning and zoning boards, sanitary districts, chambers of commerce, county commissioners and municipal authorities. Although the developers are legally responsible for filing subdivision plats and submitting plans for sanitary facilities, these other groups having official contact with building operations are asked to bring this law to their attention or to notify the State Board of Health when they file plats for subdivisions or plans for housing developments."

ARTIFICIAL INSEMINATION STILL INCREASING

Latest figures available on the artificial insemination of dairy cattle in Maryland show that 1,700 farmers have enrolled a total of almost 25,000 cows. Approximately 29,000 animals were inseminated in the two and a half year period ending last December. A total of 22 bulls, representing the four major breeds of dairy cattle, are now being used. University of Maryland dairymen report that the service is available in all the important dairy areas of the state.

to year, the chairman explains, but this yearly opportunity to go over the program carefully and make suggestions for improvement, keeps the program flexible and in line with conservation progress and new developments.

MORTON DOWNEY, whose smooth song stylings decorate NBC airwaves three times each week for that "Refreshing Pause," seems a sure bet for television one of these days. And Mort looks for a sweeping change in popular songs when performers can be seen as well as heard. "Don't forget," Downey states, "That 'Four Leaf Clover', 'Red Red Robin' and recent lively revivals were written back when Al Jolson, Eddie Cantor and others were prancing behind the footlights 'selling' their songs by gestures and mannerisms as well as Morton Downey vocally. Look for a brand new crop of these bouncy, spirited melodies now that broad-casting seems headed for a stop-look-listen technique."

RED BENSON, SPARKLING EMCEE on the "Take A Number" program (Saturdays, 8:30 p.m. EST) over the Mutual Network, finds that the contestants on the program give him plenty of opportunity to test his knowledge of psychology, a subject in which he majored at Ohio University before he joined the Navy. The added excitement on this program is due to the fact that the person who submits the question wins if the contestant misses. This is true on the weekly jackpot prize also.

Alexis Smith, Alexis is married to actor Craig Stevens and they spend their time attending auctions looking for pieces of furniture and bric-a-brac to decorate their lovely San Fernando home and are regular devotees of the neighborhood movie.

Alexis says she avoids parties if they exceed ten people — and she doesn't even own an evening gown because she doesn't attend formal functions. Her latest is "South of St. Louis," a technicolor by United States Picture Productions — Warner Bros. Release.

Homemakers' Corner

Size is one of your most important considerations in buying a home freezer—if you hope to get the best returns for your investment.

Regular models of home freezers now offered by most dealers run anywhere from four to 18 cubic feet in capacity, but it is possible to buy a chest freezer as small as 2½ cubic feet, or a really big 60 cubic foot model.

As a rough guide to the right size, an average of 5 or 6 cubic feet for each person in your family is suggested. But the 'right' size depends a great deal on the way you will use the freezer. A city or suburban family, using it mostly for storing commercially frozen food and ice cream, may need only one to two cubic feet per person whereas a farm family, freezing much of its yearly supply of home-produced food, may need 10 to 12 cubic feet per person.

To give you a better picture of this capacity, a cubic foot holds about 30 or 35 pounds of food.

It is better to overestimate, the specialists advise. Today, the trend of demand for both freezers and refrigerators is toward larger sizes because families are coming to appreciate more and more the advantages of refrigerated and frozen storage for food. Moreover, the larger size freezers cost less per cubic foot than the smaller sizes.

How will a freezer affect your electric bills? Electric consumption will vary with its size, use, and location in your home. A 10 cubic foot freezer, under average conditions, requires about 90 kilowatt hours a month. This figure, multiplied by the electric rate, gives roughly the monthly cost of electricity for the freezer.

MAY WE CALL your attention to Helen Walker — the striking young lady who, someday might be the "dark horse actress" to walk off with an Academy Oscar. A New York critic once wrote: "Miss Walker shows the same promise as Miss Hayes showed at the same stage of her career." In her latest picture, "Impact," a Harry M. Popkin production released by United Artists, Miss Walker has taken steps to fulfill the prediction. Like many another actress Helen Walker rolled up her sleeves and went to work for a shirt seamstress company and such other odd jobs as she could find to eke out a living in deference to her one ambition — to become a GOOD actress.

ONE OF THE DISTINCTIVE qualities of Carmen Dragon's unusual musical arrangements on CBS' Sunday "Family Hour of Stars," he attributed to wife Eloise's fine soprano voice—for hers is the melodious obligato that soars over the musical blend of instruments and is an integral part of his orchestrations. This husband and wife team successfully complement each other. Carmen was the show conductor of a radio program and Eloise, a member of the musical cast, when they were married ten years ago. Their career combine and the raising of four children makes the Dragons one of Hollywood's busiest young couples. Their realistic approach to life is summed up by Eloise in one short remark: "Let personal career plans interfere? Never! I'm much too busy with the kids!"

Chicks that lose appetite, appear extremely drowsy, and have drooping wings and ruffled feathers may have pneumonia—infection of the lungs. If this condition is suspected, a post-mortem examination of a typical chick will quickly reveal whether it is pneumonia or some other disease. Chick lungs infected with pneumonia are dark, whereas normal lungs are light red.

Treatment of chick respiratory conditions is accomplished in these ways: brooder-house conditions must be surveyed to see if there are any management errors, and, if present, these must be corrected; and medication such as sulfa or an inhalant may be given on advice of a poultry-disease specialist.

Research in another state recently indicated that 40% of all sweet potatoes harvested are destroyed by rot. Maryland plant pathologists estimate that the loss in Maryland would be about as great, but they emphasize that much of the loss could be prevented by proper disease control practices.

They recommend that growers getting ready for their 1949 crop should (1) Plan to bed their best potatoes or buy certified seed from a reliable grower; (2) Keep such potatoes stored at temperatures between 50° and 90°; (3) Sort seed just before bedding; (4) Cut seed and discard all off-colored roots, and (5) Dip seed in wettable spargon or puritized agricultural spray before bedding.

As far as the bed itself is concerned, the pathologists recommend removing all old soil from the bed and from the area between beds. The frames and soil should be sprayed with a copper sulfate solution and clean sand or soil should be added.

Another precaution is to dip the sprouts in puritized agricultural spray just before transplanting them to disease-free soil. County agents can give more details on methods and quantities of materials to use.

RESPIRATORY ILLS CAUSE CHICK LOSSES

The first two or three weeks are a real danger period in chicks' lives. Baby birds are delicate and easily fall ill. The disease and mortality rate are generally much higher among chicks than among older birds. Help your chicks get past the first two weeks and your chances for raising a profitable flock will be much greater.

Chicks commonly are troubled by various respiratory conditions in the brooder house. Among these are "colds," bronchitis, pneumonia, and air-sac infections. The confinement of the brooder house predisposes the chicks to these conditions: poor ventilation, drafts, chilling, over-heating, and overcrowding all contribute to respiratory troubles of chicks.

Chicks affected with what is usually described as a "cold" have a watery mucous discharge from the eyes and nostrils, at first. Later, the discharge becomes thicker and sticky in nature. In advanced "colds" the eyes may be swollen shut.

In simple bronchitis, the windpipe and the bronchial tubes leading to the lungs contain thick, sticky mucus and phlegm. This condition causes affected chicks to gasp and "rattle" when breathing.

Chicks that lose appetite, appear extremely drowsy, and have drooping wings and ruffled feathers may have pneumonia—infection of the lungs. If this condition is suspected, a post-mortem examination of a typical chick will quickly reveal whether it is pneumonia or some other disease. Chick lungs infected with pneu-

As far as the bed itself is concerned, the pathologists recommend removing all old soil from the bed and from the area between beds. The frames and soil should be sprayed with a copper sulfate solution and clean sand or soil should be added.

Another precaution is to dip the sprouts in puritized agricultural spray just before transplanting them to disease-free soil. County agents can give more details on methods and quantities of materials to use.

Research in another state recently indicated that 40% of all sweet potatoes harvested are destroyed by rot. Maryland plant pathologists estimate that the loss in Maryland would be about as great, but they emphasize that much of the loss could be prevented by proper disease control practices.

They recommend that growers getting ready for their 1949 crop should (1) Plan to bed their best potatoes or buy certified seed from a reliable grower; (2) Keep such potatoes stored at temperatures between 50° and 90°; (3) Sort seed just before bedding; (4) Cut seed and discard all off-colored roots, and (5) Dip seed in wettable spargon or puritized agricultural spray before bedding.

As far as the bed itself is concerned, the pathologists recommend removing all old soil from the bed and from the area between beds. The frames and

SHORT STORY
Like I Was Telling You
By
BARTLEY HOWLEY

PAUL turned a quizzical eye on his companion. She had bright blue eyes that darted happily about the dining car, missing nothing. "Like I was telling you," she said in a birdlike voice, "people don't usually show their true selves. You never can tell just what a person will do providin', of course, he's given an opportunity." "Delicately she nibbled a roll. "People are funny, they really are. Don't you think so?"

Paul nodded silently. So far he hadn't been given an opportunity to speak but he didn't mind. This lady reminded him of his maiden aunt, an extraordinary woman who had been mother and father to him. She had been gone now for two years.

Miss Harrington, Miss Abigail Harrington, began again. "Take my husband, for instance." Paul lifted an eyebrow.

"You're wonderin' how I could be Miss Harrington, aren't you, young man? It's simple. The judge gave me permission to take my maiden name back. That's what I want to tell you about. It's almost unbelievable the things that people do. Arch, my husband, had a fine education and a marvelous personality. She dipped her head and peeked coyly up. "Suppose it's hard to believe, but I was not so bad myself."

"Arch was downtown one day doing some shopping for me. He was waiting for his package and what do you suppose?"

Paul shook his head. "Well, sir, the woman next to him moved on and left her purse right in front of him. A nice, juicy purse. Now Arch had good pay and everything nice but there it was — in front of him — the big purse — the opportunity. The temptation was too much. Arch fell!" She laid her fork down and wrung her hands. "Naturally I begged him to take it back, pleaded until I was blue in the face. I'll bet you can't imagine what he did?" Paul shook his head.

"He wouldn't fight with me, of course, and he wouldn't take the purse back. He bought me the loveliest dressing gown you've ever seen." Her eyes glowed. "I looked beautiful in it, too. But it was ill-gotten. I was never happy in it." Paul was silent.

"THINGS got from bad to worse. Arch was clever but the police got on and we were hunted all over. I stayed with him naturally because he was my husband and he was good to me. But they caught him." A shadow crossed her face. "They tricked him. That wasn't fair, was it?" Paul shrugged. Abigail Harrington looked up, her sprightly self again. "That's my story. I'm sorry if I've bored you but I've always thought it was a good example of what people will do if given opportunity."

Paul nodded silently and paid the bill. She picked up her purse and beamed at him. They rose together and made their way back to their seats. For the next two hours she prattled on about her family and friends, his family and friends. She asked many questions and answered them herself. The journey was over too soon to suit Paul who was enjoying himself immensely. The train pulling in was giving spasmodic jerks so he placed a protective arm to steady her. He jumped down and turned to help. Too late, he saw that one of her heels had caught on the step and thrown her off balance. He caught her neatly.

"Thank you, young man," she gasped. "Thank you, young man."

She adjusted her hat and Paul stooped to retrieve her purse and its scattered contents. With a bow, he returned the articles, all except one. It was a gentleman's wallet, his wallet.

His eyes raised to her. "Like I was telling you," she quavered, "people are funny. You never can tell what people will do, given the opportunity."

"SURE THING" FOUND FOR CORN PRODUCERS

Maryland corn producers looking for a "sure bet" now have their answer. Five years' tests show that 200 pounds of 3-12-6 fertilizer applied with the fertilizer attachment on a modern corn planter is practically a "sure bet." Research workers report that this application gave higher returns for the fertilizer invested than any other practice.

Growers seeking maximum yield or having a soil low in nutrients can make good use of a fairly liberal application of a complete fertilizer plowed under ahead of planting time. This may not be profitable on soils which are already in a high state of fertility, the researchers say.

If the crop is planted in sandy soil low in nitrogen, a side dressing of nitrogen may be very beneficial. It is not generally economical on more fertile soils.

10,000 Plants Per Acre
Planting rates thicker than 10,000 plants per acre should be used cautiously. Results of these tests have varied with season and soil. Thicker planting should be used only on a fertile soil.

FARMERS' SHOW AT HAGERSTOWN STARTS TODAY

With all farmers in the four-state areas invited, an audience of between 400 and 500 from adjoining counties of Maryland, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Virginia is expected at the third annual "Farmers' Meeting" to be held in Franklin Court Auditorium, Hagerstown, today at 9:30 o'clock.

The program, planned by a committee composed of local farmers, county agents and the farm supervisor for the Potomac Edison System, will enable farmers to hear discussions of pertinent agricultural problems conducted by nationally known rural experts, and will provide a wealth of information about some of the latest farming methods and practices.

Following a talk by Roger Corbett, Associate Dean of the University of Maryland, a general discussion of specific problems of this year will be debated.

The afternoon program will include talks on Farm Efficiency and Grain Drying with and without Heat, followed by panel discussions. Farmers from the four-state area who have had practical working experience with the subjects will form the panels.

From this county, Earl Stoner will participate in the various panels.

GARDEN QUESTIONS WILL BE ANSWERED

How far apart should beans be planted? How deep should beet seed be planted and how long a row of peas is necessary to feed the family?

Even the experienced gardener forgets the answers to these and other questions from one spring to the next. Consequently, the answers to such questions have been compiled in an extension bulletin intended primarily for Maryland 4-H'ers but available to any gardener in the Free State. The title is "Maryland 4-M Club Garden Primer." Copies may be obtained from the extension office in each county or from the Bulletin Room, University of Maryland, College Park.

HEALTH COLUMN

Epilepsy is a disease of the nervous system which, from time, causes its victim to lose consciousness, or suffer from convulsion or both. It affects some 500,000 men, women and children in the United States.

The word epilepsy itself means "falling sickness" and the attacks of unconsciousness or convulsion are known as seizures.

Seizures take place when the normal functions of the cells in the brain are disturbed, causing the victim to lose control of body nerves and muscles.

Epilepsy was once believed to be a sign of mental illness. But we know today that the great majority of people who suffer epileptic seizures enjoy sound mental health.

Epileptics, like all other groups, include the brilliant as well as the dull. Among famous men of Russia, Lord Byron, the Russian novelist, Dostoevski, and the Italian violinist, Paganini.

We also know today that with prompt medical treatment nearly 80 per cent of those who have epilepsy can be helped toward the attainment of complete recovery. Less than 10 out of every 100 cases of epilepsy are severe enough to require institutional care, and many of these eventually can go back to normal living after treatment by the advanced methods available today.

There are four general types of epileptic seizures. The most pronounced, called grand mal, causes the patient to lose consciousness at the time of the seizure. His muscles twist convulsively and often he falls. More frequent and of briefer duration are petit mal attacks, when the only evidence may be the patient's eyes roll upward to be in a fixed position for a short period.

The Jacksonian type, named for the neurologist who first described it, resembles grand mal, the patient is conscious, but there is a twitching or numbness of one leg or arm, or one side of the face, which gradually spreads until the patient loses consciousness.

A person should be placed under the doctor's care at the first suspicion of the disease. The doctor examines the patient and prescribes treatment to correct the condition causing the seizures. An injury to the brain, certain bodily disorders can be detected by an instrument called the electroencephalograph, which records the electric waves given by the brain. By studying the pattern of recorded waves, the doctor is assisted in determining whether or not the patient is actually suffering from epilepsy.

Some types of epilepsy can be helped or even cured by an operation on the brain.

Road Directions

A TRUCK driver, in a hurry to get to his destination, missed a turn in the road. He ran across a farmer's yard and straight into the kitchen of the house, where the farmer's wife was cooking a meal. She looked up briefly, then nonchalantly went on stirring the stew on the stove. The truck driver, somewhat confused and embarrassed, managed to blurt out:

"Can you tell me how to get to Hagerstown?"

"Yep," answered the woman calmly, "straight past the dining room table, then turn right beyond the pi-

Perjury Deluxe

In a certain mid-western court a man was suing the local traction company for injuries allegedly received in a streetcar accident. The truth of the matter was that he had actually received his bruises when his auto collided with a telegraph post. And this had happened a full mile from the streetcar line.

The plaintiff's witnesses swore to the facts of the accident, and things were going very nicely for him, when one of their number was suddenly beset with an attack of conscience and during a recess repaired to the judge's chambers and confessed to the frame-up.

The judge rushed back into the courtroom with fire in his eye, determined to make an immediate public revelation of the perjurers. But he was brought up short in his resolution when the traction company's attorney suddenly produced three witnesses prepared to swear that the plaintiff was drunk when he boarded the streetcar!

OPPOSITES REPEL

Easygoing, indifferently educated Sam Jenkins married a school teacher, a precise, extremely erudite woman of decided opinions, and it was soon evident that they would never hit it off very well together. "I guess," commented one friend of the unfortunate Sam, "that you are overcome by your wife's powers of diction."

"Not at all, not at all," rejoined Sam. "What's got me licked is her almighty power of contradiction."

YOU CAN'T WIN

The National league's redheaded "Dusty" Boggess injected sound reasoning into his profession during an exhibition game. A batter who was wearing glasses became somewhat annoyed at the way Boggess was calling strikes on him, and when the count had reached two and nothing he removed his glasses and offered them to the umpire.

Boggess gratefully accepted the glasses and adjusted them to his eyes. On the next pitch, he belted: "Strike three—you're out!" Later he admitted quite frankly: "I couldn't see the ball with the batter's glasses on, so I concluded that he couldn't see it with his glasses."

For Future Reference

Little Archie was served a variety of pie which he found most delectable.

"What kind of pie is that?" he asked his mother.

"Why, that's lemon meringue pie," his mother replied.

The youngster went next door to tell his friend, Chester, about it, in a little while he returned.

"Mother," he said, "what did you say is the pie's middle name?"

America is about to enter a New Age... it's the Television Age... though radio still offers plenty of good entertainment, the top flight shows are getting ready to be seen as well as heard.

Marie Wilson

Bob Hope is certain to be a bigger success on TV... his long stage and movie training will be helpful... and Bob, in person, is even funnier. Marie Wilson, who is 1949's "Queen of Comedy," and the rest of the "My Friend Irma" cast are ready for TV... each Monday night, even though they're only on radio, they dress and act as if the program was being telecast.

Tex McCrary and Jinx Falkenberg are putting on a living weekly television magazine, modeled somewhat after our big picture publications... "Junior Miss," Saturdays over CBS, should be a big TV feature because its stars, 17-year-old Barbara Whiting and Beverly Hills have both seen much movie service... and it doesn't require a fantastic imagination to picture how interesting the youthful talent on Horace Heidt's NBC-Sunday contests would be... if you could also see them... and the veteran cast of NBC's Tuesday night "Big Town" show now virtually look like the characters they have been portraying over the airwaves for the past five years.

Relph Edwards, ebullient charm, which radio listeners can easily catch on his NBC "This Is Your Life" program, is just made for TV... Kate Smith, heard daily on Mutual's "Kate Smith Sings," is getting a television show together... while Bill Spier, director of the "Philip Morris Playhouse," (CBS-Fridays) says he has a lot of exciting mysteries ready for televising... but don't forget the veterans of them all, Amos 'n' Andy (Sundays-CBS)... they've been working on a television show for two years... and it's said the show "is greater than the radio version"...

EXPERT SAYS PAINT IS BEST IN DAIRY BARNS

Paint on the inside of a dairy barn gives better service than the whitewash which is so often used. It is easier to refinish and does away with the constant sifting down of whitewash particles. Ray W. Carpenter, head of the agricultural engineering department at the University of Maryland, suggests a casein hard-finish paint, water-mix paints, or better still, oil base paints which flow on smoothly and dry with a glossy surface.

The first cost of whitewash on the walls and ceilings of a dairy barn looks good, but after other applications, surfaces become ragged-looking, flaking, peeling, dust-catching and hard to clean. Paint cannot be applied over whitewash, so Carpenter's suggestion for painting applies mostly to farmers who are building new barns or to those who are willing to make a fresh start by taking off the old whitewash and painting the bare wood. A power brush is an efficient tool for removing old whitewash.

WESTERN MARYLAND WINS OVER MOUNT 64-62

The Green Terrors of Western Maryland strengthened its bid for a playoff berth in the Mason-Dixon Basketball Conference by nosing out Mt. St. Mary's College at Westminster Tuesday evening by a 64-62 score.

Making it seven wins in 15 league games, the Terrors got off to a 21-8 lead in the first 10 minutes. At half time the score was 33-19.

Walter Hart and Leo Lathroum, who had done a masterful job of guarding Pete Clark and Gene Jannis of the Mounties, fouled out and the two Saint scoring threats began to hit. Clark got 13 points in the closing stages of the game and Jannis made nine during the same period.

With only two minutes left, Clark scored a field goal to make the score 64-60. He repeated again a short time later, but time ran out with the Terrors on top 64 to 62.

The victory gave Westminster a tighter hold on eighth place in the loop standings. For the sixth-place Blue and White it was the fourth loss in 10 games.

GOD'S PROMISES

OUT of an olden golden book I take
Bright words and weave them into a lustrous thing:
A bow of promise for my own heart's sake,
A glory for my spirit's comforting.
And when the day is dark I set it there
Where I can see its colors on the air,
Its fabric spun of God's own precious words,
His everlasting covenant to man:
It pierces through the darkest cloud, it guards
The whole of earth and heaven in its span:
These promises that I have set apart
Into a bow of comfort for my heart.

A motion was made and carried that the Grange enter the Community Service Contest. Lecturer Zentz was appointed chairman.

Brother Raymond Baumgardner stated that he attended one of the legislature committee's meetings in Frederick.

Brother George Martin told the Grange that on the next Pomona meeting, which will be held on May 7, the National Master Goss will be present. The meeting place has not yet been secured.

A donation of $5.00 was given the Children's Aid Society.

During the lecture hour bingo was enjoyed by those present. Refreshments were served.

Back In Vogue

Due to the tremendous revival of interest in those nostalgic symbols of Main Street Americana, the cigar store Indians, amateur and professional artisans are making such figures again. These statues will probably be shown in public for the first time at the next convention of the International Society for the Preservation of the Cigar Store Indian, which has headquarters in Bellevue, Wash. Six chiefs are being carved in Idaho alone for collectors and museums.

BASEBALL DIRECTORS MEET AT FIREMEN'S HALL LAST SUNDAY

The newly-elected directors of the Emmitsburg Baseball Assn. met last Sunday afternoon at two o'clock in the Firemen's Hall, here. All directors were present and the president, Dr. D. L. Beagle, presided.

It was reported by the business manager, Norman Flax, who represented the local club at the Penn-Maryland League meeting in Taneytown, that the league has adopted a two-umpire affair to officiate at each game, with a maximum of $15 expense to be paid by the home team. In addition to adopting the Reach-O ball, the League also established a 15-mile playing radius for players.

At Sunday's meeting here, discussion centered on the Association's entry into the Adams County or Frederick County League for playing of Saturday baseball. It was learned that teams participating in the Adams County League have a much larger drawing power. Thus, the association felt they should enter a team in that circuit. A meeting of the Adams County League was held in Gettysburg last night, it was reported.

Dugout To Be Completed

Last year the local association erected an all-concrete block dugout, approximately 20x10x8 for the players. With donations toward this convenience made by local civic-minded persons and more than $450 of the club's funds going into this construction, which is not quite completed, plans were made at last Sunday's meeting to complete the dugout. When it is completed, there will be shelves for equipment, showers, doors, and lavatories. It was disclosed the executive committee, composed of John White, George Rosensteel and Dr. D. L. Beagle were to have plans ready for the construction of a similar dugout for the visitors.

Bubrick Named Manager

To head the direction of the team's playing this year will be Jack Bubrick, who will manage the teams. Assisting him as coaches are Leonard Zimmerman and Allen Bouey. At press time, Jack's acceptance of the manager-ship was unconfirmed. However, some of the directors felt that he would accept.

The next meeting of the Baseball Assn. will be held Sunday, March 6, at two o'clock in the Firemen's Hall.

ETZLER-MOORE

A pretty wedding took place last Saturday morning at nine o'clock in Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Catholic Church, Thurmont, when Marilyn Ann Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Urban W. Moore, Glensaesky Farm, became the bride of Truman Clay Etzler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Etzler, of near Libertytown.

The ceremony, followed by nuptial mass, was solemnized by Rev. Roger K. Wooden, pastor of the bride. Mrs. Mary Buhrman, the church organist, played the traditional wedding music during the ceremony.

The bride chose as her only attendant, a former classmate, Miss Grace Ann Geasey, Frederick. The groom had as his best man, Urban W. Moore, Jr., brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served to the

A gay time is in store for Legionnaires of the Francis X. Elder Post of Emmitsburg tonight. An entertaining program has been arranged by the committee in charge headed by John Garner, assisted by Wayne and William McClellan, and George and Edgar Ashbaugh.

Shrimp and oyster-on-the-half-shell will head the bill-of-fare, and from all reports things are shaping up for a swell evening of fun.

All members of the Post and Social members are invited to attend tonight, and best of all, it's free. Oh, Happy Day.

MOTHERS' AND DAUGHTERS' BANQUET HELD

Affair Is Well-Attended Wednesday; Over 172 Present

The Lutheran Parish Hall was the scene of gay festivities and delicious food Wednesday night as the initial banquet of a series of Mothers' and Daughters' affairs got underway.

Attending the celebration were more than 172 guests from Emmitsburg, Reisterstown, Gettysburg, Fairfield, Littlestown, Thurmont, Rocky Ridge and Blue Ridge Summit. A committee of 65 men of the parish assisted in various jobs and from all indications they left nothing undone to please and entertain the guests.

Rev. Philip Bower and Mrs. Roy Maxell, chairmen of the parish work committee, addressed the large gathering.

Head Chef Greta Keilholtz and his assistant, Robert Daugherty, headed the culinary department and served the women a meal "fit for a king," as Greta would say. Serving the meal was a detail of 30 uniformed waiters taking orders from Head Waiter Charles Bollinger. The menu consisted of tomato juice cocktail, baked ham, candied sweet potatoes, corn, peas, apple sauce, peach and cottage cheese salad, hot rolls and butter, coffee, cake and ice cream. The cake was topped with carnations.

The hall was attractively decorated with crepe flags and cut flowers under the supervision of Mrs. George S. Eyster.

The entertainment was under the direction of Andrew Eyster and movies were projected and a battery of singing waiters kept the guests in a jovial mood the entire evening. After the banquet Miss Mildred Trevett led the group in square dancing. Music

EMMITSBURG HIGH SCHOOL SPLITS TWIN-BILL CONTEST

Thurmont High School boys won 51-27 after Emmitsburg girls' team had taken a 41-20 decision in companion games of a County Interscholastic Basketball League doubleheader, Wednesday afternoon, at Thurmont.

Using numerous reserves, Emmitsburg failed to find a reasonably efficient scoring combination until the final period. Thurmont, also using plenty of substitutes, maintained a better than 16-point lead after the intermission.

For the feminine contest, visiting Emmitsburg lassies seemed to have a preponderance of efficient replacements, which judiciously used, jumped the visiting girls into a secure lead after the opening quarter.

Prof. Bernard J. Eckenrode and David Arnold spent this week in New York City attending the National Gift Show.

Mrs. James H. Allison and infant son, James Henry, Jr., have returned to E. Main St. from the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg.
