Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

We're really embarked on a real summer session of beautiful weather these days . . . To quote from the ever-famous poem:

"And what is so rare as a day in June,

Then, if ever, come perfect day. And Heaven tried earth if she be in tune

And over it softly her warm ear lay."

Yes sir, June is the month of beautiful events like weddings, graduations, Father's Day, and for some people, it means a wonderful two week's vacation during which they do nothing but lol around, being completely and absolutely lazy. Hmm! Wonder when my Simon Legree editors are going to tell me to take two weeks off . . . with pay . . . I'll bet not . . .

Seriously though, June, especially here in our fair village, fills your heart with nostalgia. First of all on the 19th, we set aside one day for Father's Day. . . . Dear 'ole Dad . . . Incidentally, what ever you do, don't forget to get a gift for "Pop." . . . He may act like he doesn't "hold much truck with that sentimental stuff", but don't ever think for one minute that he isn't thrilled to pieces over that set of tools, fishing rod, shirt or tie that you hand over on June 19 . . . Dad's a seemingly ungrateful and hard-hearted old cuss outwardly, but deep down, he's an old sofie who would rather drop dead than appear demonstrative or sentimental. So remember Dad on the 19th. . . .

And then there are the graduations that are being held throughout the country . . . The little grammar school graduate feels just as important as the high school grad, who in turn, feels just as important as the college grad and so on . . . For some, their school days are over, and they look ahead to getting a job and really settling down in earnest . . . For others, the pursuit of higher education . . . Next comes the well-known June bride, and indeed there are many. June weddings are a beautiful tradition that will live on . . . Indeed there are many who consider a wedding in any month but June just isn't . . . Course they're all wet, but if they're happy in their belief, well heck, I'm happy too . . . Live and let live, that's my policy!

SHOWING PROMISE

The local ball team chalked up several victories during the past two weeks, breaking the streak of bad luck that's jinxed them since the opening game. Now that we've got a real top notch lineup, everyone is happy—fans, players, directors, oh just everyone . . . We've really a cracker-jack lineup now and I predict big things for our boys . . .

And while we're on the subject how about that editorial in last week's Chronicle in which the Editors pleaded for some local organization to sponsor a Junior Baseball Club for our fellows ranging from 12 to 16 . . . It's a magnificent project, one that will entail very little expense on the part of the community . . . A few bats and balls (will be just about all the expense involved). It will give the youths a lot of good, clean, wholesome fun and keep them out of mischief. Also it will teach the boys a lot of the rudiments of baseball, so that when they graduate from the Junior team they'll be able to take their place on our Senior teams . . . Managers are always in need of good baseball talent . . . Jack Rosensteel will manage the fellows gratis.

The American Legion is to be commended for its splendid spirit in accepting the sponsorship of the team.

What's Your Name?

By JULES CHRISTIAN

Today's column continues family names derived from the occupation and takes up the foremost surname in America. This question has not been asked on the radio but it would be a good one to submit by which to win a possible prize. That is, "What is the most popular family name in America?"

LEADING NAME

America's foremost family name is derived from an important occupation. That is the occupation of the one who works in metals. In America there are 1,304,300 persons by the name of Smith. In the Frederick County Telephone Directory, which includes Emmitsburg, there are listed 135 families by the name of Smith. It is doubtful if any other family name in Frederick County is so numerous. In any telephone directory in almost any community, the name of Smith will be far ahead of all others, in most cases.

It is quite natural that this should be the case. For the Smith was the man who made the tools by which the work of the world was done, victories were won in battle, and the basis of the industrial revolution was laid. This industrial age today has been the product of the tool makers. So in the progress of civilization the smith has occupied a place of prominence.

SMITH

This is a trade name of Anglo Saxon origin. Early it became a leading occupational name in England and was made famous in America by Captain John Smith of the Virginia Colony in 1607. It indicates that John, the worker in metals by means of heat and the hammer, became known as John Smith or John Smyth.

In the olden days Smith usually had a prefix before it to indicate the kind of tools he made or the kind of metal in which he worked. Taking a few examples, John who made guns would be called John Gunsmith. John who made swords was called John Swordsmith. John who made arrows was called John Arrowsmith. John who made nails was called John Naysmith. John who worked in black metals became known as John Blacksmith. John who worked in white metals was called John Brownsmith. John who worked in gold was called John Goldsmith. John who worked in silver was called John Silversmith. John who worked in copper was called John Coppersmith. John who made armor for soldiers was called John Fubersmith. John who made sickles was called John Sixsmith, and John the hoesmith, the maker of grubbing tools, was called John Hockensmith.

For the sake of brevity many of the above prefixes have been dropped so that only the name of Smith was left to be the family name. In many cases, however, the smith was dropped and the prefix retained as the family name. For example John Blacksmith dropped the second half of his name and became known as John Black. Likewise John Brownsmith often became John Brown. Also John Sixsmith might become John Six and John Fubersmith might shorten his name into John Furber. In the same manner John Naysmith, the nail maker, often became known as John Naylor or John Nail.

OTHER NAMES FOR SMITH

In almost every country names derived from the occupation of smith, is a leading name. In France the Smith was called LeFever, the worker in hot metal. In Germany the smith was called Schmidt or Myer. In Scandinavian countries he was called Smed. In Slavic countries he was called such names as Kovar, Kovic, and in names ending in Czyk. And in Syria he was called Haddad.

County Pinball Machine Licenses Net County $7,800

Frederick County's new pinball licensing measure, which took effect June 1, has already brought approximately $7,800 into the coffers, to be split between Emergency Hospital and the county's general fund, it was learned this week.

Licenses for 130 pinball machines at $46.34 per device, including fees, have been issued at the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court. At the same time, four operators' licenses at $458.54 per permit, including fees, have been issued.

Actually, the pinball license under the Alexander bill is $50 per year and the operators' license is $500 a year, but the first permits are for 11 months, being renewable along with trader licenses and similar permits on May 1, 1950. So the cost of the permits is pro-rated on an 11-month basis.

Under the bill, all pinball machines must be licensed and special metal tags showing the issuance of the permits are provided when the licenses are secured. These tags are attached to the devices.

An operator is defined as a person, firm or corporation owning more than two such machines.

The Court Clerk will make remittance monthly to the County Commissioners, who will in turn allocate half the proceeds to Emergency Hospital. The money is to be used toward capital improvements at the hospital.

Some persons believe there are in the neighborhood of 1,000 machines in the county and it is expected that more licenses will be secured in the near future. It is understood that a reasonable time will be given for operators to secure licenses before a check is made by authorities to determine if there are violations.

Mount Football Prospects Bright For Next Fall

A pair of ends, Jack Vonderlehr and Ed Quarry, next fall will co-captain what should prove to be Mt. St. Mary's strongest post-war football team.

Elected at a squad meeting, the new leaders succeed Tackle Jim McAndrews and Halfback Gerry Cohee. Both are rising seniors.

Vonderlehr, 19 years old and a product of Benedictine High School in Richmond, Va., has held down a wing post for two years. He is also regular first baseman and cleanup hitter on the baseball team.

A veteran of three years' service in the Marine Corps, Quarry is a graduate of Northeast High School in Philadelphia, Pa. The '49 season will be his second on the varsity.

At the time of their election, trophies were presented by the Adelphi Society, a campus organization, to McAndrews and Walt Bellardini, who were chosen the best lineman and best back, respectively of 1948. The presentation was made by the Rev. Carl J. Fives, moderator of the society.

Bellardini, a freshman from Bethel, Conn., is a Notre Dame transfer who last fall led collegiate scorers in the State with a total of 60 points.

Coach Jim Law's T-attack in the coming season will revolve about Bellardini and Marty Green, the passing quarterback.

With the exception of McAndrews, Cohee, and Tony Natale, a tackle, the entire '48 squad will return intact.

Last September, Law came in cold from Holy Cross and had to reorganize the entire football set-up. Starting from scratch, he produced a team that won two of eight games and could have done better than that with a break or two.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES HELD AT TWO COLLEGES

Mt. St. Mary's Has Record Class; Archbishop
Addresses Both Schools

"When you cease to be the master of your own life, you have lost the Divine right to be judged by the acts of your own free will, and no progress, spiritual or natural, can survive the loss of individual freedom." This theme was emphasized to the 122 graduates of Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Wednesday by Ralph Keating, Sr., A.M., L.L.D., '14, of Scarsdale, N. Y., in the principal address at the 141st annual commencement.

With Archbishop Francis P. Keough, of Baltimore presiding, and attended by an estimated 1,000 audience and students, graduates, families and friends favored by perfect weather, the exercises were held on the campus.

The program moved off promptly at 10:30 a. m., with the academic procession. Ceremonies began with brief prayer by Archbishop Keough. Next was the conferring of honorary degrees by Monsignor Sheridan upon the following, citations being read by Rev. Fr. Francis F. McNelis, the dean; Rev. James H. Gilmore, A.M., L.L.D., '99, of Pittsburgh; Rev. Louis L. Mendelis, S.T.D., L.L.D., '24, Baltimore and Mr. Keating. The salutatory was given by Frederick W. Simon, Shamokin, Pa. Degrees were then conferred upon the graduates. Wyand F. Doerner, Jr., Cumberland, was valedictorian.

The annual alumni association banquet at 12:30 o'clock concluded the 141st commencement schedule.

Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, Archbishop of Baltimore, presided at the one hundredth and thirtieth commencement of Saint Joseph's College Wednesday.

Faculty members, attired in academic robes, preceded the archbishop in the procession from Burlando Building to the stage in DePaul Auditorium. The welcome was extended by Elaine Favior, Washington. Following, the College Glee Club sang Rubinstein's "The Angelus." The valedictory was delivered by Louise Nolan, Baltimore, who spoke on secularism and its inherent dangers.

Bachelor of Arts and Science degrees were then conferred. Assisting the archbishop was the Very Reverend Francis J. Dodd, C.M., Ph.D., president of Saint Joseph's College.

The annual Sterling Galt Award for literary excellence, donated by J. Ward Kerrigan, Emmitsburg, was awarded to Miss Alice McLaughlin.

Concluding the graduation ceremonies was the address to the graduates by Archbishop Keough. After giving his blessing, the prelate led the outgoing procession, followed in order by the faculty, graduates, student body and guests.

Attempted Car Steal Is Averted

Stopping at St. Anthony's on Rt. 15 for the stop sign Tuesday, a man jumped at Guy Baker, Jr., driver of his car and ordered him out, declaring he wanted the car.

Young Baker stepped on the gas and drove away having his shirt ripped and his arm clawed in the process.

State Trooper Stonesifer investigated, but the man had already disappeared.

LOCAL BOY IS GRADUATED AT UNIVERSITY OF MD.

Mr. and Mrs. John Baumgardner and son, Robert, attended the graduation exercises of the University of Maryland held at Fifth Regiment Armory, Baltimore on June 4, when their son, John Ellwood, received his Bachelor of Science degree.

LOCAL BALL TEAM WINS THREE CONSECUTIVE TILTS

Play Blue Ridge Summit
Sunday; Defeat Harney
Tuesday, 20-3

The Emmitsburg baseball team of the Penn-Maryland League extended its win streak to three games Tuesday night.

Following Sunday's win over McSherrystown, 8-6, the local club walloped Harney Tuesday night here, 20-3 in a seven-inning affair. Prior to the McSherrystown's game, Thurmont fell prey to Emmitsburg, 11-8.

In last Sunday's game with McSherrystown, more than 250 fans saw Emmitsburg win two in a row. Leading the hitting attack for Emmitsburg was C. Frock, with two for five, and Kenneth Deardorff, newcomer to local fans, who also had two for four. Although Rothe got credit for the victory, Don Joy started the game and was not relieved until the fifth.

Fans See Fielding Gems

Pacing McSherrystown's attack was F. Staub, with a single and a home run. In the second inning, Bud Warthen raced near the flag pole in centerfield and snared one of Staub's long flies which would have surely gone for extra bases. The other fielding gem was produced by Bach, local shortstop, when he came up with what seemed an impossible stop of a ground ball between shortstop and third.

Wallops Harney, 20-3

In a twice-postponed game because of inclement weather, Emmitsburg's win streak was extended to three straight when they walloped Harney, 20-3 here Tuesday evening. Behind the fine hurling of Johnny Hollinger, Emmitsburg's hitting attack was paced by Frock, Bach and Paidakovich.

Play Blue Ridge Summit Sunday

In the Maryland-League game Sunday, the locals travel to Blue Ridge Summit for their scheduled game. Either Mike Rothe or Don Joy will have the hurling assignment.

Lose To Gettysburg, 4-2

In the Adams County League game that was transferred here because of commencement exercises being held on the Gettysburg College campus, Gettysburg won from Emmitsburg last Saturday, 4-2. Otis Saylor led the offensive with two for three. Vic Kelly was on the mound for Emmitsburg and although allowing the visitors 6 hits, the local batsmen with only six hits, Emmitsburg could not muster enough strength at the plate to score again. Twelve men were left stranded on the bases.

Game At York Springs Tomorrow
Emmitsburg travels to York Springs tomorrow for a scheduled Adams County League game starting at 2:30. York Springs has won two and lost seven in league competition, while the local have recorded one win and eight setbacks.

TOWN OFFICIALS ESTABLISH POLICE DOCKET

Second Officer Added
To Force; 16 Cases
Are Disposed

The Mayor and Commissioners of the Corporation of Emmitsburg met in regular session Tuesday evening in the town office located in Firemen's Hall. Tax Collector Miss Louise Sebold reported the delinquent taxes for the years 1947 and 1948 as $16.23 and $82.51, respectively. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $12,393.

It was unanimously adopted that the corporation retire two more of the town's bonds, thus reducing the indebtedness to a remaining three or four bonds.

Attention was called to the condition of the alleys which were just recently reconditioned and cleaned. These ways are public property, and as such, are not to be used for trash disposal. The Police Department has been notified to apprehend all violators of the ordinance prohibiting the placing of refuse on public property.

The town clerk was instructed to send a letter to the State Roads Commission concerning the removal of the blinker on the Square.

Board Chairman Hays announced that most of the streets and alleys and corporation property have received a new look. Weeds have been trimmed and many of the street gutters and sewers have been cleaned. It is proposed to have maintenance men clean the Square and streets and keep the weeds cut down during the summer months.

The first parking meter report showed a steady increase the first three weeks of operation. The first week showed $37; the second $45 and last week the total was upped to $64. All the meters are not yet in operation but should be within the next week or two. Three more meters are to be placed in operation on the Square.

The Corporation announced that a police docket was established as of May 6.

Police Chief Hiram Woodring filed his first month's report. The docket showed 17 arrests and 12 parking meter fines. A second officer was added to the force and will work on a part-time basis. It is intended that in the future he will be employed full time. The new officer is from Waynesboro, Pa.

The new officer is Clarence J. Downin, 30, of Waynesboro, Pa. Mr. Downin was a sergeant in the Marine Corps in World War II and has had previous police experience.

The Town Fathers announced that from now on any complaints from the citizenry will have to be written or presented at their regular meetings which are held in the Firemen's Hall the first Tuesday of each month. They will not be honored otherwise.

Acquisition of a second cell in the Firemen's Hall for women and Negro prisoners was made when the fire company granted permission of its use to the Police Dept. Prisoners may be held in confinement indefinitely in the local jail, with or without an attendant.

NOTICE!

The officers and directors of the Emmitsburg Baseball Assn. will meet in special session Monday evening at 8:30 p. m. in the Firemen's Hall.

TURNOVER IN WASHINGTON

Senator Hickenlooper's opening gun in his formal attack on David E. Lilienthal's record as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission was that in the past two years of Mr. Lilienthal's stewardship the commission has had a turnover in personnel of 87 per cent.

Quite aside from what the Senator may or may not prove in the coming weeks, this particular charge does not as it stands support his claim that Mr. Lilienthal has been guilty of "incredible mismanagement." For the problem of high turnover is by no means unique with the Atomic Energy Commission—although, owing to the secret nature of the group's work, it is less desirable there than elsewhere in government.

Turnover for Government agencies as a whole is now running at the annual rate of 25 per cent. And, at present, the average turnover for civilian employees of the Army is higher than that for the AEC.

In his brief and preliminary rebuttal to Senator Hickenlooper's argument, Mr. Lilienthal pointed out that he is by no means happy that the turnover rate for the commission should be so high (though he has challenged the Senator's estimate as excessive). Many of the losses, however, were due to factors which have been heard of before in connection with Government service. Insufficient pay, such as the Hoover studies have mentioned; greater opportunities elsewhere; a general distaste for Government service, such as might arise, we imagine, from the indiscriminate contempt which Congress and the public hold for "bureaucrats"—these are some of the reasons why good men have been hard to get and harder to hold.

Mr. Lilienthal himself cited the case of one man whom he persuaded to leave an excellent civilian post to manage the vast Oak Ridge project. This man is quitting the AEC because he found that in Government service he had to spend at least as much time explaining and justifying what he had done as doing it.

Experiences such as this one are by no means confined to the AEC. They have long been heard of in Washington, especially in recent years.

We don't know the answer to them or even know whether, under a democracy, there can be a final answer. However, this whole problem of high Government turnover—its causes and possible cures—would itself make a worthwhile subject for Congressional study.

PULLORUM (BWD),

A CHICK KILLER

Probably the No. 1 killer of chicks, year after year, in this country is pullorum disease, also known as BWD. This infectious bacterial disease hangs on despite the efforts of poultry-improvement officials, State associations and hatcherymen to eradicate it in breeder flocks.

The main brunt of pullorum's attack is felt by the chick-raiser, who sometimes sees a third of his brood succumb to the disease. In addition, pullorum leaves considerable after-effects—stunting, reduced resistance, and so forth—in the birds that survive the acute infection.

Pullorum Strikes Early

Most frequently, this disease appears early in the brooding period. The first few days, affected chicks become extremely drowsy, or crouch on the floor, and show pasted vents. The infection has come from an infected parent, which passes the germ on to the chick through the egg. The disease spreads rather rapidly to other chicks of the brood. Infected droppings are a common source of infection.

Affected chicks usually have abscesses on the heart, lungs, gizzard, and liver. Death may come swiftly in many cases.

What To Do About Pullorum

Of course, the principal control over pullorum disease lies in a systematic eradication program through bloodtesting of parent stock. This has been done more and more until, in most sections, hatcheries have the situation well-controlled. However, there is always the danger of the disease creeping in from uncontrolled sources.

If you suspect pullorum disease, consult a poultry-raiser specialist about immediate control.

HEALTH CLINIC TO MEET

The Thurmont Health Clinic for this area will be held this Wednesday at 1 p. m. in Community Hall, Thurmont, with Dr. James Gray, physician, in charge. All are urged to attend who are in need of health services.

Wheat is the most widely distributed of the cereal crops.

Unemployment Compensation Benefits Hiked

An amendment of the Unemployment Compensation Law, effective June 1, provides that an unemployed worker who is receiving weekly unemployment benefits may claim an allowance of $2 for each dependent child, not exceeding four, under 16 years of age.

The first claims for dependents' allowances will be accepted beginning Tuesday, June 6, and these claims will cover the claimant's previous week of unemployment. Mr. Russell S. Davis, chairman of the Employment Security Board, said this week.

Dependents are defined by the Board as sons, daughters, step-children and legally adopted children who receive their principal financial support from the claimant. The claimant will be required to submit proof of birth by a birth certificate or a certified copy of a birth certificate. Either a husband or wife who is otherwise entitled to unemployment compensation may claim dependents' allowances but must offer satisfactory proof that he or she normally provides the principal financial support for the dependents. However, in the event that both the husband and wife become unemployed and establish eligibility for unemployment benefits, the husband only may claim dependents' allowances.

The number of dependent children of an individual will be determined as of the day on which he first files a claim for dependents' allowances with respect to any benefit year, and the number of dependents for that individual will remain fixed for the balance of the benefit year irrespective of any change in the actual status of dependent children during that year brought about by birth, death or any other circumstances.

Under this provision, payments ranging from $2 to $8 will be made for dependent children. The claimant who is entitled to the minimum weekly benefit amount of $6 and to the maximum number of dependents will receive $14; the claimant who is entitled to the maximum weekly benefit amount of $25 and to the maximum number of dependents will receive $33.

A partially employed worker may be eligible to receive benefits if his earnings because of reduced hours due to lack of work are less than his weekly benefit amount plus allowances for dependents.

HOMEMAKERS' CORNER

A can of corn, a little cheese or other protein-rich food—eggs, milk or meat—and you have the beginning of a hearty, economical main dish, according to Miss Margaret McPheeters, extension nutrition specialist. Its mild flavor makes canned corn a good mixer. Grade C is often the thrifty buy for such use.

For a colorful, tasty and economical dish, the nutritionist suggests tomato, corn and cheese on toast. To serve six you will need: 3 tablespoons of flour, 3 tablespoons melted fat, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1 slice onion, 2 cups canned corn, 2 teaspoons salt, and 1/4 pound sharp cheese, shaved thin. To make: brown the flour in a heavy skillet. Remove it from the skillet and blend the 2 tablespoons of fat. In the remaining fat, brown the onion. Add all ingredients except cheese and cook for 10 minutes. Add the cheese, stirring until it melts. Pour over thin crisp toast and garnish with slices of hard-cooked eggs, sprigs of parsley.

Use canned corn in a satisfying soup, too. For a quick corn chowder, combine one 11 oz. can of condensed cream of mushroom soup with 2 1/2 cups of whole kernel corn and 4 cups of milk. Add a sliced onion, browned in fat, season with salt and pepper, and simmer 15 minutes. Serves 8.

Canned corn also compliments waffles. Reduce the milk in a standard recipe to 1 cup, and add 2 cups of cream-style corn and 1 or 2 tablespoons of sugar, depending on the sweetness of the corn. Bake until thoroughly dry.

Baked corn with sausage, escalloped corn with tomatoes, and green peppers stuffed with corn, ground beef and tomato are other suggestions for using this economical vegetable.

HEALTH COLUMN

"Both the marriage rate and the divorce rate in Maryland have apparently started a downward trend after the war-created peak established in 1946," Dr. A. W. Hedrich, chief of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, Maryland State Department of Health, has just announced. "Although it has not been possible to make detailed studies of the reasons behind the changes of recent years, it is generally recognized that marriages and divorces tend to increase in times of prosperity and to decline in hard times.

"The number of marriages more than doubled during the period between 1939 and the peak year of 1946 when 69,472 marriages were performed, probably to a considerable extent because of the large scale return of veterans from World War II. Since that time the number of marriages has declined by nearly a fifth, there having been 60,181 marriages in 1947 and 56,177 in 1948. During the first quarter of 1949 the downward trend continued when compared with statistics for the corresponding period last year.

"The number of divorces increased similarly up to the peak year of 1946 when 8,408 were granted. Subsequently there has been a decline of about 29 per cent, a total of 6,658 divorces having been granted in 1947 and 6,999 in 1948. Here again the decline continued during the first quarter of 1949.

"The low for both marriages and divorces was reached during the depth of the depression. The lowest figures on record are those for the year 1932 when there were only 22,779 marriages and 1,727 divorces, which was less than one third of the figures for the peak year.

"In Maryland there was one divorce in 1948 for every 9.4 marriages, as compared with a ratio of one divorce to .44 marriages in the country as a whole. This favorable picture was, however, caused in part by the large number of non-resident marriages in Cecil County. Exclusive of that county there was one divorce to every 7.4 marriages.

"Baltimore City contributed only 29 per cent of the marriages performed in 1948, although it contains half of the State's population. Marriages and divorces have recently declined most sharply in Baltimore City than in the counties."

Receiving Entries For Dog Show

The Emmitsburg Chronicle has just received word of the second annual dog photo contest being sponsored by the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York, as part of the 1949 observance of National Dog Week this coming fall.

The theme of this year's contest is "Your Family Dog" and prizes totaling $875 are being offered for photographs involving actual family pets or of situations and activities in which the family dog could well play a part.

Entries this year will be accepted in two classifications: 1—Work of amateur and 2—Work of member of a camera club. In each of these groups there is a first prize of $250, a second of $100 and a third of $50. In the camera club classification, however, there is an additional $25 prize to go to each of the three clubs which the winners will have named as their membership affiliation.

Deadline for entries in this contest is 4 p. m., Friday, Sept. 9, 1949 and the winners will be announced during National Dog Week, or as soon thereafter as is practicable.

A post card request to the Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 Park Ave., N. Y. 17, N. Y., will bring a copy of the official contest rules.

Marriages Affect Housing

Recent government studies indicate that in 80 per cent of marriages an immediate demand is created for a house or apartment. The remaining 20 per cent involve persons who already have homes such as widows, widowers and divorced persons.

SCHOOL DRIVING CLASSES GRADUATE 300,000

This year's crop of high school graduates throughout the nation will include approximately 300,000 who have learned to start a car without stripping the gears and stop it without stripping the tires, according to Leonard E. Kolmer, general manager of the Automobile Club of Maryland.

"Some three thousand schools throughout the United States," he said, "have been taught behind-the-wheel operation of a car and the rudiments of safe and economical driving the two semesters ending this past February and this June. They have not only learned how to tell the difference from the transmission, and mastered the difficult art of parking a car without denting bumpers, but they have been taught sportsmanlike driving.

"It will not be many years," Mr. Kolmer continued, "before the effect of this improvement and reliability on the part of young men and young women who have been trained competently will be felt on the accident statistics and charts."

The AAA Club executive said that the greatest contribution "these young people will make to our street and highway safety effort will be the proof—in a short space of time—that this type of practical instruction, in the high schools, as part of the educational curriculum, will pay astoundingly large dividends. Our rising problem has been with the youth of the nation, for they have in the past been the ones whose per mile records exhibited the worst traits of recklessness, overspeeding and selfish carelessness in driving habits of any age surveyed."

MARYLAND FEED &amp; GRAIN MARKETS

GRAIN

Summary for Maryland

Baltimore grain markets weakened farther during the week ended June 3. There was practically no trading wheat on the Baltimore market during the week with a sharp drop noted of about 8 cents per bushel from prices of May 27. This weakness in the Baltimore wheat market is in accord with the national trend. Corn weakened with No. 2 yellow shelled corn about 2 cents per bushel less than last week. Yellow ear corn declined sharply about 6 cents per bushel.

New crop barley is moving from Virginia. Prices of new barley on the Baltimore market average about 93 cents per bushel. Offerings are liberal with practically no demand. Hay prices weakened generally. New alfalfa is reported to have a high percentage of moisture.

National Summary

A drop of 35 to 40 cents per bushel in winter wheat prices, as new grain began arriving in southern markets, was the outstanding feature in the grain markets during the week ended June 2. The decline brought prices of No. 2 hard winter wheat to about $1.95 per bushel at Kansas City, compared with the interim loan price of $2.15 per bushel.

Rye and feed grains weakened with wheat. Rye declined about 7 cents per bushel, while corn was 4 to 5 cents lower than a week ago. The announcement by the Production and Marketing Administration of a corn resealing plan was a supporting influence in the market for that grain and tended to lessen the decline. Oats fell off 1/2c per bushel with increased offerings of new oats in the Southwest. Barley sold for about 2 cents per bushel lower than a week ago, and grain sorghums declined 10 to 15 cents per hundred pounds. The market for oilseed was dull. Soybeans at Chicago at the close of the market June 2, was about the same as a week ago.

FEED

Summary for Maryland

The weakness of central western millfeed markets, slow demand from feeders and feed manufacturers and the availability of Argentine bran and middlings at Eastern ports were factors in the weakening of the Baltimore wheat millfeed market during the week ended June 3. Millfeeds made a sharp decline of almost 6%; standard bran—$3.80 per ton less than last week and standard middlings—$4.24 per ton less.

Oilseed meals weakened on the Baltimore market as a result of limited demand. Linseed meal declined over 3%—$3.00 per ton less than the average price on May 27. Cottonseed meal remained about unchanged while soybean meal decreased $1.64 per ton—almost 2% less. The alfalfa meal market strengthened with an increase of about 8% in the price of 17% dehydrated alfalfa meal—$5.55 per ton more than last week's average.

This week's broiler-feed ratio of 5.1:1 has reached another low point in ratios recorded for the past 14 months. Broiler prices during the past week averaged 24.2 cents per pound and 20% broiler mash on Lower Eastern Shore was $94.36 per ton.

National Summary

Feedstuff prices made moderate to sharp declines during the week ended May 31. Lower grain prices and slackening demand for concentrates as the result of good pasture and the harvesting of new oats for feed in southern areas were the principal weakening influences. Wheat feeds, hominy feed, and soybean meal took the sharpest declines and prices of these feeds are now more in line with others. Most byproduct feeds and oilseed meals, however, are still relatively higher than feed grains based on prewar relationships.

The feeding ratio for dairymen in the North Atlantic region in May was 4% more favorable than in April as feed costs declined more than butterfat prices. The ratio was 10% more favorable than a year ago and well above the prewar average. In the North Atlantic region 100 pounds of the ingredients of a representative dairy ration cost $3.12 in May compared with $3.26 in April and $4.35 a year ago. Local butterfat prices averaged 66.6 cents per pound in May, compared with 66.8 cents in April and 84.4 cents a year ago.

"Who Said That?"

By Robert Trout

Robert Trout

Every week, you see and hear hundreds of news stories. How many do you remember? On NBC's Saturday evening television quiz, "Who Said That?", I asked the panel of "experts" (Elsa Maxwell, Gov. Val Peterson of Nebraska, Paul Winchell, and John Cameron Swayze) to identify these seven remarks said recently by famous Americans. The panel guessed six. Not bad. Can you do as well? 1. Who said... "I kissed my first woman and smoked my first cigarette on the same day... Since that day, I have never had time for tobacco"... "Reports of my being broke are slightly exaggerated... I could make half a million dollars a year and be booked every night in the week but it interferes with my golf"... "I never felt that I had left the party... I was just like a movie actor that MGM had loaned to another company"... "I play everything from dirty old men to decent citizens... but in every picture, I'm just plain old me"... "The British movie people won so many Oscars this year that next year they are going to call them Chaunceys"... "The President has to be very careful when he goes to church that he goes for the purpose of worshipping God and not for the purpose of being a circus"... "Four old men grow younger. And lift the glass on high, May thirst and hurt and hunger And ulcers pass us by..."

Hay Cutting Rules Are Outlined

Three reasons for allowing stands of alfalfa to become mature before cutting were given today by Conrad Liden, of the Agronomy Department, University of Maryland. Too early cutting reduces the amount of nutrients harvested, produces a hay that is harder to cure, and may injure the stand, he warns.

As a general rule, Liden recommends that for the first cutting alfalfa should be in one-fourth bloom. The second cutting should be delayed until one-half of the plants are in blossom and the third cutting should be no later than 30 to 40 days before the first killing frost. In no case, should the last cutting be made after September 10.

For red clover, Liden says that maximum yields may be obtained if the field is cut when in half bloom. This means that timothy in the clover stand will be slightly past maturity when cut.

Recommendations for other kinds of hay are: Soybeans, cut just as the lower pods begin to form beans or cut before the lower leaves begin to drop severely. Lespedeza may be cut as a perennial hay plant if cutting is done in August or early September and reseeded allowed from the aftermath. The best quality Lespedeza hay is obtained if the crop is cut when the lower blooms have begun to drop.

The average consumption of vegetables in 1948 was 294 lbs. per person. Eighty-six per cent of the vegetables were fresh and 13 per cent canned.

So You Want to Act!

Mary Jane Higby, pert star of NBC's "When A Girl Marries," makes frequent appearances on mystery programs and other weekly shows. Her advice to young radio hopefuls is this: "The best study for acting is acting itself. I find it much more valuable to practice such allied skills as singing and languages, than to spend endless hours studying the science of acting, of getting so-called 'experience' in small experimental theaters." Another "must," according to Miss Higby, is that a radio actor must "live" his part. "In portraying any role," she says, "he must have a clear picture of his physical environment and the action that takes place. Otherwise, how will the listener ever get the impression of reality?"

To prevent bruising and loss of vitamin C, cabbage should be cut with a sharp knife.

SHORT STORY

A Home For Young Dan

By MAUDE NORMAN

ALONG the highway trudged a girl. Cradled in her left arm was a blanket-wrapped bundle. From her right hand swung a heavy suitcase.

A car braked to a stop as she paused to rest. "Want a ride?" the driver called.

The man opened the car door, taking the suitcase from her hand. "That weighs a ton!" he exclaimed. "Don't tell me that's a baby you've got there."

3-Minute Fiction

"How come they're letting you walk? It's none of my business," seeing her quick flush, "but a fellow can wonder, can't he?"

"They don't know I'm coming," she said. "But I had no other place to go and I thought they might let me stay and work for my board. I want my baby to grow up in the country where he can see things growing, instead of being cooped up in one room in the city."

"That's rich. You're leaving the city for the country and I'm doing just the opposite."

"You mean you're leaving all this," her hand indicated the green fields they were passing.

He laughed harshly. "Looks pretty, doesn't it? But there's a lot of hard work goes with it."

"You work hard in a city too."

"Sure—but you know where you're at. Here, you work your head off, then a freeze comes along or a hail storm or something and all your hard work is gone. I used to have great plans about what I would do on my farm when I got out of the service. Say, what's the matter with him? Is he sick?" as a loud wail came from the blanket.

"He's cold and wet and hungry—and—" her voice broke, "so am I, hungry, I mean."

With an annoyed exclamation he turned the car around. "I didn't intend going back," he scowled, "but I can't stand having that poor little tyke cry like that."

"Where are you going?" she asked, hushing the baby.

"Back to the farm—to give you a chance to take care of the baby and rest a bit yourself. You needn't be afraid, my aunt and uncle are there."

"I'm not afraid," she retorted.

"You look just like a picture my husband had of a buddy of his, only your hair isn't red as his must have been, because Dan always called him 'Red'." She smiled. "He was always talking about his wonderful Red."

The car almost went into the ditch. "Say, what's your husband's name?"

"Dan Webster."

"Well, I'll be darned! No wonder your face is familiar. You're Sally! Dan had a picture of you he was always showing me. So you're Sally! What d'ya know!"

"You're not—"

"Sure, I'm Red. The fellows called me that because my face gets red

"I think you'll like it here, Sally."

so easily—Say—where is old Dan? We lost sight of each other when he was sent to the Pacific and I was kept in France. Why are you alone? He's not—?"

She nodded.

Red was silent until they had turned into the driveway of a pleasant old farm house. "Here we are," he said cheerfully, getting out. "Take care of young Dan and I'll have Aunt Sarah fix you a lunch of those eggs and that milk you were talking about."

"And you're leaving all this," she breathed, "for the city."

"Nope, I've changed my mind. I guess all that was wrong with me was I was lonesome. I've been thinking. Dan was my best friend and I don't believe he'd mind me taking care of his wife and baby—that is, if she's willing. How about it, Sally? I know it's a crazy thing to ask. But somehow, I think Dan would rather you would stay here and help Aunt Sarah than go to those slave-drivers. And who knows what will happen in a year or so. After all, young Dan will need a father. I think you'll like it here, Sally."

Sally raised misty blue eyes. "Yes, I think Dan would be pleased," she said softly.

Try Combinations Of Fruits And Berries For Distinctive Flavor And Economy

By Frances Barton

ONE fruit is good, but several are better! At least that's the opinion of a number of good cooks who have tried combinations of fruits for jam and jelly making. Not only are these combinations satisfying for their distinctive and intriguing flavors, but they reduce the load on the food budget by allowing more of a less expensive fruit or berry to extend a smaller amount of a more expensive one. Simply use the fruits you prefer in any combination you choose like the tested recipe below.

Bottled or powdered fruit pectins do the trick. Using pectins, the homemaker need not bother at all about the jelling properties of her fruits. They take the guesswork out of jelly and jam making and prove their economy, too, by producing a greater yield of the finished product. Your family will be delighted with this one:

Current and Gooseberry Jam
5 cups prepared fruit
7 cups sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin
To prepare the fruit. Stem about 1 quart fully ripe currants and crush thoroughly. (If desired, sieve pulp to remove some of the seeds.)
Crush thoroughly or grind about 1 quart fully ripe gooseberries.
Combine fruits and measure 5 cups into a very large saucepan.

To make the jam. Measure sugar and set aside. Place saucepan holding fruit over high heat. Add powdered fruit pectin and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. At once stir in sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim, ladle quickly into glass jars. Paraffin at once. Makes about 12 six-ounce glasses.

Book Director Compliments Local Library

Miss Helen M. Clark, director of Division of Library Extension, was in Emmitsburg two days
checking the fiction in the Emmitsburg Library.

Miss Clark made the following comment on our library: "I do congratulate the library board on the continued library service you have made possible for the community. You have good recreational reading for adults, and I hope you can soon do a special library program to interest the children—particularly while their school libraries are closed. The Girl and Boy Scouts will be interested and some of their sponsors or older scouts may be willing to volunteer to open the library during the hours the children would like. Its such library interest as Emmitsburg has maintained which will grow into a Frederick County Library system, with libraries in the larger towns and bookmobiles serving the small communities and the farmers."
"A good book is a joy whether you are eight or eighty."

MARYLAND
HOME FRONT

American farmers are now face to face with some long-anticipated adjustments, in the opinion of Ralph S. Trigg, Administrator of the Production and Marketing Administration and President of the Commodity Credit Corp. "We are in the period of transition from emergency demands for about all the produce farmers could grow to the more normal market outlets of peacetime."

There will be adjustment problems and equitable acreage allotments will be one of the important jobs. He emphasized that farmer committees in counties have already taken steps to obtain the necessary information on which to base future acreage allotments and marketing quotas for various crops.

In Maryland the same steps are being taken, according to Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the State PMA Committee. Committeemen are visiting each farm to get a fairly complete record of acreages and crops produced. Particular emphasis is being given to wheat acreage in the event that growers are called upon to vote on acreage allotments for next year's crop.

Discussions Held At Conference
The need for conservation—conservation of soil, water resources, timber, and other natural resource—was stressed at the State-wide meeting of Community and County Committeemen, Chief Clerks and the State Office staff of the Maryland PMA. Also given a prominent place on the program at the two-day meeting in Baltimore was the importance of the tasks confronting the committeemen.

In summarizing the first meeting of its kind to be held in the Free State, Mr. Blandford reminds the committeemen that they have the responsibility of planning, directing and putting into action the PMA farm program. As one speaker told the group in Baltimore, "If you can't administer the farm program, it is of little value—you are the ones to measure the acreages, decide upon the allotments and secure compliance."

Those at the conference, which had as guests representatives of the other agricultural agencies working in Maryland, voted to have similar conferences during future years. They stated that the opportunity of discussing common problems and getting acquainted with workers from all parts of the State made the meeting very worthwhile.

Check Shipments of Grain
Maryland farmers with grain to market should check with warehousemen before hauling grains or preparing to ship them. An embargo covering shipment of all grains went into effect June 1 in several western states. This prevents the shipment of grain except for that going directly into use or that for which storage has been secured prior to shipment, according to Mr. Blandford.

The order was put into effect by the Association of American Railroads. Its purpose is to prevent accumulation and car delay. It is possible that similar orders may go into effect in other areas because of the serious shortage of storage space.

Corn Loans Called
Action was taken May 25 by the Maryland PMA State Committee calling Maryland corn loans because of mounting moth damage. Corn will be moved to handlers operating under government contract as shipping instructions are received from the New York office of the Commodity Credit Corp. Farmers will receive instructions on when to move their corn under loan and where to deliver it from their own county Triple-A offices. Each farmer delivering corn under this program will sign a statement that the corn is being moved with his consent because of threatened damage to the grain. Maryland has approximately 200,000 bushels of 1949 corn under loan.

Mt. Airy Votes

On Sunday

Movie Law

The Imperial Theater at Brunswick plans to start Sunday movie shows after 9 p. m. on June 19 and Mt. Airy voters will go to the polls on June 30 to decide whether or not they will have Sunday movies it was learned this week.

Many Mt. Airy residents registered Saturday at a special registration in anticipation of the June 30 referendum. Only residents within the corporate limits of the town will be eligible to cast ballots.

Jules Girden, proprietor of the Brunswick theater, said this week that he has decided to start late Sunday night shows on June 19 after church hours. He said he has discussed the proposal with some residents of Brunswick and it has met with general approval.

Mayor S. T. Virts of Brunswick said there is no Brunswick ordinance denying the right to operate a theater on Sunday. Mr. Girden said the theater will give the innovation a trial unless something develops to make a change of plans, necessary.

Two of Hagerstown's four movie houses operated Sunday and attracted a total attendance of about 3,500. Another 2,000 persons went to a drive-in theater near Hagerstown and 2,000 more watched auto races at a nearby speedway.

There were no arrests although all the operations apparently were in violation of the county's 225-year-old blue law forbidding "unnecessary work" on Sundays.

Sportsmen's Club
Elects Officers

A meeting was held June 2 at the Firemen's Hall by approximately 25 interested sportsmen and farmers for the purpose of organizing a sportsmen club. Some of the purposes of the club as outlined at the meeting were:

- 1—To promote closer relationship between the sportsmen and the farmers.
- 2—To aid in the propagation and conservation of fish and wildlife.
- 3—To establish and maintain fish and game refuges.
- 4—To help control predators and game hog violators.
- 5—To stock depleted areas with fish and game.
- 6—To establish in the community an organization where fairplay and true sportsmanship will be practiced at home and in the field.

The name of the club was chosen as "The Indian Lookout Sportsmen's Conservation Club."

At their initial meeting, the following officers were elected: Pete Auldridge, president; Harold Hoke, vice president; Guy Baker, treasurer, and James Adelsberger, secretary.

Ray McGlaughlin, Raymond Baker, William McCleaf, Fred Bower and Kayo Keilholtz are members of the board of directors.

The organization extends a cordial invitation to all farmers and sportsmen interested in this type of club to attend the next meeting which will be held June 28 at 8:30 p. m. in the Firemen's Hall.

Mrs. Quincy Shoemaker visited over the weekend with her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Martin on the Eastern Shore.
