Abigail relinquished her space this week to permit publishing an answer to last week's column.

Abigail's column last week in support of Federal aid to church schools, prompts a contrary reply. This reply is not from the point of view of any religious prejudice. For while the writer has religious faith he has no religious prejudice against any church. Neither is it an attempt to defend Mrs. Roosevelt, the gifted widow of the late President, against the verbal assault of Cardinal Spellman. Instead it is an effort to discuss the merits of the issue involved. That is whether the Federal Government shall enter the area of supporting church institutions.

Cardinal Spellman demands that Federal aid for parochial must be included in any Federal Educational Bill. For that reason he attacked the Barden Bill recently before the Congress, and castigated Mrs. Roosevelt for expressing her convictions in support of said bill.

Millions of people, some of them Roman Catholics, are opposed to Federal support of parochial schools. They would not like to see the Government enter the area of church institutions in any guise. They feel that such a step alien to American tradition and contrary to our national heritage.

In America our founding fathers left behind many European customs. One of them was Federal support of religious institutions. Their wisdom in so doing has abundantly been justified. In the old world Government support of religious institutions, has been the source of much grief to the church. Hitler, for example, felt that because his government supported the church, he had the right to dictate what the church should be. The Communists likewise now are reasoning the same way. Complete separation of Church and State, as prevails in America, might have saved the European Church much of the sorrow and persecution that has characterized recent years.

The distinguished Cardinal who lashes out against Mrs. Roosevelt for expressing an opinion contrary to his own in the matter will have a hard time convincing millions of Americans that Federal support to church schools has nothing to do with the separation of church and state so deeply cherished in American tradition.

The issues involved should not be viewed as a controversy between those of Roman Catholic and Protestant traditions alone. For there are some Catholics who would support Mrs. Roosevelt's view. And there are some Protestants who would agree with Cardinal Spellman. Most of the Protestant bodies have some parochial schools. And some Protestant bodies have many such schools. These would be helped also by Federal aid. Nevertheless most of these bodies oppose such a step by the Government. They believe it would be a violation of one of the cherished American traditions in the area of church and state.

Attention should be called to a parallel case 60 years ago in Canada in the Province of Manitoba. Sir William Laurier, a Roman Catholic and leader of the Liberal Party, successfully opposed a bill for Government support of parochial schools. When his church threatened to discipline him with appropriate reprisals, he said in a speech in the Canadian House of Commons:

"I am here representing not Roman Catholics alone, but Protestants as well, and I must give an account of my stewardship to all classes. . . . So long as I have a seat in this House, whenever it shall be my duty to take a stand on any question whatever, that stand I will take, from a point of view which can appeal to the con-

What's Your Name?

By JULES CHRISTIAN

As promised last week today's column begins with the governing body of the community, the Town Commissioners, presided over by James T. Hays as chairman. The power vested in these officials constitutes a small unit of democracy in our midst.

JAMES T. HAYS

The Chairman of this body introduces the family of Hays presiding over by the genial and gifted Matriarch whose first name is Minnie, widow of Thomas, descendant of Jonathan. This dramatic and popular personality has attained the happy status of earthly felicity where her six children, each distinguished in his own successful profession, together with her 17 grandchildren, "Rise up and call her blessed."

It is natural, therefore, that the people should seek a leader from this historic and distinguished family to preside over the Village Commissioners. The community is fortunate in the choice of such a leading business man as James T. Hays, who has transferred his keen business acumen to the business management of the Town. Already the effects of this leadership is in evidence in the many improvements taking place.

The names of Hays suggests the quality of leadership seen in the family. It means "Guardian of the Hedge." The hedge was the enclosure around the Nobleman's Castle. Such an enclosure might consist of a stone wall, fence, or dense shrubbery. Around this hedge was the officer of the mansion who guarded the outside approaches. Later the name was applied to one who protected and guarded his own home in security. Still later the name took on a wider application to include the patriotic protector of the home community or home land.

Many distinguished men have added honor to the name of Hays. One of them was Ruth-erford B. Hayes, a former president of the U. S. Another is Will H. Hayes who, after distinguished service as an American statesman, became the moving picture czar of Hollywood until his recent retirement.

LLOYD G. OHLER

Another business man of the community who has been honored by the people, is Mr. Ohler. In recognition of his service to the people he has been elevated, likewise, to the public position of Town Commissioner. The name of Ohler is prominent in Emmitsburg. The old telephone directory lists seven families by this name. Perhaps there are more. Outside of Emmitsburg, in other neighboring communities there are numerous families that have have this worthy name.

In the olden days the name of Ohler was frequently used to designate the oil merchant who dealt in the production and distribution of olive oil. However, Ohler as a family name is one of the German forms of Oliver, so famous in legend, lore, and Biblical story.

In the Biblical story of the Flood the dove brought back an olive branch to Noah in the Ark to report peace after the storm. Thereafter forever the name became an emblem of peace. Also sacred to the New Testament story is a Mount of Olives and a garden of olive trees near by called Gethsemane. Therefore, wherever the Gospel story spread name derived from the olive leaped into great prominence. Kings, saints, knights, and cavaliers of the middle ages, elected to name themselves after the olive tree.

The first Christian king of Sweden and patron saint of Norway chose the Norse form of the name and called himself Olaf after the olive tree to signify peace. No name became more popular in those northern countries. Likewise in southern Europe, names derived from the olive became equally popular. The winners of contests were crowned with olive branches as a peaceful token of their victory.

Therefore, the name of Ohler, one of the German forms of Oliver, from the olive tree and its products, is one among the most cherished and popular names on record.

Judgment Awarded Woman From Rocky Ridge

The widow and son of Paul Valentine, who was electrocuted on July 27, 1948, while raising a pump on the Marshall Sharrer place, near Rocky Ridge, filed suit in Circuit Court, Frederick, Tuesday claiming $908 from the Potomac Edison Co. for negligence. Through W. Clinton McSherry, the company attorney, the defendant confessed judgment in that amount.

Earlier the Orphans' Court signed an order authorizing Mrs. Violet W. Valentine, the widow, as guardian for the son, James P. Valentine, to accept $50 damages for the son. She stated in her petition, filed through Edward D. Storm, that $858 of the settlement is for herself.

In their suit, the mother and son contended that the power company was negligent in not keeping tree limbs trimmed from its power lines. They said Mr. Valentine was electrocuted when the pump shaft came in contact with a power line concealed by tree foliage.

DOGHOUSE SOLD

The Doghouse, located in the lower level of the Mondorff Hotel, recently changed ownership when it was sold to Elmer Glass and Mr. Hickman by Charles Shorb, it was reported.

BEAUTY SHOP MOVES

Kathleen's Beauty Shop has moved its place of business from W. Main St. to N. Seton Ave. The beauty shop is owned by Charles Shorb.

Thurmont Damage Suit Settled; $5,700 Involved

Suits claiming damages of $5,700 as the result of an automobile accident on Rt. 240 have been marked as agreed, settled, and off, docket entries showed this week.

The suits were those of Lily A. Lindsay, Frederick, for $5,000 for alleged personal injuries, and James W. Lenhart, near Frederick, for $700 for damages to an automobile. Defendants were Ira C. Kelbaugh, near Thurmont, and John R. Stottlmyer, Washington County.

It was claimed that a car operated by Lenhart with the woman as a passenger ran into a parked car which had been operated by Stottlmyer as an agent for Kelbaugh. In the Lindsay suit, Lenhart was made a third party defendant but a demurrer was later sustained and he was removed as a defendant. Edwin F. Nikirk represented the plaintiffs and W. C. McSherry and James McSherry were attorneys for the defendants.

Canning School Open

The canning center opened last week to a host of Emmitsburg women who are taking advantage of this opportunity to learn the art of canning. Mrs. Harry McNair is in charge of the center and anyone wishing to join can reach her by phoning 42-F-12.

LOCAL TEAM TRIMS THURMONT IN LEAGUE GAME

Smith Allows Nine Hits But Game Is Won, 9 to 5

Emmitsburg turned back two foes last week in baseball games played on the Community Field. The rival game between Thurmont and Emmitsburg was played as usual with the regular bickering, disputing, and cheering. More than 275 fans saw the locals triumph again over the Thurmonters in a Penn-Maryland League game. The score was 9-5. Win Saturday Tilt.

Emmitsburg scored ten runs in the second inning to put its game with Orrtanna on ice in an Adams County League game last Saturday. C. Rebert was driven from the mound, with B. Bucher replacing him for Orrtanna. J. Hollinger pitched for Emmitsburg, receiving credit for the victory.

In Sunday's victory, Don Smith hurled Emmitsburg to its victory, allowing the visitors only nine hits and kept them well scattered.

Thurmont scored first in the last half of the second on a hit by Keeney, error by Smith, single by Rice, followed by a fielder's choice and Sweeney's sacrifice, enough to produce two runs.

Emmitsburg tallied three in the top half of the third when Sanders, leading off, singled, a fielder's choice, walk to Hollinger, struck batsmen and Smith's single. Hoke ended the rally by flying to Brown.

Thurmont, not to be denied anything, came right back in their half of the third to score two more runs, making the count 4-3, from which point the visitors couldn't hit the pitches of Don Smith, who had settled down and worked masterfully on the mound.

Play Explained

In the meantime, Emmitsburg had another big inning, the fifth, when they scored five runs on three hits, three walks, balk and interference. The latter came as a result of much arguing with the umpires when Hoke, who was on third, streaked for home. Deardorff at the bat, intended to bunt but was interfered with by Rice, Thurmont catcher. The run was permitted to score however, on the ruling that the pitcher had balked, letting Deardorff go to first on interference by the catcher.

Hollinger, Warthen, and Sanders each collected two hits for Emmitsburg in trouncing their rivals for the second time this year.

Earlier in the season, Emmitsburg eked out an 11-8 victory over Thurmont in an eleven-inning affair.

Game Here Saturday

In the Adams County League, Emmitsburg will be host to Cone-wago this Saturday in a game on the Community Field starting at 2:30 p. m.

Away Sunday

The locals will travel to McSherrystown Sunday for a Penn-Maryland League game.

SEWAGE PETITION PRESENTED TO TOWN OFFICIALS

Residents of N. Seton Ave. Appeal At Regular Meeting

A delegation of Emmitsburg citizenry met Tuesday evening with the Mayor and Commissioners in their office in Firemen's Hall.

The delegation was composed of six residents of N. Seton Ave. and comprised the following: Frank Fitzgerald, Gerald Ryder Jr., Wales Rightenour, Richard Rosensteel, Mr. James Kelly and Gerald Ryder Sr.

The committee presented the following petition to the Town Fathers:

We, the residents and property owners of N. Seton Ave., Emmitsburg, Md., hereby request the Burgess and the Town Commissioners to investigate and to take the proper positive action on the following recommendations:—

1. The removal of obstructions, collected debris, and silt from the bed of the branch stream in the rear of the properties on N. Seton Ave. By straightening the channel course and making it deeper the resulting overflow of water onto adjoining properties during rains could be substantially eliminated. Recent rains have caused sufficient property damage to make elimination of this condition a necessity.

2. The Burgess and Town Commissioners shall investigate the responsibility of the State Roads Commission in removing obstructions from, and widening the stream channel at a point where it runs parallel to the State highway before entering Flat Run. During even moderately heavy rains this stream overflows quickly onto the highway and causes a traffic impediment or in frequent cases, complete stoppage of traffic. In addition, this overflow has already caused damage to the newly constructed Federal St. road which required repairs by the Town.

3. The elimination of a serious health hazard resulting from the dumping of raw sewage on the open ground or directly into the stream to the rear of the properties on N. Seton Ave. Some of the older properties never had septic tanks installed and some of the more recently constructed homes deferred the installation of proper sewerage facilities pending the construction of a public sewer system. The continuation of a sewer line to the end of N. Seton Ave. is necessary to do away with this insanitary condition.

4. The construction of a curb along the west side of lower N. Seton Ave. The property owners have all completed the laying of sidewalks in compliance with Town regulations. The present drainage ditches are not only ineffective and require frequent cleaning but are also a hazard to vehicles attempting to get off the road far enough to safely stop.

The officials explained that for some time they have been working on the project but that the signatures of property holders in that section was holding them up. To change the course of the small run that flows in that section, it is necessary to have a new right-of-way granted and that just as soon as it was received they promised immediate action on the matter. Wales Rightenour was appointed by the delegation to secure the signatures from the property-holders and to expedite the work to be done.

The delegation also expressed the desire to have the sewerage system extended to their street, but Chairman of the Board James T. Hays gave a resume of the financial condition of the Town and very clearly showed that at this time it was impossible to do anything about the matter without raising the tax rate of the Town.

Residents Petition Town Officials

Going further into the matter, Chairman Hays explained that sometime ago, ex-Senator Funk made a survey of the sewerage problem of that section and it was said that to extend the pipeline from the top of N. Seton Ave. to Flat Run bridge and thence on a line to the city disposal plant, would cost an estimated $35,000, and that, therefore the Town Board thought the project not feasible at this time.

Town Clerk Louise Sebold announced that the remaining bond debt of the Town was a mere $2,500. It was pointed out at the meeting that when this debt has been eliminated the tax rate will drop 15 per cent.

The delegation present at the meeting also asked the Town for curbs and gutters along N. Seton Ave. To this, the solons replied that a great deal of money would have to be spent with curbing and gutter running approximately $4 per foot; and that it was not likely there would be any action forthcoming on the matter at this time.

The complaint of several citizens about the fly ash from the Hanover Shoe Factory incinerator was amicably settled by those parties concerned by changing the operation hours and extending the chimney much higher.

The officials stated also that the alley beside the Emmitsburg Mfg. Co. had been cleaned out and stoned and requested workers at that plant not to use it as a parking convenience. Also the factory was notified that any further burning of rubbish in the right-of-way would bring a penalty.

Many complaints were received concerning the impossibility of certain of the Town's alleys. Trees have grown to such an extent that cars are being damaged when seeking passage. These trees are located on private property therefore liability those owners for damages incurred on any cars. They are asked to take immediate action.

Attention of the Emmitsburg Water Co. was called to the fact that the fire hydrants of the Town have not been flushed, chains tightened and caps greased for quite some time.

When Are You Safe From Sunburn?

Lovely radio actress Sally Gove, who appears frequently on Mutual's "House of Mystery," has discovered one of the most important rules for safe sun-bathing. Even though Sally already has a golden tan, she protects herself with Tartan. She knows—and you should too—that too much sun can cause plenty of damage—even through a good tan—without proper protection.

By Judy Seaton

Many people fail to realize that sunburn is only one of the dangers of sun-bathing. Painful though it may be, sunburn will usually peel off with no serious after-effects. Besides, most people know the value of a good sun lotion in the early summer.

But too few sun-worshippers know of the greater damage that can be done to the delicate tissues under the skin. Coarseness, blemishes, and other unpleasant results of too much sun can be avoided by the proper use of lotion. Choose a good greaseless lotion, and apply it before going out in the sun and again after a swim or hard exercise. But be sure you get it on evenly—the surest way is to get someone else to help smooth it on.

This late in the summer, you may already have a deep tan. Don't let it fool you! Harmful rays can penetrate even the best tan. Freed from worry about sunburn, many people foolishly bask in the sun for hours when they feel they're too tan to burn.

This complacency is just what the doctors warn about. When you're the least worried about the sun, it can do you the most harm.

So keep stocked with sun lotion this summer. Buy a good one that will screen out the harmful rays of the sun, and remember to use it as often as you would in the early summer. Alligator hide is good for shoes . . . but you don't want it on your face!

Economy Measure Studied

Discharge of up to 200,000 civilian employees by the armed services as an economy measure is being studied. It is said the Navy would bear the brunt of the reduction in personnel.

From Son-Up to Son-Down

Day and night, electricity plays a big part in baby's life. Dependable electric clocks keep him on schedule. Electric service prepares and refrigerates his food—heats water for his bath and endless laundry—helps wash and iron his clothes.

Electricity plays a big part in the family life as well. It's always ready to save steps for mother, and lend a willing hand with heavy chores. It provides comfort and convenience and even entertainment for the whole family.

But when it comes to cost, electricity's a very small item indeed. Your friends and neighbors in this company—under sound business management—are continually using their skill and experience to keep electricity the biggest bargain in your family budget.

MARYLAND HOME FRONT

The country cannot afford to allow good productive farm land to go to waste, declares Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland PMA State Committee, stressing the need for conserving the land taken out of tilled crops. He points out that to use good productive land to further increase surpluses is a waste both of the land and of the money necessary to grow the unneeded crops. Such land either should produce crops which are needed or be set aside and conserved for future use.

The Agricultural Conservation Program provides financial assistance to farmers for putting such land into conserving uses, the chairman explains. This assistance averages about 50 per cent of the "cut-of-pocket" cost of carrying out approved conservation practices.

Recommended practices for such land include the establishment of permanent pasture, rotation pasture, hay meadows, cover crops, green manure, and planting of trees. A check up at the County Agricultural Conservation Assn. office will indicate which of these are approved for a particular county and the financial assistance available.

"With the nation's population increasing at the rate of about two million a year, all available land will be needed in the future," says Mr. Blandford. "To waste the land either in producing currently unmarketable surpluses or to allow the land to deteriorate from erosion and neglect is to undermine the security of future generations."

Wheat Acreage Allotment Set
The acreage allotments for Maryland's next wheat crop have been set at 383,257 acres. This compares with a planted acreage of 394,000 for '49 and 415,000 planted for the 1948 crop. Mr. Blandford reports that 312,354 acres of the allotments are now being divided among the 23 counties. The remaining 70,903 acres are being held in reserve for farms which were not included in the original acreage check. Each county is to be asked to retain five per cent of the allotment for appeals and other changes.

Farmers To Have Allotments
The acreage allotments assigned to each farm will be announced before the 15th of Aug. This will be in time for farmers to plan their planting operations for the fall months and to arrange satisfactory rotations.

The allotments have been brought about because wheat production for six straight years has been more than a billion bushels. This record production has caught up with home consumption and more than supplied the approximately 500 million bushels being exported.

The national acreage for the 1950 crop has been set at 69 million acres. This is sub-divided into State and county figures. With this completed, the county Triple-A committees divided the county acreage among the growers. This allocation is made on the basis of past wheat production.

Tobacco Quotas Approved
Tobacco growers in the flue-cured tobacco area have approved quotas for three years — 1950, 1951 and 1952, according to Mr. Blandford. Preliminary results of the referendum held by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture on July 23 show that less than 2% of the growers voting disapproved of the quotas. More than 226 thousand growers voted in the six-state area of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, N. Carolina, South Carolina, and Virginia.

Vaccination Only Effective Agent For Newcastle Disease

If Newcastle disease is, or ever has been, a threat in your neighborhood (and don't forget, this disease travels with the speed of the wind!), the best advice is—vaccinate.

Healthy young birds may be vaccinated against Newcastle disease at any time between four weeks of age and one month before laying. (This is in reference to vaccination with the live-virus vaccine, which is by far the more widely-used type of vaccine). Cannot Cause Disease Itself

Vaccination against Newcastle should be done with an avirulent live-virus vaccine. "Avirulent" means the virus used cannot cause the disease itself. Rather, it gives lasting immunity to Newcastle disease. This immunity is established within ten days of vaccination.

When this type of vaccine is used, the wing-stab—or "stick"—method of vaccination is employed. To raisers who have vaccinated against fowl pox, this method of vaccination is familiar, indeed. It is simple and rapid.

Tests Show Benefits
Comparisons between vaccinated and unvaccinated flocks show that a great deal more loss was suffered by flocks that had not been given this protection. Newcastle disease is ordinarily very deadly in young chicks, only slightly less serious in growing birds, and mainly a cause of egg-production loss in older birds.

Since Newcastle is so widespread and epidemic in character, it is anticipated that more and more poultryraisers are going to adopt the simple, economical preventive measure of vaccination. Here is a timely apt case of where an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

If in doubt about Newcastle—don't hesitate to vaccinate!

HOMEMAKERS' CORNER

Hot, humid weather breeds mildew—but you can take precautions against it. Remember, this mold growth is caused by darkness, warmth, and moisture, so try to store your clothes and linens in an airy place where they get some sunlight.

Shower curtains are among the worst mildew offenders. Here's a recipe for making them mildew-proof through several washings: Immerse the curtain in a solution of 1½ gallons of hot water and one half ounce of neutral laundry soap. Heat for 20 minutes. Squeeze out the excess soap and, without rinsing, put the curtain in 1½ gallons of warm water in which you have dissolved 3 ounces of sodium chloride crystals. Heat for 30 minutes; then hang out to dry, without rinsing, on a rope line. Don't use a metal line because it will discolor the fabric.

You can use this procedure to prevent mildew of boat sails, awning materials, and similar fabrics.

Early summer is a good time to check the health of young children and to make sure they're in tip-top condition before going back to school next fall. It may save trouble in the long run to take them to a doctor for a thorough examination — eyes, teeth, lungs, height, weight, blood count . . . If they come through with flying colors, you'll feel gratified and happy. If they don't, you'll want to know it and correct any bad condition.

MARYLAND FEED & GRAIN MARKETS

Maryland Feed Market

The Baltimore feed market continued to advance for the week ending July 29. Significant increases were registered among half of the sixteen feed prices quoted. 50% meat scrap was up $6.85, gluten feed $4.42, cottonseed oil meal $4.05 and soybean oil meal $2.92. The only feed showing declines were 17% dehy. alfalfa meal down $3.85, bran and middlings down $1.38 and 99c respectively. The Baltimore feed market continued to follow the national trend.

Broiler prices averaged 6c better for the past week on the Eastern Shore of Maryland and the price of 20% broiler mash was about steady with the previous weeks close. The broiler feed ratio was therefore slightly more favorable for producers for the week ending July 28. Broilers averaged 29.5 and 20% broiler mash sold for an average of $95.60 per ton in the producing area. On this basis one pound of live weight broilers would buy 6.2 pounds of feed compared with 6 pounds a week ago.

National Summary

Feedstuff prices continued to advance during the week ended July 26 despite plentiful supplies and lower price of feed grain, reports to the Department of Agriculture indicate. The relatively small quantities of grain byproduct feeds and oilseed meals available for immediate shipment were principally responsible for the market strength. Deferred deliveries of most feeds were available at material discounts under spot prices. The bran market was independently weak a reduced demand for grasshopper bait released larger quantities for feed. Soybean meal and animal byproduct feeds, on the other hand, had independent strength, with demand exceeding current market offerings. The index of wholesale feedstuff prices advanced a little more than 1 point, to 231.9 compared 245.3 a year ago. The feed index, led by corn, dropped 3 1/2 points, to 190.3 against a year ago. Based on pre-war relationships, alfalfa meal, meal, hominy feed, wheat, grain sorghum, corn, are now relatively the best feeds.

Supplies of feed grains at the end of July totaled nearly 71 million tons, including old crop stocks of corn and new crop supplies of oats and barley. Supplies in the same positions a year ago amounted to only 48,382,000 tons. Stocks of corn July 1 were nearly three times those of a year ago and totaled 35,762,000 tons. Supplies of barley were about 600,000 tons under those of a year ago at the first of July and totaled 8,267,000 tons.

Maryland Grain Markets

Maryland wheat markets were about steady during the week ending July 29. Country shipping points were having difficulty obtaining rail permits to ship to terminal markets and some were refusing offerings. In general, the quality was off. Wheat being offered was tough, low weight and damaged. Corn offerings were moderate and prices were about steady with a week ago. Soybeans were slightly stronger.

National Summary

Wheat markets were rather unsettled during the week ended July 29. Winter wheat prices advanced to nearer the loan value while spring wheat prices, influenced by increased marketings of new wheat, lost most of their premiums and declined to a level more nearly in line with winter wheat and support prices. Rye and flaxseed declined 5 to 6 cents per bushel as the movement of new crop grains broadened. Corn and barley declined 4 to 5 cents and oats 1 to 2 cents per bushel. Grain sorghums were lower at Fort Worth, but advanced slightly at Kansas City. The soybean market strengthened, and the cash prices at Chicago were up 12 to 14 cents per bushel compared with a week ago.

Luncheon Scoops

by Wendy Warren

My guest in today's column is lovely brunette Joan Alexander, who finished her stint as Audrey Roberts on CBS's "Rosemary" just in time to watch my broadcast of "Wendy Warren and the News" at noon. We left the CBS building right after the program, so that Joan would have time for lunch and still be able to get back for the rehearsal of "Perry Mason," in which she plays the part of Della Street, Perry's private secretary.

Joan Alexander is one of the few actresses I know who cares nothing for personal publicity. She considers her private life completely separate from her radio career... and just as important. She and her husband and their small daughter live in a comfortable 4 1/2-room apartment in Sutton Place, and only a very few of their close friends are in radio.

Because of the time element, we had lunch at Colby's, a little luncheonette right across the street from CBS. The place is always full of radio actors, especially from CBS, and there is even a loudspeaker system so that actors and members of the studio staff can be paged when necessary.

An efficiency expert claims that most wives would be fired if they worked in industry the way they do housework. He'll have to be an expert if he gets by with that one.

Joan is an avid equestrian. She rides in White Plains, near New York City, three or four times a week... in fact, whenever her busy radio schedule will allow her enough time.

I asked Joan how she finds time to live a full life and still keep up with the demands of her career. "It's not so bad," she said. "The one thing I avoid entirely is cooking, which I don't like... but I do like to clean house. And whenever I get a chance, I take my daughter to Central Park for a walk."

But while she does not let radio control her life, Joan Alexander is by no means apathetic toward acting. She got her early start on the stage, and is most serious about acting as an art. Joan feels that radio is a good medium for acting, and that it allows an actor a little stage, but she agrees with most good actors in believing that acting is acting wherever it's found, and that a ham has no more place in radio than anywhere else. "An actor must work honestly, not mechanically," says Joan, "and in radio just as in the movies or on the stage, a poor performer will be shown up no matter how well he has mastered a 'technique'."

The lunch was well-timed. Just as we sipped the last of our coffee, the loudspeaker blared, "Joan Alexander... 'Perry Mason'... Studio 24" and Joan rose and with a quick wave of thanks dashed across the street for her rehearsal.

A physician says a man is slightly taller in the morning than in the evening. We never checked on this theory but have noticed a tendency to become "short" before every payday.

Angler Uses Fly For Carp; Has Record Catch

Fishing at Prettyboy Reservoir in northern Baltimore County, Angler Ray Bietler of Hanover, Pa., has established what may well be a world's record for the taking of carp on an artificial fly. On July 22, Mr. Bietler took 54 carp on a yellow streamer fly employing conventional fly fishing tackle. A check on various fishing records reveals no indication of any one-man catch of carp on a fly even remotely approaching that of Mr. Bietler.

Carp are almost exclusively bottom feeders and vegetarians, hence not generally considered sport fish. However, in Prettyboy and nearby Lock Raven Reservoirs, the carp feed heavily on Japanese beetles and other insects during the summer and will take skillfully presented flies. Their natural timidity makes them difficult to approach in clear water, and their dogged strength when hooked is a well known carp characteristic. Consequently, they test the angler's skill to the limit, both in the presentation of the lure and in bringing the big fellows safely to net on light tackle. Fly fishing for carp is therefore becoming a popular sport.

Both reservoirs are also excellent bass, crappie and bluegill waters, from which large mouth bass weighing in excess of nine pounds have been taken. Indication of the fishing to be found in Prettyboy Reservoir is verified by Mr. W. R. Kelley of Emmitsburg, who caught a three pound, five ounce bass July 23.

What this country needs is a good plan where we can keep on spending all the money that we are spending now and at the same time reduce the taxes back to the 1935 level.

Frosted Tweed

This chic combination of soft tweed and crisp linen was found guilty of traffic-stopping by Cosmopolitan's Male-Tested Fashions jury. The dress is part of the $150 wardrobe featured in the magazine's August issue. A Surrey Classic with leather belt and bone buttons all in a row, it sells separately for about $17. You can vary its effect with a silk ascot at the neck while collar and cuffs are in the wash. Ezio Pinza, Peter Lawford and Montgomery Clift were the "all in favor" of this dress. Available in brown, green or black mixtures.

In a sudden reversal of his previously insistent policy for the nation, President Truman has issued a message calling for no further increase in taxes at this time and has asked for a deficit plan financing in order to carry out a vast program of stimulating employment and production.

Imagine, if you can, what this world would be like if people had no faith in one another. Many of us would have to live within our incomes. A reporter claims that nothing infuriates a woman so much as to have guests drop in unexpectedly and find the house looking like it usually does.

sciences of all men, irrespective of their particular faith, upon grounds that can be occupied by all men who love justice, freedom and toleration."

The issue went to a popular election. Government aid to parochial schools lost. The people sustained Sir William Laurier's position, and later elected him prime minister.

Statesmen of such conviction ought to be spared vitriolic outbursts against them. Therefore let temperate language and Christian courtesy characterize our discussion of contemporary issues.

SAFE VACATION

Every year, millions of Americans are injured in accidents of varying degrees of seriousness. Many of the injuries occur in summer, when children and adults are indulging in sports and are traveling more than at other times of the year.

Children and adults alike count on vacation time for relaxation, fun, and the restoration of physical well-being after months of work or study. The secret of avoiding accidents and getting full enjoyment of vacation lies in a little common-sense moderation and in being prepared for "summer emergencies."

Many of us, after sedentary jobs all year, try to crowd strenuous physical sports into the short vacation period. Summer sports are fine, but we should not rush headlong into any sport. We should avoid over-indulgence until our bodies become accustomed to the unusual exercise.

Sun tan should be acquired gradually. A safe rule is around 30 minutes exposure to the sun on the first day, then longer sun bathing periods as the skin becomes less sensitive.

Those who travel on vacation must be careful what they eat and drink. Fruits and raw vegetables should be carefully cleaned before eating. In unfamiliar territory it is essential to make certain of the purity of milk and water.

A knowledge of first aid is a valuable asset to anyone at any time. It is particularly helpful for vacation trips, and a small first aid kit might prove to be an important part of your vacation luggage.

A vacationer's knowledge of "what to do until the doctor comes" has frequently prevented serious complications and even saved lives, following accidents. Your family doctor or the health department will give you instructions and literature on such things as artificial respiration for swimming mishaps, aiding victims of sunstroke, emergency treatment of snakebit, sunburn, or poison ivy.

To Seek Re-election

Mayor William O'Dwyer, of New York City, has announced that he will seek reelection as chief executive of the great American metropolis.

REUNION HELD

The annual reunion of the Hockensmith family, whose ancestors were early settlers in the vicinity of Emmitsburg, was held last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brown Rissler, Charles Town, W. Va.

The assembly of the group began at noon after which a delicious luncheon was served on the lawn to about 90 persons.

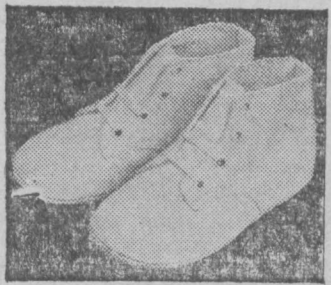

The program followed with the singing of "Trust and Obey"; Mrs. Howard C. Roop of New Windsor read "Bust"; Mr. Wilbur D. Hockensmith, Pittsburgh, Pa., head of the Hockensmith Steel and Mine Car Division of Pennsylvania; hymn, "In the Garden"; Miss Blanche Swope of Harrisonville, Pa., said the genealogy of the family was ready for publication.

Gifts were given to the oldest member present, the family coming the greatest distance, and family having the most children.

The group sung in unison "Blest Be The Tie That Binds," after which the pastor of the Presbyterian Church pronounced benediction.

Next year Mr. and Mrs. Rissler hoped the reunion would be held at their home.

Admiral R. L. Conolly, commander-in-chief of the U. S. naval forces in the eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean, says he favors keeping U. S. naval power in the Mediterranean "on a permanent basis." "We are a Mediterranean power," he said, "and it would contribute to peace and strengthen our friends if we remain there."

Auxiliary Plans
Food Sale

Twenty-seven members attended the monthly meeting of the Francis X. Elder Unit, No. 121, American Legion Auxiliary, Tuesday evening in the Post Home.
President Laura Rosensteel presided.

After the minutes were read and approved, the correction on the amount received from the sale of poppies was made. The correct total should have been $48.65, instead of $1.50.

After paying bills, the treasurer's report showed a balance of $183.94. A basket of groceries valued at $4.96 was given a needy family, and gifts were sent to two members who are ill.

The Auxiliary nominated and elected Laura Rosensteel as delegate-at-large and Nettie Ash-baugh and Ann Topper as delegates to the National Convention.

An installation of officers has been scheduled at their next monthly meeting in September.
Expected to officiate at the ceremonies will be Mrs. Coltridee of Westminster, district vice president. In charge of the refreshment committee is Jean Bowers, assisted by Martha and Pauline Rosensteel, and Carman Topper.

Four members attended the dedication of colors at the Taneytown Post held recently.

To Hold Sale

Plans were made to hold a food and rummage sale Saturday, Sept.
10 at the Firemen's Hall. In charge of the affair is Mrs. Laura Rosensteel, with Mrs. Helen Mc-Nair, Mrs. Ella Hemler, Mrs.
Mary Teresa Miller and Mrs.
Faine Rodgers assisting. All members are asked to contribute food and clothing.

The name drawn for the award was Mrs. Betty Sanders. Since she was not present to receive the award, the next drawing will be for $2.

Two members were added to the Auxiliary's roster, Mrs. Faine Rodgers and Mrs. Martha Rosensteel.

Pennsylvania
Checking Cars
For Liquor

Liquor taken into Pennsylvania is illegal regardless of amount or the destination of its owner and entails confiscation of the vehicle carrying it, according to the Pen-sylvania Liquor Control Board.

Whether the liquor found in motorists' cars consists of caseload lots or merely an almost empty flask, for travel consumption, makes no difference in the eyes of the law, David R. Peery, member of the board, said last week.

Last Thursday, the board announced that border patrols are being established to prevent illegal entry of alcoholic beverages into Pennsylvania.

Route 32, the Waynesboro Rd., is more than two miles from Emmitsburg, while the main artery from here going into Pennsylvania, is Route 15, which is about 1½ miles to the state line.

Deputy Sheriff
To Inspect Area
For Licenseless Dogs

Enforcement of the law requiring county residents to secure dog licenses for the new year which began July 1 was started this week by the Sheriff's office.
Deputy Sheriff Murray C.
Smith began a survey of properties, which is expected to cover the entire county, designated to determine whether residents have dogs for which they have not secured licenses.

Smith is a deputy sheriff appointed by the County Commissioners to enforce the dog law.
Dog licenses issued to date for the new year total 3,298, which is understood to be slightly ahead of last year but well behind the figures for the preceding year.

The County Commissioners voiced the hope that residents would take more interest in shooting dogs that have caused property damage. The commissioners recently have been faced with a number of bills from property owners for damages caused by packs of dogs who prey on livestock and poultry.

One claim for $105 for 30
goats killed in the vicinity of Mt.
Airy by a pack of dogs has been verified and will be paid, it was indicated. It was reported that in the same neighborhood other herds of goats and sheep have been molested. Thus far the pack of dogs which is doing the damage apparently has not been apprehended.

In other sections of the county, bills have come in for the death of chickens and for the killing of sheep.

Local Resident
In Car Crash

A woman and a child in a car driven by Robert G. Lamar of Emmitsburg, were injured
Wednesday night when the vehicle collided with another auto at Mt. Royal Terrace and Reservoir St., Baltimore.

Treated for lacerations at Union Memorial Hospital were Mrs. Ada Lamar, the driver's wife, and Margaret West, 4, of Baltimore.

Northern District police charged Lamar with reckless driving, and Leonard with failure to give the right of way.

In a recent survey, taken to find out why people are so extravagant, up comes this answer.
There are thousands of ways to spend money but only one way to save.
